Fuels and oils have kept pace with other improvements of the airplane, Flying Officer Herridge told the clubmen. Gasoline up to 100 octane content is now being used, while special oils, in which have been introduced certain acids and chemicals, are necessary, due to pressure of superchargers and the heavy loads forced upon the engines.

A recent important development is what is known as the Fuel-Air Ratio Analyser. This device automatically enables the pilot to use the proper mixture in changing atmospheres.

Speaking of the Rolls-Royce engines, the speaker said they were the only engines in the world, that can get extreme power at the shortest notice. They are one of the secrets of the phenomenal success of Britain's Spitfires and Hurricanes. With their spectacular speed and fast-climbing abilities, these famous fighters have been known to literally "saw off" the tails of enemy bombers with bursts from their eight machine-guns. As one pilot puts it they climb like a homesick angel.

The speaker was introduced by Kiwanian Ted Willing, while appreciation of the fine address was voiced by Past-President R.A. Flynn, who will preside over the destinies of the club for the remainder of the year due to President "Bill" Anderson's absence at his new duties in the R. C. A. F.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

Centenary

Centenary — Gordon Garrison, Mack Holton and Dennis Terry spent a few days at the Toronto Exhibition.

Mrs. Fred Aikens spent a week in Toronto with her sister Mrs. A. Wilson, and attended the Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray, Mr. Wellman and Mrs. A. Greenwood have returned home after a very pleasant trip to Lennoxville, Quebec, where they were the guests of Miss Stella Wellman.

Mr. L. Bird who is engaged as teacher for the year, has rented the house of Mrs. W. Ray, where he and his family expect to move shortly.

Congratulations are extended to Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Avery, who were quietly married in Napanee on Wednesday last. The bride was formerly Miss Florence Johnson.

A Red Cross meeting was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. Ray with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Panning of Belleville and Mrs. Judson Kelley spent Friday in Kingston.

Mrs. Parley, Belleville, visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ray, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Radford, Russell and Ileen spent Labour Day in Toronto.

Wooler

Wooler — Miss Flora MacDonald, who was in Toronto for the summer music course, has been successful in obtaining a specialist type certificate in vocal music.

Mr. W. J. Lawson spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mr. John Lischman of Pickering is spending holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lawson.

Miss Leah Wessels of Rochester, N. Y., is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Wessels.

Miss Helen Bentley spent the week end at Orland.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Simpson are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lew McColl.

Mr. Allan Gunter of Toronto was visiting relatives and friends during the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Scott and Billy Mitchell have returned home from Weslemkoon Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Ormie Anderson of Trenton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Austin.

Mrs. Fred Crews, Jean and Isabella were at Barcovan Beach on Sunday.

Mrs. Bush of Toronto is a guest of Mrs. L. N. Easterly.

Mrs. Earl Doonan of Barrie was a guest of her parents on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. McColl, Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Simpson were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stacey on Sunday at Bloomfield.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Burleigh and family spent Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Masters.

Mr. Carman Ruttan was in Toronto on business Monday.

Numerous cars filled with people attended a ball game between Hastings and Wooler boys at Campbellford on Saturday evening. Again the Wooler boys are the Eastern champions.

Mrs. L. M. Burris of Rochester, N. Y., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Jim Mitchell and Mr. Mitchell. Also renewing acquaintances.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Bryant attended the funeral of the latter's cousin, Mrs. Ida Williams, at Stockdale on Monday.

Mrs. John McAuley and Dean Whitney spent Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will McAuley of Codrington.

6TH TYENDINAGA

6th Tyendinaga — The children have wended their way back to school again with two new pupils, Theresa Shannon and Jack Peck.

Mr. and Mrs. Lorne McKenzie and Joy attended the McKenzie-McFarlane wedding at the Anglican Church, Shannonville, Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Wm. Goodman of Napanee spent the tea hour at Mr. C. Goodman's on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Bradshaw and baby of Deseronto were guests at Mr. Lorne McKenzie's recently.

Mrs. Ralph Dudgeon and Dorothy of Belleville spent last week with her mother.

Roslin

Roslin — On Tuesday evening members of the Women's Auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. Donald Hall, for their regular monthly meeting with an attendance of eighteen. The president, Mrs. W. Gillespie presided. The meeting opened with a devotional period led by the rector, Rev. F. C. Beaser. During the business period, committees were appointed to arrange details in connection with the W. A. Deanery meeting which is being held in Roslin this year.

Mrs. Slingerland was in charge of the program. Mrs. Clapsaddle gave a reading and Miss Audrey Hall played a piano solo.

The meeting was closed with prayer after which the hostess served refreshments.

Some of those from Roslin attending the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto last week were: Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Goodfellow and Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. H. Chisholm and boys, Mr. Norman White, Mr. Reginald Easton, Mr. Wm. Wilkins.

Anniversary services in the Presbyterian Church on Sunday last were well attended. The Rev. W. Walker of St. Andrew's Church, Stirling, was the special minister for the day. The church was nicely decorated for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waterhouse, of Mountain View and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Daniels who spent the past year in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia, spent Sunday with the Misses Wilson.

A number from here are working in the canning factory in Belleville where they are canning tomatoes.

Miss Clara Delyea has returned to New York after spending the past month at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Delyea.

Mrs. J. Knight and children of Napanee spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. H. Sayers.

Mrs. W. Wilkins is visiting Mrs. Ernie Davis in Hamilton.

The Roslin school opened for the Autumn term on Sept. 3rd, with Mrs. M. Robinson of Carmel as teacher.

Mrs. Welsh has returned to her home here, after spending the past three weeks in Kingston where Dr. Welsh is a patient in the hospital. Dr. Welsh's condition is reported as improved.

Dr. Empson of Belleville is in charge of Dr. Welsh's practice.

Miss Henderson was a visitor recently at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Norman Alexander.

Johnstown

Johnstown — Mrs. Cecil White and children of St. Ola, also Miss Stella White of Bancroft spent a few days recently with their uncle, Mr. Frank White.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stickle, Doris and Faye, spent Sunday with the former's brother, Mr. Clayton Stickle and family of Sidney Crossing.

Mr. E. G. Stickle spent Monday at Picton.

Miss Faye Stickle of Frankford is holidaying at the home of her parents.

Mrs. R. Osterhout is teaching at Johnstown School. She has taken J. May's place who is still confined at Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Don Garrison and baby of Frankford spent a day recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Reid.

Little Miss Glenna Stickle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Stickle entertained a few of her friends to her fourth birthday party on Tuesday.

Miss Laura Henley of Crookston is visiting Mrs. Glenn Stickle.

Queensboro

Queensboro — Mr. Richard Sidenius of Hamilton spent last week with Rev. and Mrs. R. D. Snelgrove.

Mrs. Violet Henry and Miss Helen Henry, Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Duff Genereaux on Monday.

Mr. Ed. Sager, Eldorado, spent last week end with friends in this vicinity.

Mrs. Nellie Willman and Elizabeth, Cordova, are spending two weeks with the former's sister, Mrs. Ralph Franklin.

Miss Annie Laton has returned to her home after spending two weeks in Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Smart of Niagara have been visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fermah Bosely.

Mrs. Pat Sexsmith, Actinolite, spent Wednesday and Thursday with Mrs. Alex Laton.

About twenty ladies attended the regular Red Cross meeting held on Thursday afternoon in the Orange Hall, the time was spent in quilting and sewing.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Comerford, Eldorado, were in the village on Thursday.

Mrs. Mary Burris, Madoc, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Ella Holmes.

Mrs. W. Embury, St. Ola, spent last week with Mrs. Henry Rousehorn.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Sidenius and Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Snelgrove were guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. McMurray on Friday evening.

Mr. Ernest Groves spent last week in Bancroft.

Miss Hilda Dyer, Consecon, called on friends here on Thursday evening.

Mrs. Ernest Groves is ill in hospital at Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Spencer and Mr. Ernest Groves were among the guests at the Spencer-Dyer wedding in Consecon on Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Demoss Bosely, Bancroft, spent the week end with his father in the village.

Miss Monica Laton, Reg. N., Brockville, is spending her holidays with her mother, Mrs. Alex Laton.

Miss Hazel Thompson and Miss J. Smith, Belleville, spent the week end with Mrs. Charles Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Groves and Percy moved their household effects this past week to Madoc, where they will make their home. Although Mr. and Mrs. Groves have been residing in Madoc for some time they still kept their home here and friends here regret their removal.

Miss Jennie Sager, Madoc, was a Sunday guest at her home.

Mr. R. C. Sidenius, who was the guest speaker at the morning service in the United Church on Sunday gave a very fine sermon on the subject "Three Groups in a Garden".

Miss May Franklin, Madoc, spent the week end at her home.

Miss Jean Rousehorn is spending some time with her aunt, Mrs. J. Roberts in Actinolite.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Fraser and Harold were visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Holmes on Saturday.

Mr. Clayton Holmes spent Sunday at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Holland, Madoc, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Holmes.

Shannonville

Shannonville — Rev. Sterling spent Thursday at Selby attending the Presbytery.

Lieutenant Clifford Holmes is spending three weeks at Petawawa. Mrs. Holmes expects to join Lieutenant Holmes on Saturday for the remainder of his stay.

Mrs. Will King is much improved in health after her recent illness. Her many friends are pleased to see her out again.

The ladies of the W. M. S. held a most successful tea at the United Church Parsonage on Thursday. A delicious menu was served. The tea was a success socially and financially.

Mrs. Cecil McCarthy has returned home from Belleville General Hospital where she has been a patient.

The tomato crop in this district is half a crop this year. Late potatoes in some gardens are suffering from lack of rain.

Mrs. Harold Burtt was a Friday afternoon caller at Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard's, Milltown.

Mr. and Mrs. William Conley, and Hubert, spent the week end in Oshawa and Hamilton.

The Shannonville Canning Co., are canning peaches and plums this season.

Sidney Crossing

Sidney Crossing — The regular monthly meeting of the Alkins W. M. S. was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Murney Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Deacon of Rochester, N. Y., accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Hardwick of Belleville called at Mr. Bruce Hogle's on Wednesday afternoon of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stickle and family of Johnstown, called on the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McMullen and family on Wednesday evening last.

Rally Day was observed in Alkins United Church on Sunday morning. The special Rally Day program was followed, in charge of the Superintendent, Mr. Stanley Spafford, the theme being "Serve the Lord with Gladness." Special features of the program were as follows: The story entitled "Serving Jesus with Gladness", was well given by Miss Ruth Spafford. Music was given by the choir and the pastor, Rev. L. W. Scott gave a splendid message, stressing the point "to serve the Lord in the days of thy Youth". The church was prettily decorated with foliage and cut flowers.

Miss Katherine Hogle of Belleville, spent the week end at the home of her uncle, Mr. Bruce Hogle. Mrs. E. A. Hogle and Mrs. Ida Bowler of Belleville also visited at Mr. Hogle's one day last week.

Mrs. Lewis Vardy called on Mrs. Perry Hamilton one afternoon recently.

FREE Gift of the week!
COMFORT SOAP COMFORT

3 ANDOVER TEASPOONS
FINE SILVERPLATE

Everyone needs extra silverplate and these lovely exclusive "Andover" teaspoons "fit in" with any set. Heavily plated and guaranteed. Usual offer:

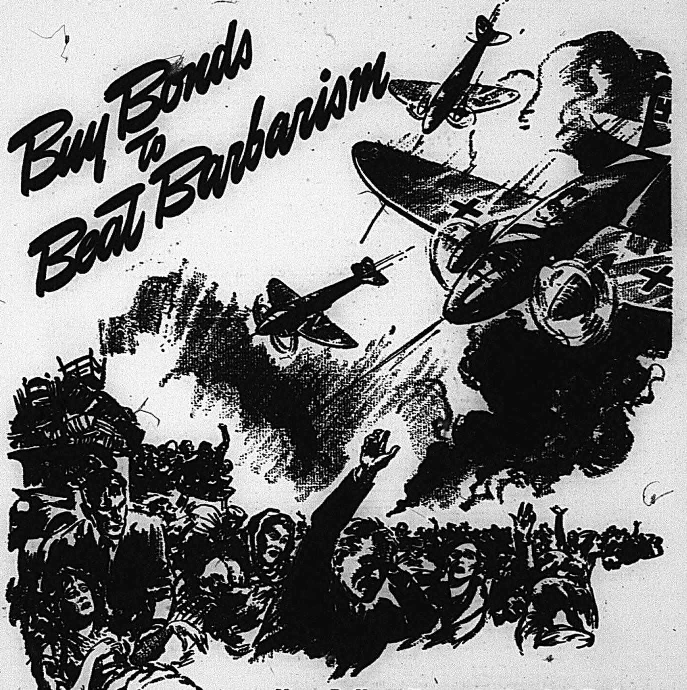
6 FREE FOR 175 COMFORT COUPONS OR

SPECIAL 3 FOR 5 COMFORT SOAP COUPONS AND only 20¢

For quick, rich suds—it's COMFORT! It makes your work easier and makes these free gifts possible. Save the coupons on the back of the wrappers, and for your spoons, send to:

COMFORT SOAP, DEPT. A-1-18,
MONTREAL, P.Q.
(Offer good till Dec. 31, 1940)

ONE OF 135 FREE GIFTS
WATCH FOR NEW CATALOGUE!



Buy Bonds to Beat Barbarism

Your Dollars Urgently Needed Today To Help Win The War!

3% Bonds due October 1, 1952
Callable on or after October 1, 1949
Issue Price: 98.75% and accrued interest
Yielding 3.125% to maturity
Denomination of Bearer Bonds: $100, $500, $1,000

Arrangements have also been made to convert into 2nd War Loan the 4½% bonds due September 1, 1940 which have not yet been presented for payment. Subscriptions may be made through any approved investment dealer or stock broker or through any branch in Canada of any chartered bank.

Our armed forces must have the equipment with which to win. Courage, brains and ability are not enough . . . it must be plane for plane, tank for tank, gun for gun! Then the proven ability of our men will have a chance.

They have no one else to turn to but you! You cannot fail them because in so doing you would sacrifice your right to freedom, your home and all you hold dear. You cannot, must not, let happen here the tragedy which has already engulfed so many people just like you!

CANADA'S 2nd WAR LOAN

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

NO BETTER INVESTMENT, BUY WAR BONDS NOW

A Belleville woman investor showed her patriotism a day ago when she bought bonds of the second Dominion War Loan although offered the opportunity to purchase another investment yielding almost twice the interest rate of the bonds. She said, "My husband is unable to go overseas and this is one way in which we can do our share in helping Canada's war effort." That is a splendid expression of loyalty and the example can be followed by others with great credit to themselves.

The large industrial mining and investment companies along with wealthy individuals of the country have 'come across' for a good share of the bond issue but, it is felt in some quarters, the response of the smaller investor has not been as large as might be.

The load of carrying on the war cannot be borne by the few but all must join in the common cause. Canada does not want the Nazis pointing with glee to this country and saying we are not behind Britain in her time of need. The only way to answer the enemy is by digging deep in our pockets and bank deposits and taking our share of the War Loan. If we want to win the war, half-hearted efforts are not going to do. So call up your banker or investment dealer and place your order NOW not tomorrow or the day after.

DO NOT THROW AWAY VALUABLE WASTE MATERIAL

On Saturday, October 5th, the Girl Guides of Belleville are making a drive to collect waste material that can be utilized in Canada's war effort. Old paper and magazines, brass, leadfoil, old tires and tubes used for shaving cream and tooth paste are among the chief articles wanted by the Guides. It should not require much trouble for all householders to gather the waste and have it ready for the Girl Guides when they are notified by telephone.

In Britain huge quantities of waste are being gathered by the government including the donation of aluminum cooking utensils by the populace. The reclaiming of this material in war time is a real contribution to the effort of the nation to defeat the Germans.

So you are asked to do your share and don't forget the date, October 5th is the day of the first collection.

GERMANY NEEDS A LITTLE "PUSHING AROUND"

We read, with considerable pleasure, the dispatch on Tuesday from London in which a writer for the Sunday Express thinks it about time for Britain to begin an "all-out" war against the Germans for their senseless destruction of private property in London. He writes, "When we go out after wasps we are not content with a few slaps at them, when they attack us, but we go out and burn the nest." He feels that is the proper way to handle Hitler and Mussolini. Go for their nests. When we hear and read the reports of indiscriminate bombings the Nazis have been indulging in during the past few days, we agree.

However, the R.A.F., in a statement of policy said that, for the present, retaliatory measures would not be taken. It may be that Britain desires to wait until her airfleets have established such a superiority over the Nazis in numbers that she can afford to use planes to hand Germany some of the bitter medicine she so delights in handing out to others. In the meantime the R.A.F. will confine itself to purely military objectives.

We certainly hope the British leaders will not let their conscience stop them from handing out a good bit of destruction to civilian property that the Nazi terrorists have inflicted on Poland, Holland, Belgium and France. That was the trouble when the last war ended—the German people knew nothing of what war can do in the way of damage by guns and the fury of battle. Consequently most of them felt that their army had not been defeated in battle but through the results of weak allies and the blockade. The French wanted to go into Germany and bring home to her people some of the horrors of warfare but was deterred by her allies. If a little more resoluteness had been displayed then and in after years by the Allies maybe we would not be having this conflict that is causing so much suffering today. So we say let's give them heck, although that is not the word we have in mind, when the proper time comes.

BRAVE MEN OF THE STOKE-ROOMS

Each week as we read of the sinking of a certain number of ships of so much tonnage, how many of us realize the fate of the stoke-room crews which include the stokers and engineers. These men go about their labors with thought ever present that, at any second, a torpedo or mine may blast them out of existence or trap them below decks, with not the slightest chance of getting free before the vessel founders to the bottom.

Other members of the crew may have some chance of surviving when the ship is struck but the men who run engines and other equipment are in the most vulnerable part of the ship.

They are a brave lot, working without any glory to themselves but carrying on their duties in just as capable a manner as the soldier at the front. These men merit recognition of the important part they are playing in this war. Without her merchant marine Britain could not carry on the war any great length of time. All honor to the men of the stoke-room gang.

Newest Notes of Science

Science News Service

New rubber shoe heels have plywood cores and sole leather inserts to add to their appearance.

British India has imposed an export tax on wool exports to raise a fund for industrial research.

A portable reflector backed electric lamp has been specially designed for use with filing cabinets.

A device has been invented to wrap napkins around moist beverage bottles as they are pressed down into it.

English highway builders are experimenting with hydrochloric acid to give concrete pavements rough surfaces.

The back of a new chair intended for use at dressing tables can be folded down to convert it into an ottoman.

A rubber roller has been invented to place curtains on stretchers without injuring the fingers with the pins.

An ironing board resembling a rolling pin cut in half has been designed to facilitate pressing garment sleeves.

Call it Silly

The other day one of those recaptured German prisoners was locked for a while in a police cell at Bala, in the Muskoka district. There, reports the Windsor Star, he was "lionized" by a crowd which gathered beneath the cell window.

"He was kept busy signing his autograph through the bars, and even girls selling tags in aid of the Navy League had him place his name on their arm-bands. Holiday-makers snapped photos of the prisoner."

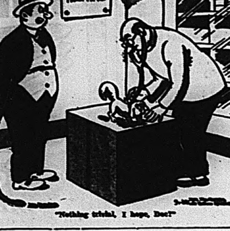
The Star calls this a "disgraceful" exhibition, wonders "whether some people in this country realise that we are at war". That seems, to us, rather too severe. We should call it silly and childish, rather, a regrettable exhibition of bad taste, but after all nothing to get excited about.

Newspaper fame and human curiosity work powerfully on immature minds, and as a result we have such performances as that of Bala. What the Star overlooks is that the same crowd would have shown even greater zeal over a chap who had murdered his wife and seven children, or a desperado from our own land who had robbed a bank and led the police a merry chase through the North woods. And the curiosity of a crowd obviously does not imply sympathy with or respect for the object of its attentions.

The same sort of curiosity explains the mobs which invariably are attracted by a movie star, male or female. Take a man of very ordinary looks, equip him with the tinsel halo of Hollywood, let a battery of press agents flood the country with stories — mostly phony — about his mysterious charm, and women from miles around will throng to look at him, just to bask momentarily in his smile. A girl star from the "films" has much the same effect. One came to Ottawa not long ago. She was no prettier than hundreds of girls who pass in Ottawa without notice, no better dressed and no more fascinating, but Hollywood said she had "it", she had been seen in touching and romantic roles, and the populace turned out —as another crowd turned out for a captive German sailor.

It is silly and all that, but what are we going to do about it? What are we and the Star against so many?—Ottawa Journal.

OFF THE RECORD By ED REED



The Bow-Wow Cat & Dog Hospital

"Nothing trivial, I hope, Doc!"

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 11th, 1920.

Mr. Willoughby Wilkins, Octavia Street, planted some potatoes in a hill early in the spring and when he dug the hill this week he secured 40 potatoes which weighed in all 15 pounds.

On the evening of the 9th. inst., the residence of Mr. Gus Thompson, Tweed, was destroyed by fire, together with most of the contents.

Ald. Jamieson Bone returned to day after a business trip to Annapolis village, N.S., Yarmouth, N. S., Philadelphia, Pa., Boston and New York City.

Mrs. Harry Bell of Montreal is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Draycott.

Dr. T. J. Taylor and wife of Cleveland, Ohio., and Miss Mona Howe of Toronto, are the guests of Miss M. Fleming, John Street.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 11th., 1910.

Last evening at a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Belleville Y. M. C. A. it was decided to erect the new Y. M. C. A. building on Campbell Street, and tenders were ordered to be called for the excavation work.

A number of Belleville people will go to Kingston on the 19th. inst. to hear Madame Melba who will sing in the opera house in that city on that date.

The section of the Canadian Northern Railway from Trenton to Belleville has been sublet to various contractors. Work on grading commenced within the town limits of Trenton yesterday. It is expected that grading will be completed by Christmas.

Thanks to the efforts of Mayor Lorne Marsh the river has been cleared of weeds and filth that were such an eyesore.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 11th., 1900.

The Grand Trunk Railway carried over 52,000 passengers to the Toronto Fair this year.

Owing to the heavy gale the fishing competition set for to day by the Forest and Stream Club was postponed to a later date.

The steam yacht Skylark went to Napanee to day.

The Rev. Mr. Bodle of this city has arrived safely in England where he will visit friends.

Dr. Palmer of Fulton, N. Y., is a visitor in the city.

Mr. E. L. Palen, fire insurance adjuster, was in Campbellford yesterday on business.

Mr. A. W. Carscallen of Marmora was in town to day.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 11th., 1890.

The County Council will meet on Sept. 16th. for the purpose of incorporating the village of Tweed.

Mayor G. S. Tickell was visited at his home one evening recently by the employees of his furniture warerooms on Front Street, who presented him with a life size portrait of himself accompanied by the following brief address which was read by Mr. L. C. Pascoe: "It affords me great pleasure in representing the undersigned and on their behalf to present you with this picture as a slight token of their appreciation of your many kindnesses as their empolyer. Your integrity and zeal have won, not only the confidence of those employed by you, but of your many friends, who sincerely hope you will long be spared to enjoy good health, happiness and prosperity." Signed by L. C. Pascoe, A. Bates, E. Brush, T. Herring, H. Ransom, A. Sinn, H. Luffman, G. Griffin, R. Quipps, W. Steel, L. Cook, C. Cochrane, B. Sills, H. Thompson and J. H. Palmer. Mayor Tickell was taken entirely by surprise and thanked his friends heartily for their gift and kind words. The rest of the evening was pleasantly passed.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1.—A crude grave- marker just discovered near Atlanta, Ga., bears the name Eleanor Dare and the date 1589. Why is unusual importance attached to the find?

2.—To military men a Garand is (a) a scouting plane, (b) an infantry-man's rifle, (c) a shoulder decoration. Which is correct?

3.—The following are names of four of the famous Dionne Quinuplets: Yvonne, Marie, Cecile and Emilie. What is the missing name?

4.—"The Red, White and Blue" and "The Pickle" are terms you may have seen in your newspaper. To what do they refer?

5.—In walking down the street, you've often stopped to watch horologists ply their trade. What do they do?

6.—Off the northern coast of South America are three islands referred to as "ABC" group. What are their names?

7.—The new Joint Board of Defense of the U.S. and Canada must make plans covering the continental territories of both. Which covers the most territory?

Answers

1.—Eleanor Dare was the mother of Virginia Dare, the first child of English parents born in the New World.

2.—A semi-automatic rifle.

3.—Annette.

4.—New dances which were viewed by dancing teachers at their recent New York meeting.

5.—Make clocks and watches.

6.—Aruba, Bonaire, Curacao.

7.—Canada is three per cent larger in area than the continental U.S. including Alaska.

I Watched Them Bomb And Sink a Lightship

Hilde Marchant in Daily Express

Dover. — Six German dive-bombers bombed and machine-gunned recently a lighship that protected shipping off the south-east coast. Two of its crew of nine were killed. The rest were all injured.

The ship was unarmed, and without radio.

The six 'planes hid in the clouds, then dived to within 60 feet of the deck. All their six bombs missed, but the fourth fell within a few inches, and shattered the vessel's stern.

The crew took off in a dinghy; the ship sank within 16 minutes.

I watched all this, the nearest conception of total warfare, while lying in a ditch on the top of a cliff. The clouds behind were cracking wide open with the fire and smoke of a terrific battle between 200 'planes.

While our fighters were engaged, the six German 'planes rested quietly in the clouds over the sea. As the battle spread inland they felt safe enough to swoop down on the undefended mercy ship.

Straightened Out

I saw them pierce the shadowy sky, and in my innocence believed they were going to join the battle over land. Instead, they straightened out in one long black line and began to make for the ship.

It rocked from side to side as the bombs crashed in the water around—bad shots even with a sitting target. Men from two lorries they had stopped by the roadside shrieked curses at them and shook with anger.

How close it was! We could see the swastikas and watch the bombs fly, and how helpless we all felt. Men were being bombed and not [illegible] of us could do a thing except curse.

The little ship had been anchored in that bay for many years, and through fogs and gales had diverted the shipping of all nations from a nest of treacherous sand and rock. Yes, all ships — even German merchantmen—had been sent in peace and out of danger by the little red ship which now lurched from side to side.

Through the din of the engines we heard a harsh, quick rattle. The crew were being machine-gunned. The wreck of the ship was not enough. The pilots sought slaughter.

Angered.

Through my mind, confused and angered beyond all expression ran the childlike theme: "The quality of mercy, mercy."

There is none. Lightships, Red Cross hospital ships, refugees — there is no law and no human order in our enemy's hearts.

Down came those screeching black planes, right over my head, pausing only to turn their machine guns on the men who fumbled at the side of their ship to get a dinghy out. It is dirty, cruel fighting, and we must harden ourselves. The lightship crew were watching their chance, when a fresh sound came into the sky.

Three Spitfires streaked low over the cliffs. I cheered and cheered, and the men on the roadside yelled, "Go after the black swine!"

They did. The Germans flattened out and began to scramble for the clouds again.

But our fighters, embittered by the pathetic wreckage below, tore into the six bombers. At least three of them were brought down, and one was so badly damaged it is unlikely it got back home.

I saw one German 'plane rock out of its path and begin to drop. Black smoke and flame blistered the sky.

Sank With Splash.

The machine skidded for a mile low over the water, then it sank with a great splash—and with a loud cheer from me.

A second German 'plane seemed to stumble about the sky, then disappeared into the clouds again. They got away to report their magnificent morning's work—how they found an unprotected lightship and machine-gunned the crew; and how they managed to fly into the clouds when they were challenged to fight.

They did not pause to see the rest of the story I watched from the cliff head. The overladen dinghy got away from the sinking ship, and a motor-boat from the harbor ploughed out to them.

A Spitfire hovered around protecting the rescue work. As the boat picked up the men, the lightship sank stern first.

The second motor-yacht came out and searched the water for some miles around. At first I thought they were looking for survivors from the lightship, but soon I realized they were looking for the crew of the German bomber that had crashed.

The Spitfire guided them to the wreckage. In the first moments of unreasoned anger at the savage display I had seen so closely I felt that those men should drown. Yet later I knew we need not behave like Germans in our fighting.

Survivors from the lightship were brought into harbor. Three were kept in hospital, and though the others were all injured they managed to leave and go home.

Having Dinner.

I met James Easton, the master, on his way to the station. His face was still twitching, and he limped from a bullet wound in the leg. He told me they had been in the lightship a week.

"We were having our dinner when the 'planes came over", he said. "The deck was open, and there was no cover, so we crouched down against the ship's side.

"She rocked like mad. We were thrown all over the deck. Then we heard machine-gun bullets hammering the deck.

"A couple of lads were killed with the first shot. I got one in the leg, and all of us got peppered. We dragged ourselves over to the dinghy and got it loose before the last lot were on top of us.

"We got away just as the Spitfires came after them, and though we were exhausted and bleeding it was a grand sight."

He was in a hurry when I saw him. Still shaking, and with his face bleeding, he had a train to catch. What for? "To send in a report and see about a new lightship."

They are going to sit in that bay again as soon as they can.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

Left Handed Children

I have spoken before of seeing school children beaten over the knuckles with a ruler, pointer or strap when they used their left hand in writing. We were taught at that time that everybody should write with the right hand; in fact that using the left hand was a sign that the individual was not normal, not as bright as he should be.

Fortunately, the idea that children who were born left handed should be taught and made to use the right hand when writing was dropped some years ago. Further, it was found that left handed youngsters were just as bright, if not brighter, than those who were right handed.

Unfortunately, there are some parents and teachers who still believe that the left-handed youngster should be made to use his right hand when writing and these youngsters are forced against their will to use the right hand for writing or other purposes where they would naturally use the left hand. That this forcing of the youngster to use his right hand may affect the youngster mentally is reported by Dr. Vera Karvosky, University of Montpellier, in Annals of Medicine and Physiology. Dr. Karvosky made a study of 2500 children.

This study showed that when a youngster, born left handed, is, from the time he begins to use his hands made to use his right hand, it results in the child's being slow in learning to walk, speak, and learn.

"One is left handed or one is right handed". Parents and teachers should stress that left-handedness is not a defect, not something to be hidden, but is just as natural as having blue eyes or red hair, and children should be permitted to use the left hand as naturally as use of the right is developed. By allowing the youngster to do the "natural" thing, that is use his left hand, there will be no emotional disturbances or conflicts to hinder his mental and physical progress.

Names Make Language

(Brandon Sun)

Not so freely used here, but understood well in Great Britain is a new word that will become part of the English language—Quisling. It may soon appear in the dictionaries: Quisling, noun, meaning traitor; to quisle, verb, meaning to betray; quisling, adjective, meaning treacherous. Of course it is the name, converted to language use, of the arch-traitor of the present European conflict. Colonel Quisling, who sold his country, Norway, to the Nazis. Thus it joins the interesting galaxy of English words which were originally proper names: Sandwich, for the Earl of Sandwich; derby (either the race or the hat) for the Earl of Derby, who originated them; burnsides (or sideburns) for the War Between the States general who wore them; macadam and mackintosh, for the Scotsmen who invented them; gerrymander for Governor Gerry of Massachussetts, under whose regime voting districts were first manipulated in that manner; lynch, for Judge Charles Lynch of Virginia, whose methods were extra-legal; guillotine, both the noun and verb, for Dr. Guillotine, the inventor of that instrument of death (and incidentally its first victim); broughman and victoria, for Lord Broughman and Queen Victoria, who popularized these vehicles—and many others. History has strange ways of perpetuating events. The incorporation of his name into a language will no doubt perpetuate the infamy of Quisling into generations which otherwise might have forgotten it. A more condign retribution it would be hard to envisage.

Girls Help Prisoner to Escape From Nazi Camp

London. — Driver Gustave Joseph Thibaut, of the R. A. S. C., has arrived in England after escaping with the help of two girls, from a German prisoner-of-war camp. His journey took 25 days.

He travelled through France and Spain to the sea.

He is 27. His mother was Spanish, his father British, his grandfather Belgian. He was born in Madrid, and speaks both French and Spanish without trace of English accent.

He joined up the day after war was declared. A month after he arrived in France—this was before the Allied advance to the Belgian frontier—he met in Paris the first of the two girls who were later to help him to freedom.

He wrote to her in the weeks that followed.

When the blitzkrieg began he was stationed near Bethune, where the R. A. S. C. was supplying the Northumberland Fusiliers.

Later, he and his comrades had to retreat before shell-fire, dive-bombing and tank attacks towards Le Havre.

Tanks on Cliff.

He was captured on the beach at St. Valery en Caux on June 12, with about 450 other British soldiers and 15,000 French.

"There were 300 tanks on the cliffs above us", Driver Thibaut said recently, "and infantrymen were strafing us with machine-gun fire. Some of us tried to put up a fight from a stone jetty which ran out to a lighthouse.

"We broke into the lighthouse, hoping to signal for help to any British warship at sea. But some one had sabotaged the lamp, and we could not get it to work. We had to surrender.

"About 20,000 of us were marched off towards Germany in that prisoners' column. Near me were some men of the Black Watch who had tried to fight tanks with rifles.

"Minus 'planes, minus tanks, and without the support of French artillery, in desperation they charged tanks with their bayonets. Not many of them survived the attack.

"There was little for us to eat on the march. We snatched up swedes which were being dried in heaps by the roadside for pig food and ate them as we marched, or boiled them when we halted at night.

French Favored.

"We drank water from our tin helmets. Our first meal — tinned stew — was ladled out into our hands.

"We halted at an emergency prison camp at Doullens. There we heard that the French had capitulated. From that point the Germans had orders to give preferential treatment to the French soldiers.

"Before that, they had given preference, by choice, to the English soldiers.

"At Doullens two or three Britons died of exhaustion. The Britons were put in camp on an evil-smelling rubbish dump, while the French were roped off in a wood a little distance away.

"The French expected to be set free any day, and were granted the privilege of accepting gifts of food and cigarettes—or buying them—from civilians at the prison gate. But no one was allowed to come near the British.

"We had shared our cigarettes with the French at the beginning of the march, when they had none. But now that they had food and cigarettes in plenty they held us up to ransom, demanding big prices.

"A French soldier made me give 5s, 8d for twenty cigarettes and £1 17s 6d for a loaf of bread.

Only Chance.

"It wasn't until later that it became apparent that the Germans were not going to release the French after all. But at that time, I thought, my only chance of escape lay with the French.

"We marched on in stages, always towards the German frontier. Then I decided to make a break.

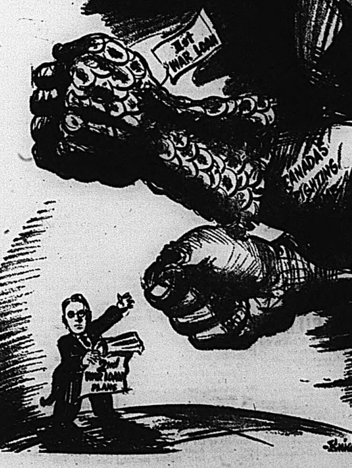
"After I had made the break I set out for Paris, and I found the world's oldest bicycle.

"I forged papers which got me to the capital, when I took train for the south of France. Then I made my way to the Spanish frontier.

"I found a ship and came to England."

Driver Thibaut cannot disclose how the two girls helped him to escape, but he says: "When the war is over I will go to thank them."—London Exchange.

Finance Minister Raises 2nd Mailed Fist



ENTIRE WOOL CLIP OFFERED BRITAIN

United Kingdom Free to Sell as Much as She Wishes

Toronto, Sept. 11 (CP)—Australia's entire wool clip was offered to Great Britain at the start of the war, Sir William Glasgow, High Commissioner in Canada for Australia, said today in a speech prepared for delivery before the Women's Canadian Club. It was made available at a fixed price for duration of hostilities and the first post-war year.

The United Kingdom is free to re-sell as much as she wishes of this wool which totals more than 800,000,000 pounds annually and is worth nearly $200,000,000, he said.

Australia forbade auctioning of wool or sheep skins in 1916 to ensure that the Allies in the first Great War obtained all the wool they required for blankets and uniforms, Sir William said. The wool was offered at a fixed price for 3 1-2 seasons and at expiration of the war contract, there were nearly 2,000,000 surplus bales of wool in Australia.

"To deal with this enormous carry-over, a composite body known as the British-Australian Wool Realization Association was formed, which controlled for a time the marketing and price of wool," he said. "This was the only occasion on which any attempt has been made to peg the price of wool." Since 1920, prices have been determined by bidding at the great wool sales.

A Superb Green Tea
"SALADA"
GREEN TEA

Give Your Boy His Chance

Every boy hopes that some day he will go to College. And your son can be one of those whose dreams will be realized if you plan for it.

Talk over the Mutual Life Educational Plan with a Mutual Life of Canada representative. He will tell you what can be accomplished by setting aside as little as one dollar a week for meeting college expenses. Or write to the Head Office at Waterloo, Ontario.

THE MUTUAL LIFE OF CANADA
Established 1869
Head Office Waterloo, Ont.
"Owned by the Policyholders"
BRANCH OFFICE: 249½ Front St.
BELLEVILLE, ONT.
S. R. BURROWS, C.L.U.
Branch Manager
P. C. McGUIRE, C.L.U.
Agency Supervisor
REPRESENTATIVES
W. N. HURST, Belleville
C. H. BURR, Picton
W. E. WIGGINS, Bancroft
R. GAMBLE, Trenton.
D. G. WILLIAMS, Stirling
A. M. RAYBURN, Tweed
D. M. COTTON, Tweed
F. R. TAYLOR, Consecon.

Delegate Reports on Supreme Convention, Knights of Columbus

The Knights of Columbus held their opening meeting last night which was well attended. Grand Knight George Lee opened the meeting and welcomed every brother present. Much business was transacted. Various committees were appointed to look after the activities of the Order including a bingo committee. It was decided to start the bingo games next week. The entire proceeds of the first bingo will be used to buy cigarettes for all Belleville soldiers overseas.

Grand Knight George Lee gave a splendid report of the Supreme Convention which was held in Minneapolis, last month. Lecturer Frank Domenico thanked the Grand Knight for his report. The Chaplain Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V.G., congratulated the Grand Knight on his fine report. He also congratulated the Knights of Columbus on the splendid appearance of the rooms which have been newly decorated. The membership Committee reported having started a campaign for new members. The meeting was closed with prayer.

PICTON

32-POUND LUNGE TAKEN FROM BAY

C. Crawford, Tourist, Hooks Big Fellow Off Big Island in Bay of Quinte

Picton—A maskinonge weighing 32 pounds was taken from the Bay of Quinte off the shore of Big Island by C. Crawford, a summer visitor, on Tuesday. The big fellow put up a great fight before being landed. Several large lunge have been taken from these waters during the past week.

Several canning factories have increased the price of tomatoes from thirty-five cents to forty cents a bushel due to the fact that the crop is not as good as expected. This is due largely to lack of rain. The acreage is double that of last year but there is a keen demand for the canned produce.

The body of Roland Rorke is expected to arrive in Picton from Noranda, Quebec, on Thursday and the funeral will be held at St. Gregory's R.C. Church. The date has not yet been set.

The United Church W.M.S. met at the church Tuesday and some time was spent in packing a bale for missionary purposes. During the meeting, Mrs. Thomas Woods presided and Miss Evelyn Gould gave a report of the sectional rally held at Cherry Valley.

Miss Catherine Clapp is teaching at S.S. No. 9, North Marysburgh.

Pte. Carl Hogan of Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment is progressing slowly in military hospital at Kingston.

Mrs. A. H. Walton and son Paul are guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Steele, Ottawa.

Miss Margaret Sharpe daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Sharp is attending Albert College this term.

Mrs. S. E. Hall, of Pasadena, Calif., is a guest of Mrs. Cecil Pearsall.

Several from town enjoyed the wrestling matches at Belleville.

While in Toronto attending the C.N.E., Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Way visited their daughter, Mrs. Misener and Mr. Misener.

Mrs. W. H. Williamson and Mrs. Beatrice Hamilton are guests of Mrs. Jones Colliver.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ostrum, of Belleville and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ostrom, London, were guests of Mrs. A. M. Ostrom on Tuesday.

Friend of Fl. Lt. Sims Missed Ill-Fated Flight by Few Minutes

The telephone tinkled in the editorial rooms of this newspaper late Tuesday afternoon. Over the wires came a voice broken with emotion.

"Is it true that Flight-Lieutenant Fred Sims, of London, Ont., was one of the airmen killed in the crash today?" it queried.

Being answered in the affirmative, the voice broke again. "My God," it exclaimed in jerky tones, "I am from London and am one of his best friends. I just missed that flight by a few minutes."

The "voice" refused to disclose its owner's name, but from the conversation it is presumed it belonged to an R.C.A.F. flyer, who had been assigned to make the flight in the ill-fated Finch Trainer, and had "missed it by a few minutes."

INCOME WAR TAX ACT IS CHANGED

Ottawa, Sept. 11 (CP)—A major change in the Income War Tax Act was announced Tuesday by Finance Minister Ilsley under which income tax payments may be made in eight monthly instalments without interest charge.

Under this optional plan, one-third of the tax is to be paid in monthly instalments by April 30, the usual due date, and the remainder spread over the next four months.

Mr. Ilsley said he would introduce an amendment to the Income War Tax Act when Parliament reassembles, providing this optional plan for payments of income tax. By this plan one-third of the estimated tax to be spread over the first four months of the year, and two-thirds over the next four months of the year, and two-thirds over the next four months, so that the five per cent interest requirements of the Act are eliminated for those adopting the plan.

"In other words," said Mr. Ilsley, "if the taxpayer pays one-third of the estimated tax by equal monthly instalments beginning not later than January 31 and ending not later than April 30, then the taxpayer may pay the balance of the tax by equal monthly instalments beginning not later than May 31 and ending not later than August 31 without being charged any interest whatever.

French Havas News Service Transferred To South America

New York, Sept. 11 — (CP) — Christopher J. Chancellor, inspecting general for Reuters News Agency, said here Tuesday Reuters plans to replace the extensive French Havas News Agency in South America.

Chancellor said in an interview on a survey made in South America that if the directors in London accept the recommendations he will give them when he returns to London, Reuters will take over the clients and some of the personnel of Havas. Reuters will not take over any Havas equipment.

The inspecting general added that virtually all employees of Havas in South America are dissatisfied with propaganda which he said they feel is being included in news from occupied France. In addition, Chancellor said, the German Transocean Service has told South American clients of Havas that they need not take the Havas Service because they would get the same information from Transocean.

Chancellor said that if his plan is approved, Havas bureaux in London, New York and elsewhere will be incorporated into a service with the name L.E.F.—the initials of the French Republic's liberty, equality and fraternity. It would provide "news of the activities of free Frenchmen throughout the world, gathered and written by Frenchmen and containing such authentic news from France as is obtainable.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Dr. Christian Meets the Women"

Folks! If you are looking for swell entertainment, do not fail to enjoy the present show at the McCarthy Theatre, where Jean Hersholt in "Dr. Christian Meets the Women" and also Raymond Massey, Toronto-born star, in "Black Limelight" is now playing. We sincerely believe that you will find these two features two of the most enjoyable attractions you have seen in quite some time and with the additional presentation of latest Fox News events which includes the latest motion pictures taken of the Dionne Quintuplets, it is a well worthwhile going to see program that we highly recommend to all.

"Mr. Boggs Steps Out"

Another laugh riot by the author of "Mr. Deeds Goes To Town", Stuart Erwin in Clarence Budington Kelland's great story, "Mr. Boggs Steps Out," also William Boyd (Hopalong Cassidy) in "Silver on the Sage," another Clarence E. Mulford super-western story which is packed with thrills and action, opens next at the McCarthy Theatre and from advance reports should be a real pleasing show for the week-end. But before its arrival, again we urge you to see "Dr. Christian Meets the Women" and "Black Limelight" the present two features playing.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Torrid Zone"

James Cagney was having one of his comparatively rare opportunities to prove that he can love like he can fight. It was, moreover, an opportunity worth considerable waiting for. His pardner in the romantic scene of Warner Bros. "Torrid Zone," the picture opening at the Capitol Theatre next was Ann Sheridan.

The scene started right off with a kiss. Without any pretty speech preliminaries, Cagney took Ann into his arms and their lips met and held.

Just in time to beat the censor's shears—kisses are not allowed to be too lingering in present day love scenes—Andy Devine stepped into the hotel room setting.

"Pardon me," he said, as the two redheads broke from their clinch, "wrong room."

Then he recognized Cagney and rushed forward with effusive enthusiasm.

"Well Nick," he exclaimed, "this is like old times."

Cagney obviously wasn't glad to see him, and was anxious to get rid of him. Nobody could blame him for that. With more bluntness than tact, he began to hustle him out. Before he succeeded, however, and ended the scene, Devine blew his lines.

He did that again and again, and each time Cagney and Ann started the new take with a kiss. After the fifth take—and the fifth kiss—Devine gave his head a despairing slap.

"Well darn my socks," he exclaimed, plaintively, "the way I'm blowing up, you'd think I was the one getting those extra kisses from the oomph girl!"

"Torrid Zone" co-stars Cagney, Miss Sheridan and Pat O'Brien. Andy Devine heads the supporting cast which also includes Helen Vinson, Jerome Cowan, George Tobias, George Reeves, Victor Kilian and many others. Bill Keighley directed from the original screen play by Jerry Wald and Richard Macaulay.

The News Reel, Cartoon, Popular Science in technicolor and the 9th chapter of the thrilling serial 'Buck Rogers' closes the bill.

AT THE BELLE

"Our Town"

Martha Scott, who is starred in the United Artists "Our Town" which is now on the Belle theatre screen eats oranges in bed. She sleeps on her stomach and alternates between pajamas and nightgowns. She loves breakfast and hates liver. She has never seen the Grand Caynon or been to the top of the Statute of Liberty. She has ridden on a merry-go-round once in her life and on a roller coaster twice. She once was stuck in a ferris wheel.

She sets her alarm clock half an hour ahead and is always forgetting to wind her watch. She doesn't care about clothes as long as they are comfortable but she adores perfume and odd costume jewelry. Her dog's name is George after the character George Gibbs in "Our Town." She gets airsick and that nearly lost her the job in the Sol Lesser production of the Thornton Wilder play. She wanted to get off the plane and go back to New York. She hates bridge. She has never bowled or shot a dice. She rarely smokes.

Poems by Rupert Brook thrill her but she never wrote a poem in her life. She is one of the few girls in the world who likes Kansas City. After she graduates from Michigan University she was the prop man for the college repertory company. She doesn't have a Phi Beta Kappa key.

She has only bought one lottery ticket in her life and she has yet to bet on a horse race. She likes the name Bill. She once had a pony called Gargantua. She gets out of bed on the left side and goes around the house without her slippers on. She likes men who smoke pipes. Men who wear bow ties annoy her. She likes to see men in tweed suits.

For six months she belonged to a bird-watching club. She never was a girl scout. She can make taffy candy and Yorkshire pudding. She is quite fond of oatmeal mush but won't eat ox tongue.

"The Golden Fleecing"

When Lew Ayres troubles trouble, trouble troubles Lew Ayres with hilarious results in "The Golden Fleecing," hilarous adventure of a timid office clerk among gangsters in a big city, announced as the added laugh feature attraction.

Ayres, as the clerk is spurred to ambition by his sweetheart, played by Rita Johnson, sells a big insurance policy, gets a raise in salary, then discovers that his customer is a fugitive racketeer, liable to be "rubbed out" at any time. To save his joy he has to trail the racketeer. Then follow comical adventures which lead him into jails, into trouble with menacing gangsters, a climb along the seventh-storey ledge of an office building, and other laughable mishaps and experiences.

Leslie Fenton directed the picture, with a cast that includes Virginia Grey, blonde charmer who turns "heavy" to play a gangster's "moll," Lloyd Nolan as the racket overlord, Nat Pendleton, Marc Lawrence, Richard Carle, George Lessey and Ralph Byrd.

One of the principal comedy characters is played by Leon Errol, of "rubber legs" fame, who is seen as Uncle Waldo, former vaudevillian who insists on playing his xylophone to everyone he meets and singing a ditty of his own concoction, "March, March, March, the Boys are Tramping."

Ayres has some thrills among the fun. He proves himself a boxer by knocking out Nat Pendleton, rescues Miss Johnson from racketeers and defies the gangster czar in his den. Between these and the love story the structure is entirely one of laughs.

Stuart Erwin and Toby Wing in a scene from "Mr. Boggs Steps Out," another laugh riot from the author of "Mr. Deeds," which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre with the co-feature, "Silver on the Sage."

We Are All Ready For Our Big
SEPTEMBER SAVINGS
SALE
Thurs.-Fri.-Sat. Sept. 12-13-14
Thurs.-Fri.-Sat. Sept. 12-13-14

WATCH FOR YOUR CIRCULAR SEE OUR WINDOW DISPLAY
LOOK FOR THE NOT ADVERTISED SPECIALS THROUGHOUT THE STORE

New Fall HATS
3 PRICE GROUPS
$1.98
$2.98
$3.98
New Styles on Display Every Week.

RAYON SATIN Pyjamas and Gowns $1.00
FULL-FASHIONED SILK HOSIERY pr. 59c
LARGE BATH and HAND TOWELS ea. 49c
NEW YORK HAND BAGS $1.49
CHAMOIS SUEDE & CHENILLE HOUSE COATS $2.59

3 Day Clearance Sale
DRESSES
Regular Values up to $8.95 .... $4.95
Regular Values up to $4.95 .... $2.98
Regular Values up to $3.95 .... $1.99

36-INCH PRINTED Flannelette yd. 25c
WOMEN'S FLANNELETTE Pyjamas suit $1.00
HAND EMBROIDERED Pillow Cases pr. $1.00
HEAVY QUALITY Tea Towels ea. 25c
OILED SILK Parasols ea. $1.79

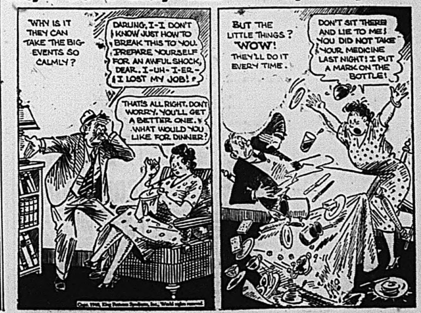
NEW FALL
DRESSES
$2.98
Just arrived in time for our Three Day Sale — a large shipment of these popular price dresses in all the popular shades and styles.
SIZES 14 to 20.

29-INCH ENGLISH Cretonnes yd. 25c
GIRLS—Sizes 7 to 14X Fur Trimmed Coats $9.95
TWILL-O-SPUN Dress Materials yd. 98c
27-INCH WHITE Flannelette 8 yds. $1.00
RAYON SATIN Panties pr. 49c

WALKER STORES, LIMITED
BELLEVILLE

Time to Start
COD LIVER OIL and HALIBUT OIL CAPSULES.
50 Capsules 69c
100 Capsules $1.19
TAKE ONE A DAY AND COLDS WILL BE SCARCE.
Ask us About the Different Vitamin Preparations.
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138
RUSH FREE DELIVERY

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo



WHY IS IT THEY CAN TAKE THE BIG EVENTS SO CALMLY?
DARLING, I-I DON'T KNOW JUST HOW TO BREAK THIS TO YOU. PREPARE YOURSELF FOR AN AWFUL SHOCK, DEAR. I-UH-I-ER-I LOST MY JOB!
THAT'S ALL RIGHT. DON'T WORRY. YOU'LL GET A BETTER ONE. WHAT WOULD YOU LIKE FOR DINNER?
BUT THE LITTLE THINGS? WOW! THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME.
DON'T SIT THERE! AND LIE TO ME! YOU DID NOT TAKE YOUR MEDICINE LAST NIGHT! I PUT A MARK ON THE BOTTLE!

COAL HEAT Can't Be Beat!

PHONE
2071
ORDER TO-DAY!

for ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY and COMFORT!

"A quality fuel for every purpose"

GET IN ON THE PRESENT LOW PRICES PREVAILING FOR QUALITY FUEL.

HARRY SMITH
152 PINNACLE STREET

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Taylor announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence to Carman Alvin Herrington, son of Mrs. A. Herrington and the late Mr. A. Herrington of Rossmore, the wedding to take place on October the 12th.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

The engagement is announced of Edith Marguerite Stratton, Bancroft, daughter of Alfred E. Stratton, Rosser Man., and the late Elizabeth Stratton (nee Mullet) to Chauncey Valleau Ray, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin A. Ray of Timmins, Ont. The marriage to take place Tuesday, Sept. 17th., at St. John's Anglican Church, Bancroft, Ontario.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Gazley announce the engagement of their daughter, Jessie May, to Henry G. Luther, son of Mr. F. Luther and the late Mrs. Luther of Napanee, the wedding to take place sometime in September.

Donald Moore has left for Montreal to attend the Mackay School for the Deaf.

Mrs. A. B. Collins, Mrs. B. C. Donnan, Mrs. A. Gillen and Mrs. F. S. Wilson were tea hostesses at the Bay of Quinte Country Club today.

Mrs. J. D. Twigg, who has been visiting her parents, Dr. and Mrs. H. C. Church, Ottawa, has returned to the city.

Mr. Dan Hawley of Marmora, quietly celebrated his seventieth birthday on Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. M. E. Branscombe were the guests yesterday of Dr. and Mrs. G. A. Platt, Kingston.

Miss Gretta I. Ross, Toronto, has arrived in the city where she is on the staff of Albert College.

Mrs. Harvey A. Dawson of Worthing, Sussex, England, and her daughter are in the city for the duration, the guests of the former's brother, Mr. R. H. Martin and Mrs. Martin. Major Dawson who is an associate of the Royal Institute of Architects, is stationed with his regiment in England.

The Lieutenant Governor of Ontario and Mrs. Matthews have sent an invitation to the Rev. C. P. and Mrs. Heaven of Shannonville, to attend a reception at Queen's Park, Toronto, on September 17, in honour of Wycliffe College Alumni. Mr. Heaven is an honour graduate of "Wycliffe".

The weekly party for members of the R.C.A.F. held under the auspices of the Hospitality Club at the Country Club was arranged last evening by a committee of the young ladies who have been the guests of the Hospitality Club at these enjoyable affairs. The dance last evening was attended by a very large number of airmen, and proved very successful. An interesting part of the evening was the program to which a number of the guests contributed items of entertainment. Refreshments were served by the hostesses. The members of the committee in charge last evening included Miss Margaret Burrowes, chairman, Misses Frances Lazier, Evelyn Jack, Mary Wallbridge, Isabel Clendenan, Ann Schuster, Jean Dickens and Mrs. C. Ryan.

MEMORABILIA

He who has gazed upon England's Queen
And felt the grip of the King's strong hand
Would exchange the rarest jewel on earth
For one small grain of Old England's sand.

Canadian, what does it mean to you,—
That little fortress set in the sea,
Standing alone against fearful odds,
That clear-eyed lads in English

Each silver bird in an English sky
Carries a brave heart in its breast;
Many who fly to meet the dawn
Never again shall see the nest.

Canadian, what does it mean to you
That seas grow narrower year by year,
That one small island fights alone,
Giving its all for your safety here?

that, too, is no little item on ex-towns
Go daily down to the sea in ships;
Never return to those they love,
But die with "England!" on their lips?

Your children are happy, well and free—
Canadian, what does it mean to you?
In England, mothers are tired and sad;

And England's Queen is a mother, too.

An Empire, loyal and brave and free,
Inspired by a gesture—a woman's hand!
Small wonder they love her "over there"
We who have seen can understand!

Alexandria — Dorothy Dumbrille, in Montreal Star.

For BETTER desserts
DURHAM
Corn Starch
030

DURHAM
Corn Starch

Leaders' Conference is Held by Belleville Presbyterial W. M. S.

The Women's Missionary Society of the Belleville Presbyterial held a Leaders' Conference in Bridge Street Church, Belleville, on Thursday, Sept. 5. Mrs. F. L. Hooper, president of the Presbyterial, presided for the morning session which was opened with the Doxology. Mrs. Erle Denyes, recording secretary, gave a report of previous meetings of the executive held during the year. The report of the treasurer, Mrs. E. L. Fraser, showed a slight increase in the amount raised during the first half of 1940 over that raised during the same period in 1939.

Each secretary gave a report of the work accomplished in her department for this year. Mrs. E. Osborne, secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance, reported a slight increase in the givings. The report of the Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. M. E. Knox, was read by Mrs. Haggerty.

There were three vice presidents present: Mrs. Geo. Finley of Napanee North, Mrs. R. H. Foster of Prince Edward and Miss Georgina Jenkins of Napanee South. Each spoke briefly of the work in her section and told of the success of Miss Clazie's itinerary.

Mrs. Hooper spoke briefly of the Five-Year Plan and asked for prayers for this new endeavour. She encouraged the presidents to visit the auxiliaries in their sections.

The Morning Devotions were taken by Mrs. W. C. Haggerty. After a hymn and a Scripture reading, John 15:1-13, Mrs. Haggerty spoke of the power of Jesus' love as shown in this passage. She asked for a greater faith so that greater work may follow and closed with a poem "The Master's Voice". Mrs. Gordon Bell, Cherry Valley, sang very sweetly "Hark, the Voice of Jesus Calling". A session of prayer followed.

The afternoon session was opened with a worship service in charge of Mrs. A. McCreary, Secretary of Mission Bands and Mrs. Milton Robson, Secretary of Baby Bands. The service was opened with quiet music and a hymn. Mrs. McCreary gave the Scripture reading taken from Matt. 18 and 19 and Mrs. Robson read the story "The Quest". A solo was then sung by Mrs. Hall, Plainfield. A litany was read, the main theme of which was "For children, for those engaged in their education, for a nation which recognizes the need for their protection, care, education and for happy, Christian homes we give thanks O Lord."

Highlights from the School for Leaders were brought to the Conference by Mrs. S. W. Spafford, Mrs. Harrison, Miss Muriel Craig, Mrs. Osborne, Mrs. Erle Denyes, Mrs. Albert Empey, Mrs. Beckwith, Mrs. McCreary, Mrs. Manly Fox and Mrs. Morrison.

The meeting then broke up into groups for a conference period conducted by the Department Secretaries after which Miss Georgina Jenkins sang, "Tell Me the Story of Jesus". Findings of the conference period were brought to the meeting by the secretaries, each showing that problems had been discussed and ways and means of solving them found.

The conference was brought to a close with the Mizpah Benediction.

Be Discreet With Makeup

By HELEN FOLLETT

That the army of beauty seekers throughout the land is advancing is proved by the more discreet use of makeup. Many a woman has discarded commercial blushing, depending upon the lipstick to make her face vivid and interesting. Others, unnaturally pale, must use a little cheek glow. To trowel on the complexion batik, which was a common custom only a short time ago, is now bad form. The rule is to use just enough to give the complexion freshness and character.

When making a new face for yourself use a magnifying mirror. You've no idea how much better results you will get, especially in forming a clear outline with the lipstick. Smeary mouth portals are a disgrace to the phrail sex. See that rouge and powder are blended. Apply a light film of powder, use the rouge compact, then powder again. Make a cosmetic sandwich. There will be no clear-cut border lines, but perfect blending.

Placing rouge high glorifies the eyes; placing it low gives an appearance of fatigue, makes the lower portion of the face look heavy. Include the ear lobes. And that reminds us, do you, my paper friends, remember to powder your ears? Shining ears don't help make the beauty picture. Too suggestive of a recent scrubbing with soap and water.

x x x

There's nothing more maddening than a nail file that grinds slowly and doesn't get any place. Buy the best one you can find; it will last a lifetime. It should be long and pliable, the grooves should be fine, close together. Only high grade steel will cut quickly and evenly.

Never file the talons after your hands have been in water; the nails are soft then and may fold back. Work from sides to center, but avoid cutting far down at the sides. Form a pleasing oval. Run the orange wood stick under the nail to bring out little shags that haven't been cut away; remove them with beveling files of emery board.

To trowel on the complexion batik is now bad form

BREAK OFF NEGOTIATIONS

New York, Sept. 11 (AP). — The British Broadcasting Corporation reported today in a broadcast picked up by National Broadcasting Company that negotiations between the French and Japanese in Indo-China have been broken off by the French.

HAVE MUSIC FOR "O CANADA"

Southampton, Sept. 11 (CP). — When Canadian troops were being entertained in the Guildhall recently, civic officials experienced a great deal of difficulty in obtaining the music to "O Canada". That trouble will not recur. Apparently the story found its way back to Canada where pupils of Kent school in Toronto decided to fix the matter once and for all. They saved their pennies, and with them purchased copies of the song which were forwarded to the city councillors here.

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTACK

London, Sept. 11 (CP).—German planes attacked a convoy off the East Scottish coast last night and early today, but the ships reached their destination.

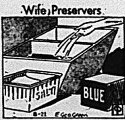
IF BABY IS CROSS
FIND OUT WHY

HEALTHY BABIES are not cross. Your baby should not be cross. If he is, then something in his little system is "out of order". Probably Baby's Own Tablets can promptly "put it right". Mrs. H——, of Fenelon Falls, had the experience. She writes: "My little girl was irritable, feverish and sometimes sick at her stomach—what a relief it was, after giving her Baby's Own Tablets, to see how much better she was."

No matter how delicate your baby may be, these little sweet-tasting tablets cannot harm him. Easy to take. Promptly effective in clearing up simple fevers, diarrhoea, colds, constipation, simple croup, colic, teething troubles and other minor ills.

Never be without a full box of Baby's Own Tablets. Sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Money back if you are not satisfied.

Wife Preservers



If you are a bride and new to the business of laundering, and you notice the bluing in the rinse water streaks the clothes, add a handful of salt to the rinsing water and you will find it helpful.

How To Relieve FEMALE FUNCTIONAL COMPLAINTS

Few women today do not have some sign of functional trouble. Maybe you've noticed YOURSELF getting restless, moody and nervous lately? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to help quiet unstrung nerves, relieve monthly pain (cramps, backache, headache) and weak, nervous, dizzy spells due to functional disorders. Pinkham's Compound has helped thousands of rundown, nervous women during "difficult times." Made in Canada. Try it!

WEDDINGS

BROWN—KIRKBY

On Saturday afternoon the marriage took place at St. John's Anglican Church, Toronto, of Betty Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Kirkby, and Mr. Gordon M. Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Brown. The church was decorated with gladioli and ferns. Rev. H. R. Hunt officiated at the ceremony. Mr. Percy McDonald was organist and Mrs. Grace Baylis sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white georgette gown over taffeta on princess lines, an embroidered Swiss net veil caught with a cluster of gardenias and carried crimson roses and bouvardia.

Miss Olive Kirkby, maid of honour, was in a baby tone wine period taffeta frock and Miss Margaret Brown, bridesmaid, was in dusty rose taffeta. They had matching hats and carried old fashioned nosegays of Sweetheart roses and forget-me-nots.

Mr. Douglas Allen was the best man and the ushers were Mr. Herbert Kirkby and Mr. William Taylor.

At the reception at the Old Mill, Mrs. Kirkby received in a queen's blue chiffon gown, black picture hat and corsage of Sweetheart roses. She was assisted by Mrs. Brown in a dusty pink sheer gown with navy accessories and corsage of roses.

The bride changed to a gray tailored suit with navy accessories and silver fox fur, the gift of the groom, for going away. On their return from a motor trip to Northern Ontario, the couple will live on Henry Street, Belleville.

MILES—BUNNETT

The home of the bride beautifully decorated with Autumn flowers, was the scene of a lovely September wedding at two-thirty yesterday afternoon when Doris Georgina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bunnett, Holloway, became the bride of Joseph Charles Miles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miles of this city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George McKenzie. The occasion was also that of the twenty-seventh wedding anniversary of the bride's parents.

The bride was charming in soldier blue crepe with periwinkle blue trimming, black accessories and corsage of American Beauty roses.

The wedding ring used in the ceremony was originally worn by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. George Bunnett, at her wedding fifty-seven years ago.

The bride was attended by Miss Margaret Miles Belleville, sister of the groom, wearing heavenly blue sheer with black accessories. Mr. Earle Ray, Holloway, cousin of the bride, was groomsman.

A buffet luncheon was served following the ceremony. Mrs. Bunnett mother of the bride, received wearing navy triple sheer with corsage of American Beauty roses, while Mrs. Miles, mother of the groom, wore mauve printed silk, and corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Percy Ray and Miss Ruth Brough assisted in serving. The groom's gift to the groomsman was a billfold and to the bridesmaid a beauty kit.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles left on a short trip to northern points, the bride travelling in an airforce blue tailored suit, with matching hat and black suede accessories. Upon their return they will take up residence at 175 Moira Street West.

GODFREY—FERGUSON

Bishop Strachan School Chapel, Toronto, was the setting for a quiet wedding yesterday, when Miss Mary Burwell Ferguson, daughter of Mrs. Ferguson and the late Hector P. Ferguson, was married to Pilot Officer John Morrow Godfrey, R.C.A.F., Trenton, son of Mr. Justice Godfrey and Mrs. Godfrey of "Ardmore", Port Credit. Rev. Hugh Bedford Jones conducted the ceremony, and Miss Conners was at the organ. Cathedral candles on the altar and opalescent gladioli formed a colorful background for the bridal party.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Donald Ferguson, wore a graceful gown of chalk white silk jersey, with softly draped bodice, full skirt and a crushed girdle. Her veil of heirloom lace was arranged with a Juliet cap, and she carried swansonia, white gladioli petals and stephanotis. Miss Eleanor Hughes, maid of honour, and Miss Althea Green, bridesmaid, wore frocks of Romance roses. The long basque bodices were accented with shirring and the full skirts fell in soft folds. They wore Dutch caps of red wine velvet looped with matching veiling, and their bouquets were orchid and amethyst gladioli petals. Lieutenant Curzon Ostrom, R.C.A., of Winnipeg, was groomsman, and the ushers were Captain W. G. Godfrey and Mr. T. Robin Godfrey brothers of the bridegroom; Major R. H. Sankey and Mr. Stanley Biggs.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt on Wells Hill Avenue, where the bridal party received against a wall of pure white gladioli. Mrs. Ferguson, mother of the bride, wore a gown of delph blue. The feathered crown of her small hat shaded from the same lovely color to the deeper tones and her corsage was of Sweetheart roses and pastel flowers. Mrs. Godfrey chose a handsome gown of mist-grey lace, with small brown turban and sables, and carried a sheaf of zinnias. The toast to the bride was proposed by her cousin, Mr. J. M. Macdonnell.

Later the Pilot Officer and Mrs. Godfrey left on a motor trip, the bride travelling in an imported sheer wool ensemble of Indian earth. Silver fox trimmed the pockets of the jacket and her hat was a small matching turban. A corsage of gardenias and bouvardia completed her ensemble. On their return they will live in Trenton. The bride is a graduate of Bishop Strachan School and a debutante of '34. The bridegroom graduated from University of Toronto Schools and Osgoode Hall, and attended Royal Military College.

KIDDIES' NEW FALL HATS

Off-the-face-rollers, pert little poke bonnets, large styles and small styles, just the smartest little hats that any smart little miss would want.

$1.29 to $2.95

WOODLEY'S
273 FRONT STREET

August Activities Of St. Julien I.O.D.E. Show Busy Month

Despite the fact that the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. only held one regular meeting on the 6th of August and a special meeting, August 15th, the Chapter war work was carried on as the following reports at the regular business meeting on the 9th of this month (Sept.) will vouch for. This meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Hill, West Bridge Street, with the Regent, Mrs. Neate, in the chair and a good attendance of members.

The Treasurer, Mrs. Lang, gave a very gratifying report of monies received and expended in both the Chapter account and the Chapter War Account. The War Convener, Mrs. Watkin, reported that during the month of August, 84 pairs socks, 4 sweaters and 3 scarfs were turned in; that 54 pairs socks were given to "D" Det. of Midland Regiment at R.C.A.F., Trenton, before their removal. 50 pairs socks sent to Capt. R. B. Cooper to be distributed among the Veterans' Home Guard at a Northern Internment camp. 2 pairs socks each to six Belleville boys and 2 pairs of socks and a sweater to one boy. These boys are either in camp here or gone overseas.

The Chapter's Sewing Committee for local Red Cross; which has been inactive for the past few weeks, will resume other work next Thursday at the Singer Sewing Machine Office. The biggest undertaking of the Chapter's career was the conducting of the lunch stand for the three days at the Belleville Fair, but thanks to the co-operation of the Fair Board, several generous individual citizens, Service Clubs, business firms and the generous patronage of the public, the monetary results made it well worth the effort and will help considerably in our war work. Several private donations came in during August.

A number of the members assisted during the registration and several have volunteered to help tag for the Blind this month. A treat was sent by the Chapter to the Belleville Home for the Aged and the County Home.

It was with deep regret that the Chapter learned of the sudden death of Mrs. W. Morrison of Hamilton, the beloved President of the Provincial Chapter I.O.D.E., and after drafting a resolution of condolence to be submitted by letter to her husband, Mayor William Morrison K.C., the members of the St. Julien Chapter stood one minute in silence as a mark of respect. A recent personal letter to the Regent, Mrs. Neate, from Mrs. Morrison regarding the very satisfactory work by the Chapter, will be deeply treasured on the files. The Chapter has plans for a full programme of activities for the Fall work and ask for the same generous support of the people of the city. "Thank you!"

ROUND STEAK in Swiss Style HAS "OOMPH"

CUT STEAK into serving pieces: Add flour as you pound it. Then dust with flour and sear the steak —add one small onion—in a very hot, well-greased pan. To a pound of steak use either one-half cup of water or two cupfuls of canned tomatoes. Add salt and pepper and about a teaspoonful of H. P. Sauce. Pour over the steak: Cover the pan and cook slowly for two hours. You'll be delighted with the flavour of steak that is cooked in this Swiss style. And you'll conclude that a sauce which can make steak so flavoursome must be grand.

So try H. P. Sauce for adding appetizing flavour to soups, stews, gravies, meats, fish, fowl and other good things on your table.

BRIDGE W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of Bridge Street United Church held their regular monthly meeting on Friday afternoon in the Ladies' Parlours, with Miss B. Handley in charge of the music and Miss Lazelle Brown, the president in the chair.

Mrs. Osborne gave a very interesting report of the 7th Summer School held at Whitby during the last week of August, with an attendance of 162—48 of those present coming from the Belleville Presbyterial. The theme song of the school was "We Would See Jesus (602, in Hymnary) and the purpose of the school centred in the guidance of God for daily living, thus learning the will of God and how to become more like Jesus.

The new study book "Comrades in the World Church" was introduced by the President, Miss Brown who gave a very interesting resume of the life and work of James Evans —a young English lad who, as a schoolmaster gained much experience among the Indians of Rice Lake— and reduced the Objibway speech to writing—translating for them a portion of the Bible and a number of hymns.

Later, around Lake St. Clair he was used in revolutionising the lives of the Indians until drunkenness and immorality almost disappeared, and finally among the Cree Indians of Western Canada he arranged a written language and in spite of great difficulties evolved a crude but workable printing press— and left them with a Bible, a large hymn book—and the ability to interpret both.

The Worship Service by Mrs. Schryver concluded the meeting, with the challenge that if God's will is to be done, it must be done by "Me"—and for each of us their is the responsibility in knowing God's will—and in carrying it out.

SHANNONVILLE W. M. S.

The ladies of Shannonville W.M.S. held a very successful tea at the United Church parsonage on Thursday afternoon, September 5. The long tables, with their snowy white covers, looked very attractive and were laden with an abundance of good things to eat. Forty two guests enjoyed the dainty meal served by the attentive waitresses. After supper was over some cakes were sold bringing the proceeds to ten dollars. The ladies expressed their thanks to the hostess, Mrs. Gammon, who did everything possible to make the tea a successful and enjoyable affair for all who attended.

CARMEL W. M. S.

On Wednesday, Sept. 6, Mrs. Chas. Brintnell opened her home for the meeting of the Carmel W. M. S. with a good attendance present. The president, Mrs. S. Homan took charge and opened the meeting with the National Anthem and prayer by Mrs. J. Reynolds. Mrs. Brintnell gave a short talk on the Indian people. Mrs. Howes gave a reading "Friendship's Corner". Mrs. Homan gave a reading on Baby Band Work and the good training that was developed in men and women in future years.

Plans were suggested for a special Thanksgiving service. Several assisted with the Worship Service, the theme of which was "Prayer". Mrs. Homan gave a reading followed by a solo by Mrs. Simmons. Miss Helen Hicks and Mrs. M. Ross gave the Scripture reading. Mrs. Homan gave a description of James Evans going to Norway House one hundred years ago. He was the first Missionary to give the Indians the written language. Hymn 358 was sung.

Mrs. Percy Reynolds, group leader, then took charge of the remainder of the meeting which opened with hymn 373 and included a reading by Miss Leita Prindle, "The Day and His Works" and a solo by Miss Hazel Hicks, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord". The 6th chapter of the Study Book was given by Mrs. Reynolds "Personality and Self Investment". Mrs. Simmons gave a reading "Saint Speaks to Satan." An instrumental number was given by Miss Ruth Brintnell, "Falling Waters". A reading entitled "Look Forward" was given by Mrs. B. Pitman. Prayer by Mrs. Ross closed the meeting. A Bible Contest by Mrs. J. Reynolds followed. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess and a social time was spent together.

REID REUNION

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Plane, Madoc, was the scene of a pleasant event on Labour Day, September the 2nd. It was the occasion of the fourth annual Reid reunion. The gathering consisted of friends and relatives from Belleville, Plainfield, Shannonville, Ivanhoe, Anson, Campbellford and Crookston.

At noon everyone sat down to tables laden with a bounteous dinner of delicious things.

After a social hour of visiting, the gathering was called to order by the president, Mr. Thomas Plane. Mr. Plane spoke a few words of welcome to the guests and said that he was pleased to see so many present.

The program of sports, which had been arranged by Mrs. Thomas Plane, proved very interesting. Everyone derived a great deal of enjoyment from the various events. The program began with a scramble for peanuts by the children. Following this were many races and contests, with winners as follows: Ladies' potato race — Edna Reid; Men's potato race — Wallace Reid; Jelly bean guessing contest —Mr. Thomas Reid; Apple peeling contest—Mrs. Thomas Reid; Men's clothes pin dropping contest — Mr. Thomas Plane; Women's clothes pin dropping contest—Mrs. Oliver Plane; Shoe race—Edna Reid; Intermediate Children's race — Marjorie Reid; Senior children's race—Edna Reid.

Presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Plane, the oldest couple and to Ralph Plane, the youngest baby.

The following officers were elected for 1940:

President, Mr. Thomas Reid; Secretary Treasurer, Mrs. Kenneth Caskey; Program committee, Mrs. Flossie Reynolds, Mrs. George Fox.

It was moved by Mrs. Cecil Reid and seconded by Mrs. Flossie Reynolds that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to the very hospitable hosts and hostesses.

The next reunion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Reid on Dominion Day, July the 1st.

Huffs Island

Huff's Island — Mr. R. Wallbridge accompanied by Messrs. Ross and Howard Lough spent a few days in Toronto last week.

The members of the local Y.P.U. enjoyed a wiener roast Tuesday evening at Mr. L. Wallbridge's point.

The regular monthly meeting of the W. I. met at the home of Mrs. L. Wallbridge Wednesday afternoon with a fair attendance.

Misses Frances and Marion Wallbridge assisted at a tea given by Miss B. Jones Thursday afternoon.

Miss E. Young spent the weekend at her home at Smithfield.

Mr. and Mrs. P. Morton and girls were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. Wallbridge and family.

LOWEST PRICE IN HISTORY!

Breakfast favourite of millions—Grape-Nuts have been sensationally reduced in price! Order from your grocer for tomorrow's breakfast!
G309

Grape-Nuts
COST LESS THAN ONE CENT A SERVING!

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Cleanliness Habits at School

A school inspector who comes up to see the Quintuplets periodically, has some timely advice for parents. He suggests that a mother is wise to go to school after her child begins to get acquainted with the teacher and learn what she can do to cooperate to the child's best interest.

I also think the child should meet the teacher before school begins The youngster of six, when he enters school, is little more than a baby He is easily frightened.

I know children who have been frightened to go to school that first day because other children had maliciously told tales about strappings and whippings by the teacher. A pre-school visit and pleasant meeting with the teacher will rid him of such fears.

The inspector attaches a great deal of importance to the way the child is introduced at school the first day. He thinks it is a good idea for the mother to accompany the child to school for the first time. After a brief chat with the teacher, then she should withdraw. The child's trust in his mother assures him that she would not place him in a harmful situation.

While the child is in this frame of mind, then a wise teacher will know how to draw him gradually into the circle of pupils. When you have this situation properly solved, then you have a happy child who will like school, and do well in it. If that first encounter with school is bitter, or unhappy, the reverse often is true.

One thing that quite often starts children off wrong at school is the fact that habits of elimination have not been adjusted to school. The result is an embarrassing accident the first or second or third day. The child is ashamed and the laughter and giggles of fellow class mates crush him. I knew one youngster who disgraced himself this way in school, and it was days before they could get him back to school again.

Parents should start to train the child long before he starts to school, to evacuate immediately before or after breakfast. Teachers have told me that lack of parental training of children in this particular causes them a lot of trouble with new pupils, and it is a trouble that could be so easily avoided.

Lew Ayres and Rita Johnson, become near millionaires overnight and "broke" the next day in "The Golden Fleecing," comedy-drama at the Belle Theatre. Thornton Wilder's delightful comedy romance, "Our Town," is the main feature attraction.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, September 12

ROMANCE and affectional matters rule this day judging by the lunar and mutual configurations. It is probable that this felicitous situation may be intriguing or under cover. But discretion is admonished, as there might be lurking dangers from circumspection. Social, domestic and artistic engagements take precedence over business. There may be some opposition from superiors, employers or elders. However, the mental faculties may be keyed up to meet all situations.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may prepare for a year in which the social, domestic and sentimental are uppermost, with business in the background. Be circumspect in managing all affairs of a romantic nature. Employers or superiors may offer some opposition. The mind may be keyed up to originality and creative ability.

A child born on this day will have splendid mentality, with originality if not genius in creative work. It will be adventurous and novel in its thinking.

HAWES'
Canada's Favorite
FLOOR WAX

Text of Churchill's Radio Address

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—The text of Prime Minister Churchill's broadcast from London today, as transcribed by The Associated Press, follows:—

When I said in the House of Commons the other day that I thought it improbable that the enemy's air attack in September could be more than three times as great as it was in August, I was not of course referring to barbarous attacks on the civil population, but to the great air battle which is being fought out between our fighters and the German Air Force.

You will understand that whenever the weather is favorable waves of German bombers, protected by fighters, often 300 or 400 at a time, fly over this island, especially the promontory of Kent, in the hope of attacking military and other objectives by daylight.

However, they are met by our fighter squadrons, and nearly always broken up, and their losses average three to one in machines and six to one in pilots.

This effort of the Germans to secure daylight mastery of the air over England is of course the crux of the whole war so far, and it has failed conspicuously. It has cost them very dear, and we have felt stronger and are actually relatively a good deal stronger than when the hard fighting began in July.

Using Up Force at High Rate

There is no doubt that Herr Hitler is using up his fighter force at a very high rate, and that if he goes on for many more weeks he will wear down and ruin a vital part of his air force.

That will give us a very great advantage.

On the other hand, for him to try to invade this country without having secured mastery in the air would be a very hazardous undertaking.

Nevertheless, all his preparations for invasion on a great scale are steadily going forward.

Several hundred half-propelled barges are moving down the coast of Europe from the German and Dutch harbors to the ports of northern France, from Dunkirk to Brest and beyond Brest to the French harbors in the Bay of Biscay.

Besides this, convoys of merchant ships in tens and dozens are being moved through the Straits of Dover into the channel, darting along from port to port under the protection of the new batteries which the Germans have built on the French shore.

There are now considerable gatherings of shipping in the German, Dutch, Belgian and French harbors all the way from Hamburg to Brest.

Finally there are some preparations made for ships to carry an invading force from the Norwegian harbors. Behind these clusters of ships or barges there stand very large numbers of German troops awaiting the order to go on board and set out on their very dangerous voyage across the sea.

Must be Prepared

We cannot tell when they will try to come. We cannot be sure in fact they will try at all, but no one should blind himself to the fact that a heavy, full-scale invasion of this Island is being prepared with all of the usual German thoroughness and method, and that it may be launched at any time now upon England, upon Scotland, or upon Ireland, or upon all three.

If this invasion is going to be tried at all, it does not seem that it can be long delayed. The weather may break at any time. Besides this it is difficult for the enemy to keep these gatherings of ships waiting about indefinitely while they are bombed every night by our bombers and very often shelled by our warships which are waiting for them outside.

Therefore we must regard the next week or so as a very important week for us in our history. As great as the days when the Spanish Armada was approaching the Channel, and Drake was finishing his game of bowls, or when Nelson stepped between us and Napoleon's grand army at Boulogne.

Far Greater Scale

We've read about the English in the history books. But what is happening now is on a far greater scale, and of far more consequence to the life and future of the world and its civilization than these brave old days in the past.

Every man and woman will therefore prepare himself to do his duty, whatever it may be, with special pride and care. Our fleets are very powerful and numerous. Our air force is at the highest it has ever reached and it is conscious of its proved superiority, not indeed in numbers, but in men and machines.

Our shores are well fortified and strongly manned, and behind them, ready to attack the invaders, we have a far larger and better equipped mobile army than we have ever had before.

Besides this, we have more than 1,500,000 men of the Home Guard who are just as much soldiers of the regular army in status as the Grenadier Guards and all are determined to fight for every inch of the ground in every village and in every street.

God Will Defend Right

It is with devout but sure confidence that I say let God defend the right. These cruel, wanton, indiscriminate bombings of London are of course a part of Hitler's invasion plan. He hopes by killing large numbers of civilians and women and children that he will terrorize and cow the people of this mighty imperial city and make them a burden and anxiety to the government, and thus distract our attention unduly from the ferocious onslaught he is preparing.

Little does he know the spirit of the British nation or the tough fibre of the Londoner whose forebears played a leading part of the establishment of parliamentary institutions and who have been bred to value freedom far above their lives.

Called Wicked Man

This wicked man, the repository and embodiment of many forms of soul-destroying hate, this monstrous product of former wrongs and shame has now resolved to try to break our famous island race by a process of indiscriminate slaughter and destruction.

What he has done is to kindle a fire in British hearts here and all over the world which will glow long after all traces of the conflagration he has caused in London has been removed. He has lighted a fire which will burn with a steady and consuming flame until the last vestiges of Nazi tyranny have been burnt out of Europe and until the Old World and the New can join hands to rebuild the temples of man's freedom and man's honour upon foundations which will not soon or easily be overthrown.

Stand Together

This is a time for everyone to stand together and hold firm, as they are doing. I express my admiration for the exemplary manner in which all the air raid precaution services of London are being discharged, especially the fire brigades whose work has been so heavy and also dangerous.

All the world that is still free marvels at the composure and fortitude with which citizens of London are facing and surmounting the great ordeal to which they are subjected, the end of which or the severity of which cannot yet be foreseen.

It is a message of good cheer to our fighting forces on the seas, in the air and in our waiting armies in all their posts and stations that we send them from this capital city.

They know that they have behind them a people who will not flinch or weary of the struggle, hard and protracted though it will be, but that we shall rather draw from the heart of suffering itself the means of inspiration and survival, and of a victory won not only for ourselves but for all; a victory won not only for our time but for the long and better days that are to come.

Dry Water Newest Chemical Curiosity

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Detroit, Sept. 11 (AP)—Dry water, a new chemical curiosity, was described to the American Chemical Society today by Dr. Irving Langmuir, famous American Nobel prize-winner in Physics.

The water is dry only in one way, that no moisture evaporates from its surface. The feat as performed by Dr. Langmuir, however, is something new in Science.

This dry water showed up in his experiments with monomolecular films, which are so thin that they have only two dimensions, length and breath. The films are a single layer of invisible molecules, spread over the surface of water.

He found that when certain fatty acids are spread in this sort of film evaporation ceases. In his experiments a sheet of cellophane placed a fraction of an inch above the surface revealed the unusual condition.

Normally, cellophane at that distance sags and crinkles because of the moisture it takes up from evaporation. With the monomolecular film below it, the cellophane dried so that it tightened up to become as smooth as a mirror's surface.

The explanation is that the films spread so tightly that they interfere with evaporation.

The dry water gives science something new to experiment with and adds to the vocabulary which already contains heavy water and wet water. A duck will sink in the latter.

A Disgraceful Scene

We often wonder whether some people in this country realize that we are at war. One of the things which causes this uncertainty has just occurred at Bala in the Muskoka district.

There, a recaptured prisoner of war was lionized by a crowd which gathered outside the window of the jail cell where he was being held. He was kept busy signing his autograph through the bars, and even girls selling tags in aid of the Navy League had him place his name on their arm-bands. Holiday-makers snapped photos of the prisoner, which they will no doubt treasure from now on.

This particular person, who seemingly played up to "his public" good-naturedly—and why should he not be pleased at this adulation by his enemies?—boasted that he had helped to sink fourteen British ships. Probably every one of those ships carried Britons to the bottom. His autograph was a strange decoration indeed to grace the insignia of the Navy League of Canada.

Where were the authorities while this was going on? Presumably they were standing by and acquiescing in the lionization of this caged enemy. The disgraceful exhibition reflects credit neither on those who engaged in it or on the officials who should have seen to it that the man was kept out of the public eye.—Windsor Star.

HEARD MOULTON CALL PHILLIPS A FOUL NAME

Cpl. Richard Anderson Testifies at Trial of Moulton for Murder

MUZZLE GRABBED

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP)—Another eye-witness account of the shooting of Pte. Arthur Phillips in an army camp at Niagara Falls last July 14, was given during today's session of Pte. William Moulton's murder trial here today. Testimony of a similar nature was given at yesterday's opening session of the trial.

Moulton and Phillips were members of the Perth Regiment of the Canadian Active Service Force which was in camp at Victoria Park, Niagara Falls, at the time of the shooting. Moulton allegedly shot Phillips with an army rifle, Phillips dying in hospital some hours later. Medical evidence yesterday was to the effect that he died from hemorrhage primarily from the liver, shock and perforation of the bowel.

Cpl. Richard Anderson testified today that as he was preparing to retire in his tent early on the morning of July 14, he heard a voice which he recognized as Moulton's calling out—"Come on Phillips you yellow........ Come out and get it."

(In Canadian Press reports of yesterday's proceedings the names of military witnesses were not included due to a correpondent's misunderstanding of a military official's right to direct against such use.)

Tangled in Tent Ropes

Anderson said he previously had seen Moulton tangled up in tent ropes and had assisted him to his tent, put him on the floor and covered him with a blanket. "He mumbled something I could not understand. I asked him if he was all right and he said, 'Yes, Corporal.'"

It was soon after that that he heard Moulton's voice calling Phillips and the witness said he went out to look for him.

"While I was running I heard Cpl. Redfern say, 'Drop that rifle, Moulton.' I recognized Pte. Moulton's voice say, 'Stop, it's loaded and I'm going to shoot.'

"As I turned into the line between the second and third rows of tents I noticed a man with a rifle pointed at another man. As I approached I identified the man with the gun as Pte. Moulton and the other as Cpl. Redfern."

Witness said Moulton was pointing the rifle at Redfern but when Phillips dashed out of his tent and ran towards the men, Moulton "swung the rifle from Cpl. Redfern to Pte. Phillips and it discharged."

Redfern Grabbed Muzzle

"I was then one or two paces from Moulton. I saw Redfern grab the muzzle of the rifle and swing Moulton around. I hit Moulton on the left side of the face with my right fist. He let go of the rifle and fell to the ground."

Cpl. Anderson said the shot was not fired while Moulton was swinging around but after he had completed the turn.

Maj. Earl C. Shelley, Officer Commanding "A" Company of the Perth Regiment, testified he had been making the rounds of the camp the night of the shooting. He said he had seen Phillips and some other soldiers but not Moulton. He said they were a little noisy and he told them to be quiet.

After the shooting he identified the gun allegedly used in the shooting as the one issued to Pte. N. S. Lee.

"When Provincial Police arrived later in the morning we went over the scene of the crime and Lt. R. Reid found the bullet about 12 feet from the blood-stains. Those bullets usually travel about three miles".

CHINESE TROOPS DESTROY BRIDGE

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Sept. 11.—(AP)—Chinese troops were reported today to have dynamited and partly destroyed the Laokai Bridge, International span over the Red River that forms the boundary between French Indo-China and China.

The French owned and operated Hanoi-Kunming railroad crosses at this point and the Japanese army has been demanding the right to use the railway for troop movements for an invasion of southwest China from French territory.

A French-Japanese agreement permitting "limited" Japanese troop movements has been reported but details have not yet been worked out.

(A London report today indicated these negotations may have broken off between France and Japan.)

Norwegian Freighter Runs Gauntlet in Trip Across Atlantic

Toronto, Sept. 11—(CP) — An armed Norwegian freighter, said to be the first completely armed merchantman to enter the Great Lakes brought a large cargo of wartime goods to this port recently, it was reported today.

The vessel was equipped with cable to protect it from German magnetic mines. An officer said also that an arrangement of netting and knives was capable of cutting the mines loose so the crew could explode them with rifle fire.

Canadian Industry Pouring Out Increasing Flood of War Supplies for Canada, Britain

Munitions Minister Howe Reviews Progress of War Industry at Press Conference

HUGE EXPENDITURE

Ottawa, Sept. 11 (CP)—Canada's tank brigade now being trained will eventually be equipped with machines manufactured within the Dominion, Munitions Minister Howe announced at a press conference today.

Production of several classes of tanks, including one combining British and American design, will be started soon, he said, and some machines will be delivered in February.

Some experimental, light, high-speed tanks will be ready for testing within 60 days, the Minister said. The Dominion heavy industry has developed a new and highly satisfactory cast-steel armor plate for tanks, and is also producing rolled steel armor.

Mr. Howe received a dozen Ottawa correspondents in his office to review the progress of war industries in Canada which he said now represented a total capital investment by Canada and Great Britain of about $222,000,000.

The Minister described the quick development of explosive plants, one of which will be in production next week and two others before the end of the year and the growth of other industries to manufacture all classes of war essentials.

He said guns from 25-pounders down to small arms and their ammunition were being or would shortly be produced in great plants scattered throughout the east, while explosive and chemical plants were located as far west as Alberta.

Produce Plane Fuselages

Construction of airplane fuselages was progressing favourably but the problem of making airplane engines in Canada had not been solved. This would not delay training, however, as an adequate supply of engines had been acquired from abroad.

Acquisition of 80,000 Lee-Enfield rifles in first-class condition from the United States Government was announced by the minister, while manufacture of rifles, machine guns and small arms ammunition, was well ahead of schedule.

Mr. Howe announced that the steamship Prince Robert, first of three former liners to be converted into auxiliary cruisers, had been delivered to the Royal Canadian Navy and two others, the Prince David and North Star, would leave the yards in October.

The Minister said three large explosive plants, located in Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba and costing a total of $38,900,000, are starting to come into production.

"We are entering the period when instead of building we are getting production," the minister said. The first explosive plant to be completed, located in Ontario, will come into production Sept. 17, 2 1-2 months ahead of schedule.

Others will be producing before the end of the year. The Ontario plant cost $10,300,000, the Quebec plant $19,600,000 and the Manitoba plant $9,000,000.

All these plants have been built by Canada for the British Government and their production will be for the use of both countries.

A shell-filling plant will be ready for partial production in Quebec in November after which filled shells will be sent to Great Britain. Until then explosives and shells will be shipped separately.

Ships For Auxiliary Services

Mr. Howe described the progress in fitting out ships for Auxiliary Service with the navy, in the manufacturing of torpedoes, tanks, corvettes for the navy, and in the building of automotive equipment, rifles, anti-aircraft and anti-tank guns, aerial bombs, chemicals and uniforms.

Total capital expenditure on plant and equipment in Canada by the Dominion and Great Britain jointly was given by the Minister as follows: Explosives and chemicals $58,400,000; armament, $67,000000; ammunition $19,000,00; shells, cartridge cases and fuses, $11,400,000; automotive equipment including tanks $4,800,000, Base Metals and Aircraft, $62,000,000, a total of $222,600,000.

This capital investment is estimated to add about $900,0000,000 annually to the value of production in Canada, directly, exclusive of the supplementary production they will stimulate, the Minister said.

British purchases in Canada through the Munitions Supply Department, to date, since the war started, amounted to about $208,000,000 exclusive of lumber and foodstuffs, the Minister said. Canadian purchases, on account of the war, amounted to about $315,000,000, exclusive of plant extensions.

The new shell-filling plant in Quebec costing about $8,000,000, would be in production in November and would employ about 12,500 men. It would be on the British system of scattered buildings for reason of safety.

Several Chemical Plants

Other developments described by the Minister included plants for manufacture of chemicals in British Columbia, costing $8,500,000; Quebec, three costing about $10,500,000 and Alberta, costing $10,000,000.

Rifle cordite and T.N.T. were being produced in Quebec plants, and machinery was being installed in a Quebec plant for the manufacture of heavy coastal defence guns. This type of gun was still arriving from Great Britain to meet immediate needs, he said.

A $13,000,000-plant for manufacture of 3.7 anti-aircraft guns was being constructed in Quebec to come into production the middle of next year, and a plant would soon be completed for the manufacture of 40 millimetre anti-aircraft guns at a capital cost of $11,000,000.

Also under construction and expected to produce before the end of 1940 were a 25-pounder gun plant costing $10,000,000 and a two-pounder gun plant costing $5,000,000.

Production of automotive equipment, including universal carriers, was well ahead of schedule, and progress in this direction was highly satisfactory.

The department, Mr. Howe added, was lining up plants for manufacture of depth bombs for anti-submarine warfare and was already producing torpedoes.

"Self-Igniting Leaf" Newest 'Secret Weapon' Now Used by British

London, Sept. 11 (CP).—Britain disclosed tonight a new "secret weapon" in the form of innocent-looking bits of chemically treated cardboard dropped by the millions on Germany as delayed fire-bombs which burst into flame in unexpected quarters.

Germany, in first making public the new British weapon, acknowledged the fire-secreting "calling cards" carried something more than a mere nuisance threat.

British authorities, in subsequently admitting use of the new weapon, described it only as a "self-igniting leaf", and declined to furnish details.

The German description, given after chemical analysis, sounded like a sequence from some fertile adventure cartoon or a passage from a detective thriller.

The cards are about two inches square, composed of guncotton and phosphorus, and are carried by planes in a moist state, the Germans claimed.

Scattered over the countryside in lots of 250,000 from a single plane, they dry out naturally and spring suddenly into flames about eight inches high when warmed by natural processes to a moderate temperature.

Implying that the cards may bear a printed message, the Germans claimed they were particularly dangerous because people had been picking them up for souvenirs, only to have them burst into flames in a pocket or a bureau drawer.

They are poisonous, too, the Germans claim.

A British authority derided this last charge, saying, however, that "if handled, they would of course cause burns."

The Germans charged that many persons had suffered burns from the cards and that farmhouses, grainstacks, grainfields and barns have been destroyed by them.

They claimed that small bundles of the cards had been scattered widely over Germany, particularly in Westphalia, Hanover, the Harz Mountains and Southern and Middle Germany.

British sources merely called attention to the fact that recent Air Ministry bulletins have told of fires in the Black Forest.

"The leaves are designed to set fire to military stores standing in the open, arsenals or ammunition factories or to military supplies in open railway cars or trucks and similar objectives," a British source said.

"It is known that the enemy has concealed such targets in woods," it was stated.

One item which seemed especially to provoke German authorities was the fact that the cards burn at different times, depending on the amount of warmth and sunlight they receive.

They might even lie dormant for ten years," a German spokesman claimed, and still be a constant threat. He demonstrated one card to foreign correspondents in a Berlin alley. It flared up in ten minutes.

German Crops Destroyed.

Berlin, Sept. 11 (AP).—German spokesmen claimed today that British fliers have dropped millions of self-igniting "calling cards" over Germany in the last month, apparently to fire crops and forests.

It was claimed many persons have been burned by handling the little instruments of war without knowing their danger. Barns, farm houses, grain stacks, grain fields and small tracts of forest have been destroyed.

Nazi party groups have been collecting the little cards, this source declared.

The cards, which first were erroneously described by correspondents as about a foot square, are about two inches square. A single plane can carry 250,000. Apparently small bundles have been scattered over Germany by many planes, particularly in Westphalia, Hanover, the Harz Mountains and southern Middle Germany.

The cardboard devices, Germans said, consist of a small quantity of phosphorus covered by guncotton.

When the card reaches the ground it dries out, and the sunlight or the action of oxygen ignites it. A flame about eight inches high flares up.

SENATOR ASHURST IN LOSING FIGHT

Sixth Bid for Democratic Nomination in Arizona is Thwarted by Pro-Conscriptionists

Washington, Sept. 11 (AP)—Mounting returns from Tuesday's primary elections found Senator Henry Ashurst (Dem.-Arizona), in an apparently losing fight today in his sixth bid for renomination, but the prospects were happier for three of his colleagues.

Senator Arthur Vandenberg (Rep-Michigan) was assured of renomination by an overwhelming lead. Senator Henrick Shipstead, Farmer-Laborite who joined Republican ranks this summer, enjoyed a wide lead in Minnesota over a field of eight as the choice of his adopted party. And in Vermont Senator Warren Austin received renomination unopposed.

Ashurst, whose opposition to the conscription bill was urged against him in the Arizona campaign, trailed his opponent Ernest W. McFarland by a vote of almost two-to-one. Ashurst has been Senator from Arizona since the state's admission to the union in 1912.

Long Adherents Defeated

Louisiana returns meanwhile indicated that four members of the House of representatives had gone down to defeat, with three others facing the uncertainty of run-off primaries. Governor Sam Jones, elected last winter by the anti-Long forces, had urged the defeat of all eight incumbents as supporters of the Long administration. One did not seek renomination.

Besides renominating Senator Austin, Vermont Republicans picked Governor George D. Aiken, frequent new real critic, for the Senate vacancy resulting from the death of Senator Ernest Gibson (Rep.). Aiken won the short term nomination decisively over Ralph E. Flanders.

In gubernatorial contests, two well known figures were riding high.

Governor Harold Stassen, keynoter of the Republican National convention, had a huge lead in Minnesota for renomination over two critics of his administration. Stassen's activity in behalf of the Republican presidential nominee Wendell L. Wilkie, as stressed in his campaign.

Michigan's octogenarian Governor Lauren D. Dickinson, who got national attention some months back when he condemned big city vice and the evils of liquor, was far out in front of six younger rivals.

"Jewish Problem" In Poland Turned Over to Ghettoes

Berlin, Sept. 11.—(AP)—The "Jewish problem" in Poland has been turned over to self-governed Ghettoes, it is disclosed in one of the few scraps of information permitted to come out of that news Sahara.

Government-General Poland, that part of the German-occupied country which has not been annexed outright to the Reich, is closed to foreign reporters.

But the "correspondence of anti-semitic action", a newly created organ of influential Jew-baiting circles in the territory, announces that "for the Germans, the seemingly unsolvable Jewish problem in Poland was a question of organization only".

Of two suggestions, for creation of a separate Jewish state, or setting up of ghettoes, the "correspondence" says, "the latter was chosen because it proved more practical and can be carried out more quickly".

The "correspondence" says a great many preliminary works had to be tackled before the "ghetto system" was decided upon. These involved the identification of Jews by white armbands four inches wide, bearing the Star of David. Every Jew, male or female, over 10 years old, must wear one.

Compulsory labor is the Ghetto Denizen's first duty. "Work with the spade" must be done by all male Jews for two years. Each compulsory labor squad is supervised by a Jew, who is responsible for execution of the work assigned by Germans.

Cellars Flooded By Broken Main

Toronto, Sept. 11 (CP)—Tons of water spouting from a broken high pressure water main in a midtown Toronto district ripped up pavements and flooded scores of cellars early today.

The water, forcing a hole the size of a shell hole in the pavement flooded some cellars to a depth of several feet, snuffed out furnaces, set wood, packing boxes and preserves afloat and caused damage estimated at several hundreds of dollars.

Lawns and gardens in the area were coated with a residue of sticky mud after the water had subsided.

REMOVAL OF ADULTS FROM LONDON NOT PLANNED FOR

London, Sept. 11—(CP)—In spite of the continuing German air raids on London, British officials said today they had made no plans for organized removal of adults from the capital.

There is a plan to remove some 200,000 school children who still remain, but even this will not be put into operation, officials said, unless the demand becomes greater than that of this week.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

Nazis Say 10,000 Plane-Loads Bombs Will be Sent to London

New York, Sept. 11 (CP)—"Well-informed" German sources in Berlin threatened today that 10,000 plane-loads of German bombs will be sent to the London area in the next few days.

Louis Lochner, The Associated Press correspondent in Berlin, quoted these sources as saying that 2,500 planes will make four trips daily between French supply bases and the British capital.

A Nazi spokesman told Lochner that the planes will start either late today or tomorrow. He added that they are based in Germany but will fly to the French coast before taking off for London.

The Nazi spokesman, charging that the Reichstag building in Berlin was hit by British bombs last night, indicated that the houses of parliament in London would be an objective of the bombers.

Workers Toil Frantically to Recover Bodies From Ruins of Bombed School

London, Sept. 11 —(CP—Cable)—Demolition workers continued to toil frantically today shifting tons of Masonry from a huge crater that was the tomb for an unknown number of persons when an East End school where they were given temporary shelter was bombed Monday night.

About 500 people were on the first floor of the two-storey building when a Nazi bomb reduced it to rubble. They had been taken there after their homes were shattered during Saturday's raid, in readiness for removal to the country.

The Daily Herald, publishing the story on its front page, said in its headline: "This must not happen again!"

Its reporter, Ritchie Calder,
Its reporter, Ritchie Calder, sible for this appalling tragedy in which whole families from wrecked homes in the worst-raided area of east London were left by official neglect to die in a bombed refugee centre?"

Calder wrote that among the people killed were families "whom I saw sitting in the same school Sunday waiting for coaches to take them from the scenes of their own anguish to refuge at a safe distance." He added that some families escaped because they had been transferred to another school across the road which escaped the bomb.

More than 100 men sought bodies all day yesterday and the work went on through the night by torchlight.

Calder told the story of the salvage party working furiously when one of them, a naval rating, paused and cried for silence. All stood motionless listening for faint tappings which seemed to be coming from below. Workmen dug their way through debris to the sound but there was no indication of what success they met.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The Royal Air Force pounded Berlin today, raining bombs on the Potsdam railway station, the Reichstag Building, the Brandenburg Gate and Unter Den Linden. In London, Buckingham Palace underwent repairs to one wing, blasted yesterday when a time bomb, buried in the ground, exploded without hurting anyone.

German authorities found the British raid no fun and ordered a number of streets in the diplomatic area roped off and closed for fear collapsing buildings might bury citizens. Among the missiles that fell were hundreds of incendiary bombs.

Meanwhile Britain unleashed the first "secret" weapon of the war against Germany, little paper cards soaked in inflamable chemicals which ignite automatically when they dry. Phosphorus was said to be their base.

Germans complained bitterly that citizens had gathered some of the missiles up and taken them home in their pockets as souvenirs, only to have the heat of their bodies ignite them and set their clothes afire.

The beauty of the new incendiary weapon is that hundreds of thousands can be carried aboard a single plane and can be scattered across the countryside like snow. It is impossible to gather all of them and they are said to have proved invaluable in raids which set fire to German forests where war factories are concealed.

The cards burn briefly with an extremely hot flame that bursts about eight inches high.

In London citizens noted that the nightly German air raid was shorter and less violent than any for the previous three nights. They have tapered for two nights now since Sunday. Today's daylight raids also were brief and light.

Nevertheless there was an increasing conviction that Hitler's forces will try an invasion before long. It is expected simultaneous attempts will be made from the French coast and from Norway. Swedish sources a couple of days ago reported the sinking (presumably by a British submarine), of a German troop transport in the Skagerrak, a report which the Germans laboriously denied, although they were said to be advertising in Norwegian newspapers for equipment that might be washed ashore from the vessel.

The Royal Air Force also was reported to have spotted additional concentrations of barges along the French coast at such places as Boulogne and Calais. It is the practice of the R.A.F. to let the Germans assemble these vessels in considerable numbers before they bomb them to pieces. It saves bombs when they are concentrated in large formations.

It is considered most unlikely that Germans could effect a landing in force on the British coast, but it was considered they might try before Britain takes delivery of the full order of 50 "over-age" destroyers obtained from the United States in return for sites for naval bases in British western hemisphere possessions.

There was little stirring yet in the Middle East, but A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, told a London service club the British fleet in the Mediterranean is considerably stronger than it was ten days ago. British reinforcements have reached several areas in the mid-east theatre while forces from Kenya have penetrated several miles into Italian - held Ethiopia.

Large-scale operations are expected in North Africa momentarily.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 11 —(CP)— The weather has been much cooler over Ontario with showers in most districts. It has been fair throughout the west; warmer in Alberta and west Saskatchewan, but quite cool with frost in Manitoba.

Lake Superior—Fresh northwest winds; partly cloudy and quite cool; light scattered showers in east portion. Thursday—Moderate to fresh northwest winds; partly cloudy and quite cool.

Manitoba—Fair today and Thursday and becoming somewhat warmer.

Saskatchewan—Fair and somewhat warmer. Thursday—Partly cloudy followed by scattered showers in north portion; moderately warm in southern districts.

Alberta—Partly cloudy and somewhat cooler tonight and Thursday; probably light scattered showers.

Victoria	56	72	54
Calgary	50	74	47
Edmonton	48	81	46
Saskatoon	—	70	38
Winnipeg	28	62	28
Sault Ste. Marie	45	46	42
Toronto	48	64	45
Ottawa	46	69	44
Quebec	31	65	50
Halifax	54	66	60
Detroit	49	60	44
New York	58	75	57
Miami	80	91	75
Los Angeles	56	87	55

Fighting for Liberty Says Duff Cooper

London, Sept. 11 (CP)—Alfred Duff Cooper, Minister of Information, declared today "the time may come. . . when we have proved to the satisfaction of the enemy that he cannot conquer our island and when therefore he will come to us with specious peace terms."

"Some people", the Minister said, "in relief at having saved their lives may forget that we are fighting for something more precious than life, and that is liberty."

Citing "practical proofs of the importance of liberty," Mr. Duff Cooper said: "Let us not forget them if ever a time should come when out of weariness or despair we might be prepared to sacrifice liberty for the sake of peace."

He spoke at a literary luncheon.

SUSTAINS FATAL INJURIES

Oshawa, Ont., Sept. 11 (CP)—Clough Watson, 50, suffered fatal injuries last night when he was struck by an automobile a short distance from his home. Arthur Rogers of Toronto, driver of the car, told police he had done everything possible to avoid hitting the man.

Watson came to Canada from England a few months ago on war service. Surviving are his widow and one child in England.

Old Mose Grove Tames Tigers In 13 Innings and Indians Move Back Into First Game

Detroit Beaten 6-5 After Securing Three-Run Lead In First Frame

PIRATES WIN TWO

Ben Warren, Catcher for the Phillies, Seriously Hurt When "Beaned" by Pitched Ball

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Life does begin at 40 and Lefty Grove, the gaunt ghost with a magnificent past and doubtful future, has returned to haunt the already trembling American league as proof.

Old Mose manoeuvred through 13 innings yesterday to conquer Detroit Tigers 6-5 and cast the chaotic pennant squabble into greater confusion.

Earlier this season Old Mose managed to last nine innings and when he broke a bone in his foot in August and was reported lost to Boston Red Sox for the year, nobody figured it made much difference to Boston one way or the other.

Then a week ago Sunday Old Mose came out of the limbo of the lost and battled gloriously for 13 innings against a strong kid half his age, Sid Hudson of Washington, and finally was beaten 1-0.

Yesterday Old Mose was up against the leading pitcher of the league, Buck Newsom, winner of 18 games against three losses, and a gallant team that was on the hot end of a five-game winning streak and in first place in the league.

Made Best Fielding Play

Grove gave up three hits, one of them Hank Greenberg's 30th home run, for three tallies in the first inning. But after that he allowed only one run in the next 10 innings and was never behind after his teammates tied up the score at three-all in the sixth.

He made one of the day's best fielding plays, knocking down a liner in the sixth and trapping Greenberg off third base, and made two hits, one of them allowing him to score a run in the 12th.

Stopped Rudy York

But most important of all he stopped, Rudy York, hero of a couple of Detroit's recent triumphs. With the bases loaded and the score tied in the ninth he forced the slugger to ground to short for the third out and in both the 11th and 13th innings he fanned York for the third out, once with runners on first and second and the other time a runner on second.

In the other American league action yesterday Washington Senators subdued Chicago White Sox 5-2 with Ken Chase pitching six-hit ball and his teammates producing the season's third triple play in the ninth inning. Philadelphia Athletics whipped St. Louis Browns 6-4 in a night game.

The only National league games that escaped the rain were in a doubleheader that Pittsburgh captured from the Phillies 11-3 and 11-1 in two big batting displays. Catcher Ben Warren of the Phils was "beaned" by one of Rip Sewell's pitches in the first game and hurt seriously.

HOPES TO REPEAT

Defending champion Marvin (Bud) Ward, of Spokane, Wash., draws a bead on the Winged Foot Country Club course, Mamaroneck, N.Y., where he will attempt to repeat in the U.S. national amateur golf tournament.

League Leaders

By The Associated Press

American League

Batting—Radcliff, St. Louis, .350
Runs—Williams, Boston, 119
Runs Batted In—Greenberg, Detroit, 121
Hits—Cramer, Boston, 183
Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 47
Triples—McCosky, Detroit, 17
Home Runs—Foxx, Boston, 36
Stolen Bases—Case, Washington, 29
Pitching—Newsom, Detroit, 18-3.

National League

Batting—Walker, Brooklyn, .326
Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 98
Runs Batted In—Mize, St. Louis, 114
Hits—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 167
Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 38

ROCHESTER WINGS ONLY HALF GAME FROM A PENNANT

Need Only One Game to Clinch Flag and Play Four More

NEWARK SECOND

Bears Take Doubleheader From Baltimore Orioles to Extend Win Streak

(By the Associated Press)

After waiting nine years, it looks as if Rochester fans are going to be deprived of seeing their Red Wings win the International League pennant—unless they take a trip to Buffalo to witness it.

Wings moved to within half a game of the championship last night by turning back Montreal Royals in the last home game before Saturday. They need only one more victory to clinch the flag and it shouldn't be hard for them to take it from the Bisons.

Last night Mike Ryba lifted Wings into the comfortable position they now enjoy, as he rang up his 23rd victory of the year, 8-3. Wings supported him with a 15-hit attack on Bill Crouch and Newt Kimball. Ryba yielded nine hits, fanned six and walked only one.

Bears Take Twin Bill

Newark Bears downed the Baltimore Orioles in both ends of a twin bill, 5-1 and 11-3, to extend their winning streak to eight games. Steve Peek registered his 13th straight victory in the seventh-inning twilight game, yielding only three hits. He missed getting a shutout when Art Graham poled out his 15th home run with two out in the sixth inning.

The double defeat dropped the flock 2 1-2 games behind the third place Jersey City Giants, who split a doubleheader with Syracuse.

Giants won the opener 1-0 behind the four hit pitching of Frank Pearce and were well on their way to taking the second game by the same score, but Syracuse rallied for two runs in the ninth inning to nose them out 2-1.

Ted Kleinhans who took over after Elmer Dietz retired for a pinch hitter in the eighth, was credited with the victory.

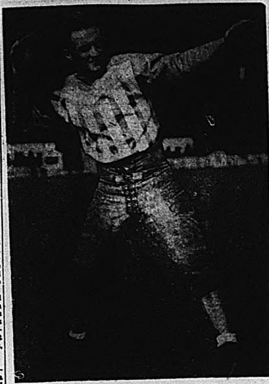
Tuesday Results

Pittsburgh 11-11; Philadelphia 3-1
St. Louis at New York—Postponed
Cincinnati at Boston—Postponed
Chicago at Brooklyn—Postponed.

American Association

Tuesday Results

Minneapolis 6-7; Milwaukee 5-8
Kansas City 3; St. Paul 7
Columbus 10; Indianapolis 2.



OUT OF RETIREMENT TO HELP ARGOS

Tiny Bobby Coulter, one of the finest running backs ever seen in Canada, has emerged from the retirement he entered in 1936 to announce that he will line up with Toronto Argonauts in the coming Big Four campaign. Coulter was quarterback of the 1936 Argo team and before that played with Toronto Varsity, and in 1935 was awarded the Johnny Copp trophy for being the most valuable to his team and the most sportsmanlike.

BASEBALL'S Results & Standings

International League

	W.	L.	Pct.
Rochester	94	58	.618
Newark	92	64	.590
Jersey City	79	74	.516
Baltimore	77	77	.500
Montreal	75	80	.484
Buffalo	73	81	.474
Syracuse	70	87	.446
Toronto	57	96	.373

Tuesday Results

Jersey City 1-1; Syracuse 0-2
Rochester 8; Montreal 4
Newark 5-11; Baltimore 1-3
Only games scheduled.

American League

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cleveland	76	57	.571
Detroit	[illegible]	58	.570
New York	[illegible]	57	.568
Boston	[illegible]	62	.541
Chicago	70	64	.522
Washington	58	77	.430
St. Louis	55	81	.403
Philadelphia	50	78	.391

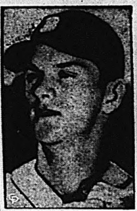
Tuesday Results

xBoston 6; Detroit 5
Washington 5; Chicago 2
Philadelphia 6; St. Louis 4
New York at Cleveland—Postponed.
x—13 innings.

National League

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	84	47	.641
Brooklyn	78	55	.586
Pittsburg	69	61	.531
St. Louis	66	62	.516
New York	66	65	.504

CASUALTIES TAKE HEAVY TOLL OF TEAMS IN AMERICAN LEAGUE RACE



Barney McCosky

Hal Trosky

Pinky Higgins

Tom Henrich

Casualties have taken their toll of the ranks of the teams now making a frenzied fight in the American League. Tom Henrich, swatting mogul of the New York Yankees, and one of the best right fielders in the game, has been put out of action with torn ligaments in his left knee. Hal Trosky, big first baseman of the Cleveland Indians, is out with a sprained ankle. Barney McCosky, who was leading the Detroit Tigers in hitting, is out of the game after pulling some muscles in his side while trying to make a dive catch. Pinky Higgins, third baseman of the Tigers, is suffering with multiple ailments and will probably be out for the remainder of the season.

Yesterday's Stars

(By the Associated Press)

Lefty Grove, Red Sox—Pitched 13-inning victory over Tigers.

Maurice Van Robays and Arky Vaughan, Pirates—Former hit three run homer in first game and latter Pittsburgh crushed Phillies.

Ken Chase, Senators — Stopped collected four hits in nightcap as White Sox with six-hit pitching.

Frank Hayes and Bob Johnson, Athletics — Each hit three-run homers to account for victory over Browns in night game.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By the Associated Press)

New York—Vic Dellicurti, 150, New York, outpointed Bill McDowell, 163 1-4, Dallas (8).

Out in the Western League, England pitches for Sioux Falls, Holland catches for Mitchell, S.D. and a Mr. Nation is a regular on the Norfolk, Neb., team.

AS DODGERS TOOK DOUBLE-HEADER FROM THE GIANTS

With big league baseball entering the home stretch for this season, the cameraman was on hand to picture some of the action taking place when Brooklyn Dodgers took both games of a doubleheader from New York Giants to the tune of 7-2 and 4-2. Babe Young of the Giants does some fancy and needless sliding, LEFT, as he slides into second. He was out before he started to slide and the ball was winging to first to get teammate Danning, whose wallop had started the play. Reiser of the Dodgers is erased, RIGHT, by Mel Ott as he tried to advance from second on a grounder.

FARR BECOMES SONGWRITER

London, Sept. 11— (CP)—Tommy Farr, the Welshman who pounds on a piano with as much gusto as he used to push in the faces of his opponents in the boxing ring, has become a song writer.

So far, he has written three, called "Maybe I'll find someone else", (to fight?); "Name Them, They're Yours", and "The First Word is I".

Further information will be furnished if and when the songs are heard around town.

COMMUNAL RESTAURANT

Lady Woolton, wife of the Minister of Food, visited on Thursday the North Kensington War-Time Communal Restaurant. The menu on Thursday was a choice of roast lamb or shepherd's pie, with new potatoes and runner beans, followed by steamed plum pudding or rice pudding. A big portion, intended for men workers, costs 8d., the women's portion costs 6d., and the children's meal costs 4d. The sweet costs 2d., but is included in the children's four-penny meal. There is also a rich vegetable soup which costs 1d., and a cup of tea costs 1½d.—London Times.

MAKING SURE OR SLEEP

A new angle to accident prevention work has been inaugurated by who are now stopping trucks at traffic police in parts of Michigan, night to see if the drivers show signs of being drowsy. They are questioned as to how many hours sleep they have had during the last 24 and they are asked if they feel tired. The officers ahve authority, at their discretion, to order a man to leave his truck and go to bed until he is quite rested.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

Kits have been developed containing the parts needed to convert old automobile headlights into sealed beam lights.

About 7,000,000 pounds of confectionery are exported from the United States to Latin American countries annually.

The world's first hospital for sick and injured frogs has been established by two men on their frog farm in California.

64 QUALIFIERS IN MATCH PLAY

By Dusk There Will be Only 16 Left to Carry on in Amateur Tourney

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Mamaroneck, N.Y., Sept. 11—(AP) — The qualifying scramble ended, 64 earnest young golfers pair off at Winged Foot Club today in two "sudden death" rounds of match play in the United States amateur championship. In the last two days the field of hopefuls has been reduced from a cumbersome 146. At dusk tonight there are due to be only 16 left to carry on.

Gone are such notables of the fairway as Johnny Goodman, George Dunlap, Jr., Chick Evans and Frances Ouimet — all former champions.

Dick Chapman of Winged Foot is the one they all will be watching as he tees off in his first test today. Dick, a night club crooner during the off-season, shot two sub-par rounds of 71-69 to capture medal honors. His two-day total was five strokes better than the 145's registered by Marvin Ward, of Portland, Ore., the defending champion, and by Duff McCullough of Philadelphia.

BING SEEKS CROWN

Able to swing a golf club as well as he can croon, Bing Crosby, the first actor of note to go after the U.S. national amateur crown, was so bedevilled by autograph hounds when he stepped on the fairway at the Winged Foot Club at Mamaroneck, N.Y., that he shot an 83—11 over par—in the first qualifying round of the tourney.

The record book was thumbed back as far as 1907 without locating such a margin of strokes over the field. Next best appeared to be the four strokes by which Bobby Jones distanced his amateur rivals in 1926. Still, Chapman lacked a stroke of equalling the qalifying record of 139 set last year by Tom Sheehan.

Four players tied at 146 for the two rounds — George Dawson of Chicago; Maurice McCarthy, Jr., of Cincinnati, who led at the end of the first round; Tom Whiteway of Cleveland and Harold Mandly of Avon, Conn.; Frank Strafaci of Brooklyn, Freddie Haas of New Orleans and Steve Koavch of Pittsburgh were tied at 147.

Bing Crosby missed the train with his 83-77, much to the disappointment of the tournament committee and an adoring gallery.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 11.— (AP)—Ty Cobb's reason for not buying a minor league club (in which he was very much interested) was because it would interfere with his golf. How! Don Budge is advising Don NcNeill, the new singles champ, not to turn pro for at least a year. .. Sonja Henie is going to open her winter ice tour in Fort Worth. . . Jack Dempsey is having tough luck with his little girls. No sooner had he rushed Barbara home by plane from Salt Lake City with an infected throat than Joan fell in Central Park and broke a leg.

Question of who is the power hitter in golf has been settled for the time being, anyway. Down at Scranton the other day, Jimmy Thomson, generally recognized as No. 1, and pretenders Sam Snead and Ed Oliver held a contest. Each whanged three blistering drives down the fairway . . . .Thomson averaged 288 yards, Snead, 268 and Oliver, 265 . . . Mrs. Bing Crosby preferred the Forest Hills Tennis Monday to watching Bing shoot his snappy 83 in the amateur golf and we hope he doesn't feel hurt.

Dress Up for FALL

If you are feeling a little out of spirits with yourself, the best remedy in the world is to step out in a new outfit.

It's just the thing you need to make you friends with the world.

Why not make it a point today to come in and see the new Fall styles in men's suits and topcoats . . and prices that will meet with your approval.

QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with
Ken J. Colling

A year ago today the New York Yankees had their pencils all sharpened figuring how they would go about it to win a fourth consecutive world series, today, however, Joe McCarthy and his rejuvenated men are using the same sticks of graphite to figure out their mathematical chances of winning the American League and thinking little or nothing of the world series at this particular time. Past records indicate the Cleveland Indians should win the American League pennant and any other winner would upset a precedent dating back to the beginning of the circuit at the turn of the present century. The annual league records for 39 years reveal the club leading the pennant race on the night of September 1 always was in first place when the season closed.

No matter how close the race, this has held true, even if a team was only .001 point ahead of the club in second place.

So, if the Tigers, Yankees, Red Sox or White Sox, who have a mathematical chance of finishing on top, win the pennant, one of them will upset a precedent that never has seen an exception.

Remember Fred (Josh) Craig of the Peterboro Examiner who used to stick closer to Jake Solomon on C.O.B.L. road trips than our lumbago plaster? Well, Fred's back at his old love these days whacking out a sports column for the Liftlock City press. Crack out of the bag Fred lauded Kingston and Napanee for their splendid work in the sponsoring of minor league baseball and points to Peterboro where junior and juvenile sports are being neglected, with shame. Fred should live in Belleville, where the teen-aged boys interested in sports have to shuffle for themselves in most cases. We know of no better paying dividends in the sporting field than the fostering of team games in the minor series. Hockey died down, baseball passed out of the picture and softball is speeding down the hill of despair simply because a few interested citizens fail to attain sufficient civic pride to assist these helpless lads in the matter of a little finance. Last winter a city juvenile hockey league was organized in Belleville with surprising results. We sincerely hope his venture will not follow so many others in abandonment.

We understand it is difficult to procure wrestlers of Italian and German extraction from the United States owing to the war conditions. Even though naturalized Americans, the sons of sunny Italy residing south of the border just can't be induced to cross into Canada and ply their ring wares, according to Nick Pavich, the Greek mat villain who appeared here on Monday night. However, Pavish says there are such good men as Nanjo Singh, the villainous Hindoo, "Sandy" O'Donnell, "Elmer the Great" Eastup, Ed George, George Clark and numerous other wrestlers residing in Canada and who would be glad to appear locally, providing there was an increase in the weekly attendance at wrestling bouts in the Hume arena. Every week top-notch grapplers trek up and down Highway No. 2 enroute from Montreal or Ottawa to Toronto and these top-flight matmen would welcome the opportunity to stop over an evening in Belleville and pick-up expense money. However, Promoter Frank Tunney, of the Queensbury A.C., will not consider match-making in Belleville at 35c admission prices, but will guarantee good men at a half dollar.

"Night ball is a great spectacle; the fans like it and it is here to stay. No use kidding yourself about it," said Frankie Frisch, Pirate manager, when he was in St. Louis, recently. "Some persons in baseball do not like the night games, and have expressed their views strongly on it. As for myself I think I would be a sap if I said I am opposed to it. After all, the fans have given their answer to night ball, and as a former player and now as a manager, I am for anything that brings fans into the ball parks. The more fans you get into the parks, the better the salaries. You don't have to have a college education to figure that one out.

"Pittsburgh certainly has shown its appreciation to night ball."

Frisch sees the further spread of night ball, says it cannot be held back. He calls Detroit a natural for nocturnal play. "It is a city much like Pittsburgh, with a big industrial population," he added. "Those automobile and airplane workers are well paid, and I'll venture to say their night games next year will average 40,000 if they get any weather breaks."

Manager Leo Durocher of the Brooklyn Dodgers while in Pittsburgh early last week, took the blame for Joe Medwick's batting troubles, declaring he put Joe back in the lineup too soon after the beaning by Bob Bowman of the Cardinals. "The doctor warned me to rest Medwick longer, but Joe insisted he was 'all right'," explained Durocher. "Look at Pewee Reese and Billy Jurges. Medwick was conked harder than either of them—yet Reese was laid up three weeks and Jurges still isn't the same. Joe was in bed two days, in uniform the third and playing the fourth. Medwick is way off form now. He weighs only 173, when he should be 185. But Joe will shake it off when the season ends and come back next year in great shape." Earlier, Medwick also had attributed his prolonged batting slump to returning to the game too quickly after the beaning, and said he did so because of his anxiety to make good for Prexy Larry MacPhail and Durocher.

Fearing immigration trouble at the border, the London Mohawks bolted the Michigan-Ontario Hockey League and will play in the ranks of the senior O.H.A. this coming winter semester. The decision of the Mohawk management leaves only Windsor as a Canadian entry in the M-O loop, along with Detroit, Toledo and Muskegon. It is expected that Oshawa will sponsor a senior O.H.A. club this winter, which should be music in the ears of Billie Hewitt and company, as the senior bracket has not been any too strong of late years.

SPORT CHIPS — Remember Vinny Utronki, former Belleville National pitcher imported from Renfrew back in '28? . . . Well Vinny is back in his old stamping grounds right here in Belleville employed by the signal department of the C.N.R. He and Peeney Mills could get together for an old-fashioned fanning bee. . . . We see where Perry Everett, hard-hitting defenceman of the Belleville Juniors, has enlisted with the Ordinance Corps, C.A.S.F. . . . It took old Lefty Grove to halt the Detroit Tigers yesterday and really make a race in the American League as the Red Sox beat the Tigers 6-5 in 13 innings. . . . It was a fine pitchers' battle between Buck Newsom and Grove, but the veteran Bostonian proved his masterfulness when he took care of Rudy York, slugging Tiger first baseman, twice in the clutch. . . . The loss elevated Cleveland into first place, Detroit one point behind, the Yankees a half a game astern and Boston but four games behind. . . . The Indians and Yankees play a doubleheader today while Boston remains at Detroit for a singleton to make the American League race this year the most torrid in two decades.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL

17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE. The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1182 —THE HEALTH INSTITUTE, 232 William St., Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist. Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils, Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 288 Coleman St., Belleville Phone 800. Lady attendant.

H. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists, Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatments. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations, Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 43½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1276.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST

LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 682

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1156w

LEGAL

R. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 236½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2509. S27-1y

STOP SKIMPING
Borrow
THE CASH YOU NEED

Buy what you need! Take advantage of sale prices! You can—if you get a low cost Quinte personal loan. Repay monthly. No red tape.

QUINTE FINANCE
and
SECURITIES LIMITED
168 Front St. Phone 168
BELLEVILLE

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
OUR TOWN
William Holden, Martha Scott
2.40 — 8.30
THE GOLDEN FLEECING
Lew Ayres, Rita Johnson
4.00 — 7.15 — 9.50

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
DR. CHRISTIAN MEETS THE WOMEN
Jean Hersholt, Dorothy Lovett
7.30 — 10.10
BLACK LIMELIGHT
Raymond Massey, Joan Marion
9.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
"LADY FROM NOWHERE"
Mary Astor Thurston Hall
7.10 — 9.25
"SOUTH TO KARANGA"
Charles Bickford, James Craig, Luli Deste
8.15 — 10.25

Plainfield

Plainfield — Mr. and Mrs. Willie Anderson, Northport, were recent callers of Mrs. Ida Collins.

Miss Carrie Goodfellow is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Goodfellow, Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks and Teddy spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Little, Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hazard entertained Mrs. Martha Hazard, Trenton, Mrs. B. Moore and Irvine to a birthday dinner, it being the occasion of Mrs. Moore's birthday.

Mr. Harry Duffin and son John, Toronto, were Friday callers of Miss Annie Hamilton.

Rev. and Mrs. McKenzie attended the shower given at Zion on Friday evening in honour of Miss Doris Bunnett.

Mr. W. J. Hall is the guest of his son, Mr. Murray Hall, Ottawa, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hazard and boys were Friday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prindle.

Mrs. H. Connor and Mrs. E. Sills were recent guests of their mother, Mrs. Salisbury.

Mr. and Mrs. Urvan Perry, Sidney, were Friday callers of Mrs. Fred Prindle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Hodgen and Betty, Foxboro, were Wednesday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prindle.

WANTED

ABOUT NOV. 20th., MARRIED working manager for large dairy farm, also at once, labourer who holds motor car driver's permit. Box H, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-1t

GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Sleep out. Apply 286 Albert St. S11-1t

WE HAVE A CLIENT WANTING to purchase for cash, modern home, bungalow preferred. Either East or West Hill, if in good residential district. What have you? Belleville Realty Co., Kresge Bldg., H. B. Wilson, Prop. S11-13-14

EXPERIENCED MAID, MUST BE good cook, two children. Twenty-five monthly. Write Box 5, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

TRANSPORTATION FOR COUPLE to Toronto Sunday night. Will share expenses. Write Box 6, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-1t

MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork, sleep in or out. Apply 200 Victoria Ave. S11-2t

POSITION AS TRUCK DRIVER, by experienced man, capable and steady. Apply 73 E. Dundas St. S10-3t

FOR CASH, A USED MAN'S BIcycle. Must be in good condition. Write Box 8, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-2t

SMALL FURNISHED APARTment by young couple by October 15. Write Box 10, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-3t

TO RENT THREE ROOM HEATed apartment by two adults. Possession Oct. 15. Write Box I Ontario Intelligencer. S9-3t

COOK, GENERAL, SLEEP OUT. Apply 180 Ann St. S9-3t

BUSINESS GIRL TO SHARE BED sitting room and kitchenette with business girl in modern home. References exchanged. Write Box K. Ont. Intell. S9-3t

GOOD RELIABLE FARM HAND, must be able to handle horses and milk. Good wages paid. Phone 68 r 3. S9-3t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR LIGHT housework. Apply George Miller, 64 Dominion St., Trenton. S9-3t

MIDDLE AGED WOMAN AVAILable for nursing, or housekeeping with one or two adults in the city. Write Box 2, Ontario Intelligencer. S9-3t

SOMEONE TO COACH ALGEBRA, Geometry and Latin four evenings a week. Address replies to Box J Ontario Intelligencer. S4-tf

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

MALE AND FEMALE HELP WANTED

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYMENT. EXAMINATION FOR CLERKS announced. Open to all. Applications to reach Ottawa by Sept. 15. Our advice has helped hundreds obtain Civil Service positions as Clerks, Postmen, Customs Examiners, etc. Free booklet on request. M. C. C. Schools Ltd., Toronto 10. Oldest in Canada. No agents. A26dts11

CAR OWNERS, ATTENTION! Cash paid weekly for selling guaranteed quality Nursery Stock. Full or part time. New sales plan. Quick commission. Luke Brothers, Nurseries, Montreal.

DEPOSED KING NOW IN ITALY

Carol Speeding Across Country to Find Haven in Portugal

Lugano, Switzerland, Sept. 11—(AP)—Rumania's deposed king, Carol II, sped across Italy-occupied southern France today in quest of a new haven—perhaps in Portugal.

Accompanied by Magda Lupescu, he crept out the servants' door of his Lugano hotel last night to dodge the curious, and crossed into Italy aboard his special train.

Swiss who gathered at the station shouted "Long Live the King," until police moved through the crowd saying "Be quiet. The King is ill."

Although Lisbon was understood to be Carol's ultimate destination, one of his retinue said he might stop off for a short rest at the Riviera. The French government has refused to allow him to remain there indefinitely.

FOR SALE

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. F. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

ONE THREE-YEAR-OLD BAY horse, 1600 lbs., also one 2 furrow Cockshutt disc plow. John Donaldson, 2nd. Con. Thurlow. S11-1t

ELECTRIC WASHER, THOR, — thoroughly reconditioned, $49. Electric Range, $30. Frigidaire, 6.2, new unit, $139. Gas range, nearly new, $39. Ice Boxes, $5. up. Easy terms. Walker Hardware Company, Ltd., 248 Front St. S11-3t

DECOYS — BLACK, REDHEAD, Bluebills, also hunting skiff. Phone 1465J. S11-1t

HOT AIR FURNACE, GOOD AS new, including hot and cold air pipes and registers. Reason for selling: Owner made home into duplex and installed oil burning hot water system. Sacrifice price, $50. Apply H. B. Wilson, 187 Foster Ave. S11-13-14

SERVICE STATION IN GOOD location in Belleville. Forced to sell cheap for quick sale. Box U, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-1t

TWO ADJOINING FARMS OF 150 acres each, on Waupoos county road, four miles from Picton. If not soon sold will let on shares or rent. S. Edgar Masten, Bloomfield, Ont. S11-1t

40 FALL DUCK DECOYS, ALSO duck boat, in good condition. Apply Box A, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

FARM, 50 ACRES, FRONTING ON south shore of bay, modern dwelling. Cost $4000 to erect. Electric lights. Owner has been offered $2500 for vacant shore frontage alone. Price $4500.00. Belleville Realty Co., H. S. Wilson, prop. Kresge Bldg. S11-13-14

11 ROOM DWELLING, EAST Hill, fine location, including two extra building lots. $1500.00 for quick sale. Properties for sale in all parts of city. Belleville Realty Co., H. B. Wilson, prop. S11-13-14

OAK DINING ROOM SUITE, Moffat electric range, cheap. Apply 256 Bleecker Ave. Phone 622J. S11-2t

MOFFAT ELECTRIC STOVE AND Electro-Lux Cleaner, practically new. Apply 42 Chatham Street. S11-3t

SEVERAL WORK HORSES, ALSO one 4-ton truck with platform and rack, in good condition or would exchange for stock or wood. S. French, R. 2, Shannonville. S11-13

1931 BUICK SEDAN IN GOOD condition, $60, also coal and wood stove, $10 cash. Apply 52 Baldwin St. S10-3t

ONE 1936 INTERNATIONAL truck and one 2½ yard hydraulic dump box. Write Box N, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-3t

GAS STOVE, NEARLY NEW, $49. Easy terms. Walker Hardware Co. Ltd., 248 Front St. S10-3t

BREAD WAGONS, PANS, GASOline engine 3½ H.P. Box 162, Phone 355 Trenton. S9-6t

GREY MARE ABOUT 1500, sound, off Foxboro Highway. H. P. Twiddy. S9-3t

OR RENT, FIVE ACRES, PAVED highway, good garden, strawberries, raspberries, fruit trees, chicken house, stable, brick house, electric, town water. J. R. Beatty, Stirling, Ont. S9-3t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars Write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222 Belleville. S4-6t

HOUSE, 25 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 326 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

PERSONAL

MEN OF 30, 40, 50! VIM, PEP, VIGOR subnormal? Try Ostrex tablets. Contain tonics, stimulants, oyster elements, aids to normal pep. If not delighted with results first package, maker refunds low price. Call, write Dolan the Druggist, in Belleville and all other good drug stores. S3-T.W.T-tf

REMOVE FOOD IN COFFINS

New York, Sept. 11 (CP). — The Germans apparently don't like to attract too much attention in removing food from conquered Norway. The British Broadcasting Corporation in a broadcast heard last night reported the Nazis have been placing food in coffins for shipment to the Reich.

FORMER MAYOR EXECUTED

London, Sept. 11 (CP).—The Press Association said last night that Stefan Starzinski, 47, mayor of Warsaw during the German siege, was executed in Dachau prison camp by a Nazi firing squad on Sept. 1, the anniversary of the German invasion of Poland. His refusal to surrender the city earned him the title of "stubborn Stefan".

TO LET

FURNISHED 3 OR 4 ROOM heated apartment. Immediate possession. Phone 742J. S11-1t

FURNISHED HEATED BEDROOM —all conveniences. 15 N. Front St. Phone 2312W. S11-1t

FRONT BEDROOM, FURNISHED and heated, all conveniences. Board optional. Apply 48½ E. Bridge St. Apt. 2. S11-2t

MODERN LOWER DUPLEX, Bridge East, living room, dining room, kitchen, hardwood floors. Hot water heating, garage. $45. per month. Belleville Realty Co., H. B. Wilson, Prop. Day phone 391, night phone 1977. S11-13-14

TWO LARGE FRONT ROOMS, heated, use of attic, continuous hot water, use of telephone. Suitable for couple light housekeeping. Phone 1409R. S10-1t

FURNISHED BED SITTING room, also bedroom, separately or as suite. All conveniences, continuous hot water. East Hill. Central location. Phone 1975J. S10-1t

UNFURNISHED ROOMS. SUITable light housekeeping. Adults. Box Y, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-12

TWO UNFURNISHED HEATED rooms. Phone 304J. S9-3t

3 UNFURNISHED ROOMS, PRIvate entrance, two minutes from Front St. Apply after 5.30 p.m., 48 Everett St. S9-2t

3 ROOMED FURNISHED APARTment, hot water heating, garage if desired. Write Box B, Ontario Intelligencer. S7-3t

UPPER DUPLEX, FOUR ROOMS, sunroom, insulated, heated, separate entrance and bath. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine St. S7-dtf

ATTRACTIVE APARTMENT,—INsulated, hot water heating, hardwood floors, sun room, garage. Good locality, central. 30 Catherine St. S7-3t

THREE ROOM HEATED AND furnished apartment, all conveniences. Mrs. Draycott, 34 Bridge St. E. S7-tf

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

AUCTION SALE

Friday, September 13, at 1.30, at 35 Henry St., Belleville, Miss McCormick owner. Solid walnut Couch in perfect condition and two walnut chairs. Cream and green Dresser. Washstand. Table. Bench and Mirror. Sewing Machine. Tables. Several Chairs. Iron Bed and Springs. Veranda Wicker Chairs. 2 Chiffrobes. Dishes. Silver. New Kitchen Stove. Coal Oil Stove. Curtains. Gas Plate. Lamps. Piano Stool. Oak Rocking Chair. Bed Couch. Rug. Kitchen Table and many other articles. Terms Cash.

NORMAN MONTGOMERY
Auctioneer, Belleville.
S11-2t. Phone 1170

FORMER PREMIER HARD AT WORK

Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett Spends Six Days a Week at Production Headquarters

London, Sept. 11 (CP).—Six days a week, Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett sits in the Ministry of Aircraft Production headquarters at a desk well filled with work but only closest intimates know the details of his wartime effort.

"If I spend my time talking about it," he says, "I won't be able to get the job done."

Without fuss or fanfare the former prime minister of Canada eased into the job. Few knew he was working alongside his long-time friend and brother-Canadian, Lord Beaverbrook, who has been a notable success as Minister for Aircraft Production.

Some weeks after word leaked out in Canada that Mr. Bennett quit the peacefulness of his country estate early each morning for his desk in the aircraft production ministry, the United Kingdom press learned about it. Many laudatory articles were published but so far as the former prime minister was concerned it would have been better if his contribution to the empire's fight against the axis had never become publicly known.

"I am working in an advisory capacity," he told The Canadian Press. "Let us say no more about it. It seems a small contribution to make."

Being back in harness apparently agrees with him. He is 70 but an associate says "he works as if her were 20 years younger than that."

In addition, he is continuing his connection with the Canadian Red Cross, as chairman of the London Advisory Committee.

IN MEMORIAM

ORSER—In loving memory of our dear son and brother, James Orser, who passed away Sept. 11, 1938.

Surrounded by friends, we are lonesome,
In the midst of pleasures we're blue.
A smile on our face, still a heartache,
Aching and longing for you.
There are griefs that cannot find comfort
And wounds that cannot be healed.
There is a sorrow deep in our hearts
That cannot be half revealed.

—Ever remembered by Father and Mother, Brothers and Sisters. S11-1t

233 Charles Street
(Corner of Queen Street)

Well built and commodious brick house

FOR SALE

At low price for quick sale
(Reasonable Terms May Be Arranged)

House has beautiful double rooms with coal fire place, marble mantle, hardwood floors, dining room, kitchen, five bed rooms, bath, running water in two bed rooms, hot water heating. Would make several fine apartments. Beautiful grounds. This is worth investigating.

Exclusive Agents
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
166 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 House Phone 687
S5-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240 1A Bridge St. W
Res. 2112M Belleville
S5-tf

THEIR MAJESTIES

(Continued from Page One)

A conservatory in Queen Victoria's time, it was converted into a pool in 1936 and is one of the favorite playrooms of the royal princesses.

The blast demolished half of the stone and glass walls of the pool and left remnants of its glass skylight hanging crazily. The metal diving tower, painted sea green to match the rest of the interior, was twisted grotesquely.

Shower curtains fluttered in the breeze in the middle of the gaping hole as footmen and housemaids peered down from broken windows of the three-storey palace. It was stated that the household staff was in air raid shelters when the bomb fell. An empty shelter directly under the swimming pool was not damaged.

"There was very little damage inside the palace," an official spokesman said. "It was mostly from flying glass and soot from chimney. Paintings and other objects were removed long ago."

Windows in Study Blown

Among the windows blown in by the concussion were those of the King's study and the Queen's sitting room, as well as the Belgian suite which in the words of the palace spokesman "was occupied by visiting royalty in happier times...

Glass splinters were imbedded in many of the walls but there was no material damage to furniture. Soot shaken down through fireplaces when the building trembled coated furniture and hangings.

Fragments of stone and brick and torn splinters of wood were sprayed across the north lawn. Rubble almost filled in the crater 35 feet across and 15 feet deep torn by the bomb. Branches of trees were strewn about.

The wreckage was in strange contrast to the unmatched beauty of the rest of the 43 acres of St. James's Park in which the Royal residence stands near the centre of London. Pink geraniums and the soft tones of other late summer flowers relieved the drab grayness of the paloce terraces. Trees from almost every part of the world stood like regal sentinels about the broad lawn and park beyond.

Clear Away Debris

A glacier among the corps of workmen clearing away the debris stopped to say: "We'll 'ave everything shipshape before you can blink your eye."

Then as an afterthought he added: "And we'll get that blinking 'itler in the finish too."

Although Buckingham Palace has been used continuously as a Royal residence only about 100 years, it was originally built in 1703, in what was known as the Mulberry Gardens by John Sheffield, Duke of Buckinghamshire.

It was purchased by George III in 1762 and remodelled by George IV about 1825.

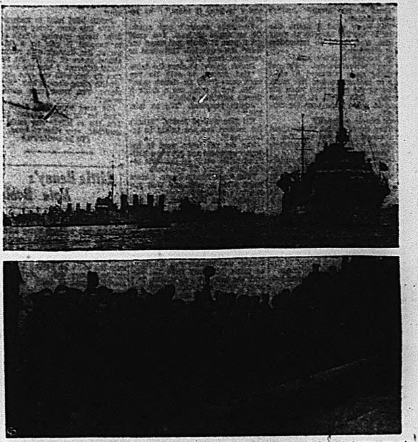
Since the accession of Queen Victoria in 1837, it has been the London residence of the Sovereign.

In Queen Victoria's reign in 1847, a long east wing was built which converted the palace into a quadrangle enclosing a courtyard.

SOUTH AFRICAN TROOPS EMBARK FOR ACTIVE SERVICE

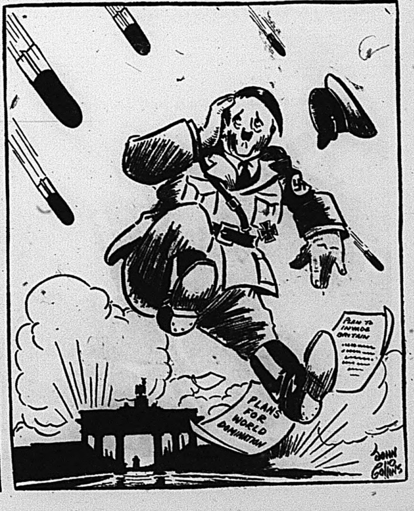
After a period of intensive training these South African troops are about to board a transport vessel bound for active service with other members of the Empire's forces.

BRITISH TARS ARRIVE TO TAKE OVER U.S. DESTROYERS



A cheering band of British seamen are pictured, BOTTOM, as they arrived at an eastern Canadian port to take over the 50 overage destroyers turned over to Britain by the United States. A group of these destroyers are pictured, TOP, anchored at a Canadian port awaiting transfer to British naval authorities.

2nd War Loan Disrupts Hitler Plans



"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER FIFTEEN

It was later than Judith realized before she managed to break away from the party with the remark, "It's a long trip over to Newark."

Sonny eyed her as though she were looking at her for the first time, had forgotten she was one of the party: "I should think you'd prefer to live over here."

"I would, but it's better for Tex to be close to the airport."

"You devoted wives! I'm afraid I wouldn't be that self-sacrificing. You should make him move—and like it."

Judith did not explain that Tex would have been willing to take the long daily trips to Newark Airport, but she would not hear of it.

Sonny was firm on one thing. "You've got to stay, Michael. I won't hear of your going."

But she said good night to Judith prettily and asked her to join her for luncheon soon. Judith murmured the usual polite things, and Dudley escorted her to the door.

"I won't let you go over to Pennsylvania station with me, Mr. Dudley. It's just silly."

"Silly or not, I'm going. Besides, it will do Sonia good for me to rebel. She likes to run people."

In the cab Dudley laughed softly to himself. "Women are marvelous," he remarked. "She gave you quite a half hour!"

"What do you mean?" Judith's cheeks flushed.

"You know what I mean. She threw in the old harpoon at every chance. She wants to monopolize male attention."

He touched Judith's arm.

"Don't misunderstand. I'm not inferring she's interested in me—only in having me, and five more, dance at the same time when she speaks. But forget it. Will you come in again some time for dinner?"

"I'd like to so much."

"Then that's settled. Think about that vacation for you and Tex. A couple of weeks would do wonders for both of you."

Judith dosed as the train whisked her home. At the station she got a cab, was at the apartment in ten minutes. It had been a nice evening, regardless of Sonia. As for Dudley, she decided he was a darling.

When Judith finally unlocked the door of her apartment she was amazed to find the lights on—and Tex sprawled on the davenport asleep, or pretending to be asleep.

"Tex!" Judith dropped her bag and gloves on a chair, rushed to the davenport and was on her knees.

"Why didn't you let me know you were coming?"

He had his arm thrown across his face, a favorite position when he slept. She kissed a blond eyebrow, all that was visible.

He opened one eye. "Nice homecoming I get!"

"Nonsense! You're not asleep at all. Kiss me!"

Tex sat up, gave her a big hug.

"Why didn't you let me know you were coming?" she repeated.

"Just to see what you were doing while I was away."

"Don't be ridiculous! How is your head? What did the doctor out there say?"

"He says I'll live. I'm hungry. Is there anything to eat?"

Judith shed coat and hat, rushed into the kitchenette to see what she could find for a midnight snack. She started the coffee going.

"I'd planned such a nice dinner for you tomorrow night—quite a celebration!"

Judith, beaming, whipped up some eggs, cut bread for toast while Tex washed up. He did not come back into the kitchenette until she called: "Come along. Soup's on."

Tex folded his long legs under the table and Judith poured his coffee. He told her about Elsie and what had happened down south. As he ate she watched him, completely happy. He was home; everything was all right.

"What did Dudley have to say?" Tex gulped the last of his eggs.

The casual phrase came as a bombshell to Judith. Until that moment there had been no mention of Dudley. Even as he spoke, Tex knew he had made a blunder. Judith could read his thoughts. She knew that tightening of the muscles about his mouth. His eyes did not meet hers.

For of course it had been Tex who had telephoned Sonia at the club. He had talked to her before he had come home!

But she made an effort to make her voice sound natural as she answered the question which hung between them so dangerously.

"He thinks we should take a vacation. He's worried about you. Thinks your head injury is more serious than you realize."

"He needn't worry about my head! I'm all right. We can't afford to take a vacation right now. Everybody seems to think just because I won the race we're rich. It takes money to build a racing ship, in case you don't know. I must stick around here for some time."

His voice was petulant. Judith's heart contracted. He must care a lot for . . . Sonia!

Tex pushed back his coffee cup impatiently, lit a cigarette carefully.

"For once we've got a little money in the bank. It wouldn't come amiss to keep it there," he remarked.

"Bermuda wouldn't cost much. Or we might go west. You could get a pass. It would just mean one fare," she suggested. There was no comment from Tex.

Judith started to clear the table.

"Had enough to eat? Do you want some fruit? Or there's cake."

"No, but I could use a drink if there's anything about."

Judith protested, "It's so late, Tex."

His face flushed darkly. "What's the matter, are you trying to reform me?"

She did not reply, went to the corner cupboard and got out a half-filled bottle, set it on the table beside him. Then he exploded:

"You know what's wrong. I come home after a week and find you out with Dudley!"

Judith was indignant. She had tried to keep her temper, but self-respect demanded that she speak.

She put down the dishes she was carrying and came back to confront Tex with a counter-attack.

"I might point out that the reason you knew I was out with Mr. Dudley was because you telephoned Sonia Winthrop from the airport the moment you landed. If I hadn't been with her, why you could have joined her!"

Judith's eyes were blazing. All the pent-up suffering of the last week seemed to erupt now.

Tex jeered: "So! My pet's jealous! It isn't like you, Judith!"

"No, it isn't like me. Usually I'm a mouse, a door-mat and let you tramp on me. When you spent the evening before the big race with Sonia I didn't say anything. When you went out joy-riding with her and left me flat, I didn't say anything. Just because I keep still, you seem to think I'm a fool. Well I'm tired of that role! I'm through!"

She stopped for breath. All caution was thrown to the winds. If Tex walked out of the apartment and never came back, that was all right with her!

Judith loudly expressed that idea before she rushed into the bedroom and on through to lock herself in the bathroom. She stood still, staring at her face in the mirror in shocked silence. Her hair hung about her face in wisps. Her eyes were swollen and red. She tried to stop the sobs which wracked her.

I'm a fool (she thought) I play right into her hands!

She forced herself to dry her eyes although she still gave great gasping sobs as she tried to fix her hair with trembling fingers. She put on dabs of powder which caked on her nose, and she managed some lipstick. Then she turned the key to the door and went back to Tex.

The living room was empty. She grabbed the door frame of the kitchenette and called Tex's name. He was gone! Judith collapsed on the davenport. He had gone to Sonia and it served her right! This last indignity was harder to bear.

After a while there was the sound of a key in the door. Judith buried her tear-stained face in the pillow as Tex walked nonchalantly into the room, threw a couple of packs of cigarettes on the table.

"We were fresh out," he remarked.

The reaction was so terrific that Judith had an overpowering desire to laugh. It was too absurd.

Tex looked at her apprehensively, almost in terror. He hated hysterical women.

"We're behaving like a couple of gold fish swallowers!" she managed to gasp.

Tex grinned, came over to her, took her in his arms, burying his face in her black hair.

"I'm just a mug, honey!"

"You're not!"

"Kiss me, Judith. I didn't mean to be nasty."

"I'm terrible, making such scenes."

He bent to kiss the tilted member.

"You're a good kid. I've behaved badly these last few days. I didn't mean to . . . The race this year got my goat. I was sure something would happen. I guess I just couldn't take it, that it had to be Marvin."

Judith tried hard to understand.

"It's this dizzy flying game, Judith! Never knowing what's going to happen! It gets on a fellow's nerves. I'm through with racing! I almost swear it. As for the other, that's different. I love the air lines. Can fly 'em with my eyes shut!"

Judith clung close to him. "Please, please, Tex, never race again — never!"

His arms were tight about her. "And let us never quarrel again, Tex. It's so silly!" Her smile was uncertain, very close to tears.

(To be continued.)

Little Benny's Note Book

I was walking along with Puds Simkins just walking along and we came to some kid trying to get a stick of chewing gum out of a slot machine in front of a cigar store, only the more he pushed the more nothing came out, proving the machine must of been stuck or something.

Being a sad looking little kid with a white sailer hat, and I said, O, the poor little kid, the machine stuck him for a cent, and Puds said, The poor little kid, it's proberly the only cent he's had for about a week, judging by how he looks.

Meaning exter sad, and we started to help him by slapping the side of the slot machine with our hands and pushing the pushers for him, Puds saying, Dont look so sad, kid, everybody gets stung once in a while, and me saying, Sure, kid, one cent isn't the end of the world. Anyways, why dont you go in and tell the cigar store man? I said.

Sure, that's the thing to do, Puds said, and the little kid said, He might get mad.

Why should he, it wasn't a counterfitt cent, was it? I said, and the kid said, No, it wasn't any kind of a cent. I just go around pushing the pushers of every slot machine I see, and maybe about every 500 or a thousand times one of them is libel to work all by itself, he said.

Good night why dont you sit on the steps of a bank and wait for the cashier to come out and hand you a 2 doller bill? I said, and Puds said, Holey smokes why dont you hunt through your pockets till you find a 4 leaf clover and be lucky for the rest of your life?

Slot machines are good enough for me, the little kid said.

Proving he was proberly as dum as he looked.

ARGENTINE STUDENTS SLUG OUT POLITICAL OPINIONS

When a group of students at the University of Medicine in Buenos Aires attempted to hold a pro-Nazi meeting on the campus, other students raided the gathering and a riot followed. The youth in the light suit, SECOND from RIGHT, a leader of the pro-German faction, wound up in the hospital. Police had to use tear gas to rescue the rest of the Nazi sympathizers.

SENATOR FAUTEUX DIES IN MONTREAL

Summoned to the Senate by the Government of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett

Montreal, Sept 10 (CP)—Senator Guillaume Andre Fauteux, 66, Conservative member of the Senate since 1933, died at his home here today after a brief illness.

Senator Fauteux, summoned to the Senate by the Government of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, was Solicitor-General in the Meighen Cabinet for a brief period in 1926. He was appointed Aug. 23 and resigned Sept. 25 when the Meighen administration was defeated in the general election. He was first elected in the House of Commons in 1921 when he ran as Conservative candidate in Terrebonne.

FINDS SON THEN DIES

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 10.—(AP)—After seven years Mrs. Charles Clark, 58, Indianola, Okla., found her son in Oakland and with her husband and daughter, Erma, 24, drove west unannounced for a reunion. When the son opened the door of his home his mother threw her arms around him and sobbed, "Oh son, it has been so long". She then sank into a chair and a few moments later died.

11 Rumanian Generals Dismissed by Antonescu

Bucharest, Sept' 10.—(AP)—Dismissal of 11 Rumanian Generals, held partly responsible for Rumania's recent loss of territory was announced today as Gen. Ion Antonescu, military dictator, continued his investigation of former King Carol's regime.

The decree dismissing the men, who included George Argeseanu, a former premier, and Ion Ilcusu, former War Minister said they practised political activity contrary to the good of the State and used "flattery to gain high office".

How badly Carol himself fared when he abdicated last week was still a matter of conjecture. The king left a vast "personal empire" under the shadow of expropriation when he went into exile but he had shrewdly converted many of his ancestral holdings into cash long ago, informed sources said.

FOOD SHORTAGE AFFECTS THE FRENCH CHILDREN

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Children in unoccupied France "are already showing signs of malnutrition" because of a food shortage, an American relief official, Dr. Joseph A. Stokes, Jr., reported Monday on arrival from Lisbon aboard the Dixie Clipper.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 11.

7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time.—WEAF.
8.00—Hollywood Playhouse; drama, Gale Page and Jim Ameche. —WEAF, WBEN, WGY.
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.00—Quiz Kids—WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Dr. Christian, sketch. — WABC, WJR.
9.00—The Question Box. — CBO, CBL.
9.30—Concert Orch.—WABC
10.00—Kay Kyser's program. — WEAF, WGY.
10.00—They Shall Not Pass—CBL
10.30—Address by Pres. Roosevelt—WABC, WJZ, CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBO, CBL
12.00—Bobby Byrnes' Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

THURSDAY, SEPT. 12.

12.00—Kate Smith Speaks.—WABC, —WJZ, CBO, CBL.
7.00—London Calling— CBL
7.30—Vox Pop; Parks and Wally—WABC, WGR.
8.00—Good News of 1941: Fanny Brice, Mary Martin, Dick Powell—WEAF, WGY
8.00—English News Letter — CBL, CBO
8.00—Canadian Holiday — WJZ WHAM
9.00—Singing and Swinging—WJZ
9.30—Concert in Miniature—WJZ
10.00—Rudy— Vallee program.
10.00—Boxing Bout: Garcia vs. Belloise—WJZ, WHAM WEAF, WHAM
10.15—Pennant Contenders—WOR
12.00—Duke Ellington's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

New Air Fighter Ready

Farmingdale, N.Y., Sept. 10—(AP)—A new air fighter for the United States army, built to fly above high-altitude bombers, is ready for manufacture. The first completed plane, with the present designation of YP-43, was exhibited yesterday at the factory of the Republic Aviation Corporation. It is a new type of interceptor pursuit ship, a single-seat low-wing monoplane with a supercharged motor of undisclosed horsepower.

London, Sept. 10.—(CP Cable)—The 39th casualty list of the war office contains the name of 459 officers and men, comprising 120 killed, 16 dead of wounds, 272 wounded, seven taken prisoner, 38 previously reported missing now known to be prisoners and six previously missing now reported safe.

Halifax, Sept. 10—(CP)—An investigation into rising rents here has been conducted by James M. MacDonald of the Canadian War Time Prices and Trade Board, it was learned today.

MacDonald arrived here unannounced two weeks ago to study wholesale and retail prices. He is said to have gathered valuable information to be presented to the board and later to the government.

RADIO PROGRAMS

WEDNESDAY

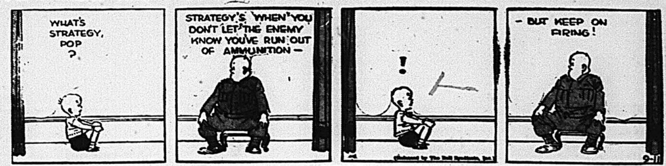
4.00—Club Matinee—WJZ, CBL.
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news commentator—WJZ, CBL
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.30—Plantation Party — WEAF, WGY
8.30 Manhattan at Midnight — WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Musical Varieties—CBL
9.00—The Hour of Smiles—WEAF
9.00—Summer show, Frances Langford, vocalist, Kenny Baker, tenor—WABC, WJR
9.30—Serenade for Strings—CBL, CBO
10.00—Kay Kyser Prgm. — WEAF, WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orchestra; Ray Eberle and Marion Hutton, vocalists—WABC, WGR
10.30—BBC News Reel—CBL

THURSDAY

4.00—Club Matinee; news.—WJZ, CBL
7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure time—WEAF, WGY
8.00—Ask-It-Basket with Jim McWilliams—WABC, WGR
8.30—Strange as it seems—WABC, WGR
8.30—The Aldrich Family—WEAF.
8.30—Pot O' Gold—WJZ, WHAM.
9.00—Major Bowes' — WABC, CFRB
9.00—Music Hall—Bob Burns, M.C. and comedian; Music Maids; Ken Carpenter announcer; Guests: Elsa Lanchester, actress; Mischa Levitsky, violinist, and Dorothy Lamour, screen and radio star—WEAF, CBL
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orch.—WABC, WJR
10.00—Summer Symphony—CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks.—CBL, CBO.

POP — Good Trick, If You Can Do it

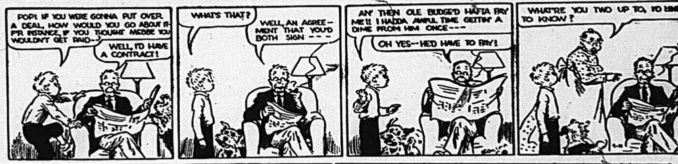
By J. Millar Watt



WHAT'S STRATEGY, POP ?
STRATEGY'S WHEN YOU DON'T LET THE ENEMY KNOW YOU'VE RUN OUT OF AMMUNITION —
!
– BUT KEEP ON FIRING!
9-11

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

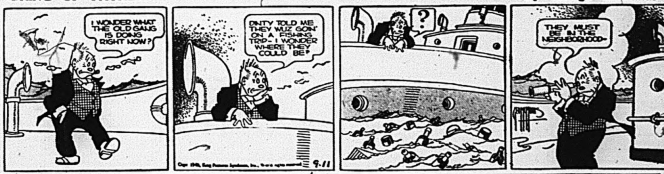
By Edwina



POP! IF YOU WERE GONNA PUT OVER A DEAL, HOW WOULD YOU GO ABOUT IT– F'R INSTANCE, IF YOU THOUGHT MEBBE YOU WOULDN'T GET PAID–?
WELL, I'D HAVE A CONTRACT!
WHAT'S THAT?
WELL, AN AGREEMENT THAT YOU'D BOTH SIGN – – –
AN' THEN OLE BUDGE'D HAFTA PAY ME!! I HADDA AWFUL TIME GETTIN' A DIME FROM HIM ONCE – – –
OH YES– HE'D HAVE TO PAY!
WHAT'RE YOU TWO UP TO, I'D LIKE TO KNOW?

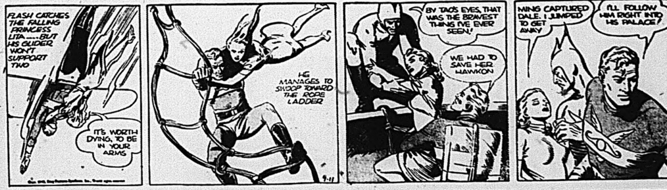
BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



I WONDER WHAT THE OLD GANG IS DOING RIGHT NOW?
DINTY TOLD ME THEY WUZ GOIN' ON A FISHING TRIP– I WONDER WHERE THEY COULD BE?
?
THEY MUST BE IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD–
9-11

FLASH GORDON



FLASH CATCHES THE FALLING PRINCESS LITA .... BUT HIS GLIDER WON'T SUPPORT TWO IT'S WORTH DYING, TO BE IN YOUR ARMS
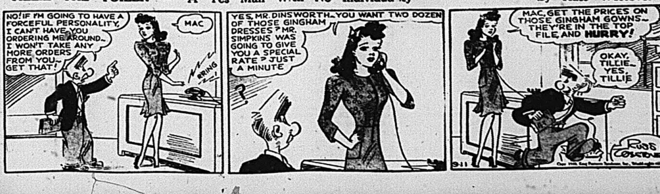
HE MANAGES TO SWOOP TOWARD THE ROPE LADDER
9-11
BY TAO'S EYES, THAT WAS THE BRAVEST THING I'VE EVER SEEN!
WE HAD TO SAVE HER, HAWKON
MING CAPTURED DALE. I JUMPED TO GET AWAY
I'LL FOLLOW HIM RIGHT INTO HIS PALACE!

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Yes Man With No Individuality

By Russ Westover



NO! IF I'M GOING TO HAVE A FORCEFUL PERSONALITY, I CAN'T HAVE YOU ORDERING ME AROUND – I WON'T TAKE ANY MORE ORDERS FROM YOU – GET THAT!
MAC
BRRING
YES, MR. DINSWORTH – YOU WANT TWO DOZEN OF THOSE GINGHAM DRESSES? MR. SIMPKINS WAS GOING TO GIVE YOU A SPECIAL RATE? JUST A MINUTE
?
MAC, GET THE PRICES ON THOSE GINGHAM GOWNS – THEY'RE IN THE TOP FILE, AND HURRY!
OKAY, TILLIE – YES, TILLIE
RUSS WESTOVER
9-11

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

MINES

Ajax 10 1-2
Aldermac 17
Anglo Hur. 165
Aunor 156
Bankfield 9 1-2
Beattie 95
Bidgood 12 3-8
Big Missouri 4 1-2
Bralorne 975
Broulan 66
Buffalo Ank. 350
Calgary and Ed. 156
Can. Malar. 50
Central Pat. 185
Chesterville 89
Coast Copper 67
Conlaurum 131
Dome 21 3-4
Eldorado 34 1-2
East Mal. 305
Falconbridge 253
Gillies L. 4 1-4
Gunnar 37 1-2
Hardrock 83
Home Oil 197
Hollinger 11 3-4
Howey 25
Hudson Bay 26 1-2
Kerr Add. 255
Kirk. Lake 93
Lapa Cad.5 1-2
Lake Shore 21 1-2
Leitch 55
Little L. L. 210
Macassa 330
McIntyre 45 1-2
McLeod 215
McKenzie 97
Mining Corp. 75
Moneta 53
Nipissing 95
Obrien 80
Okalta 66
Omega 17
Paymaster 23 1-2
Pamour 103
Perron 155
Pend Oreille 136
Pickle Crow 278
Pioneer 215
Powell 85
Premier 100
Preston E. D. 190
Reno 17
Royalite 23 1-2
San Antonio 193
Sherritt G. 72
Siscoe 58
Sud. Basin 112
Sladen M. 43
Sullivan 63
Steep Rock 154
Sylvanite 227
T. Hughes 317
Toburn 127
Tex. Can. Oil 115
Ventures 250
W. Amulet 345
Wr. Hargreaves 625

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 155 1-2
B. A. Oil 18 5-8
Brewing Corp. 125
Braz. Trac. 4 7-8
Can. Bud Brewery 4 1-2
Can. Cement 4 5-8
Can. Dredge 10 1-2
Can. Ind. Alcohol 193
C.P.R. 5 5.8
Can. Malting 37
Can. Vinegar 6
Canada Car 8
Cockshutt Plow 5 1-4
Cons. Bakeries 14 1-4
Con. Smelting 38
Dominion Foundries 23
Dominion Stores 4 1-2
Dist. Seagrams 24 1-2
Fanny Farmer 25 3-4
Ford "A" 16 1-2
Gypsum 3 3-4
Imp. Oil 11 7-8
Int. Nickel 37
Inter. Pet. 17
Imp. Tobacco 14 3.8
Loblaw 24 1-2
Massey Harris 3 1-8
Mont. Power 29 1-4
McColl-Frontenac 5 7-8
Power Corp. 7 7-8
Price Bros. 13 3-8
Steel of Canada 72
Supertest 70
Shawinigan 18 3-4
Walker's 38
Walker's, Pfd. 19 1-2
C.P.A. 4 3.4

NEW YORK

American T. and T. 165
Anaconda 22
Bethlehem Steel 79 1-2
Chrysler 77 3-8
General Electric 34
General Motors 47 3-8
Inter. Telephone 3
North American 17 1-8
Montgomery Ward 41
Radio 4 7-8
Standard Oil of N.J. 35 1-2
Standard Brands 6 1-4
U.S. Steel 56
United Aircraft 40 1-4
Vanadium 31 3-4
Westinghouse 104

WALL ST.

New York, Sept. 11 (AP)—Wall Street traders today discounted a Berlin warning of intention to level London with a stock rally which sent war shares a point or so higher.

It was a cautious market with transactions slow, but the level of advances toward the fourth hour was near its best for the session.

High among the leaders were Douglas, Boeing, United Aircraft, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Harvester, Westinghouse, Johns Manville, Eastman, Anaconda and American Telephone.

Bonds and commodities also felt the upward urge.

Marketmen attributed the lift mainly to the Royal Air Force's continued hammering at Germany.

In the Canadian group Distillers Seagram advanced a fraction while Canadian Pacific held unchanged. Canada 4s, in the Bond market, gaind 1-2 cent.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 11 (CP)—The stock market became strong in the early session and by noon all indices were up for the day, the golds leading with a gain of 1.02. Trading continued to lag however and only 65,-000 shares had changed hands by the end of the third hour.

McIntyre advanced a point to 46 and better prices ruled for Hollinger, Aunor, Hard Rock, Kerr Addison, Preston, MacLeod Cockshutt and others. International Nickel, Noranda, Steep Rock and Ventures were bright spots in the base metals.

Utilities, senior oils and miscellaneous industrials were higher against minor recessions for the steels. The western oil market was dull except for good action in Home Oil at a gain of 9 to 1.97. Calgary-Edmonton was several cents up and the bids for other western oils were firm to strong.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS
Wholesale to retail:
A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.26
Grade "C"	.19
BUTTER
Butter, No. 1	.23
Butter, No. 2	.20½-.21 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.22
Churning Cream, No. 2	.19
POULTRY
(Dressed)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—.16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12
(Live Poultry)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Sept. 11—(CP)—Cattle trade was very dull at the Livestock Market up to mid-session today with sales too few to establish prices. Veal calves were weak, lambs were steady and sheep firm. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from Tuesday was 2,000 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 620, calves 330, hogs 970, sheep and lambs 380.

A few common to medium butcher steers and heifers sold at $6.50 to $8. Butcher cows sold at $4 to $5.50. Bulls sold at $4 to $5.50. Fed calves brought $8.75 to $10.50. Stockers were slow and sold at $5 to $7.

Veal calves sold at a general top of $11 for choice with a few at $11.50 and common selling downward to $6.50.

Lambs sold at $9 to $9.50 for good ewes and wethers and $8 to $8.50 for bucks.

Sheep sold at $2.50 to $6.

Hogs closed previously at $9.25 off trucks for bacons and $12.35 dressedweight.

Montreal, Sept. 11 —(CP)— Receipts: Cattle 47; calves 88; sheep and lambs 340, and hogs 269.

Better kind steers $8.25-$9; medium $7.50-$7.75. Heifers $3.50-$6.50. Common bulls mostly $3.50-$4. Veal calves $7-$10.50. Drinkers $5.50-$7.

Good ewes and wethers $8.75-$9, bucks and culls cut $1 and $2 per hundredweight respectively. Sheep $3-$5.

Bacon hogs, fed and watered, firm at $9.25-$9.35 and $9.50-$9.60 off trucks. Hogs on rail grade up to $12.50 hot weight. Selects drew $1 premium with regular cuts on off grades. Sows $5.50-$7.

Butter in Storage 1,000,000 lbs. Less Than on August 1

Toronto, Sept. 11.— Members of the produce trade viewed with satisfaction the all-Canada stock report released from Ottawa yesterday, which showed 58,500,000 pounds of butter on hand on Sept. 1, as compared with 55,400,000 pounds a year ago. The report, full details of which were not available at time of writing, was received too late in the day to influence Tuesday's Toronto butter market, and dealings were held to a minimum as buyers and sellers marked time while awaiting the figures. Prices held steady in the quiet session under light receipts.

The report revealed an increase of 3,100,000 pounds in comparison with last year, but this is 1,000,000 pounds less than on Aug. 1. During that month of last year more than 1,000,000 pounds of butter were exported, compared with nothing shipped this year, and it was pointed out that at this time last year export business started to disappear. Also production is running heavier than in 1939. Taking into consideration all these factors, the general impression is that the statistical position of the domestic butter market is favorable.

Egg prices maintained previous levels in the graded section of the market, but the trend was irregular in the retail division. Receipts were not heavy, and sufficient demand appeared to absorb the supply. The three top grades eased one cent per dozen in the retail section, while grades B and C rose a like figure.

TUESDAY NIGHT RAIDS APPEAR TO BE LESS SEVERE

Other Cities Throughout Britain Also Subjected Heavy Pounding

8 1-2 HOUR ALARM

Fires Started in Warehouses and Factories Along Thames

London, Sept. 11.—(CP)—London's millions who sleep in shelters weathered their fourth successive all-night air attack undaunted and declared today it seemed less severe than the first three since the Nazi airwave switched to dusk-to-dawn raiding.

This time, however, cities scattered the length and breadth of Britain shared although in lesser degree, the pounding which jarred London at intervals during an eight hour and 29-minute alarm.

Bombs fell in the northwest and southeast, in Wales and the Midlands, and some of the attacks lasted as long as two hours.

Britons read warnings in their newspapers to expect German invasion soon as the certain climax of intensified raiding, and took encouragement from reports of strong Royal Air Force counter-thrusts into Germany.

During the night white clouds, that streaked the sky were tinged by flames in parts of Eastern and Southern London, and another burned brightly in the central city, silhouetting the familiar dome of St. Paul's Cathedral.

At the height of the raid, in the middle of the night, it was light enough to read a newspaper on the roof of the Associated Press Building in mid-city.

A communique said the overnight bombing caused fires in warehouses and factories along the Thames and in the mid-city, and damage in the suburbs, adding:—

"Preliminary reports indicate that this is less severe and that the casualties are considerably lighter than on the preceding nights".

Many Raiders Beat Back

The casualty figures for the raid, or that of the night before, have not been announced. Deaths the first two nights of the raids were placed at a total of 592, with approximately 2,700 injured seriously.

One bomb fell in a famed West End street 10 yards from a shelter, killing a pedestrian and shattering windows 100 yards away.

Unusually heavy anti-aircraft fire over London cut the last overnight raid shorter than previous attacks and beat back many of the raiders from the central city. The alarm was in effect from 8.11 p.m. until 4.40 a.m.

Some planes did penetrate the barrage. Their bombs shattered a big apartment building on a London square, hit a large maternity hospital, smashed into the streets and shook buildings in the central business section.

Planes forced back from the mid-London area circled the city, bombing the suburbs—aiming at targets picked out in four scouting raids the day before.

Firemen Work Ceaselessly

Long before dawn weary patrols of wardens covered their beats in search of time bombs, firemen worked ceaselessly to check bomb-set flames and rescue crews dug into new heaps of debris to rescue those trapped.

Trains took many from the city, but for the most part Londoners stuck it out grimly, determined not to budge.

They put up with dislocated gas and water service, cut off to some districts because mains were damaged, walked to and from work because of detours and delays in the transit system, and kept kits ready packed for as much comfort as possible in the air raid shelters to which the trek at dusk has become routine.

The London Press and radio carried announcements of the R.A.F.'s use of Britain's new "calling cards" for Germany — little self-igniting, chemical-bearing cardboards which start fires after they are dumped by the million from planes. No details about the "new weapon" were

Barge Concentrations Reported

The warnings of imminent invasion came along with recurrent reports of large concentrations of barges along the harbors and river mouths of the German held coast of France and the Low Countries.

Many observers continued to view the repeated Nazi air thrusts at London as "only a diversion" masking or preceding a move for seaborne attack.

Rescue crews still were digging into the heaped ruin of an east London school, demolished Monday night by a terrific explosion in which a large number of men, women and children were feared killed.

Nearly 500 persons, homeless after earlier raids, were sheltered in the building when it was hit.

Work by Torchlight

Physicians and nurses worked by torchlight, giving first aid to survivors taken from debris of the two storey concrete building.

A man whose home nearby was wrecked by the same explosion said the raiders must have dropped something huge—either aerial torpedoes or land mines—because "they were not ordinary explosions."

One explosion dug a crater 40 feet wide and 20 feet deep.

The refugees housed temporarily in the school were waiting to be moved to the country.

Rescue squads found two babies alive beneath the mass of rubble.

One building almost on the corner of a thoroughfare in the heart of London was badly damaged by a bomb.

A gas main beneath the middle of the street war broken. A bomb shattered shop fronts on another street, littering the pavement with so much wreckage that the street was closed.

F-L. FRED L. SIMS,

(Continued from Page One)

Wallbridge, who stood on a milkstand in his farmyard told newspapermen that the Huff's Island sky was a favorite stunting and flying ground for the R.C.A.F. pilots.

"I stood on the stand washing milkcans when I heard the roar of a motor," he said, "high in the air about 1,000 feet up a plane was looping the loop. As it climbed, I yelled to my hired man, "watch that fellow come down." Little did I know how literally I spoke. As the machine neared the top tou of its loop, it seemed to hesitate. Then it fell earthward in a tailspin, and I could not hear the sound of its motor. It disappeared in a dive behind our barn. When I had run around the corner of the building I saw geysers of mud and water shoot high in the air. I got help and we dashed to the marsh, where the plane had crashed."

Plane Partially Submerged

The plane was partially submerged in five feet of water and mud in the marsh approximately one hundred yards north of the rear end of the farm of Fred Motley. Tall rushes and reeds hid the wreckage from view.

The machine had struck marsh right side up evidence of the partial success of the pilot to flatten out from the fatal tailspin. It struck the mud, and turned over burying itself in the mire. The bodies of the dead flyers were buried at least three feet beneath the machine. They had died instantly.

A few minutes after Royal Canadian Air Force officials at the Trenton base had been notified, ambulances rushed to the scene of the fatality, and removed the bodies of the dead airmen to the Cobley Funeral Parlors at Trenton. When the ambulances arrived the young Huff's Island farmers had removed the bodies after lifting the plane from its miry bed.

Later bombers and trainers from the station soared over the scene of the accident in salute to the passing of two gallant comrades.

Air Force officials said today that a brief funeral service will be held at the base, and the bodies forwarded to relatives for burial.

Flying Officer Sims was a graduate of Parkdale Collegiate, Toronto, and a resident of London for nearly fourteen years. He was 36 years old.

An enthusiastic aviationist, Flying Officer Sims was among the original members to join the London Flying Club shortly after he and his family moved there from Toronto. Slated for university, Sims decided upon graduation from Parkdale Collegiate to study aviation instead. In 1929 he obtained his private pilot's license at the London Flying Club and in 1931 was awarded his commercial license. For a time he gave up his full attention to aviation and he joined an automobile firm, being in charge of the mechanical department. He never abandoned his interest in flying.

With the outbreak of war last year he was engaged by the London Board of Education to conduct a ground school of aviation in connection with the technical school night classes. The aviation course proved to be one of the most popular and largely attended of the night classes, having an enrolment of 150, a large number being women and girl students. The classes were concluded a week ahead of schedule to permit him to take the position of instructor at Trenton. With his wife, the former Margaret Plewes of London, and their 3-year-old daughter, Mr. Sims left London, March 1, for Trenton.

Born in Weston, Ont., the son of the late Frederick L. H. Sims, who came from Yorkshire, England, Sims moved with his family to Toronto, where he attended Parkdale Collegiate, graduating with honors.

Beside his widow and child, now resident in Trenton, surviving are an elder brother, William Sims of Montreal; three sisters, Mrs. J. A. M. Campbell and Miss Beatrice Sims, London, and Miss Lola Sims, Toronto.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 11 (CP).—Dressedweight were down 10 cents at Brantford and other markets were unchanged in bacon-hog markets reporting early today.

Lightweight — Brantford $8.75, Chatham $9.

Dressedweight — Brantford $11.75 plus transportation, Hull $11.65, Peterboro $11.75 plus transportation, Stratford $11.75 plus transportation, Chatham $12.

TEACHER'S SMILE

Hartington, Neb., Sept 11. (AP)—Grade school teacher Arlyn Stolpe smilingly greeted her charges as they trudged in for the first day of school. The pupils smiled right back—some even grinned. Then she opened her desk drawer—and found a three-foot bull snake paecefully coiled up inside.

FIRST GRADUATES AIR UNIVERSITY READY FOR FIGHT

Air Observers Will be First Crew Members Ready for Action

PILOTS SOON READY

(By Frank Flaherty)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Sept. 11. —(CP)—First graduates of Canada's Giant Air University will be ready to take their places in the fighting forces of the Empire by the end of this month. As they leave, the Canadian schools established under the British Commonwealth Air Training plan will still be growing in number and in capacity.

Air observers will be the first air crew members ready for action. The first pilots will complete their training about a month later, with the first air gunners moving out shortly afterwards. All will be from the class which entered the first initial training school at the former Eglinton Hunt Club, North Toronto, last April.

Since opening of that school, the first under the plan devoted to the training of air crews for service overseas, the air observers passed through the bombing and gunnery school where they learned how to aim bombs and operate machine guns, and are now in an air navigation school learning how to pilot the course of aircraft to and from scenes of action.

Complete Advance Training

The pilots left the initial training school for elementary flying training schools and then passed on to the service flying training schools in which they are now completing the advanced stages of their training.

The air gunners left the Eglinton School for a lengthy course in wireless telegraphy at the first wireless school in Montreal and, on completing that, will put in four weeks at a bombing and gunnery school.

The British Commonwealth Air Training plan is definitely past the stage where it can be truly described as a plan although it is still growing. It is like a snowball which started slowly on a gentle grade and rolled on to steeper grade. The snowball grows in size as it rolls more quickly and presently bursts, flinging out fragments in all directions.

Keeps on Turning Them Out

There the analogy ends for while the air training plan is about to burst and fling out increased numbers of bomber and fighter crews at the enemy forces, it will not be a sudden burst ending there. The plan will keep on flinging out its explosive human products in the direction of the enemy in ever increasing numbers.

A co-operative venture designed to give the British Commonwealth an air force of overwhelming strength, the plan took shape at conferences between representatives of the governments of Canada, Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand in the early months of the war. Canada undertook the job of providing training facilities for airmen from the other Empire countries as well as Canadians.

Now your British lads are reaching Canada for training and Australians and New Zealanders are expected soon. Right now some 4,-500 trainees are enrolled in the schools providing instruction for fighting personnel, pilots, observers and gunners and 7,500 more are in training as service and maintenance men.

700 a Week

New recruits are being taken on at the rate of about 700 a week. The rise of the Royal Canadian Air Force strength from some 4,500 officers and men in September, 1939 to some 25,000 in September, 1940, is largely due to the enrollment of men to operate the air training plan and pupils who will pass through the plan to combat in the skies.

Of the 83 training establishments called for in the plan, 29 are now operating, 33 will be operated by Sept. 20, and by the end of the year the number in operation will be 48. All of the airdromes needed for the schools, more than 90, will be completed or near completion by the time the snow flies.

The administrative and instructional staff now employed in connection with the plan numbers about 9,000. They include civilian instructors and administrators as well as officers and men of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

R. A. F. FIGHTERS

(Continued from Page One)

As the raiders passed away it became strangely quiet.

Rooftops were empty of watchers, but a few men remained on the street throughout the fight and cheered when the British fighters, like a swarm of silver bees, darted into the German formation.

One bomber during the raid dived from a great height as anti-aircraft shells burst around it, with screaming whistles on its wings making an appalling din. It dropped four or five bombs, zoomed back and made off with shells breaking behind it.

TREE WAS IN THE WAY

Kansas City, Sept. 11 (AP)—Police interrupted a group of boys chopping down one of Montgali Park's largest elm trees. Their explanation: Outfielders shagging fly balls always were bruising themselves against the huge tree.

Canadian Troops "Well and Cheery"

Ottawa, Sept. 11 (CP)—"Well and cheery" was the word today from Canadian Military Headquarters in London on the Canadian Active Service men in the United Kingdom, according to an announcement from Maj.-Gen. Crerar, chief of the General Staff at National Defence Headquarters.

Gen. Crerar announced receipt of the following message in a cable from Maj.-Gen. P. J. Montague, Senior Military officer at Canadian Military Headquarters in London.

"All ranks are well and cheery while their morale in common with that of every man and woman in this tight little island could not stand higher."

Two Lieutenants Killed in Crash

Three Rivers, Que., Sept. 11—(CP)—Lieut. Russell and Lieut. Tattersall (initials unavailable), both of Toronto, were killed almost instantly today when their car overturned near St. Barthelemy. The two were in training at a military camp here.

There were no witnesses to the accident and the car was found by farmers with the two men pinned under it. The bodies were taken to Louisville where an inquest will be held this afternoon.

CONCENTRATIONS

(Continued from Page One)

Four British planes failed to return.

Air Ministry Communique

Describing operations designed to grapple with Nazi invasion preparations, the Air Ministry News Service said:—

"Another series of raids on the concentrations of barges and other ships lurking in harbors and docks along the French, Belgian and Dutch coasts was delivered in bad weather by the R.A.F. Tuesday night.

"The Calais docks bore the brunt of one of the heaviest attacks. The first salvoes were released over the harbor as dusk was falling. For the next three hours the dock, basins and shipping were heavily pounded.

"One pilot spent an hour over his objectibe, dodging shells and weaving his way in and out of the clouds. Biding his time, the bomb-aimer let go his bombs and the sticks were laid accurately across the docks.

"A clear interval allowed another crew to drop their bombs right along barges massed in the Basin Carnot. As high explosives poured into the packed vessels, which lined the whole east side of the basin and extended three-quarters of the way across it, chunks of the debris were flung into the air.

"Fires began and explosions were going on as the aircraft left.

"The observer of a bomber which was about to release its own missiles saw another raider drop a salvo about the lock gates to the northwest of another basin. A large fire at once broke out.

Debris Thrown in Air

"The report of another pilot read: 'The first bomb was seen to fall on a railway to the south of basin six and debris was thrown into the air. Other bombs except the last two fell in the middle of barges in basin six.'

"Another observer saw a large merchant ship about one mile north of the channel leading to the docks suddenly burst into flames and burn fiercely. Soon the ribs of the ship were visible against the glowing mass.

"Ostend Harbor was bombed from 9 o'clock Tuesday night until nearly 5 o'clock this morning. As at Calais, an intense barrage and thick clouds and mist failed to balk the raiders.

"Repeately sticks of heavy bombs straddled barges lying in the Avant port. The ships were directly hit by a strong section of raiders which attacked the harbor just before midnight and between 3 and 4 o'clock this morning. Heavy explosions in the dock area followed an attack by another wave of bombers.

"The rear gunner of one aircraft replied to the ground defences with several hundred rounds from his gun. Enemy ships in Boulogne Harbor were also bombed."

Bruck Silk Mills Present Yacht To Canadian Gov't

An Eastern Canadian Port, Sept. 11.—(CP)—Lil II, a gleaming white 54-foot yacht, lies in this port today waiting to be turned over to the Minister of National Defence as a gift from Isaac I. Bruck of New York City to the Dominion Government.

Lil II, whose owner is president of Bruck Silk Mills, Ltd., is driven by twin screws, each operated by a 100-horse-power motor, and has accommodation for eight passengers and a crew of three. Capable of 16 knots, the yacht has a cruising radius of 450 miles and is equipped with sending and receiving wireless.

The Government has accepted the ship and Bruck thinks she may be used for coastal patrol work. In the course of a few days she will lose her present name, flag and registry, and later reappear as a unit of the Royal Canadian navy, transformed for war service.

Pilots Make Glide Attacks Through Fierce Barrages

Several Hundred Incendiary Explosives Dropped and Numerous Fires Reported

London, Sept. 11 (CP)—British dive bombers in a spectacular raid on Berlin early today scored direct hits on the Potsdam railway station in the heart of the German capital.

In a special bulletin the Air Ministry said several of the pilots made guiding attacks through a fierce anti-aircraft barrage and found their targets with heavy bombs and several hundred incendiary explosives.

The raid was carried out despite a ground haze which shrouded the city.

Returning pilots reported one particularly large fire and several smaller ones which leaped up after their attacks.

The Air Ministry statement issued Wednesday noon:

"The Potsdam station in the heart of Berlin was repeatedly hit with heavy bombs and several hundred incendiaries when the R.A.F. again raided the German capital last (Tuesday) night. The Potsdam station is one of Berlin's main termini, handling traffic for Magdeburg and southwest Germany.

"Typical of present R.A.F. operations, last night's raid was made by a force of bombers which delivered the attack with great precision. Although there was ground haze over parts of the city, the aircraft located the station and at 11:45 began their attack.

"The pilots of all the machines engaged claimed direct hits on the station and its yards. Several of them made glide attacks through the anti-aircraft barrage. As showers of incendiaries followed the heavy bombs, fires broke out. One fire was particularly large and several smaller ones were seen. The raiders left for home after releasing all their bombs."

Student Registration at Albert College Largest in Several Years

Registration of students at the Albert College for the opening of fall term on Tuesday was the largest in many years it was revealed by college officials this morning. As the junior grades showed a very definite increase in registration, and more were expected they stated although there was a noticeble falling off in the senior grades. The ladies' residence was taxed to capacity for the opening representing the largest co-educational class in the history of the college.

Students now in residence at the college represent practically every part of Canada, including British Columbia, Winnipeg, Quebec and also the United States. One student now enrolled at the college travelled all the way from Chile in South America to attend the local institution of learning.

Donald Wilcox, of Bal Comleau, Quebec, one of the students enrolling for this semester, was aboard the Athenia when she was torpedoed off the British Isles on the first day of the war last year. In company with his mother, Donald, had boarded the ill-fated ship expecting to enroll for the fall term at the Albert College but was forced to return to England after the disaster. The two made the crossing during June with Donald enrolling at the local college.

The fact that the senior grades at the college showed a decrease in attendance at the opening this year was attributed to many of the potential students enlisting with the Army, Navy, or Airforce. Also it was revealed that many of last year's students had answered the call to service for their country.

HITLER

(Continued from Page One)

To attempt to invade this country without gaining mastery of the air, he said, would be "a very hazardous undertaking".

Protected by Shore Batteries.

Nevertheless Germany is preparing for such an invasion. In addition to the barges and vessels moving toward the English Channel under the protection of Nazi batteries on the French shore, there were some preparations being made to carry an invading force from Norwegian harbors, he said.

The next week, he said, "must be regarded as a very important one for us in our history."

He compared the German plan with the attempt of the Spanish armada to invade the British Isles and the later attempt of Napoleon.

"Every man and women must prepare to do his duty, whatever it may be, with special pride and care," he said.

"Our fleet is very powerful . . . our shores are well fortified and well manned, and behind these lines we have a better equipped and far stronger army than we have ever had before."

Not Sure of Time Set.

He said Britain could not be sure when an order for invasion would be given but "it may be launched at any time now on England, Scotland, Ireland or on all three."

If it is to be tried at all, he said, the invasion must, it seems, come soon because of the weather, and because, too, of the constant bombing of the German vessels by the R.A.F.

Everyone of the isles must prepare to do his duty in the face of this invasion, he said. The defence forces have been augmented by the 1,500,000 men of the Home Guard who will fight every inch of the way in every street.

The "indiscriminate" bombings of the Nazi air force were part of a plan to cow the British people.

Little does he (Hitler) know the spirit of the English people," he declared, people whose ancestors started parliamentary government.

What Hitler has done has been to "kindle a fire in British hearts all over the world which will last long after the fires he has set in London."

These fires will last until Hitler's government is "burnt out" of Europe.

The world that is still free "marvels" at the spirit of the citizenry of London in the midst of bombing whose severity may not be foreseen.

The spirit of the people of London, he went on, is a fine message to the men on the British ships at sea.

The victory is to be won "not only for our own time but for the time to come".

JAP ISLAND HIT BY TYPHOON

Tokyo, Sept. 11 (AP)—A typhoon which swept today over Kyushu, southwestern island of Japan proper, killed 22 persons, destroyed 50 houses, disrupted communications and damaged crops.

Ann Sheridan and James Cagney put the "torrid" in the title of their new co-starring picture, "Torrid Zone," action-packed drama of the tropics, opening next at the Capitol

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

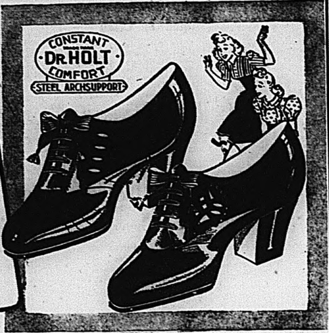
YOU SHOP WITH Confidence AT THE MODERNIZED C.D.S.

3 Big Days — Thursday, Friday, Saturday, Sept. 12, 13, 14

Sale! DR. HOLT TRADE NAME ARCH SUPPORT SHOES

A grand 3-day feature selling of these well known comfort shoes for women. A corrective shoe that comes in tie and oxford styles, in Cuban and comfortable low heel styles. Of kid and calf leathers, black only. Note styles as sketched. Sizes 4 to 9 in the lot.

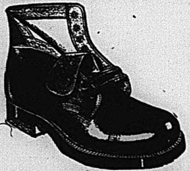
1.98



Men's Work Boots

A sturdy split grained leather work boot, with plain toe, with half bellows tongue, solid leather insoles and sewn and nailed Panco (composition rubber) soles. Here's real value for your money. Sizes 6 to 11. Pair 1.98

Sale! Men's Factory Boots



Of sturdy black box kip leathers, in Blucher cut. Equipped with hard wearing Panco (composition rubber) soles. A boot of medium weight, well suited to the requirements of factory workers. Sizes 6 to 11. Pair

2.39

GOOD VALUE IN WOMEN'S

Everyday Footwear

A saving in footwear that is designed for both house and street wear. In tongueless tie style, with McKay sewn leather soles, with Cuban style leather heels and rubber lifts. In black only. Sizes 4 to 7 in the group. Grand value at, pair

1.59

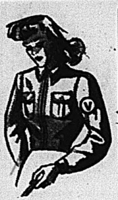
BIG VALUE IN

Growing Girls' Shoes

Regularly 3.95

Blue, black or brown suede leather with popular zipper style slide fastener. Comfortably designed, too, with sewn leather soles, and all leather low heels. An excellent choice for school wear. A and C widths. Pair

2.98



MISSES' WIND REPELLENT

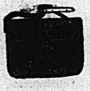
Jackets

Made of firm cotton, specially treated to resist wind and rain. 2 breast pocket style, with elastic shirring at sides. Full length zipper closing. In white or gold color. Sizes 14 - 20 2.98
Main floor, rear

Feature Selling! GIRLS'

Dresses

Sturdy washable English corduroy, in smart two piece effect, with self sash tied at back, with gored skirt. Finished off smartly with Peter Pan Collar, two breast pockets and trimmed with dainty lace edge. Youngsters 7 to 12 years will like them. In scarlet, blue, wine or green. Ea. 2.98
Main floor, rear



School Bags

Smart for boy or girl, styles with strap for carrying over shoulder, or with side handles —solid leather. Of excellent quality. Special, each 89c
— Main floor, centre

SPECIAL PURCHASE!

Better Quality Real Silk Hosiery

pair 79c

Splendid weight real silk hosiery in a sheer chiffon weight, 4-thread and silk right to the top! Full fashioned, too, for ankle flattery and in the wanted shades for Fall wear. Holiday (beige); Sophisticate (soft beige); Dynamic (light tan); Joyous (warm sand); Lively (neutral beige); Flirtatious (smart tan tone); Vanity (sand). Sizes 8½ to 10½ in the group. Save on several pairs for your Fall outfits. Buy Thursday!

Big 3-Day Sale Real Silk Hosiery

pair 39c

Fine, real silk hosiery, in chiffon weight, with seamless style foot. Excellent quality considering this low price. In popular shades of Joyous (tan); Lively (neutral beige); Dynamic (bright tan); Flirtatious (lively tan); Languid (sand beige.) Sizes 8½ to 10½ in the lot.

Big 3-Day Feature of Fresh Candies

Spanish Style Salted Peanuts	lb. 12c
Rum and Butter Toffees	lb. 17c
Toasted Marshmallows	lb. 19c
Fruit Slices - - -	lb. 15c
Cream Ovals - - -	lb. 13c
Cello-wrapped Fruitlets	lb. 13c
Chocolate Delight - -	lb. 13c

Women's Pigtex (Trade Name) Gloves

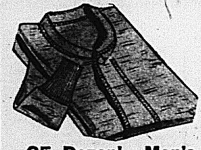
Smart leather gloves made to simulate pigskin leather. Fine quality and smartly sewn and finished. In colors too, that are smart for Fall: wine, white, rust, natural, green or black. Sizes 6 to 7½. Pair 1.25

Special! Waste Baskets

In several handsome designs. Choose to suit your room. About 11¼ inches by 10¼ inches high. Smartly lithographed. Limited quantity. Each 29c
— Main floor, centre

'Kraftex' Double Door Wardrobe

Double door style, with full length cedar-retainer. Made with strong fasteners, with wood trim top and bottom. Unusually good value. Each 1.67
— Main floor, centre



25 Dozen! Men's Fine Dress Shirts

each 1.19

Well tailored shirts, of high count cotton broadcloths, made with popular "Spearized" attached collars for neat appearance. An excellent range of patterns, including checks, stripes, etc. In blues, tans, greys. Sizes 14 to 17 in the lot. Buy a half dozen at this low sale price! Come early for better selection!

Grand Assortment of Cotton and Linen Pieces

Linen Runners, Cotton Doilies, Linen Doilies, Cotton and Linen Guest Towels, and a host of other useful pieces that add to the home, and represent substantial savings. Some in ecrue, some in cream or white, while others have bits of color by way of decoration. Come early for selection from this grand assortment. Each or Set

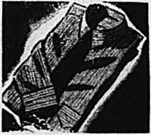
1.00

Men! Seconds In Combination Underwear

Just in time for cooler days! Odd lines of men's fine cotton rib combinations, mostly in button front style, ankle length legs, with long and short sleeves. Stock up now for Fall weather. Sizes 36 to 46 in the lot. Suit

98c

—Men's Store, left



LOOK! 54" COTTON

Lace Cloths

Only 1.00 each for these—and they are beauties, too! In pretty dark colored net, with neat designs in centre and around edges. Excellent size of 54" x 54". Special, each 1.00
— Second floor

36-INCH STRIPE

Flannelette

Splendid weight and weave, with soft, thick nap. A quality that should give excellent service, for nighties, etc. Special, yard 27c

Special Feature!

OVAL COVERED ENAMEL

Roasters

Give one to the bride as a shower gift! Have one yourself. In speckled blue enamelware . . . with self-basting cover. Well-and-tree bottom catches gravy. About 8" x 12" x 5½". Holds about 6-lb. fowl, or 5-lb. roast. Special, ea. 59c

SALE OF

Stew Kettles

About 5-quart capacity, of heavy grey enamelware. With canning season right at its height you'll find excellent use for just such an article. Special, each 49c

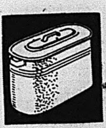
Copper Boilers

(Slightly Damaged)

Though slightly damaged they are excellent value at this price. Popular size, complete with tin lid. Come early for this feature. Special, each

1.39

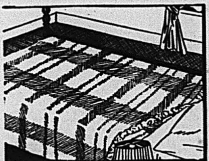
—Basement

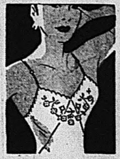


Look! 70" x 80" Flannelette Blankets

Popular checked affairs, in rose, blue, green, mauve or gold color, on creamy white grounds. Whipped singly and finished with plenty of nap for warmth and comfort. Note size of 70" x 80". Save on several pairs!

98c each





SLEEK RAYON TAFFETA

Slips

Bias cut styles, one style with rayon satin applique and embroidery trimmings, the other with dainty lace trimmings. In white, tearose, mauve, or nile green. Sizes 34 to 38. Each 39c
— Main floor, rear

ALL ELASTIC

Girdles

Good length girdle to give added support in controlling waist and hips. In tearose only. Sizes small, medium and large. Special, each 69c
— Main floor, rear

KIDDIES'

Aprons

Pretty little Drindl styles, with bib—of cotton print, in colorful prints. Sizes 2-4-6-8 years. Special, each 29c
— Main floor, rear

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Probabilities

. Moderate westerly winds; cloudy and cool with light scattered showers. Friday, moderate west to south west winds; fair and cool.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 12, 1940

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	60	45
Year ago	64.2	46

Weather cloudy.

**

POWDER PLANT NEAR DOVER N. J. EXPLODES

Delayed Action Bomb Found in Precincts of Historic St. Paul's Cathedral

R.A.F. Bombs Templehof Airdrome in Berlin

Anhalter Railway Station Attacked With Heavy Bombs

R. A. F. Pilots Press Home Attacks by Light of Parachute Flares

London Sept. 12.—(CP)— The Royal Air Force struck again at Berlin last night by bombing the Anhalter railway station, in the heart of the city, and the Templehof Airdrome, the Air Ministry announced today.

The Ministry said the British fliers reached Berlin shortly before midnight and were soon dropping their bombs. A large railway yard south of the Potsdam station was "straddled" by heavy calibre explosives and incendiary bombs.

The Anhalter station near the Potsdam station, was attacked by a raider who evaded searchlights and the anti-aircraft barrage, the communique said, and station buildings and tracks were hit.

Evade Searchlights

At five minutes past midnight another raider, evading searchlights and the anti-aircraft barrage curtaining the city, attacked the Anhalter station near Potsdam station. In a series of runs over the target this raider bombed the station buildings and tracks.

The following raiders pressed home the attack. By the light of parachute flares dropped from high above the city's centre repeatedly salvos of bombs were seen to strike the yards of two stations.

An anti-aircraft battery in the Tiergarten, Berlin's Hyde Park, was bombed and another raider turned south and dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on the Templehof Airdrome, Berlin's main airport and former military parade ground.

One of our aircraft flying 8,000 feet above the city was hit by a shell fragment which pierced the cowling of one engine and narrowly missed the oil tank, but all the aircraft engaged in the attack on Berlin returned safely to their bases.

Eighty-Nine Nazi Planes Shot Down In Night's Raids

Eighty-nine German aircraft were shot down over Britain yesterday (Wednesday), the fourth most successful day for British fighters and gunners since Aug. 15.

A tabulation of the days since Aug. 13 when 75 or more Nazi aircraft have been shot down follows:

	German	British
Aug. 13	78	13
Aug. 15	180	34
Aug. 16	75	22
Aug. 18	152	22
Aug. 31	88	37
Sept. 7	103	24
Sept. 11	89	24

Evening Standard Published as Usual

London, Sept. 12 (CP)—Blasted by a German bomb explosion, Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard quickly appeared on the streets today and jibed at the Nazi attack.

Prominently displayed was a four-column cartoon by the newspapers noted caricaturist, David Low, picturing a Cockney newsboy crying the Standard as usual alongside a bill board which read:

"Bomb severely damaged in Shoe Lane!"

The newspaper's offices are in Shoe Lane, just off Fleet Street.

The cartoon pictures Goering and Goebbels carrying "der Berlin liar" with flaring headlines "Fleet Street Bombed! British Press Wiped Out!"—and looking with pained surprise at the London newsboy.

The Daily Herald, also damaged by a bomb explosion, was published within a few hours of the attack.

Moon and Tide In Hitler's Favor For Several Days

London, Sept. 12 (CP)—The moon and tide will be in Hitler's favor for several days running next week if he should try to invade Britain.

Authoritative sources, basing their predictions on the nautical almanac, said the highest tide for the period is scheduled for 1:03 p.m. Wednesday, Sept. 18, induced by a full moon Monday. Wednesday's high tide at Dover is expected to reach 18 feet, six inches, compared with a low of 14 feet.

A four-foot margin, these sources remarked, "makes an awful lot of difference." It would, for example, enable some boats to get perhaps a quarter mile closer to shore.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 12 —(CP)—Synopsis: The weather has been unusually cool over Ontario with showers in many districts. It has been fair over the Prairie Provinces, warm yesterday in Saskatchewan and Alberta also higher temperature in Manitoba.

Lake Superior: Moderate northwest to southwest winds; fair. Friday—Moderate to fresh winds; partly cloudy with light scattered showers and not much change in temperature.

Manitoba: Fair and cool tonight and Friday.

Saskatchewan: Fair today and Friday; quite cool tonight.

Alberta: Fair today and Friday; cool tonight.

Victoria	60	68	52
Calgary	47	76	47
Edmonton	49	72	47
Winnipeg	43	68	43
Saulte Ste. Marie ..	47	50	46
Toronto	51	59	47
Ottawa	46	61	42

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Old and new! In a treatise on the weather written in 1846, no mention was made of weather maps, but in 1875 another writer describes them and writes enthusiastcally of the U.S. Weather Bureau established in 1870. He also, curiously enough and far-sightedly, advised that the weather service use steamers at sea for observations and aeronauts for the upper air. For sometime, the U.S. Weather Bureau has been enjoying the co-operation of vessels all over the world in gathering observations at sea and now has vessels employed especially for weather purposes. As to the other suggeston, observations have been taken for some time in airplanes, and balloons equipped with self-reporting instruments are also in regular use.

Britain to Stick to "Army Way" Of Bringing the Enemy Down

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—Despite the fact that German air raiders are wantonly bombing civilians and non-military objectives in Great Britain, the Royal Air Force will not resort to similar tactics against German civilians, Air Marshal Sir Philip Joubert said Wednesday in an address broadcast by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

Britain, he said, will stick to the "army way" of bringing an enemy down. It will strike at enemy lifelines, factories which supply munitions and war materials and its bases.

"For this reason, and not as retaliation, we will continue to bomb Berlin, Bremen, Hamburg and numerous other cities and towns in the Ruhr region of Germany," Sir Philip said.

He said targets for Royal Air Force planes would continue to be Berlin's numerous factories of munitions and war materials, Hamburg's port and factories and other industrial towns and cities.

"We prefer German targets to those in France—we are loathe to bomb military objectives in France—but naturally we will continue to blast all military targets anywhere."

Sir Philip warned that air raids were expected to continue this winter. "Most Americans believe our little island is shrouded in fog all winter," he said. "This is a wrong impression.

Fog Rare in November.

"During the whole winter there are no more than 40 or 50 days which will make bombing impossible because of fog. Fog is rare except in November and early spring and there is much more fog in northern Italy than around England."

As for the invasion of Great Britain, Sir Philip believed Britain's armed forces would repel any attempt.

"We have heard lately of a fantastic plan by Hitler to invade our island," he said. "He is reported to be building a tunnel under the English Channel. Well, we don't mind if Hitler wishes to waste his time in such a venture. Anyway, we have no indication of any such plan.

"As for an attempt to bridge the Channel with boats, I believe the wind would prevent this. A breeze of 20 to 30 miles would kick up the channel so much as to make impossible such an attempt.

"Hitler's other plan might be to drop troops by parachute to establish a bridgehead on the southeast coast of England and then ferry troops across the channel.

"Germany needs air superiority to do this, and she has not got it. In any event, we are ready for the invasion and, as a matter of fact, the people are anxiously awaiting it, confident they can repel the Nazi legions."

SCREEN OF FIRE AROUND LONDON IS NEW TACTIC

Fifth Successive Dusk-to-Dawn Raid Over London Wednesday Night Causes Little Damage

SOME FIRES STARTED

Units of British Fleet Take Offensive to Smash German Preparations for Attempted Invasion

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—German warplanes attacked London in unprecedented numbers in the capital's fifth successive duck-to-dawn raid today, but were scatterd by a screen of fire and iron as Britain's defenders braced to meet an hourly-expected sea-born invasion.

Inspired by German threats to dump 10,000 plane-loads of explosives on the London area, the city's anti-aircraft batteries threw up the screen of fire around the capital in a new tactic. Although the Nazis attacked again and again over a period of nine hours, only about twenty bombs exploded in the centre of the city.

A government statement said the barrage had prevented many bombers from reaching their objectives and said the raid had proved "less effective' 'than those on the four preceding nights.

The communique said fires had been started in a number of buildings by incendiary bombs and reported that "two hospitals, many houses and some small factories" were damaged. It said, however, a great number of incendiary bombs were extinguished by air raid wardens before they could start fires.

The government said "it is probable" the number of killed and injured was less than on the four previous nights of dusk-to-dawn raiding.

No Damage Reported

Seven bombs fell about 100 yds. from the entrance to a famous London prison, but no damage was reported.

Little night raiding was reported elsewhere in Britain, although a lone German plane dropped four bombs in the industrial Midlands.

Units of the British fleet were reported officially to have taken the offensive in an attempt to smash German preparations for the long-threatened invasion, which Prime Minister Churchill warned yesterday could be expected at any moment.

The Admiralty said Nazi shipping and ports vital to an invasion attempt had been bombarded from the sea, but declared it could not give details without disclosing in-

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Small Investor Needed To Put Canada's War Loan 'Over the Top'

Big guns cannot win a war alone. If Britain were left with nothing but her huge guns to guard her coasts, the enemy invasion would be over almost as soon as it started.

A brilliant General once said the infantryman is the backbone of the army. Without the foot-soldier and his rifle, wars would be of short duration. A bullet in the proper place is much more effective than a large-calibre shell that falls into the sea. Not that the large ammunition has not its place in modern warfare. It has. It blazes the way for the smaller guns, and creates an effect that spurs the infantryman on to ultimate victory.

Such is Canada's War Loan. The small investor, the man of small means is the infantry in the drive. Industry and business, the "big guns" have already blazed the way with generous contributions, but the efforts of the people of small incomes are like the infantry, urgently needed. They must not be misled and brought to believe that the large contributions of business will over-subscribe the $300,000,000 Loan. The rifle bullets of Canada's private wealth are needed to lay down a barrage of dollars that will send the Loan driving "over the top" in a blaze of financial glory.

There are one and one-half billions of dollars in savings banks throughout the Dominion. Thus it is seen the loan is within easy competence of people of small incomes. It is to them that Canada is appealing now. As Finance Minister J. L. Ilsley stated yesterday, "It is well to recall that in lending their aid in this way, our people are making the safest investment which is available in Canada today, and at the same time they help defend their whole way of life."

The small investor is as imperative to the success of any loan as are the rifles of the infantryman to the victory of any military campaign. As in wartime, a concerted effort of all branches of the service is of vital importance if success is to be achieved.

ATTEMPT MADE TO BLOW-UP MINE SAYS G. CONANT

Attorney-General Says Six Sticks of Smouldering Dynamite Found Near Kerr-Addison Mine

PROBE IS OPENED

Toronto, Sept. 12—(CP)—Attorney-General Gordon Conant of Ontario said today an attempt was made to blow up the Kerr-Addison gold mine at Larder Lake yesterday. He said six sticks of smouldering dynamite were found near a vital spot and the mine likely would have been crippled if an explosion had taken place.

The Larder Lake mine is in the Timiskaming district of Northern Ontario.

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

GREEK STEAMER LIMPS INTO PORT

Several Holes Punctured in Bow by Collision With Norwegian Tanker

Hoboken, N.J., Sept. 12 —(AP)—The Greek liner Nea Hellis, her bow agape with several holes punctured in a harbor collision with a tanker, limped into port today from Lisbon, Portugal, with 500 Jewish refugees from 30 nations.

Two hours before, the 16,991-ton vessel had been in collision with the 5,356-ton Norwegian tanker Litiopa near Staten Island .

Witnesses said a large hole reaching from the waterline to the deck was torn in the bow of the tanker, as the two vessels struck after vain manoeuvres to avert the collision.

Included in the refugees were 88 from France, 85 from Germany, and 56 from Poland.

George Kessel, former foreign correspondent for Paris Soir, told his anecdote of the absorption of the paper by the Germans:

"The staff left the paper June 13. The Germans took it over the next day. An elevator operator hired by the paper 18 months before immediately was named chief editor of the paper by them. He was an Alsatian and a spy—a fifth columnist."

AIRPORTS, DOCKS IN LIBYA DAMAGED BY BR. AIRCRAFT

Large Blazes Started in Several Places

ENEMY INTERCEPTED

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 12 (AP). — British aircraft have damaged Italian military airports and destroyed dock facilities in a series of bombing attacks on Libyan objectives, it was announced today.

Large blazes were started among docks and hangars at Derna and four fires sprang up when bombs were dropped on Amseat. Several fires also were started at Bardia.

Italian bombers which attempted to raid the Alexandria-Mersa Matruh railroad in Egypt again were intercepted by British fighters.

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

Barrel of War Relic Crushes Young Girl

Montague, P.E.I., Sept. 12 (CP).—The barrel of an old trench mortar, a relic of the first great war, fell on six-year-old Margaret Duncan, killing her almost instantly yesterday She and some companions had been playing around the gun in front of school during recess.

"WHITE" FRENCH PRISONERS REAP GERMAN HARVEST

Vichy, France, Sept. 12 (AP). — The German army is removing only "white French" war prisoners to Germany, leaving in war prisons in occupied France an estimated 400,000 Senegalese, Algerians, other colonials and Jews, it was learned today. Information from escaped or released prisoners is that French enlisted men, estimated at nearly 2,000,000, are being used in German harvest and other labor, whereas French officers are being held in prison camps.

CAR HIT BY TRAIN

Brockville, Ont., Sept. 12 (CP).—Miss Eileen Sadley, high school student, was injured to an undetermined extent, believed not seriously, when an automobile in which she was proceeding to her home in the rural district of Brockville, was struck by a Canadian National Railways freight train last evening at a level crossing a short distance east of here.

Her brother, Morris Sadler, driver of the car was unhurt. The car was wrecked.

WORKMEN TAKE LIVES IN HANDS TO SAVE CHURCH

Masterpiece of 17th Century Architecture, Designed by Sir Christopher Wren, Menaced by Fire a Few Days Ago

AREA ROPED OFF

Dean of Cathedral, on Advice of Police, Leaves Building Until Bomb Destroyed

London, Sept. 12.—(CP)—A delayed action bomb similar to that which exploded Tuesday in a wing of Buckingham Palace has been found in the precincts of historic St. Paul's Cathedral in the heart of London.

St. Paul's, masterpiece of the 17th Century Architect, Sir Christopher Wren, was menaced by fire a few days ago when German air raiders dropped incendiary bombs on warehouses nearby. Its great dome, modeled after that of St. Peter's in Rome, is a London landmark.

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

BELGIUM STEAMER IS TORPEDOED

Fifth Vessel of Eight Sold by U.S. Line to Belgium to be Sunk

New York, Sept. 12—(AP)—The steamship Ville De Mons, 7,430 tons, formerly the American Shipper of the United States Lines, has been torpedoed and sunk off the British Isles.

The United States Lines, which made the announcement, said she is the fifth vessel lost of the eight ships sold by the Lines last February to the Societe Maritime Anversoise, a Belgium company.

The Ville De Mons left New York Aug. 24 for Liverpool and Glasgow. It is believed she was sunk Sept. 1, the day after the Ville De Hasselt another of the eight, was torpedoed off Ireland. No report has been received on the crew of either vessel.

A 436-foot cargo-passenger ship, the Ville De Mons was built at Hog Island in 1921, and carried a crew of about 70.

CAROL NEARS BARCELONA

Madrid, Sept. 12 (AP)—Former King Carol of Rumania arrived today at Port Bou, on the French-Spanish border, and is expected in Barcelona tonight.

Fifty Casualties Taken to Hospital Following Blasts

Explosions Heard 50 Miles from Where Blasts Occurred

Dover, N.J., Sept. 12—(AP)—Observers said "at least 50" casualties were brought to Dover General Hospital this afternoon after two explosions at the Hercules Powder Plant at Kenvil, five miles away.

Hospital attendants said the casualties were so numerous "we can't keep track of them."

Reports from Kenvil said fire had broken out at the plant and was raging so severely that firemen could not combat it. Long distance operators at Newark reported that telephone communication with Kenvil, a town of slightly more than 900 population, was cut off.

Police said two heavy blasts were felt at 1.30 p.m. EDT which broke windows in several homes. At Lake Hopatcong, householders reported that houses shook with the tremors.

Dover hospital attendants said all available doctors, nurses and ambulances had been called out. State police officials sent 25 troopers to the scene.

The Herculese power plant employs 220 persons in the manufacture of dynamite and smokeless powder.

The explosion was heard all through Westchester County, just above New York City, and some 50 miles from where the blast occurred.

Telephone switchboards were swamped with calls from persons who heard the explosion and felt the earth tremble.

GERMAN CONVOYS ATTACKED

London, Sept. 12.—(CP) — Two German convoys were attacked by British bombers off the French coast yesterday while other squadrons attacked barge concentrations and docks and shipping in widespread raids on German held territory, the Air Ministry announced today.

Life in London Now Going on About as Normally as Peacetime

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—Despite the most widespread bombings any major city in the world ever underwent, life in London is going on about as normally as in peacetime, the British Broadcasting Corporation reported Wednesday.

Londoners continue their pleasures in their leisure time as if they never heard of a swastika-marked airplane, an incendiary or high explosive bomb. Things are pretty much the same as usual.

Air raids came in quick succession Wednesday, and at a "rather inconvenient hour" for Londoners as they were returning home from business. When they got there later, they found a "cold plate" awaiting them and that was about the most provoking thing that did happen during the day, the B.B.C. said.

However, good natured motorists, drivers of motor lorries and even drivers of horse-vans, all co-operating with the Automobile Association's suggestion that they should give lifts to people whenever and wherever they could, came to the rescue of many a Londoner.

Clerks and typists, picked up on their way home by drivers of horse vans, sat on the dusty floors and read their newspapers as if they had been at home in an easy chair. These lifts were enjoyed by Londoners as much as if they had been riding on a train, street car or a bus.

Always Have Audience.

Men working on craters in Piccadilly and Oxford, did not work alone—they had an audience. Crowds of people gathered around and watched them at their repairs and at the same time chatted of the incidents of "last night's air raids" in the casual manner of which a Londoner alone is capable.

However, their conversations were short-lived, for another air raid siren wailed through the city and the audience dispersed rapidly to shelters.

It's not all "dodging and ducking", though. People still spend their spare time in cinemas, theatres and restaurants. They insist that "Jerry" is not going to deprive them of their pleasures.

Bus drivers and conductors with their wisecracks keep passengers constantly in high good humor.

Managers of theatres and cinemas report that persons who come to these places for the evenings are usually prepared for "a night of it". One cinema manager said:

"During the past two or three nights, people have taken to the cinemas with them, blankets, mattresses, food and flasks of coffee or tea. We are working all night now," he continued, "and the people sleep soundly."

PREMIER SMUTS GIVES WARNING TO OPPOSITION

Certain Individuals Will be Dealt With Severely for Hostile Attitude

SOME FAVOR NAZIS

Gen. Hertzog, Opposition Leader, Has Demanded Several Times S. A. Make Peace With Dictators

Cape Town, Sept. 12.—(CP) — Premier Jan Christian Smuts last night called the public's attention to certain opposition party members in the Legislative Assembly "who are adopting a view of hostility" toward Britain, and warned that the government of the Union of South Africa will not hesitate to invoke extraordinary war powers against them.

Persons attempting to stir up anti-British sentiment or hamper

(Continued on Page Three)

Quick Enactment Of Conscription Bill Is Expected

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP)—Quick enactment of peacetime conscription for men from 21 through 35 was believed near today as a joint Senate and House Committee met to draft its report on a compromise compulsory military training bill.

The report will go to both Houses for final action, and the congressional consensus was that it would be promptly accepted—perhaps before the weekend.

Scuttling a House of Representatives provision for a 60-day delay in the draft, and compromising differences on the vital question of age limits, the six Senators and five House members reached an agreement last night on a common version of the legislation which both branches of congress previously approved in different forms.

The Senate had fixed the age bracket at from 21 through 30, the House from 21 through 44. At the suggestion of Senator Elbert Thomas (Dem-Utah) the conferees made the maxium age 35.

Thus, when and if the bill finally becomes law, approximately 16,500,000 men will be called upon to register for service. When the physically unfit, those with dependents and those who hold essential jobs in industry or agriculture are weeded out, army officials estimated 5,000,000 men would be eligible for a year's intensive training.

Brilliant Student To Study at McGill

Calgary, Sept. 12 —(CP)— John Whittaker, 17-year-old Calgary high school graduate who won scholarships to Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., McGill University, Montreal, and the University of Alberta, at Edmonton, has decided to take civil engineering at McGill.

He accepted the Canadian Pacific Railway Scholarship which provides four years' free tuition at McGill.

Coming Events

RUMMAGE SALE, AUSPICES ST. Michael's Altar Society, Saturday, Sept. 14, store formerly occupied by Eaton's Groceteria. Call 1348 for truck pick-up. S12-1t

THE REGULAR MONTHLY meeting of the Women's Conservative Association will be held in the Club Rooms, Friday, Sept. 13th, at 8 p.m. Good program. S12-1t

HARVEST HOME TEA AND home cooking sale, Bridge Street Church, tomorrow, Friday, 3 - 6. Auspices Women's Association. Miss Corbett's and Mrs. Mosher's unit. Come. S12-1t

Mr. Small Investor! Help Canada — Buy War Loan Bonds!

PROMPT DELIVERY — 8 A.M. to 9.30 P.M.
CALL 131
In Sickness and Health You Will Always Find
GEEN'S I. D. A. DRUG STORE
Give You Efficient and Friendly Drug Store Service

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

NAVY APPLICATIONS ARE ACCEPTED

Applications of two local young men were accepted by the Royal Canadian Navy, it was learned here today. The two boys are John Gardner, 18-year-old son of Inspector and Mrs. Frank Gardner of this city, and G. William Spring, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Spring, 124 Chatham Street. The boys received instructions to report for duty at Kingston on Monday next. They expect to receive their naval training with the R.C.N. at either Halifax or Vancouver.

TORONTO MOTORISTS PAY SPEEDING FINES

Three Toronto motorists paid speeding fines in Magistrate Butler's weekly traffic court held at the Court House this morning. Charges of speeding were preferred by Motorcycle Patrolman H. Caldwell against James Lamb, Reginald Lansdell and Strathy Smith, all of Toronto. The trio pleaded guilty in writing and did not appear today, as did George Harpell of Kingston. The minimum fine was imposed in each incident.

A Point Anne juvenile was committed to the Bowmanville Boys' Training School by Magistrate E. J. Butler today and later given in to the custody of Inspector T. D. Ruston of the C.A.S.

The boy's father was present during the proceedings and agreed with the court regarding the disposition of the case. The youth had pleaded guilty to the theft of a sum of money from his grandmother, when he appeared in a previous court.

GENEROUS DISPLAY OF MELONS OFFERED

Prices remained steady on the Belleville mid-week market on Thursday morning with pears selling at 45c per basket and gages and plums at 40c. Peaches held at Tuesday's price of 45c for No. 1's and 35c for No. 2's.

Cooking apples sold at $1.00 per bushel or at 30c per peck, while crabapples were held at 20c per basket. Corn was 25c per dozen ears. Tomatoes 15c for six-quart and 30 for eleven-quart baskets or at 70c per bushel. Strawberry tomatoes sold at 45c per basket. Potatoes held at the usual price of 25c per peck or at 85c to 90c per bushel.

A rather generous display of melons was offered with muskmelons selling at 25c downward and watermelons at 30c downward. Bunched vegetables were offered at the usual prices.

EIGHTY-SEVEN PARADES STAGED AT C. N. E.

During the engagement which they have just completed at the Toronto Exhibition, the Trenton R.C.A.F. Band staged 87 different parades, a job which was "no fooling," according to their band master, upon the arrival of the band back at their station on Wednesday.

The entire personnel of the band were much enthused about the reception received during their performances at the exhibition but expressed their pleasure in getting back to their station again after the strenuous two weeks' engagement.

The Trenton R.C.A.F. Band is recognized as one of the foremost military bands in Canada and officials of the Trenton station are particularly proud of their performance and the prestige they have won on their many public performances. They are justifiably proud, because the personnel of the band is made up entirely of volunteers. Every member of the band is a regular tradesman or flying officer at the Trenton station and practising is done largely on the personnel's own time and at their own expense.

INQUEST ADJOURNED

The inquest looking into the death of James Brownson, 65-year-old Corbyville farmer, opened at the Belleville Burial Parlors before Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson here today and following identification the proceedings was adjourned until Sept. 17th.

The late James Brownson died in the Belleville General Hospital early today after having been hit with an automobile driven by Earl Woodcock, Tweed, near Honeywell's Corners on Sunday. According to police investigations at the time the late Mr. Brownson stepped from behind a parked automobile on highway and directly into the path of Mr. Woodcock's motor car, a fractured leg and skull resulted.

Identification was made today by J. W. Imlah of this city while Sergeant Arthur Booth impanelled the following as coroner's jury: Messrs. George O. Tice, foreman, M. Wright, Reg. Arnott, K. J. Colling and Fred Wiggins.

SOME RURAL SCHOOLS IN N. HASTINGS UNABLE TO GET TEACHERS

A number of rural public schools in the northern part of Hastings County are not functioning this year owing to the inability of trustees to secure teachers, a northern county educationist told the Ontario Intelligencer yesterday.

Enlistment of young men teachers in the country's fighting forces has been a main factor in the dearth of teachers, while the small salaries offered, through no fault of the trustees, has also been instrumental in teachers being scarce.

City of Belleville Appeal Dismissed By Court of Appeal

The Court of Appeal in Toronto dismissed the appeal of the City of Belleville against the judgment of Judge C. A. Cameron awarding the plaintiff, Mrs. C. Reeves of this city, damages for injuries sustained, when the case was heard this week in Toronto. The injuries resulted when Mrs. Reeves' heel caught in a depression in the sidewalk on West Bridge St., on Oct. 2nd, 1939.

In County Court here His Honor Judge Cameron found Mrs. Reeves was guilty of contributory negligence and found her one-third to blame and the Court of Appeal allowed Mrs. Reeves cross appeal whereby her judgment is increased from $474.51 to $711.77.

Charles A. Payne, K.C., of Belleville, appeared for Mrs. Reeves, while J. L. G. Keogh appeared for the City of Belleville.

The Appeal Court judges were Judges Riddle, Anderson and McTague.

Heavy Demand Across Border For Holsteins

American demand for pure-bred Holstein-Friesian cattle bred in Hastings and Prince Edward counties has been so consistent during the past summer that many breeders of this district are considering the possibilities of raising these cattle exclusively for the "south of the border" markets, Dunham Foster, secretary of the Belleville and District Holstein Breeders Association declared yesterday.

Mr. Foster, who judged dairy breed cattle at the Marmora Fair, took time out from his duties, to say that upwards of three hundred head of this breed of cattle had already been shipped to breeders in northern New York, and other states of the union. Prices has been consistent and have ranged between one hundred and one hundred and fifty dollars per head. The heaviest demand has been for young cows and springers, although in isolated cases buyers have purchased young bulls.

In supplying the American market with these cattle, district breeders are doing their share in aiding in solving the foreign exchange problems of Canada. Mr. Foster said, besides making way for additional breeding room in their particular district.

Another large shipment of cattle is expected to leave the district for the U.S.A. next week.

District Loyalty Demonstrated As Thousands Gather to View 1940 Edition of Marmora Fair

Despite Suspension of Gov't. Grant Fair One of Best Ever Held

SPLENDID EXHIBITS

Marmora, Sept. 12 (Special). — Loyalty of the rural population of Hastings and her sister counties to their county fair directors has not waned, despite the fact that governmental grants have been suspended. That was exemplified here yesterday when upwards of two thousand people, reminiscent of the "good old days", crowded the Marmora Agricultural Society grounds on the second day of the annual Marmora Fair.

And more striking is the fact that the Norwood, Brighton and Oshawa exhibitions were going on at the same time. These instances, however, did not shake the loyalty of Hastings County rural residents as they turned out in large numbers to enjoy the 1940 edition of the local fair.

The fact that inroads were made upon the general display of exhibits by other fairs did not matter. Directors stated that the number of entries had been cut considerably by other exhibitions, but this did not stop the large gathering from having its annual good time.

75 Head of Cattle Shown.

At that the displays in all phases of the fair were good. Upwards of seventy-five head of dairy and beef cattle paraded before the judges. There were draft horses, light draft horses, proud carriage pairs, singles and other equine exhibits. Proud representatives of a dozen and one different poultry breeds, turkeys, ducks, geese and other feathered entries vied for championship honors in an outstanding exhibit.

Pounding hoofs thudded on the turf track as standard-breds fought it out for the supremacy of their various races. A splendid card was offered to race-lovers, and each heat was well raced and hard-fought.

Entertainmet For All.

There was entertainment for everybody. On a raised dais in the grounds, old-timers fiddled the tunes that brought fond memories back to graying heads. Dancers step-danced their way to victory or defeat, while a large crowd vented their appreciation in loud applause. Stalwart sons of the northland made steel bite through wood in a log sawing exhibition that not only brought out the capabilities of Hastings County woodsmen but the appreciation of those who witnessed the exhibition of speed, skill and endurance.

School children of the district likewise played their parts. Sweet-voiced youngsters from Marmora, Cordova and Bonarlaw public schools, showing the results of fine training, sang vocal choruses in a manner befitting songsters of longer and more varied experience. Later the youngsters demonstrated their athletic abilities in a program of sports that entertained a large crowd of excited parents and other grownups.

A vaudeville program that included singing, dancing and novelty numbers was one of the highlights of the fair. Some splendid talent was paraded before the critical gaze of the audience and prolonged applause greeted each number. "Curly" Gibson acted as master of ceremonies.

Children's Exhibit Popular.

An outstanding feature of the fair was the children's exhibit in one of the main buildings. Evincing the admiration of the large crowd was the display of model aircraft. An amphibian machine, complete with motor, that measured four feet in length and was complete in every detail, caught the eye of admiring spectators. This was the handiwork of Donald Prentice, Marmora youth who also exhibited other models including one of a Mississippi steamboat, and a steam and sail liner of the old days. Other children's exhibits included cleverly done posters, historical pageants in clay, maps, school work, penmanship, composition, art, leaf collections and many other exhibits.

In another building the ladies held sway with a fine display of flowers, home cooking, vegetables, preserves and handiwork. The fruit and vegetable exhibit was well worth seeing.

The fine workmanship of Hastings County cheese makers was exemplified in the small but excellent display of cheese. The high scoring denoted that county cheesemen have lost none of their ability in producing the finest quality products made in Ontario. Butter exhibits were good and as in the cheese display, judges were taxed in making final awards.

Officers and directors are:—

Officers: President, Irwin McCoy; 1st Vice President, T. J. Bateman; 2nd Vice President, Allan McComb; Secretary-Treasurer, H. W. Sabine.

Directors: Well. Billings, Geo. Wellman, Roy Brown, Raymond Bonter, Wm. Pack, John Finnegan, Thos. E. Neal, John Doyle, George Davidson, Vincent Lynch, W. A. Sanderson.

Prizewinners included:—

Cheese:

Special — Open to Hastings County only: Bert Anderson, Madoc R. R. 3, 97.9; Roy Brown, Bonarlaw, 96.9; Bert Jones, Tweed R. R. 1, 96.7; John Finnegan, Marmora, 96.4.

Butter:

Best 5-pounds Whey—John Finnegan, Marmora; Bert Anderson, Madoc R. 3.

Best 5-pounds Dairy—Stewart Mitchell, Wooler; Mrs. Ira Lowe, Ida, Ont.

Three-pound Roll—S. Mitchell, Wooler; Mrs. I. Lowe, Ida.

Three-pound Prints—Mrs. I. Lowe, Ida; S. Mitchell, Wooler.

Three-pound Whey—John Finnegan, Marmora; Bert Anderson, Madoc R. 3.

School Singing. Pupils' Chorus:

Bonarlaw, Miss Marion Richardson, teacher; Marmora, G. Davis; Cordova, M. Bonter.

Result of horse races at Marmora Fair:

2.20 Class

Peter J., J. Sullivan, Peterboro 1 1 1
Isolee Harvester, G. L. Reid Thomasburg 2 2 2
Rosedale Grattan, A. Polly, Roseneath 3 3 3

Free For All

Ginger Direct, Eddie Jones Hastings 1 1 1
Axeworthy Grattan, S. Dunford, Peterboro 1 2 2

School Sports

Girls' 8 and under: 1 Edith Archer, 2 Ina Hamilton, 3 Eunice Hamilton.

Girls' 6 and under: 1 Margaret Price, 2 Joan Shannon, 3 Marjorie Price.

Girls' 12 and under: 1 Blanche Young, 2 Betty Cooney, 3 Thelma McCurdy.

Girls' open: 1 Thelma McCurdy, 2 Mary Shannon, 3 Jane Paraniuk.

Girls' three legged race: 1 Annie Paraniuk and Patsy Cowan, 2 Mary Shannon and Monica McGrath, 3 Isobel Richardson and Beulah Barnett.

Boys' 6 and under: 1 John Shannon, 2 Tom Wiley, 3 Ted Bonter.

Boys' 8 and under: 1 Joseph Young, 2 Bobbie Sweet, 3 Donald Bowen.

Boys' 12 and under: 1 Charles Loveless, 2 Bobby Nayler, 3 Paul Maloney.

Boys' 300 feet dash, open: 1 Murney Kennedy, 2 Clifford Heath, 3 Leo Maloney.

Boys' wheelbarrow race: 1 Leo Maloney and Paul Maloney, 2 Tom Solmes and Clifford Heath, 3 Bobby Nayler and Don McNutt.

Boys' three legged race: 1 Leo Maloney and Clarence Shannon, 2 Murney Kennedy and Junior Youmans, 3 Paul Maloney and Patrica Shannon.

Broad jump, open: 1 Leo Maloney, 2 Don McNutt, 3 Murney Kennedy.

Hop step and jump: 1 Junior Youmans, 2 Leo Maloney, 3 Bill Kouri.

To Raise Funds For $25,000 Gift To Canadian Gov't

In co-operation with the Catholic Women's League throughout Canada which has promised the Dominion Government the gift of $25,000 to be used in any way the government desires, for war purposes, the members of the Belleville subdivision have made plans to raise their quota of this sum.

Through the assistance of Grand Knight George Lee and the Knights of Columbus, two nights of bingo will be held in the Moose Auditorium next week for this purpose. The Moose organization has very generously donated their hall, free of charge.

OBITUARY

MRS. WALTER HARRISON

(Thomasburg)

After a lengthy illness Mrs. Charlotte Harrison, wife of Mr. Walter Harrison, passed away in the village of Thomasburg on Wednesday, Sept. 11th.

The late Mrs. Harrison, who was in her 65th year, was born in Erinsville, being a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Palmateer. All her life was passed in the district and during the past twenty-six years she made her home in Thomasburg. In the community she was held in high regard by many friends to whom her passing has brought sincere regret. In religion she was a member of the United Church and when health permitted she was active in Church work. Fraternally she was a member of Crescent Rebekah Lodge at Thomasburg.

Surviving to mourn her loss are her husband, Mr. Walter Harrison, a son, Mr. Albert Forsyth, Syracuse, N.Y., and a daughter, Mrs. Nellie Southworth, Toronto, both by a previous marriage; two daughters, Mrs. Laura Prentice and Mrs. Grantly Burley, Roslin, both members of the present family; one brother, Mr. George Palmateer, Tweed, and one sister, Mrs. Harry Mulvey, Belleville.

The funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock with service in the United Church at Thomasburg.

THOMAS GERALD LYNCH

Many residents of Belleville are today entertaining sincere feelings of regret occasioned by the death of Thomas Gerald Lynch, residence 302 Coleman Street, which occurred in the Belleville General Hospital early this Thursday morning after a brief illness.

"Jerry", as he was known to a host of friends in all parts of this province, was keenly interested in all lines of sporting activities, being an ardent angler, whose ability as a trout fisherman was accepted by all anglers. He took an active part in the sporting activities of Belleville, having been secretary of the local baseball nines and Belleville Hockey Club for many years, during which time he made a host of friends with his care-free jocular manner when conducting the various clubs' business.

Prior to the last war and even during his school career "Jerry" played shortstop for various Belleville baseball teams, including the old Ponies and the Belleville Ontarios.

Gerald Lynch received his education in the schools of Belleville, attending the old No. 2 school at the corner of Octavia and Catherine Streets under the late Col. D. Barragar, and also under the late Samuel Gardner at Queen Victoria School. Later he attended the Belleville High School and the Ontario Business College. For the past number of years he has operated a successful grocery store, being equally as well respected in the business realm of the city, as in the sporting field.

The late Thomas Gerald Lynch was born 47 years ago in Belleville, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lynch; his mother later became Mrs. John Penny. All his life was passed in his native city and by his friendly manner and happy disposition he attracted many friends by whom he will be much missed. He was always willing to assist in any undertaking to further the interests of the city of his birth and in the community he was well esteemed. In religion he was associated with the parish of Christ Church.

Surviving him is his step-father, Mr. John Penny of this city.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

JAPS SHOOT DOWN PLANE KILLING FRENCH OFFICIALS

Marseille, Sept. 12 (AP).—Belated dispatches reaching here from the Far East reporaed today a French airplane carrying a mixed French-Japanese commission was shot down by Japanese planes several weeks ago when it flew over prohibited territory on the island of Waitchao. The members of the commission and the entire crew of four were killed.

SCHICK
Injector Razor
with
8 GENUINE SCHICK BLADES
and a Regular Sized tube of
PALMOLIVE SHAVING CREAM.
All Three for
59c
McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

26 YEARS 27 BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY
and
PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

FURS RELINED REPAIRED RE-STYLED
R. A. BACKUS
EXPERT FURRIER
38 Bridge St., W. Belleville, Ont.

WHEATLEY MUSIC STUDIOS
All Grades to
A.T.C.M. and A.C.C.M.
NOW OPEN
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Director
(Bank of Montreal Chambers)
83-6t-eod

FURS
ADVANCE STYLES.
Re-styling, Relining, Repairing and Cleaning.
MISS GRAHAM
10 EVERETT STREET

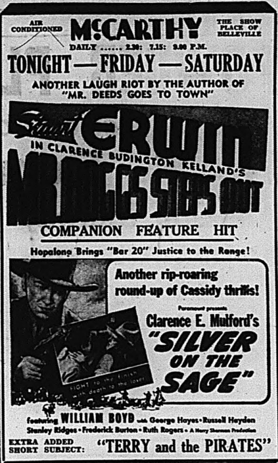
CAPITOL
TONIGHT
FRI.-SAT.
TRIPLE TROPICAL TROUBLE!
JAMES CAGNEY
ANN SHERIDAN
PAT O'BRIEN
Warmly recommended by WARNER BROS.
TORRID ZONE
with ANDY DEVINE HELEN VINSON
ADDED TREATS
NEWS — CARTOON
9th. Chap. 'BUCK ROGERS'
POPULAR SCIENCE in Color
Complete Shows 7 - 9
MATINEE SAT. 2.30

FOX'S PEACHES
Supreme in Quality
Tree Ripened
Defuzzed
We invite you to visit our Packing House and Salesroom near
TRENTON
LOCATION On No. 2 Highway, two miles west of Town at Frank Hendrick's Apple Storage.
There you will see thousands of bushels of high-grade peaches arriving in bulk, fresh daily, direct from our trees in Norfolk County.
You will see these fine peaches being graded, packed, lenoed, labeled and made ready for the various markets located in your vicinity.
BUY FOX'S PEACHES
AND YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.
Phone TRENTON 805 Ring 2
S11-5t

DEAFNESS and HEAD NOISES
THE WORLD'S LATEST INVENTION!
Approved by the Hard-of-Hearing League
Bone Conduction and Air Conduction
Queen's Hotel, Belleville
Friday & Saturday, Sept. 13, 14
INQUIRE FOR MR. F. DALE
Hours 10 a.m. till 8 p.m.
Do Not Miss This Opportunity of Testing the Very Latest and Best in Hearing Devices. You Are Also Invited to Test the New English Vibraphones—No Batteries and No Wires.
INSTRUMENTS $10.00 UP
Crystalear & Victor Ear Phone Co.
120 KING ST. WEST. KITCHENER, ONT.

LIMITED QUANTITY
35¢
Regular Value $1.50
MILADY pattern CREAM LADLE
GET YOURS TODAY
Newest design in COMMUNITY PLATE
Angus McFee JEWELERS SINCE 1860

FUR JACKETS
Short fur jackets are definitely a style leader for Fall 1940. You will like the smart business-like swing of these popular coats as well as their cosy warmth. Prices from $19.75 to $175.00.
WOODLEY FURRIERS
273 FRONT STREET



AIR CONDITIONED McCARTHY THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
DAILY ...... 2.30: 7.15: 9.00 P.M.
TONIGHT — FRIDAY — SATURDAY
ANOTHER LAUGH RIOT BY THE AUTHOR OF "MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN"
Stuart ERWIN
IN CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND'S
MR. BIGGS STEPS OUT
COMPANION FEATURE HIT
Hopalong Brings "Bar 20" Justice to the Range!
Another rip-roaring round-up of Cassidy thrills!
Paramount presents
Clarence E. Mulford's
"SILVER ON THE SAGE"
featuring WILLIAM BOYD with George Hayes • Russell Hayden
Stanley Ridges • Frederick Burton • Ruth Rogers • A Harry Sherman Production
EXTRA ADDED SHORT SUBJECT: "TERRY and the PIRATES"
FIGHT to the finish with death to the loser

Our Town's "Best Bet!"
The Screen's Most UNUSUAL PICTURE
... told in a way new to motion pictures .. yet warm and glowing as life itself! Screen entertainment even greater than the stirring play that inspired it!
SEE THIS HIT!
THORNTON WILDER'S
Delightful Comedy Romance
OUR TOWN
THE PULITZER PRIZE PLAY BY THORNTON WILDER
Starring
WILLIAM HOLDEN
MARTHA SCOTT
with
FAY BAINTER • BEULAH BONDI
THOMAS MITCHELL • GUY KIBBEE
STUART ERWIN • FRANK CRAVEN
Directed by SAM WOOD ("Goodbye Mr. Chips")
2nd HILARIOUS FILM ROMANCE
"THE GOLDEN FLEECING"
with
Lew Ayres - Rita Johnson
Lloyd Nolan, Virginia Gray, Leon Errol.
Extra: "MEDICO," John Nesbit Passing Parade
TONIGHT & FRIDAY
BELLE
Daily 2.30: 7.10. Last Show 8.30

Don't Miss
THE Fall Sale
at
J. B. Boyce's

SMASHING REDUCTIONS ON OUR Fine Used Cars

Many Models to Choose from.

We offer
BETTER DEALS.
BETTER TERMS.
BETTER CARS.

J. B. Boyce
Chevrolet — Oldsmobile
Front St. Phone 704

BERLIN, BREMEN HAMMERED AGAIN

Nazis Give Out No Details Beyond Saying Number Civilians Killed

Berlin, Sept. 12 (CP)—The Royal Air Forces unrelenting hammering at German industrial centres was continued during the night when Berlin, Hamburg and Bremen were bombed.

For an hour and 32 minutes R.A.F. bombers attacked the centre of Berlin, bombs falling a short distance from the Wilhelmstrasse, where are situated the government buildings from which the Nazi war machine is directed.

One factory in the German Capital was set on fire.

Hamburg and Bremen, Germany's principal ports were severely bombed, but there were no details beyond a Nazi claim that an apartment house was hit, with a number of civilians killed.

Nazi spokesmen mentioned the Tiergarten, a famous Berlin park, as a place where British incendiary bombs started fires. This is the heart of Berlin, in the same area bombed the night before, when the Reichstag and the Brandenburg Gate were hit.

Carcass-Grading Of Hogs Official Method After Sept. 30

Ottawa, Sept. 12 (CP)—In order to insure more hogs of suitable quality for export to the United Kingdom, carcass-grading of hogs will be the official method of grading throughout Canada, Agriculture Minister Gardiner announced Wednesday. This becomes effective Sept. 30.

The present hog grading regulations which provide for live-grading of hogs and have been in effect since 1922, will be rescinded as from Sept. 30 and livegrading of hogs will not be continued thereafter.

"The progressive and anticipated increase in hog marketings followed by increased export of bacon to the United Kingdom make it necessary for a much higher percentage to be suitable for export" Mr. Gardiner said in a statement.

Carcass grading of hogs has been in effect on a voluntary basis for about six years. Number of hogs so graded under this voluntary system has progressively increased until it now stands at 62.5 per cent of all hogs graded to date this year.

CALOMEL REVENGE

Spalding, England, (CP)—Given notice to quit and feeling she had a grievance a 50-year-old woman cook at a public institution put calomel on the staff's bread and was sentenced to six months' imprisonment.

KISS YOUR TIRED FEELING GOODBYE!

Pepless Many Suffer Low Blood Count—And Don't Know It.

The baffling thing about low blood count is that you can weigh about as much as you ever did — even look healthy and strong, yet — you can feel as if you had lead in your legs, dopey, tired and pepless.

Low blood count means you haven't got enough red blood corpuscles. It is their vital job to carry life-giving oxygen from your lungs throughout your body. And just as it takes oxygen to explode gasoline in your car and make the power to turn the wheels, so you must have plenty of oxygen to explode the energy in your body and give you going power.

Get Dr. Williams Pink Pills today. They are world-famous for the help they give in increasing the number and strength of red corpuscles. Then with your blood count up, you'll feel like bounding up the stairs as if you were floating on air. Ask your druggist for Dr. Williams Pink Pills today.

MILITARY HONORS PAID TO PILOTS KILLED IN CRASH

Impressive Service Conducted in R.C.A.F. Station Chapel by Station Chaplain

SALUTE FIRED

Muffled drums and the haunting tempo of Beethoven's Funeral March echoed in the Trenton Base of the Royal Canadian Air Force yesterday afternoon as blue-grey clad flyers paid a last tribute to two gallant comrades. Personnel of the station gathered in the base chapel to bid a final farewell to Flight Lieut. Fred L. Sims London, Ont., and Flying-Officer William R. Swanson, Long Beach, California, killed late Tuesday afternoon in a plane crash four miles south of this city.

Following the brief but impressive funeral service in the Station chapel the funeral cortege proceeded to the Station gates, headed by the firing party, and the Trenton R.C.A.F. band. At the gates, the traditional three volleys were fired over the caskets as the band played, in parts "Abide With Me".

The Station chapel was filled to capacity with sorrowing friends, relatives and comrades of departed fliers as the two flag-draped coffins were brought in for the service.

Station Chaplain Flight Lieut W. J. Province conducted the impressive service, assisted by Station Adjutant F. O. Denton Massey. Two old and well loved hymns, "Unto the Hills", and "Fight the Good Fight" added to the solemnity of the service.

With the firing party and band drawn up in front of the Administration Building, the funeral cortege headed by Chaplain W. J. Province and Adjutant, Denton Massey proceeded from the chapel as the band softly played "Nearer My God to Thee". Group-Captain J. C. Sully, O.C. and his staff walked immediately behind the cortege. Following came squadrons of fliers and other personnel.

In the reverent silence broken only by the roar of planes overhead and haunting notes of "Last Post", the station bade farewell to two gallant officers.

The bodies were later shipped to their homes for burial.

The Union Jack and the Stars and Stripes covered the casket of P.O. W. R. Swanson, whose body was accompanied to his home by a compatriot member of the R.C.A.F.

PREMIER SMUTS

(Continued from Page One)

South Africa's war effort in any way will be so dealt with, the Premier declared in an address to the Assembly. He said:

"Only yesterday, Britain was South Africa's best friend. Today when Britain is engaged in a life and death struggle and London is being bombed, members of the Opposition are adopting a view of hostility toward her.

"Some members actually seem to hope for German victory. To sentiments of that sort we can only cry shame".

General J. B. M. Hertzog, former Prime Minister and Opposition leader, has demanded several times that the Union of South Africa make peace with Germany and Italy, but each time has been voted down by the Union House of Assembly.

On Sept. 5, 1939, while he still was Premier, he recommended that the Union's relations with belligerent countries "persist unchanged, as if no war were being waged." He was voted down 80 to 66 and next day resigned as Prime Minister.

On Jan. 27 the Assembly defeated, 81 to 59, a Hertzog motion deploring British war policy and calling for peace with Germany and Italy. A similar motion was rejected again on August 31, this time by a vote of 83 to 65.

Presentation

Bonarlaw, Ont., Sept. 10 — The large farm house of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Barlow, 13th. line of Rawdon, was filled to overflowing on Monday evening of this week when a large number of friends and neighbours presented their eldest daughter Phyllis, now Mrs. Nelson Warner McFaul, with a miscellaneous shower. Rev. Canon W. G. Swayne acted as master of ceremonies in his usual capable manner and the presentation address was read by Miss Iva Brown. Both the bride and groom replied thanking the guests assembled for the many useful and beautiful gifts and expressions of good will and esteem, and invited all to visit them in their new home. They were given three hearty cheers and all sang, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows". A musical program contributed to the enjoyment of the evening. Vocal solos were given by Miss Madeline Walt and Messrs. Bruce Barnum and J. F. Baker and a piano solo by Mrs. Harold Stiles. Community singing was also enjoyed with Mrs. W. G. Swayne at the piano. The ladies served a bountiful lunch after which Messrs. Chester and Kenneth Baker contributed some piano solos and the young folks sang a number of popular songs.

To make the evening complete a real charivari was taged just before the guests had departed. The old familiar sound of cow bells and tin pans did not last long however as Mr. and Mrs. McFaul promptly came across with such a generous donation that they scuttled away to the store and returned with all sorts of candies, nuts, smokes etc. and also a beautiful pair of blankets as a gift for the bride. Mr. Jason Baker, charivari leader, made the presentation with great pomp and ceremony and in a neat speech spoke of the esteem in which the bride is held by one and all and the favourable impression made by the groom on all with whom he had come in contact.

IMPROVE SOUP
STEW or GRAVY with BOVRIL
BOUILLON CUBES

Centre

Centre — Mr. and Mrs. Harold Mumby and children of Wellington spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Mumby.

Mr. Nelson Parliament of Ottawa spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. A. L. Parliament.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Catheral of Victoria took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Moy.

Mr. Harry Redner and Mr. Gerald Redner spent Sunday with friends at Warsaw.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Way of Bowermans spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Harold Young's.

4th Thurlow

4th. Thurlow — Privates Gordon Smith and Stanley Sherwin, left last week for Petawawa, where they are taking the two weeks' preliminary training for Home Defence.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cole, Barbara and Dick, of Detroit, Mrs. L. Hoagland and Wilma, of Tecumseh, Michigan, also Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Cole, Cannifton, were entertained to tea recently at the R. Miller home.

Miss Lorena Wilson is spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Coulter, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Patterson, Trenton, called on Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole on Sunday.

Mr. Roy Sherrard, who has been employed at Windsor, spent a few days this week with his family.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Conley, and Mr. J. E. Cooley were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Foster, Tweed.

Mrs. Borden Forsythe and small son have returned to their home at Sulphide after several weeks' stay with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Peacock.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooke of Stirling visited on Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Grant Cole and family. Little Ross Cole returned with them for a visit.

The season's threshing has been completed at a comparatively early date this year enabling the farmers to get at their fall plowing.

Norman Ritz has joined the group from this line attending Belleville Collegiate.

The showers which fell Sunday afternoon and Monday night were indeed welcomed by the farmers. Plowing will now be an easier task, and the sowing of fall wheat made possible.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Badgley and family of Deseronto took tea Sunday evening at C. Cole's.

Mrs. R. McMechan, Melrose, has returned home after a visit with her brother, R. Miller.

Among those from this line who attended C. N. E. this year were: Mr. and Mrs. G. Sills, Miss Stella Bradshaw, Miss Florence McRae, Mr. Russell Ritz, Mr. George Wilson and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Miller.

NORTH AMERICAN LIFE
ESTABLISHED 1881
A MUTUAL COMPANY
District Office,
203 East Roberston Block
"Assure your future"
ALL PROFITS FOR POLICYHOLDERS

Fresh-from-the-Garden
CONTENTS 20 FLUID OZS.
Libby's
TOMATO JUICE gentle press
Made in Canada
Libby's
Condensed Tomato Soup
TOMATO JUICE
Made in Canada
Libby's
Catchup
LIBBY'S CANADIAN KITCHEN

CANADA'S favourite drink

Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice is so flavourful and refreshing that drinking it is akin to tasting the garden-fresh tomato itself. In recognition of this fresh-from-the-vine flavour, Canadian housewives have given Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Juice overwhelming preference—have made it Canada's most popular tomato juice.

Libby's "Gentle Press" patented process, exclusive to Libby's, skillfully extracts the zestful juices of the tomato. Retained in generous measure are health-giving vitamins A, B, C—making Libby's Tomato Juice an ideal "protective" food. The tomatoes are uniformly big, smooth beauties, heavily laden with juice, the result of 28 years of painstaking cultivation and selective choice of seed from each successive year's crop.

Next time try Libby's—you will agree with the majority of Canadian housewives that here is tomato juice with garden-fresh flavour.

Made in Canada by
LIBBY, McNEILL & LIBBY OF CANADA, LIMITED
CHATHAM, ONTARIO

DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK OFFER

Should you not agree that one or all three of Libby's "Gentle Press" Tomato Products—Juice, Catchup and Soup—are the best you have tasted, Libby's will pay you double your money back. Just print your name and address on the back of the label and mail it to Libby's, Chatham, Ontario.

TP1340

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

CHURCHILL IS CONFIDENT

Prime Minister Churchill warned the British people in a radio broadcast on Wednesday that the long-planned invasion of Britain may be attempted in the very near future and that the next week may possibly be one of the most important in the history of the country. The Prime Minister is not in the habit of crying "wolf" and likely his information leads him to believe that the German dictator is going to gamble some thousands of his men's lives in an attempt to gain a foothold on British soil.

Mr. Churchill seems confident that any attempt will be beaten off and it would seem that he has reason for this confidence for the fleet, the airforce and the huge armies have had an opportunity to increase their defence measures to impregnable strength. When Britain could get most of her army out of France under almost insuperable difficulties we all wonder what chance the Germans think they have when they do not possess mastery of the sea nor of the air.

His reference to Hitler was made in the usual good Churchill style. He said, "This wicked man, the repository and embodiment of many forms of soul-destroying hate, this monstrous product of former wrongs and shame, has now resolved to try to break our famous island race by a process of indiscriminate slaughter and destruction." Again, as at other times when he has spoken over the radio, we were struck by the quality of contempt and hatred that came into his voice when he spoke of Hitler over the air. As long as he is in power we can be sure there will be no half-hearted measures taken when dealing with the enemy and when the day of victory comes to us, we pray that Winston Churchill will be in power to deal with the criminals at Berlin in the way that they so richly deserve.

THESE BRITISH

It was a brilliant sunshiny day in Lord's Oval. The crack Australian team were playing the M.C.C. for the famous ashes. Stoical British cricket fans intermittently applauded brilliant plays with a scarcely audible clapping of hands. There was no outward demonstration. The spectators took the game in a matter-of-fact way as did the players. It was "cricket."

On the playing fields of Eton, on the cricket fields of the nation and now in the battle-scarred skies that look down on a war-torn Britain, the same calmness, the same resolution, that inimitable stoicism that belongs to the Englishman alone, stands out like a shining light in a world that is torn with strife.

Nightly and daily enemy bombers roar over the tight little island. Below business goes on as usual. Phlegmatic shopkeepers view the wreckage of their places of business with a smile. They put up crude signs exemplifying the humor that is British, and British only. Their attitude in the face of dropping death has set an example that has elicited the admiration of the civilized world.

"There will always be an England" is no idle boast. For Englishmen although they "go out in the mid-day sun" will never yield their liberty, or freedom, heritage of centuries to a foreign foe. That is certain. In the air, on the sea, and in the unforgettable retreat from Dunkirk, the British have displayed that stoical heroism that won Waterloo, Trafalgar, The Aisne, and Vimy Ridge.

They may sleep in cellars, in bomb-proof dugouts, in trenches in the park. They may jump at first at the shrieking sirens foretelling an air-raid. But they always come up smiling. They are resigned to one fact alone, and that is that Hitler will never take England unless it is over their dead bodies. The swastika-emblazoned planes that daily roar over the quiet peaceful English countryside hold no terror for them. Their superb confidence in the Royal Air Force, the navy and the lads in khaki has instilled in them a spirit that Hitler and his hordes can never break. Blackouts, air-raid sirens, the every day work of helping to win the war is part of their routine. The "Nation of Shopkeepers" as the former Kaiser Wilhelm dubbed them during the early days of the last war, has set an example of courage, fortitude, and the resolution to "see this thing through" that has commanded the admiration of every nation in the civilized world.

Victory? Certainly. Of that the Englishman is supremely confident.

AN ENCOURAGING STATEMENT OF PROGRESS

Munitions Minister Howe gave an encouraging statement of the progress Canadian industry is making to further Canada's war effort to a group of newspaper representatives yesterday. Tanks embodying the best features of British and American design, he said, will be manufactured and made ready for delivery in February while some light experimental machines will be ready for testing within the next two months.

Production of explosives will begin in one plant next week and others will be ready by the end of the year. Plants for the manufacture of heavy coastal defence guns, anti-aircraft guns and guns of small calibre will be ready as soon as they can be built and tooled for production.

Already Canada is producing automotive equipment at a record pace and a large number of units are being supplied to Canada and Britain right along.

It is no easy task to plan and get ready plants for the manufacture of armaments. It is, also, difficult to obtain and train the personnel skillful enough to handle the highly technical equipment used in the work and when we realize how long it is taking the United States, with its wealth of industrial skill, to get into quantity production of aircraft, then we should feel proud of the speed with which our country is preparing herself to help in the fight against the Nazi gangsters.

Newest Notes of Science

Science News Service

The population of the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan recently was estimated at 6,342,000 in an area of about 970,000 square miles.

A portable humidifier has been invented to air condition rooms that is operated by the air current from an ordinary electric fan.

A towing truck that hoists automobiles in need of repairs clear of the ground has been constructed by a Connecticut garage owner.

Transvaal gold mines set a new record for production of 1,186,063 ounces in May and increased this output by 15,300 ounces in June.

The light is automatically switched on when a child places a recently invented toy miner's lamp on his head and off when he removes it.

Spectacles for color blind motorists have been developed by a New York man that enables wearers to see red or amber traffic lights.

Having a carrying capacity of 1,500 tons each, the largest two motor vessels of their kind are being constructed in Italy for cod fishing.

A rotary knife mounted on two wheels has been invented to be attached to the front of a lawn mower to cut growths too high for the mower's blades.

OFF THE RECORD By ED REED

"Of course I'll love you when you're old—who says I don't?"

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 12th., 1920.

Mr. Harry Vansickle of Marmora has been given the contract to drain the "Long Swamp" in Marmora Township.

Market prices for wheat range from $2.20 to $2.50 per bushel. Hay is being held closely by owners, but what sales are made range from $22.00 to $28.00 per ton.

Butter is selling at 70 cents per pound; eggs 60 cents per dozen; chickens $2.50 to $4.00 per pair; broilers $1.50 to $1.75 per pair; potatoes 35 cents per peck; tomatoes 75 cents per bushel; peaches $1.25 per basket.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 12th., 1910.

The silver medal which is given annually by the Board of Education for general proficiency at the entrance examinations to the high school, was won this year by Master Harold Weese, who was a pupil at Octavia Street School. His teacher was the principal of the school, Mr. D. Barragar.

Mr. J. H. McKinley and Mr. James Knox left to day for Porcupine where they will be engaged in work on their gold mine claims.

Mr. Angus Gillies has returned home after a visit to Toronto and Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Bert Kelly of Brantford, an old Belleville boy, is visiting friends here.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 12th., 1900.

Work was resumed at the Rolling Mills this morning.

Messrs. B. Booth, F. Bird, E. O. Keeler and Dr. McKeown are spending a few days in Montreal.

Mr. J. A. McDonnell of Marmora was in town to day.

Mr. B. O. Lott of Stirling was in town to day.

F. Kelher of this city caught a maskinonge in Mosquito Bay yesterday which weighed 20 pounds.

Mr. Peter Johnson of Richmond, Quebec, is visiting his son, Mr. Robert Johnson, Lingham Street.

Mr. D. B. Robertson, City Clerk, has returned from his vacation and resumed his duties this morning.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 12th., 1890.

The steamer Algerian will call here to morrow on her way to Toronto.

The work on the piers of the bay bridge will probably be completed by the end of this month. A large quantity of iron work for the superstructure has been delivered at the site.

Mr. Fred R. Bullen has returned to Chicago, Ill., after visiting friends here.

Mr. Bert Kelly has been acting conductor on the Madoc train this week in the place of Mr. Wm. Kerr who is on vacation.

Mr. William Johnson of this city has been appointed Chairman of the Committee on statistics in the General Conference of the Methodist Church.

dale shot an eagle yesterday which measured five feet and three inches from tip to tip of wings.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1.—Many a Panama hat wearer has the wrong impression that his hat comes from Panama. Where does it come from and why the name?

2.—In the Navy there is a class of ship termed "tin cans" and "trouble boats". What is the true name for these vessels?

3.—A fact: The U.S. has one automobile to every 4.4 persons. Can you tell which country ranks second and what the ratio is?

4.—Highways will be jammed soon on Saturdays with football fans. Are they the most numerous of all sports fans in the U.S?

5.—A "Jeff" is the midwest's new slang term for one of our coins. Which?

6.—All parties are bidding for the support of young voters, but what is the youngest age at which a citizen is eligible to be (a) Representative in Congress, (b) Senator, (c) President?

7.—Anent the question above, is a woman or man disqualified from representing a district in Congress if he or she is not an actual resident of it?

Answers

1.—Made in Ecuador, they derive their name from the fact that they cross Panama on their way north.

2.—Destroyers.

3.—New Zealand; one auto for every six persons.

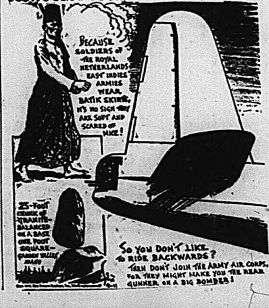
4.—No. The total paid attendance at basketball games exceeds that of either baseball, football or horse-racing.

5.—The new five-cent piece which bears the profile of Thomas Jefferson.

6.—(a) 25, (b) 30, (c) 35.

7.—No. The Constitution provides only that the Representative be a resident of the state.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOT



BECAUSE SOLDIERS OF THE ROYAL NETHERLANDS EAST INDIES ARMIES WEAR BATIK SKIRTS, IT'S NO SIGN THEY ARE SOFT AND SCARED OF MICE!
25-FOOT CHUNK OF GRANITE BALANCED ON A BASE ONE FOOT SQUARE — GARDEN VALLEY, IDAHO
SO YOU DON'T LIKE TO RIDE BACKWARDS? THEN DON'T JOIN THE ARMY AIR CORPS, FOR THEY MIGHT MAKE YOU THE REAR GUNNER ON A BIG BOMBER!

Freemasonry Suppressed In France

By EUGENE LENNHOFF
(United Correspondents)
(E-23)

The Vichy government has lost little time in acceding to Hitler's desire — conveyed "unofficially" through Otto Abetz, his ambassador — for the suppression of French Freemasonry. The Petain cabinet, which includes the two Freemasons, Chautemps and Frossard, has ordered the dissolution of the Grand Orient and of the less important Grande Loge de France. With their disappearance French culture loses two institutions which have made important contributions to the cause of freedom.

There are fundamental differences between French Freemasonry and that practised in Great Britain or the United States. Anglo-Saxon Freemasonry is essentially religious and eschews politics altogether. In the name of freedom of conscience, French Freemasonry deleted from its statutes the assertion of religious belief which British and American lodges require of their members. Moreover, it engaged in politics, though not of the kind complained of by National Socialists.

The Nazis have always persecuted Freemasonry, whether political or unpolitical, with the same hatred as Semitism and (until August 25th, 1939) Bolshevism. The fact that men like Churchill, Stresemann and Benes were Freemasons, only fanned their hatred. Hitler, against all the evidence, regarded the Grand Orient of France as an international headquarters for all the forces hostile to Germany.

In actual fact, the Grand Orient was nothing of the kind. On the contrary, this lodge, whose famous promises in the rue Cadet in Paris now house the Gestapo, worked in a kind of vacuum. Owing to its rejection of the rules of Freemasonry formulated in London in 1717, neither British nor American Freemasonry maintained relations with the Grand Orient. The United Grand Lodge of England severed its connection in 1877. At that time the Grand Master was the Prince of Wales, later King Edward VII. But British and American lodges, all wholly unpolitical, contain the great mass of the world's Freemasons, comprising more than five-sixths of all Masons. This alone shows how absurd are all those references in the Nazi press to a "liberal and plutocratic conspiracy of international Freemasonry under French control".

The policy of the Grand Orient and of the Grand Lodge de France never aimed at securing international power. It was a purely national policy. It was not even a party policy; the seventy thousand French Freemasons included members of all the bourgeois and Socialist Left groups, excepting only the Communists. The Fourth Comintern Congress expressly emphasized the incompatibility of Communism with Freemasonry. Freemasonry in France was dominated in the main by the Left bourgeoisie. Many of the lodges presented that curious blend of intelligentsia and petty bourgeoisie so common in other French societies. They clung tenaciously to the traditional watchword of Liberty, Equality, and Fraternity and worked for national democracy and a liberal culture. They never forgot that in the eighteenth century they had counted among their members Voltaire (introduced to the Paris Lodge "Aux neufs Soeurs" by Benjamin Franklin) and the leading spirits of the French Age of Enlightenment.

The politics of French Freemasons were essentially cultural. They justified their marked anti-clericalism on the grounds that the Catholic Church had itself declared war on them. After playing a big part in the separation of Church and State towards the end of the last century, they fought equally hard for the subsequent divorce between secular and religious education. After the Great War, both the Grand Orient and the Grande Loge supported all forces that worked for an understanding and reconciliation with Germany. Both associations debated the subject of a "rapprochement" at countless meetings, while their public propaganda in the same cause was untiring. At the same time they were active in promoting moral, military and economic disarmament and in urging that French youth should be educated in a spirit calculated to allay international animosities and national passions. One of the items on the agenda of the Grand Orient of those days was "to declare peace on the world".

Efforts to make friends with Germany came, of course, to a complete standstill with Hitler's accession to power. From that moment French Freemasonry did all it could to arouse the public to a sense of the terrible dangers that threatened France and Europe from Nazism and its Fascist ally. Nearly every day large public meetings were held in the rue Cadet and the rue Puteaux (the head quarters of the Grande Loge) at which the real meaning of Hitler's ideas was explained. Many of these meetings were addressed by German opposition leaders who had found refuge in France.

This earned for French Freemasonry not only the implacable enmity of the Nazis themselves, but the hatred of all French Quislings and Fifth Columnists. Two hours after the entry of the Germans into Paris the premises of both lodges were taken over by Austrian companies. They formed there an anti-Freemason committee which had already hoisted swastika flags and at once handed to the officers lists of the names of prominent Freemasons. Led by these French "friends", an immediate raid was made upon all leaders of Freemasonry who had stayed behind in Paris. These are now in concentration camps.

Iceland, A Chessboard

By H. MARKERT

(United Correspondents, X14a)

STOCKHOLM. — German troop transports have resumed trips to Norway, and it is reported in Stockholm that the men will be used against Iceland, where there are many places suitable for parachute landings. Iceland would make an air and naval base for attacks on Great Britain.—(Daily Express, June 17, 1940).

When Hitler's horde invaded defenceless little Denmark, the British Foreign Office decided without delay to safeguard Iceland from any disagreeable surprise by occupying the island for the duration of the war. How right this decision was appears from the report we have quoted at the beginning of this article.

An American, Dr. Wilton Krogman, Professor of Physical Anthropology of Chicago University, said recently that German scientists in all parts of the world were acting as advance agents for the Nazi war machine. They provide the German High Command with detailed maps, with information about terrain, about stocks of raw materials and possibilities of propaganda. These "scientists" also have the task of "proving" the Nazi racial claims in the countries concerned. Such researches have been made in Iceland, among other places.

The German geologists had a good excuse for their visit to Iceland, for this island presents a very strange phenomenon—it is in the course of splitting in two. Already cracks stretch from the north-east to the north-west, all extending in the same direction, and reaching far down into the earth. Large fields of lava are to be seen near these cracks whole areas have sunk several yards, indicating that something uncanny is going on.

The theory of continental drift, developed by Alfred Wegener, a German scientist who died in the Arctic, supplies an explanation for this phenomenon. Wagener's theory supposes that America and Europe millions of years ago were one continent, which subsequently split in two. While America drifted away from Europe, the Atlantic was formed between them. Hence the old legends of Atlantis, the "sunken" continent. Iceland, in fact, one of the pieces torn away by the continental drift, can be regarded as a remnant of Atlantis. The geologists suppose that Iceland is, as it were, hesitating which way to slip and is therefore falling into two parts, one of which is drifting towards the American side, the other towards Europe.

For years reports on Iceland have been published in German papers. As early as 1928, when transatlantic flights were the latest fashion, the American pilot, Bert Fish Hassell, advocated an air route from Germany to the U.S.A. via Iceland and Greenland, and soon German research parties set out for these islands. The Nazis naturally regard the home of the "Edda" and other Nordic sagas as their spiritual "living space"—though nobody believes that the interests of the Nazis are purely literary. Iceland means to them nothing but a stepping-stone for the invasion of America.

They will meet with little sympathy among the Icelanders, in spite of all "racial affinity". For Iceland is democratic to the core. She is proud of her parliament, the "Alting", the oldest in the world. And she is no less proud of her model health institutions which have made Iceland the country with the lowest infantile mortality in the world.

It is little known that Iceland, since her constitutional conflict with Denmark in 1918—under whose rule she lived for five centuries and a half—has been an independent kingdom. Iceland and Denmark were connected merely through the personal union of the King. The basis of these relations is the "Treaty of Union", which was due to expire in 1940 and could have been ended by Iceland had these loose relations with Denmark ceased to please the Icelanders. The Nazi occupation of Denmark brought a radical solution: Iceland is free to decide for herself—and she has readily accepted the protection offered to her by Britain.

Denmark's voluntary surrender of supremacy over Iceland in 1918, the separation of Norway from Sweden in 1905 and the settlement of the Greenland conflict between Denmark and Norway in 1931 are impressive examples of the peace-loving attitude of the Sandinavian States, which despise war as an instrument of modern policy and solve all their problems by mutual understanding—in striking contrast to their "Teutonic brethren" of the south.

This peaceful liquidation of conflict has been rewarded by economic and social prosperity for the last twenty years. A poor colony has become a modern, well-organized state, whose population can be called wealthy. The Icelandic fishing industry has flourished and a big industry for fish products has been created in the world market. The national wealth has been trebled since 1918. The capital, Reykjavik, where two-thirds of all the buildings have been erected since 1918, possesses the most up-to-date institutions, an excellent university, and a National Theatre of high standard. Good motor-roads connect all parts of the island. Fortunately, it will be some centuries before the fissures splitting the country will seriously affect communications.

Iceland lacks only two things: there are no railways—this stage of traffic has been skipped—and today regular 'planes connect the more important places on Iceland. Secondly, Iceland has no army. Hitherto her fishery has been protected by the Danish fleet, a task which has now been taken over by the British Navy. The island has only a few policemen.

When English soldiers were about to land, the Icelanders were a bit afraid of them, according to a report by Icelandic fishermen who recently came to England. No soldiers had ever been seen in Iceland before and in their first surprise some of the islanders thought that the men in the steel helmets were Germans. But when they learned they were British, and when the soldiers showed themselves sociable and friendly, all went well. Today, the "Tommies" are great favorites in Iceland, which they will protect against Hitler.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

You Must Be Able to Describe Your Headache

A writer in a weekly magazine outlined his experiences with a number of physicians whom he had consulted about a headache. He told of all the "different" remedies that were prescribed for his headache and apparently thought that he had proven that physicians were ignorant and unprincipled.

What the writer did not know is that there are not less than 150 causes of headache and each physician prescribed according to what the patient told him. A headache is not like a broken leg, appendicitis, some infection or other ailment, the symptoms of which can be seen or heard. The physician is guided only by the patient's description of his symptoms. Should the patient have no headache whatever, or fail to describe his symptoms correctly the physician is not in any way at fault.

This writer would not have written his article had he known anything about headaches. An article by Dr. H. W. Woltman in Minnesota Medicine says, in part:

"The patient who complains of headache should be questioned as to (1) the frequency, exact location, of the pain and length of time the headache lasts; (b) the hour of the night or day and the day of the week they occur; (3) whether they are becoming better or worse; (4) whether they can tell when headache is coming on; (5) what influence a delayed meal, late sleep worry, fatigue, and the use of the eyes have on the headache; (5) whether stooping, jarring, or shaking of the head affects the pain; (7) whether drafts or heat influence the pain; (8) whether there is a family history of headaches, hay fever, asthma, hives, eczema; (9) whether particular foods bring on headache; (10) whether there is infection or obstruction of the nose or ears; (11) whether menstration or pregnancy influence the headache; and (12) what previous treatment has been given".

If, then, you have a headache which cannot be accounted for by the commonest conditions—overuse of eyes, eating unsuitable food, some sinus condition, or infection—you should consult your physician and be prepared to answer his questions as accurately as possible.

Never forget that there are two kinds of headache, the one of little consequence and the other the symptom of a dangerous illness.

BATHING AS USUAL

Folkestone, England, (CP) — Henry Bull, an all-the-year-round bather, who has not missed his sea dip for nearly 13 years, has been given special military permission to bathe at his beach, a restricted wartime area.

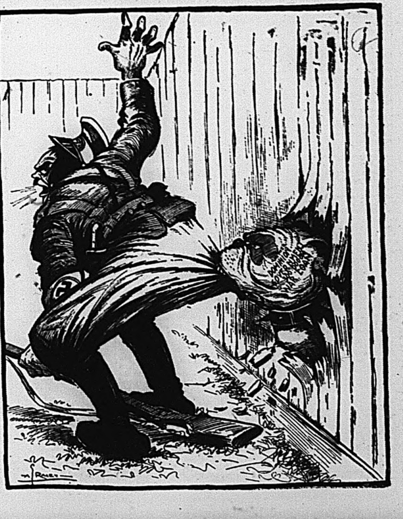
ALIVE—A PRISONER

Cradeley Heath, England—(CP) —After mourning their son, Pte. Thomas Griffiths, reported killed in France, his parents received official notification that he is a prisoner of war in Germany.

AND WAR ON, TOO

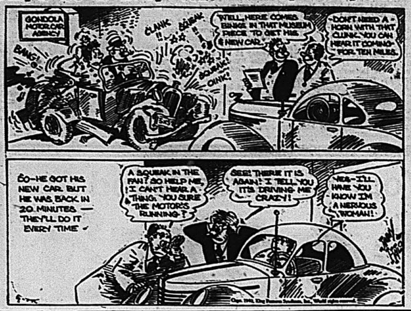
Swindon, England, (CP)—Smashing the plate glass window of a jewellery shop with a piece of piping, "smash and grab" robbers escaped with two trays of gold rings and several watches.

War Loan Bulldog Takes a Bite



They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo



GONDOLA MOTOR CAR AGENCY
BANG!
CLANK
SQUEAK
SQUEAK!
OINK!
WELL, HERE COMES BINKS IN THAT MUSEUM PIECE TO GET HIS NEW CAR
DON'T NEED A HORN WITH THAT CLUNK. YOU CAN HEAR IT COMING FOR TEN MILES.
SO—HE GOT HIS NEW CAR. BUT HE WAS BACK IN 20 MINUTES— THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME
A SQUEAK IN THE FAN? SO HELP ME, I CAN'T HEAR A THING. YOU SURE THE MOTOR'S RUNNING?
SEE! THERE IT IS AGAIN! I TELL YOU IT'S DRIVING ME CRAZY!
YES—I'LL HAVE YOU KNOW I'M A NERVOUS WOMAN!

This Superb Coffee has EXTRA FLAVOUR
YOU'LL NOTICE AT ONCE...THE EXTRA RICHNESS AND SMOOTHNESS OF MAXWELL HOUSE
VITA-FRESH MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee
2 GRINDS DRIP AND REGULAR
MAXWELL HOUSE Coffee

*INSIST ON ALL THREE

*ENRICHED BLEND—Careful research has enabled us to further enrich the Maxwell House blend to give extra richness, smoothness and coffee flavour.

*UNIQUE ROAST—Maxwell House is roasted by a unique method that radiates heat evenly through every bean . . . no weak coffee due to under-roasting—no bitter coffee due to parching.

*ROASTER FRESHNESS—Maxwell House comes in a Super-Vacuum tin . . . the only way to bring you coffee that really is roaster-fresh.

"Try this richer, more delicious blend for its 3 great advantages"

MH170

Rawdon

Rawdon — Mr. and Mrs. Zenas Palmer, St. Catharines, spent a recent week end with Mr. and Mrs. Morris Rose.

Mrs. Roy Thrasher, Mrs. Cyrus Summers and Gladys visited Mrs. Will Johnson and family on Labour Day.

Mr. and Mrs. Orno Sharp are enjoying a holiday to Callander and other northern points.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer and Master Don Spencer spent a week with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spencer, Toronto, and attended the exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Seamans and Phyllis of Rochester, N. Y., have been holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Dunkley.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Holmes attended Toronto exhibition before Kenneth left for camp.

Mrs. Morris Rose spent last week at Embro and attended the funeral of her brother, Mr. Clifford Kerr.

Miss Alma Johnson is spending this week with her cousin, Miss Gladys Sharp.

Messrs. Jack Burton, Tom Foley, George Young, Angus Johnson and Harold Holden attended Toronto Exhibition last week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Rupert, Glen Miller, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. A. Dunkley.

Mr. Milford Wrightman held a bee on Wednesday fixing the wall in his basement barn.

Master Robert Hoard spent a week's holiday with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ketcheson, Phillipston.

A large number of Rawdonians recently attended Belleville Fair.

Mr. and Mrs. B. C. Tucker entertained Bethel Ladies Aid for their August meeting. Mrs. Don Heath and Mrs. Ray Shortt each contributed a reading and Miss Elda McMullen gave a vocal number. Mrs. Harry Preston staged two contests of interest and Rev. J. E. Beckel was master of ceremonies.

Mrs. Frank Runnalls and Dorothy of Harold visited Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay McKeown last week.

Sunbeam Mission Band

The September meeting of the Sunbeam Mission Band was held in Mount Pleasant United Church with the president, Miss Lois McAdam in charge and she gave the call to worship. The worship period was conducted by Miss Evelyn Melville and roll call followed.

Misses Marion Rose and Marion Phillips contributed a duet and Master Jerry Melville gave a temperance reading. Mrs. Cyrus Summers continued the study story dealing with "Shera of the Punjab". Misses Ruth Rose and Lois Weaver gathered the offering. All read a hymn responsively in closing.

Miss Marguerite Stone returned home on Sunday after spending three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest White.

Mrs. Edith Sharp, Wellman's, spent the week end at Mount Pleasant.

Mrs. Emma Summers who has been holidaying at Ottawa has returned home.

Miss Ruth Donnan, Ridge Road, is holidaying with relatives at Mt. Pleasant.

Belleville Presbyterial was well represented at the School for Leaders held at Ontario Ladies College, Whitby, the last week of August. Twenty eight ladies registered, some being officers and the rest delegates and guests. The branch officers were Mrs. Frank Dafoe, Madoc, Mrs. Percy MacMullen, Mount Pleasant, Mrs. E. J. Corkill, Napanee. The presbyterial officers: Mrs. Cecil Macklin, Stirling, Mrs. Stanley Spafford, Alkins, Mrs. W. F. Osborne, Belleville, Mrs. Harry Harrison and Mrs. Erle Denyes, Plainfield, Mrs. Arthur McCreary and Mrs. Albert Empey, Eldorado, Mrs. Manley Fox, Madoc, Miss Lazelle Brown, Belleville, an assistant member of the staff.

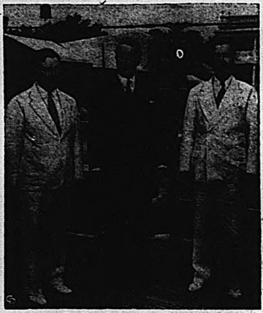
The delegates and guests were: Mrs. Fred Westover, Trenton R. R. 5, Mrs. Beckwith, Cherry Valley, Mrs. W. Doughery, Mrs. J. R. Pickering, Miss Doris Williams all of Belleville, Mrs. F. J. Nickle, Miss Anne Nickle, Miss Bessie McCann, Eldorado, Miss Muriel Craig, Napanee, Miss Mae Greer, Wellington, Mrs. M Grills, Thomasburg, Mrs. H. S. Morrison, Mrs. C. Barnett, Mrs. E. Bradshaw, Tweed, Mrs. T. E. Burnside, Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Allan, Shirley and Joan returned to their home at Kenmore, New York, last week after a holiday with Rawdon relatives and a camping trip at Healey Falls.

Miss Anne Runnalls visited Miss A. Kirk, Norwood, recently.

Mr. and Mrs. John Rainie and James, Miss Emma Rainie spent a few days at the home of their sister, Mrs. Blake Totton in Toronto and visited the Canadian National Exhibition. The Rainie family accompanied by Mrs. Totton and son James also enjoyed a motor trip over the new Queen Elizabeth Highway to Niagara Falls.

U.S. "INSPECTORS" ARRIVE IN BERMUDA



Arriving in Hamilton harbor aboard the U.S. cruiser St. Louis, Rear-Admiral John W. Greenslade, LEFT, and Brigadier-General J. L. Devers, RIGHT, of the United States board of inspection, are pictured with U.S. Consul William H. Beck. They inspected air and naval sites following the trade of 50 U.S. destroyers to Great Britain in exchange for air and naval bases on British possessions in the western hemisphere. The Bermuda ban on gasoline-driven vehicles may have to be changed to conform with defence needs.

West Lake

West Lake — The Misses Eleanor Brown and Wanda Wright have resumed their studies at Picton Collegiate. Wanda is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guss Turpin, and Eleanor is with Miss Marjorie Tubbs at the home of Mrs. Leavitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Lucas Sharpe were recent week end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. D. Maitland.

Mr. and Mrs. Maitland attended the funeral of their cousin, the late Mr. S. Henderson at "The Ridge" near Coe Hill, on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hook spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rutter.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mayne attended Toronto Exhibition last week.

Miss Lillian Maitland spent a recent week end at the home of Mrs. Gordon Cahoon, Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Leavitt spent a couple of days last week in Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Wildman and Lloyd, spent a day with Mrs. Weston Leavitt, Woodrows, last week.

Mr. Roy Trumpour has been called to the colors and will be leaving soon to join the R. C. A. F. in training at Trenton.

North Lakeside

North Lakeside — Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Huyck, Mrs. Lela Weeks and Mrs. H. Huyck spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. English and family and Mrs. Dinner of Peterboro.

Mrs. Luther Harvey is ill in Prince Edward County Hospital. Her friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. Howard Walt and friend, also Mr. Joe Bignell attended the C. N. E. at Toronto on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Chase spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mrs. Fred Russell of Ameliasburg. Master Wayne Stinson returned home with them to spend a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Tubbs and Karen of Union Vale spent the dinner hour on Sunday, the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Chase.

Mr. Delbert Bush and Misses Mildred Bush and Dorothy Skinkle attended the C. N. E. last week.

Rev. C. Gifford and Mr. Elden Walt attended Presbytery at Selby on Thursday.

Mrs. Cecil McConkey and Glen spent a few days this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elden Walt.

Mr. H. J. Parliament of Salem spent Monday the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Chase.

Miss Helen Walt, Reg. N., was on duty in Belleville last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Chase were tea hour guests on Wednesday of last week with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and family of Mountain View.

Mrs. Vic Brown of Consecon was a caller on Friday at the Huyck home.

The W. A. held a business meeting in the Church Vestry on Tuesday afternoon. Plans were made for a bazaar the latter part of November. It was also decided to redecorate the Church Vestry.

Niles Corners

Niles Corners — Mr. Joseph Ellis and Mr. C. Ellis spent a few days last week at the C. N. E.

Mr. and Mrs. Don East of Bloomfield and Mr. Farley Mallory and Miss Johnson of Trenton were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Lunn.

Mrs. W. McCrimmon of Star Lake, N. Y., who has been staying for a time with her sister, Mrs. Lunn, left on Monday to visit relatives at Plevna.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ellis spent Saturday afternoon in Picton.

Mr. A. N. Dafoe attended Presbytery at Selby on Tuesday last.

Pte. Perry Smith of Camp Borden spent the week end with his wife and little son.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Conboy and family of Oshawa were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Dafoe.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dafoe attended the shower for Mr. and Mrs. R. Whitton (nee Beatrice Munroe) at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Munroe, Rosehall, on Friday evening last.

Mrs. Will Ellis visited Mr. and Mrs. H. Thompson, Pleasant Bay, Wednesday of last week.

Mr. Harry Dafoe had the misfortune of having his milling grinder burst one morning last week.

Miss Florence Miller, 3rd concession, called on friends here one afternoon last week.

Vivian Istead was an evening guest on Friday last with Miss Doris Wannamaker, Rosehall.

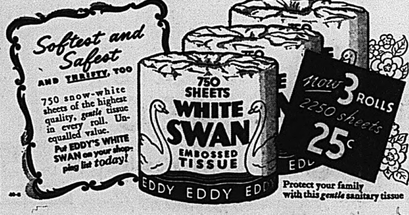
The recent rain was very welcome here.

HOUSEHOLD USE No. 12

"FIRST AID" EVERY WASH DAY!
Javex
Javex 15¢
DIRT'S WORST ENEMY

Use a little Javex in washing machine or rinse water to make your linens and cottons dazzling white. Stubborn stains disappear like magic!

AT YOUR GROCER'S



Softest and Safest AND THRIFTY, TOO
750 SHEETS WHITE SWAN EMBOSSED TISSUE
EDDY EDDY EDDY
now 3 ROLLS 2250 sheets 25c

750 snow-white sheets of the highest quality, gentle tissue in every roll. Unequalled value.

Put EDDY'S WHITE SWAN on your shopping list today!

Protect your family with this gentle sanitary tissue

40-8

LOBLAW'S

FRESH SPRING
LAMB
LEGS - - lb. 28c
FRONTS - lb. 16c
LOINS Flank-on lb. 25c

"SPECIALS"

PRIME BEEF
SPECIALS — Lean
BONELESS POT ROAST lb. 16¢
BONELESS RIB ROAST lb. 32¢
BONELESS ROUND STEAK Roast lb. 27¢

SPECIAL — CHOICE FRESH
BOILING FOWL lb. 20¢

LOBLAW QUALITY
BOLOGNA, Sliced, 2 lbs. 25¢
Tasty SMOKED SKINLESS WIENERS - lb. 20¢

ONTARIO PEACHES
During this week Peaches are in "Full Bloom" and in plentiful supply for Eating, Shortcake, Pies and Preserving. Enjoy this famous Ontario Fruit rich in Vitamins A, B, C., Phosphorous, Calcium, Iron, Etc., while prices are reasonable.

ONTARIO SELECTED WHITE
CELERY HEARTS 2 for 15c

ONTARIO — New Crop CAULIFLOWER, PARSNIPS, RUTABAGAS, WHITE TURNIPS now available.

SELECTED GOLDEN RIPE
Bananas 2 lb. 17c
Scientifically ripened in our ripening rooms.

SPECIAL—ONTARIO No. 1 LARGE
COOKING Onions 3 lb. 5c

NEW CROP DOMESTIC GRADE
ONT. WEALTHY Apples 4 lb. 15c

CALIFORNIA SEEDLESS
Grapefruit Size 100's Each 5c

BUY SAVE
WAR SAVINGS STAMPS
at any LOBLAW STORE

LOBLAW'S ORANGE PEKOE
RED LABEL TEA
INDIVIDUAL TEA BAGS
Pkg. of 20 23¢ Pkg. of 45 47¢

CLUB HOUSE MAMMOTH PLAIN
QUEEN OLIVES 11-oz. Jar 28¢

AYLMER TOMATO
CATSUP 2 12-oz. Bottles 21¢

JACK & JILL
CHUNKY NUT Peanut Butter 16-oz. Ice Box Jar 21¢

GET A 2-PIECE CREAM & SUGAR SET FOR 5c
With the Purchase of a LARGE PKG. of CHIPSO
At the Regular Price. ALL FOR 25¢

Special— MONARCH PASTRY FLOUR
7-lb. BAG 25c
24-lb. BAG 70c

RED RIVER CEREAL 1-lb. Pkg. 14c

TEA-BISK 20-oz. Pkg. 19c

MAPLE LEAF
CAKE FLOUR 44-oz. Pkg. 25c

FACIAL SOAP
WOODBURY'S 2 Cakes 15¢

MAKES THEM FIT AND KEEPS THEM FIT.
PARD DOG FOOD 2 16-oz. Tins 19¢

HAWES
LEMON OIL 12-oz. Bottle 23¢

SUPERFINE
SNAP Powder 2 Tins 23¢

50% FASTER, THE NEW OLD DUTCH CLEANSER 2 Tins 19¢

COMFORT SOAP Cake 4¢

JIF SOAP FLAKES Pkg. 19¢
Mail One JIF BOX TOP and 15c to JIF Montreal and Receive a Triple Action Propelling Pencil.

Swift's Premium
LAMB STEW 2 16-oz. Tins 29¢

Special — Swift's Silverleaf
PURE LARD 1-lb. Carton 8¢

Quick or Regular
QUAKER OATS 48-oz. Large Package 19¢

Canadian
LOBSTER "Choice" 6-oz. Tin 27¢

Special — Ingersoll
LOAF CHEESE Per Pound 23¢

Carleton Choice Tender
Asparagus CUTS 12-Fluid Oz. Tin 9¢

BRUNSWICK BRAND
CHICKEN HADDIES 14-oz. Tin 14¢

FOR WHITER WASHES
RINSO Large Package .. 22¢

HARRY HORNE'S Double Cream
CUSTARD POWDER 1-lb. Tin 25¢ Asstd. Flavors

"The ONE & ONLY"
H. P. SAUCE 8½-oz. Bottle 29¢

"EATS DIRT"
GILLETT'S LYE Tin 11¢

Rose Brand Spiced Sweet
WAFER PICKLES 28-oz. Jar 25¢

Special — Quaker
PUFFED WHEAT Pkg. 6¢

Cottage Brand Sliced or Unsliced
BREAD BROWN or WHITE 2 24-oz. Loaves 15¢

Special — Clark's Cooked
SPAGHETTI WITH TOMATO SAUCE & CHEESE 15 Fluid Oz. Tin 7¢

Aylmer — In Tomato Sauce
PORK & BEANS 20 Fluid Oz. Tin 8¢

Special — Yellow Label — Black or Mixed
Mother Parker's TEA ½-lb. Pkg. 31¢

WHEAT FLAKES
FORCE 8-oz. Pkg. 10¢

UNDERWOOD'S DEVILLED
HAM 2 2¼-oz. Tins 25¢

HEINZ SANDWICH
SPREAD 6½-oz. Jar 19¢

CROSSE & BLACKWELL
CREAM of TOMATO SOUP 10½-oz. Tin 8¢

COWAN'S PERFECTION
COCOA ½-lb. Tin 15¢

WHITE SWAN
PANCAKE FLOUR 20-oz. Pkg. 13¢

NORMANDIE Brand LIGHT SYRUP
Dessert Pears Standard Quality 2 12 Fluid Oz. Tins 17¢

LOBLAW'S FINE COFFEES COMBINE
QUALITY & ECONOMY

Pride of Arabia
RICH, FRAGRANT AND ECONOMICAL.
Very fine & medium ground. 1-lb. Bag 39¢

LOBLAW'S FAST-SELLING
Two-Cup COFFEE 1-lb. Bag 35¢
A very attractive blend. Very fine & medium ground.

LOBLAW'S
TRUMPET Coffee 1-lb. Bag 31¢
Medium Ground.

BORDEN'S, CARNATION, NESTLE'S
EVAP. MILK 2 16-oz. Tins 15¢

POST
Bran FLAKES Pkg. 10¢

PRIDE OF FUNDY SMOKED
SARDINES In Olive Oil. Tin 11¢

BEAVER BONELESS
CHICKEN 7-oz. Tin 22¢

ONTARIO WHITE
BEANS 2 lb. 9¢

BETTY'S
JAM RASPBERRY or STRAWBERRY With Added Pectin. 2 lb. Jar 23¢

PRICES EFFECTIVE UNTIL SATURDAY NIGHT, SEPT. 14.
We reserve the right to limit quantities of all merchandise to family weekly requirements.

LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO. LIMITED
HEAD OFFICE, TORONTO.

3rd. Hillier

3rd Hillier — Mrs. Grant Halladay and daughter, Evelyn, of Wellington, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Benway and family.

Mrs. Lyle Leavens spent the past week at Trenton with her aunt, Mrs. Annie Kirk, who has been very ill.

Mr. and Mrs. George Benway and Ronald spent Sunday at Pleasant Bay with Mrs. Albert Chamberlain and Mr. Frank Benway.

The school children are all settled again for another year's work. Mrs. Stewart Wood of Cole Creek is the teacher for this year.

Mr. Frank Root of Consecon Lake, spent the week end with his cousin, Ross Benway.

Friends of Mrs. Clayton Palmer of Consecon Lake are very sorry to hear of her illness. At present Mrs. Palmer is at Kingston for treatment.

Mrs. Douglas Wannamaker expects to go to Gravenhurst this week for treatment there. Friends are very sorry to hear of her serious illness.

Mr. Lyle Leavens damaged his car badly hitting and breaking off a telephone pole through the swamp road. No one in the car was hurt, but the telephone pole and car were out of working order for some time.

The canning factories are all on the go. Mr. Stanley Thompson and C. B. Clapp each operating a small factory are canning tomatoes.

Most of the farmers have threshed in this vicinity.

Burrs

Burr's—Mr. Ray Bird, Huycke's Point, called on Mr. Howard Fox on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vancott visited his brother, Mr. Kenneth Vancott and Mrs. Vancott, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Morden visited Mrs. Dan Morden, Wellington, on Sunday.

Mr. Will Morton threshed for Mr. George Huffman on Friday and for Mr. Tom Morden on Saturday.

Mr. Tom Morden and Mr. Thos. Vancott were at Wellington on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Val Squire. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Purtelle were at Belleville on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hubbs, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Lough spent Friday at Mr. Joe Moon's camp, West Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Ainsworth and Jackie Douglas, Christian Street, and Mrs. Emma Ainsworth, Toronto, were also at Mr. Moon's camp.

Mrs. George Fox spent Saturday with Mrs. Tom Morden.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clarke, Mr. and Mrs. Don Parks attended Toronto Exhibition on Friday and Saturday.

Miss Lida Weeks and little Miss Doris Clarke spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bovay, North Lakeside.

Mr. Howard Fox and Miss Irene Fox spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Robinson, Rednersville.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hubbs visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Moon at their camp, West Lake, on Sunday.

Doris and Leslie Lough spent the week-end with their brother, Mr. Percy Lough and Mrs. Lough.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Fulford and Miss Beatrice Humphrey dined on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Herb Taylor, Bowerman's.

Mr. Floyd Huffman spent a few days at Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. George Empey, Eldorado, and Mrs. Ed Blakely, Bannockburn, spent over the week-end with the latter's sister, Mrs. Frank Burkett and Mr. Burkett.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parks, Mr and Mrs. Sam Clarke returned home on Saturday evening from their trip to Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hough and Mrs. Bride Hough visited Mr. Percy Pearce on Sunday afternoon at Prince Edward County Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clarke visited her parents, Mr and Mrs. Harold Bovay, North Lakeside, on Sunday. Little Doris Clarke and Miss Lida Weeks returned home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Parks visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Maxwell, Bowerman's, on Sunday.

Mr. Tom Morden shipped a load of hogs on Monday.

Mrs. Kenneth Vancott and Mrs. Eric Edwards spent Monday afternoon with Mrs. Tom Morden.

Malone

Malone — Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCrimmon spent Saturday last in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Deline and family of Marmora spent Sunday in Malone.

Mrs. James Gordon and family of Madoc spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Fox.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Long on Sunday were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong and family, Mr. and Mrs. H. Weese also Mr. and Mrs. Albert Yearwood and family of Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Long spent a couple of days in Belleville this week.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Dafoe spent the week end in Frankford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Arthurs, Doris and Bobbie, Belleville, spent Sunday the guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Long.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Weese and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. Deline.

Mrs. Walter Gawley spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Weese.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan McCrimmon, Mrs. H. Weese and Mr. C. Weese spent Tuesday last in Belleville.

A number of our soldiers spent the week end at their respective homes here.

Habitual Constipation Is a Danger Signal

Constipation is always bad enough . . . it drags you down; makes you feel headachy, dull, irritable. But when constipation becomes a habit, look out! It usually tends to get worse and worse. Frequent resort to harsh purgatives and other emergency treatments only makes you the more dependent on them.

The one sensible way to treat constipation is to get at the cause. Common constipation often results from not getting enough of the kind of food that will help form a "bulky" mass in the intestine.

If this is your case, you should eat Kellogg's All-Bran. It only takes a small amount—an ounce a day is enough for most people—but you must have it regularly and drink plenty of water. Get a package at your grocer's today and just see what a world of difference it makes when you keep "regular." Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

Crofton

Crofton — Major W. O. and Mrs. Frink and Mrs. Harry Brown and two children motored to Sudbury on Saturday to spend a few days with their daughter, Mrs. Tom Jordon and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Ainsworth and Mrs. Will Ainsworth of Toronto spent Monday with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Munroe.

Miss Margaret Parsons of Christian Street spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. H. Parsons and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Munroe of Frankford spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Munroe.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Jones and Noreen and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rorabeck and Mrs. Harland Barrom spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Morden and Beatrice at Jericho.

The Crofton Ladies Aid were entertained on Wednesday afternoon by the Mount Pleasant Ladies at their Church and a very enjoyable time was spent.

The Ladies Aid met at the home of Mrs. Val Squire on Thursday afternoon with a large attendance.

Miss Betty Bongard spent a few days last week at the Toronto exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bongard, Betty and Jerrold spent Sunday with Mrs. W. V. Bongard at Glenora. Miss Jean Smith of Trenton returned with them to spend some time with her cousin Betty.

No Down Payment

$13.69 Monthly for 3 Years

Pays for a

Pease

System of

Hot Water Heating

Costing $450.00 for the Installation

• • •

Telephone

CHAS. L. HYDE

292 Front St. Telephone 38

BELLEVILLE, ONT.

SAVE at I·D·A DRUG STORES

SPECIALS for THURSDAY, FRIDAY and SATURDAY We Reserve the Right to Limit Quantities.

SPICES FRESH STRONG LOW PRICED.

PAROWAX 2 lbs. 25c

HALIBUT LIVER CAPSULES. 50 for 98c

A.B.D. CAPSULES 50 for 1.09

AUTO STROP RAZOR SPECIAL 79c

SCHICK RAZOR BLADES, and Palmolive Cream 59c

Headquarters for Vitamin Products, Tonics and Cough and Cold Remedies.

I·D·A DRUG STORES

DOLAN'S—DOYLE'S—GEEN'S

PAULEY'S — SCHRYVER'S

Executive of Quinte Conference Branch W.M.S. Convenes

The autumn executive of the Bay of Quinte Conference Branch of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church of Canada convened at the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, with a fair attendance of officers and a total registration of one hundred and sixty-two delegates from the seven presbyterials: Renfrew, Kingston, Belleville, Oshawa, Cobourg, Peterborough and Lindsay.

Miss E. Dunoon presided over the three sessions and Mrs. Ronald Vatcher gave an interesting synopsis of the Dominion Board meetings held in June. The treasurer reported 26,660 dollars remitted for the half year. Splendid displays of Mission Band and Baby Band handiwork also press scrap books and a large array of interesting literature all pointed out the attractiveness of missions.

Mrs. W. L. Smyth, B. A., was the capable dean and Mrs. J. H. Turnbull, past editor of the Missionary Monthly conducted four worship periods based on "Living the Christian Life". Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, D. D., gave three lectures on "A Christian Idea of Society". Miss Margaret Dawson, our missionary home on furlough from Chissamba, Africa, captivated the school with a glowing account of the "Saints of Africa". During the week special classes were held for every phase of missionary endeavour including all the new study books, stewardship, five year plan, etc. Miss Jessie Murray gave an illustrated lecture, several missionaries spoke briefly and a number of Dominion board officers were in attendance and assisted with the sessions. The last evening was based on Missionary Education through Dramatization.

Arden

Arden — Mrs. Garfield Scott and family spent Monday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Gendron.

Mrs. Alice Rikley of Ottawa has returned home after spending three weeks with her father, Mr. Simeon Loyst.

Mr. Roy Baker of Southampton is visiting friends here.

Miss Irene Wood spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. H. Hartwick, Mountain Grove.

Mr. Elmer Pixley, Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Godfrey and daughter, Ada, motored to Enterprise, Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George England called on friends in Maberly, Thursday evening.

Mr. Charlie Woodcock of Kingston spent the week end at his home here.

Mrs. Charlie Gaylord and daughter Faye of Bordenwood called on friends here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wood visited Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hartwick, Mountain Grove. Sunday.

Mrs. John Schryver of Harlowe is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. J. A. Marshall and niece, Mrs. J. W. Newton, here.

Mr. Fred Pringle of Montreal visited friends here last week.

Mr. Grant Loyst has returned home after spending a week in Toronto.

Mrs. George Hayes and son, Jack Hayes, also grand-daughter, Miss Alvena Wood of Sharbot Lake, visited the former's grand daughter, Mrs. Roy Greer, Saturday.

Pte. Wellington Thompson, who is training in Quebec, spent a few days last week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Thompson, here.

Mr. James Scott, Miss Madeline Nugent also Mrs. Claude Nugent, called on friends in Kingston Saturday.

Mrs. Stanley Loyst and daughter Vera, have returned home after visiting friends in Kingston.

Mr. Herb. Wormworth spent Sunday at Mr. Miles Wood's.

Miss Florence Sproul of Sharbot Lake called on friends here Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Marshall also Mrs. Edward Helms called on friends in Tweed Friday.

Messrs. Stanlie Hughes, Clayton Clancy, Sandy Pringle and Donald Johnson who are in military training at Kingston, spent the week-end at their homes here.

Mrs. Harvey Loyst of Flinton, called on her sister, Mrs. Frank Loyst here on Sunday.

The many friends of Mrs. Robert Lattimer who is ill in Kingston Hospital are glad to hear she is improving in health.

AN AC'S GRIEF

London, (CP)—The day after he returned home on leave to attend the funeral of his fiancee, Aircraftman Norman Vasey, 18, said he could not live without her, and was found gassed at his home.

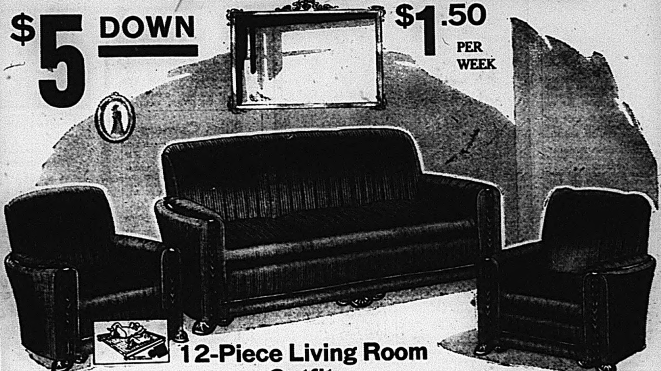
Your Credit is Good At

Lipson's

FURNITURE HOUSE

$5 DOWN

$1.50 PER WEEK



12-Piece Living Room Outfit

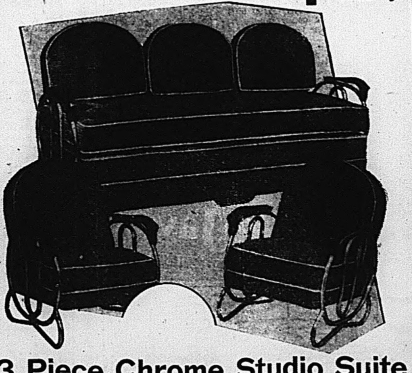
Here's one of the greatest furniture buys of the year. This beautiful twelve-piece living room suite, consisting of a 3-piece all-over Velour Waysagless Chesterfield Suite with beautiful show-wood trim. Steel construction, semi-modern design, reversible inner spring cushions.

- WALNUT END TABLE.
- FOOTSTOOL.
- SMOKER.
- TWO CUSHIONS.
- TABLE LAMP and SHADE.
- TWO PICTURES.

$89.50

$5 DOWN ONLY

$1.50 Weekly



3 Piece Chrome Studio Suite

See our outstanding display of chrome studio suites. All spring filled construction throughout, covered in durable attractive velours and featured in many modern and ultra modern designs. Manufactured by one of the world's best makers of Chrome furniture we offer these to buyers who are looking for quality $69.50

$5 DOWN

$1.50 Weekly

Cheery New LAMPS

Our buyers were lucky to secure the entire exhibit of floor lamps from the recent Toronto exhibit and we pass these 1941 designs along to you at extremely low prices.

EVERY LAMP IN THE GROUP is a MASTERPIECE

See among them the new PARACHUTE SHADES.

Choose your lamp from one of the largest assortments in Canada and pay only $1. Down and as low as 50 cents weekly.

$1.00 Down 50c Weekly

Happiness Begins at Home

Empey Hill

Empey Hill — Quite a number attended the Toronto Exhibition this past week.

Miss Neta French spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler French.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey, Rochester, Mrs. R. Harvey, Delbert, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Grooms, Marion and Bobby, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Ford, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Winter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jackson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Yeomans of Montreal visited her mother, Mrs. H. Henderson and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Henderson last week.

Mr. Frank Leaver and Jean of Forest Mills spent Friday evening at the McMath home.

Mr. and Mrs. Verne Oliver spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Jim McConnell and Mr. McConnell, Roblin.

Master John Craig of Switzerville is visiting his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson, this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mowers and family of Deseronto were dinner guests on Sunday of his mother, Mrs. J. Barnes and Mr. Barnes.

Mrs. Jim Alexander and Sammie of Arden spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. S. E. Winter and Mr. Winter.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Russell, who celebrated their 41st wedding anniversary on Thursday evening. Quite a number of friends and relatives enjoyed a social evening with them.

Miss Dorothy Chadwick of Napanee is visiting the Misses Mowers.

Mrs. E. R. Price and Marjorie were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kimmerly and family.

Quite a number of the schools opened last week while others will start next Monday, Sept. 16th.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harvey of Rochester, spent the past week with Mrs. R. Harvey and other friends.

Mr. Jay McMath spent a couple of days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James McMath, Sr.

Messrs. Leonard and Ralph Hawley spent Sunday with Mr. George Robinson, Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Faulk, Mr. and Mrs. Vernie Booth motored to Montreal and then to Callander and visited the Quints and attended Toronto Exhibition on their way home.

Private Charlie Martin of the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders of Niagara Camp, who was one of the Guards of Honor for the Governor General in Hamilton, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Martin for a few days last week. He was presented with a gold wrist watch by the boys before leaving on Wednesday.

Maurice Pulver of Rednersville spent a few days with his cousin, Burton Hudgins.

Mrs. Norman Holmes and daughter of Buffalo, N. Y., are guests of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Tummon.

Muriel and Olive Erwin of England will be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wood for the duration of the war.

Miss Audrey Dudgeon returned home on Saturday from Wigwassan Lodge, Muskoka, where she spent the past two months. She is leaving on Monday for Belleville Hospital to train as a nurse.

Mrs. E. E. Price, Mildred and Percy of Whitby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Price. Mr. Price accompanied them home and visited other friends there during the week.

Betty McLeod, who spent her summer vacation with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McLeod, returned to her home in Belleville on Sunday.

Miss Helen Clarke of Deseronto was a tea guest of Miss Mary Merrick on Sunday evening at the parsonage.

Bay of Quinte Presbytery met at Selby on Thursday with a good attendance. The W. M. S. ladies served dinner.

Mr. Milton Martin left for Petawawa on Monday for two weeks.

Sunday was observed as a day of Prayer in the churches last Sunday.

Rev. Canon E. C. Radcliffe called on Mrs. R. Harvey and at the McMath home on Tuesday evening.

Addington Fair, at Centreville attracted quite a number on Saturday afternoon. A free grandstand performance was given by Harry Wagner of Belleville and his class of musicians which greatly pleased the crowd.

Mountain View

Mountain View — Mr. Nathan Luscombe and Mr. Webster Wilson spent Monday and Tuesday in Toronto attending the Canadian National Exhibition and were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Carveth. Misses Shirley and Loraine Wilson who have been holidaying at the same home returned home with them.

Mr. Alfred Poste left for Petawawa on Monday for a two weeks' training course.

Mrs. G. Wanamaker accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wanamaker and Jean of Belleville to Toronto over the week end.

Miss Maggie Blair returned home to Ottawa with friends on Monday after spending a few weeks with her sister, Miss Annie Blair.

On Tuesday night the Mountain View Young People held a wiener roast on the bay shore at Mr. Lewis Wallbridge's, Huffs Island. A pleasant evening was spent in singing around the fire and the toasting of wieners and marshmallows. The latter part of the evening was spent at the Rainbow Rendezvous.

Misses Connie Wood and Miriam Keeble spent a few days last week in Toronto at the Canadian National Exhibition. The girls were on the judging team representing Prince Edward County and were guests of the fair.

Miss Annie Blair is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Chase of North Lakeside were supper guests on Wednesday night with Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague.

Quite a few from this neighborhood attended the Institute meeting at the home of Mrs. Lewis Wallbridge on Wednesday afternoon.

Other visitors last week from this neighborhood at the Canadian National Exhibition were: Mr. Ross and Howard Lough, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Barber and boys, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Jones, Mr. Donald Jones and Mr. Seymore Hamilton.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stanton were Saturday evening callers with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Snider.

Mrs. William Hamilton and children of Napanee spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Hamilton.

Miss Hazel Minaker spent the week end at the home of her brother, Mr. Everett Minaker.

Miss Elizabeth Jordon spent the latter part of the week with Mr. and Mrs. L. Goodwin of Cherry Valley.

Mr. Douglas Anderson of Belleville spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. Walter Hamilton.

Miss Bernice Minaker spent the week end with Miss Evelyn Sprague.

Mrs. Alfred Poste and Yvonne called on Mrs. S. Rutter on Friday afternoon.

Eleanor, Pauline, Nellie and Roger Sprague were entertained on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Wallbridge, Massassaga, the occasion being the birthday of their son, Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Tucker and Frances, 4th of Sidney, were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Snider and Mrs. Bristol. Afternoon callers at the same home were Mrs. Blanche Snider and Mr. Wilfred Snider of 2nd. of Ameliasburg.

Murray Canal District

Murray Canal District — Miss Beatrice Wood of Belleville is spending a few days at her home here.

The noise of the threshing machine is again heard in the district.

Mrs. Perry of Wooler spent a few days last week with her daughter, Mrs. Haggarty.

The chicken supper held at Mt. Carmel Church on Wednesday was well attended. The proceeds amounted to $80.00.

Mr. and Mrs. M. Brown and family, Mr. and Mrs. G. Waite and family, Mrs. Cotten's family, Mr. and Mrs. R. Haggarty and Edith, Gordon Chapman, Frank Chapman, Charles Powers, Doreen Tackaberry, Arnold Tackaberry, Charles Lovett and Mr. A. Talmadge were among those who attended the Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto last week.

Mr. C. Coulter of Toronto spent Thursday of last week with his brother, Mr. P. Coulter.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Tackaberry entertained friends from Toronto and Michigan over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Haggarty entertained friends from Wooler on Sunday.

Miss K. Gibson is spending a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. J. Gibson.

Miss Laura Mason is spending a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. J. Ketcheson.

Miss B. Jones of Belleville spent Sunday with friends in this district.

A number of the ladies in this district are employed in Brighton and Smithfield canning factories. It is expected that the tomato season will be short this year, as the tomatoes are very slow ripening.

New! Smart! Different!

Fashion's Latest Hat Ideas—For Miss or Matron

Shades to match every outfit

$1.98

Lipson's

Smartly Styled Economically Priced!

New Felt — Plain or with fancy design in green, blue, grey, navy or Air Force.

$1.98

LIPSON'S

IT'S FALL AT LIPSON'S

SPECIAL! NEW FALL BAGS

1.00 - 1.49

Smart bags to complete every Fall costume. Pouch, envelope, under-arm styles in suede, calf, new grain leathers. Black, new Fall colors.

RAYON UNDIES

Satin Slips

Smooth satin slips in smartly tailored or demurely feminine styles. 1.00

Satin Panties

Various styles and patterns. All new. White and tea rose 49c

NEW

Neckwear

Smart lace collars and collar and cuff sets to make that other dress look like new.

25c & 49c

Flash! New Fall Gloves

$1.00

Sleek, smooth-fitting gloves in soft suedes, kids, capeskins. Unusual stitching, firm seams, pipings, in new pullon styles. Black, brown, new fall colors.

POLKA-DOT "BUTCHER BOY" PYJAMAS

Fast-colour polka dot broadcloth in colours of green, red, navy or royal, with white dot, each

$1.00

Warm, fine quality flannelette. Soft shades with white dots. Sizes small, medium and large. Each

$1.59

LADIES' SWEATERS

Long and short sleeve pullovers and coat sweaters. Plain and fancy weaves, some with multi-colored embroidery. All newest tones of rose, powder blue, green, wine, black or white. Sizes to fit everyone. Each .... $1.39 & $1.98

SMART NEW SKIRTS

Wool faille or Alpine cloth. Smart new treatments of pleats and tucks, good fitting. Colors of black, wine, navy, royal, green or grey. Sizes 14 to 20. Each ...... $1.98 & $2.49

Misses' Striped Blouses $1.00

Just arrived — short sleeve blouses in red and white, blue and white or green and white. Guaranteed washable. 14 to 20 .....

PLAID SPORT JACKETS

Wear a utility jacket. All the smartest plaid combinations to match any outfit. So smart, so useful. Sizes 14 to 20. Each .... $3.95 & $4.50

Attention Knitters! "Monarch" Yarns Are Exclusive With Lipson's in Belleville

Shop at Lipson's and Save

Lipson's

Belleville's Favorite Store.

Here's a Break for You Save On Fall SUITS

Just arrived! Smart new patterns of worsted fabrics in all the new blues, greens and browns — single and double breasted drape models. Sizes 36 to 46. A sure $25.00 value, 3 pce. suit

$19.95

YOUTHS' SUITS IN WORSTEDS Sizes 32 to 37

$17.95

Men's New Dress Shirts

Stripes, checks, plaids, plains, all colors including white. Size 14 to 16½. Each $1.00

Lipson's

"BELLEVILLE'S FAVORITE STORE"

Every Talked-Of Style In Our Dramatic Pre-Season COAT SALE

Many smart women have already taken advantage of this sensational event — Think of it! In the face of rising market, here's an opportunity to buy your new winter coat at considerable savings.

Hurry!

Early shoppers naturally get the best selection. There's still time to select a smart coat from our huge stock at 9.95 13.95 15.95 18.95

SOPHISTICATED SIDE DRAPE? YES—AND EVERY OTHER NEW FEATURE FOR FALL AND WINTER

NEW ARRIVALS DAILY — VISIT THE DRESS DEPARTMENT OFTEN!

THREE POPULAR PRICE GOURPS TO CHOOSE FROM

2.95 3.95 5.95

"SIDE SADDLE" SILHOUETTE . .

Attention Women! Over Size Dresses from 46 to 52

We carry in stock at all times a good variety of oversize dresses, printed and plain crepes, short and long sleeves at .... 2.95 & 3.95

Shop at Lipson's and Save

Lipson's

Belleville's Favorite Store.

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McWilliams, Corbyville, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Agnes Josephine to Neil Harris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Harris of Belleville, the marriage to take place Wednesday, September 25th., at St. Michael's Church, Belleville.

Mrs. Ray Huffman, Napanee, is in the city owing to the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Edgecombe, who is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lee have returned to the city after spending a few days in St. Catharines, the guests of Mr. Lee's brother, Mr. James Lee and Mrs. Lee.

On Monday evening, a large crowd met in the Parish Hall, Point Anne, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Williams. The early evening was spent in euchre and the prize winners were ladies' first Mrs. J. McConnell, consolation, Mrs. Doxtator; men's first, V. Williams, consolation W. J. Armstrong. Following the cards Mr. A. B. Charlton read an address and presented the young couple with four dinette chairs, an occasional chair and an end table. Mr. Williams thanked the gathering on behalf of Mrs. Williams and himself and all joined in singing "For They are Jolly Good Fellows". Dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour.

Worn like a wrist watch, which it resembles, a camera has been invented by a resident of Watertown, N.Y., that is marked with hands and numerals.

NOT WAR'S DOING

Arley, England (CP)—Nine-year-old Mary Joyce was shot and killed on a farm near here when a shotgun in the hands of a playmate of the same age accidentally went off.

IT'S ALL RIGHT—
I sent him down to get Quaker Puffed Wheat and Quaker Puffed Rice at LOWEST PRICES IN HISTORY!

HAWES' WAX 45¢

The finest wax money can buy—and costs only 45¢ a pound

HAWES
FLOOR WAX

WOODLEY'S FAMOUS $5.00 HATS

This important item, in a smart business girl's Fall outfit, may be seen in a wide choice in our Millinery Department—Berets, "Little" Hats, Manipulated Brims, Off-the-face styles and other leading trends—featured at the one price. Black, brown, and Fall colors. Each $5.00.

WOODLEY - FURRIERS

273 FRONT STREET

Members of Minerva Chapter Guests of Madoc O. E. S.

Madoc, (Special)— On Monday night at the regular meeting of Madoc Order of the Eastern Star, the members had as guests the officers and some members of Minerva Chapter O.E.S. of Belleville. During the evening Mrs. Cooper, Worthy Matron of Minerva Chapter, Mr. Wilson, Worthy Patron and the officers very capably conferred the degrees of the Chapter on candidates of Madoc Chapter. Miss E. Jobson sang a solo during the evening. Mrs. Coral Adams, District Deputy Grand Matron of District No. 12 was also present, and during the evening gave a very inspiring address asking for a two minutes silence for our British Empire in these difficult times.

Worthy Matron Blanche Keller and Worthy Patron George West of Madoc Chapter voiced the appreciation of the members of Madoc Chapter to the visiting Chapter. Short addresses were given by Mrs. Cooper, Mrs. Wonnacott Mr. Wilson and Mr. Adams. Following the close of Chapter lunch was served and a short time spent in dancing.

WOMEN WANTED

38 to 52 years old. Women who are restless, moody, NERVOUS—who fear hot flashes, dizzy spells—to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Pinkham's Compound is effective to help women during these "trying times" due to functional irregularities. Made in Canada. WORTH TRYING!

Let Teacher Do it

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Intelligent parents are eager to do something at home to prepare the child before he enters school to get on well with books after he begins school.

About the most important thing his parents can do for him is to cultivate good health habits in him, good routines, self-reliance and responsibility and skill at being happy with other children of his age.

Yet some parents think they must do more. A few, alas, will try to teach him to read, spell and do number work. I wish they wouldn't. All too soon he will have such formal teaching at school. We should remember, too, that his eyes are poorly coordinated. Why tax his tender nerves so early?

His parents should, however, if without undue stimulation, help him widen and enrich his experiences and keep alive his curiosity. They should answer all his questions and encourage him in free conversation and creative play. Also they should read and read to him, expose him to good music, and enjoy with him the beauties of Nature.

Learning at Play

If at play he learns some or all the letters of the alphabet and number symbols with their meaning up to ten, very well. If he likes to draw just for fun, he might even profit from printing very large a few of the letters and number symbols. Unfortunately, however, some parents will set the little tyke to do such things as tasks and to tax him with the making of small letters and figures. If he makes them at all before going to school, let it be for fun and let them be several inches in dimension. In case there is a typewriter in the home he might profit from making a few letters or figures at a sitting with it.

The danger, of course, is that the ambitious parents will urge, even coerce, the little child and lose sight of his welfare to show him off. Then there are proud relatives to brag about him.

The wise, calm, gentle parent may properly help the tot before he enters school to gain number concepts at play, even to match some of the smaller digit symbols with meaning. One good way for him to learn simple number meaning is to amuse himself in his own way with dominoes as someone casually calls to his attention the dots on each block. Also a good way to help him grow familiar with the number and relative order of the number symbols up to nine inclusive is to play Flinch with him. I consider this a very valuable game for the child from four to eight or ten.

Really Don't Know

Parents who will study the tot of four or five will discover that his knowledge of the meaning of numbers is narrower than most suppose and that often this child will say a number without knowing what it means. Often the child in the first, second or third grade has vague concepts of numbers over five or six.

COLLEGE HILL GROUP

The September meeting of the College Hill group was held in the Sunday School rooms on Tuesday afternoon with the President, Mrs. Burley presiding. The meeting was opened by Hymn 245, followed by prayer led by Rev. Farnsworth.

It was decided that the talent money be given in at the November meeting and that a Red Cross committee be formed. The following were appointed, Mrs. Burley, Mrs. Hyche and Mrs. Thompson. They will be responsible for all materials and will interview the Salvation Army Red Cross Committee.

Plans were completed for a "Pot Luck" supper, sale of home cooking, candy, aprons and towels also auctioning of two quilts.

Committees were formed to take charge of necessary arrangements.

It was decided to help a family whose home was recently burned out. Collection was taken and the meeting was closed with hymn 183 followed by prayer.

The Stars Say

For Friday, September 13

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THIS promises to be a day of enterprise and initiative, to be pushed to the bent of the energies, but observing some discretion as to outlay of funds and extravagance, as the tendency to over-enthusiasm might carry beyond the depths of finance. There is need for reserve and restraint all along the line. Be cautious with papers, letters, all writings, since there are hints of treachery or misconstruction. There are auguries for intrigue and subtlety.

Those whose birthday it is may have an active and enterprising year in which much productive work may be accomplished. However it would be disastrous to take chances with finances, or to indulge in extravagance or overzeal. Also there is presage of duplicity, fraud or mispresentation with letters, contracts and documents. Intrigue and subtlety abound.

A child born on this day although having enterprising tendencies yet may feel a sense of limitation, depression and frustration. It may lean toward doing things the easiest way. It will be kindly and generous, perhaps to the point of overdoing.

SHOWERS FOR GAS

London, (CP)—Portable showerbaths, made of wood, hose pipes and screens, forming a complete mobile cleansing station, are the latest A.R.P. device for treatment of gas cases.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

The Quins Go to School

This September, the Dionne Quintuplets begin school in earnest, and I wish every child in the land was as well prepared to begin school as these children are. Everything has been looked to. Their eyes have been examined and we have made all the preparations of seeing that Marie suffers no handicap because her right eye is a little weak. We have had their teeth examined. We know that their hearing is normal. All these things are so important to a child starting school, obviously.

I suppose some of you will say: "Why, I thought the Quints had been going to school for a long time". They have ,in a way because, they have been getting nursery school training. Classes won't be as strange as to most little ones who start school for the first time this month.

The five of them have been looking forward to the new studies they will begin. Emilie confided to me the other day that when she started to school, then she would be able to sign her name better. Apparently she thinks that writing just comes along as a matter of course once she starts her classes.

Discipline is never a difficult thing in the Quin school room. Not that they don't get into mischief occasionally. They do, just like all children, but it isn't hard to check them. I remember last spring, Yvonne developed a trick. Each time she was caught doing something in class, and was being corrected, she complained that she had the earache. Well, she got away with it a couple of times, but finally the teacher caught on, and Yvonne was punished with a good long stay in the little room. She never tried anything like that again. Another way we punish them for disobedience both in school and out, is to send them to bed a little early. The children dislike this very much.

A DR. DAFOE HINT

Inducing children to change without being told, from their school clothes into "old" suits or dresses for play when they come home from school, is often a problem to parents. This habit will be encouraged if children are given more of a choice in selection of their clothes at the stores. They are more disposed to take care of clothes they particularly like.

CLOSED FOR DURATION

Southampton, England, (CP) — The South-Western Hotel, one of the best-known hotels to transatlantic passengers, has closed down for the duration of the war, after 70 years in business.

CAKES AS USUAL

A Southeast Town, England — (CP)—When a baker's shop was damaged by a bomb, this notice was pinned in the window: "Don't let Hitler spoil your appetite: bread and cakes as usual".

MAKE YOUR HABIT A PLEASURE...

ENJOY LIPTON'S THE TEA THAT IS never insipid

Why waste time and money with insipid teas? Lipton's costs no more yet gives you the deep, sustaining satisfaction and enjoyment of a tea that is always full-flavoured . . . a small leaf blend of the finest teas grown that has won a welcome in the homes of millions throughout the world.

Buy Lipton's today. More economical because its richness provides more cups to the pound.

RED LABEL ORANGE LABEL YELLOW LABEL (Lipton's Finest)

LIPTON'S YELLOW LABEL

No other tea has the International reputation of LIPTON'S FINEST. Tea-lovers in five continents say it's the "perfect tea". Blended especially for the discriminating, you will serve Lipton's Yellow Label with pride—and drink it with never-failing enjoyment. It's an Empire tea, "fit for a king".

LIPTON'S FULL-FLAVOURED (Small Leaf) TEA

LIPTON'S TEA

5¢ SALE AT YOUR DEALER'S NOW!

ACCEPT THIS Handsome Sugar and Cream Set FOR ONLY 5¢ WITH THE PURCHASE OF A LARGE PACKAGE OF CHIPSO AT THE USUAL PRICE!

WHAT A LOVELY DESIGN! IT'S GOING TO LOOK WONDERFUL ON MY TABLE!

ACTUAL SIZES
CREAM PITCHER
2⅞" wide
2½" deep
SUGAR BOWL
3⅜" wide
2⅜" deep

THIS SUGAR AND CREAM SET FEATURES:
1. Handsome "Pioneer" design.
2. Color: Clear, sparkling crystal.
3. Ample handles. Good pouring lip on creamer. Heavy weight.
4. Attractive for entertaining.
5. Creamer holds ⅔ of a cup of liquid. Sugar bowl holds ⅔ of a cup of sugar.

THIS SET IS MADE IN CANADA

This offer made to get you to try NEW FASTER-SUDSING CHIPSO and discover this easy way to Dazzling-White Washes!

To get this handsome "Pioneer" design Sugar and Cream Set for only 5¢:

DO THIS: Go to your dealer and buy a large size package of Chipso at the usual price. For only 5¢ more he will give you this handsome "Pioneer" design Sugar and Cream Set.

But act now! Your dealer's supply is limited. You know you'll be simply delighted with this amazing bargain. And you're going to be amazed next washday when you see how Chipso performs!

On all three points of the famous "Triple-Test," Chipso was unsurpassed by any of the several washday soaps tested—unsurpassed even by those popular, high-powered, granulated soaps so many women used to think they had to use!

Chipso proved that it has the three things you want most from your washday soaps:

1. MORE SPEED—New Chipso gave an outstanding performance in speed of solution and sudsing. And it speeds out a heavy wash in startling time!

2. SNOW-WHITE WASHES—Ounce for ounce, new Chipso gave 15% more suds than the average of 11 other washday soaps tested. Gets white clothes dazzling-white in amazingly short time!

3. OUTSTANDING SAFETY—New Chipso is safer for washable colors than popular, high-powered, granulated soaps.

Don't wait! Get your Sugar and Cream Set before your dealer runs out of them. And remember, Chipso still costs less than other leading package soaps in many stores! Go to your dealer right away!

CHIPSO
Chipso

MADE IN CANADA

OFFER LIMITED TO BELLEVILLE ONLY

The BETTER the TEA the Greater the Bargain

The RED & WHITE Food Stores

RED & WHITE ORANGE PEKOE TEA

Careful selection and blending of fine teas grown on the sunny mountain slopes of India and Ceylon makes Red & White Orange Pekoe Tea a better bargain because you get a better flavour and more cups to the pound. Try a ½-lb triple sealed package 37c

SOCIAL TEA CREAM SANDWICH Biscuits 2 lbs. 25c

Save Money! New Giant Chipso 53c

HANDY AMMONIA Keeps bathtubs white and shiny 2 pkgs 11c

RINSO Soaks clothes clean Large pkg. 24c

Gillett's LYE Useful for many cleaning purposes 12c

CATELLI GOLDEN BROWNED PORK & BEANS WITH CHILI SAUCE 9c tin

2 in 1 SHOE POLISH TIN 10c

TWO TONE OR WHITE Marshmallows 1-lb. Cello Bags 23c

EXTRA SPECIAL VALUE Tomahawk Green Peas 3 Tins 27c

EXTRA SPECIAL Yellow Rose Baking Powder 1-lb. Tins 17c

EXTRA SPECIAL Golden Ripe Bananas 3 lbs. 23c

NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY PEACHES!

There is a possibility of the curtailment of the importation of fruits and vegetables, and the wise housewife will preserve ample supplies of plums, peaches, grapes and pears for the family for the coming months.

DO NOT BUY YOUR PRESERVING SUPPLIES UNTIL YOU HAVE VISITED YOUR NEAREST RED & WHITE STORE!

FALCON BRAND Prepared Mustard 11 oz. Size 10c 24 oz. Size 15c

EXTRA SPECIAL Eddy's Family Toilet Tissue 6 for 25c

TEA-BISK Makes white, light tea biscuits in a few minutes. All the ingredients in the package. 33c

CANADA CORN STARCH Makes better Custards puddings and pies. 10c

RED RIVER CEREAL You'll get a real breakfast thrill when you serve Red River Cereal. The flavor is different. 24c

QUALITY ALWAYS HIGHER THAN PRICE

CATELLI
PORK & BEANS

TWO MINUTES
TEA-BISK
BISCUITS

Your Family Will Love This Aid to Keeping Fit!

Post's Bran Flakes

WITH OTHER PARTS OF WHEAT

Here's an easy way to help prevent irregularity due to lack of bulk in the diet. Give your family Post's Bran Flakes daily. They provide natural bulk in the form of bran to keep the food wastes moving promptly. Get them at your grocer's today. B350

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Silent Love

Dear Miss Fairfax:

[illegible]e been going with a young man [illegible] another city for a year. We've b[illegible] corresponding and he comes to [illegible] me quite often. I know I'm in love with him, and when he writes he tells me of his love, but when he visits me he never says a word about his love. He's a quiet sort of boy, 22 years old. I am 23.

I spent a week of my vacation at his home, and he was so good to me while there, even taking me back home. He has a fair job, and goes to school two evenings a week, studying to be an engineer. When he gets his diploma in six months he expects to get a better position in an engineering plant and will advance rapidly.

What do you think of this case? Why doesn't he speak of his love, when he can write such beautiful letters?

Wondering

Some of the great lovers of literature have been like this young man of yours. They wrote beautiful love letters, but when it came to "telling their love", they were shy and didn't seem to be able to find the necessary words with which to express themselves.

Don't try to rush this young man. He probably thinks you take his love for granted. And when the better position is forthcoming, he'll doubtless ask you to name the day. Watch your step. Don't hurry him.

Alphabetical Romance

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Just a line to tell you that one of your old-fashioned parties produced the desired results. The one that turned the trick was the "Alphabet Party", where you take a tablespoonful of alphabet noodles and a piece of cardboard and spell out the title of a romance you hope to write.

The boy friend with whom I have been keeping company for two years, and who hadn't said anything special, spelled out with his alphabet letters: "How would you like to be Mrs. B?" I spelled back "Sure", and the ice was cracked. And now we're the happiest of the happy. Why do you think he hadn't the courage to come out and ask me point-blank before?

Relieved

Delighted that the Alphabet Party worked. But when you ask me why some men are too shy to propose while they hang around a girl for years, you're paying me a tremendous compliment. I don't know, and I don't know anyone who has ever been able to answer that question. Something like the alphabet party may jolt them out of their ironclad reserve.

I hope other girls with slow-freight suitors will take the hint.

A Case of Nerves

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We've been married a couple of years and it seems to me that my husband smokes every minute when he's not asleep. At least, that's the way it seems to me. I've mentioned it to him, but whenever I say anything he just puts out the cigarette. And in a couple of minutes he is lighting another. Do you think it's natural for a person to smoke so much? It's getting on my nerves, and I feel like going back home to mother.

Unhappy Wife.

It looks to me as if you youngsters are getting on each other's nerves. As I read your letter, I am led to wonder—with all the good intentions in the world toward you—whether you are one of the causes of his nervousness. Ask yourself fairly. Suppose you were fond of smoking, would you want someone to nag about it? Many persons find that a reasonable indulgence of this habit is a great comfort and they enjoy it. It wouldn't be fair to your mother to come home with such a story. Try and get interested in something, so that you'll forget it.

3rd Thurlow

3rd Thurlow — Mr. D. Houston of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. George Sprackett of Belleville were recent callers at Mr. John R. Pound's.

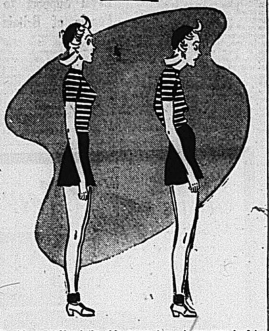
The Monthly W. M. S. of Cannifton was held on Tuesday last in the S. S. rooms with a good attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langabeer and family, Mrs. Bertha Latchford and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harris were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound and Ross.

The friends of Mrs. A. Louch's are glad to learn she is feeling much improved after her recent illness.

Mr. Stanley Pound and Miss Vera Pound accompanied Mr. Frank Walker and family to the Toronto Exhibition for the week end.

Waddle Slump Chases Charm



We wish we could get the girls—women too — to pay more heed to posture.

By HELEN FOLLETT

The secret of good posture is body balance. The weight of the torso is supported at that point where the spinal column and the hips meet, a few inches below the natural waistline. It is the center of gravity. When walking, sitting or standing the upper portion of the body must not bend too far forward or too far back. Balance wards off fatigue. Muscles and bones are in normal positions then.

We do wish we could get the girls—women too — to pay more heed to posture and everything in the world to do with good appearance. When one slumps, lets the shoulders plunge forward and hasn't that neat inward curve at the back of the waist, the prettiest frock loses charm, hasn't snap. The internal organs are likely to be out of place and will not function as they should. Stomach and intestines fall, the abdominal muscles become relaxed.

Like Floating in Air

Keep the backbone extended. Let the arms falls naturally. The chest should be full but not lifted to such an extent that the body appears rigid. When walking the toes should point straight ahead, feet be not too far apart. The girl who has perfect posture and grace of movement will seem to be floating in the air; the one who hasn't it will lope, scuttle along or waddle. 'Nuff said.

x x x

Many a woman gets all excited about shopping for a new coiffure, only to be disappointed when she has attained it. The trouble may have been in the trimming. Tresses mustn't just be cut; they must be styled. A clever hairdresser will understand about head shaping. There's a lot in that.

The girl with a head that is flat and long at the back should not wear a smooth, long bob. Her tete will offer a more charming silhouette if the hair is shorter, puffed out a bit below the crown, nicely ringleted along the nape line. It's the little round head that is improved by the shoulder length cut.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Practical Advice for Men on Choosing The Engagement Ring

After the summer holidays there is always a fine crop of engagements. And that means that there are many questions arriving in my mail about the choosing of the engagement ring.

In quaint romantic novels, and often in the movies, a lover, when he goes a-wooing, provides himself (with a financial abandon that does not seem always justified) with a diamond solitaire ring, ready to place it triumphantly on the finger of the beloved if she makes satisfactory answer when he "pops the question".

But in real life this usually isn't what happens. These days are just as romantic, but romance and common sense are wisely combined, and the young man usually consults with his fiancee about the ring which she is to wear all her life. These modern-minded girls know what kind of ring they want, and very often . . . surprise! their preferences are easier on the young man's budget than he had expected.

Of course, the accepted suitor may, if he wishes, buy the ring without consulting his bethrothed. Or, having consulted her about her taste in rings, he may go forth to buy the ring that he thinks is nearest her heart's desire as well as nearest his budget-allotment. Or, more practically, he may confer with his jeweler, and have him put aside a group of rings which are of the type his bride-elect has described and which come within the price he can afford. Then later he and his fiancee go to the shop, and she chooses the one she likes best. Or the young man may buy an unset stone, and have several sketches made for the setting, the girl to choose the sketch she prefers.

Today a diamond solitaire is not at all a "must" as an engagement ring. A diamond is, of course, still the usual choice, but it is not by any means the only choice. Some girls prefer a ruby, which is supposed to symbolize ardor, or a sapphire, for fidelity. Some even brave the superstition (unfounded, of course) attached to pearls and opals.

Some girls like the added romantic interest of having their birthstone set in their engagement ring. And, to answer many questions about the birth stone for each month, here they are:

January	Garnet
February	Amethyst
March	Bloodstone,
	Aquamarine
April	Diamond
May	Emerald
June	Moonstone, Pearl
July	Ruby
August	Sardonyx, Carnelian
September	Sapphire
October	Opal, Tourmaline
November	Topaz
December	Turquoise,
	Lapis Lazuli

If there is a lovely heirloom ring in the fiance's family, sometimes this becomes the engagement ring, very often with the stone reset, sometimes with the stone recut.

And, with the popularity of diamond wedding rings, some girls prefer to forego having an engagement ring, and concentrate the budget on a diamond wedding band, or even one with diamonds only in the front of the band.

Remember, girls, if you have an engagement ring, it is worn for the first time . . . for the first time in public, that is . . . on the day of the announcement of the engagement.

Courtesy Tip

You will always be correct if you say "How do you do" when you acknowledge an introduction. You won't be correct if you say, "Pleased to meet you".

Grandma Knew Babies Thrive On Love, Too

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

A few children, even at a late age, are smothered and mothered. But these cases are relatively rare. Most babies and little children are starving for want of expression of affection from the mother and father.

Some twenty years ago, mothers were warned to leave the baby alone, not to pick him up, not to fondle, cuddle or caress him, and to handle him as little as possible. And, as for holding a tot on the lap, that was taboo. Then there appeared an orgy of writing and speaking of "child-experts" in which the child with a "mother-fixation" was constantly described and given a dark, unhappy future, and pictured as the average child.

By and by most "intelligent" mothers began to think themselves a menace to the youngster just because of their love for him. Desperately they began to keep themselves from showing him affection in order to save him from the damage they might do by being normal. And when a mother forgot herself and petted her baby or young child she was punished with a sense of guilt.

Grandmother knew better. She fondled, kissed and cuddled her baby when she pleased. Nor did she hesitate to hold the toddler on her lap. She never spurned his show of affection nor was he denied hers. While in the midst of house work, if the baby or tot grew noticeably peevish or stubborn, she dropped her work, picked him up, held him on her lap, sang to him, told or read him stories, or soothed him in some other way. Often this treatment was the very thing he needed. However, she was too busy to spoil him with too much attention. Yet the little time she had was full of heart-expression, through which the youngster was reassured that he was wanted, worthy and secure.

Eminent psychiatrists have recently been telling how important early cuddling experiences are in making for security.

In that recent splendid book, "Parents and Children Go to School," by Dorothy Walter Baruch, Ph.D. (Scott, Foresman) we read:

Feeling of Security

"When a mother nurses her baby lovingly and quietly and peacefully, the baby is held close and gains a feeling of being warmly wanted and secure. In this case the mother does not need to think about giving her baby enough physical closeness; she automatically does it during the nursing periods. But many mothers today do not nurse their babies for any length of time during infancy. The babies do not have the nursing periods as a source of physical contact." Then she recommends for the bottle baby "at least one or two periods a day especially reserved for being held and fondled by his mother, away from other people."

Many of the pathetic, listless or tense and unstable children who arrive in the preschool have histories such as this. Inquiry brings to light that the mother has carefully guarded against cuddling and that she feels guilty over what cuddling she has done.

Let mothers with bottle-fed babies hold these babies as they take the bottle. In a number of hospitals nurses are doing just this thing, and with the purpose of providing the baby with some cuddling.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Would you encourage a child from six to twelve to memorize fine selections of poetry and prose?

A. Yes, indeed, including short selections from the Bible. It's no sin to remember things worth while and some philosophers of education give one the impression that about the gravest sin is to remember anything or learn anything by heart.

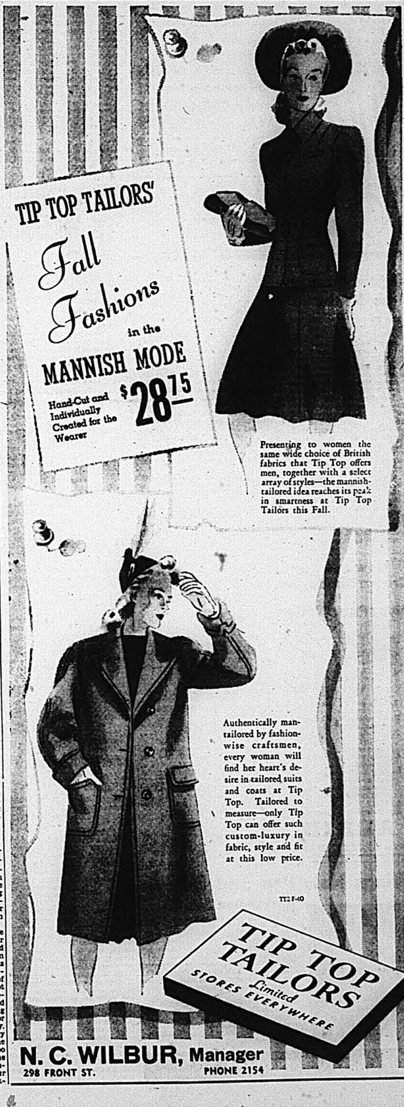
Q. When should the baby's first tooth appear?

A. From about the sixth to the tenth month. If no teeth have appeared when the child is a year old, a baby specialist should be consulted; there is probably something wrong with the diet.

END FLOOR SCRUBBING WITH JOHNSON'S SELF POLISHING GLO-COAT

Glo-Coat is self polishing. Quickly dries to a beautiful gleaming luster. No rubbing—no buffing. Protects floors against wear—keeping them like new!

S. C. JOHNSON & SON, LTD.
BRANTFORD, CANADA



TIP TOP TAILORS'

Fall Fashions in the MANNISH MODE

Hand-Cut and Individually Created for the Wearer

$28.75

Presenting to women the same wide choice of British fabrics that Tip Top offers men, together with a select array of styles—the mannish-tailored idea reaches its peak in smartness at Tip Top Tailors this Fall.

Authentically man-tailored by fashion-wise craftsmen, every woman will find her heart's desire in tailored suits and coats at Tip Top. Tailored to measure—only Tip Top can offer such custom-luxury in fabric, style and fit at this low price.

TT2 F-40

TIP TOP TAILORS Limited
STORES EVERYWHERE

N. C. WILBUR, Manager
298 FRONT ST. PHONE 2154

This Improved Method of Sweetening in Home Canning . . . Gives You RICHER FLAVOUR and BETTER KEEPING QUALITIES

WHEN canning or preserving at home, take a hint from the experience of thousands of women who have found a vastly improved method : : : one that definitely gives home canned fruits Richer Flavour and Better Keeping Qualities.

That method is using CROWN BRAND or LILY WHITE CORN SYRUP to replace one-half the sugar formerly used. No other change in your regular procedure is necessary. You can use your own favourite canning and preserving recipes just as they are, simply bearing in mind that one cup of CROWN BRAND or LILY WHITE takes the place of one and one-half cups of sugar.

Here's The Proven Way of Achieving Better Canning Results!

For a medium syrup . . .
Suitable for peaches, pears and similar fruits : : : use three cups of CROWN BRAND or LILY WHITE CORN SYRIP and four and one-half cups of sugar (instead of the usual nine cups of sugar) to six cups of water or fruit juice.

For a heavy syrup . . .
Suitable for plums or other tart fruits : : : use four cups of CROWN BRAND or LILY WHITE CORN SYRUP and six cups of sugar (instead of the usual twelve cups of sugar) to seven cups of water or fruit juice.

For larger or smaller quantities, use the same proportionate amounts.

TRY THESE RECIPES SPECIALLY CREATED AND TESTED IN THE CANADA STARCH KITCHENS

CANNED PEACHES OR PEARS

6-quart basket peaches or pears
4½ cups white sugar
6 cups water
3 cups Crown Brand or Lily White Corn Syrup

OVEN-CANNED METHOD:—Scald peaches for 1½ minutes; cold dip. Remove skins; cut in halves and remove stones. Pack in sterile jars. Make a syrup of remaining ingredients; let boil 5 minutes. Cover peaches with boiling syrup to within ½ inch to top of jar. Adjust rubber rings and tops. Screw down tops, then loosen one-quarter turn to allow for bubbling. Bake in slow oven—275°F.—pint jars for 45 minutes; quart jars for 1 hour. Remove from oven, tighten tops and invert jars to test for leaks. Yield—8 pints.

FOR PEARS:—Peel pears, cut in halves and remove cores. Pack in sterile jars, and follow same method as for peaches.

OPEN KETTLE METHOD:—Use same quantities as above. Scald for 1½ minutes; cold dip. Remove skins, cut in halves, and remove stones. Make a syrup of remaining ingredients, boil gently for 5 minutes; add fruit. Simmer gently till fruit is tender. Fill jars to overflowing and seal at once.

FOR PEARS:—Peel pears, cut in halves and remove cores. Proceed as for peaches.

GRAPE JAM

4 lbs. grapes
2½ cups sugar
2½ cups CROWN SYRUP

Remove grapes from stems; weigh. Separate pulp from skins; cook pulp gently until soft. Press through sieve. Combine pulp and skins; cook 5 minutes; add sugar and Crown Syrup. Simmer gently until thick (about fifteen minutes). Pour into sterile glasses; top with hot parowax while still warm. Yield—nine 8-oz. jars.

FRUIT CHUTNEY

6 medium ripe tomatoes
6 medium peaches
6 large onions
2 tablespoons salt
2 cups white wine vinegar
6 medium pears
3 large green peppers
2 cups CROWN SYRUP
2 cups white sugar
1 tablespoon pickling spice (in small bag)

Wash, blanch and peel tomatoes and peaches. Chop very coarsely and mix with coarsely chopped onions. Add salt, vinegar, coarsely chopped pears and chopped green peppers. Add CROWN SYRUP, sugar, and the bag of pickling spice; mix all thoroughly in a large preserving kettle and boil gently but constantly for about 2 hours. Pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal with hot paraffin. Yield—5 quart jars.

If you would like to have other tested canning and preserving recipes, just write to The Canada Starch Company, Dept. X, Box 129, Montreal, and they will be sent to you promptly, absolutely free.

Eat CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP
The Delicious Energy Food

THE CANADA STARCH COMPANY LIMITED · Montreal · Toronto

THE NEW OLD DUTCH CLEANSER

CUTS GREASE LIGHTNING-FAST

CLEANS WITH WHIRLWIND SPEED

GIVES A FASTER SPARKLE WITHOUT HARD RUBBING

MADE IN CANADA

50% FASTER

Now clean the fast, easy, modern way with the New 50% Faster Old Dutch Cleanser. This new, faster Old Dutch Cleanser is the result of years of laboratory research . . . plus a new, magic-like ingredient that cuts grease, the cause of most cleaning troubles, lightning-fast. With grease conquered, you get 50% faster cleaning . . . a swift, brilliant sparkle without hard rubbing. It's kind to your hands, too, and it doesn't scratch because it's made with Seismotite.

The New 50% Faster Old Dutch Cleanser is at your dealer's now in the same, familiar package. Order a supply today. See how quickly it cleans greasy stoves, sinks, pots and pans. Notice, too, how quickly it makes surfaces sparkle. For faster grease cutting . . . easier all-around cleaning . . . brighter sparkle to surfaces . . . it's the New 50% Faster Old Dutch Cleanser!

Doesn't Scratch . . . Made with Seismotite

YOU'LL LOVE THESE!

$1.50 VALUE for only 60¢ and three Old Dutch labels

Don't miss this—it's real Silverware Value!

3 lovely TABLESPOONS WM. A. ROGERS

Beauty and up-to-the-minute smartness are features of these handsome "Croydon" pattern spoons—Wm. A Rogers A-1 Quality Silverware with an overlay of pure silver at point of wear, made by Oneida, Ltd. Fill in the coupon today. Offer, good only in Canada, expires December 31, 1941.

OLD DUTCH CLEANSER, Dept. J 66,
64 Macaulay Ave., Toronto, Ont.

I am enclosing ______ windmill pictures from Old Dutch labels (or complete labels) and ______ ¢ for which please send me ______ Wm. A. Rogers Tablespoons and circular telling about other pieces. NOTE: Send 60¢ and 3 labels for each set of 3 tablespoons you desire.

Name ______

Address ______

City ______ Province ______

Kingston Presbytery Holds Meeting

The Presbytery of Kingston, of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, met in St. Andrew's Church, Kingston, on Tuesday the 10th inst, the moderator, the Rev. W. J. Walker, B.D., of Belleville, presiding.

During the opening devotional exercises, the moderator made appropriate references to the day of prayer recently observed at the request of His Majesty the King, basing his remarks on the forty-sixth psalm, well known to all Bible readers. In substance the moderator claimed that our national strength and defence is to be had not in humanism or socialism or man-made philosophy, but in God's own salvation. Man has need to turn back to God, to more satisfying knowledge of God. We have need to turn more and more from physical entertainment and satisfaction to things moral and spiritual. The speaker claimed that every loyal subject of the British Commonwealth should have, when possible, attended a house of prayer in response to the request of our beloved sovereign. The question to be considered is: Are the Christian people generally under a firm conviction of the saving presence and power of Jesus Christ?

Request Presented

Mr. J. W. MacDonald, interim moderator of the vacant charge of St. Andrew's, Picton, presented a request from that congregation to the effect that Rev. S. R. Foreman, now of Sunbury, be appointed stated supply for one year.

The present moderator term of office having expired, a unanimous vote of appreciation was tendered to Rev. Mr. Walker for the capable and efficient manner in which he conducted the various meetings during his moderatorship. Rev. J. W. MacDonald, B.A., was duly elected moderator for the ensuing year. The moderator-elect thanked the court for the honor conferred upon him.

The request of the St. Andrew's, Picton, congregation, anent the appointment of the Rev. S. R. Foreman as stated supply was granted by presbytery.

Budget Presented

Rev. C. E. Kidd of Gananoque presented the budget committee report. As convener of this committee, Mr. Kidd presented to the court recommendations forwarded by the Assembly's Budget Committee. The weekly envelope system of giving was highly approved of. Otherwise regular monthly giving by non-envelope users was recommended; also special methods such as thank-offering collections, etc. were advised. The budget givings of the presbytery to date were just about as was this time last year.

Rev. A. E. Cameron presented the home mission report wherein it was recommended that the same augmentation grants be requested as heretofore. Rev. J. H. Douglas of Deseronto was made interim moderator of Sunbury charge with which charge he is to co-operate with a view to secure student supply and as under supervisor of the Home Mission Committee.

Minister Inducted

During the evening sederunt of the court, a large congregation assembled in the auditorium of the church to witness the induction of the Rev. J. W. Wedderburn, M.A., B.D., as minister of St. Andrew's, Kingston. According to the custom of the church, the clerk, Rev. Dr. C. E. Dougan read to the assembled congregation the edict. The devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau, Ph.D., who also preached an eloquent sermon, taking as his text 1st Timothy, the first chapter and verse, 2 Tim. 124: "I Know Him in Whom I Have Believed." Sin, sorrow and death are great certainties of life. A certainty that is more of vital bearing to our lives is that the power of God manifest in Christ overrules and determines all things.

Following the opening of the Word, Rev. R. K. Earl, B.A., as interim moderator of the charge which is vacant narrated the steps leading up to the present status of the proceedings. The acting moderator, Rev. W. J. Walker, having put the prescribed question to the minister called, which were answered satisfactorily, inducted him as minister of the congregational charge with prayer. Questions relating to the duties and loyalty of the congregation were put to the congregation and also satisfactorily answered.

Minister Addressed

The moderator then read a highly complimentary letter from the congregation of Brandon, Man., to which Mr. Wedderburn ministered and addressed to the congregation of St. Andrew's.

He then addressed the newly-inducted minister, placing special emphasis on the quality of aptness to teach and the inestimable force and value of a fine forceful personality and depth of soul. Chiefest of all requirements on the part of a minister, are prayer and love.

Rev. C. E. Kidd, B.A., of St. Andrew's, Gananoque, then suitably addressed the congregation with respect to their duties of vital importance to making a ministry successful. Mr. Kidd called attention to the fine record of the congregation of St. Andrew's. The task now is to continue with increased diligence in this work and loyalty to minister who with disinterestedness and forgetfulness of self, enters so sympathetically into their lives. "Act well your part, there all the honor lies."

The next regular meeting of presbytery will be held in St. Andrew's, Belleville, on the first Tuesday in December.

New Under-arm Cream Deodorant safely Stops Perspiration

1. Does not rot dresses, does not irritate skin.
2. No waiting to dry. Can be used right after shaving.
3. Instantly stops perspiration for 1 to 3 days. Removes odor from perspiration.
4. A pure, white, greaseless, stainless vanishing cream.
5. Arrid has been awarded the Approval Seal of the American Institute of Laundering for being harmless to fabrics.

25 MILLION jars of Arrid have been sold. Try a jar today!

ARRID

39¢ a jar At all stores selling toilet goods (also in 10¢ and 59¢ jars)

Brings New Pep and Energy

Makes you feel fine

The proficient worrier is running on high all the time, wearing himself out. There is a way to overcome worry. Many have profited by it. Others are so obsessed by worry and gloomy forbodings that they cannot decide to use it. We refer to Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

You don't worry when the blood and nerves are in healthy condition and Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is a great help in restoring richness to the blood and nerve force to the exhausted system.

The mineral substances and Vitamin B_1 contained in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are the accessory foods required for the relief of nervous disorders. Many have proven this to their entire satisfaction. Why not benefit by their experience?

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food FOR NEW PEP AND ENERGY

REV. A. S. TUTTLE NEW MODERATOR

United Church Chooses Edmonton Pastor and President of St. Stephen's College

Winnipeg, Sept. 12 (CP).—Commissioners to the ninth general council of the United Church of Canada today began a study of committee reports under guidance of a new moderator, Rt. Rev. Aubrey S. Tuttle of Edmonton, president of St. Stephen's College. Native of Pugwash, N.S., Mr. Tuttle is 61 years of age.

The moderator was elected last night at the initial session of a 10-day meeting. He was chosen for a two-year term and succeeds Rt. Rev. John W. Woodside of Chalmer's United Church, Ottawa.

The vote electing Mr. Tuttle came after commissioners had set aside until the next session of the general council, a resolution recommending that two moderators be elected at each council, each moderator to serve one year and terms to run consecutively.

Three Others Nominated.

Nominated beside Mr. Tuttle were Dr. E. Crossley Hunter of the First United Church, Hamilton; Dr. W. Harold Young, St. Paul's Avenue Road United Church, Toronto, and Rev. Peter T. Pilkey, St. Paul's United Church, Winnipeg. Three other nominees, including Dr. John C. Cochrane, North Bay, superintendent of Mission of Northern Ontario, withdrew their names before the vote.

Conviction that Canadians would meet their war problems "with Christian faith and sacrifice" was expressed by Dr. Woodside in his valedictory address.

"Nothing shall be left that lies within our power to do, in order that those things which are more precious than life itself may be preserved for all," Dr. Woodside said. He added that when war broke out he had interviewed the Dominion government to secure a co-operative basis for war effort, especially regarding chaplaincy service.

Times Advises Against Reprisals By the R. A. F.

London, Sept. 12.—(CP)—The Times advised today against reprisals by the Royal Air Force on Berlin in response to mass air attacks on London.

"While aimed attacks upon military targets of specific value in the German capital such as took place on Tuesday night are part of a systematic campaign against German power", the newspaper said, "it would be a serious mistake to allow a new policy of terrorism to dictate our own tactics.

"To reply to an indiscriminate attack upon civilian London by diverting a whole force of British bombers to Berlin is an obvious temptation—so obvious that the enemy, who is well aware of our capacity to do it, may quite probably have calculated upon it.

"He is said to have concentrated at present an immense proportion of his available strength in men and materials in ports and industrial areas of western Germany and occupied territories, loudly proclaiming that they are intended for the invasion of England.

"On these concentrations smashing blows by R.A.F. Bomber Squadrons have been falling every night for many weeks in accordance with an unchangeable principle of strategy— that victory depends everywhere and always upon the destruction of the enemy's main fighting force.

"From such attacks the army of invasion no doubt stands in urgent need of relief; and an ulterior object of bombardment of London may well be to obtain it, partly by disorganizing essential services of country and partly by reckless use of high explosive as propaganda in order to persuade us to change our strategy".

FRIENDLY CASUALTY

Newmarket, England — (CP) — John Stewart Hills, 33, a passenger in a car in which two soldiers were given a lift was killed when one of their rifles fired accidentally.

Premier King Cables Loyal Support to People of Britain

Ottawa, Sept. 12.—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King Wednesday cabled Prime Minister Winston Churchill expressing the loyal support of the Canadian people and their pride in standing shoulder to shoulder with Britain at this time of emergency.

The message read:

The people of Canada in common with those of the other members of the British Commonwealth listened today with heartfelt concern and deepest admiration to your broadcast addressed more particularly to the people of the British Isles.

I do not know that I can better express the feelings it evoked than to ask you at this time of intense anxiety to give to the people of the United Kingdom the assurance that Canada was never more proud of the privilege of having her forces on sea, on land and in the air so closely associated with those of the United Kingdom and other parts of the Commonwealth in the magnificent stand in the world's citadel of freedom against ruthless aggression and for the preservation of the liberties of free men.

The men and the women and the children of Britain may rely on Canada redoubling her efforts to give them all the support in her power in their undaunted and inspiring resistance to the barbarous and inhuman onslaught they are being called upon to endure. They may count on our continuing support to the utmost of our strength. Never were our people more united or more determined.

PAPER OFFICES DAMAGED

London, Sept. 12 (CP)—The Daily Herald and the Evening Standard newspaper offices in London have been damaged in recent air raids, the Ministry of Information announced today.

Madame Tussaud's Wax Works, a museum in which figures of famous characters are on exhibit, also has been damaged, the Ministry said.

DODDS KIDNEY PILLS
TREATMENT
BACKACHE
HEADACHE RHEUMATIC
BLADDER TROUBLES

NO CARRYING CHARGES

LIBERAL TERMS

The New Fall Season Means NEW FURNITURE

OPEN A NEW ACCOUNT TO-DAY USE YOUR CREDIT

5.00 DOWN 1.00 A Week

Enjoy the comfort of this beautiful chesterfield suite. High grade Suite, upholstered in very newest fabrics. Choice of colors. Spring filled reversible cushions. Walnut show wood frame. 2 Pieces. 49.50

OCCASIONAL CHAIR $5.95
TRILITE LAMP and SHADE $9.95

THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF NEW FALL MERCHANDISE JUST ARRIVED, NOW ON DISPLAY, AT PRICES WORTH WHILE.

TAKE ADVANTAGE OF LIBERAL TERMS!

NO INTEREST OR CARRYING CHARGES.

5.00 DOWN 1.00 WEEK

Dining Room Suites

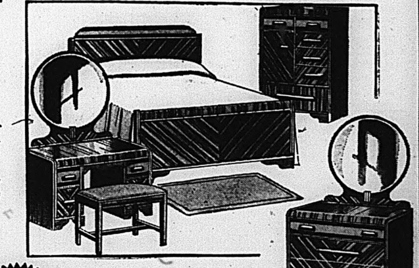
Furnish your Dining Room NOW, at GREAT SAVINGS. Complete Nine Pieces, Buffet, Extension Table, China Cabinet, Five Small Chairs and One Arm Chair, upholstered in genuine leather —Save at least $25. At 99.50

5.00 DOWN 1.00 A WEEK

Studio Couch

The finest quality Studios money can buy, at unusually low prices. Choice of Upholstering; Marshall Spring Cushions and Mattress 29.50

1.00 DOWN A WEEK



$14.95

Brighten-up your Home

New Styles In Bedroom Suites

PAY AS LOW AS 5.00 DOWN 1.00 A Week

The Joy of Comfort

Here is a chair you have always wanted, for perfect comfort. Upholstered in high grade tapestry or mohair.

1.00 DOWN A WEEK

Use Your Credit!

Genuine Walnut Bedroom Suite. Large pieces. In beautiful two tone. Bed, Chiffonier and choice of Vanity or Dresser. Unusual Value. Suite 69.50

New Percival Furniture Company

302 FRONT STREET BELLEVILLE PHONE 2265

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 2.00 p.m.

MINES

Ajax 10
Aldermac 16
Anglo Hur 165
Aunor 155
Bankfield 9
Beattie 83
Bidgood 11 1-2
Big Missouri 3 3-4
Bralorne 970
Broulan 66
Buffalo Ank 350
Calgary and Ed. 149
Centra Pat. 177
Chesterville 89
Coast Copper 66
Coniaurum 126
Dome 22
Eldorado 39 1-4
East Mal 300
Falconbridge 266
Gunnar 37
Gillies L. 4 1-4
Hardrock 83
Home Oil 187
Hollinger 12 1-4
Howey 26
Hudson Bay 26 1-4
Kerr Add. 241
Kirk Lake 95
Lapa Cad 6 1-2
Lake Shore 21 1-4
Leitch 53
Little L L 213
Macassa 325
McIntyre 45 1-4
McLeod 215
McKenzie 98
Mining Corp. 73
Moneta 54
Nipissing 95
O'Brien 77
Okalta 65
Omega 16 1-2
Paymaster 23 1-2
Pamour 100
Perron 150
Pend Oreille 137
Pickle Crow 282
Pioneer 207
Powell 83
Premier 100
Preston E.D. 183
Reno 16
Royalite 23
San Antonio 187
Sherritt G. 70
Siscoe 59
Sladen M. 42
Sud. Basin 109
Sullivan 63
Steep Rock 147
Sylvanite 225
T. Hughes 317
Tex. Can. Oil 113
Toburn 127
Ventures 245
W. Amulet 325
Wr. Hargreaves 600

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 158.
British American Oil 18½.
Brewing Corporation 127.
Brazilian Traction 4¼.
Canada Bud Brewery 4½.
Canada Cement 4½.
Canada Dredge 13.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 196.
C.P.R. 5⅜.
Canada Malting 33½.
Canada Vinegar 6¼.
Canada Car 8¼.
Cockshutt Plow 5½.
Cons Bakeries 12½.
Con. Smelting 38.
Dominion Foundries 23½.
Dominion Stores 4¼.
Distillers Seagrams 24½.
Fanny Farmer 25½.
Ford "A" 16⅜.
Gypsum 3¾.
Imperial Oil 11¾.
International Nickel 37⅝.
Inter. Petroleum 16⅞.
Imperial Tobacco 14⅝.
Loblaw 25.
Massey Harris 3¼.
Montreal Power 29½.
McColl Frontenac 5⅝.
Power Corporation 7.
Price Bros. 13½.
Steel of Canada 74.
Supertest 33.
Shawinigan 18⅜.
Walkers 38⅛.
Walkers Preferred 19¼.
C.P.A. 4⅝.

NEW YORK

American T. and T. 162 3-4
Anaconda 20 7-8
Bethlethem Steel 76 1-2
Chrysler 74 3-4
General Electric 33 1-8
General Motors 46
Inter. Telephone 2 3-8
North American 18 1-2
Montgomery Ward 38 7-8
Phillips Pet. 35 1-2
Radio 4 3-4
Standard Oil of N. J. 34 1-4
Standard Brands 6 1-8
U. S. Steel 53 3-4
Vanadium 29 7-8
Westinghouse 102 3-4

WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 12 — (AP) — Stocks declined by small degrees again today under the burden of war.

Traders, awaiting an outcome in the Anglo-Nazi aerial campaign, limited their transactions to a volume which precluded any pronounced trends. The turnover was at the rate of about 450,000 shares.

Downturns toward the final hour were generally less than a point.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 12 —(CP)—Mining and Western Oil stocks weakened narrowly and the Industrials more widely in the early stock market action which was dull. Only 51,000 shares changed hands in the first three hours. The financial district appears to be more concerned with the war loan than the stock market for the present.

Industrials weakened .68 in the index with the Utilities the weakest group. In the Golds Wright Hargreaves, O'Brien, Buffalo Ankerite and Cochenour Willans were soft spots and International Nickel, Ventures and Noranda were losers in the Base Metals.

Home Oil, Anglo-Canadian and Calgary-Edmonton posted minor losses and other Western Oils showed no change.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS

Wholesale to retail:

A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.30
Grade "C"	.19
BUTTER
Butter, No. 1	.22
Butter, No. 2	.20½-.21 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.22
Churning Cream, No. 2	.19
POULTRY (Dressed)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—.16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12
(Live Poultry)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

Firmer Undertone In Butter Prices

Toronto, Sept. 12 — A firmer undertone was evident on the Toronto butter market when light offerings cleared readily. Eggs showed little change.

First grade Ontario creamery butter solids at 23 cents per pound were easily absorbed and some points endeavored to obtain higher prices without success. Fair quantities of the Western make changed hands in the range of 23¼ cents to 23½ cents per pound. Holders refused to sell below the latter figure near the close of the market. Immediate outlook is for a decline in Canadian butter production this month, according to the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, which points out, however, that convenience of transportation, inaccessibility to cheese factories and the need for greater supplies of skim milk to feed growing pigs, are factors that must be expected to limit diversion of milk to cheese factories.

The egg market held an even keel as receipts, which were not heavy, moved satisfactorily. Government inspected shipments of graded eggs commanded a full cent premium over ordinary lots.

Montreal Produce.

Montreal, Sept. 12 —(CP)— Produce market prices here, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 24c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 23½c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 33c to 33½c; A-medium, 31½c to 32c; A-pullets, 26½c to 27c; B, 24c to 25c; C, 16c. Receipts 1,011.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 12—(CP)—Dressedweight were down 10c at Stratford and prices were unchanged at Brantford, Hull and Peterborough in Bacon-Hog Markets reporting today.

Liveweight: Brantford $8.75.

Dressedweight: Brantford $11.75 plus transportation; Hull $11.65; Peterborough $11.75 plus transportation; Stratford $11.65 plus transportation. Chatham reported prices unchanged there at $9 liveweight and $12 dressedweight.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Sept. 12—(CP)—Cattle trade was dull up to mid-session on the local Livestock Market today. Sales were too few to establish prices. Hogs, veal calves, lambs and sheep were steady. The holdover from Wednesday was 1,000 head of cattle.

Receipts: Cattle 250; calves 20; hogs 290; sheep and lambs 50.

Small lots of butcher steers $7 to $8; a few stockers brought $5.75 to $7. The few veal calves offered sold at $6 to $11.50. Lambs, $9 to $9.50. For good ewes and wethers with bucks $8 to $8.50. A few common to medium sheep $3 to $4.50.

Hogs $9.25 off trucks for bacons and $12.35 dressedweight.

SURPRISE ATTACK MADE ON SPA

London, Sept. 12 (CP)—German dive bombers made a surprise attack today on a famous Spa, widely known to Canadians. Bombs landed in the garden of a hotel full of guests. One woman was injured.

One of the bombs damaged a conservatory, smashing a large number of windows. Another demolished a house near the hotel. The occupants had moved out only 24 hours previously.

A third bomb fell near the hotel, but did not explode.

President Urges Compulsory Help From Industry

Supreme Determination to Keep War Away From U.S. Shores

Washington, Sept. 12 —(AP)— Reaffirming a "supreme determination" to keep war away from American shores, President Roosevelt inaugurated his third term campaign last night by advocating compulsory service for industry as well as manpower, if necessary, and pledging that his labor and social program would expand rather than retreat in building United States defence.

He coupled these definite statements with an attack on unnamed critics who "love the laboring man in November but forget them in January" and called for an end "to the sort of appeasement which seeks to keep us helpless by playing on fear and by indirect sabotage of all the progress we are making."

"'Appeasement,' incidentally as I use it," he said, "is a polite word for misdirected partisanship."

The President spoke before an audience of members of the International Teamsters' Union (American Federation of Labor) in Constitution Hall and Mr. Roosevelt reserved for the latter part of his speech the renewed pledge to do all in his power to keep this country at peace.

Hates War, He Declares

Declaring that weakness in these days was a "cordial invitation to attack," he brought loud applause when he added: "I hate war now more than ever. I have one supreme determination—to do all I can to keep war away from these shores for all time."

Then, as the audience cheered again, he said:—

"I stand, with my party, and outside of my party as President of all the people, upon the platform adopted in Chicago:—

"'We will not participate in foreign wars, and we will not send our army, naval or air forces to fight in foreign lands outside of the Americas, except in case of attack.'"

Leads Up To Question

He led up to the question of compulsory service for recalcitrant industry by asserting, it was necessary that "every dollar of capital" share in the defence effort just as well as the men in the fighting forces and workers behind the lines.

He said the nation was about to adopt selective universal training of its young men and that, on the same principal, "no reasonable person can object to giving the government the power to acquire the services of any plant or factory for adequate compensation, if the owner refuses to make its services available to the defence needs of the nation."

RENEWED DRIVE TO COMPLETE LOAN

Finance Minister Urges People of Small Income to Support Loan

Ottawa Sept. 12.—(CP)—Renewed attention is being given the man and woman of modest means in the drive to put Canada's Second War Loan over the top.

Large corporations and many wealthy individuals have responded heartily to the government's call for a loan of $300,000,000 but the entire selling organization has started a renewed drive to complete the loan with popular subscriptions.

In announcing last night that subscriptions had reached 201,949,000 in the first three days of the campaign, Finance Minister Ilsley again urged the people of small income to support the loan to the limit of their ability.

"It is well to recall that in lending their aid in the form requested, our people are making the safest investment which is available in Canada today, and at the same time they help defend their whole 'way of life'", he said.

R. S. McLaughlin, Oshawa, Ont., President of General Motors of Canada Ltd. yesterday subscribed $1,000,000 one of the largest private subscriptions to date.

MOTORIST JAMS ON HIS BRAKES IN TIME

An accident was narrowly averted at the point on Highway No. 2 and the narrow guage railway of the Point Anne plant of the Canada Cement Company yesterday, when a well-known resident of this city missed being struck by the locomotive that operates from the plant to points across the highway.

The motorist apparently failed to notice the locomotive, which he said was travelling at a good rate of speed, until it whizzed across the highway almost directly in front of him. He jammed on his brakes in time and nothing serious happened.

Camacho Proclaimed President

Mexico City, Sept. 12 —(AP)— The Chamber of Deputies today proclaimed Manuel Avila Camacho president-elect of Mexico, ruling that he had been successful in the disputed election of July 5.

Six French Warships Seen Passing Through Straits of Gibraltar

Ceuta, Morocco, Sept. 12 (AP).— Three cruisers escorted by three destroyers, all flying the French flag, were reported heading for the Atlantic through the Straits of Gibraltar today, unmolested by British batteries at Gibraltar.

(This raises the possibility that some of the French fleet units based at Toulon have escaped from the Riviera naval base and are joining Britain.)

(The Berlin radio today broadcast a despatch from Milan claiming that a British fleet had sailed into the Mediterranean from Gibraltar. The despatch claimed also that "several" British cruisers previously had steamed from Gibraltar into the Atlantic.)

Disposition of the French fleet following the Franco-German armistice, has been a war secret since the now-historic engagement between the Royal Navy and French ships loyal to the Vichy regime off the north coast of Africa last July 3.

But Prime Minister Churchill told the House of Commons on July 4 that "early yesterday morning, July 3, after all preparations had been made, we took the greater part of the French fleet under our control or else called upon them with an adequate force to comply with our requirements."

It was never known how many French naval vessels remained in French harbors, but there were some, particularly at Toulon.

French vessels in British harbors were boarded for the most part without incident also on July 3. Some of the French seamen expressed a desire to fight on with Britain and were allowed to do so.

The battle off the North African coast was fought mainly at Oran, Algeria. Britain made formal demands on French commanders of important units stationed there stating that "it is impossible for us now to allow your fine ships to fall into the power of our German or Italian enemies." They were asked either to sail with the Royal Navy and continue the war, give themselves up and be taken with reduced crews to British ports, or to scuttle the vessels.

Reluctant Action.

The ultimatum expired within six hours, and the British ships took reluctant action.

When the smoke of battle cleared the 22,189-ton battleship Bretagne was sunk, two destroyers were fired, the 26,500-ton battleship Dunkerque was damaged and beached; the Strasbourg, a battle cruiser, sister ship of the Dunkerque, was damaged by an aerial torpedo but escaped.

One or more French battleships, four cruisers and a number of smaller ships were detained at Alexandria by the British Fleet, and in British ports there were at least two battleships, two light cruisers, eight destroyers, some submarines and 200 smaller French ships.

On July 9 A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, told the House of Commons that the 35,000 - ton Richelieu, which the Germans had claimed they captured while still in construction at Brest, actually was at Dakar, in Senegal. Lieut.-Commander R. H. Bristowe, who in private life is a London stock broker, on July 8 dropped depth charges from a torpedo boat, crippling this battleship as she lay anchored at Dakar. He was subsequently given the D.S.O. for his "bravery and skill."

In informing the House of Commons of this action, Mr. Alexander spoke of the Richelieu as being the seventh French capital ship to be put out of reach of the Germans following the armistice.

Before France's capitulation the Republic had nine capital ships build or building; of this number two were taken over in British ports, one joined the fleet at Alexandria, one was sunk, one was beached and one was damaged. One was badly damaged but escaped.

France also had in active service at the war's start one aircraft carrier, seven heavy cruisers, twelve other cruisers, fifty-nine destroyers and seventy-eight submarines.

Known to have escaped from the Battle of Oran in addition to the damaged Strasbourg were five flotilla leaders and destroyers with some submarines and torpedo boats.

International at a Glance

(By The Canadian Press)

London: R.A.F. bombs Templehof airdrome and railway stations and yards in heart of Berlin; new London defence system beats off Nazi night raiders.

Cairo: Military airports and dock facilities in Italian Libya destroyed or damaged in British bombing forays.

Cape Town: Prime Minister Smuts hints that opposition leaders will be interned if pro-German activity is continued.

SCREEN OF FIRE

(Continued from Page One)

formation which might be helpful to the Germans.

Coastal Guns Operate

Heavy British coastal guns also joined in the bombardment last night, and were hammered in turn by swarms of German dive bombers and long range guns, which made the Dover area tremble under the war's worst shelling.

British planes swept across the channel in force, and the German guns finally became silent after hours of intermittent shelling. Great columns of black smoke rose from the sea between Calias and Dunkirk.

The night-long London air attack began at 8:36 p.m. (3:36 p.m. EDT).

Hundreds of anti-aircraft guns roared into action as the first raiders approached the city, throwing up a screen of flame and explosives without waiting for searchlights to spot the individual Nazi planes. London thus got the noisiest night of the war.

Radical Change.

It was a radical change in tactics of ground defences, which hitherto have directed their fire at specific targets. The screen of iron was likened by observers to artillery barrages thrown down in the first great war to protect advancing troops.

Apparently everything from light bofors guns to the heaviest anti-aircraft artillery joined in the firing. So heavy was the fire that it drowned out the sound of bombs, and pieces of shrapnel rattled on roof-tops like hail.

Some of the raiders were forced to turn back with bombs still in their racks. At least two were shot down over the city.

One high explosive bomb crashed onto the roof of a newspaper building, cut through a 15,000-gallon water tank and dropped to an automobile parking space in the rear of the structure but caused no casualties.

For the first time in five nights, however The Associated Press building in the centre of the capital was not shaken by bomb explosions, and there was no sign of the usual activity of fire fighting apparatus.

Fire Is Encouraging.

Although there were some bomb hits in central London, the greatest damage was reported in the south and east end sections.

The terrific thunder of anti-aircraft fire, which penetrated to deep underground shelters, apparently was encouraging to the civilian population, which has been listening to the crunch of exploding bombs since Saturday.

In the chilly dawn after the all-clear signal sounded at 5:36 a.m., long lines of people who had spent the night in shelters waited for restaurants to open.

Subway platforms were jammed, while in the street scores of Londoners—some still in evening dress—hunted bits of shrapnel for souvenirs.

The government announced 400 persons were killed and 1,400 injured in Monday night's raid on London, making a total of 1,010 dead and 4,300 wounded for the first three of the all-night raids. Figures for the raids Tuesday night and last night were expected later.

89 Raiders Shot Down

An official announcement said 89 German raiders were shot down yesterday—of which 80 were credited to British fighters and nine to anti-aircraft fire. Twenty-four British planes were reported missing, but pilots of seven were said to be safe.

The first of the night raiders brought down by anti-aircraft fire fell in North London, where the crew was captured.

A ring of bursting shells also kept Nazi raiders from military objectives during a long attack on the northwest coastal district. Some planes flew inland and dropped bombs near two towns and a village, but caused little damage.

The Press Association described the anti-aircraft barrage as a "shock" for the Nazi raiders.

The agency said Londoners heard the new anti-aircraft weapon in action "in defence of the metropolis last night, and it must have struck terror into the hearts of Nazi airmen."

"It was used with great success against the invaders, who followed one another in close succession the first six hours of the raid," the agency said.

"Time after time, it broke up large formations of bombers and either brought them down or turned them back."

Casualties were caused in a southeast district of London by large calibre high explosive bombs and incendiaries.

HOLD DOWN
YOUR FOOD EXPENSES!

HIGH LIVING COSTS

A&P

Do YOUR expenses threaten to pull loose from their moorings and soar away like captive balloons in a gale? Fear Not! Your A&P Food Stores, best friend to many a budget, has a way of anchoring food prices to earth! Just look at these low prices! And my! What delicious things you get at low A&P prices! The very sight of them will make you ravenously hungry. Come! Save!

CLARK'S FOOD SALE
CLARK'S SOUPS Asst. Except Tomato Tin 6c
CLARK'S Pork & Beans 2 21-oz. Tins 17c
CLARK'S IRISH STEW 2 Tins 25c
CLARK'S GOULASH 2 Tins 25c
CLARK'S Potted Meats 2 Tins 17c
CLARK'S SPAGHETTI 2 1's Tins 17c

SOAP CHIPS 6-lb. Box 24c
Evap. Milk A&P Tall Tin 7c
RAISINS BULK 2 lbs. 19c
LARD SUNNYFIELD lb. 8c
OLD CHEESE lb. 23c
MILD CHEESE lb. 17c
CHATEAU CHEESE 2-lb. Loaf 55c
3 Minute Oats Lge. Pkg. 21c
SPORK THE NEW CANNED MEAT Tin 29c
Chili Con Carne Tin 19c
FOODS AYLMER INFANT Tin 7c
BEANS IONA CUT WAX 2 20-oz. Tins 15c
SOAP WOODBURY'S FACIAL 2 Cakes 15c
SOAP JERGEN'S CARBOLIC 3 Cakes 14c
OLD DUTCH Cleaner 2 Tins 19c
SOLEX LAMPS 25 - 40 - 60 WATT ea. 20c
CRISCO 1's Tin 18c 3's Tin 47c
CORN A&P CHOICE GOLDEN BANTAM 20-oz. Tin 8c
PEAS IONA & SIEVE 3 20-oz. Tins 25c
CHOWDER CONNOR'S CLAM 2 Tins 21c
COCKTAIL DELMONTE FRUIT Tin 21c
CORNED BEEF Tin 15c
TOMATOES IONA 28-oz. Tin 10c
CAKE FLOUR SWANS-DOWN Pkg. 22c

GINGER ALE YUKON CLUB Contents 3 30-oz. Btls. 25c
MARMALADE ORANGE & GRAPEFRUIT 32-oz. Jar 21c
JAM Iona Straw. & Rasp. Colour & Pectin 32-oz. Jar 25c
APRICOTS Aylmer Choice 15-oz. Tin 13c
BEETS Rose Bud Fancy 16-oz. Tin 13c
MUFFETS Quaker 2 Pkgs. 17c

SHORTENING WHITE CLOVER 2 lbs. 23c
SALMON TIGER COHOE 2 ½'s Tins 29c 1's Tin 25c
LOBSTER CANADA BRAND Choice 6-oz. Tin 27c
BLACK TEA SPECIAL BLEND ½-lb. Bag 24c 1-lb. Bag 47c

A & P BREAD
SLICED OR UNSLICED
ANN PAGE WHITE
WHOLE WHEAT
CRACKED WHEAT
2 24-oz. Wrapped Loaves 15c
A & P POPPY SEED TWIST Loaf 8c
ANN PAGE ENGLISH FRUIT CAKE Ea. 25c
ANN PAGE TEA ROLLS 2 Pkgs. of 6 9c

A&P COFFEE
GROUND FRESHLY
BOKAR VIGOROUS & WINEY 1-lb. Bag 39c
8 O'CLOCK MILD & MELLOW 1-lb. Bag 35c
RED CIRCLE RICH & FULL-BODIED 1-lb. Bag 31c

Lyons Tea
BLACK
BLUE LABEL ½-lb. Pkg. 39c
YELLOW LABEL ½-lb. Pkg. 34c

McCORMICK'S CHURCHILL CREAMS
aver. 35 to the lb.
2 lbs. 27c

ALL BRAN Lge. Pkg. 21c
KIPPER SNACKS Tin 5c
PICKLES Aylmer Sweet Mixed 15-oz. Jar 17c
JELLO Ass't. Pkg. 6c
CHICKEN Boneless ½'s Tin 22c
PLUM JAM Colour & Pectin 32-oz. Jar 19c
SHRIMP Fancy 5¾-oz. 2 Tins 29c
RICE KRISPIES 2 Pkgs. 25c

A&P HIGH QUALITY GUARANTEED MEATS
STEAKS Sirloin, Wing, Cube or Porterhouse
ROASTS Sirloin, Wing, Face Rump or Porterhouse lb. 29c
BONELESS ROUND STEAK or ROAST lb. 25c

GENUINE SPRING LAMB
LEGS lb. 25c | LOINS lb. 23c | FRONTS lb. 15c

BLADE ROAST lb. 18c
SHORT RIB ROAST lb. 19c
POT ROAST lb. 15c
BEEF BOLOGNA Piece lb. 12c
SAUSAGE Dumart's—Bacon and Liver lb. 23c
BACON Smoked Side—Sliced lb. 27c
PORK SHOULDERS BONELESS SMOKED lb. 25c

FRESH FRUIT & VEGETABLES
APPLES Domestic Grade—Duchess 6-Qt. Bask. 25c
GRAPES California, Flame Tokay 2 lbs. 19c
ONIONS Canada No. 1 YELLOW COOKING 10-lb. Bag 23c
PEACHES Delicious Niagara Peaches at Attractive Prices this Week-end.
LEMONS California Very Juicy Doz. 23c
CABBAGE Fresh, Green 2 for 9c
CELERY HEARTS Fresh, Crisp 2 Bchs. 15c

Jif Flakes Lge. Pkg. 19c
AUTOMATIC PENCIL Value 50c for 15c AND JIF BOX TOP

HEDLUND'S Luncheon Loaf 2 ½-lb. Tins 25c

A & P SELF SERVICE FOOD STORES
Owned and Operated by the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., Ltd.
Prices in effect until September 14.

Detroit Tigers Claw Way Back To Top of American League by Defeating Boston in Hit Fest

'Make or Break' Series Opens in Detroit Today, Yanks Being Opposition

CLEVELAND SPLITS

Bobby Feller Beaten by Yanks in First Game but Indians Win the Second

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

The hysterical finish of the American League is being compared to the customary September struggle of the National League, but it isn't the same.

There's no crackup in the wild, breath-taking battle that's going on now in the junior circuit, which never has known anything like this in all its 40-year history.

Detroit Tigers clawed their way back on top yesterday by overpowering Boston Red Sox 11-7 while Cleveland Indians and New York Yankees divided a doubleheader.

Actually this outcome of three tremendous tussles put the standings in exactly the same form they were in Tuesday:

	Won.	Lost.	Pct.	GB	TP
Detroit ..	78	58	.574	—	18
Cleveland	77	58	.570	½	19
New York .	76	56	.567	1	20
Boston ..	73	63	.537	5	18

Today Detroit is to defend its lead against the world champion Yankees in the first of a three-game series while the Red Sox and Indians open a similar set in Cleveland.

It looked for awhile yesterday as though the Yankee parade was about to win the prize right away. Rookie Ernie Bonham beat Bob Feller in a desperate pitching duel, each giving five hits, in the first game of a twin bill.

Ruffing Routed

The Yanks banged out two runs in the first inning of the nightcap, but the pentup Indians routed Red Ruffing with five runs in the third and won 5-3 when darkness halted play in the sixth.

Detroit had the kind of a ding-dong game you would expect when the Tigers and Red Sox collide. There were 32 hits off eight pitchers and the lead teetered back and forth until Hank Greenberg hit his 31st homer with one on in the last of the fifth.

Chicago White Sox caught up with Dutch Leonard, who had hand-cuffed them five times, and whipped Washington Senators 7-4 with a 14-hit assault.

Elden Auker and George Caster put on a pitching performance rivalling that of Feller and Bonham, each allowing five hits, but St. Louis Browns hits included a homer, two triples and a double and they shutout Philadelphia Athletics 8-0.

Reds Increase Lead

Cincinnati Reds increased their lead in the National League to nine full games by sweeping a double-header from Boston Bees 6-3 and 3-1 while Brooklyn Dodgers were losing a pair to Chicago Cubs 8-5 and 3-2.

Dizzy Dean stalked back into the National League by hurling six-hit ball for the Cubs second triumph over the Dodgers, but his sidearm stuff looked just about the same as he was using last spring before he went to Tulsa in the Texas League to try to cure his arm trouble. He had good control and varying speed, but none of it like his former fast one.

St. Louis Cardinals gouged New York Giants twice, 7-4 and 3-2. Pittsburgh Pirates crushed the Phillies 9-3.

Rochester Wings Muff Chance to Cop the Pennant

(By The Associated Press)

Newark Bears are finishing their International League season in full stride, like the batter who runs out a hit although he knows the throw to first will beat him. There is always the chance that the first baseman will drop the ball.

Newark has only three games left to play and the Wings have five. If the Bears lost another game theyre automatically eliminated and the same thing holds if Rochester wins one more. But as the Red Birds play their remaining five games with the sixth-place Buffalo Bisons the chances are remote that they will be beaten.

Last night Newark extended its winning streak to nine games, beating Baltimore 3-0, while Rochester muffed its first chance to clinch the pennant by losing to Buffalo 2-0.

Hal White, 21-year-old rookie pitcher, turned back the league leaders with the help of teammate Pat Mullin, who homered twice to provide Buffalo with the margin of victory.

In the only game played yesterday, Jersey City Giants assured themselves of a playoff berth by trouncing Syracuse Chiefs 8-3.

WROTE IN 24 LINGOS

London, (CP) — Alan Ebbut, for many years a translator in the League of Nations Secretariat at Geneva, is dead. He wrote in 24 languages.

HEROIC RESCUE

London, (CP) — Paddling a 10-foot river canoe out into the English Channel alone, Miss Katie Prince saved a British airman forced down.

TAMES TIGERS

Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, the aging veteran who has been pitching great ball this season, carried Boston Red Sox to a 13-inning victory over Detroit Tigers to drop the Tigers into second place in the American league. Boston defeated the Tigers, 6-5

FOOTBALL TEAMS PREPARING FOR BANG-UP SEASON

Dave Sprague May Change Mind and Turn Out With Roughriders

TIGERS STRONG

O.R.F.U. Will Operate With Three Teams and Keen Contests Expected

(By The Canadian Press)

Eastern Canada's big-league football teams have organized for a bang-up season despite the war and enlistment of potential stars. Activity was reported from six fronts last night as preparations were intensified for the opening whistle.

The most cheering news — from a Rough Rider standpoint came out of Ottawa. Dave Sprague, it was learned authoritatively, may change his mind about retiring. It was said he would give Ottawa Big Four club officials a definite answer by the end of the week.

Sprague, an alderman in the Capital, was a big cog in the Riders' march to the eastern Canada championship last year and his "retirement" decision last December spread gloom in the camp.

Other doings on the Big Four front included Buster (Red) Storey's first appearance with Toronto Argonauts. The fleet backfield ace practised punting. Bobby Coulter, who came out of a four-year retirement, also attended the Double Blue workout but was content with conditioning exercises.

Hamilton Tigers, who lagged in last year's Interprovincial Union race, have the "best team in years," according to Art Massuci, newly appointed coach. Tigers have an exhibition game with Camp Borden of the Ontario Rugby Football Union scheduled for Sept. 28 and Massuci promised that Tigertown would field a much-improved team.

3 Teams in O.R.F.U.

The O.R.F.U. will still operate a three-team group—Toronto Balmy Beach, Hamilton and Camp Borden. A four-man delegation from Buffalo, headed by R. P. Carroll a former Canadian, met league officials in Toronto to consider a Buffalo entry but the deal fell through.

Jerry Brock, former Hamilton Tiger linesman, was instrumental in interesting Buffalo in the possibilities of Canadian football. Because of business pressure, however, he will not be available for a month and a United States entry was held impractical when no other Canadian coach could be found.

The O.R.F.U. executive drew up a schedule for a three-team league and the season's opener will be a floodlight affair at Hamilton with Beaches as opposition.

League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

National League

Batting: Walker, Brooklyn .320.
Runs: Mize, St. Louis, 100.
Runs batted in. Mize, St. Louis, 117.
Hits: F. McCormick, Cincinnati, and Hack, Chicago, 168.
Doubles: F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 38.
Triples: Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.
Home runs: Mize, St. Louis, 41.
Stolen bases: Moore, St. Louis, 17.
Pitching: Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 14-2.

American League

Batting: Radcliff, St. Louis, .348.
Runs: Williams, Boston, 119.
Runs batted in: Greenberg, Detroit, 124.
Hits: Cramer, Boston, 185.
Doubles: Greenberg, Detroit, 48.
Triples: McCosky, Detroit, 17.
Home runs: Foxx, Boston, 35.
Stolen bases: Case, Washington, 29.
Pitching: Newsom, Detroit, 18-3.

Quick, Easy Shaves At Lowest Cost With The New VALET AutoStrop RAZOR

LOOK AT THE FEATURES
1 Streamline Runner Guard smooths and tightens skin—whisks away stubble with ease.
2 Unequalled Economy Five seconds stropping renews blade for quick, slick shaves.
3 No Smart or Burn Self-sharpening Valet Razor gives new blade comfort daily.

FIVE SECONDS' STROPPING KEEPS A BLADE SHAVING LIKE NEW DAY AFTER DAY

STREAMLINE RUNNER GUARD MEANS NEW SHAVING SPEED, COMFORT

79¢

THE RAZOR THAT SHARPENS ITSELF

ORILLIA SCORES MAJOR UPSET IN BEATING FLYERS

Even Series With Airmen in O.A.S.A. "B" Playdowns by Winning in Trenton

SCORE IS 14-9

Airmen Win Toss and Third Game Will be Played in Trenton Saturday

Trenton, Sept. 12—(Special)—In a surprising victory Orillia evened their intermediate "B" play-off series with the R.C.A.F. here last evening when the Georgian Bay nine played consistent softball to down the Flyers 14 to 9 and force a third and deciding game to be played here on Saturday.

The Airmen won the initial game of the series at Orillia last Saturday by a 12 to 1 score, which made last night's reverse the more surprising. However, the visitors deserved victory as they played more consistant softball.

Orillia took an early-game lead by scoring four runs in the second, but the Airmen retaliated to count six and drive Wilkinson, the starting Orillia pitcher, to cover, Reid taking over and promptly halting the Flyers' rally. The visitors came back in the top half of the third to score three more runs and shell Noreworthy, the Airmen's moundsman, from the hilltop, Farrar taking over the homesters' pitching chores, but his slants proved no mystery, as Orillia went on to win with a five-run splurge in the eighth that assured them of victory and a third game.

The line-ups:

Orillia—Turnbull, c.; Reid, 2b. and p.; Wilkie, c.f.; Larkins, s.s.; McDonald, 1b.; Dillworth, 3b.; Wilkinson, p. and 2b.; Robinson, l.f. and Howes, r.f.

R.C.A.F.—Snape, 2b.; Carey, 3b.; Gibson, c.; Weaver, c.f.; Legris, s.s.; Farrar, l.f. and p.; Paton, l.f.; Stephenson, 1b.; Charlebois, r.f. and Noreworthy, p.

Score by innings:

Orillia ...0 4 3 0 2 0 0 5 0—14 runs
Air Force 0 6 0 0 0 0 2 0 1— 9 runs

Yesterday's Stars

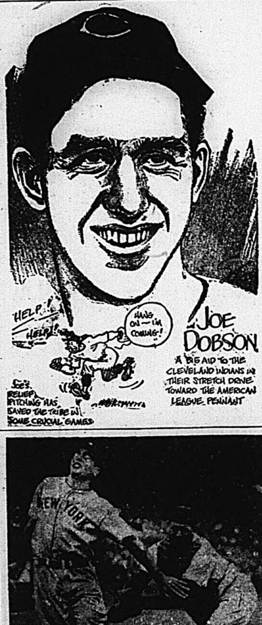
By The Associated Press

Ernie Bonham, Yankees, and Beau Bell, Indians—Former's five-hit hurling stifled Indians in first game; latter drove in two runs with double to spark five-run rally in night cap.

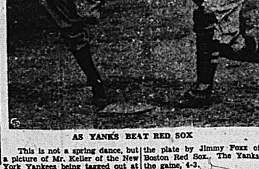
Hank Greenberg, Tigers—Greenberg's 31st homer put Detroit in front to stay against Red Sox.

Elden Auker, Browns—Pitched five-hit ball and contributed triple to shutout of Athletics.

Bucky Walters and Paul Derringer, Reds—Their four and six-hit hurling beat Bees twice.



HELP!
HELP!
HANG ON—I'M COMING!
JOE DOBSON
A BIG AID TO THE CLEVELAND INDIANS IN THEIR STRETCH DRIVE TOWARD THE AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT
JOE'S RELIEF PITCHING HAS SAVED THE TRIBE IN SOME CRUCIAL GAMES



AS YANKS BEAT RED SOX

This is not a spring dance, but a picture of Mr. Keller of the New York Yankees being tagged out at the plate by Jimmy Foxx of the Boston Red Sox. The Yanks won the game, 4-3.

Three Former Champions and Champion Still in

(By Gayle Talbot, Associated Press Sports Writer)

Mamaroneck, N.Y., Sept. 12—(AP) — Three former champions and the present titleholder, Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., still are in there pitching as the surviving 16 go at it again today in the United States amateur golf championship.

Two of the ex-champs, Jess Sweetser, '22, and Johnny Fischer, '36, are paired against each other in the first of the day's two 18-hole rounds. Willie Turnesa, winner of the event in 1938, also turned back his first two opponents yesterday.

The only highly-regarded player missing after the frightful carnage of the first two rounds, in fact, is Art Doering of Chicago. Ranked in the second group of hot contenders, right behind Ward, Doering was rocked out in the first skirmish by Otto Greiner of Baltimore, 5 and 4.

Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, runner-up twice in three years, still is among those present, though he had to go 23 holes to eliminate Bill Dear, Jr. of West Orange, N. J., in his morning match.

Medalist Still Around

Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, who the professionals say is the most mechanically perfect player among the amateurs, still is around. Also Frank Strafaci of Great Neck, L.I.; Pat Abbott, of Pasadena; Dick Chapman, the tournament medalist; Maurice McCarthy, Jr. the Cincinnati star; George Dawson, of Chicago, and John Burke, of Rye, N.Y.—all well known to the national scene.

Only the remaining four survivors might be termed "outsiders" and each of them owns a high sectional rating. . Tom Sheehan, Jr., last year's medalist, of Northville, Mich.; Greiner, conqueror of Doering; W. B. McCullough, Jr., of Abingdon, Pa. and Harry Haverstick, Jr., of Lancaster, Pa., comprise the quartet that confounded the experts slightly.

There will be only four players left tonight to carry on in tomorrow's 36-hole semi-finals.

Steve Belloise, Dave Castilloux To Fight in N. Y.

New York, Sept. 12—(CP)—Middleweight Steve Belloise and light weight Dave Castilloux of Montreal two of the best-looking ring prospects seen around these parts in a while, get a real chance for shots at the championships of their respective classes at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Steve, who won't be 22 until mid-December, will throw his two years of professional boxing experience against the 16 of Ceferino Garcia, the bolo-punching Filipino who not long ago was half-owner of the world middleweight championship, in the feature 10-rounder.

In the eight-round semi-final, Castilloux, ranking National Boxing Association challenger for lightweight honors and the division's ruler in the Dominion, will meet Paul Debello who claims the New York State 135-pound title.

Country Club Golfers Win Over Belleville Club

In their city series, for the golf championship of Belleville, members of the Bay of Quinte Country Club defeated a team of golfers from the Belleville Golf Club, over the former's course, by the score of 25 1-2 to 19 1-2. In their annual inter-club matches played to date this season, the Country Club has won two games to one over the Belleville Club players, with a fourth match yet to be played on the latter's course.

Following yesterday's match the members of the Bay of Quinte Country Club entertained their golf rivals at luncheon in the spacious Country Club dining room.

Country Club—J. Fauquier 1-2, C. L. Jewell 0, O. H. Scott 2, R. E. Orr 1 1-2, A. P. Allen 3, C. B. Spalding 0, S. J. Howell 1-2, R. J. Wray 1-2, W. N. Belair 3, F. Hinchey 1 1-2, W. Allore 2, A. Baragar 3, J. Cowan 3, S. Dennis 3, W. Little 2—total 25 1-2.

Belleville Golf—H. Ridley 2 1-2, J. E. Marsh 3, J. Legault 1, H. McElrath 1 1-2, C. Maybee 0, W. Abercrombe 3, S. Hibbard 2 1-2, A. Graham 2 1-2, R. Neale 0, D. Ogilvie 1 1-2, G. Duff 1, Dr. Clendening 0, R. Schryver 0, D. McGee 0, J. S. Mitchell 1—total 19 1-2.

GOOD PITCHING, TIMELY HITTING DEFEAT DELORO

South Hastings "Combines" Even O.B.A. Series With Smelters by Winning 20-1

PLAY SATURDAY

"Chuck" Barriage and Ken Juby Restrict Losers to 4 Hits in Nine Frames

Combining good pitching with timely hitting, a combination hard to beat in baseball, the South Hastings "Combines" evened their intermediate O.B.A. play-off series with the Deloro "Smelters" with a one-sided 20 to 1 win at the Belleville Fair Grounds yesterday afternoon forcing the series into a third and deciding game to be played at Deloro on Saturday.

The Combines pounded three Deloro moundsmen, including their veteran ace pitcher Carl Casey, for a total of 19 base hits and scored eleven runs in the first inning, following which there was little interest as the two South Hastings pitchers, Chuck Barriage and Ken Juby, mowed the Smelter batters before them like the proverbial chaff.

Losers Collect Four Bingles

The Smelters collected but four singles, Bert Brown, the visitors' third baseman, getting two of these bingles off the combined efforts of Barriage and Juby. The former held the Deloro nine scoreless for five frames, yielding up three hits, while the visitors scored an unearned run off Juby in the sixth and collected but one safe blow from his deliveries. Juby whiffed eight in four innings and walked three, while Barriage struck out six and showed fine control, not issuing a single free pass to the initial sack. Carl Casey, former Belleville pitcher and third moundsman of the day, looked the best for Deloro as he whiffed four, but yielded up seven runs and ten hits in three frames. McInroy, the visitors' starting pitcher, failed to last the first inning, being replaced by S. Callery with only one out and five runs across the Belleville score sheet.

Little Competition

There was little or no competition after the Combines buried the Smelters under an avalanche of runs, 11 to be exact, in the initial frame. Every member of the starting nine, except Gannon, hit safely, while Barriage counted a triple and two singles, Sero, Empson, St. Louis and Jarrell wielded potent bats for the homesters. Bert Brown with two singles, counted two of the Smelters' four singles of the day.

The homesters went on a second batting rampage in the seventh when they scored six runs off Casey.

The box score:

A Baseball Blitzkrieg

Delero	ab	r	h	po	a
Gazley, lf.	3	0	1	0	0
Grey, ss.	4	0	1	0	2
Knowles, c.	3	1	0	8	0
Brown, 3b.	4	0	2	1	0
M. Callery, cf.	4	0	0	3	0
S. Callery rf., p.	2	0	0	0	3
Wright, 2b.	2	0	0	3	1
Townsend, 1b.	3	0	0	7	1
McInroy, p.	2	0	0	1	0
a-Casey, p.	2	0	0	1	3
Goodchild, rf.	2	0	0	0	0
b-Hunter	0	0	0	0	0
Total	31	1	4	24	10

a—pitched in the 6th.
b—replaced Gazley in 7th.

Combines	ab	r	h	po	a
Jarrell, 2b.	5	3	2	2	1
Carson, 1b.	3	3	1	7	0
Sero, ss.	5	3	3	0	0
Empson, 3b., cf.	4	3	3	0	1
Houston, lf., c.	6	1	1	8	1
St. Louis, c., lf.	4	2	2	9	0
Gannon, cf.	3	0	0	0	0
Marsh, rf.	3	2	2	0	0
Barriage, p., rf.	5	3	3	0	2
e-Collins, 3b.	3	1	1	1	1
c-Juby, p.	3	0	0	0	1
d.Kelleher	1	0	1	0	0
Total	43	20	19	27	7

c—pitched in 6th.
d—replaced Empson in 8th.
e—went to third in 5th.

Score by innings:

		R	H	E
Deloro	000 001 000—	1	4	7
Combines	1101 101 60x—	20	19	3

Summary — errors — Houston 2, Carson, Gazley, Brown, S. Callery, Wright 2, Knowles and Townsend; three base hits—Barriage; two base hits—St. Louis, Jarrell, Sero; runs batted in—S. Callery, Jarrell 2, Carson, Sero 3, Empson, Kelleher, Houston, Marsh, Barriage 2; stolen bases—Jarrell 3, Carson 2, Collins, Barriage, Knowles; left on base—Combines 11, Deloro 8; hit by pitcher—Callery (Sero); Barriage, (Townsend); struck out—by Barriage, 6 in five inning, by Juby 8 in four inning, by McInroy, 1 on one-third inning, by S. Callery, 2 in three and two-third innings, by Casey, 4 in four inning; base on balls—off Juby 3, off McInroy 4, of Callery 4; wild pitch—McInroy, Callery; umpires, H. Townsend, plate; Art Hall, bases.

Joe Triner, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, has ordered his referees to wear maroon shirts so the gore will be less noticeable . . . Carl Christianson, the Miami cop, had his own private gallery as long as he was in the amateur golf tournament—two other Miami cops, also on vacation.

The only full-fledged cemetery in the United States for blue-bloods of the turf is on the Lexington (Ky.) farm of Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney . . . Studded with white tombstones, the cemetery contains the remains of such famous winners as Broomstick, Whiskbroom II and Equipoise.

Dress Up for FALL

If you are feeling a little out of spirits with yourself, the best remedy in the world is to step out in a new outfit.

It's just the thing you need to make you friends with the world.

Why not make it a point today to come in and see the new Fall styles in men's suits and topcoats . . and prices that will meet with your approval.

QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with Ken J. Colling

This blitzkreig business is taking on everywhere, well at least that's just about the way in which to describe yesterday's defeat of the Deloro "Smelters" at the hands of the district "Combines." The score was 20 to 1 in favour of the South Hastings ballsters, and they banged out 19 base knocks in a most unmerciful attack upon three Smelter moundsmen, including Carl Casey, who had humbled the Combines on Monday. The Combines opened by scoring eleven runs in the initial frame and from that point it was just no contest nor of much interest to the 53 paid adults, who sat and shivered through most of the game in weather that was more suitable for football. "Doc" Empson's hirelings really had their batting togs on yesterday as they drove two Deloro pitchers to the showers and then roughed Mister Casey in the seventh with a six run attack, during which time the locals banged out a sextette of base blows to add insult to injury.

All of the glory doesn't go to the batters, however, as the lion's share should be laid at the door of Chuck Barriage, who, hurling his first game of the season, blanked the Smelters for five consecutive innings, allowing them but three scattered singles. It was the fine work of Barriage and his battery-mate, Speedy St. Louis, that really took the scrap out of the Brown-Casey-led Smelters. Then Ken Juby, of Shannonville, took over the Combines' pitching duties and although one unearned run was scored against him, the visitors counted but one safe hit from his deliveries, but it was doubtless Barriage who broke the morale of the Smelters. Deloro won the toss and the third and deciding game will be played in the mining village Saturday afternoon. Providing the Combines get the same type of pitching as they were afforded yesterday there is little doubt of the issue, but the success or failure of the South Hastings lads lies firmly entrenched in their future mound efforts and its support.

There were a lot of old C.O.B.L. faces on the Fair Grounds diamond yesterday. For Deloro there was Bert Brown, diminutive left fielder with the old Smeltres of C.O.B.L. days, and also Carl Casey, who hurled for the old Nationals. On the South Hastings nine there was Chuckie Barriage, Speedy St. Louis, Nickie Sero and "Ripper" Collins, all of whom had seen service with Belleville senior teams in years gone by. Skipper Empson trotted out a smart looking infield with Carson at first, Jarrell at second, Collins, third, and Sero at short with St. Louis catching to make up as potent an inner works as we've seen garnered locally in some years and coupled with Empson and Marsh, they can all hit for a better than average percentage of district intermediate clubs. The Combines outhit Deloro in the first game, but their pitching did not stand up. With these facts in hand it is simple to guess the answer of the future—it's in the battery and St. Louis is the man to handle the Combines' pitchers, as he has the much-needed experience.

Last Saturday at Orillia the Trenton R.C.A.F. softballers had matters rather their own way when they defeated the Orillia nine 12 to 1, but last night in Trenton the Georgian Bay nine gave the highly heralded Flyers the surprise of the season when they downed Laurie Gibson's "mushballers" 14 to 9 in a second game at Trenton. With the exception of a six-run splurge in the second frame the Airmen just weren't in the picture, as the Orillia nine kept scoring in the odd inning to overcome the Flyers' lead and win handily. The Airmen won the toss and the third game will be played in Trenton Friday night giving President Baker's Bay Shore Park O.A.S.A. playdown games every remaining evening this week. It's Kingston and Oshawa there tonight, Orillia and the Flyers Friday and Wooler versus Port McNickoll Saturday, while Belleville languishes in the stresses of eliminated oblivion.

Bob Kennedy of the White Sox is rated as the "rookie of the year" by no less an authority than Connie Mack, veteran president-manager of the Philadelphia Athletics, who has seen every American League rookie come up in the history of the circuit.

In fact, Mack regards the rise of Kennedy as the outstanding event in the league this year.

Connie rates the White Sox third sacker above Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack, the Indians' crack infield combination, asserting: "They're both great players, but it's Kennedy for me. He's a fine fielder, can run like a deer and is a hard batter to fool. He ought to be even better next year."

Did you know that the Jersey City Giants set two International League attendance records this season? . . . They opened before 45,000 last spring and the other day played to exactly six-sixty cash customers, giving them the highest and lowest record of attendance for the season. . . . That several former Bay of Quinte League players were in the Hollinger-Cooper Cliff play-off game yesterday? They included Art Scarlet, Reg Dorey, M. Kinkley and Stan Spratt . . . The Wooler "sluggers" ran into grief at Port McNickoll, they got beat 9 to 4, as pitcher Howe struck out 11 of Jim Stacey's teammates.

SPORT SPICE — A Yankee rookie hurler, Ernie Bonham, bested Bob Feller as the Yankees and Indians split. . . . Red Ruffing was shelled from the mound in the second game, as the Indians gained an abbreviated six-inning decision, after the Yanks had beaten Feller 3-1. . . . Detroit beat Boston and now you can look for a blanket finish in the American League, as the Yankees move into Detroit and Boston goes to Cleveland. . . . Dizzy Dean heralded his return to big league baseball by pitching a 3 to 2 win for the Cubs over the Dodgers. . . . "Old Diz" had a lot of 'em pulling for him in his comeback effort, which proved he's got what makes great pitchers. . . . It was with profound regret and a shock we heard of the sudden passing of Gerald (Jerry) Lynch today. We know of no one who got a greater kick out of life and he always enjoyed a joke, especially one on himself once when Freddie Hamilton lost so much money betting on the Hillcrests here. Gerald was an ardent angler and a staunch supporter of Belleville sporting activities for many years. He played shortstop for Belleville Baseball Nines prior to the organization of the C.O.B.L. A host of friends all over the province will miss "Jerry" Lynch.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, Sept. 12 —(AP)— Yanks now are even money on Broadway. With Detroit quoted at 7-5 and Cleveland at 9-5 . . . Dick Champan (our pick to win the amateur) already has one stroke on him. In 20 years, only one man—Bobby Jones—ever won the medal, then went on to take the title . . . One of the war correspondents with the Yanks wires Cleveland fans are yelling for the return of Steve O'Neill.

SURPRISE BARRAGE HINDERS RAIDERS CHEERS BRITISH

Enemy Discouraged by Flaming Protective Curtain of Fire

FEW SEARCHLIGHTS

Noisiest Night Londoners Have Experienced Since Capital First Bombed

(By Harold Fair Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Sept. 12 (CP Cable) — Londoners went to work today after the noisiest night experienced since the capital was first bombed, while authoritative circles were quietly jubilant over the surprise blitz-barrage which provided a major part of that noise and gave a thundering reception to the luftwaffe.

While no one believed that this constitutes a definite answer to raiding, these sources asserted it is more than a preventive measure, by which raiders are discouraged by a flaming protective curtain of fire thrown over the capital with the result that many are unable to keep their course and reach targets.

One source, while explaining that few planes were brought down by barrage, added that "they are definitely discouraged." A private observer commented that "out our way Jerry seemed as mad as hell and either dumped his stuff in anger or ran away."

It is generally agreed that it was the most terrific barrage ever thrown up here. Those with good ears thought that they sometimes detected a different note in the gunfire, indicative of a new type of attack gun.

The comparative absence of searchlights gave rise to the well-founded belief that new tactics were employed by the defenders, who previously had held their fire until they saw the "whites of their eyes"—In this case the target in a searchlight beam. Last night gunners let to anywhere, spangling the sky with new, deadly stars—hundreds of bursting shells.

Shrapnel peppered rooftops like a Canadian hailstorm.

Of course there was damage from the raid but gone was the old feeling of helplessness which followed the monotonous note of the Germans flying with almost clockwork precision to unload their bombs.

Large Quantities Cheese Wanted In Gt. Britain

Edmonton, Sept. 12 —(CP)— Cheese is wanted in Great Britain in large quantities and "they'll take all we can send," said Dr. William Allen, agricultural commissioner for Canada in the United Kingdom, in an address here last night.

Dr. Allen, addressing the Northern Alberta branch of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists, said Britain is the only important wheat-buying country as far as Canada's surplus is concerned and that "many problems involved were receiving close attention."

He expressed the hope that an increase in the bacon quota would be gained in the new agreement now under discussion, and also that next year the British Ministry of Food might take more eggs from Canada.

ALBERT RITCHIE GIVEN TWO YEARS

Bancroft Youth Pleads Guilty to Escaping Custody from the County Jail

Albert Ritchie, 23-year-old Bancroft youth, was sentenced to serve two years in the Portsmouth Penitentiary by Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., here today after pleading guilty to escaping custody of the County gaol. The sentence is to run consecutively with a previous reformatory term imposed for theft.

Ritchie escaped from the Hasting County goal here on Aug. 25th last, by scaling the roof and later falling 25 feet to the outside grounds when a wire, which he was using to gain his liberty, broke. The charge was preferred by Sheriff J. D. O'Flynn and Ritchie elected summary trial and pleaded guilty before the Magistrate today. After he escaped Ritchie was found hiding in the rear of an automobile only a few hundred yards from the gaol. He was discovered by two Hydro employees and was suffering from ankle and leg injuries, sustained in his fall.

Ritchie was charged with unlawfully escaping from the Hastings County gaol, having been previously convicted of an offence contrary to the Canadian Criminal Code. His reformatory term will commence at the expiration of the sentence imposed today.

KILLED NEAR LINDSAY

Lindsay, Sept. 12.—(CP)—When his car was struck by a C.N.R. freight train today at a level crossing in the village of Woodville, Gordon E. Wilkinson, Woodlawn Ave., Toronto was instantly killed.

You'll Fall in Love... WITH Milady
COMMUNITY PLATE'S NEW STYLE CREATION
A Design So Captivating It Inspired An Original Evening Gown Creation by Molyneux World Famous Stylist
Active
BUY NOW AND MAKE IMPORTANT SAVINGS
Three Special Services for Eight Places available with savings from $7.50 to $12.50
TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THESE SAVINGS AND TODAY'S LOW PRICES
COMMUNITY PLATE
SILVERWARE OF DISTINCTION
The VOGUE "CHEST"
44 Piece Service for Eight Places $49.75
Regular Open Stock Price $57.25
YOU SAVE $7.50
INTRODUCTORY OFFER $1.50 VALUE
Useful Cream or Mayonnaise Ladle in the New "MILADY" Design . . . 35¢
Only one to a Customer
PAY ONLY $1.00 A WEEK
No interest or carrying charge
Angus McFee JEWELERS Since 1860

TRANSIENT HELD ON THREE CHARGES

Fred Bates, Allegedly Looking for His Wife, Wounds Padre in Whose House She Was Working as Maid

Toronto, Sept. 12 (CP).—Rev. K. R. Berkley, assistant chaplain of Christie Street Military Hospital here, told police today he overpowered an assailant who attacked him with a hammer in his bed earlier and held the man for police after receiving two serious hammer blows on the head.

Fred Bates, alias Charles Jackson, 47, transient, is held by police on charges of wounding, burglary and false registration.

The alleged attack took place in the home of Maj. the Rev. H. P. Charters, now padre with the Canadian Active Service Force, for whom Mr. Berkley is acting in St. Cyprian's Anglican Church.

Mr. Berkley said he was awakened from his sleep "by a terrible blow on the head. Just as I awakened I received a second smack. Then I saw the shadow of a man in the darkened room — I grappled with him and pulled him over the bed. I finally got on top of him and I weigh heavy."

Awakened By Sounds.

Mrs. Charters and Mrs. B. Bates, her maid, were awakened by sounds of the struggle and telephoned police who arrived while Mr. Berkley was holding his alleged assailant. They had to use a neighbor's phone as wires leading into their own home had been cut, they told police.

Police said Bates was husband of the Charters maid from whom he had been separated five years. "He was looking for her and apparently found himself in the wrong bedroom. He got into the house by kicking in a cellar window."

They said they found a hammer, leaf from a car spring, a bottle of ammonia, piece of rope, a pair of scissors, ball of tape and two rubber balls, one of them filled with ammonia, in Mr. Berkley's room.

Mr. Berkley is in hospital but his condition is not serious. Bates was remanded without plea until Sept. 19.

FINE HUDSON SEAL . . .

HUDSON SEAL . . . Beautiful and Sturdy! Warm, Supple, Versatile!

LOW PRICED. BUDGET TERMS.

ASHLEY FURS

294 Front St. Phone 2340

"Walk Upstairs and Save"

Jewish Council Appeals to America For Protection

Jerusalem, Sept. 12 (AP). — The Jewish Community Council declared today "America must intervene" to halt such bombings as the one in which Italian raiders killed at least 112 civilians and wounded 151 in Tel Aviv Tuesday.

The council telegraphed Stephen S. Wise, president of the American Jewish Congress, and asked him to appeal to the White House and to foreign diplomatic representatives in Washington to put an end to such "criminal acts on a peaceful people whose only sin as far as the Italians are concerned is that they are Jews."

Mayor Israel Rokach of Tel Aviv telegraphed President Roosevelt protesting against the "cruel attack made by Rome-Berlin axis planes".

KILLED AT LEVEL CROSSING

Toronto, Sept. 12 (CP)—Harold Taylor of suburban East York was killed in a level crossing crash on Don Mills road as he was driving to work today.

Taylor, a carpenter, was en route to North York when the accident occurred at a Canadian Pacific Railway crossing. The front of the locomotive of a passenger train collided with the side of Taylor's car. Body of the victim was found in a ditch where it had been hurled against a fence. The car was demolished.

"SUICIDE SQUADS" RISK LIVES IN BOMB HUNTING

London, Sept. 12—(CP) — Handpicked "suicide squads," risking their lives to save others, combed London today in search of hidden death—delayed action bombs of the type which damaged a corner of Buckingham Palace.

Increasing use of time-bombs by the Germans in their night aerial forays over London has made necessary the assignment of experts to the nerve - wracking search—mostly men picked from the Royal Engineers.

The bombs may lie hidden in debris in a demolished house, or buried 20 feet underground in a backyard garden. No one knows precisely where they are, or when they may explode.

When they are located, occupants of neighboring buildings are ordered out; the area is roped off and guarded by police.

The "suicide squad" then inspects the scene, fills the crater with earth, covers it with sand bags and awaits the explosion.

Digging out an unexploded bomb is a highly dangerous job, since there is no way of telling what time limit has been set by the Germans.

Obviously, time-bombs do not carry clockwork apparatus familiar in thriller stories. The timing apparatus, on the other hand, consists of an oxidized plate on which acid starts to operate the moment the bomb is released.

The interval before the explosion can be timed by a variation arrangement of the plate and the acid.

OBITUARY

JAMES BROWNSON

(Fifth Concession Thurlow)

Early this Thursday morning, September 12th, James Brownson, well known resident in the Fifth Concession of Thurlow, passed away at the Belleville General Hospital. Death was the result of an accident suffered early Sunday morning.

The deceased was in his 65th year, being the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Martin Brownson of Rawdon Township. Until sixteen years ago Mr. Brownson had resided in Rawdon Township when he took up residence in Thurlow. In profession he was a carpenter.

Surviving to mourn his passing are one son, Byron, at home; three sisters, Mrs. Wm. Lahey, Madoc, Mrs. A. VanAllen, Belleville and Mrs. Wallace Simmons of Thurlow Township; four brothers, Thomas Brownson, Wisconsin, Charles Brownson, Bloomfield, Arthur Brownson, Eldorado and Percy Brownson of Madoc.

The late Mr. Brownson was a member of the Carmel United Church and was highly esteemed by friends and acquaintances. Fraternally he was a member of the Springbrook I.O.O.F.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

ARMED ROBBERY BRINGS 17 YEARS

Hamilton, Sept. 12 —(CP)— Judge E. F. Lazier today sentenced Fred Saponey, 43, of Toronto, to 17 years in the penitentiary for the armed robbery of the King Street and Victoria Avenue branch of the Bank of Montreal here on Nov. 27 last, when $3,000 was stolen.

As sentence was passed, Saponey vehemently maintained that he was innocent, but the Judge's reply to this was:

"The jury has found you guilty and rightly so. You have engaged in crime for a great many years. You came here and gave evidence which was obviously false."

Saponey's sentence will run concurrently with a 15-year term imposed in Montreal on Dec. 19, 1939 for attempted bank robbery there in which three shots were fired.

The jury found that Saponey was one of the three men who held up the bank here. George W. Ballard, K.C., Crown Attorney, demanded a long sentence for Saponey "to keep him from preying on society."

DEFENDING CHAMP STILL IN FIGHT

Mamoroneck, N.Y., Sept. 12 —(CP)—The defending champion, Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., and the qualifying medalist Dick Chapman of the Host Club today led the way into the quarter finals of the United States amateur golf championship.

Johnny Fischer, the 1936 winner, also was in the group of eight that started out this afternoon in the round of eight, from which will emerge the four semi-finalists who will play 36 holes tomorrow. The 36-hole final is scheduled for Saturday.

Third round scores:

Wilford Wehrle, Chicago, defeated Thomas Sheehan, Jr., Northville, Mich., 5 and 4.

George Dawson, Chicago, defeated Otto Greiner, Toxson, Md., 6 and 4.

Richard D. Chapman, Mamaroneck, N.Y., defeated Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., Cincinnati 5 and 4.

PREMIER HEPBURN ORDERS PROBE

Will Investigate Refusal of Hamilton School Children to Salute Flag

Toronto, Sept. 12—(CP)—Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn ordered immediate investigation today into the refusal of Hamilton School children to sing the National Anthem and salute the flag. The investigation will be directed towards the parents, who, the Premier said, are responsible for "coaching" their children.

He directed Attorney-General Gordon Conant to open the investigation and an officer of the Criminal Investigation Branch of the Provincial Police will be assigned to the case.

"It is manifestly unfair to ask the taxpayers of Ontario to furnish funds with which to educate children who are openly disloyal. Undoubtedly the children are being coached by someone and efforts will be made to find out who is advising them to take such an attitude".

Fire-Arms Registration Closes on Saturday

Only two more days remain for the registration of rifles and shot guns in Canada, Chief Kidd stated this afternoon. Since the registration of these types of fire arms was ordered under the Defence of Canada Regulations, over 750 persons have registered their rifles and shot guns at the Belleville police station alone, some 1,500 such arms being registered by their owners. The registration closes on Saturday night and persons delinquent in the matter will be severely dealt with and substantial fines levied where convictions are registered under this act, police authorities announced today.

TORONTO YOUTH HELD FOR THEFT

The display of a warm-looking windbreaker proved too tempting to 17-year-old John Butler, of Toronto, today with the result he was subsequently arrested by Detective Fred Isard and held in custody. According to city police Butler was walking past Goodman's haberdashery store on Front Street and in passing carefully reached up and took a $10.00 windbreaker from a hook, where it was on display for sale. Butler will appear in Friday's police court.

CORRESPONDENT INJURED

London, Sept. 12 (CP). — Guy Murchie, Chicago Tribune correspondent, was wounded in the leg during the bombing and shelling of Dover today. Larry Rue, the newspaper's London correspondent, said a bomb fell on the hotel where Murchie and others were watching an attack by dive bombers. A fragment cut the calf of Murchie's leg and caused other minor injuries.

DEFENCE BOARDS DISCUSS PLAN TO POOL RESOURCES

90-Odd Airdromes Being Built in Canada Would Provide Bases for U.S. Planes

DETAILS UNAVAILABLE

Ottawa, Sept. 12 (CP)—The 90 odd airdromes being built in Canada under the British Commonwealth Air Training Plan might provide bases for United States air forces should it be necessary for them to operate from Canadian soil in case of an overseas attack on North American territory.

At Washington yesterday Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, United States Chairman of the Canadian-American joint defence Board, said the Board was discussing plans for the pooling of the defence forces of the two countries and the joint use of military, naval and air bases rather than the establishment by one country of bases on the territory of the other.

The establishments of the Commonwealth Training Plan are for training purposes although the Royal Canadian Air Force also has bases for fighting planes and is expanding these. The training establishments, however, could accommodate service aircraft just as readily as training aircraft.

Accommodation for military forces in Canada is just keeping pace with the expansion of the Canadian army. Naval accommodation, both on the Pacific and the Atlantic would probably require considerable improvement before any large number of American warships could be based there.

Only Advisory Body

The trend of discussion before the Board as revealed by Mr. La Guardia aroused interest in Ottawa today but no details were available. The Board is an Advisory body and its conclusions become effective only on their adoption by the two governments. It is unlikely the Board's recommendations will be made public in full except as they are translated into action.

The Mayor's statement indicated the Board approached the problem of North American Defence not as a single undertaking, but one undertaking for Canada and another for the United States. This is in in accord with the view expressed by President Roosevelt consistently that an attack on Canada would be a menace to the United States and would be resisted by that country.

The trend of discussion as outlined by the New York Mayor, of course, would also involve the employment of Canadian forces in the United States in case of attack there and the use by Canadians of American facilities and bases.

Announcement was made only yesterday of the purchase of 80,000 rifles from the United States. These were surplus weapons and Mr. La Guardia said the furnishing of surplus military supplies to Canada was a "part of defence".

Hero William Holden and heroine Martha Scott are very young when they discover romance in the unusual film, "Our Town," Thornton Wilder's delightful comedy romance now at the Belle, with Lew Ayres and Rita Johnson in the laugh hit, "The Golden Fleecing."

CAR LOAD PEACHES

WE WILL HAVE FOR THIS WEEK-END A CAR LOAD OF NIAGARA PEACHES

Peaches are now at their best and prices will likely advance next week.

Before buying compare our prices and quality. Buy locally and keep your money circulating in the city.

We Handle Niagara Peaches They're Best

Empire Fruit-Groceries

209 FRONT STREET PHONE 676
FREE DELIVERY

BUY 2 WAR STAMPS WITH WHAT YOU SAVE ON THIS NARVO COMBINATION OFFER!
All 3 for $1.70
25
25
HERE'S WHAT YOU GET
1 NARVO
¼ NARVO
BRUSH
TOTAL REG. VALUE 2.20

Special! 2 Days Only

Here is your opportunity to buy Narvo at a bargain and at the same time assist materially in Canada's war effort by purchasing two war savings stamps. Remember Narvo produces a metal-hard high-lustre finish to woodwork, cabinets, walls, furniture, floors etc. and covers almost any surface in one coat.

For Sale by
JOHN LEWIS COMPANY
263 Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 2260
ARTHUR F. HALL, Latta, Ont.

PROCLAMATION FOR CALL-UP EXPECTED TODAY

Single Men of 21 to 24 Years Inclusive and Childless Widowers in First Call

30-DAYS TRAINING

Ottawa, Sept. 12—(CP)—A proclamation advising all Canada's single men of 21 to 24 years inclusive and widowers of these years who are childless, that they are liable to calling-up for 30 days compulsory military training will be issued probably late today or tomorrow, it was announced today.

The actual call to training will follow this proclamation. According to a previous announcement the plan is to call 40,000 men, single or childless widowers of 21 years to get the first batch of 29,750 men to undergo compulsory training starting about Oct. 9.

The announcement today was made by Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, Associate Deputy Minister of National War Services, on behalf of his minister, Hon. J. G. Gardiner.

Gen. LaFleche announced that all medical practitioners in Canada, approximately 10,500 had been appointed examining physicians under the National War Services regulations, to examine men called for training.

This, he said, had been done so that men called would be able to get their physical examination without having to travel away from their homes. The physicians will receive a fee of $1 for each examination, paid by the government.

ONLY ONE RAID

London, Sept. 12.—(CP)—London has its first air raid warning of the day at 4.39 p.m. (11.39 a.m. E.D.T.)

Shortly after the sirens began wailing observers in the centre of the city could see German warplanes approaching, flying high in the skies.

London's anti-aircraft guns opened up at once as the Germans came over.

A short time later there was a lull is the shooting, suggesting that the planes had turned away.

Wallpaper Sale
Fall Clearance Specials

New Wallpaper makes such an improvement in any room. The better quality looks better and stands up better. At our sale prices you can afford to buy the better quality.

PRICES FROM .... 8c per single roll
BUNDLE LOTS .... 29c up
PAINT SPECIAL .... quart 59c

BEDDING, HOUSE FURNISHINGS, WALLPAPER

(SEE OUR AD. IN CONGOLEUM AD. FRIDAY)

THOMPSON'S

296 FRONT STREET PHONE 63

Drive The '41 Studebaker

Come in, see and drive the New '41 Champion Studebaker. Many new features. It is a bigger, roomier car and you can have house temperature in your Studebaker the coldest day in Winter, by using Studebaker's Exclusive Climatizer, built only to be used in all Studebaker models.

NOTICE

I wish to announce that I have moved my business from 366 Front St. to 211 Pinnacle St. In the building now occupied by Quinte Motors, Studebaker Distributors, I hope to be prepared to give better service to all my old customers as well as new ones. I will also service all cars sold by Quinte Motors.

MOHER'S GARAGE,
per R. J. Moher.

QUINTE MOTORS

211 PINNACLE STREET

LUX TOILET SOAP
THE SOAP WITH Whipped Cream Lather
MY DAILY LUX SOAP BATH RESTS AND REFRESHES ME—MAKES ME SURE OF DAINTINESS—OF SKIN THAT'S SWEET
Joan Bennett
She's a Lux girl
The Complexion Soap 9 out of 10 Screen Stars use

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

"I've never complained before over another woman, have I?" asked Judith.

Tex grinned down at her. "Not over another woman!"

It was Judith's turn to be ashamed. "Oh, Tex, I'm so sorry about last Monday morning. I was just sick because I let you go into the race angry at me! I shouldn't have—it was just nerves."

Tex nodded. "But you know it drives me nuts when you get on a 'phone and chatter with some of those silly women when I want you to talk to me!"

Judith held up her lips. "Kiss?"

Tex obeyed. "There. Let's forget the whole thing."

Judith did not remember how many times they had enacted this same scene in the last four years. She was secure and happy again. She'd been a fool, she admitted to herself, to let Sonia upset her even for a moment.

Tex loved her. Judith knew that. Suddenly she felt a little sorry for Sonia. In her happiness Judith could afford to be generous. Yes, Judith was quite confident and utterly happy. They'd go back to the old life again as though nothing had happened. . .

But in anger they had said many things to each other, things which could not be unsaid now. She had permitted Tex to know he'd not got away with much at the recent races. That was not good for his pride.

Tex was in an abject mood just then. "How could you be so silly, Judith? I'll never see Sonny again if that will please you!"

And Judith, because she loved him so, believed and was happy. For Judith, that Sonia affair was ended forever . . . just then.

* * * *

Judith was up early the next morning. Tex Aimes had to check in at 10 for a going-over by the airline doctor. They laughed a good deal together in sheer joy.

Aimes left the apartment before 10 and Judith went off to finish her marketing for dinner which she was determined to make a fine one, a kind of peace offering and celebration combined.

During the day while Judith went happily about her tasks, she determined to press the vacation matter. They'd both been under terrific tension. They needed to get their feet back on the ground.

Tex came storming into the apartment about six with Lee Holt and Dick Van Mathas in tow.

Judith liked Dick. He came often to the apartment, for Dick was a hero-worshipper of her famous husband. Tex Aimes had taught Dick to fly two years before at a Long Island country club when society first discovered Tex.

It was through Dick that Tex had first met Sonia at the club.

Dick Van Mathas was the only son of a wealthy Wall Street broker. And it was Tex who had sold Van Mathas, Sr., on the idea that Dick should have an airplane of his own. The father was so grateful to find something in which his son was strongly interested, that he agreed. So, together, Tex and Dick picked out the latter's first plane, a copper-paint job which was the pride of his life.

The moment the three burst into the door Judith knew something had happened. All three talked in bunches, and it was five minutes before Judith could get a coherent story out of any of them.

Gradually, the story came out. Dick had been practicing spins off the airport. Something had gone wrong with his plane.

"It went flat!" Dick moaned.

"I tell you, if you'd stuck with it, fought it down another hundred feet, she'd have come out," Tex insisted.

"It wouldn't!" Dick's voice choked. "I didn't know how much I thought of her until I saw her buried there in the ground. Dad won't ever buy me another."

"Won't somebody tell me just what happened?"

Judith appealed to Lee.

"I didn't see it, but Tex says Dick started in too low to make his turns and ran short of sky," Lee said.

Judith caught her breath. Then Tex had been out to the club that day. Like a snake the nasty thought that he had probably gone to see Sonia insinuated itself into her mind. And she was ashamed.

"I was sitting on the fence checking up on Dick," Tex narrated. "You'd never know how I felt. He made three nice turns; then I saw him go flat and disappear below the trees."

The famous flier shook his head. "I tell you when I got into the car I was so excited I drove it in second for a couple of minutes and couldn't understand why I wasn't picking up speed! I expected to pick the kid up in a basket."

"You bailed out?"

Dick nodded.

"I'm a member of the Caterpillar Club now." He put his head in his hands. "I'm just shot! Lord, what an experience! After I jumped, I watched her all the way down. I thought once she was going to hit a barn. But she landed in a field."

There were big tears in the youth's eyes.

"You'll get another, Dick."

He shook his head. "There'll never be another like her. I was so proud of her!"

"Were you scared when you jumped?" Judith asked.

"I didn't have time to be. I just knew I wanted out! It's an awful feeling when the controls go all sloppy and you can't do a thing. Just sit there spinning flat!"

He grinned suddenly. "Sailing down in the parachute was kinda nice. I could hear people on the ground yelling. I admit I had a bad second or two before I knew the chute was going to open. My back's lame. It gave me an awful yank."

Dick stretched painfully, gulped the drink Judith brought him. He picked up the piece of fabric he'd cut from his ship and held it lovingly in his hands.

"That's all there is left of her, Judith! There wasn't a thing. She was buried in the ground three feet!"

Tex poured another drink for Dick. "You'll get another ship. I can talk to your dad."

"He's in Chicago on business, Judith. I'm scared he'll hear about it before I have a chance to tell him. I ducked out here with Tex to hide tonight."

"What about your mother?" Judith asked.

"She's in Chicago, too."

"Don't worry. Everything will be all right."

Dick shook his head. "There's one thing, though, I'll never be afraid of a ship again—for I know I can always leave it if things get too tough."

They went to dinner when Judith called and enjoyed a gay evening.

Tex was in a gay mood, telling stories of his early days of flying when he and Lee built his first ship in St. Louis. Dick listened, his eyes gleaming, and Tex outdid himself.

It was long after midnight when Dick and Lee finally said good-night. Dick gave Judith a kiss and a hug with, "You've been grand to me, Judith. When the Ol' Man's away, you and I are going steppin'."

"I don't know when Tex will go back to work—"

"I mean while he's vacationing—" Dick answered. "We'll show him a pilot's wife never gets lonesome!"

Tex and Judith were walking to the elevator with the two boys when Dick spoke, mentioning that "vacation" . . .

When the two boys had said good night, Tex and Judith walked back to their apartment in silence. Inside, Tex went to the kitchen to mix himself another drink. "Just a night-cap. Lord, I'm tired!"

Judith did not speak of Dick's remark about the coming vacation. Instead she asked Tex about his head.

"Guess I got a worse crack than I thought. Doc says I can't go back to work for another week or two. He wants me to take a vacation."

As though this was a new idea! Tex avoided her eyes.

"It would be a good idea. You've had a difficult month."

Judith kept calm, determined not to make another scene.

"Doc says I need rest and quiet."

He finished his drink. "Guess I'll turn in." He was nervous under Judith's calm. Then he added, trying to be flippant: "Saw your boy friend today. He had Doc's report."

Tex was having a difficult time of it. Judith did not help him.

"Dud's a good egg. He understands fliers." Tex still watched Judith's averted head. Then, since Dick had broken the ice, he made the plunge. It was better to get it over quick. He took a deep breath.

"Dudley thought I ought to fly to the coast. It's still good weather out there."

His words fell on the electric silence of the room.

"He got an OK for my passage west of Chicago".

Judith began to empty ash trays, pick up glasses and newspapers. Not a word about her going.

"Guess I'll turn in. I've got a lot to do if I'm to get off tomorrow afternoon." He went, closing the bedroom door behind him. Left alone, Judith stood still in the middle of the living-room, an ash tray clenched in her hands.

So it wasn't over! He'd seen Sonia at the Club! This was her idea! For Judith knew Sonny was going west immediately. Judith could not cry. She was beyond tears. Wearily she continued the job of straightening up the apartment.

Methodically she began to wash the glasses and silver. It was better than lying sleepless, thinking. She wanted to run away from her thoughts. But they persisted.

Judith had never been to California. She had always wanted to go and Tex, who loved the West, had always promised that someday they'd go together. How could he!

She tried to be fair about the whole thing. Tex could have gone to Florida. That would not have hurt her so. But maybe he should be away from her for a time. She was willing to concede that. But to go to join Sonia after all his promises was too much.

What should she do? She pondered the question. In the morning she might ask him to take her. But her pride would not let her do that. Two weeks alone in the apartment!

She could not go to her mother, not with things the way they were.

(To be continued.)

Home on leave, this British Tommy helps his family to move from a bombed section of London to safer quarters. Indiscriminate bombing by Nazi raiders has caused heavy damage to the homes of workers in London's east end. Visited by the King following the raids, these workers shouted, "Are We Downhearted? No!"

Little Benny's Note Book

I went in the house to ask ma if I could go arcund to the Little Grand to see the Six Burp Brothers in A Night in a Cafeteria, and ma was back in the kitchin shelling peas on account of it being Nora's day off, and I said, Do you want me to help you, ma?

Well, what an unexpected offer, I'm sure, ma said. I must say the chief drawback to fresh peas is having to shell them, she said, and I said, Do you mean you want me to help you, ma?

I'd appreciate it very much, I'm sure, ma said, and I started to help her shell them, not being as easy as it looked to see ma doing them so fast, and after a while I said, Do you like the Six Burp Brothers, ma?

I never saw the gentlemen and I never expect to; and I understand their pictures are very vulger, ma said, and I said, How do you mean, ma, do you mean funny?

I do not, I mean common and low, in other words vulger, ma said.

And she kept on shelling peas fast and I kept on shelling them slow, saying, They're in a picture around at the Little Grand right now, ma.

Then it's an excellent place to stay away from, ma said.

Sounding final even without being asked, and I said, Jimminy, ma, I seem to be eating pritty near as many as I shell. About every 3rd one just naturelly seems to go in my mouth instead of the bowl, I said.

Raw vegetables are very good for growing children, they're full of undestroyed vitamins, ma said, and I said, Well gosh, ma, having to talk to me makes you go slower. I bet if I wasn't here you'd get more done faster than both of us together, I said.

If you want to stop just say so and you have my permission, ma said, and I said, Well maybe I better.

Wich I did.

The only botanical garden of desert plants in the world is being developed on an 800-acre tract near Phoenix, Arizona.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

THURSDAY, SEPT. 12.

12.00—Kate Smith Speaks.—WABC.—WJZ, CBO, CBL.
7.00—London Calling— CBL
7.30—Vox Pop; Parks and Wally—WABC, WGR.
8.00—Good News of 1941; Fanny Brice, Mary Martin, Dick Powell—WEAF, WGY
8.00—English News Letter — CBL, CBO
8.00—Canadian Holiday — WJZ WHAM
9.00—Singing and Swinging—WJZ
9.30—Concert in Miniature—WJZ
10.00—Rudy— Vallee program.
10.00—Boxing Bout: Garcia vs. Belloise—WJZ, WHAM WEAF, WHAM
10.15—Pennant Contenders—WOR
12.00—Duke Ellington's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

FRIDAY, SEPT. 13.

6.30—Paul Sullivan Edits the News.—WABC.
7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time.—WEAF, WGY.
7.15—Lanny Ross, tenor.—WABC, WGR.
8.00—Concert with Lucille Manners, quartet, Frank Black's orchestra.—WEAF, WBEN, CBL.
8.30—Death Valley Days. — WJZ, WHAM.
9.00—Waltz Time, Frank Munn, tenor, Manhattan chorus; Abe Lyman's Orch.—WEAF, WGY.
9.30 — Command Performance — CBL
9.30—Music for Moderns—WEAF, WGY
10.00—Don Ameche Variety Show—WEAF, WGY
10.30—BBC News Reel—CBL
10.45—Golden Gate Quartet—WABC
11.30—Salute to Byrd Expedition: Honolulu, Hawaii Salutes—WEAF, WGY

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200

UNITED STATES STATIONS

KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

RADIO PROGRAMS

THURSDAY

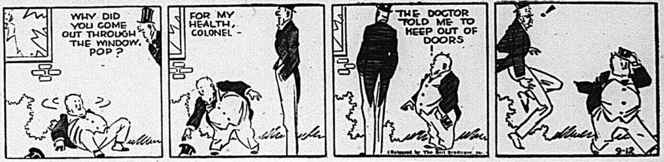
4.00—Club Matinee; news.—WJZ, CBL
7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure time—WEAF, WGY
8.00—Ask-It-Basket with Jim McWilliams—WABC, WGR
8.30—Strange as it seems—WABC, WGR
8.30—The Aldrich Family—WEAF
8.30—Pot O' Gold—WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Major Bowes' — WABC, CFRB
9.00—Music Hall—Bob Burns, M.C. and comedian; Music Maids; Ken Carpenter announcer; Guests: Elsa Lanchester, actress; Mischa Levitsky, violinist, and Dorothy Lamour, screen and radio star—WEAF, CBL
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orch.—WABC, WJR
10.00—Summer Symphony—CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks.—CBL, CBO.

FRIDAY

12.30—Nat'l. Farm and Home Hour, WJZ, WHAM
7.30—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC, WGR
8.00—Man About Hollywood — WABC, WGR, CFRB
8.30—Choose up sides—WABC
8.30—Sinfonietta—CBL
8.30—From Hollywood Today—WEAF, WGY
9.00—Harry Kogen's Orch. — WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Johnny Presents; Drama; Orch—WABC, WJR
9.30—Grand Central Station — WABC
10.00—Chamber Music—CBO, CBL WABC
11.30—Woodhouse and Hawkins — CBO, CBL

POP — The Only Exit

By J. Millar Watt



WHY DID YOU COME OUT THROUGH THE WINDOW, POP?
FOR MY HEALTH, COLONEL - THE DOCTOR TOLD ME TO KEEP OUT OF DOORS
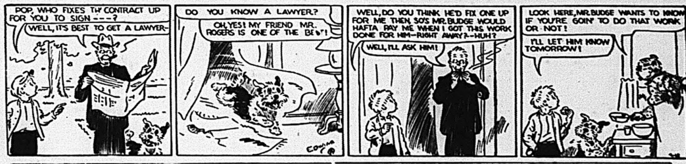
!
9-12

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

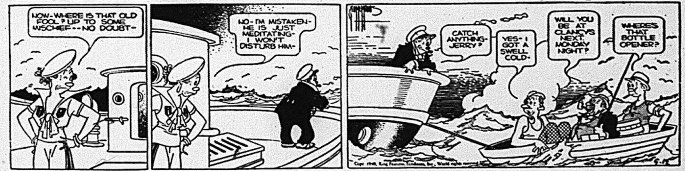
By Edwina



POP, WHO FIXES TH' CONTRACT UP FOR YOU TO SIGN---?
WELL, IT'S BEST TO GET A LAWYER-
DO YOU KNOW A LAWYER?
OH, YES! MY FRIEND MR. ROGERS IS ONE OF THE BEST!
WELL, DO YOU THINK HE'D FIX ONE UP FOR ME THEN SO'S MR. BUDGE WOULD HAFTA PAY ME WHEN I GOT THIS WORK DONE FOR HIM—RIGHT AWAY?--HUH?
WELL, I'LL ASK HIM!
LOOK HERE, MR. BUDGE WANTS TO KNOW IF YOU'RE GOIN' TO DO THAT WORK OR NOT!
I'LL LET HIM KNOW TOMORROW!
EDWINA

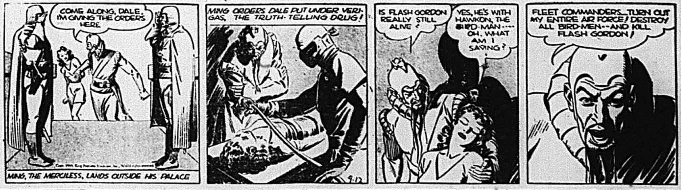
BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



NOW-WHERE IS THAT OLD FOOL? UP TO SOME MISCHIEF--NO DOUBT-
NO-I'M MISTAKEN-HE IS JUST MEDITATING-WON'T DISTURB HIM-
CATCH ANYTHING-JERRY?
YES-I GOT A SWELL COLD-
WILL YOU BE AT CLANCY'S NEXT MONDAY NIGHT?
WHERE'S THAT BOTTLE OPENER?

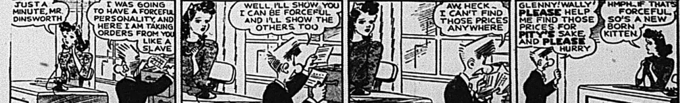
FLASH GORDON



COME ALONG, DALE, I'M GIVING THE ORDERS HERE
MING, THE MERCILESS, LANDS OUTSIDE HIS PALACE
MING ORDERS DALE PUT UNDER VERI-GAS, THE TRUTH-TELLING DRUG!
IS FLASH GORDON REALLY STILL ALIVE?
YES, HE'S WITH HAWKON, THE BIRD-MAN---- OH, WHAT AM I SAYING?
FLEET COMMANDERS...TURN OUT MY ENTIRE AIR FORCE! DESTROY ALL BIRD-MEN--AND KILL FLASH GORDON!
9-12

TILLIE THE TOILER — Starting From Scratch

By Russ Westover



JUST A MINUTE, MR. DINSWORTH
I WAS GOING TO HAVE A FORCEFUL PERSONALITY, AND HERE I AM TAKING ORDERS FROM YOU LIKE A SLAVE
WELL, I'LL SHOW YOU I CAN BE FORCEFUL AND I'LL SHOW THE OTHERS TOO
AW, HECK... I CAN'T FIND THOSE PRICES ANYWHERE
GLENNY! WALLY! PLEASE HELP ME FIND THOSE PRICES FOR PITY'S SAKE, AND PLEASE HURRY
HMPH...IF THAT'S FORCEFUL, SO'S A NEW BORN KITTEN
RUSS WESTOVER
9-12

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS
REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL

17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1873
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE. The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1182 — THE HEALTH INSTITUTE, 322 William St., Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist, Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils, Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 288 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 800. Lady attendant.

H. R. and VERA R. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists, Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatments. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST

LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1156w

LEGAL

S. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 256½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2500. S27-1y

Round Up Your Bills! And Pay Them Off!

Ride along with the folks who are trouble-free! Get a low cost Quinte loan today! Low interest rates. Strictly confidential. No red tape.

QUINTE FINANCE and SECURITIES LIMITED
Phone 162 168 Front St.
BELLEVILLE

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
OUR TOWN
William Holden, Martha Scott
2.40 — 8.30
THE GOLDEN FLEECING
Lew Ayres, Rita Johnson
4.00 — 7.15 — 9.50

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
…TEPS OUT
…len Chandler
— 10.15
THE SAGE
…y, George Hayes
— 9.00

…EATRE TIMES
…ID ZONE
…y, Ann Sheridan,
… O'Brien
…0 — 9.50

…FFICIALS TO BERLIN

… Sept. 12 (AP).—Minister …nent Ramon Serrano Su… …nroute to Berlin today at …ation of the German gov… for conferences with Nazi …n to which Madrid political attach the highest import-

DESERVED DEATH

…don, Sept. 12 (CP).—Alexand… …wood, 29, a laborer, pleaded g… today to firing a straw stack du… a raid when German aircraft were overhead, and thus providing a beacon. He was sentenced to three years imprisonment. Mr. Justice Hallet said, "in Germany the penalty for such a crime would have been death".

WANTED

WILL PAY CASH FOR USED Saxophones, Clarinets, Trumpets, Violins. Mr. Brown, Phone 2119R. S12-1t

TWO GIRLS TO SHARE FURNished heated bedroom, all conveniences. Phone 1743. Apply 12 Hillside St. S12-3t

WARM ROOM WITH BOARD IN private home by lady. Write Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-3t

AGENTS WANTED

MAN WANTED. GOOD NEARBY Rawleigh Route now open. If willing to conduct Home Service business while earning good living, write immediately. Rawleigh's, Dept. ML-132-45-I, Montreal, Canada. S12-1t

ONE RUG, OR TWO SMALLER ones, for room 12' x 16'. Write Box L, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-1t

A SMART WIDE-AWAKE DRIVer. Clean-cut young man. Salary and Commission. Apply DeLuxe Cleaners, Trenton. S12-3t

QUEBEC HEATER, MEDIUM size, or exchange for annex. Write Box V, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-1t

BENCH SAW OR POWER TOOLS. Write Box O, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-1t

EXPERIENCED MAID, MUST BE good cook, two children. Twenty-five monthly. Write Box 5, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

MAID FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork, sleep in or out. Apply 200 Victoria Ave. S11-2t

POSITION AS TRUCK DRIVER, by experienced man, capable and steady. Apply 73 E. Dundas St. S10-3t

SMALL FURNISHED APARTment by young couple by October 15. Write Box 10, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-3t

SOMEONE TO COACH ALGEBRA, Geometry and Latin four evenings a week. Address replies to Box J Ontario Intelligencer. S4-tf

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

MALE AND FEMALE HELP WANTED

CIVIL SERVICE EMPLOYMENT. EXAMINATION FOR CLERKS announced. Open to all. Applications to reach Ottawa by Sept 15. Our advice has helped hundreds obtain Civil Service positions as Clerks, Postmen, Customs Examiners, etc. Free booklet on request. M. C. C. Schools Ltd., Toronto 10. Oldest in Canada. No agents. A26dts11

MEN WANTED
570 St. Clement, MONTREAL, Can.
Would you like to Work?
PAMILEX
offers you a clientele and protection in your territory!
900 Dealers from Halifax to Vancouver . . .
A15,22,29 S5,12,19

NOTICE

To whom it may concern:

Kindly take notice that on and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife.

Sept. 12, 1940. (Signed)
THOS. MILLAR,
S12-3t 65 Geddes St.

PERSONAL

MEN OF 30, 40, 50! VIM, PEP, VIGOR subnormal? Try Ostrex tablets. Contain tonics, stimulants, oyster elements, aids to normal pep. If not delighted with results first package, maker refunds low price. Call, write Dolan the Druggist, in Belleville and all other good drug stores. S3-T.W.T.-tf

FOR SALE

MODEL B ALLIS CHALMERS, nearly new; 2 Massey Harris 12-20S; 2 Rumely Oil Pulls; 3 Fordson Tractors; 4 good Work Horses; 3 three-year-old Colts; number of used plows; 1933 1½-ton Chevrolet Stake; '30 1½-ton Ford Stake; 1938 one-ton Chevrolet Stake. W. T. Elliott, Tractor Sales, Stirling. S12-3t

'31 FORD COUPE, GOOD CONDItion; '36 Chev. Master Coach, low mileage, A-1; '27 Chev. Sedan, like new. All reasonably priced. Hughes' Imperial Station. S12-1t

COOK STOVE, GOOD CONDItion. Cheap. Apply 22 Forin Street. S12-1t

STOVE, BEACH, COAL AND wood range, warming closet, hot water front, in very good condition, $25. Easy terms. Lipson's Furniture House. S12-1t

STUDIO COUCH, USED, GOOD condition, with back. $15. Easy terms. Lipson's Furniture House. S12-1t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating, etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

GOOD USED CREAM SEPARATors, Wood or Iron pumps, Steel Tanks, Piping and Well Drilling Machine. W. E. Gartley, Market Square. A22-2955-12-19

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. P. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

ELECTRIC WASHER, THOR, — thoroughly reconditioned, $49. Electric Range, $39. Frigidaire, 6.2, new unit, $139. Gas range, nearly new, $39. Ice Boxes, $5. up. Easy terms. Walker Hardware Company, Ltd., 248 Front St. S11-3t

40 FALL DUCK DECOYS, ALSO duck boat, in good condition. Apply Box A, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

OAK DINING ROOM SUITE. Moffat electric range, cheap. Apply 256 Bleecker Ave. Phone 622J. S11-2t

MOFFAT ELECTRIC STOVE AND Electro-Lux Cleaner, practically new. Apply 42 Chatham Street. S11-3t

1931 BUICK SEDAN IN GOOD condition, $60, also coal and wood stove, $10 cash. Apply 52 Baldwin St. S10-3t

ONE 1936 INTERNATIONAL truck and one 2½ yard hydraulic dump box. Write Box N, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-3t

GAS STOVE, NEARLY NEW, $49. Easy terms. Walker Hardware Co. Ltd., 248 Front St. S10-3t

BREAD WAGONS, PANS, GASOline engine 3½ H.P. Box 162, Phone 355 Trenton. S9-6t

HOUSE, 25 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 326 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

RACE MEETING CANCELLED

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—The race meeting scheduled to begin Saturday at Hurst Park was cancelled today as a result of intensification of the air war.

Hurst Park, in the London area, had been scheduled to share the reopening of the flat-racing season with Ripon, in the north, which is not affected by today's order.

CAR BACKED OVER CHILD

L'Orignal, Ont., Sept. 12 (CP).—Joseph Marcell Hotte, 16-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hotte of this town, 45 miles east of Ottawa died yesterday of injuries received when his father, unaware of the child's presence, backed a car over him.

Ann Sheridan puts the S.A. in South America in her new starring picture, "Torrid Zone," which is now showing at the Capitol Theatre. James Cagney and Pat O'Brien co-star with her.

TO LET

NICE CLEAN APARTMENT, UNfurnished, private entrance. Suitable for light housekeeping. Apply 149 Pinnacle St., upstairs. S12-1t

TWO UNFURNISHED HEATED rooms. Phone 304J. S9-4t

TWO UNFURNISHED ROOMS. Private front entrance. Possession at once. Suitable for two persons, no children. Apply 71 Everett. S12-2t

FIVE ROOM HEATED APARTment. 227 Front St. Apply Belmont Restaurant. S12-2t

FARM FOR RENT — LOTS 23 and 24, 9th. concession of Marmora township, 80 acres (more or less), under cultivation, rest in pasture and woodland. Good buildings, two wells and running water. Nine miles northeast of Marmora. Immediate possession. Terms reasonable. Apply W. K. Long, Marmora R. 2. S12-3t

FRONT BEDROOM, FURNISHED and heated, all conveniences. Board optional. Apply 48½ E. Bridge St. Apt. 2. S11-2t

UNFURNISHED ROOMS. SUITable light housekeeping. Adults. Box Y, Ontario Intelligencer. S10-12

UPPER DUPLEX, FOUR ROOMS, sunroom, insulated, heated, separate entrance and bath. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine St. S7-dtf

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

AUCTION SALE

Friday, September 13, at 1.30, at 35 Henry St., Belleville, Miss McCormick owner. Solid walnut Couch in perfect condition and two walnut chairs. Cream and green Dresser. Washstand. Table. Bench and Mirror. Sewing Machine. Tables. Several Chairs. Iron Bed and Springs. Veranda Wicker Chairs. 2 Chiffrobes. Dishes. Silver. New Kitchen Stove. Coal Oil Stove. Curtains. Gas Plate. Lamps. Piano Stool. Oak Rocking Chair. Bed Couch. Rug. Kitchen Table and many other articles. Terms Cash.

NORMAN MONTGOMERY
Auctioneer, Belleville.
S11-2t. Phone 1170

LOST

SUM OF MONEY AT VIGORO Gas Station, Station Street. Reward if left at Police Station. S12-2t

ATTEMPT MADE

(Continued from Page One)

Mr. Conant directed Provincial Police Commissioner W. H. Stringer to send additional police from the Timiskaming distrist as well as from Toronto to the mine to investigate the matter and guard against any further sabotage attempts.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police, a member of the anti-sabotage squad and an official of the Provincial Fire Marshal's Office are at the mine and Acting Inspector W. J. Franks of the Criminal Investigation Branch will arrive there today.

The Attorney-General said investigations will try to determine whether "it is an isolated act or bears connection with a concerted scheme or plan of sabotage."

Mr. Conant said he could not give further details of the Kerr-Addison attempt but officials of the mine will meet him in conference later today.

AIRPORTS, DOCKS

(Continued from Page One)

The text of the communique issued Thursday:

"In the course of a series of raids on objectives in eastern Libya yesterday, Royal Air Force bombers attacked Amseat, just over the Egyptian border, where four fires were started, the Derna landing ground where bombs fell among aircraft, and Bardia, where several fires were started.

"Two large fires broke out on jetties in Derna harbor.

"Enemy bombers again attempted to bomb Mersa Matruh yesterday, but were intercepted by our fighters and suffered a heavy proportion of casualties.

"Four S79S (Italian tri-motored bombers) were shot down at sea and destroyed.

"On Sept. 9, South African Air Force bombers raided Scia Sciamanna, in central Ethiopia, and one Savoia aircraft on the ground was burned out and four others extensively damaged."

DEATHS

LYNCH—In the Belleville General Hospital on Thursday morning, Sept. 12th., 1940, Thomas Gerald "Jerry" Lynch, age 47 years.

Resting at the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, until this Thursday evening, then at his residence, 302 Coleman Street, from where the funeral will take place on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 14th., to Christ Church for service at 2.30 o'clock.

Interment Belleville Cemetery. S12-1t

BROWNSON — At the Belleville General Hospital, Thursday morning, September 12th, James Brownson, of Thurlow Township, in his 65th year.

The funeral will take place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, Belleville, on Saturday, September 14, at 2.00 p.m. Standard Time.

Interment in Victoria Cemetery. S12-1t

233 Charles Street

(Corner of Queen Street)

Well built and commodious brick house

FOR SALE

At low price for quick sale

(Reasonable Terms May Be Arranged)

House has beautiful double rooms with coal fire place, marble mantle, hardwood floors, dining room, kitchen, five bed rooms, bath, running water in two bed rooms, hot water heating. Would make several fine apartments. Beautiful grounds.

This is worth investigating.

Exclusive Agents

BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
166 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 House Phone 687

S5-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240 1A Bridge St. W
Res. 2112M Belleville

S5-tf

OUR STEEL SPECIALTIES

Steel Cheese Vats—Whey Tanks—Cheese Hoops—Sap Pans—Steel Tanks of all kinds—Storage Tanks—Fuel Oil and Gasoline Tanks—Septic Tanks—Syphon and Bell-Shower Cabinets—Chemical Toilets—Lawn Rollers—Canning Retorts—Baskets—Conveyors and Tanks and Smoke Stacks—Steel Factory Equipment from Blue Prints. We have five expert electric welders, bring in your repair work. We specialize on making over and repairing Dump Bodies and Trucks.

Any special Steel Equipment in Sheet Steel and Plate up to half-inch thick.

TWEED STEEL WORKS LTD.
TWEED, ONT.

WORKMEN TAKE

(Continued from Page One)

When the bomb, dropped by a German raider was discovered workmen immediately took their lives in their hands in efforts to save the Cathedral from serious damage.

They roped off a danger zone some distance from the Cathedral to keep back the crowds of curious. Police patrolled the scene

Engineers Busy

The crowds, standing far off could see only pigeons fluttering about the ancient dome and small groups of workers moving to and fro in the pavement. Out of sight engineers were working.

A policeman was asked what they were doing about the bomb.

"All I know is that they're working on it", he replied.

"How big is it?"

"Some say it's a 500-pounder", the policeman said grimly. "They have been dropping big stuff on this neighborhood, but you can't tell how big this one is because I understand it's buried."

Feelings Summed Up

Bystander summed up Londoners' feelings about the threat to the Old Cathedral:

"Nothing had better happen to St. Paul's," he said. "It'll be just too bad what we'll do to them".

Persons living around St. Paul's were warned to leave, the Press Association reported. It said the Dean, on advice of police had left the Cathedral.

Traffic was stopped on nearby streets normally one of London's busiest thoroughfares. One of the main highways connecting modern London with the older part of the city passes the Cathedral.

The bomb was buried in a corner of the Cathedral grounds.

AT THE BELLE

"Our Town"

By far one of the greatest and most stirring picture ever to be made in Hollywood is now being unreeled at the Belle theatre where Sol Lesser presented at a brilliant premiere, his screen version of Thornton Wilder's delightful comedy romance.

"Our Town" was brilliantly directed by Sam Wood, who was responsible for the eminently successful "Goodbye Mr. Chips." An outstanding cast of stars headed by Martha Scott, William Holden, Frank Craven, Thomas Mitchell, Fay Bainter, Beulah Bondi, Stuart Erwin, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Tobey and many others enact the stirring and poignant story of "Our Town" with unfailing brilliance, drama and emotion.

Miss Scott, who created the role of Emily in the New York stage production, turns in a performance that is completely moving and sincere, while William Holden, portraying George Gibbs, proves himself once again an actor of great talent and outstanding brilliance. Thomas Mitchell, as Dr. Gibbs, merits the highest praise that words can convey for acting that can only be described as superbly moving and unforgettably exciting. Frank Craven, as the narrator plays his role with the adroitness and deftness of a town-to-earth realist. And all the other performers in "Our Town" rank with the best the screen has ever presented.

"The Golden Fleecing"

"The Golden Fleecing" story of uproariously funny adventures with Lew Ayres as a timid clerk thrown in with a gang of big-city racketeers is announced as the second hilarious film romance.

Ayres plays Henry Twinkle, insurance clerk who through the mistake of selling a $50,000 policy to a fugitive racket overlord has to trail him to save his job. The trail runs through jails and high finance, desperate encounters with tough criminals, a breach of promise suit, a reputation as a public hero, and numerous other troubles which keep him in a dizzy whirl of trials and tribulations.

A notable cast is seen in support of Lew Ayres including Rita Johnson, Leon Errol at his funniest, Virginia Grey, Lloyd Nolan, Nat Pendleton, Richard Carle and Ralph Bird.

"The Golden Fleecing" is recommended as a picture which the whole family can enjoy. From start to finish its filled with fast action, delightful romance and uproarious laughs.

Schoolboy Rowe Picked to Stop Yankee Drive

Detroit, Sept. 12—(AP)—Pennant fever gripped Detroit's baseball thousands today as New York Yankees came to town for a three-game "make or break" series.

Realizing that the championship hopes of both teams were at stake the faithful took up the battle cry, "Stop the Yanks."

Long lines of fans formed at the ticket windows to obtain pasteboards for the series.

The scene was almost a repetition of Detroit's pennant-winning days of 1934 and 1935, even to the Tiger pitching choice. Back in those days, Schoolboy Rowe was usually called upon to stop the Yanks. It was the Schoolboy, hero of one of baseball's greatest comebacks this year, Manager Del Baker picked to do the job today.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Mr. Boggs Steps Out"

Another of Clarence Budington Kelland's clever stories, comparable to his "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," is now playing at the McCarthy theatre this new, all comedy hit is "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" starring the prince of what might be termed the genius "hick" Stuart Erwin.

Skilfully constructed to exploit to the best advantage the talents which have endeared Stuart Erwin to the hearts of movie-goers all over the world "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" is in the class of comedy hits that have a barrel of fun in every reel, clean, wholesome entertainment, sprinkled with plenty of amusing situations and clever dialogue. Helen Chandler, always a screen favorite, plays opposite the star, while the supporting cast is headed by Tully Marshall, Otis Harlan, Toby Wing and Spencer Charters.

"Silver on the Sage"

In addition to the feature "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" the McCarthy theatre also is now presenting a new Hopalong Cassidy western, "Silver on the Sage" with William Boyd again in his favorite role as "Hoppy" and riding alonside of him once again are his two popular saddle-mates George Hayes and Russell Hayden, who now play the blustering "Windy" and romantic "lucky" respectively.

There are thrill scenes aplenty in "Silver on the Sage" as Boyd matches wits with a gang of cattle rustlers and later fights it out with them in one of the most exciting endings a super western has ever shown on the screen. McCarthy theatre patrons this week-end in addition to enjoying a swell laugh hit "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" will see a western that has action every split second, great outdoor scenery and a story filled with rip-roarin' adventure that is new and different. The program also includes the second chapter of the exciting jungle drama "Terry and the Pirates."

AT THE CAPITOL

"Torrid Zone"

The Capitol Theatre brings together James Cagney and Pat O'Brien, stars of "The Fighting 69th" and Ann Sheridan, sensation of "It All Came True," in "Torrid Zone," Warner Bros.' new comedy romance, crammed with actions, thrills and excitement.

As the title indicates, "Torrid Zone" has a tropical setting, down in the banana country, where the big fruit companies own and manage vast plantations. O'Brien and Cagney are cast as rough and ready plantation bosses, while Miss Sheridan portrays a torch singer from the U. S. A., who comes to the tropics because she figures redheads will be more of a novelty there. Her adeptness at dealing cards is also an asset. When O'Brien attempts to have her shipped back to the States, Cagney, who is constantly feuding with him, helps her to stay, and from then on finds himself saddled with her. Although he pretends not to like it, he is not proof against the Sheridan charm. Another contender for Cagney's favor is blonde Helen Vinson, who plays the discontented wife of another of the plantation bosses, a role portrayed by Jerome Cowan.

Plentifully peppered with action, the lot of "Torrid Zone" revolves about O'Brien's efforts to keep Cagney in the tropics. Cagney's efforts to get rid of Miss Sheridan, and her efforts to land Cagney.

Besides those already mentioned, the cast includes Andy Devine, George Tobias, George Reeves, Victor Kilian, John Ridgely, Grady Sutton and many more capable supporting players. William Keighley directed.

To complete this fine feature is the Universal News of the World, "Chewing Bruin" a looney tune cartoon, Popular Science in Technicolor and the 9th chapter of the thrilling serial "Buck Rogers".

Helen Chandler and Stuart Erwin principals in "Mr. Boggs Steps Out," another laugh hit by the author of "Mr. Deeds," which is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre with the co-feature, "Silver on the Sage," starring Hopalong Cassidy.

THE OLD RELIABLE WALKER FOUNDRY

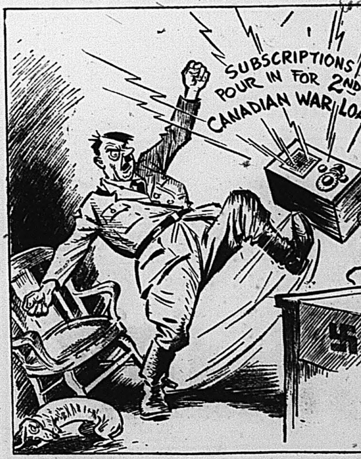
Owned and Operated by

FRUIT MACHINERY CO., Ltd.

We specialize in Custom Foundry Work, and Repair all kinds of Machinery, Acetylene and Portable Electric Welding. This Foundry has been making Plow Points and selling direct to the Farmer for more than 75 years. We know, from years of experience, how to make them hard wearing and shock resisting. Try them against any other make. And take advantage of our Money Saving Plan, From Foundry to Farmer. No Middle Men.

368 FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE TELEPHONE 60

Good News Gripes Hitler



SUBSCRIPTIONS POUR IN FOR 2ND CANADIAN WAR LOAN
FRISE

…ents

…OOD RUM… …y, Sept. 14, at …hurch Parish …ish Guild. S13-1t

…E AT THE …s. Chicken …dwiches, Tea, We supply charge 10c S11-13

…MENT OF …he Belle …lay, ev… at 7.00 S13-1t

…OR-

My guests all want "Coca-Cola"
Coca-Cola
SERVE ICE COLD

People recognize and welcome the charm in the taste of ice-cold "Coca-Cola." Pure, wholesome, delicious,—"Coca-Cola" is made with the skill that comes from a lifetime of practice. It has the goodness of quality.

THE COCA-COLA COMPANY OF CANADA, LIMITED

Bomb Splinters From Battle of Britain

By D. E. BURRITT
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

The air raid siren has few friends among writers of letters to newspapers. Some say the sirens are too loud; others not loud enough. Some say they sound too long at one time; others, not long enough. But the climax was provided by Major H. J. Stevenson who wrote to the Times suggesting the all-clear signals be made to play "Will Ye No Come Back Again?"

In one popular London restaurant you can't hear the sirens at all and the waiters inform you quietly when the sirens sound. But when the raid is over members of the band join in singing "All Clear, All Clear" to whatever tune they are playing at the time.

During an air raid in the first great war, a woman gave birth to a daughter. Last week, the daughter, Dorothy May Search, was married—during an air raid. The reception was held in the shelter of a hotel at Thundersley, Essex.

Ten men racing to the scene of a bombing cursed their luck when the chassis of their A.R.P. lorry broke down. They all crawled under the truck to help insert a big wooden block—just as a Heinkel swept over the open road and riddled the lorry with machine-gun fire. Not one man was hurt but the seats on which they had been sitting two minutes previously were pock-marked with bullet holes.

The warning sounded just as the kitchen staff of a cafe which feeds workers from one big plant were starting to shell a bushel of peas. So off they carted their work to the shelter — and more than a dozen people taking shelter there joined in the shelling. Dinner for the workers was served on schedule.

Newspaper item:

"The Lady Ratlings, the women's section of the Water Rats Variety Organization, have presented an ambulance to the R. A. F."

One-time wine cellars of Buckingham Palace are being used for air raid shelters for 400 women workers of the International Red Cross. On the wall hangs a sign: "Don't talk; speech and movement use up oxygen."

Think everybody stays home during air raids? Not in Manchester. In fact, city council has decided to petition the government for permission to open moving picture theatres on Sundays, because there's little other amusement.

Neighbors used to wonder why so many men rushed to a Hammersmith pub just a few minutes before the unofficially scheduled time for the air raid siren. It was all revealed when the Publican ("the bloke woo keeps poob") announced that all customers present when the alarm sounded would be given free drinks.

Mrs. A. Wilson is soon to move back into her house from the air raid shelter where she gave birth to a son three weeks ago and where she has been liv'ng since becau. of her condition and because of the frequency of air raid alarms. Mr. Wilson and neighbors made things "quite comfy" for mother and child—who was named Siren Anderson Wilson, after Sir John Anderson, after whom the shelters are named.

A prominent London bookmaker told a companion while driving in the country that he "would give 50 pounds to see one of those air fights."

In less than an hour he had handed his friend ten five pound notes. They passed under one of the largest airfights seen in the London area. The money was sent to a bomber fund.

Traders on London's "Lambeth-Walk" (where there is hardly room to do the "Lambeth-Walk" want to borrow one of the wrecked German planes as an attraction for contributions to the 5,000 pound Spitfire Fund they have started. Chairman D. Marsh said: "Don't ask me where we'll put it, but we'll find room somewhere." They may be given part of a plane small enough to be carried through the narrow streets.

JAP RELEASED

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—Shunsuke Tanabe, Japanese businessman arrested Aug. 2 under the Wartime Aliens Regulation Act in the interests of "national security", was released last night, the Home Office disclosed today.

GEN. PERSHING 80 ON FRIDAY

Doughty Commander of A.E.F. in Last Great War to Visit War Office

Washington, Sept. 12 (AP).—General John J. Pershing is going to get a good night's sleep tonight for tomorrow will be a crowded day—it's his 80th birthday anniversary.

In better health than in many years, the doughty commander of the United States Expeditionary Forces plans to leave his comfortable suite, his reading and his writings and make one of his rare appearances at his War Department offices.

Last year the general spent his birthday in hospital receiving a physical checkup.

The year before he was in Aix-en-Provence, France, up and about but his health "too delicate" to attend ceremonies at St. Ihiel commemorating the "big push" of his doughboys.

But this year he feels so well he is going to march into the big square office — it once was Franklin D. Roosevelt's as assistant secretary of the navy—and sit down for an afternoon that would tire the average business executive of 50.

At 80 he will be the fifth man in the history of the United States to have the all-embracing rank—General of the armies. Only Washington, Grant, Sherman and Sheridan, were accorded that honor before him.

London, Sept. 12 (CP). — King George sent "warmest congratulations" today to Gen. John J. Pershing, who will be 80 tomorrow.

"I send you my warmest congratulations on your eightieth birthday," the King said in a message to the American commander in the first great war, "together with the best wishes of the people of this country, where you will always be held in affectionate esteem as a distinguished leader and comrade-in-arms."

NO EVIDENCE OF BOMBING

Berlin, Sept. 12 (AP).—An Associated Press correspondent yesterday inspected the main building and loading platforms of the Potsdam railway station in central Berlin and took a train trip through the yard without finding evidence of any British bombardment.

(A London Air Ministry communique said that "the Potsdam station, one of the main line terminals of Berlin, was bombed by the Royal Air Force last (Tuesday) night. Fires followed direct hits."

(Shown the above dispatch from Berlin, Air Ministry officials said: "We have no comment other than our communique.")

CZECH SQUADRON IN RAID

London, Sept. 12 (CP).—A Czecho-Slovak bomber squadron recently formed in Britain has made its first raid over "enemy" territory, the Air Ministry news service said today. The Cechs took part in a successful attack on railway freight yards at Brussels, the ministry said.

Our MEATS are Best
Our Prices the Lowest!

OUR BEST SIRLOIN STEAK LB. 24c

GENUINE SPRING LAMB
Legs lb. 26c
Loins lb. 25c
Fronts lb. 15c
Chops lb. 22c

SLICED BREAKFAST BACON lb. 26c

RIB or BLADE ROASTS lb. 18c
RUMP ROASTS lb. 20c

FRESH SIDE PORK By the Piece lb. 17c
SLICED lb. 18c

Second Grade CREAMERY Butter 2 One Pound Prints 45c

DEVON Sieve 4's PEAS 3 20 oz. tins
York Choice GOLDEN BANTAM CORN 25c
Choice—Hall's Hand Packed TOMATOES 28 oz. tins 10c
Corn Flakes KELLOGG'S 2 13-oz. Pkgs. 21c

CHUM DOG FOOD 3 1-lb. tins 25c

MUFFETS Twin Box Sale 2 BOXES FOR 19c
12 big delicious, nourishing 100% whole wheat breakfasts in every box, at new low prices.

Crown Corn Syrup 10 lb. Pails 75c
Domestic Shortening 2 1-lb. Prints 25c
Milk LIBBY'S EVAPORATED 2 Tall Tins 15c

Mother Parker's TEA
½ lb. lead package 31c

H FRUITS
GETABLES
RGE VARIETY
UART BASKETS
LUMS

Large Variety of VEDETTE'S YELLOW FREE STONE PEACHES
REASONABLE PRICES

JUICY SUNKIST ORANGES Large Size, 252's doz. 28c

SUNKIST SEEDLESS GRAPEFRUIT Good size, 112's 6 for 25c

CICERI'S

Owing to our large number of deliveries we kindly ask our customers to cooperate with us in having their orders in previous to the delivery hours listed below, thereby ensuring the quickest possible delivery of all orders.

LEAVE STORE 8.30 A.M. — 9.30 A.M. — 11 A.M. — 2.00 P.M. — 4.00 P.M. — 5 P.M.
SATURDAY LAST DELIVERY 8.00 P.M.

YOU SHOP WITH Confidence AT THE MODERNIZED C.D.S.

Here Are More Important Money Savers!

BOYS' DEEP TONE AND RAYON
Stripe Shirts
Special purchase! Group includes rayon stripe, collar attached shirts, in tan, blue, or white — also dark shades of brown, blue or maroon, in button down collar style. Sizes 12 to 14½ in the lot. Special, each 49c

ODD LINES MEN'S Sweater Coats
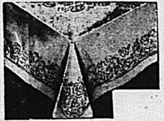
Included are men's V-neck Sweater Coats, Pullovers, etc., in all wool or wool and cotton mixtures. Some have full zipper fronts. Sizes 36 to 44 in the lot. Choose early from this group. The savings are worthwhile. Opportunity Days, Each .... 1.59 and 1.98



RARE VALUE! SECONDS IN DAMASK LINEN
Table Cloths
Irish manufacture, and really beautiful quality considering these very low prices. Lovely smooth, satin-like texture, in striking types of patterns. Check your needs, and save real money! Defects are very slight, some hardly discernible. Note sizes and prices.
64" x 74" Each 3.50
64" x 94" Each 4.25
70" x 70" Each 5.00
70" x 88" Each 6.50
— Second floor

LOOK: LARGE SIZE
Quilt Batts
These open out to a full comforter size of 72" x 90". Soft, fluffy cotton batts in 1-lb. size. Good value,
Each 29c

BOYS'
Leather Boots
Full grained leather boots, and black grained split leather boots in this group —sturdy, well sewn boots that should give plenty of service and satisfaction, for school wear. Built to stand rough, hard usage. Sizes 1 to 5, pair 1.99

Growing Girls' Shoes
Smart tie model that is designed for both comfort and service. In black or brown simulated alligator leather which looks smart and should wear well. Sewn leather soles, with rubber heels. An ideal choice for school wear. Sizes 4 to 8. Pair.... 1.98
— Main floor rear, left

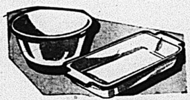
Feature Selling Children's Shoes

Smooth black side leathers, as well as shiny patents comprise this group, and they are all well made shoes, with both leather and sewn composition soles, built on wide, roomy lasts, for growing feet. Sizes 8 to 10½. Pair 1.29

Misses' Side Leather Oxfords
Smooth black side leather oxfords, made on wide fitting Barge style, with durable composition rubber soles, or sewn leather soles. With rubber heel. Sizes 11-13 1-2. Exceptionally good value, pair.... 1.39

Special Value! 36" Cotton Broadcloth
Splendid, firm weave in a good weight. 36 inch cotton broadcloth, specially priced. A material that has so many uses, as slips, curtains, etc. In white, yellow, black, rose, brown, scarlet, sand, navy and nile green. Special 2 yards 27c

Sale of Seconds in Enamelware
5 handy articles at big saving in price! Enamelled in gleaming white, with a flash of gay red trim. Though seconds their imperfections are so slight they will hardly affect their wearing qualities. Sparkling value for thrifty shoppers.



Round Dish Pans, 13¼" x 4"; Open Saucepans, about 6 Imperial pints size; Stewing Kettle, about 6½ Imperial Pints size; Stew Pots, about 6½ Imperial Pints size; Roasting or Baking Pans, about 14" x 10" x 2½" in size. Special,
Each 49c
— Basement

MANUFACTURER'S CLEARANCE
Ruffle Curtains
Lovely cotton marquisettes and cotton voiles in white and cream, with patterns in blue, gold color, green or red. A smart type of curtain for dining rooms, halls, bedrooms. Sizes 29 - 31 inches wide by 2¼ yards long. Special, pair 98c

ENGLISH MANUFACTURER
Floor Covering
A serviceable felt base covering, in two widths. Smart patterns for sun parlors, breakfast rooms, halls or bedrooms. Floral and moderne type patterns in rich well blended colorings.
2 yards wide. Running yard 65c
3 yards wide, Running yard 1.35
— Third floor

Large Selection of Baby Cribs

We've added to our stock of baby cribs, and now offer an extensive selection from which to choose. You'll find plain and panelled metal cribs, full panel and part panel wood cribs, in walnut, ivory, blue, pink, honey color and beautifully grained maple. Prices are moderate too, from 12.50 to 22.50
—Second floor

Cheery Lamps
TO ADD COLOUR TO YOUR HOME
Don't fail to visit our new Lamp Department now located on the Second Floor. Our assortment of Junior Lamps, Table, Bridge, Bed and Vanity Lamps is even larger, making it just that much easier to make a selection. To see them yourself is really the only way you can appreciate the variety and values we have to offer. Prices from, each
1.00 to 19.50
— Second floor

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Probabilities

Moderate southwest winds; fair and warmer today and Saturday; somewhat cooler again by Sunday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 13, 1940

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	64.5	52.3
One year ago	71.5	46.2

Weather cloudy.

* *

ITALIANS BEGIN EGYPTIAN OFFENSIVE

Proclamation For Military Service Will Be Issued On Saturday

Five Bombs Hit Buckingham Palace

Their Majesties Safe in Shelter During Bombing

Private Chapel Hit Also Quadrangle In Palace Grounds

London, Sept 13 (CP)—Five German bombs crashed on historic Buckingham Palace and its precincts today in London's longest daylight raid of the war, but King George and Queen Elizabeth, at the Royal residence during the bombardment, escaped injury.

Two of the bombs fell in the inner quadrangle of the palace. A third hit the private chapel in the south wing and the other two fell on a roadway between the Victoria Memmorial and the palace gates.

The deafening crash of the bombs came during an alarm lasting four hours and nine minutes and ending at 1:55 p.m. (8.55 a.m. EDT).

The first announcement of this—the second bombing of the stately building—did not say whether any members of the palace staff had been injured.

The Ministry of Information communique, issued while London was still under alarm, said simply:—

"In the course of this morning's raids bombs were dropped on Buckingham palace and slight damage was done. Their Majesties, who were in the palace, were unharmed."

(Continued on Page Fifteen)

UNSUCCESSFUL ATTACK ON CONVOY

London, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)—Enemy bombers unsuccessfully attacked a convoy off the east coast of Scotland last night. The Press Association said the bombs fell wide of their mark and that all vessels escaped unscathed.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 13 (CP)—The weather has been cool over Ontario with light showers in many districts. It has been fair over the Prairie Provinces, warm in Alberta with somewhat above normal temperature in other sections of the West.

Lake Superior—Moderate or fresh easterly to northerly winds; cloudy with light showers; cool tonight. Saturday — Moderate to fresh northerly winds; partly cloudy and cool; light showers in east portion.

Kenora and Rainy River—Northerly winds; partly cloudy and cool tonight. Saturday—Fair and cool.

Western Provinces — Generally fair and somewhat warmer today and Saturday; a few scattered thundershowers tonight or on Saturday.

	8 a.m.	High Yda.	Low Night
Victoria	56	64	53
Calgary	51	76	49
Edmonton	55	57	55
Winnipeg	52	76	48
S. S. Marie	46	55	41
Toronto	55	60	52
Ottawa	52	62	50
Montreal	54	64	52
Quebec	53	61	50
Halifax	65	64	62
Detroit	53	62	48
New York	58	68	55
Miami	76	86	72
Los Angeles	54	84	53

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Visibility! This depends upon not only the quantity of dust and fog particles but also on whether the air is stratified or not, which may make distant objects shimmer. Visibility is therefore an index of the kind of air about and above us. Dense surface air, being stable, clings to the earth with its dust content and may result in poor visibility. If the temperature falls slowly with elevation, making vertical motion easily possible the air is clear, due to the rising air taking the smoke and dust with it. Therefore with poor visibility one might infer that surface air is dense and upper air light; with good visibility, the inference is that the temperature changes slowly with elevation.

Time for Registering Guns Extended From Sept. 15 to Sept. 30

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP)—Deadline for registration of all rifles and shotguns in Canada has been extended from Sept. 15 to Sept. 30, the Department of Justice announced today. An order-in-council providing for the lengthening of the time was passed Sept. 11. The drive for registration of such firearms was started a few weeks ago and penalties are being provided for non-registration.

POLICE OFFICIAL ASKED TO EXPLAIN

Alleged to Have Said Fire Extinguishers in a Factory Filled With Gasoline

Bathe, Me., Sept. 13.—(AP)—A State police official was called to the Bath Iron Works, Inc., today to "explain" his statement that gasoline-filled fire extinguishers had been discovered in the plant, which is in the midst of a top-speed United States Navy Building program.

Lieut. Leon Shepard, head of the State Police Fingerprinting Bureau, made the statement in a Lions' Club speech last night, prompting a request by Eugene Thebeau, shipyard treasurer, to acquaint plant officials with facts leading to his assertion.

William Newell, president of the Iron Works, branding the statement as "absolutely false", said that one fire extinguisher filled by mistake with "a cleaning fluid" had been found at the yard: "a long time ago". Investigation disclosed that a trusted employee had inadvertently filled the extinguisher with the cleaning fluid.

In recent months there have been two minor fires at the shipyard but in neither case, officials said was there evidence of incendiarism.

Five Unexploded Bombs Lie in Vicinity of St. Paul's

London, Sept. 13 (CP)—Five unexploded bombs dropped in recent raids on London lie in the vicinity of St. Paul's Cathedral, the Press Association said it learned today.

The church and nearby area are guarded day and night to keep passers-by and traffic at a distance on the possibility that the bombs are of a delayed action type and may explode at any moment.

Two of the bombs were discovered in a street nearby. One buried in a roadway in the Dean's Court next to the churchyard was believed to weigh 500 pounds.

GERMAN RAIDERS APPEAR TO SEEK NOTED BUILDINGS

Raiders Operate With Greatest Caution Due to Intense Anti-Aircraft Fire

TWO SHOT DOWN

Second Daylight Raid of Day Over London Lasts for Four Hours

(By Sam Robertson, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 13—(CP Cable)—The Germans attempted to destroy Buckingham Palace during a four-hour raid on London today but caused slight damage and Their Majesties escaped injury.

A twin-engined raider glided from the clouds and aimed five bombs at the century-old royal residence. The King and Queen were in shelter and they were able to tour the grounds to examine the damage as soon as the sirens sounded the all clear.

The private chapel on the palace's south wing was demolished by a direct hit. Two other bombs fell in the open quadrangle in the centre of the palace. Windows in the four walls forming the sides of the quadrangle were shattered by the twin blasts and the walls themselves were pitted by flying fragments of steel.

The other pair, apparently incendiary bombs, fell outside the palace's great iron gates near the massive monument to Queen Victoria and burst into flames.

No Damage in Downing Street

Incendiary bombs also hurtled down on Downing Street where the Prime Minister lives in historic No. 10. There was no damage.

Two guards on the metal roof of a Canadian building pushed a sizzling bomb around with the end of a ladder until it burned out.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

PTE. W. MOULTON TO HANG NOV. 19

Jury Finds Soldier Guilty of Shooting Friend at Niagara Falls Camp

Guelph, Ont., Sept. 13—(CP)—Pte. William Moulton, 32, Stratford, must pay with his life for the rifle murder of a fellow soldier in the Canadian Active Service Force. He will be hanged Nov. 19.

Mr. Justice J. Gerald Kelly passed sentence in Supreme Court yesterday after a jury convicted Moulton of slaying Pte. Arthur Phillips, 28, Carlingford, Ont., in a military camp at Niagara Falls last July 14. Both men were members of the Perth regiment.

Evidence by more than a dozen members of the regiment tended to show that Moulton and Phillips had spent part of their night leave in beverage rooms and that Moulton had been drinking a concoction called "Jungle Juice." After returning to camp, according to evidence, Moulton grabbed a gun from another soldier and shot Phillips at short range after threatening a corporal. Phillips died in hospital several hours later.

Beleaguered City Wounded, Scarred But Unconquered and Unafraid

(By J. F. Sanderson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)— I returned to London today after three weeks in the country and found this air beleaguered metropolis wounded and scarred but unconquered and unafraid.

I found houses demolished, buildings wrecked and gutted, and streets blocked, but that was only the bricks and mortar of this ancient city which the Romans laid out along the Thames. The real London, the London of flesh and blood, of valiant men and courageous women, was still defiant and still unbroken despite all the fury of Hitler's air force.

The tough fibre of these people must be seen to be believed. With wreckage all around them, thousands of them homeless, and with the German army massed across the channel awaiting the word of high command to invade their country, they spend the gravest hour of their history—perhaps in the history of the world—in boasting about the power, intensity and ferocity of London's air barrage.

Guns Bring Confidence

I had not been in London five minutes before a taxi driver was telling me all about it, how powerful the guns were, and how successful they were in dispersing the sky raiders by sustained fire.

The guns have brought confidence to Londoners. The people are now convinced that their city is not just an area where German bombs may be dropped but one section of the world's surface where bombers are held and turned back by a vast, crackling furnace of destruction.

For the last two nights German bombers have encountered the heaviest barrage in world history when

(Continued on Page Nine)

What Have You Done? Invest Savings Now In Canada's War Loan!

One and one-half billions of dollars are lying in Canadian banks the property of four millions of Canadian people. One-fifth of this amount would cover the Dominion's Second War Loan. But that will not be necessary. Already business and industry and several monied individuals have subscribed huge amounts to the loan. A lot more is needed to bring the figures to the required amount.

Of the four million Canadian depositors, principally composed of people with small incomes, relatively few have subscribed to the loan. Not through unpatriotic reasons, but because they are under the impression that huge amounts subscribed by business and industry will more than supply the required amount.

The Dominion's Second War Loan is like the Irishman's fight. "Anybody can get in on it". And if Canada is to supply its share of bombs, planes and bullets, everyone must "get in on it". To the small investor, the man with small means goes out an urgent appeal to invest immediately in War Loan Bonds. As far as security goes, it is safe to say that there is no safer or sounder investment to be found anywhere in the world than a Canadian government bond.

This is no time for hesitancy. We must act and act immediately, if we are to back up with our financial resources, the fighting forces of Canada and the Empire. It is as much the duty of the man with moderate means to participate in this phase of war activity as it is that of business and industry. The latter cannot be expected to shoulder the full responsibility essential to the success of such a large flotation. Everybody must put his shoulder to the wheel.

If Canada is to retain that freedom, liberty and traditions that are rightfully hers, her sons and daughters must rally to her aid as never before. Dollars are bullets. War Loan Bonds are torpedoes of national determination to win the war. Everyone who has a steady job and a bank account should gird himself with these weapons of resolution that will see us through to victory. Buy your War Loan Bond now.

Agricultural Workers Will Train in Months Of November to March

All Single Men and Childless Widowers of the Ages 21 to 24 Inclusive Will be in First Draft—29,750 Will be Selected for First 30-Day Training Period

Ottawa, Sept. 13—(CP)—Military training of about 240,000 men in the next 12 months is expected to be accomplished with a minimum dislocation of industry, Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, announced today.

A proclamation advising all single men and childless widowers of the ages 21 to 24 inclusive that they are liable to call for military training will be issued tomorrow, the Minister said. This will be followed by individual notification to about 40,000 in the 21 year class to present themselves for physical examination for the first training period commencing Oct. 9.

From that approximately 40,000 medical examiners will select 29,750 for the first 30-day training period. Where it is represented that men called are needed for farm work or other essential industries they will not be compelled to go to the first camp but all who are called must get in a 30-day training period within the 12-month period.

A special committee reported to the minister on Canada's principle seasonal industries to ascertain what time those engaged in them might best be called.

It was decreed that agricultural workers should not be compelled to train except during the months of November to March, inclusive.

Training periods for fishermen would have to be varied because of the different seasons in different parts of the Dominion and the times of training will be fixed in consultation with the provinces. The same will apply to trapping.

Blanket Embargo.

The committee recommended a blanket embargo against calling up loggers east of the Rockies during November to April inclusive. West of the Rockies this was considered an all-year occupation.

Shipping was considered non-seasonal on the Pacific and Atlantic coasts but those engaged on inland shipping should not, in the opinion of the committee, be compelled to take training during the months

(Continued on Page Eleven)

French Fishing Trawlers Tied Up at St. Pierre

St. Pierre Et Miquelon, Sept. 13 (CP)—Twelve French fishing trawlers, their home markets cut off by the British blockade of the European coast, are riding at anchor in these small French possessions off the South Coast of Newfoundland.

Since the French capitulation, France has been added to the territories blockaded by the Royal Navy to ensure that foodstuffs or other commodities do not fall into the hands of Germany or Italy. There was some speculation recently the catches of the French trawlers might be taken to the French West Indies possessions of Guadeloupe and Martinique.

Meanwhile, the 12 trawlers, loaded down with catches of fish, are tied up here pending clarification by the Canadian and British Governments of the status of these islands.

(Four French trawlers, with their catches, put in at an East Coast Canadian port after the French signed the Armistice with Germany and Italy and they were taken over by the Canadian Government.)

ANOTHER CORVETTE SHIP LAUNCHED

An Eastern Canadian Port, Sept. 13 (CP)—Another Corvette class ship was launched here Thursday, to join the growing number being commissioned for work with the Royal Navy and the Royal Canadian Navy. The anti-submarine vessel was christened by Mrs. E. J. Croker, wife of Rear-Adm. Croker.

Those attending the launching included Vice-Admiral A. E. Evans, head of the British Admiralty's technical mission to Canada.

EXPECTED TOLL OF DEAD TO REACH NEARLY FIFTY

32 Now Known Dead From Explosion and Damage Set at $1,000,000

SABOTAGE SUSPECTED

Newspaper Predicted Ten Days Ago Nazis Planned to Blow Up Powder Plant

Kenvil, N.J., Sept. 13 (AP)—Rescue workers poked through a tangled mass of smouldering ruins today in search of more victims of terrific explosions of undermined origin that levelled the Hercules Power Company's plant here, killing at least 32 men, injuring 125 others and causing an estimated $1,000,000 damage officials of the plant and state police expected the toll of dead to reach 45 or 50.

The company manufactures smokeless powder and other explosives. It was engaged in fulfilling numerous national defence contracts. Today Federal Bureau of Investigation agents were investigating possibilities of sabotage. In the last three months the company had received $40,000,000 in contracts from the Federal government.

Explosion Predicted

(PM, New York's evening newspapers, in a copyrighted feature article published last Sept. 2 dealing with fifth column activities in the United States, charged that the Nazis planned to dynamite the Hercules Powder Company plant.

(The article, one of a series written by Henry Paynter, an assistant managing editor of PM and a former member of The Associated Press staff, was published under the heading "exposed—Hitler plot for war

(Continued on Page Fourteen)

3 French Cruisers And 3 Destroyers Pass Gibraltar

Gibraltar, Sept. 13—(CP)—British naval authorities announced last night that three French cruisers and three destroyers had passed Gibraltar Wednesday westbound into the Atlantic. but did not disclose the destination of the vessels.

The destroyers were listed as the L' Audacieux, Le Malin and Le Fantesque, and the cruisers as the Gloire, Montcalm and Georges Leygues.

(Dispatches Wednesday from Ceuta, Morocco, directly across from Gibraltar, said that three destroyers and three cruisers flying the French flag had passed westward through the Straits that day unmolested by British batteries. The report could not then be confirmed.

(This gave rise to speculation that French naval units which have been tied up at the Toulon Naval base since the French-German armistice might have fled to join the British fleet.)

23,096 REGISTER IN NORTHUMBERLAND

Cobourg, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—According to figures released this week by T. F. Hall, K.C., registrar for the Electoral District of Northumberland, 23,096 persons over the age of 16 years and residing within the boundaries of the riding registered during the National Registration held on August 19, 20 and 21.

Artillery Fire Heard Along Libyan Frontier

Graziani Reported to Have 250,000 Troops Ready

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 13 (AP) — Italy massed troops—reportedly 250,000 strong—along the Libyan-Egyptian frontier today and border artillery roared in crescendo as British and Egyptians prepared to meet the long-heralded Italian thrust to the east.

(In Rome it was said the offensive had started. There was no confirmation in London.)

Military observers in Cairo predicted Thursday that the Fascist drive would come within a week and coincide with Hitler's projected attempt to invade Britain, just as Italy's entrance into the war was timed with Germany's full-scale offensive into France and as Soviet Russia's advance from the east squeezed Poland at the critical moment during the Nazi invasion a year ago.

Firing between British and Italian advance units echoed ominously Thursday night as British reconnaissance fliers reported movements of fresh troops from the interior of Libya to the port of Bardia, only 30 miles from the Egyptian border.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

STRANDED PAIR ARE RESCUED

Supply Boat Caught in Fog, Causing Craft to Strike a Reef

Wiarton, Ont., Sept. 13.—(CP)—J. Bell and O. English arrived in Wiarton late Thursday after being stranded since Monday near Basswood Island, south of Tobermory.

They had been bringing a supply boat from Little Current to Kingston when fog caused their craft to strike a reef. There they stayed for two days vainly trying to attract attention of fishermen.

Finally they swam through the cold water to the island where they lit a fire with a cigarette lighter. Their signal was seen by a Mr. Pennypacker, a U.S. tourist, who was fishing nearby. He brought the weary, hungry men to Wiarton. A rescue party will set out after the boat.

2 VETERAN FLIERS CALLED UP

Calgary, Sept. 13 (CP)—Two veteran fliers of Calgary have been called to service with the Royal Canadian Air Force. The men are Captain Fred McCall, who with 37 enemy planes to his credit, was one of Canada's leading aces of the First Great War, and Flying Officer Philip Golder, who took part in the first R.A.F. bombing raid on the Kiel Canal at the start of the present conflict. Golder was invalided out of the R.A.F. this year after a crash in which both legs and one arm were broken.

British Prisoners of War Can Reach Home From Switzerland

By CHARLES FOLTZ, JR.

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Basel, Switzerland, Sept 13 (AP)—Escape!

It's a magic word to millions in Europe.

Thousands, tens of thousands, try it.

Some succeed.

More fail.

Success in many cases has meant only new capture and new escape attempts. Failure has frequently meant death.

Since war began Switzerland has been the goal of many an escaped war prisoner or concentration camp captive.

Under international law escaped war prisoners cannot be turned back by a neutral state. No such laws protect concentration camp prisoners.

German aviators who fell in France burned their planes and hiked to Switzerland, taking days for the trip. German infantrymen have reached Switzerland, too.

From Germany, however, come many more escaped prisoners, for Germany had more prisoners, Austrians, Czechs, Poles, French, Belgians, Netherlanders, Danes, Norwegians and British trickle into Switzerland by night and day, using a hundred disguises, a thousand tricks to travel hundreds even thousands of miles to liberty.

Of all those who escape only the fate of the British is clear once they arrive in Switzerland. Return to his country once he reaches this neutral soil is easy for the Briton. It's not so easy for the rest—for theirs are conquered, occupied countries.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

FRENCH TURN DOWN MAJOR AXIS DEMANDS

Italians Wanted Demobilization of French Troops in North Africa

FUTURE UNCERTAIN

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP).—The French government was reported reliably today to have turned down major demands from both Germany and Italy. In diplomatic quarters here it was believed the future of the Petain government and unoccupied France might be vitally affected.

The Italians were said to have insisted on demobilization of all the French troops in North Africa, estimated at about 200,000, fearing that a revolt against the Petain regime might throw large reinforcements to the British forces in that region.

Germany, these sources said, called on the Petain government to surrender 58 per cent of the livestock in unoccupied France. The German plan was said to have been to send the livestock to Germany and slaughter it for meat.

The Petain government, faced with a food problem of its own in the unoccupied region and fearing that each concession would lead to still another demand, was understood to have rejected both the German and Italian proposals.

Whether negotiations are still under way on a more modest basis was not clear in the reports here, but some diplomatic sources forecast increased difficulties for the present Vichy government.

The Petain government might be forced out, one well-informed source said, or German and Italian troops might extend their occupation to the wohle of France or a greater part of it.

NOTHING BUT TROUBLE

Berlin, Wis., Sept. 13 (AP)—Friday the 13th holds no fear for Stanley Miskey after this bit of tough luck: His car was marooned by recent floods near here. When the ground dried he returned to get it, but the keys were locked inside. He crawled under the car to push up a floor-board—and bumped into a nest of hornets. He got into the auto and found a nest of mice. He got out again to make a complete checkup. The headlight bulbs were missing—and all four tires were flat.

HAS SECOND CHILD BORN IN CAR

Tama, Ia., Sept. 13 (AP)—The back seat of Mrs. Carrie Burley's automobile has served as the "delivery room" for two of Mrs. Tony Price's 11 children. The latest arrival is a girl born after Mrs. Burley, county relief director, had started with Mrs. Price for a hospital. Daniel, another of the Price children, was born in Mrs. Burley's car in 1938 under similar circumstances.

Coming Events

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD RUMmage Sale, Saturday, Sept. 14, at 7 p.m., Christ Church Parish Guild, auspices Parish Guild. S13-1t

DINE AND DANCE AT THE Rainbow Rendezvous. Chicken Rolls, Hamburg Sandwiches, Tea, Coffee, Soft Drinks. We supply the music. Cover charge 10c each. S11-13

DURING THE ENGAGEMENT OF "The Sea Hawk", at the Belle Theatre, starting Saturday, evening performances start at 7.00 and 9.15 p.m. S13-1t

BROWNIES REGISTER AT CORBY Library, Saturday morning from eleven to twelve o'clock. Last year's Brownies and new ones. All must register. S13-1t

RUMMAGE SALE OF THE WESLEY W. A. Ladies on Saturday, Sept. 14 at 7 o'clock at the Y.M.C.A. rooms. S13-1t

Mr. Small Investor! Help Canada — Buy War Loan Bonds!

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS ACTIVE EXPORTERS

Holstein breeders of Hastings, Northumberland and Peterborough counties have been active in the export of pure-bred Holstein cattle to American markets during the past week. Shipments consigned to Messrs. Harry Greenberg and Sons, Hoosick, N.J. came from the herds of W. L. Pollock, Harold, 5; Francis Little Trenton, 1; H. G. Ward, Dartford, 1; Lorne Evans, Warkworth, 1; George A. Helson, Warkworth, 1; Ernest D. Fife, Indian River, 3; D. C. Hope, Indian River 2; E. C. Pollock Campbellford 1; J. Arthur Down, Hilton 4; Geo. S. Partridge and Son, Warkworth 3.

LORNE BADGLEY WINS IMPROVEMENT CUP

Lorne Badgely, Belleville R.R. 2 is the winner of the 1940 Sidney Township Junior Farmers Farm and Home Improvement contest, according to results released today by H. L. Fair, Agricultural Representative. In second place came R. Christie, Foxboro, with C. Holmes, Belleville, R.R. 3 finishing in third position.

General improvements to buildings, beautification of home surroundings, reforestation and landscaping are some of the salient points used in judging. Judges complimented the winners and other contestants on the fine appearance and quality of improvements done to farms and homes.

FOXES OR WEASELS BLAMED FOR LOSS

Mr. David Dingwell of Warkworth, reports the loss of a flock of white leghorn pullets. Foxes or weasels are blamed for the destruction, having entered the colony house and wiped out the entire flock.

The marauders entered the colony house through a small door, took the birds off the roost and took them outside, leaving the flock of one hundred and twenty-five birds just outside the door, a few yards away.

The loss is discouraging to the owner as the pullets were near the laying age. Poison was left in the colony house in case the marauders returned.

CHECKER PLAYERS RESUME BATTLES

One certain and infallible sign that autumn is just around the corner has been in evidence in the ante room of the local "Y" every day this week according to "Y" officials—the local checker players have resumed their daily battles across the checkerboard!

After a summer of inactivity, when it was a novel sight to see a checker game in progress at the "Y", the draught players have again started their winter feuds, which will end only next spring at the annual checker tournament. The return of the checker players to their daily sessions at the "Y" is a certain sign that colder weather is not far away, say officials.

ALBERT RITCHIE WAIVES APPEAL

Albert Ritchie, 23-year-old Bancroft youth sentenced to two years in Portsmouth Penitentiary yesterday after pleading guilty to a jail-break, left today for the Kingston institution. He was escorted by Sheriff J. D. O'Flynn, and Turnkey Joseph Samaine. He waived the right of appeal after being convicted yesterday.

WHEREABOUTS OF MAN SOUGHT BY CLERK

City Clerk Wilfred Holmes is in receipt of a request from the Mutual Life Insurance Company's Toronto office, for information regarding a certain Gifford H. Rankin, whose address, when an insurance policy was taken out in 1887, was given as Belleville.

Mr. Rankin, the communication states, was born in 1863, and was a baker by trade being in partnership with a Mr. Cole.

The company is desirous of getting in touch with Mr. Rankin's relatives.

TODAY - SAT.
MATINEE SAT. 2.30
It's a Scream-Lined Hurricane ...Fresh From the Tropics!
CAGNEY SHERIDAN O'BRIEN
TORRID ZONE
with ANDY DEVINE • HELEN VINSON
ADDED TREATS
NEWS — CARTOON
9th. Chap. 'BUCK ROGERS'
POPULAR SCIENCE in Color
Complete Shows 2.30 - 7 - 9
CAPITOL

SCHICK
Injector Razor
with
8 GENUINE SCHICK BLADES
and a Regular Sized tube of
PALMOLIVE SHAVING CREAM.
All Three for 59¢
McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

26 YEARS 121 BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY
and
PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

A Capsule A Day To Keep Colds Away
Start new preventive dosage to build up resistance to Winter Ailments. We'll gladly advise the right type for you.
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST Phone 105

Revenue From New National Defence Tax Starts to Flow in

Ottawa, Sept. 13—(CP)—Revenue from the new National Defence Tax will start flowing into the treasury next Monday when employers of some 1,200,000 Canadian workers will begin remittances of deductions they have made on payrolls in accordance with the act.

The National Defence Tax, most far-reaching of any personal tax ever imposed on Canadians, is largely collected by employers who thus become temporary assessors for the Income Tax Branch.

Imposed in the budget of last June 24, the tax calls for two per cent of all incomes in excess of $600 a year for single persons and $1,200 a year in the case of married persons. It is three per cent on the salaries of single persons earning more than $1,200 a year.

The tax became effective on and after last July 1 but machinery was not ready to receive remittances from employers until Sept. 16. Henceforth the remittances will be made on the 15th of each month to the Income Tax Branch at Ottawa.

Expected to Yield $35,000,000

This tax, estimated to yield $35,000,000 in a full year, applies not only to wages and salaries, but to all dividends and interest payments received by residents of the Dominion.

Since the tax applies to all workers from the most casually employed to those in permanent positions, there will be many instances in which the aggregate personal income will fall short of the taxable minimum.

In such cases the person concerned may submit a claim, at the end of the calendar year, advising the commissioner of taxation the amount he has earned during the year, and if the records received from his employers bear out his claim, the amounts deducted from his earnings will be returned.

A deduction of $8 may be made from the total tax payable for each dependent child or other specified dependents.

WATER-BUS SERVICE POPULAR

London, Sept. 13 (CP)—Despite today's morning air-raid alarm Londoners took with enthusiasm to the new Thames "water-bus" service. Hundreds turned up when the first boats began plying between Westminster and Woolwich. One Cockney passenger was heard to remark jokingly to a ferryman:—

"Hi, mate, ain't we got a convoy?"

Red Cross Asked To Thank Canadians For Clothing Given

Toronto, Sept. 13 (CP)—The Canadian Red Cross Society has received a cable from Mr. B. E. Astbury, Chairman of London's organized relief forces, asking the Red Cross to thank the people of Canada for the "blessing" of supplies sent across the seas in England's hour of need.

Truckloads of food, clothing and blankets poured into London two hours after the city "turned in despair" to Canadian Red Cross offices in England during the height of Germany's increased air attacks, the cable says.

The supplies were delivered by Canadian soldiers who "worked alongside our people and refused to take cover or cease work when German planes loomed overhead.

"I wish the women of Canada could have seen the incidents which alone could have conveyed to Canada the greatness of your gifts or the necessity of them," the cable continues. "A father whose home had been destroyed and who left his wife to seek covering, stooped and kissed the four blankets given him."

At another centre, a child clad only in night clothes clutched her bundle of clothing and wiped her tears, crying, "look, mummy, they're new."

Court Seeks Solution Of Juvenile Crime

"It is time this city had a separate place for the confinement of juveniles, who commit petty crimes and are brought before our courts", Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., remarked as two 16-year-old Belleville boys appeared in his court here today charged with the theft of money from milk bottles and also of entering a private dwelling apartment and stealing groceries. The lads pleaded guilty to both charges and their cases were enlarged for sentence.

"It is my firm belief that it is time to revive the old penal system of the strap. The increase in juvenile delinquency and crime among the teen-aged is appalling and a mild form of strapping is the only method to curb these boys," stated Chief Kidd as he informed the court that both boys standing in the docket had been before the court, charged with minor theft offences, on previous occasions. "The court has been lenient with this type of misdemeanour as we have tried to reason with these and other such young lads, but with no avail", pointed out Chief Kidd.

The two lads, William Woodcock and Horace Thompson were arraigned before His Worship and given a stern lecture, following which they were ordered to report to Chief Kidd every Saturday morning and once through the week to Major Alderman of the Salvation Army, who was present in the court and requested to assist in the rehabilitation of such wayward youths.

Both boys admitted they had pilfered money, left for collection, from privately owned milk bottles in the past. Police, as well as dairymen and private citizens, have been bothered with this type of crime for some time, a crime which is exceptionally hard to detect.

Hour of Fire-Fighting To Subdue Blaze

It required more than an hour of fire-fighting by local firemen to subdue a stubborn blaze in a two storey frame house at 113 Canniffton Road, near College St., on Thursday afternoon. The building, leased by the White Rose Gasoline Company, was being prepared for a new coat of paint when the fire occurred. Workmen had been engaged around the property during the morning, having left the premises during the noon hour and on their return discovered the building aflame.

The fire started on the south side of the building, just above a window and had eaten its way into the clap boards and into the attic when firemen arrived on the scene. Bringing the pumper into play, considerable water was poured into the house before the flames were extinguished. The attic and a portion of the roof were considerably damaged by fire while there was also considerable water damage.

FLUORSPAR MINE NOW IN PRODUCTION

Fluorspar mining activities in Hastings County have received a tremendous impetus during the past few months, due, it was stated this morning, to the product being a vital war materials ingredient.

The Dominion Fluorspar Mining Company in Madoc have been working to capacity for some time, while an old workings near the Moira Lake bridge a short distance south of Madoc was reopened a short time ago, and is in production.

OPPOSES PLANE FUNDS

London, (CP)—Mayor F. Clayton of Morecambe and Heysham has declined to organize any public subscription fund for airplanes on the ground that weapons of war are provided for by taxation.

FOX'S PEACHES
Supreme in Quality
Tree Ripened
Defuzzed
We invite you to visit our Packing House and Salesroom near
TRENTON
LOCATION On No. 2 Highway, two miles west of Town at Frank Hendrick's Apple Storage.
There you will see thousands of bushels of high-grade peaches arriving in bulk, fresh daily, direct from our trees in Norfolk County.
You will see these fine peaches being graded, packed, lenoed, labeled and made ready for the various markets located in your vicinity.
BUY FOX'S PEACHES
AND YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.
Phone TRENTON 805 Ring 2
S11-5t

Hospital W. A. Holds Tag Day Saturday

In these days of many appeals perhaps there is none more deserving than that of the Women's Auxiliary of the Belleville General Hospital. This gallant band of women, firm believers in the Golden Rule has sacrificed their time and efforts to a humanitarian cause that is indispensable to this city and its environs. On Saturday they are launching their annual Tag Day, and once again appeal to the generosity and sympathy of an ever-generous Belleville public.

They are not asking for dollars. A silver coin dropped into the box of a tag-seller will help in no small measure to bring relief to some suffering human being. The W. A. realizes that the purse-strings of the public are being called upon to open these days more than ever before, but they have implicit trust and faith in the residents of this city to once more come to the aid of a worthy cause.

On Saturday, tag-sellers will be out in force. Keep that change jingling in your pockets till then, and when asked to purchase a tag, drop one or more of the coins in the box. Nickels make quarters, and quarters make dollars. It will not be a hardship upon any individual and the amount of benefits to be derived from the many nickels, dimes and quarters, will be tremendous.

ROYAL NAVY ON TOP

London, (CP)—Failure of German attempts to interrupt British shipments and effectual tightening of the blockade are stalemating German attempts to get business in South America.

ELIZABETH ARDEN
Economy Set
A most attractive Box containing
SKIN TONIC.
HAND-O-TONIC
CLEANSING CREAM.
VELVA CREAM.
VELVA CREAM MASK
ALL-DAY FOUNDATION CREAM.
FACE POWDER.
More than $5.00 Value for
$2.95
DOYLE'S
DRUG STORE
The Home of ELIZABETH ARDEN in Belleville.
For Speedy Delivery Phone 326

PRINCESS HELEN STARTS FOR BUCHAREST

Florence, Italy, Sept. 13—(AP)—Princess Helen of Greece started back to Rumania today to be Queen Mother for a second time after ten years of exile by her divorced husband Carol. Her sister Irene, now Duchess Spoleto, with whom she has been living in Florence, accompanied Helen, as did Madame Helen Catargi, one of her former ladies-in-waiting. Irene intended to accompany Helen only as far as Venice.

MOVIE COWBOY HAS GUN STOLEN

Los Angeles, Sept. 13 — (AP)—Two-gun Gene Autry, the movie cowboy, always kept one of the weapons at home for burglars. Last night they got it.

Buy an R&G Used Car Now
R. & G. USED CARS are good to look at. Paint and Upholstery have been renewed. R. & G. USED CARS are as sound as careful overhauling by skilled mechanics with precision equipment can make them. No matter what make R. & G. CAR you buy you will have the pride and pleasure of owning a modern automobile. Act Quickly!
COME IN TONIGHT FOR THE CAR YOU WANT!
1939 FORD DELUXE COACH.
1939 PONTIAC CHIEFTAIN COACH.
1938 DODGE CUSTOM SEDAN.
1938 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
193 CHEV. MASTER DELUXE COACH.
1937 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
1937 CHEV. MASTER COACH.
1935 CHEV. DELUXE SEDAN.
1935 PLYMOUTH DELUXE SEDAN.
1934 CHEV. MASTER SEDAN.
1934 PLYMOUTH DELUXE SEDAN.
1932 TERRAPLANE SEDAN.
1931 CHEV. DELUXE SEDAN.
1931 CHEV. DELUXE COACH.
1931 FORD SPORT COUPE.
1930 CHEV. ROADSTER.
1920 GRAHAM BUSINESS COUPE.
1930 MARQUETTE SEDAN.
TRUDEAU
MOTOR SALES
Belleville — Picton — Stirling — Tweed

OBITUARY

LATE GEORGE H. CARLETON
(Hungerford Township)

Thursday afternoon, Sept. 12th, the funeral of George Herbert Carleton took place from the residence of his cousin, Mrs. A. E. Bates, in the 1st Concession of Hungerford Township to St. Paul's Anglican Church in Roslin where the Burial Office was conducted by the rector, the Rev. F. C. Beazer, who said also the committal service at the graveside in Roslin Anglican Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. James Vance, W. Weir, W. Gillespie, J. Hart, J. Goodfellow and H. Sills.

LATE ROLAND J. RORKE
(Picton)

The funeral of Roland J. Rorke was held at the Church of St. Gregory the Great on Thursday morning and was very largely attended. There was a profusion of floral tributes and many spiritual offerings. Requiem Mass was celebrated by Rev. J. A. Meehan. Thomas Burke sang "Nearer My God to Thee." Interment was made in Mount Olivet Cemetery, the pall bearers being Claude S. Cole, Ennis Graves, Arthur Goodwin, W. LaPointe, Norman Mallett and W. A. Arkett. Mr. Rorke died at Arntfield Hospital, Quebec, early Tuesday following an operation. He was widely known as a baseball and hockey star and as a former member of the town council.

MRS. FRANCES PERRY,
(Thomasburg)

Mrs. Frances Perry, widow of Roland Perry, passed away in the Belleville General Hospital early this Friday morning. She was in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. Perry, who was in her 68th year, was born in Thurlow Township, and was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Bushell. For some time she resided in Thurlow Township and for the past forty years she made her home in Thomasburg, and in the community she was held in high esteem. In religion she was a member of the Church of England and a parishioner of Christ Church in Thomasburg.

Surviving her are three sisters, Mrs. Henry Carter, Foxboro; Mrs. John Evans, Foxboro and Mrs. Thomas Kelly, Belleville and one brother, Mr. Seymour Bushell, Belleville.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, the funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Letter to the Editor

Editor Ontario Intelligencer,
Dear Sir:

Do those who are trying so hard to put over this second war loan stop to think of the vast sums of money that are being wasted in the duplication of our railways. Sir h. W. Beatty the President of the C.P.R. said that this country could not stand the expense of keeping up the two roads. To my mind the C.N.R. should be let run on its own without any political interference or public handouts to either road. Surely the people understand that 88 percent of the C.P.R.'s profits have to go out of the country and that the C.N.R.'s earnings remain here. I am giving every cent I can spare to this war loan but I do hate to see our railway earnings going to stockholders that do not live in this country when it is needed so badly at home.

D. S. LaRue.

A. and P. Staff Holds Corn Roast

The staff of the A. and P. store and their friends held an enjoyable corn roast at Massassaga Beach on Tuesday evening. The interesting event was concluded with dancing.

POLICE COURT

Friday the 13th of the month, generally accepted by the more superstitious as a bad luck omen, passed without incident in city police court, held before Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., today.

Actually the court assumed a lenient stand and all concerned seemed imbibed with the spirit of service to others.

John Butler, 17-year-old Detroit youth who was arrested yesterday after stealing a $10.00 windbreaker from in front of Goodman's haberdashery, today pleaded guilty as charged and was subsequently turned over to the custody of Major Alderman of the Salvation Army.

Salvation Army Helps

"At the request of Chief Kidd I interviewed this boy yesterday. He was poorly clad and tells me he has no home as his father is in Detroit, but the lad was deported as he was born in Canada. I have the promise of a job on a farm for him and have procured warmer clothing, which he now wears. If the court pleases the Salvation Army will look after him until he goes to work," Major Alderman told the court.

His Worship put young Butler in Major Alderman's custody after suspending sentence.

Girl Admits Theft

Jean LaLonde, Peterborough, appeared on a charge of the theft of $12.00 from Percy Beary Jr. and although the girl admitted the offence, His Worship refused to dispose of the matter until the complainant had appeared before the court and stated his case. The matter was enlarged for on[illegible]

Case Further En[illegible]

Faced with a charge [illegible] to produce his registration [illegible], contrary to the National Registration Act, Thomas Scollard, Toronto vagrant now serving 14 days in the local jail in default of the payment of a fine levied under the L.C.A. appeared on a subsequent charge of being unable to produce his registration certificate today. "I was registered in Toronto, but lost my card. I have sent an affidavit to Ottawa and expect a reply any day now to prove my case," remarked Scollard. His Worship further enlarged the matter for six days.

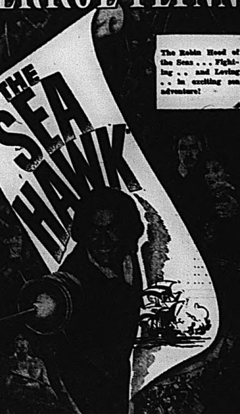
Two Cases Heard in Camera

Two cases of non-support, domestic matters, were heard in camera. In one case Chief Kidd acted as mediator and suggested the young couple get together, especially as there were two small children to be considered. "See what you can do along these lines after court," His Worship added as he directed his suggestion towards Chief Kidd.

Several H.T.A. cases, including three of speeding on local streets, concluded the morning's proceedings. Crown Attorney S. G. Robertson was presented on behalf of the Crown and assisted in the amicable settlement of several cases.

AIR CONDITIONED McCARTHY THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
DAILY .... 2.30: 7.15: 9.00 P.M.
TONIGHT AND SATURDAY
ANOTHER LAUGH RIOT BY THE AUTHOR OF "MR. DEEDS GOES TO TOWN"
Stuart ERWIN IN CLARENCE BUDINGTON KELLAND'S MR. BOGGS STEPS OUT
COMPANION FEATURE HIT
Hopalong Brings "Bar 20" Justice to the Range!
Another rip-roaring round-up of Cassidy thrills!
Paramount presents Clarence E. Mulford's "SILVER ON THE SAGE"
featuring WILLIAM BOYD with George Hayes • Russell Hayden
Stanley Ridges • Frederick Burton • Ruth Rogers • A Harry Sherman Production
EXTRA ADDED SHORT SUBJECT: "TERRY and the PIRATES"

TOMORROW — The Peak of Screen Thrills!



ERROL FLYNN
"THE SEA HAWK"
The Robin Hood of the Seas . . . Fighting . . and Loving . . in exciting sea adventure!
BRENDA MARSHALL • CLAUDE RAINS
DONALD CRISP • FLORA ROBSON • ALAN HALE
Pluto-the-Pup Cartoon — News — "Oregon Trail"
SAT.-MON.-TUES.-WED.
BELLE
WHERE HITS ARE A HABIT
Daily 2.30: 7.00: 9.15
2 Hits—Leave Tonight
A Delightful Comedy Romance.
"OUR TOWN"
FUN and ROMANCE!
'THE GOLDEN FLEECING'
7.10 — Last Show 8.30 p.m.

Will Write "Jerry" a Note His Raids So Inconvenient

English Relative of Belleville Resident Reveals Typical British Humor and Courage in Letter

'A BIT OF NOISE'

Indicative of the traditional stoical courage of the English people who today are living in an aura of death and destruction, is the following letter received by a resident of this city:—

105 John Ruskin St.
London S. E. 5.
August 25th, 1940.

My dear sister and brother and family,

Have just arrived home from duty since 9 a. m. this morning. Lily is writing to Irene and Lewis to thank them for wedding cake. We hope they will be as happy as we are and spend many years together. Old Jerry kept us very busy all day yesterday and up till 3 a.m. this morning. There have been very few people hurt and as I am speaking of London, more noise than damage in general. I think it will take the people here a long time to get really serious with the Germans. During the raids people are either walking about as usual and the traffic is just the same. When the sirens went yesterday afternoon I was on the bus which was full of passengers, even some were standing. The driver stopped at the nearest shelter and told people they could go to shelter if they wished, and not one person got off so we carried on as usual even though bombs were crashing and guns being fired so you see the spirit Londoners are in. Theatres and picture shows carry on. Lily's mother and father were in the South London Palace of Variety week before last during an air raid and a man told the audience that people could go home if they wished or stay as the show would carry on. I could not imagine the Germans being so calm during our raids on them.

Well, dear, we have had dear old Bert and Lina up in London for a week. They stayed with Lily in Islington so we went to Lil's last Sunday to tea and Bert and Lina came over to us on Thursday. They visited Mr. and Mrs. Wright at Catford.

You must have a large mail to answer since your visit to England as Bert and Lina say you keep them well supplied with letters and papers and Mr. and Mrs. Wright also speak of your letters. On my way home from the office to day, a Canadian soldier sat next to me and having asked me how far Packam Rye was away, we got into conversation. I asked whether his home was near Belleville. He said his was not but that two companies at this camp were all from that way. I asked him how the English were treating him and he said "Fine, I think I would like to live here, as everybody seems so sociable and kind". Really, it was nice to hear that sort of reply in this war of nerves and monotony, but I do believe every Serviceman of whatever race he belongs to is getting a more fair deal than we did in the past. Rightly they deserve respect and kindness.

We both put in attendance for Hospital Duty in the West End Mondays, Wednesdays, and Saturday afternoons. Well old dear I must ask Lily to finish this page off so night night. God bless you all.

Your loving brother, Eddie.

Dear Dolly, Wilfred and the "Babies":—

Eddie says I am to fill this page up for him so I suppose I'd better get on with it. You will see I am enclosing a photo of myself in my nurse's uniform, I hope you will like it. I have just been writing to Irene and have sent her one as well. I expect you miss Irene at home, don't you?, but no doubt you see her pretty often as one can soon travel a few miles by car. Eddie and I enjoyed the wedding cake very much, especially as you made it, and I'm sure we wish Irene and Lewis every happiness together. Eddie has told you all the news so there isn't much left for me to say. As you see we have been having rather an exciting time the last few days — two and three air raids in a day, and bombs quite near to us. There is a bit of a noise while they last but we all try to carry on as usual, we aren't going to let "Jerry" get us down — not likely! — but it's rather annoying to have to get up out of bed in the early hours of the morning, he might choose a more convenient time to pay us a visit. I think I'll have to write him a note and ask him if he can't alter his times! What do you think? Well, I have quite a number of letters to answer, I seem to be all behind lately, so I really must close now. I thought you would like to know we are all quite safe. We had a nice time with Bert and Lina over at Lil's last Sunday, and as Eddie told you they came over to see us last Thursday. They have had pretty bad air raids at Yarmouth, I believe, but everyone seems to be "business as usual". By the way Mum sends her love to you and so does Gladys. They are always asking after you, and Mum is still wondering if you ever received her letter as she says she wouldn't like you to think she hadn't answered it, as it was very good of you to write to her. Did you get it? Now I really must close and we are just going round to see Mum and Dad for a little while and then to bed for a little while, I expect. We have had a quiet day today, no air raids so far, so we shall probably have to get up during the night. Never mind! We shall get used to it soon! Cheerio, everyone, God bless you all.

Lots of love from Lily.

4th Sidney

4th Sidney — Children are again wending their way back to school after having their vacation. Miss Sine is teacher for the coming year.

Mrs. H. Hyde of Belleville was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes.

A number from this line attended the Toronto Exhibition last week.

Mrs. J. Baikie has returned to her home in London having spent a couple of weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Vermilyea.

Guests during the past week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris are Mr. H. Cordon and daughter, Bernice, Miss Jean Muir, Mrs. E. Tucker, Mrs. Baker, Mrs. E. Bacon and Mr. R. Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. C. Holmes spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. A. Holmes of Toronto.

Little Mary Benedict of Frankford has been holidaying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Jury.

The farmers again are seen turning over the land as the threshing is almost over for another season.

3rd Thurlow

3rd Thurlow — Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Bruein and Mrs. W. Gilbert of Belleville, Mrs. A. Weddell and daughter of Timmins were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Doxtator on Wednesday last.

Miss Evelyn Brant is visiting her sister, Mrs. Bert Spencer.

Mrs. E. Scrimshaw of Belleville is visiting Mrs. Harry McPherson.

Rev. and Mrs. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McPherson, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Walker and family, Mr. Jack Tweedy were dinner hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tweedy on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Eggleton, also Mr. and Mrs. George Sills, Salem, attended Toronto Exhibition on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hamilton and family were Sunday guests of Mr. Harry Tummon and family of Zion.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Juby attended the funeral of the late Mr. Wm. Clarke, Foxboro, on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Frank Walker, Bessie, Cecil and Percy, also Miss Vera Pound and Mr. Stanley Pound spent Friday and Saturday in Toronto attending the Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Vestervelt and Betty of Belleville took tea on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McPherson.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Osland and Joy, also Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Hollinger visited Toronto Exhibition and Niagara Falls on Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wallbridge, Miss Muriel Robinson of Massassaga spent Sunday with Mrs. Chester Yourex.

Mrs. John Walker, Massassaga, and Mr. John Esard of Toronto, called on Mr. and Mrs. J. Juby on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Osland and daughter Carol of Toronto were overnight guests on Monday last at the home of the former's brother, Mr. Percy Osland.

Mr. Horace Casey spent Thursday in Toronto attending the Exhibition.

Two Ayrshire Cows Awarded Certificates

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP)—For high milk and butterfat production, two more Canadian Ayrshire cows have attained the highest production award of that breed, meritorious production gold seal certificates, the Canadian Ayrshire Breeders' Association announced Thursday.

These cows, the 36th and 37th to be so classed, are Lighthouse Lucky Patricia, owned by Jos. P. Beauchemin, Vercheres, Que., and Barr Lulu, owned by Hon. Dr. H. A. Bruce and son, Annandale Farm, Todmorden, Ont.

Lighthouse Lucky Patricia is credited with a total production of 106,563 pounds of milk, 4,423 pounds of butterfat, average test 4.15 per cent, in nine milking periods. Barr Lulu has produced a total of 106,433 pounds of milk, 4,602 pounds of butterfat, in nine milking periods.

September Meeting Of Rawdon Council

The Municipal Council of the Township of Rawdon met at the Town Hall, Harold on Sept. 4th, with all members present. The minutes of the last regular monthy meeting was read and adopted on motion of Tanner and Morrison.

Spencer and Eastwood — that road voucher No 6 for $312.09 be paid. Cd.

Several relief accounts were ordered paid.

Morrison and Tanner — that Stirling News Argus be paid $7.85.

Tanner and Spencer—that Walter Thompson be paid $2.50 for cutting weeds along road. Cd.

Tanner and Morrison—that John Fleming be paid $7.00 for one sheep killed by dogs on completion of affidavit also Albert Twiddy $1.00 for one inspection. Cd.

Tanner and Morrison—that Iris Bristol be paid $4.50 for peeling pulp for Township. Cd. Committees were appointed for hospital account interviews.

Automobiles speeding over concrete or asphalt roads generate static electricity in charges as high as 11,000 volts, according to a New York scientist.

Jamaica has limited the importation of medicinal products to those having containers showing their formulas or compositions in both English and French.

Four small airplane type pneumatic tires are used instead of metal springs on each side above the rear axle of a motor truck designed by an Indiana inventor.

Cheese Board

Three thousand five hundred and three white and 59 special colored cheese were offered for sale on the Belleville Cheese Board on Thursday evening. All were sold at 13 7-16 cents with buyers McCreary and Hunter taking the board. The factories represented were:

	W.
Shannonville	50
Bronk	64
Harold	64
Central	84
Silver Springs	27
Union	64
Eclipse	41
Holloway	43
Northport	34
Sidney	100
Acme	42
Wooler	77
Sidney T. H.	73
Maple Leaf	87
Cloverdale	163
W. Huntingdon	62
Melrose	78
Zion	118
Mountain View	48
East Hastings	62
Springbrook	52
Mountain	87
Weller's Bay	78
Moira Valley	54
Albert	94
Bloomfield	141
Roslin	42
Kingsford	74
Foxboro (special colored)	59
Quinte	55
Evergreen	68
Frankford	80
Rogers	89
Moneymore	26
Elmwood	25
Stirling	75
Victoria	72
Roblin	75
Glen	25
Beulah	57
Riverside Dairy	90
Shamrock	47
Ben Gill	93
Enterprise	49
Waupoos	60
Black River	108
Cressy	34
Elmbrook	85
Royal Street	65
Claire River	58
Maple Leaf	30
Pine Grove	53
Otter Creek	28
Claireview	55

Eastern Ontario Cheese Boards

Belleville, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—A total of 3,503 boxes of white and 59 boxes of colored were boarded yesterday on the Belleville Cheese Board. All sold at 13 7-16 cents.

Campbellford—A total of 1,868 boxes were offered yesterday on the Campbellford Cheese Board. All sold, 1,421 white at 13 7-16 cents, and 447 colored at 13 9-16 cents. Bidding opened at 13 3-8 cents.

Perth, Ont.—Boarded, 795 boxes white. All sold at 13 3-8 cents.

Alexandria—Boarded, 2,940 boxes white, all sold at 13 3-8 and 13 5-16 cents.

Casselman—Boarded, 2,377 boxes white. All sold at 13 5-16 cents.

Cornwall—Boarded 2,042 boxes white, 84 colored Colored and 1,642 white sold at 13 5-16 cents and balance white at 13 3-8 cents.

Kemptville—Boarded 3,956 white, 29 colored. All sold at 13 5-16 cents.

Vankleek Hill—Boarded 2,237 boxes white, 1,250 colored. All sold at 13 5-16 cents.

Delta—Boarded 2,268 boxes white, 34 colored. Colored sold at 13 7-16 cents, 1,289 boxes white at 13 5-16 cents, and balance at 13 7-16 cents.

Minto

Minto — Mrs. Gordon Peterson of Toronto spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hagerman and Mr. and Mrs. V. Hagerman.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom McCaw of Hamilton and Mrs. Hoard of Stirling spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hagerman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John McClean of Roslin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. Colden.

Mr. and Mrs. George McMaster and family of West Huntingdon took dinner on Sunday at Mr. Ken Belcour's.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo McKewen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred McKewen.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Bristol spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Brown, Madoc.

Gore

Gore — Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kirkby of Gananoque were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman and Audra on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holmes of Wallbridge spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Roy Brickman and Mr. Brickman.

Messrs. Alex McCurdy of Ridge Road and James McQuarrie of Lindsay called on Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox Tuesday morning.

Mrs. John Black of Belleville spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fox spent a few days last week with the latter's aunt, Mrs. Alzina Fox of Wellington. Mrs. Fox returned home with them Sunday evening for a few days' visit.

Mrs. Julia Fox spent Saturday with Mrs. Melvin Pulver.

Mr. Russell Thompson of Crofton and Miss Miriam Keeble of Mountain View were tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Fox and Mrs. Wm. Soble Sunday evening.

Those who attended Toronto Exhibition last week were: Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brickman, Miss Audra Brickman, Miss Irma Bonter and Mr. Carl Haggerty, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Redner and Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Pulver.

Deseronto

Deseronto — The funeral of the late Col. E. W. Rathburn was held Monday afternoon and after the service the remains were taken to Toronto for cremation.

Francis Brennan spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Brennan.

L. A. C. Clinton Toppings, R. C. A. F., Montreal, spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Toppings, Marysville.

Miss Helen Therrien has accepted a position in Kingston.

Lorne O'Ray, R. C. A. F., spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. L. O'Ray.

Miss O'Connor of Kingston spent the week end with Miss Helen Therrien.

The C. W. L. of St. Vincent de Paul Church held the regular monthly meeting in the Parish Hall on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kitchen, of Tweed, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kitchen.

Mr. Patrick Fox who had the misfortune to run a nail in his foot, is improving.

Miss Mary Maher had the misfortune to fall and re-fracture her arm which she had previously broken several weeks ago.

Not Just Another New Gasoline - - - But A NEW MIRACLE OF GASOLINE CHEMISTRY
NU-BLUE SUNOCO

Made possible by a remarkable new process that was hailed by the press of the world. Nu-Blue Sunoco is made especially for high compression motors and made to give every car a bonus of

- HIGH TEST KNOCKLESS POWER
- SURE FIRE! QUICK STARTING
- ECONOMICAL MILEAGE.

All for Regular Gas Price

CLIFF BARAGAR
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
FREE PARKING AT REAR OF STATION
AUTO-LITE BATTERIES
GOODYEAR TIRES
Corner Dundas & Pinnacle Streets.
Phone 228

Soothe SORE FEET THIS WAY

Rub in Minard's Liniment generously, and feel the relief steal over the aching muscles and joints. For all muscle and joint pains, aches and stiffness, sprained ankles, twisted limbs—Minard's has been famous for over 60 years. Good for dandruff and skin disorders, too. Get a bottle today; keep it handy. 35¢

MINARD'S LINIMENT

Drive The '41 Studebaker

Come in, see and drive the New '41 Champion Studebaker. Many new features. It is a bigger, roomier car and you can have house temperature in your Studebaker the coldest day in Winter, by using Studebaker's Exclusive Climatizer, built only to be used in all Studebaker models.

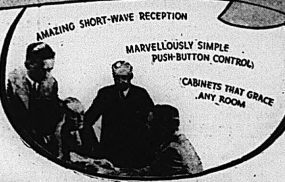
NOTICE

I wish to announce that I have moved my business from 366 Front St. to 211 Pinnacle St. In the building now occupied by Quinte Motors, Studebaker Distributors, I hope to be prepared to give better service to all my old customers as well as new ones. I will also service all cars sold by Quinte Motors.

MOHER'S GARAGE,
per R. J. Moher.

QUINTE MOTORS
211 PINNACLE STREET

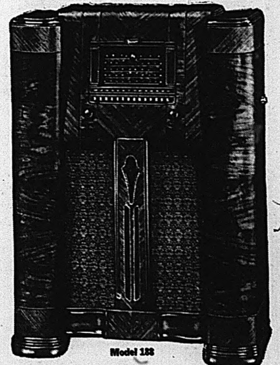
The Whole Town's Talking about the NEW MARCONI International



AMAZING SHORT-WAVE RECEPTION
MARVELLOUSLY SIMPLE PUSH-BUTTON CONTROL
CABINETS THAT GRACE ANY ROOM

at $129.00
CANADA'S GREATEST VALUE

A low priced console sparkling with Marconi features, giving radio reception at its best . . . Marconi super-improved automatic control . . . Marconi super bandspreading, greatly simplifying short wave tuning . . . beautiful burl walnut cabinet . . . amazing tone . . . and the price, which speaks for itself. Such dollar value is only matched by the other sets in the new Marconi line. See these sensational new models at your nearest Marconi dealer.



Model 188

The International

7 tube superheterodyne (9-tube functions)—14 automatic push button control—standard broadcast and super bandspreading of the 49, 31, 25, 19 metre bands—built-in rotatable "Wavescope" antenna—wave trap—bass and treble tone control — Phonograph, F.M. and television-sound connections — 12" dynamic loudspeaker — cathode ray tuning indicator —beautiful walnut cabinet: 37" high, 29" wide, 12½" deep. Price.......... $129.00

Model 180—Modern plastic cabinet (walnut or ivory)—5 tubes (7 tube performance) — beam power output —dynamic loudspeaker. Price: Ivory $21.50; Walnut.......... $20.88

Model 185—(right) 6 tubes, superheterodyne circuit — standard broadcast, police and full super bandspreading of the 49, 31, 25, 19 metre short wave bands — automatic tuning — Phono - Television-sound and FM connections. Price..... $76.95

CANADIAN MARCONI COMPANY
MARCONI BUILDING, MONTREAL
VANCOUVER TORONTO WINNIPEG HALIFAX ST. JOHN'S, Nfld.

Models from $20.85 to $299.00. Prices subject to change without notice

MARCONI ★ THE GREATEST NAME IN RADIO ★

On Sale in Belleville Exclusively
Lipson's Furniture House
Terms as Low as $1 Down $1 a week

YOUR SHOES NEED

"NUGGET"
SHOE POLISH
WATERPROOF FREE FROM ACID
THE FINEST LEATHER PRESERVATIVE

Buy WAR SAVINGS STAMPS

IT TAKES "NUGGET" TO GIVE A LASTING SHINE — AND PRESERVE THE LEATHER!
Black, Blue and all shades of Brown
N16
NUGGET YOUR SHOES DAILY

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

A HISTORIC CEREMONY

One day this week at an eastern Canadian port there was a transfer of a number of fighting vessels from one nation to another. It was done quietly without bands or parades, but is was a historical incident of great significance to. Britain and the United States. It was the first practical step taken by the two countries in a policy of mutual assistance. The deal, of course, had been approved a short time ago but this was the first actual consummation of the historic "swap."

The ceremony was simply bugle calls, a change of flags and handshakes between officers of the two navies. The United States sailors did not conceal their feelings at leaving their ships while the British crews were triumphant in their obvious joy.

The British showed a nice bit of courtesy when they stayed away while Old Glory was hauled down. In staying away the empire navy men were recognizing the feeling of sadness akin to all seamen on leaving an old ship.

The Americans left their ships in such condition as would delight the critical eye of the most fastidious admiral. The ships' stores were complete to the last detail. One huge refrigerator was filled with butter, another with meat. There were potatoes, carrots, cabbages, eggs, sugar, cheese, coffee. For the first time in hundreds of years British tars will not sleep in hammocks. There were bunks with real springs for every one of them. Only personal belongings were taken away by the American crews. They even left typewriters —the latest models—three with each ship.

There were supplies of all kinds except one, the rum ration. The United States destroyers have been officially dry ever since they were built, but we can believe the dry era ended immediately. In fact it did for the British officers served the first legal drinks ever served on board when the American officers called.

Thus was concluded in an atmosphere of friendship and goodwill a deal that will live long in the minds of us all as a splendid example of friendship and confidence between two great countries.

COUNTRY FAIRS

Country fairs, like old soldiers, never die. And unlike old soldiers they will not fade away. They are institutions that governmental edicts cannot erase; are buried deeply in the hearts of rural populations, and are one of the greatest welders of community life in the world. Wednesday 2,000 people thronged Marmora Fair. They did not show disappointment in the fact that exhibits were cut in two; that the fair did not have the attractions of other years. They came to enjoy themselves, not to criticize. They came to enjoy that community camaraderie, that interchange of views and renew the mutual understanding that makes rural life the envy of urbanites. In doing so they maintained the high sense of loyalty to fair directors who have struggled through adverse circumstances to live up to fair traditions. It was an object lesson in community spirit, one that can well be emulated by towns and cities of the province. Canada cannot and will not do without her rural fairs.

WHITE WALKING STICK INSIGNIA OF THE BLIND

A youth carrying a white walking stick was unintentionally jostled by a pedestrian while walking along Front Street yesterday. The pedestrian apologized, and the youth smiled an acceptance. He, however, did not look in the general direction of the man who had accidentally pushed him, but gazed straight ahead of him. What the pedestrian did not know was the fact that the youth was blind.

Furthermore, he did not know that the white stick is the insignia of those who have lost their sight or were born without it. Canadians, generally, have wholehearted sympathy with those less fortunate than themselves, especially the sightless. There is not a man, woman or child in the Dominion, who would not stretch out a helping hand to them. But accidents are bound to happen, and if the general public tucks the fact back in the recesses of its mind, that those carrying the white walking sticks are blind, many unfortunate incidents can be avoided.

Remember, the man or woman, boy or girl, who carries the white stick is blind, and as such is deserving of every assistance and courtesy that can be extended to them.

BOYS DO MEN'S WORK IN GERMAN AIRFORCE

Letters have been received in Canada by relatives of Canadian soldiers in England in which it is related that German bombers have been manned with youths fifteen and sixteen years of age. One letter states, "Planes crashing near our station are manned by boys 15 or 16 years old, some five-man planes have only two boys to handle them." Another letter states that the crew of a large bomber had a pilot only 15 years old.

One cannot help wondering how Goering thinks he is going to outdo the R.A.F. by sending boys to do a man's work. It is a cruel piece of business to take these boys from their homes and send them out on errands that should be done only by men of considerable experience. However, the Nazis are not noted for their qualities of mercy and if they are reduced to the extent of using plane crews of such tender ages then the superiority of machines which the Germans boast will not mean so much to the hard-pressed R.A.F. No matter what nationality a boy is or whether he is an enemy or not, he should not be sent out on the dirty errands that must be carried out in war. The practice is abhorrent to the minds of all decent men.

Newest Notes of Science

Science News Service

Massachusetts Institute of Technology scientists have developed processes for producing stainless steel with surfaces having the lustre of gold, silver and platinum.

To make potato picking less back straining a motor propelled three-wheeled vehicle that carries a man close to the ground has been invented at Michigan State College.

The number of ocean going vessels passing through the Panama canal in the fiscal year ending with June decreased to 5370, the smallest number since the 1933 fiscal year.

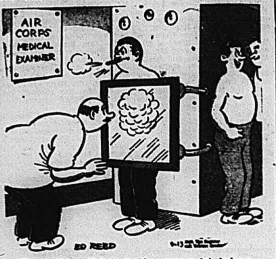
Bed covers are held at the foot of a bed with mechanism invented by a Los Angeles man, their tension being regulated by a lever on the headboards by an occupant of the bed.

A device to speed hand knitting that a Pennsylvania man has invented is worn on the index finger of one hand to loop yarns over the end of a needle without waste arm motion.

Ontario's mines yielded six per cent more gold in the first six months this year than in the first half of 1939 and reached an all-time high record for a single month in June.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED



"He's afraid doc will find something wrong so he's laying a smoke screen!"

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 13th., 1920.

Mr. A. E. Brown, Yeomans Street, has returned from Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. James P. Poste have left for their home in Winnipeg after spending the summer here with Mr. Poste's sister, Mrs. James H. Grills.

Thanksgiving Day this year will be observed on Oct. 18th.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Bruner of Rochester, N. Y., spent yesterday here with his cousin, Mr. E. P. Frederick, West Bridge Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Geddes Street, have returned home after spending some time in New York City.

Mrs. T. Cope has returned home after visiting friends in Winnipeg, Manitoba.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 13th., 1910.

Mr. Walter Symons is home from Oswego, N. Y., on a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Miller of Toronto are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Carter.

Dr. J. F. Reid and wife of St. Louis, Mo., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid, East Bridge Street.

Mr. A. Morris, of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, has been transferred to Winnipeg.

Messrs. Eugene Laroche and Harry H. Ponton are holding responsible positions with Messrs. Haney, Quinlan and Robertson, contractors, at Campbellford, on canal construction work.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 13th., 1900.

Miss Florence Ridley, daughter of the late Dr. Ridley of this city, has left for San Francisco and will sail shortly from that port for China where she will become a member of the Red Cross Relief Corps. Miss Ridley returned recently from the Philippines where she was engaged in similar work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Tennent are being welcomed home after an absence of four months during which time they visited friends in Scotland.

The police magistrate has ruled that stray roosters and hens may be impounded — so keep your chickens at home.

Mr. James Sager of Rochester, N. Y., is visiting friends in town.

50 YEARS AGO

The steam yacht, Cosette, owned by Mr. H. Corby, M. P., took a party on a cruise down the bay this afternoon.

Mayor Haines of Jersey City, N. J., is a visitor in the city and is the guest of Mr. J. Lance. He is much pleased with our city. For the past seven years he has held the office of Mayor of Jersey City.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. J. Rice of Deseronto is visiting friends in the city.

Major Sankey, City Surveyor of Toronto, is spending a few days in town.

Mr. W. P. Hudson, M. P. P., was a visitor in town to day.

Mr. C. S. Yarwood of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, is home on a short visit.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate. Inc.)

1.—The United States has gone into the real estate business, leasing the islands of Canton and Enderbury in the Pacific. Who owns the islands?

.2—On the entire North American continent, but one walled city remains. Can you locate it?

3.—A sixteenth century dweller was Michael Nostradamus, whose writings are receiving much attention today. Why?

4.—In military parlance, the word "shavetail" is common, representing a certain rank. To what officer is the name applied?

5.—The world international can appropriately be applied to Africa. what with six European countries having possessions there. Can you name four?

6.—When speaking of the British Isles, have you any idea of how many isles, both inhabited and uninhabited, are involved?

7.—Include in your list of odd occupations that of "diamond shooter". It has something to do with ostriches by way of a cue. What does the job involve?

Answers

1—Great Britain.

2.—Quebec, in Canada

3.—Many of his amazing predictions are applicable to events occurring these days.

4.—Second lieutenant.

5.—Spain, Belgium, Britain, Italy Portugal, France.

6.—Five thousand.

7. — Shooting ostriches for the diamonds found in their gizzards.

Germany A Pyramid Of Slaves

(United Correspondents, N-16.)

The German markets of today lack many things which are generally regarded as daily necessaries. Instead they proffer a new commodity—slaves.

If there is a local shortage of labour for the fields or for road-making, the Gestapo comes to the rescue. A market in Wuertemburg recently offered Poles for sale—men, women and children. German farmers walked around and, after examining the Poles, chose the strongest looking. The victims wept and yelled as husbands and brothers were torn from their wives or sisters after selection by the farmers. If a farmer was moved to pity, the Gestapo would appear and restore discipline. The German farmers then went off with their Poles, leading them away like slaves, to do whatever work might be needed and to be subject to any pains and penalties that might be inflicted. German farmers are in urgent need of labour and most agricultural work is now in the hands of women who are underfed and overworked.

In former days Wuertemburg had a reputation for good-nature. Wuertemburgers were more genial, more artistically inclined than the Prussians of North Germany. Now Nazi tyranny has turned Wuertemburgers, with other easy-going South Germans, into super-Prussians. The process of brutalisation in Germany, the lowered standard of morality is one of the most horrible features of German life. How has this dehumanisation been accomplished?

In Germany there are schools where men, mostly younger men, are systematically trained in ruthlessness and cruelty. They are recruiting schools for the S.S. and Gestapo. Their pupils are trained to inflict torture upon their fellows without feeling pity for their victims. There young men are indoctrinated with the theory that they, in common with all Germans, are a "nation of rulers", destined by nature to rule over others. These "others" used to be Jews. With the extension of the German 'lebensraum' they are now Poles, Czechs, Dutchmen, Frenchmen, etc.

Such educational establishments are reserved, of course, for the few. The mass of the German people are de-humanised in the course of their everyday life, which means that they visit upon the weaker the ill-treatment they receive from above. The weakest in this pyramid of slaves are naturally the subjugated nations. The burden, however, upon German peasants and petty bourgeoisie is quite heavy enough. During the six years between the accession of the Nazis to power and the outbreak of the war the average wage of a German skilled workman fell by 20 per cent., that of unskilled labour by 30 per cent., while food prices rose by 6 per cent. The number of occupational accidents in German factories has increased under Hitler by 25 per cent., the death rate of the working class by 18 per cent. When Hitler came to power, he destroyed with one stroke of the pen the whole trade union organization. War has brought about a further deterioration in the worker's lot. Restrictions upon hours of work have been removed, night-work has been re-introduced, there are no more holidays with pay.

German men and women now look with indifference at Poles exposed like cattle for sale they welcome the sight of gangs of forced laborers from Holland. They have become used to the idea of parts of towns in the subjugated countries being barricaded off by the S.S. for hours at a time, while suitable labor is rounded up from among the youth of these "slave-nations". German men and women—workmen, officers, teachers, civil servants—find it natural that Poles should yield the pavement to their betters, that the housewives in Oslo and Amsterdam should remain outside the shops until German women have completed their purchases.

To them it is natural that Polish and Czech girls should be immured in brothels. The Germans are not averse to seeing people treated as slaves, for they are slaves themselves. Every German is in reality a forced laborer.

The government has power to put every German man and every German woman to whatever work it wishes. Wives of officials and civil servants receive orders to report at 6 p.m. for work in a factory at a wage of about 6d. an hour. Since businesses with a capital of less than 100,000 marks can be dissolved by a government order, the ranks of unskilled labor have been reinforced by hundreds of thousands of additional workers. Tens of thousands of former tobacconists, dairymen, bakers, haberdashers drop in this way on to the lowest step of the German slave pyramid. The soldiers who fight on refardless of their lives and who when they fall, are crushed by oncoming tanks, are also slaves. Slaves, too, are those in so-called better positions, people who earn large incomes and have orders and decorations, but who may not ask the reason for anything. Criticism is even more strictly forbidden to the upper tne thousand of Nazi Germany than to the millions of humble folk.

And what of those at the pyramid's apex? What of Hitler, Goering, Goebbels and Ribbentrop? Statistics show that, whereas the consumption of bread, butter and vegetables is falling to a new low level in Germany, that of champagne has appreciably risen. To give one example, the luxury and ostentation of Goering's parties is well-known.

The men who form the apex of this structure are themselves slaves, slaves of their own baseness, of the lawlessness and brutality without which they could not exist. By this means they rule, until such time as opposition inside and outside Germany gathers sufficient force and momentum to overturn the pyramid.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.,

100 Percent. Oxygen Used When Need is Desperate

A current film shows a nurse carefully watching a patient during one whole fearful night. The gradual rise in temperature is shown and when it reaches 105 degrees the nurse wheels in the oxygen tank and the patient's life is saved.

More and more are physicians using full strength oxygen, 100 per cent, for the various ailments in which pure air is not getting to the lungs or impure air is remaining in the lungs. I have written before of the great help 100 percent. oxygen has been in severe attacks of asthma in which the usual remedies failed to give relief.

Dr. John H. Evans, Buffalo, in the New York State Journal of Medicine reports his experience with 100 per cent. oxygen in 800 cases where the patients were unable to get enough oxygen into their blood. The conditions included pneumonia, pulmonary emboli (plugs of mucous, pus, or other material obstructing the small bronchial or air tubes), asthma pus pockets in the lungs, heart failure and other conditions where lack of oxygen was causing serious complications. Dr. Evans found many cases where even as high as 70 per cent oxygen failed to purify the blood and it was only when the 100 per cent was used that satisfactory results were obtained.

When we remember that the amount of oxygen in the air we breathe is only about 20 percent we can realize how desperate is the need for oxygen at critical times.

The 100 percent oxygen not only rids the blood of its deadly poison —carbon dioxide—and makes the patient more comfortable, but lowers the temperature and the pulse rate, and slows down the rate of breathing.

Dr. Evans advises the early use of 100 per cent oxygen in pneumonia instead of waiting until the signs of lack of oxygen appear. The oxygen quiets the cough and after the mucous already formed is removed it often does not return.

It will be interesting for physicians to learn about the use of 100 percent oxygen continuously for as long as weeks at a time. In fact, in some severe cases two oxygen tanks were used so that treatment was not interrupted.

A resident of Arlington, Va., has invented an electrically operated blower to be mounted at one end of a kitchen sink to dry dishes as rapidly as they are washed.

Hitler's Raids Not Terrifying

(By An English Girl)

Somewhere in England. — (By Mail)—2 a. m. Is it — ? Yes, it is. The 35th warning in four weeks. We leap out of bed, put on our shoes, coats and civilian tin hats, snatch up our gas-masks and run. We have not far to go, for we have been sleeping downstairs since the aerial blitzkrieg began. Under our coats we are fully dressed. We have almost forgotten the meaning of the word pyjamas . . .

As we rush out of the back door we collide with the cat, who, though indifferent to gunfire, is always terror-stricken at the wail of the siren and bolts indoors despite our efforts to train her to sleep in the shelter. One of our friends, by the way, has a prophetic cat which marches sedately into the dugout five minutes before each warning and emerges five minutes before the all-clear. There is no time to struggle with the cat, so we leave her to crawl under the bed in the dining-room, and scuttle down the garden path.

Overhead the sky is ablaze with searchlights, crossing and re-crossing. A low, ominous drone, broken by heavy throbs, signifies the close presence of Hitler's ambassador. The Birtish engine growls like an amiable teddy-bear, on a high note; the German throbs an octave lower like a drowsy wasp. Footsteps are hurrying down the side path. Our neighbours, complete with hand luggage, lest they emerge to find themselves homeless, are arriving to share our shelter. Lit by the searchlights, it rears up behind a maze of sandbags, banked with rockery stones and crowned with cabbages and marigolds. descend first into the bowels of the earth and light the night light. The others follow, the last carefully pulling the black-out curtain into position and shutting the half-door.

We prepare to settle down for the rest of the night. I remove my tin hat, wrap my legs in an eiderdown, and begin to knit another square for our Red Cross blanket. The little boy from next door is laid flat on the cushioned bench, but refuses to go to sleep. Every one else talks in a decidedly anti-Hitler strain. The low throb echoes around the sky. There is no gunfire, for the Hun is doing no harm at the moment, whereas, if he were shot down over this dense town with his load of bombs, there would be a mighty and unnecessary explosion. Bombers are not fired at when directly above a town, unless they begin to attack it.

"You wait," mutters our neighbour, "we'll hear the Spitfires after him in a minute."

Sure enough, the healthy, high-pitched roar of a Spitfire streaks across the sky, and the sinister throb hastily becomes fainter and fainter. No bombs are dropped. The battle will not begin until the town is at a safe distance.

So far we have had only ten bombs on our town, though it offers several large and choice objectives. Those ten bombs fell a month ago, all in one street. Three houses and a garage were wrecked and every window for several hundred yards was blown out. There were only one or two casualties, all to people who were out on duty, and no one was killed. On the day after our own taste of bombing the affected road resembled a carnival procession. The whole town was concentrated in a hundred yards or so. The windowless shop on the corner did a roaring trade in iced drinks. No one was dismayed. It occurred to us all that this was a mere speck in the ocean when one considered the size of the town, and, anyway, if ten bombs—all of which were high-explosive—failed to kill any one, it would take more than 200,000 bombs to annihilate the local population.

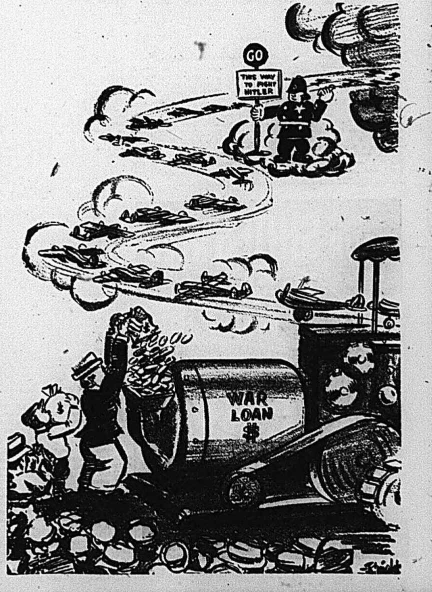
To return to our shelter, where by now we had spent an hour. Silence. We were all half asleep, even the excited little boy. Presently we heard the Spitfire returning alone. We began to collect our paraphernalia. Sure enough, in five minutes the all clear shrieked out from a dozen sirens. We burst into the open air with a mighty cheer. For a quarter of an hour the whole road was alive. Neighbours shrieked excitedly over the fences, doors banged. We could now reasonably expect four hours' uninterrupted sleep. The next day we heard we had bagged another German near our own district.

England is a much happier country now than during the years of armed peace. Even all this talk of a blitzkrieg does not dismay the man in the street. After all, there would be an aerial blitzkrieg every night if the R. A. F. were not ready to meet the hundreds of planes that swarm as regularly as clockwork over the Channel. We are no longer insular in character, but very sociable, for the war has provided us with a conventional topic much more promising than the weather. The English have never been more hospitable. Think of the thousands of families who have taken in evacuees or soldiers. When a few hundred French soldiers arrived here from Dunkirk they had only to walk down the street and they were besieged with sweets and cigarettes. Every larder in the district was stripped for them. Thousands upon thousands of billets and baths were offered. Free cafes were set up in every other front garden. Neighbours ran in and out of each other's houses borrowing extra crockery for their French guests, and offering to wash up or lend extra provisions. The war has done that much for us.—Hamilton Spectator.

SHELTER WRECKED BUT ALL SAFE

This Anderson "back yard" shelter was completely wrecked by a Nazi bomb which dropped alongside. The three children who occupied it miraculously escaped injury. The men examining the ruins are A.R.P. officers. German planes are dropping bombs at random in the London area in effort to terrorize the population.

War Loan Dollars Pursue Hitler



GO
THIS WAY TO FIGHT HITLER
WAR LOAN $

2,000,000 MEN WAIT FOR HITLER TO START INVASION

Intelligence Officers Confirm Churchill's Warning That Attempted Invasion Considered

EXPECTED IN WEEK

Observers Are of the Opinion Britain Strong Enough to Throw Off Any Attacking Force

By DREW MIDDLETON

(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 13 (AP)—An army of 2,000,000 last night rimmed Britain's mist-shrouded coastline and hundreds of airfields or likely landing spots in expectation of an imminent Nazi invasion attempt.

Intelligence officers of all three services confirmed Prime Minister Churchill's warning yesterday that a German attempt is considered a possibility perhaps in a week's time, and that Nazi power barges and other ships are concentrated from Norway to Southern France along the Continental Coast opposite Britain.

Four of five neutral military observers here also believe Germany will make the long-awaited drive within 10 days.

All five, however, think Britain is strong enough to throw off any attacking force.

Their predictions were based on the Royal Air Force's constant superiority in the air over British soil, the Navy's almost untouched resources of men and guns, and on the army.

"When the invasion comes some Germans will get through," one neutral declared. "Just as some bombers get through. The Navy and Royal Air Force never said they wouldn't. But there won't be many and I believe the army equal to the task of throwing them into the sea."

Attack Landing Forces

He said the army would attack German landing forces while the Navy and R. A. F. working in close co-ordination would cut the forces off from communications with their continental bases.

The army's defence against any invasion is based on two principles—primary attacks which seek to hold the invader on beaches or ports, and a secondary attack of greater strength delivered by armored contingents and columns of mobile infantry.

Coastal defences include many grim appliances which have been constructed in great secrecy in the last three months. With these the army hopes to slow the German advance enough so that orders to "shoot them in their boats" can be carried out.

The most impressive single defence factor is the vast amount of fire power concentrated on every potential landing place.

Each day one or two beaches, especially on the west coast, become impossible to use for landing because of the increasing fury of Atlantic rollers smashing the banks.

Other beaches—where the tides described by informed naval circles as "good but not as good as a week ago for troop landings"—have been so obstructed and wired that it apparently would take at least a two-hour preliminary bombardment from the air or sea before troop-laden barges could approach them and British defence fire.

A sled for school children has been invented in Russia that is mounted on three skate blades and driven by a motor and air propeller in the rear.

A device to enable glider pilots to detect thermal air currents, upon which soaring depends, has been invented by a University of Maryland student.

The Quality Tea
"SALADA"
TEA

MEMBERS MUTUAL LIFE CENTURY CLUB

S. R. BURROWS, C.L.U. P. C. McGUIRE, C.L.U.

The Head Office of The Mutual Life of Canada at Waterloo, Ontario, has announced that S. R. Burrows, C.L.U., manager of the Belleville Agency, and P. C. McGuire, C.L.U., Agency Supervisor, have both qualified for membership in the Company's Century Club. This club is composed of leading representatives of the Company throughout the Dominion.

• HOUSES •

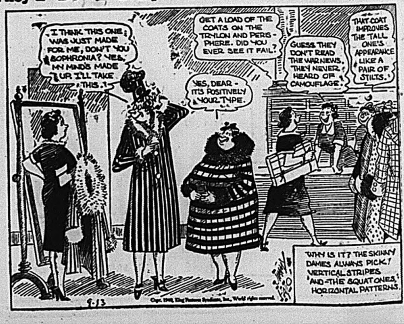
Though you live in a house
By the side of the road,
Or a house on the top of a hill,
Or a house in the vale,
Or a house in the town,
Or a house anywhere at all, still
A house is a house
Anywhere it may be,
So give it attention and care,
Have it painted and see
Just how proud you will be
And the longer you'll find it is there.

MARTIN-SENOUR

282 Front St. Phone 166
W. J. (Bill) DOUGHERTY Mgr.

Youthful love and romance are excitingly dramatized by William Holden and Martha Scott the co-stars of "Our Town," Thornton Wilder's delightful comedy romance, now at the Belle.

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo



I THINK THIS ONE WAS JUST MADE FOR ME, DON'T YOU SOPHRONIA? YES, MY MIND'S MADE UP. I'LL TAKE THIS.
YES, DEAR - IT'S POSITIVELY YOUR TYPE.
GET A LOAD OF THE COATS ON THE TRYLON AND PERISPHERE. DID YOU EVER SEE IT FAIL?
GUESS THEY DON'T READ THE WAR NEWS. THEY NEVER HEARD OF CAMOUFLAGE.
THAT COAT IMPROVES THE TALL ONE'S APPEARANCE LIKE A PAIR OF STILTS.
WHY IS IT? THE SKINNY DAMES ALWAYS PICK VERTICAL STRIPES AND THE SQUAT ONES, HORIZONTAL PATTERNS.
9-13
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

First Canadian Corps of Two Divisions Formed 25 Years Ago

On Anniversary Canadians Are Again Ready With Two Divisions to Fight Same Enemy

A MOBILE FORCE

By FRANK FLAHERTY

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP)—A quarter of a century ago a Canadian Corps of two divisions was formed in France to fight an enemy bent on world conquest. This anniversary, a memorable one in Canadian history because of the performances of the Canadian Corps in the First Great War finds Canadian troops again confronting the same enemy bent on the same liberty-destroying mission.

Things are different in this war in many respects. In the last war the 1st Canadian Division was a battle-hardened organization of trench-fighters when the 2nd Division joined it to form a Canadian Corps.

Today the 1st Canadian Division of the Second Great War is in battle position but has suffered few battle casualties. And the men making up the division, while ready for trench or any other kind of warfare, are specially trained for mobile warfare.

Second Ready to Join

In the battle of Britain their job will be to rush to points where enemy troops may land and strike hard and deadly blows. The 2nd Division, also in Great Britain will shortly join the first in an all-Canadian Corps, the organization for which is already functioning under the command of Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton with another Empire Division forming the second half with the 1st Division.

When the Canadian Corps came into being Sept. 13, 1915, with the arrival of the 2nd Division in France, the 1st Division had been through a lot of fighting. Many Canadians had become casualties, particularly in the 2nd Battle of Ypres of April, 1915, in which the Canadians first distinguished themselves.

The first Corps Commander was Lt.-Gen. E. A. H. Alderson, a British officer who took charge of the First Canadian Contingent on its arrival in England in the Fall of 1914 and later led the 1st Division to France. Later the Corps which grew to four divisions was commanded by Gen. Sir Julian Byng, later Lord Byng who became Governor-General of Canada after the war. In the last years of the war a Canadian officer, Sir Arthur Currie commanded the Corps.

Grew to Three Divisions

The Corps grew to three divisions early in 1916 and in June of that year distinguished itself in heavy fighting at St. Eloi, Sanctuary Wood and Hooge. In August the 4th Division joined the Corps and in September the Corps fought in the great battle of the Somme which continued for nearly three months.

April 9, 1917, is an anniversary which will be remembered as long as deeds of arms are recorded in Canadian history. Then the Corps captured Vimy Ridge, long considered by the enemy as an impregnable position. The operation planned for the Canadians was carried through without a hitch and earned for the Canadians a reputation as a hard-hitting offensive force.

Later that year the Canadians captured Hill 70 with heavy losses and fought at Passchendaele in the long bloody engagement in the mud. The start of the great allied offensive late in 1918 found the Canadians in the centre of the British front at the Battle of Amiens in August. An advance of 14,000 yards, the biggest penetration for a single day recorded during the war, was made by the Corps.

Continuously Engaged

From then until the Armistice the Corps was almost continuously engaged as the allied armies pushed the Germans back out of France and Belgium until under the weight of devastating blows, German resistance collapsed. In September the Canadians played a big part in the Battle of Arras and in breaking the Queant-Drocourt Line, a part of the Hindenburg defence system, and captured Cambrai. In October the advance continued and on the morning of Nov. 11, the end of the war, the Canadians marched into the Belgian city of Mons, famous for the retreat of the British army at the start of the war.

In nearly four years of fighting the Canadian forces operating on the Western Front captured 5,000 prisoners, 850 artillery guns and 4,200 machine guns. They re-occupied 130 towns and villages and liberated 310,000 French and Belgian civilians from German rule.

Collegiate News

On September third the sight of our former school pals was very welcome to our eyes, but a most comforting sight was seeing several students from our Mother Country, in our midst, safe and welcome to continue their education in Canada.

May we take this opportunity of publicly welcoming our fellow students from across the sea? Although in person we are strangers, in our hearts we are in accord with them in this fight and sacrifice for justice.

—R.M.

Along with our regular curriculum this year we are planning considerable war work. Perhaps the girls have more to do of this since there is such a scarcity of escorts.

Our teachers are also very interested in this war work, some of them even to the extent of continuing classes far into the luncheon hour.

—R.M.

Form Committee in Each Ward

The forming of a War Savings Stamp Committee in each form, consisting of a chairman, secretary, treasurer, and advisory committee, gave the school opening added significance and importance this year. A large supply of stamps, and booklets to contain them, are at hand in the school office, and a goodly number of them have already been disposed of by members of the various classes. This is one phase of war work we all can lend our time and money to, and the citizens of Belleville are urged to do their bit. A generous response from the student body, their parents and friends will ensure the success of this work. Mr. MacLaurin and the members of the staff are wholeheartedly behind the campaign, and with their co-operation and that of the general public we expect to be able to contribute $20,000 to the war coffers of Canada, by the end of the school term. War Savings Stamps are the soundest insurance in the country today! Buy and show your faith in your country and its cause!

—L.B.

Library Club

On Friday last, the Library Club proved itself the first club organized this year by holding a wiener roast at Rossmore. All the members of the club were present, and the daring risked pneumonia in the icy grasp of the Bay of Quinte, although we noticed that their appetites were not affected.

After an all-sufficient meal, the members gathered around and, from their midst, elected Joan Watson as secretary for the year.

The party broke up early, with every member regretting Miss Bunting's absence for three months starting Friday.

The club already has a program for the coming year mapped out and will continue to mend books and have a weekly theatre display. There are a great many new books in the Library as well as the old stand-bys, all of which are well worth reading. New readers will be welcomed.

—M.C.

The United States imported 15,854,552 pounds of raw silk in the first six months of this year, compared with 21,864,867 pounds in the first half of last year.

Nicaragua expects to have a cotton crop this year about one third larger than last year's crop of 1,246,232 kilograms, virtually all of which was exported.

Letters From the Troops

No. B75791 D. Graham,
A. Co'y., Toronto Scottish,
c/o Can. Base P.O.
Ottawa, Canada,
Tuesday, Aug. 20, 1940.

Dear Moms,—

Well, here I am on guard duty at an Anti-aircraft post, hoping to get sight of a Fritzie airplane, so I'll be able to use this machine-gun here in front of me. We have Nazi planes over here bombing around us nearly every day lately, and it almost isn't safe to venture out without a steel helmet.

I received three letters today from Mrs. Cole and Jean and Joan Britton, the first I've received here in England, except for the one from you that I had forwarded to me from Camp Valcartier, the first week I was here in England. Cameron and I were together almost always, but now I have moved away with my Regiment again and so I am now again separated from him. I don't know where he is but I'll soon find out.

Mother Cole, said you had a letter from a lady who had seen me on the way to Halifax before we left Canada.

Say, you might send your son a box of goodies occasionally, for instance, chocolate bars, candy, cakes, some canned Canadian Beans, bully beef, canned spaghetti, and etc., if you don't mind.

My leave comes soon and I'll write you from "Scotland". I've met a swell Scottie lassie over here, and she was "just dying to meet a Canadian", as she put it.

Tell Elwyn I'll send him some stamps as soon as I get a chance to buy them.

How does Dad take it about me being over here in England?

We are camped out under trees with camouflaged tents on some farm out in the sticks.

Give Darrell and Elwyn my love and have them drop me a line when you write. I'll close now, still your loving soldier son. Loads of love. Write soon, Doug.

Another evidence of the friendliness and hospitality of the English people to the Canadian troops now in England was seen here yesterday in the form of a letter received by Mrs. Arthur Greenwood of this city. The letter which follows, speaks for itself:—

The Cottage Farnham Castle,
Surrey.

Dear Mrs. Greenwood,—

No doubt you are wondering who this letter is from but I will explain.

Yesterday we had two Canadians call inquiring about Frank Laurence, who used to live here, so I asked them in and gave them all particulars, invited them to stay and have tea with us, and that is how I came to write to you.

Your husband looks and is very well. He landed in England Friday, Aug. 2nd. He told us all about you and his little girl. I know he is very homesick and he is always thinking of you and I am sure he was very pleased to have someone to tell all about you.

The weather here is perfect and the country is at it's best. I have told your husband and Mr. Townsend to call here whenever they like, as my husband and I will do all we can for them. We live in a most beautiful spot and they are both coming to see the Castle which is very old and lovely.

I am also writing Mrs. Townsend but I felt it would comfort you to know your husband is well and always thinking of the two he has left behind, so now I will stop.

Hoping you and the little girl are well and may God reunite you all again very soon.

From yours sincerely,
Mrs. N. Pout.

A room ventilator that forces the air through an outside wall has been invented that uses less electric current for its motor than is consumed by a 25-watt lamp.

Old Kentucky
CIGARETTES

Everybody's Talking about the NEW CONGOLEUM Patterns!

Kalistan—No. 543
Shelton—No. 496
Orient—No. 548

And here's what they are saying:

"... the loveliest designs you ever saw!... colours are simply exquisite!... get so much for so little!... of course for every room in the house!... gives you hours of extra leisure!... can be washed and waxed too! lies flat without cementing or tacking!"

Why don't you drop around to your housefurnishings dealer and see why everyone's so enthusiastic about the smart new Congoleum line? In small and large rugs or by-the-yard, you'll find the new patterns irresistible!

● The Gold Seal on all Congoleum is your guarantee of satisfaction and long wear. Ask your dealer for the new Congoleum pattern book or write to:

CONGOLEUM CANADA LIMITED
3700 St. Patrick Street - Montreal

CONGOLEUM Gold Seal RUGS

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED
264 FRONT STREET PHONE 2000

LIPSON'S FURNITURE HOUSE
249 FRONT STREET PHONE 1672

THOMPSON'S—Bedding-Housefurnishings-Wallpaper
296 FRONT STREET TELEPHONE 295

JOHN W. COOK — Draperies
210 FRONT STREET PHONE 123

MODEL HOME FURNITURE CO.
312 FRONT STREET PHONE 526

PERCIVAL FURNITURE CO.
302 FRONT STREET PHONE 2265

PERSONALS

Mr. William Lockyer, 223 Bleecker Ave., of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., left this morning to spend several weeks at Saratoga Springs, U.S.A.

Major L. W. Boulter of Vancouver, B.C., who was en route from Ottawa, was yesterday in town the guest of his sister, Mrs. William Rankin, Charles Street.

Mrs. George McCaw, 27 Wallbridge Street, celebrated her 45th birthday, Sept. 11th., and had a few friends in for a social evening. She received some lovely presents and flowers and messages of congratulation. Pte. G. McCaw of Fort Henry, Kingston, Ont., was among those present.

Flight-Lieutenant the Rev. W. J. Province, Station chaplain of the R.C.A.F., at Trenton, and Mrs. Province, have been the guests this week of Rev. and Mrs. T. H. Floyd at Peterborough.

Tea hostesses at the Ladies' Lawn Bowling Club yesterday afternoon, were Mrs. E. J. Neate and Mrs. A. Wesley. The winning rink included Mrs. Stan Kerr, Mrs. F. Correll, Mrs. A. Wonnacott, and Mrs. C. Hyde (skip).

Miss Berniece Saunders left today for Montreal, where she will be soloist at the marriage of her cousin, Mr. William Bell, and Miss Ella Tyler, which takes place in St. Aloysius Church tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Robert Chesher, corner of Dufferin Avenue and Pine Street, entertained the choir of Holloway Street United Church last evening. Following choir practice an enjoyable time was spent in games and contests. An interesting feature of the evening was the presentation made by Mr. J. Cordes, on behalf of the choir, of a purse of money to Mr. Harry Atkinson, a popular colleague who is leaving to attend Queen's University. The good wishes of the choir were conveyed in a brief address by Mr. S. M. Anglin. Dainty refreshments brought the evening to a close.

The women residents at the Hastings County Home were entertained at a picnic held yesterday at the summer cottage of the Superintendent, Mr. E. Sandercock, Trent River. Mr. Wilfred Clare very kindly donated his truck, taking the picnickers there and back. An interesting series of games was enjoyed after which an appetizing luncheon was served by the Matron, Mrs. Sandercock.

The Junior Woman's Auxiliary of the Church of England, of Christ Church, an active group of thirty members held a most successful afternoon tea yesterday at the home of their leader, Mrs. Billy Hughes, Moira Street East. The Youthful Workers had arranged a very enjoyable afternoon for their guests, the most original feature of which was the "Gallery of Fine Arts". The catalogued title of these works of art was originally interpreted. Thus the item "Off the Cliffs of Dover" proved to be a piece of chalk; "Sweet Sixteen" was a group of sixteen cubes of sugar. Each item in the catalogue was equally amusing. The home cooking table was splendidly patronized. A Raggedy Andy, a Touch and Take table and sale of work added to the funds which will be devoted to the Mission work of the Juniors. A quilt made entirely by the members, was on display and was greatly admired. The tea table was very attractive with its dainty arrangements of cosmos and petunias. Mrs. A. Coulter and Mrs. B. J. Theobald poured tea and Mrs. Hughes was assisted at the tea table by Mrs. A. S. Heffer, Mrs. E. A. Smith and Mrs. C. D. Fuzzen. During the evening the girls roasted wieners at the river bank, a most enjoyable part of the entertainment.

Lew Ayres has a new partner in adventure and laughs in the person of Rita Johnson, the two being teamed in "The Golden Fleecing," now at the Belle.

FEET ACHE?

● Don't suffer from tired, aching feet. Start this treatment now. Bathe your feet in hot water. Dry carefully. Then massage Zam-Buk into the ankles, insteps, soles and between the toes. You will be amazed by the instant relief. Do away with foot torture. Get a tin of Zam-Buk today and know the joy of perfect foot comfort.

Excellent for athlete's foot

THE GREAT BRITISH REMEDY

Use ZAM-BUK Nightly

WEDDINGS

AHERN—HOPKINS

The marriage was solemnized last evening in Orangeville, Ont., of Miss Ruth Endacott Hopkins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curson Hopkins, Orangeville, to John Lawson Ahern, Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O'C. Ahern. Cannon H. A. West, of McMaster, officiated. White gladioli in pastel shades, deepening to fuchsia were used with palms as a background for the ceremony. Miss Ethel Allen played the wedding music and Miss Helen Smith sang.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white faille taffeta with bouffant skirt and train, and fitted jacket. She wore her mother's finger-tip veil of tulle arranged with a halo of tulle caught with orange blossoms. She carried a cascade of white gladioli and bouvardia. Miss Mary Florence Hopkins attended her sister wearing white net with lover's knots in cerise velvet on the skirt. She wore a large off-the-face hat of white net, and carried a colonial bouquet of cerise gladioli. Bill Ahern was best man, and the ushers were Jack Hopkins, George Ahern and George Huston. A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the bride's mother wearing fuchsia crepe with front panel in velvet, velvet turban and corsage of white roses. The groom's mother wore Queen's blue sheer with wine felt hat and accessories, corsage of roses.

The couple left for eastern Canada, the bride travelling in an imported English wool ensemble in brown and beige. They will reside in Trenton.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION

The Ladies of the Guild met at the Mission Hall for an all day quilting, with a pot luck dinner on Tuesday. The business meeting opened with singing the hymn "Breathe on me Breath of God" followed by prayer for the forces of the King. During the afternoon the winning ticket on a comforter was drawn No. 26. It was held by Mrs. Price. Tea was served and the meeting closed with singing "Abide with me" and the Blessing said by Mrs. Heaven. There was a large attendance and several visitors.

If Temper Wields the Birch Rod

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Whereas a great many children are allowed to do as they please and are not punished when they ought to be, some other children are treated brutally. Some parents are unreasonable in their demands on their children and barbaric at punishing them. It is surprising how many parents one hears about who strike their children about the face or head or anywhere else or who whip their children of 6 or 16 as if they were ill-treated brutes.

When they punish the child it is not according to a plan the father and mother had carefully thought through together. It is merely a matter of violence against the child as part of an unhampered emotional outburst.

Sensible Punishment

What amazes me is the number of cases I hear about in which boys or girls from twelve to sixteen or older are whipped by their parents. Being a parent myself, I can't imagine myself having laid my hand on any one of our children, the youngest now eighteen, during these later years of theirs, nor the relationship which inevitably would have grown out of such punishment of them. The two boys received their last corporal punishment when they were nearly five and I think this was a little late. But my wife and I did deliberately spank them with the bare flat hand while they were toddlers according to a definite plan we had agreed upon. Nevertheless, they got very little physical punishment for, sitting in the chair doing nothing for exactly 20 or 30 minutes, easily supplanted physical punishment of them; and this mode of punishment was very effective.

Often I have deplored the fact that so many parents have been led by pseudo-psychologists never to spank the child and I have urged parents to begin as soon as the child can toddle to educate him in the unambiguous meaning of no, using the bare, flat hand on the child's bare fat thighs to this end; then as soon as he will stay where put to abandon spanking and substitute for it sitting in a chair doing nothing for a definite number of minutes (say 20).

But I sometimes fear that an occasional parent, not having read my column regularly over a long period of time, supposes I advise spanking and whipping at any age and without much limitation.

Striking in Anger

Of course, the practical question that comes up is this: Suppose I did not train my child to mind when he was little. Now that he is eight or ten and almost uncontrollable, what should I do? I have doubts of what the answer should be. The kind of parent who up to then had failed to cultivate control of the child will not often be highly enough self-controlled to make physical punishment of this [illegible] effectual. One thing is certain: the older the child beyond four or five the less effective and more hazardous physical punishment will be. If at so late an age it is to do any good at all, it will have to be administered by a parent who has acquired an extreme degree of self-control. Effective punishment of any sort, of the child at any age indeed, presupposes a vast deal of self-mastery in the parent.

Hurt That Child Will Remember

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Most of us can recall one or more experiences of childhood when we were accused, probably punished, for what we did not do. We can almost relive the agony we endured and the bitterness we felt over the injustice. Who of us parents has not made such an error? We might forgive ourselves for it but not if we didn't apologize to the child for our transgression against him.

Below I quote from a young woman lawyer (unmarried) who has adopted four children and who, from the objective evidence I have been able to gather, is proving to be a most successful "mother."

She tells of Millie at the age of ten. Because of a small misdemeanor at home, Millie had to remain at home while the "mother" and the other children went to see a motion picture.

Her Story was True

"When we got out of the show the rain was coming down in torrents. We dodged drops, ran through stores and took short cuts through alleys to the doctor's office, where I telephoned Millie to come to us for an appointment I had made with the doctor for her. She came, bringing with her, all unasked, an umbrella for each of us.

"Later we went to the drug store to have a prescription filled. While there Millie came up to me and said, 'I have lost a penny of my allowance and there is something here I would like to get, but I am a penny short of money enough to buy it.' I looked at her for a minute and gave her a penny . . .

"The following day, Sunday, Millie started out in the rain in the middle of the afternoon to feed the rabbits. She had not gone far when she returned to the house and came upstairs where I was, with a penny in her hand. She handed it to me saying, 'When I opened my umbrella this fell out. It is the one I lost yesterday.' Perhaps you can imagine how touched I was, not only to find out that her story of the lost penny was true, but that she was ready and wanted to return it to me when she found it, and also that I had not to her expressed doubt of her story. I had been rather discouraged over the episode, but that incident somehow gave me courage to carry on."

A Fine Family

When Mrs. Myers and I passed through the city where this fine synthetic family live we stopped to call on them. How fine and wonderful they were. The two girls are fourteen, the two boys nine. Though it was the first time we had met, we all had a lovely brief visit together. Mrs. Myers and I drove on saying to each other, "Aren't they a wonderful family?" We shall never forget this visit nor this unusual family. Over a period of years this young adoptive mother has been writing me of her problems and successes. More than ever now, I shall enjoy answering her and sharing a wee bit in the bringing up of these children. Mrs. Myers and I agreed that among other things the poise of this adoptive mother was a secret of her unusual success.

Solving Parent Problems

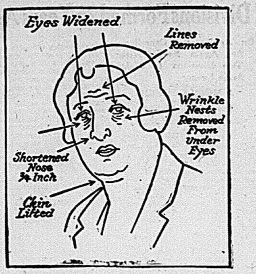
Q. It takes an hour or more every night to get my ten-year-old girl to bed and there's always an argument. Often she goes to bed crying and leaving me all wrought up.

A. Announce to her the exact time when she must be in bed with the light out. Let her know that for a minute late she will have to sit for a whole hour in a chair doing nothing—no funnies, books or radio. Then it will grow painful to stay up rather than painful to go to bed. This will work if you enforce the penalty rigidly and keep your lips sealed.

Ask for BEE HIVE

Patented
POURING SPOUT
ON EVERY TIN!
BEE HIVE
GOLDEN
CORN SYRUP

Ban the Worry Bugs



Yes, these operations are expensive. What price beauty?

It is not surprising that, when a woman finds that her face has taken on deep furrows, she flirts with the idea of getting a facelift. It is not such a crazy notion as it seems. Plastic surgery has become respectable.

Time was when specialists of uncertain reputation offered relief from beauty blemishes, took considerable cash away from trustful clients. The honorable medical profession considered that line of work beneath its dignity. "T'ain't not" so at the moment. Surgeons of good standing have turned their attention to such cases.

They have to be artists in a way, know how the patient will look after they have finished their work with scalpel and needle. Yes, my paper friend, these operations are expensive. What price beauty?

The best way to avoid wrinkles is to take out an insurance against the havoc of birthdays by building up vitality. One should avoid excessive fatigue, do not overwork, make a strong effort to have nothing whatever to do with worry bugs. Worry interferes with nutrition, has a depressing effect upon the heart, makes the nervous system stand up on its hind legs and yowl.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Taking First Steps as a New Club Member on Right Foot

These are the days when clubs are planning their work and activities for the coming season, and when new members are looking forward to their sharing of these activities.

When we go from our homes to attend a meeting of club, our manners, good or not-so-good, go with us and we reveal ourselves as women who are courteous always or as quite often happens, women who are thoughtlessly discourteous "at times".

Let's consider some of these special "times".

If for example, you are a new member, attending your first meeting, bear in mind the value of the "first impression". Be well-groomed and dress appropriately, according to the nature of the club and the time of the meting, Don't overdress.

Respond to all introductions simply and graciously. But remember that you are the one being received, and so do not be too informal in what you say or do.

Step lightly and slowly as you are making your club contacts. Begin by learning the customs and traditions and aims of the club. These are what give the personality to the club, and you should regard and respect that personality as you regard and respect the personality of a person. You may be an "original" person, full of ideas, but you should guard against the temptation to see them forth at the first meeting. Wait until you see and understand what's what and why. An opportunity will doubtless come when your ideas will be very valuable perhaps when you have been made a member of a committee. The women of taste and discretion waits for this opportunity to play a more active role than is appropriate at the first meeting, or one of the first meetings.

It is the aim of the reception committee to make you feel that you are now "in the club family". Your winning manner will indicate your appreciation of the courtesies they are extending to you.

When, too, you are appointed to serve on a committee or are asked to take part in any other duty or club activity, you accept graciously and willingly, and in your co-operation and active participation show your well-directed sense of responsibility of a trust.

Be punctual at meetings. Stop talking when the gavel sounds, no matter how important or engaging is the conversation you are having. This does not mean merely lowering your voice, or changing to a whisper. It means giving instant and courteous attention to whoever is presiding. Give your unshared attention to the reading of all reports (no matter how statistical!), and carefully follow all discussions. Show the chairman or speaker, by the enthusiastic expression on your face, that you are giving her your alert and thoughtful attention. If you have ever been a speaker at a club or anywhere else, or if you have even the slightest realization of the difficulties of being a speaker, you will know the joy and fortification of a mannerly, intelligent listener!

Courtesy Tip

No hostess likes to have her food refused. So when food is offered to us by the hostess or passed by the waitress in a home, we should take some, even though we eat but a bite or two.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Dislikes Parties

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm soon to be married to a young man I've been going with for almost a year. But here's one fault I have to find with him. He never wants to go to parties. We've had several invitations, but he always gets out of them in some way. Now we're asked to a very "swank" dinner party, and his reason for declining is that he has to work at the office.

He is a business man, but I am sure if he really wanted to go he could find time to enjoy pleasures of this sort, and it's impossible for me to go alone. How can I persuade him to go out and be sociable?

Girl Friend

A business man should make social contacts if he wants to be really successful. Why not bring out this point when you talk to your fiance? Probably he's a bit shy, as so many engaged men are at first. I believe you can talk it over and persuade him to go out with you.

Places Children Before Her Own Safety

Dear Miss Fairfax:

At 30 years of age I've been married thirteen years, and have three lovely children, 9, 7 and 2. But I'm terribly unhappy because of a difficult husband. He doesn't want me to go anywhere, not even to visit my own sister and brothers. His own family are on my side, and urge me to get a divorce. They have seen him slap me for no reason at all except his evil temper, and they know I've never done anything wrong.

I don't like to sue for divorce, because, after all, I love him and want to make a home for my children.

Rose

If you still love a man who beats you, and whose own family urge you to leave him, I'm afraid very little can be done about his bad treatment of you. I suggest you go to the Domestic Relations Court in your city and have him bound over to keep the peace.

It really has a very bad effect on young children, to grow up in a household where the father beats his wife. However, if you don't mind the beating on your own account, I hope you will take steps to put a stop to it for the sake of your children.

Answer to J.R.K.

Please let me thank J.R.K., for replying to a "piece" in this column concerning strabismus, or crossed eyes. Newspaper dispatches state that Betty Ruth Eckstrom, five-year old daughter of the former Metropolitan star, Marian Talley, has been operated on successfully for straightening a case of crossed eyes. Where cases of strabismus are slight, exercises are beneficial. Operation or cutting is necessary only in very severe cases.

Nervous Restless Girls! Cranky? Restless? Can't sleep? Tire easily? Because of female functional "disorders" causing monthly distress? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Pinkham's Compound is well known for helping such weak, rundown, nervous conditions. Made in Canada. WORTH TRYING! Any drugstore.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, September 14

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

THE PLANETARY conditions ruling this day are rather conflicting. It is likely that the house may come tumbling about the ears, or other situation of a devastating or calamatous nature. It might be well to adhere to routine, as it may be difficult to put over any ambitious plans. There is a sign of delays and obstruction, with the mentality disposed to be depressed and frustrated. Tendencies to overdo should be curbed. Postpone where feasible.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a rather slow state of affairs, with matters delayed, or obstructed. Postpone where possible. Also there may be a devastating or disintegrating force in operation. The mind may fluctuate between depression and elation or generous or expansive impulses.

A child born on this day may have a generous and expansive mentality. It may have some eccentricities, although being creative in out of the ordinary run.

FOXBORO W. M. S.

A joint meeting of Foxboro W. M. S. and Guild were held at the home of Mrs. S. Townsend on Wednesday with fifteen members and visitors present. Meeting opened with hymn 376 and the daily prayer in unison. Mrs. Jas. McMullen read the 91st Psalm, prayer by Mrs. R. Townsend. In the business period discussion on a speaker for next month's thank offering meeting took place. Roll call was answered with Scripture verses containing the word "Truth". Hymn 552 was sung. Excuses for not being active in missions were given by each member and responded to by Mrs. MacDonald. Readings were given by Miss B. McMullen, Mrs. Mahon and Mrs. Lake on "September", "The boys of the C. A. S. F.", "England". Collection was taken. The National Anthem was sung and Mr. MacDonald closed the meeting with prayer. Mrs. S. Townsend, Mrs. Roy Blakely and Miss B. Spencer served refreshments.

THE WESTERN TOUCH comes out in a gilt necklace and bracelet from which dangle charms of miniature wagon wheels, lariats, cowboy boots and ten gallon hats.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Taller Children

All my life I have had to submit to kidding about my height, for admittedly I am on the short side. Years ago, I learned to let the good humored jibes of others roll off my back, and likewise years ago I ceased to fret because I'm below the average in height.

However, a great many persons do stew and worry because they're called "Shorty", "Runt", "Sawed-off". There are girls who feel self-conscious about going out with men shorter than themselves, and there are men who employ built-up shoes and other devices to make themselves appear taller. The average height for American men today is five feet, seven and a half inches, which makes them a rather formidable race in comparison with most of the others. But I suspect that practically every man under six feet harbors a secret yen to be a six-footer. I know from experience that parents are usually anxious to have their children, particularly their sons, tall. I get many letters from fathers and mothers asking what they can do to insure this.

I don't see any particular advantage in tallness, but I can understand why many consider it desirable. Through the ages tallness has come to be associated with great strength and physical prowess. A tall person is more noticeable in a crowd. He must be looked up to, literally speaking, by most persons, and he attracts a certain amount of psychological respect because of this.

There is a popular belief that height is dependent entirely upon heredity. So many persons have an idea that if you come of a family that is on the short side, there isn't anything you can do about it except resign yourself to being short. Well, that isn't entirely the case, as they could see if they looked around a bit. Of course, heredity does play quite a part in determining height, but it is far, from being the only element.

Environment plays a part, so does diet, exercise, climate illness, rest habits—during the growth period of the life of the individual all these are factors in speeding up or retarding growth. They also determine how long growth will continue. As this suggests, parents can make their children taller.

I have noticed that the children of European immigrants to this country are nearly always taller than their parents. This is because in North America there is more space, more chance to get out into the sunshine, less pressure, better food and living conditions than abroad.

It has been shown that even the racially short-statured Japanese and Chinese, living under improved nutritive conditions in Hawaii and California, are taller and heavier than their immigrant parents.

A COLLEGE EDUCATION is the sure destiny of a grand little daytime frock in sheer gray woolen. Shirtwaist top has collar, revers and cuffs edged with bright red ricrac braid. Hem of nearly circular skirt is also braid-edged, as are the slit pockets at the hips.

ONE SHOP has worked out a pretty good idea. It is a two-piece costume, a slim, pleated-skirt frock of fine crepe for daytime or general wear. With it comes a tunic jumper embroidered with jet or sequins or gilt thread to be donned after dark.

We invite you to test the

DUO-THERM OIL HEATER

in your own home on

30 DAYS FREE TRIAL

(Offer available to any responsible citizen)

NO OBLIGATION TO BUY

A splendid opportunity for you to judge for yourself . . . at your leisure . . . the great comfort and convenience of this excellent oil heater. If, at the end of 30 days—you do not wish to keep it, we shall take it back cheerfully as there is no obligation to buy. However—after a trial—we believe that the convenience and merit of the Duo-Therm will solve your heating problem and you will therefore be quite interested in buying.

THIS OIL HEATER IS WONDERFUL—BUT, FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF.

A model for every size of home, apartment, office or store.

Prices Range From

59.50 up

A Duo-Therm will give you all the heat you want—as easy to regulate as turning a light switch.

You will be rid of the trouble of bringing in fuel—you will be free from the nuisance of carrying out ashes.

There is no dirt—no dust—no soot—no smell—no sound—no trouble.

The Duo-Therm burns economically the cheap furnace fuel oil and produces a clean fire at every flame-setting.

Whether the weather is mild or the mercury dives below zero, the Duo-Therm can be easily set to give you just the amount of heat you want.

Take advantage of this Trial Offer, and, if you wish to buy, just pay 10% down and the balance will be spread over 10 months, plus a small service charge.

Simpson's

23 BRIDGE STREET
BELLEVILLE

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

Marmora and District

Marmora — Miss Yvonne Rumpveldt of Kingston is visiting Miss Grace Hemphill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dalton and two sons spent holidays in Ottawa last week.

Miss Mary Elliott left on Tuesday to take a course in Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Buskard and daughter Lois were in Toronto for a few days last week.

Miss Rose O'Rielly of Wolfe Island spent the week end with Miss Ann Paquet.

Mr. C. Scott of Toronto is visiting Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pritchard.

Mrs. J. A. Paquet is spending a few days with her father, Mr. D. Driscoll at Iroquois.

Miss Ann Paquet left on Wednesday for Montreal where she will take a business course.

Mr. J. A. Paquet and son Laurence are spending a few days in Montreal.

Constable J. Hatch of Belleville attended Marmora Fair and visited friends here on Wednesday.

Tweed and District

Tweed — Tweed Tennis Club defeated West Side of Belleville by default in their last scheduled meeting. Two events were played on the local courts by these two clubs some days ago, each winning one event. The remaining four events carded for Saturday, September 7th, were not played as West Side failed to fulfil the engagement.

Mrs. Harry Grier is visiting relatives in Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCallum and daughter of Kingston visited relatives in Tweed during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McMullan and Floyd of Ottawa spent the week end in Tweed. Mr. McMullan, a veteran of the Great War, is a member of the Home Guard in the Capital city.

A sale of household effects was held on Saturday at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hicks.

Mr. Herbert (Buck) Leal of McMasterville, Quebec, was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Leal during the week end.

Miss Elaine Beatty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beatty, left for Toronto on Wednesday. She will enter Shaw's Business College. Mrs. Beatty accompanied her to Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Moffat visited Miss Millicent Moffat in Hamilton this week.

Miss Violet Brown sustained two broken fingers of her left hand, one being fractured in two places, when they were caught in the cogs of the washing machine.

Miss Grace Moran, member of the Consolidated School Staff, returned to her duties on Monday. She suffered a fractured rib when she fell at her home some time ago.

Mr. Geo. VanDillen, brother-in-law of Mrs. Harry Myles, has donated a painting to Tweed Red Cross Society. The painting will be used by the Society to raise funds for the Red Cross.

Thomasburg

Thomasburg — Miss Verna Prindle spent Sunday at her home in Plainfield.

A number from here attended the anniversary services and fowl supper held at Moira United Church.

Mrs. Embury has returned home after spending a few days in Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McTaggart and baby, Donnie, took dinner Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Willard McTaggart.

Mr. Bruce Prindle has returned home from the Canadian National Exhibition after judging with Mr. Fair.

Miss Evelyn Bateman, who has spent this last week around Napanee returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bateman are visiting their son, Dr. Henry Bateman and Mrs. Bateman at Georgetown.

A number from here attended the anniversary services and supper held at Roslin on Sunday and Tuesday evenings at the Presbyterian Church.

Mrs. J. E. Brown took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Willard McTaggart on Saturday.

Mrs. Wm. Holbert and Miss Ana Morton spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Keruish of Kingston.

Relatives and friends were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Mr. George H. Carleton, who died at the home of his cousin, Mrs. Arthur Bates, Roslin, on Tuesday, September 10th.

Empire Day of Prayer was observed in all the churches throughout the community with large crowds in all the churches.

Mrs. W. H. Elliott spent a couple of days in Toronto this week.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary was held on Friday evening at the home of Miss Emma Porter with a good attendance. The president Miss Emma Porter presided. The meeting was opened with singing of hymn No. 291, followed by prayer by the president. An invitation was received from Bethel Women's Missionary Society to attend an open meeting on Wednesday evening. The invitation was accepted.

Mrs. W. Sherry and Mrs. A. C. Porter had charge of the program. Mrs. Harry Sherry gave a very interesting reading "Shut In But Not Shut Out". Miss Evelyn Reynolds and Miss Marjorie Huffman sang a duet accompanied by Miss Emma Porter at the piano, "In the Garden". Mrs. Albert Porter then gave a very appropriate piece on prayer. Miss E. Reynolds and Miss M. Huffman favored them with another duet "God Will Take Care of You".

The meeting closed with singing of hymn No. 333. The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. F. C. Beazer.

Rev. A. S. Doggett, Thomasburg, will preach Anniversary Services at Hart's United Church, Queensboro, Sunday, Sept. 15th, at 10.30.

Miss Kathleen Doggett returns to Kentucky as secretary for the Frontier Nursing Service next Monday.

6th Sidney

6th. Sidney — The members of the W. I. were entertained at the home of Mrs. H. Badgley on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rose and family spent Sunday in Wellington guests of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Conley.

Mr. and Mrs. Carman Frost and Lyra were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. Howard Dafoe, Marsh Hill.

Mr. D. W. Mains of Trenton, Miss Jennie Clements of Stirling and Mrs. Arthur of Toronto were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Badgley and Mr. and Mrs. Orloff Pearson and children spent Sunday on the 2nd of Sidney with Mrs. R. Acker and sons.

Miss Edna Lidster is a patient in the Belleville hospital with injuries received in an automobile accident.

Mrs. Wm. Moon enjoyed a motor trip through Prince Edward County on Wednesday last with her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dafoe of Madoc.

Mrs. Margaret Dodds of Belleville is a guest at the home of her son, Mr. Maxwell Dodds.

Mr. and Mrs. James Bushell and Gloria of Moira spent Sunday with friends here.

Cannifton

Cannifton — Young People's meeting opened up with a wiener roast on Friday evening last with about forty in attendance.

Miss Edith Prince of Barrie was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mathews.

A presentation of a lovely wrist watch and two boxes of cigarettes was made to Gunner Lorne Urch on Friday night last.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Stewart and Shirley have taken up residence on Earl Street, Belleville.

Women's Association met at the Church on Wednesday for a quilting.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Willis and Charles Benson of Springbrook were Tuesday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. J. Webb.

Mrs. P. Grass of Frankford was a recent visitor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Mathews.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Webb of Belleville were Sunday tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Webb.

A successful euchre was held in the Cannifton Town Hall on Tuesday evening to further war efforts. Gifts of sox from Mr. George Ketcheson also St. John's Mission were greatly appreciated. Prizes were won by the following:—

Men's 1st, Mrs. G. Lywood, donation from Mr. Downey; 2nd, Mr. J. Downey; 3rd, Mrs. E. Hall.

Ladies', 1st, Pearl Downey, finger wave, donated by Hilda Davidson; 2nd, Mrs. Coles; 3rd, Mrs. Rosevear; Lone hand, Mr. Hansey. The evening was greatly enjoyed.

Point Anne

Point Anne — Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Juby, Mrs. H. Scott and Joyce, Mrs. P. Sedore and May, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. John Royal of Belleville motored to Ivy Lea Bridge on Sunday.

Mrs. Ida Bovee of Watertown, N. Y., who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Juby returned to her home on Sunday.

Mrs. C. Galvin of Peterboro is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wagar.

Douglas Doxtator had his tonsils removed in Belleville General Hospital on Tuesday.

Congratulations to L. A. C. Carman Spencer, R. C. A. F., and Mrs. Spencer, (nee Miss Hilda Dyers), who were quietly married in Consecon on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Akey and son Milton and Mrs. M. Lucas spent Sunday in Cobourg with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Bradshaw.

Mrs. May Yates of Belleville spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. E. Wilson.

Mrs. J. Taylor, her daughter, Miss Bernice and son Harold spent Sunday with Mrs. Taylor's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James MacDonald.

Mrs. Manson MacDonald has been confined to her home with illness.

Mrs. P. W. Akey, Mrs. M. Lucas and Mrs. D. Cummings and daughter Joyce spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Amab Akey near Picton.

Mrs. E. Wilson and son Arthur and Miss Elsie Ryan spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Newton Dopking of Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Insley of Trenton called on their parents on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Akey and sons spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Wilson of Oshawa.

Madoc

Madoc — Miss Jean Whytock has returned to Kingston after spending her holidays at her home in Madoc.

Mrs. Bell, of Belleville, visited Miss Margaret Moon on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Moorcroft, of Toronto, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Whytock.

Jim Crawford left on Monday afternoon for St. Catharines where he will attend Ridley College.

Misses Betty Nicol and Helen Blue, of Kingston, are spending their holidays at their homes in Madoc.

Miss Clarice Dafoe, of Cobourg, spent Wednesday at her home Madoc.

Frank Ferguson left on Wednesday for Galt where he will enter the air training school.

Drink Coca-Cola Delicious and Refreshing

Rawdon

Rawdon — Mr. and Mrs. Michael Shannon of Marmora were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan.

Mrs. Harold Gunning is recuperating in Belleville Hospital following an operation.

Miss Jean Higgins has returned to her home in Vancouver after spending the summer with her sister, Mrs. Glenn Heath.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Sine visited Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Mack, Port Hope, on Sunday and spent the afternoon at Peterboro.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lloyd spent a recent week end in Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker, Mr. and Mrs. Don Heath spent the week end at Niagara Falls, Hamilton, and Toronto Exhibition.

Mrs. H. Sine spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patrick, Frankford.

Mr. John Clairmont, Marmora, spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine are enjoying a trip to Callander and other points.

Masters Vincent Ryan and Lloyd Cooney have begun their Secondary education at Stirling High School.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Elliott and Robert, Mr. and Mrs. Don McClaren and Beverly spent a recent week end at North Bay, Callander, Algonquin Park and Toronto Exhibition.

Mrs. Lewis Wilson spent a few days last week in Toronto and attended the Ex.

Miss Jean Shannon, Marmora, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Ryan last week.

Miss Helen Ryan enjoyed a recent week of holidays with Marmora friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Heath spent the week end in Toronto and attended the Exhibition.

Among those from Wellman's who attended the Exhibition at Toronto were: Mr. and Mrs. Lindsay Pollock, Misses Mabel Sharp, Hazel Delbert Rowe, Edna Wallace, Mr. and Mrs. Max Embury, Messrs. Lorne Watson, Howard Wallace, Everett Maybee, F. Bowater, Mr. and Mrs. John Rainie and James and Miss Emma Rainie.

Mrs. Fred King, Wellmans, spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. W. H. Scott who is ill at her home.

Master Douglas Campbell won first prize at Belleville Fair on the showmanship of his calf.

Mr. Frank Jeffs had the misfortune to hurt his leg quite badly when a new set of drags pierced the flesh.

School commenced at the Williams school with Miss Betty Hoard in charge. The new primary pupils are: Ronald Seeney, Mabel Seeney and Joan Johnson.

Miss Esma Cole of Wooler has again assumed her duties as teacher at the Allan school.

Masters Douglas Campbell and Lloyd Cooney, formerly of the Allan school are attending Stirling high school.

Misses Evelyn Melville and Lois McAdam of the Williams school, are attending high school at Campbellford.

Mrs. Frank Spencer took ill on Sunday morning and is now resting comfortably at her home.

Mrs. Cyrus Summers spent a few days last week with Mrs. Butler Rupert at Wellmans.

Master Ross Jeffs recently underwent a tonsil operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Mr. and Mrs. Ed. McKeown spent the week end at Niagara and Western points.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Weaver, Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Moor, Detroit, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Weaver.

Mrs. Harry Brooks and Margaret Lillian are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Brooks, Carmel.

Rally Service

On Sunday morning at Mount Pleasant United Church the annual rally service was held. The program had been arranged by Mrs. Merle Spencer and in her unavoidable absence, Mrs. John Holmes, presided at the piano. Despite the rain a goodly number were in attendance and baskets of gladioli graced the altar.

The superintendent, Mr. James Sharp presided assisted by the pastor, Rev. James E. Beckel, who conducted the special "National Day of Prayer" service.

The Junior choir sang "Listen to the voice of Jesus." Miss Marion Rose outlined a story based on The Rally Theme "Serving Jesus with Gladness". The choir rendered "His Boundless Love" and Miss Gladys Summers read a story entitled "Bills Challenge". The pastor spoke briefly on the subject "A Rally of the Forces of the Church" He said never in history has it been more necessary for individuals to rally to the church and to be as loyal to that institution as to the Empire. Masters Ralph Jeffs and Eric Summers gathered the offering which goes to support Sunday Schools throughout Canada. The grading officer made the following promotions: Junior girls to intermediate girls — Miss Ruth Rose; Jr. boys to intermediate boys —Master Keith Johnson and Bruce Melville; Intermediate girls to Sr. girls—Miss Marion Phillips.

Carmel

Carmel — Dr. James Geen of Utica, Ill., and Mr. Ira Simmons of Foxboro took tea Sunday with Mrs. Wallace Simmons.

Mr. Chas. Brintnell had the misfortune of having his ankle fractured while he was putting in his cows. One kicked him on the ankle.

Little Dorothy Goodfellow, who underwent an operation in Toronto is improving.

A quilting was held at the home of Mrs. Chas. Brintnell under the W. M. S. Two quilts were finished. The dinner was served by the ladies and hostess. $1.75 was realized.

Mrs. Wallace Simmons attended the Officers Rally held in Bridge Street United Church on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Don Williams of Stirling and Mrs. Mary Reid motored to Bancroft Sunday afternoon.

Every 10c Packet of WILSON'S FLY PADS WILL KILL MORE FLIES THAN SEVERAL DOLLARS WORTH OF ANY OTHER FLY KILLER

10c WHY PAY MORE

Best of all fly killers. Clean, quick, sure, cheap. Ask your Druggist, Grocer or General Store.

THE WILSON FLY PAD CO., HAMILTON, ONT.

Air Observers School Located at Dorval, Que.

A site has been chosen at Dorval, Que., just outside Montreal, for No. 9 Air Observers School of the Royal Canadian Air Force, and construction work will begin shortly.

The aerodrome at Dorval, northwest of the Dorval racetrack and not far from the site of a training aerodrome of the first great war, will also serve as a training field for students of No. 1 Wireless School, Montreal. At present Wireless Operators in training receive their wireless instructions in aircraft at St. Hubert airport.

FOR BIG MILEAGE AT LOW COST GET THIS EXTRA VALUE GOODYEAR
IT'S THE LOW-PRICED
MARATHON
WITH THE FAMOUS NON-SKID DIAMOND TREAD

The Tube is the Heart of Any Tire

For top service from new tires be sure to equip them with new low-cost Goodyear tubes.

● If you are looking for a big tire buy at a money-saving low price, come in and see the MARATHON. This great, fully-guaranteed, extra-value tire has exclusive, inbuilt Goodyear qualities that give you long, safe, low-cost mileage at a downright saving. Marathon is the lowest priced tire with the famous Goodyear centre-traction, non-skid diamond tread.

Now is the time to buy new tires. Drive in today . . . we'll give you quick service and save you money!

CLIFF BARAGAR
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
Dundas & Pinnacle Belleville
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION TIRE SHOP
Main Street Picton 62 King Street Trenton

What about YOU?

Big Investors have Done Their Bit... but what about You...and You?

Yes, what about YOU? You who might have bought 2nd War Loan Bonds—but haven't done so yet! You have had five days to decide whether or not you are going to support your country with all the money you can lend. Five days! You know what's happened during these five days! In Britain—in the Mediterranean—all over the British Empire.

But in Canada—there's a War Loan waiting to be completed. WAITING!! What are we waiting for? YOU! Life Insurance Companies, large and small corporations and investment organizations rushed in the very minute the loan opened! No hesitation there to throw assets behind Canada's war effort. So we are waiting for you and you and you, who have demanded unremitting war against the enemy!

Come forward now! No time to lose! Get going! Act at once! Pick up your telephone now and tell your investment dealer, bank or stock broker to put you down for all the 2nd War Loan Bonds you can pay for. Are you not going to give your answer to Hitler's ruthless and brutal bombings?

CANADA'S 2nd WAR LOAN

PROFESSIONAL WRESTLING (EXHIBITION)

Hume Arena, Belleville, Monday September 16th, 8.45 P.M., D.S.T.

MAIN BOUT
Geo. Pavich vs. Speedy Mason

SEMI-FINAL
Tom George vs. Dick Bishop (Draginais)

PRELIMINARY
Pedro Valdez (old favorite) vs. Sam Karikosta

Admission 35c. Ladies and Children 25c; Ringside Reserved 50c. Ladies accompanied no extra charge.
Members of His Majesty's Militia or R.C.A.F. in Uniform Admitted Free this Monday Night.

Yankees Fold Before Tigers With Schoolboy Rowe Earning Fourteenth Victory of Season

Detroit is Half-Game Ahead of Cleveland and Two in Front of Yanks

WHITE SOX ADVANCE

Double Win Over A's Gives Chicago Fourth Place Tie With Boston Red Sox

By JUDSON BAILEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

It's too early to say New York Yankees are stopped. They are what is known as "slowed to a standstill."

After splitting a doubleheader at Cleveland Wednesday the Yankees folded before Detroit Tigers yesterday 6-3 while the Indians fattened on Boston Red Sox 8.1.

It was the 14th triumph of the year for Schoolboy Rowe, who only two years ago went back to the minors with a sore arm that few people thought would ever be cured. He gave 11 hits, two more than his mates made, but he was careful in the clutches and fanned six.

The Indians' massacre of the Red Sox came on spectacular three-hit hurling by the veteran Mel Harder and a 10-hit bombardment that was concentrated in the fourth inning, when seven runs scored.

Cleveland Half-Game Behind

This left Cleveland half a game behind Detroit and 1 1-2 ahead of New York. It let the surprising Chicago White Sox catch up with Boston for a fourth-place tie, six games back of the lead.

The White Sox raided Philadelphia Athletics in two games 1-0 and 4-3. Washington Senators squelched St. Louis Browns 7-2.

Cincinnati eliminated New York Giants mathematically from the National league pennant picture by pounding out a 9.4 decision for Gene Thompson's 15th victory of the year.

The best National league fun, however, was in other games. For instance Hugh Casey won both halves of a doubleheader for Brooklyn Dodgers against Pittsburgh Pirates 7-0 and 7-4. He went the route in the first game in a three-hit show and then went to the relief of Luke Hamlin with the score tied in the seventh inning of the nightcap and got credit for the victory.

Cards Shelled by Bees

The once punchless Boston Bees shelled St. Louis Cardinals 17-7 and 6-1, getting 36 hits in the doubleheader. Carvel Rowell batted in six runs in the first game, in which the Bees batted around in four different innings.

Chicago Cubs piled up 14 hits, including Bill Nicholson's 24th home run, and Larry French pitched five-hit ball to plug the Phils 5-1.

Young Blue-Blood In There Slugging With Tough Ones

Mamaroneck, N.Y., Sept. 13 —(AP) — Warrington Bannerman McCullough, Jr., a young blue-blood from Philadelphia, still is in there slugging with the tough competitors of amateur golf as the United States championships forge into the semi-final round at the Winged Foot Club today.

Early yesterday, when the dew was on the grass, McCullough generally was conceded to have gone farther than he belonged. Then he went out and knocked the ears off such a couple of young men as Willie Turnesa and Johnny Fischer, both former champions.

McCullough is 32 years old and the best he ever did before was to lose to Lawson Little in the fifth round at Cleveland in 1935, the year Little won his fourth straight amateur title. He beat Turnesa 3 and 2 and Fischer 5 and 4.

The other three semi-finalists "belong." Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie, assigned the task of trying to stop McCullough in one of today's two 36-holers, was runner-up to the champion twice in the last three years. Yesterday he eliminated the defender, Bud Ward of Spokane, Wash., 4 and 3.

In the other bracket are Wilford Wehrle and Dick Chapman. Wehrle out of Chicago, has been batting so has Chapman. Wehrle was low at the door for several years, and amateur in the last national open championship. Chapman was the medallist in this tournament.

League Leaders

(By the Associated Press)

National League

Batting—Gleeson, Chicago, .321.
Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 100.
Runs batted in—Mize, St. Louis, 117.
Hits—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 170.
Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 39.
Triples—Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.
Home runs—Mize, St. Louis, 41.
Stolen bases—Moore, St. Louis, 17.
Pitching—Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 14-2.

American League

Batting—Radcliff, St. Louis, .345.
Runs—Williams, Boston, 119.
Runs batted in—Greenberg, Detroit, 125.
Hits—Cramer, Boston, 186.
Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 48.
Homeruns—Foxx, Boston, 35.
Stolen bases—Case, Washington, 29.
Pitching—Newsom, Detroit, 18-3.

OSHAWA DEFEATS KINGSTON SQUAD IN THIRD GAME

Sudden Death Game in Trenton Eliminates Tanners From O.A.S.A. Playdowns by 6-2 Count

3 DOUBLE PLAYS

"Cowboy" Smith Walked Six, Three of Whom Scored Runs

Playing errorless defensive ball and completing three timely double-plays, to halt their opposition's rallies, Oshawa eliminated Kingston in a third game of the intermediate O.A.S.A. playdowns in Trenton last night by a score of 6 to 2. Oshawa now meet Toronto in the third round of the O.A.S.A. playdowns.

Kingston out-hit the Motor City nine 12 to 5, but both of the Limestone City errors proved costly, while "Cowboy" Smith walked six Oshawa batters, three of which subsequently crossed the plate with runs. Lewis, the Oshawa pitcher, passed but one.

Kingston opened strongly to score two in the initial frame, Oshawa getting one in their half. The payoff came in Oshawa's half of the fourth when with one out and one on second baseman Billie Ball of Kingston fumbled Little's easy roller, tabbed for a doubleplay, and before the damage could be righted Oshawa had scored four runs on two hits, two walks and an error. Their other run was also of the unearned nature.

Oshawa	AB	R	H	PO	A
Kitchen c.	4	1	1	4	1
Hall 3b.	4	0	1	0	1
Covert cf.	4	0	0	3	0
Matthews rf.	4	0	0	1	0
Cornish ss.	1	1	0	2	1
Little lf.	4	1	1	3	0
Thomson 1b.	3	1	0	9	1
Trewin 2b.	3	2	1	5	4
Lewis p.	4	0	1	0	1
Total	31	6	5	27	9

Kingston	AB	R	H	PO	A
Harrison rf.	3	1	1	2	0
Udall ss.	4	1	2	2	0
Smith p.	4	0	3	0	2
See 3b.	4	0	0	1	0
Boneham 1b.	4	0	2	10	0
Ball 2b.	4	0	0	1	0
Kinnear cf.	4	0	0	1	0
Somerville lf.	4	0	3	1	0
Boone c.	4	0	1	6	0
Total	35	2	12	24	8

		R.	H.	K.
Kingston	200 000 000	2	12	2
Oshawa	100 401 00x	6	5	0

Summary: Errors, Ball, Boone; two base hits, Udall, Smith, Kitchen, Trewin; double plays, Cornish to Trewin to Thomson; Hall to Trewin to Thomson; Thomson to Cornish; left on base, Kingston 7, Oshawa 6; runs batted in, Kitchen, Covert, Trewin 2, Lewis 2, Udall and Smith; struck out by Smith 5 by Lewis 3; base on balls, off Smith 6, off Lewis 1; wild pitch, Smith. Umpires: Kellar, Oshawa, plate; Corrigan, Kingston bases.

Leafs Open N. H. L. With N. Y. Rangers On November 2

New York, Sept. 13.—(CP)—The National Hockey League, certain the war will not cut into its player personnel, will begin operations this season earlier than ever. New York Rangers and Toronto Maple Leafs will usher in the season Nov. 2 at Toronto.

The opening date was announced after a long meeting of the League Governors yesterday at which seven schedules submitted by President Frank Calder were rejected as unsuitable. Other definite opening dates are November 3 at Montreal and Detroit and Nov. 14 at New York, with the Opposition for the Canadiens, the Red Wings and the Americans not yet decided.

A new tentative agreement between the N.H.L. and the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association was reached to replace the one that expired last summer. The old agreement had caused dissatisfaction between the bodies over the reimbursement of amateur players signed by professional clubs and over what the N.H.L. termed the "elasticity" of the Association's definition of the word "amateur".

Under the new agreement, on which final ratification is to come from the C.A.H.A., the N.H.L. will pay $250 to the International Hockey Association when an amateur is signed and $250 if the amateur gets into the N.H.L. The I.H.A. governs the C.A.H.A., the United States Amateur Hockey Association and the British Hockey Association.

Six referees for the coming season were named. They are Mickey Ion, Bill Stewart, King Clancy, Norman Lamport, Teddy Graham and Rabbit McVeigh.

Fights Last Night

New York—Steve Belloise, 155 3-4 New York, outpointed Ceferino Garcia, 157 1-4, former middleweight champion (10); Dave Castilloux, 136, Montreal, outpointed Paul Debello, 135, New York State champion (8).

Waterbury, Conn. — Irish Eddie Dolan, 142 1-2, Waterbury, outpointed Francesco Montanari, 146 1-2, Italy (8).

New Rochelle, N.Y.—Bill Wineberg, 191, Boston, knocked out Mike Bellucci, 197, Port Chester, N.Y., (6).

Yesterday's Stars

Mel Harder, Indians—Pitched three hit ball to handcuff Red Sox.

Schoolboy Rowe, Tigers—Was tight in pinches and batted in one of runs that helped whip Yankees.

Jim Ripple, Reds—Had perfect day at bat with two doubles and a single to help crush Giants.

Hugh Casey, Dodgers—Casey pitched three hit shutout against Pirates in first game and got credit for victory in nightcap as relief pitcher.

Larry French, Cubs—Stopped Phillies with five hit hurling.

DAVE CASTILLOUX BEATS DEBELLO IN 8-ROUNDER

Montreal Boxer Took Seven Rounds and Obtained a Draw in Last

BELLOISE WINS

Middleweight Earns Decision Over Hard-Hitting Ceferino Garcia

(By Al Colletti Canadian Press Staff Writer).

New York, Sept. 13 (CP)—Middleweight Steve Belloise, the dolly-knitting former grocery store clerk who learned to fight at church socials and garden parties, gets a shot at the world middleweight boxing championship—New York and California version—Nov. 1.

The 22-year-old Bronx belter who has been boxing as a pro two years and never had an amateur bout before that earned his chance by outpointing Ceferino Garcia, the bolo-punching former tileholder, in 10 rounds at Madison Square Garden last night.

Immediately after, Steve the knitter was signed by promoter Mike Jacobs to meet Ken Overlin, Washington, D.C., champion, for the title.

The explosions expected from the right-hand bombs of Belloise and Garcia, two knock-out artists, failed to come. Most of the action was in close with referee George Walsh having a busy time breaking clinches. Belloise weighed 155 3-4, Garcia 157 1-4.

Castilloux Easy Winner

In a savage, eight-round semi-final Dave Castilloux, the serious, quiet-spoken French - Canadian lightweight, whipped Paul Debello, New York State champion.

Castilloux, making his first appearance at the Garden, put on an exhibition of fancy-dan boxing and blocking that brought cheers from the galleries and ringside. He took seven rounds on points and held Debello even in the last.

Although the victory did not bring the Canadian lightweight champion and ranking National Boxing Association contender an immediate title shot, it did however, bring a flock of offers.

With a winter title bout with Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Texas, in mind, matchmaker Nat Rogers said today that several bookings at the Garden have been offered the Montrealer.

Castilloux had a one-pound advantage in weight, coming in at 136 pounds.

BASEBALL'S Results & Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Rochester	94	60	.610
Newark	93	64	.592
Jersey City	80	75	.516
Baltimore	78	78	.500
Montreal	75	80	.484
Buffalo	75	81	.481
Syracuse	70	88	.443
Toronto	57	96	.373

Baltimore 8; Jersey City 3.
xBuffalo 7; Rochester 6.
x-11 innings.
Montreal at Toronto postponed.
Only games scheduled.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Detroit	79	58	.577
Cleveland	78	58	.574
New York	76	59	.563
Boston	73	64	.533
Chicago	73	64	.533
Washington	59	78	.431
St. Louis	56	82	.406
Philadelphia	50	81	.382

Chicago 1-4; Philadelphia 0-3.
Cleveland 8; Boston 1.
Washington 7; St. Louis 2.
Detroit 6; New York 3.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	87	47	.649
Brooklyn	80	57	.584
Pittsburgh	70	63	.526
St. Louis	68	64	.515
New York	66	68	.493
Chicago	67	70	.489
Boston	58	79	.423
Philadelphia	43	91	.321

Boston 17-6; St. Louis 7-1.
Brooklyn 7-7; Pittsburgh 0-4.
Cincinnati 9; New York 4.
Chicago 5; Philadelphia 1.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION

Minneapolis 18-9; Milwaukee 1-11
Kansas City 14; St. Paul 0.
Toledo 8; Indianapolis 9.
Columbus 4; Louisville 3.

Former Bellevillian To Play in Tourney

Ottawa, Sept. 13 —(CP)— Ray Mallen of Brockville, runner-up to Jimmy McLaughlin of the Ottawa Hunt Club last year, will be the only out-of-town entry when the Ottawa and district match play golf tournament gets under way today.

McLaughlin will not defend his championship to be decided over the Glenlea course. Among the list of 43 entries, however, are Frank Corrigan, Bert Barnabe and Sandy Marling, three outstanding Ottawa shotmakers.

All prize are donations and net proceeds will be turned over to the Red Cross.

Dress Up for FALL

If you are feeling a little out of spirits with yourself, the best remedy in the world is to step out in a new outfit.

It's just the thing you need to make you friends with the world.

Why not make it a point today to come in and see the new Fall styles in men's suits and topcoats . . and prices that will meet with your approval.

QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with

Ken J. Colling

Smith's Falls and Ottawa are playing off for the softball championship of the Ottawa Valley at Carleton Place tomorrow. Word comes out of the Ottawa Valley sector to the effect that they are keenly interested in meeting Oshawa-Kingston in a series for the softball championship of Eastern Ontario only. There has been some dissatisfaction expressed by clubs in this section of the province regarding Toronto being permitted to use a pitcher from the senior fastball league an outlaw organization in "Hog Town," in the O.A.S.A. playdowns, so an all-Eastern Ontario play-off between the Central Ontario winner and the Ottawa Valley champs. might not be a bad idea after all. Incidentally with the return of the local "Oilers" four players from Petawawa over the week end, why not include the "Oilers" in the series, as we are satisfied that John Bawden and company are undoubtedly the best intermediate O.A.S.A. nine in this section of the province, especially after witnessing yesterday's Oshawa-Kingston fracas. Had the "Oilers" been at full strength in Napanee, "Cowboy" Smith and his Tanners would have been eliminated long ago and the "Oilers" on their way to another intermediate softball title for Belleville.

"Soup" Campbell's Oshawa "mushballers" can thank Billie Ball, Kingston's second baseman, for last night's Motor City win over the Limestone City nine at Trenton. Ball's fourth inning error with a perfect double-play staring him in the face, paved the way for the Oshawa victory, although "Cowboy" Smith did not help his own cause with six walks, three of which were turned into runs. The Oshawa team played errorless ball and literally broke Kingston's hearts with snappy double plays, along with Cornish's sensational one-hand stab of Boone's liner in the 7th, but it is seldom a team is out-hit 12 to 5 and then win the day's decision 6 to 2 in the run column. The Motor City nine capitalized to the fullest measure on every miscue made by the Tanners, which accounts for their hard-earned victory. However, after watching the two nines last evening we are more convinced than ever, that the Shell "Oilers" at full strength, could have disposed of either Oshawa or Kingston without much effort. It was unfortunate the "Oilers" were eliminated under such unavoidable circumstances.

Fred (Peterboro Examiner) Craig says the Hastings softball nine was most indignant over the unfortunate ending of their series with Wooler and actually it was a rather embarrassing dose for the tannery town nine to swallow. However, Mister Craig brings out a point that has long been a bone of contention in provincial softball playdowns—"games are started much too late for the good of the pastime." When clubs advance to the zone playdowns they should be prepared to sacrifice time off in order to commence these important tussles at least hours before sundown, thus giving the contesting teams as well as the um- For instance last evening's game be- pires, ample time on which to work.

tween Kingston and Oshawa was slated for 5.30 p.m., which is at least 30 minutes too late to commence such an important struggle. If softball is too small to play afternoon games during the provincial playdowns the idea might just as well be abandoned, as we've seen too many important play-off games mitigated and spoiled through the medium of impending darkness. This should be a good point for Harry Rollins to bring up at the next annual meeting of the O.A.S.A.

The management of the Hume arena is to be congratulated for the splendid gesture shown the men in uniform. Today Manager Norm Barriage announced that all members of the C.A.S.F. and Air Force, in uniform, will be admitted to Monday night's professional wrestling bout as guests of the arena. Incidentally the fans will welcome back an old grappling favourite in Pedro Valdez, the little Mexican wrestler, who has just returned from a successful tour of the New England States. Valdez not only plies a good style of wrestling wherever he appears, but can always be depended upon to give a sterling performance, with no clowning or unorthodox practices. Pedro meets a newcomer to local wrestling wars in the person of Dick Bishop, the middleweight champion of Ohio State. Three good bouts are carded for Monday night.

Can Bob Feller throw a ball as fast as a motorcycle speeding 70 miles an hour? The answer not only is yes, but the Cleveland hurler can distance the motorcycle, according to Lew Fonsea, promotional manager of the American League in revealing a recent negative answer was mistaken.

"Slow motion analysis, in reviewing our movie sequence," says Fonseca, "has proven, beyond any doubt, that Feller not only gives the motorcycle speeding at say 70 miles an hour, a head start, but in both instances, his pitch reaches the target first.

"We are assured that the ball is travelling at a speed of more than 100 miles per hour."

Well, if autumn comes can winter be far behind? Surer signs of cold and the snows—yesterday's National Hockey League meeting in New York. See where the big league pucksters are to have their earliest opening in history. No. 2nd sees the Rangers at Toronto, which reminds us that "Peterboro Billie" Calladine is having a tryout with the Rangers at Winnipeg next month. There were no drastic changes in the hockey playing rules for the coming season, a few minor details were ironed out, such as the enlarging of the goalie's stick at the heel and it's only six weeks until the puck-chasers will be at it once again.

Sport Spice — Billy (Maple Leaf) Taylor wasn't with Oshawa at Trenton last night, as a matter of fact Billy is getting in his N.P.A.M. training over at Niagara-on-the-Lake.... An eight-inning rally of four runs gave the Detroit Tigers a 6-3 verdict over the Yankees yesterday and as Cleveland beat Boston at the same time, the Tigers remain one half a game in front of the Indians and two games ahead of the Yankees.... Schoolboy (Comeback) Rowe scattered 11 Yankee hits, as his team mates drove Atley Donald to the Yankee showers.... Complete arrangements for the 1940 world series will be made in Chicago today....Only 78 cash customers paid to see yesterday's Washington at St. Louis game.. The smallest paid attendance on record is said to have been in Toronto when Teddy Oke operated the Toronto Millionaires in the old canpro. puck loop....Did you observe the Chicago White Sox position in the American League standing today?

NEW BLADE SAVES YOU MONEY ON COMFORTABLE, GOOD-LOOKING SHAVES!

Minora
BLADES
TRADE MARK REG. IN CANADA
Made in Canada

Ask Your Dealer for MINORA BLADES
Guaranteed To Please Or Your Money Back!
4 FOR 10¢

THE LARGEST SELLING ECONOMY BLADE IN THE BRITISH EMPIRE

Here's Why You Should Try Minora
- Minora is now made in Canada by advanced processes developed in England that insure higher quality at lower cost.
- Produced from finest steel specially tempered to take keen, long-lasting edges, Minora shaves easy and clean without irritation.
- Quality made Minora the outstanding economy blade of the British Empire. We guarantee the same high-quality will please you.

NEVER BEFORE HAS 10 CENTS BROUGHT SO MUCH SHAVING COMFORT

DOWD BLADE CO. LIMITED · 400 DOWD STREET, MONTREAL P.Q.

● It is essential to your health that you wear correct underwear. The famous Penmans trademark has been long recognized as a guide to adequate health protection by hundreds of thousands of underwear buyers. Penmans "71" Underwear is a favourite choice because its knitted fabrics offer warmth without excessive weight. In action or at ease, there is comfort in this well tailored garment. Durable wearing and laundering and moderate prices are other qualities that have won approval. Look for the Penmans label.

Available in Shirts and Drawers and Union Suits, including the popular NuCut style.

LOOK for this label Before You BUY!
PEN ANGLE
WARRANTED HIGH GRADE PENMANS KNIT-GOODS

Penmans 71
UNDERWEAR FOR MEN AND BOYS

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS
REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL
17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1132. "THE HEALTH INSTITUTE" 231 William St. Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils. Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 328 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 900. Lady attendant.

E. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists. Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridre St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
240½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1154W

LEGAL

E. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 236½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2000. S27-1y

Here's the Cash You Need, Sir!

And it's easy enough to obtain, too! Just drop in at Quinte Finance friendly office and secure a personal loan. Quick, confidential, inexpensive, and easy to repay. Investigate today!

QUINTE FINANCE
and
SECURITIES LIMITED
168 Front St. Phone 168
BELLEVILLE

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
OUR TOWN
William Holden, Martha Scott
2.40 — 8.30
THE GOLDEN FLEECING
Lew Ayres, Rita Johnson
4.00 — 7.15 — 9.50

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
MR. BOGGS STEPS OUT
Stuart Erwin, Helen Chandler
2.50 — 7.35 — 10.15
SILVER ON THE SAGE
Hopalong Cassidy, George Hayes
4.00 — 9.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
TORRID ZONE
James Cagney, Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien
7.30 — 9.50

SHE GIVES REVUE

Stratford-on-Avon, England (CP) For the first time in history Shakespeare is to be replaced at the Memorial Theatre by revue. A two-day extravaganza by Renee Houston will be given at the theatre late in September two weeks after the current Shakespearean season is over.

Staging of revue will be an experiment said the manager. "We'll see what the reaction of the public is and whether the troops like it. If they do, it is possible that further contracts will be made."

Miss Houston said "The Memorial Theatre might have been built for 'Hamlet' or 'Othello' but it's the best theatre in the country for revue".

WANTED

WAITRESS — PERMANENT POsition if satisfactory. References and experience necessary. Apply 27 Isabel. S13-1t

SALESMEN TO SELL CALENdars, exclusive territory, big commissions, attractive popular line—one of Canada's oldest and favourably known Calendar houses. Write today for particulars. Truro Printing and Publishing Co., Ltd., Truro, Canada. S13-1t

DELIVERY BOY WITH BICYCLE. Carswell's Grocery, 66 St. Charles St. S13-1t

BOY WANTED TO LEARN BAKing. Hannah's Bakery, 334 Front St. S13-tf

4 OR 5 ROOMED APARTMENT or small house, unfurnished, by young couple. Phone 1463. S13-3t

MARRIED COUPLE, PREFERably without children for club, accommodating staff of industrial plant. Ordinarily comprised of 15 to 20 members. Located in Central Ontario village. Excellent position for right parties. Apply stating references and experience to Box R, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-16-18

WE HAVE A CLIENT WANTING to purchase for cash, modern home, bungalow preferred. Either East or West Hill, if in good residential district. What have you? Belleville Realty Co., Kresge Bldg., H. B. Wilson, Prop. S11-13-14

TO RENT, HOUSE WITH HYdro preferred, in or near town. Mrs. Henry Dean, Bonarlaw. S13-3t

150 ACRES OR MORE, FARM TO rent or work on shares. Write stating particulars, Box D, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

POSITION AS PRACTICAL nurse or housekeeper by experienced middle aged woman, references. Write Box M, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-2t

TWO GIRLS TO SHARE FURNished heated bedroom, all conveniences. Phone 1343. Apply 12 Hillside St. S12-3t

WARM ROOM WITH BOARD IN private home by lady. Write Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-3t

A SMART WIDE-AWAKE DRIVer. Clean-cut young man. Salary and Commission. Apply DeLuxe Cleaners, Trenton. S12-3t

EXPERIENCED MAID, MUST BE good cook, two children. Twenty-five monthly. Write Box 5, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

SOMEONE TO COACH ALGEBRA, Geometry and Latin four evenings a week. Address replies to Box J Ontario Intelligencer. S4-tf

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

TO LET

TWO UNFURNISHED HEATED rooms. Phone 304J. S9-6t

UNFURNISHED TWO OR THREE rooms, continuous hot water, use of washing machine. Suit working girls. Write Box 12, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-1t

MODERN LOWER DUPLEX, Bridge East, living room, dining room, kitchen, hardwood floors. Hot water heating, garage. $45. per month. Belleville Realty Co., H. B. Wilson, Prop. Day phone 391, night phone 1977. S11-13-14

LARGE FURNISHED FRONT BED sitting room, heated, also bedroom, furnished, gentlemen preferred, near Front St. Write Box 3, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

FIVE ROOM HEATED APARTment. 227 Front St. Apply Belmont Restaurant. S12-2t

FARM FOR RENT — LOTS 23 and 24, 9th. concession of Marmora township, 80 acres (more or less), under cultivation, rest in pasture and woodland. Good buildings, two wells and running water. Nine miles northeast of Marmora. Immediate possession. Terms reasonable. Apply W. K. Long, Marmora R. 2. S12-3t

UPPER DUPLEX, FOUR ROOMS, sunroom, insulated, heated, separate entrance and bath. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine St. S7-dtf

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

CHAPEL NOW ARP HUT

Littlemore, England, (CP) — A small private chapel at a monastery here founded by Cardinal John Newman before he became a Roman Catholic has been converted to Air Raid Precautions headquarters.

FOR SALE

'40 DODGE SEDAN; '38 DODGE Sedan; '35 Dodge Sedan; '34 Dodge Sedan; '34 Plymouth Sedan; '35 Ford Coach; '29 Essex Coach; '31 Rugby Truck; '35 Reo Truck; '39 Dodge Express; '40 Dodge Pick-up. C. R. Clapp, 138 Front St. Phone 482. S13-1t

QUEBEC RANGES WITH OVENS, Dining Room Suites, oak and walnut, Dressers, Studio Couches, Chesterfield Sets and various articles, all used, in good condition. Model Home Furniture, 312 Front St. Phone 526. S13-3t

DEERING CORN BINDER, IN good working order. Ready for immediate service. Price $70. Raymond O. Fretts, R. 2, Napanee. S13-2t

CAR, $30, RUNNING ORDER. Apply 88 North Front Street. S13-1t

REGISTERED YORKSHIRE boars, ready for service. T. A. Crawford and Sons, Picton R. 8. S13-2t

TRADE INS, RECONDITIONED and guaranteed Sewing Machines, drop heads, complete with attachments, $15.00 and $25.00. R.C.A. Victor Radio, combination, original price, $395, for $39. Stewart Warner 7-tube console, $29.50. David's Electric Shop, 340 Front St., Belleville. S13-3t

1938 HUDSON COUPE, GOOD condition, privately owned, terms given. Reasonably priced. Phone 2177. S13-2t

MOWER, RAKE, POTATO HILLer, cultivator, pair of drags, stone boat, wagon, set of sleighs, blasting tools and battery, also horse in best of condition, good worker. Apply 14 Bay St., Belleville. S13-1t

RANGE, COAL AND WOOD, IN good condition. Apply 14 Lattimer St. S13-1t

FARM, 50 ACRES, FRONTING ON south shore of bay, modern dwelling. Cost $4000 to erect. Electric lights. Owner has been offered $2500 for vacant shore frontage alone. Price $4500.00. Belleville Realty Co., H. S. Wilson, prop. Kresge Bldg. S11-13-14

SEVERAL WORK HORSES, ALSO one 4-ton truck with platform and rack, in good condition or would exchange for stock or wood. S. French, R. 2, Shannonville. S11-13

BOSTON POOL TABLE, UPright piano. Phone 1844. 23 Charlotte St. S13-3t

FINDLAY KITCHEN RANGE, coal and wood, good condition, $10 cash, 69 St. Charles St. S13-1t

STOCK AND GRAIN FARM, 100 acres good land and buildings near Belleville, or would rent to reliable person. Apply A. Davis, Foxboro. S13-1t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating ,etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. P. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

ELECTRIC WASHER, THOR, — thoroughly reconditioned, $45. Electric Range, $39. Frigidaire, 6.2, new unit, $139. Gas range, nearly new, $39. Ice Boxes, $5. up. Easy terms. Walker Hardware Company, Ltd., 248 Front St. S11-3t

40 FALL DUCK DECOYS, ALSO duck boat, in good condition. Apply Box A, Ontario Intelligencer. S11-3t

MOFFAT ELECTRIC STOVE AND Electro-Lux Cleaner, practically new. Apply 42 Chatham Street. S11-3t

BREAD WAGONS, PANS, GASOline engine 3½ H.P. Box 162, Phone 355 Trenton. S9-6t

HOUSE, 25 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 326 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

NOTICE

To whom it may concern:

Kindly take notice that on and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife.

Sept. 12, 1940. (Signed)
THOS. MILLAR,
65 Geddes St.
S12-3t

LOST

SUM OF MONEY AT VIGORO Gas Station, Station Street. Reward if left at Police Station. S12-2t

RED CROSS CASUALTIES

London, (CP)—Dr. R. S. Cromie, Red Cross medical officer for Southeast district of England, was killed while on duty during an air raid and a woman Red Cross officer was wounded.

DEATHS

PERRY—In the Belleville General Hospital on Friday, Sept. 13th., 1940, Mrs. Frances Perry, widow of Roland Perry, and late residence, Thomasburg, Ont., in her 68th. year.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, from where the funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon, Sept. 15th., to Christ Church (Anglican) in Thomasburg, for service at 2 o'clock (Standard Time.)

Interment Thomasburg Cemetery. S13-1t

233
Charles Street
(Corner of Queen Street)
Well built and commodious brick house

FOR SALE

At low price for quick sale
(Reasonable Terms May Be Arranged)

House has beautiful double rooms with coal fire place, marble mantle, hardwood floors, dining room, kitchen, five bed rooms, bath, running water in two bed rooms, hot water heating. Would make several fine apartments. Beautiful grounds.
This is worth investigating.

Exclusive Agents

BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
Geo. N. Gorman, Prop.
166 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 House Phone 687
S5-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240 1A Bridge St. W
Res. 2112M Belleville
S5-tf

BELEAGURED

(Continued from Page-One)

they flew over London. And Londoners settling down in air raid shelters had a smile of satisfaction on their faces, satisfied that a few more bricks and mortar might be dislodged but that London would never be conquered from the air.

People Have Suffered

The people of London have suffered in the past two weeks. You can see that from their drawn and tired faces. Their nerves are worn but their spirits are still unconquered. Faith in their cause is undimmed and confidence in their power and strength is unslaked. They see their city shaken, but not their history.

The fence of exploding steel in the sky that has ringed London the last two nights is based on new methods of prediction. It is a new weapon in the war and has had devastating effect on formations of bombers. Its object is to scatter the bombers and force them to attempt the break through singly.

It was estimated today by a gunfire expert that at least half the crews of German bombers that flew over London the last two nights were wounded by blast splinters and that half the raiders were damaged.

"Very few Boche planes got back to their bases without some parts of them being shot away and damaged," this expert declared.

One of the secrets of the new barrage is how the gunners can fire accurately at planes 20,000 feet high without searchlights. The new predictor has a super-sensitive ear that picks up the sound of the raider miles away.

The apparatus, rather like an adding machine, then produces automatically a complete series of altitudes and locations which an enemy plane must traverse if it keeps its course. Those areas are then shelled, enclosing the plane in a curtain of fire and forcing it either to turn back or risk destruction.

PAGE LOWLY COW

London, (CP)—Milk powder is replacing eggs in the beauty salons. When it became costly and even difficult to buy eggs in England, beauty parlors began substituting milk powder for treatments to the face for which previously whites of eggs were used. Operators said they had learned the powder contained albumin and therefore was beneficial to the complexion. So now the beauty packs are composed of a milk powder basis.

NO "PARLEY VOO"

Barnes, England, —(CP)—Mrs. Albert Rogers of Barnes, who was toasted by soldiers of the First Great War as "mademoiselle from Armentieres", has had no word for months of her father and sisters who live in the Northern French town the song made famous.

When the war started in 1914 she was 13-year-old Mlle. Simone Duretz living with her parents at Armentieres. After the war she married a Royal Engineer, Albert Rogers, who was billeted in the town, where her father kept a large cafe.

ROCHESTER WINGS NEED ONE GAME

Team Defeated for Second Straight and Need Only Game to Cinch Pennant

By The Associated Press

The bands are ready to play, the bunting has been hung, the speeches have been written—in fact everything is in expectant readiness, waiting for the Rochester Red Wings to stage their International league pennant winning celebration.

The only flaw is that Rochester can't seem to clinch the pennant.

The second opportunity in two nights Red Wings missed came last night when Buffalo Bisons stubbornly struggled through 11 innings with the Wings, finally winning 7-6 to keep the Wings just a whisper away from the promised land.

The run that won for Bisons came with two down. Jimmy Outlaw, who had missed fire earlier in the game, smacked a single to left to score Pat Mullin, who had singled to open the inning.

In the league's only other game, Floyd Stromme, young righthander, chalked up his 12th victory of the season as he pitched the Baltimore Orioles to an 8-3 victory over Jersey City Giants.

The Montreal-Toronto game, the only other tilt scheduled yesterday, was rained out.

Gloversville Pitcher Hurls Perfect Game

Gloversville, N.Y., Sept. 13. — (CP)—Steve Wilski pitched a perfect ball game Thursday as his Gloversville Glover mates whipped Amsterdam Rugmakers 5-0 in the opening game of the best-of-seven finals for the Canadian-American League championship.

The Albany Eastern League farmhand faced only 27 men in the nine-inning contest. Not a man reached first. Wilski gave up neither walk nor hit, and his mates played errorless ball behind him. Wilski struck out 10 Amsterdam hitters.

Earlier this season Wilski pitched a one-hitter, the lone clout coming after two men were out in the ninth. Last night's victory was his ninth straight, five of them by shutouts.

Amsterdam .. 000 000 000—0 0 3
Gloversville ..212 000 00x—5 5 0

Shea, Atkinson and Diehl; Wilski and Dick.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP)—Broadway beat: Johnny Ray and a coast producer are huddling nightly and Billy Conn may wind up in the movies. . . .Forty bootleg bookies got their walking papers at aqueduct yesterday . . . Jim Braddock will head west to supervise White Hope tournament to be staged in October by promoters in Idaho, Colorado, Montana, Utah and Nevada . . . Mike Jacobs has just about decided to bring Tommy Farr over and throw him against either Conn or Joe Louis, with the Red Cross getting a slice of the gate.

During the National Amateur Baseball Federation Tournament at Birmingham, Ala., rain halted a game between Memphis and Dearborn, Mich. . . . when play was resumed it was discovered somebody had swiped all the bases . . . add summary: Stolen bases — Mr. X-3.

Charlie Brown, caddie master of the Del Monte course in California, bosses the strangest assortment of bag toters in history. . . . His "boys" include an ex-member of the French constabulary in Indo-China; an ex-jeweller and other business men caught in the 1919 crash; a tatoo expert, a retired railroad bridge construction superintendent, a former chiropractor and a descendant of the family which once owned the Spanish land grant on which the course is located.

N.Z. HOME GUARD CHIEF

Wellington, N.Z., (CP) —Major-General Robert Young, who commanded the New Zealand defence forces 1925-31 has been appointed to command the dominion's home guard.

TO WEST INDIES POST

London, (CP)—The Colonial office has announced that F. A. Norman, labor adviser to the Jamica government since May, 1931 has been named labor adviser to the West Indies development and welfare comptroller.

TOOK IT TOO HARD

Somewhere in England, (CP)—When a British group captain threatened an allied (foreign legion) airmen with court-martial the man fell in a faint. It was explained in his country it meant conviction and death.

OLD POLISH CUSTOM

Somewhere in England, (CP) —Polish airmen with the R.A.F. have this ceremonial greeting—"My forehead is towards you", the officer says and the squadron replies in unison "And our foreheads are towards you, chief".

QUEEN WAS "INVADER"

London, (CP)— Seeing the hospital guard doubled, two wounded German prisoners in hospital here figured England was being invaded. They learned afterwards Queen Elizabeth had visited the institution.

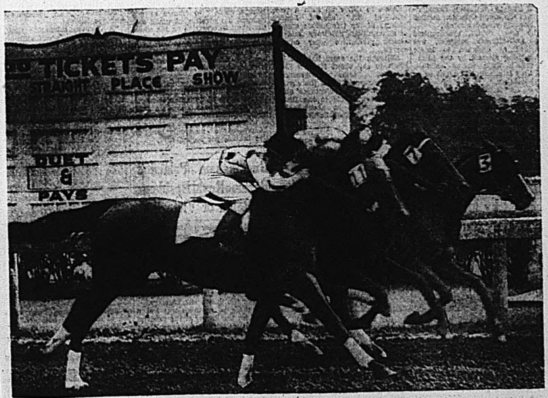
SENATORS' PLAYERS FINGERPRINTED AS ALIENS

Three pitchers of the Washington Senators ball club who hail from foreign lands turned up to register under the Alien Registration Act in Washington. Awaiting their turn as J. A. Morneo, LEFT, justice department clerk, fingerprints Joe Krakauskas of Canada, are Rene Monteagudo, SECOND FROM RIGHT, of Cuba, and Alejandro Carrasquel, RIGHT, of Venezuela.

DEAN WELCOMED BACK TO THE FOLD

Dizzy Dean, welcomed back to the Cubs' bench, turns his famous grin on old friends, who are happy because of his return from his sojourn in the Texas league. LEFT to RIGHT, Zeke Bonura, Bob Collins, Dizzy Dean, Jim Gleason.

NEARLY A TRIPLE DEAD HEAT AT THORNCLIFFE



Cameraman Lou Turofsky was on hand to snap this near three-horse dead heat at Thorncliffe as Mira Peg, CENTRE, and Colored Artist, OUTSIDE, were called in a two-horse dead heat after the judges examined the photo-finish picture Leo D., on the rail, was placed third by a whisker and came within an ace of making it a three-horse finish.

Friday, the Thirteenth, A Day of Superstition

That old war-veteran, Friday the Thirteenth popped out of the calendar today to blitzkreig superstitious souls who may be inclined to take him seriously.

Today is his second appearance in the present war, and his debut into hostilities was anything but lucky for ambitious Adolf. Three of his submarines were sent to the bottom on Friday, October 13th., 1939.

But today, the Berchesgaden Wolf took no chances on the goddess of ill-luck scowling on him. He despatched a lone bomber over London who sent five messengers of death hurtling down on historic Buckingham Palace, causing damage to the buildings and fortunately no injury to Their Majesties.

All over the world superstitious souls walked around today with "their fingers crossed". Some of them take the date so seriously that they refuse to move from their homes. Black cats are studiously avoided. Mirrors remained untouched. Hundreds will refuse to start a new job, embark on a journey, or go under the anaesthetic for a surgical operation.

But sometimes the old Jinx acts like a boomerang. A department store manager relates the story of a superstitious soul who turned aside on a Front Street pavement to avoid walking under a ladder, crashed into an oncoming pedestrian, and dropped a bottle of furniture polish which smashed on the sidewalk.

"Thirteen Clubs" Meet

The famous "Thirteen Clubs" will observe time-honored ceremonies over the world today. Members are confined to 13 in number who were born on the 13th day of any month. The club smash mirrors, throw salt-shakers around with reckless abandon, have black kitties stalking through the rooms, and indulge in every ceremony that is supposed to be synonymous with bad luck.

But statisticians say, there is nothing to actually worry about. Historically and statistically Friday the Thirteenth is no more unlucky than any other day on the calendar.

The superstition is supposedly 1900 years old. It took root at the beginning of the Christian era, and perhaps the most accepted origin of the idea that the date is unlucky is the fact that there were 13 at the Last Supper, including Judas Iscariot, who, the next day, traditionally Friday, betrayed Jesus Christ for crucifixion.

The old fellows who studied the stars away back in the days of Babylon declared 13 to be an unlucky number. Ancient history states that the mythologists of Scandinavia shied away from anything to do with the figure because Balder their sun-god, had to die when 13 were found in the circle of Valhalla.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES

Tempo of the war was speeded today on the British and African fronts as London took a tremendous aerial pounding and guns roared along the Egyptian-Libyan frontier.

Buckingham Palace was hit by bombs dropped from a low-flying raider. The King and Queen were in the shelter under the massive building when the missiles fell. Others dropped in Downing street, home of Prime Minister Churchill, but did no damage.

Flames swirled through parts of the fashionable west end of London where bombs caused numerous fires. Somerset House in the Strand, the Piccadilly Hotel, Berkeley Square and the vicinity of Rotten Row, Hyde Park's famous bridle path, were affected by bombs.

The first of today's raids caught pedestrians going to work. Most of them continued, jumping for shelters only when the danger appeared directly overhead.

London still was cheered, however, by the success of its defenders' new anti-aircraft gunfire technique based on a highly accurate type of predictor. One expert said the device was so accurate that probably half the German planes coming over were damaged and large numbers of their crews wounded by splinters.

Meanwhile coastal defenders stood alert for signs of a German invasion attempt. It was expected to come within a week with infantry and mechanized units in barges and parachute troops in transport planes.

Believe Attempt Imminent

Belief that the attempt was imminent was strengthened by news from Egypt that heavy artillery fire was audible along the frontier between Italian-held Libya and British protected Egypt.

It was the second time Italy moved against Egypt in this region, but the first attack a couple of months ago failed to develop. Italy contented itself with massing troops and supplies for the push that Mussolini hopes will carry his men to the Suez Canal, more than 400 miles.

The Italian offensive was believed timed to coincide with Hitler's attempt on England. British officials, watching the Italians prepare, are convinced they have sufficient forces in the middle east to stop them.

Terrific carnage is expected if the Germans try their invasion, although some troops are expected to get ashore. It is considered likely landing attempts will be made at numerous points in England, Scotland and possibly Ireland, with barges coming from a wide range of points along the continental coast and ships crossing the North Sea from Norway.

Britain has been preparing for months to meet such an attempt and the coast is practically a continuous fort, stronger at points ordinarily favorable to a landing force.

As A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty said yesterday, if the enemy comes "we shall give him something to go on with.

Infra-Red Ray Plane Detector May Be in Use for London's Defence

Washington, Sept. 13 —(AP)— Reports of London's intensified and increasingly effective anti-aircraft barrage caused conjecture in congressional circles today as to whether Britain had developed an infra-red ray plane detector like that possessed by the United States army.

Experiments with the apparatus in the United States were so successful that army officials said it would lead to ultimate abandonment of the sound detection method for locating enemy aircraft.

The new device, synchronized with anti-aircraft batteries, was described as designed to locate approaching aircraft by the infra-red rays in their engine exhaust, and thus is effective at night or in foggy weather.

One congressman said tests at Fort Bragg, N.C., demonstrated that the equipment could "spot" approaching planes accurately at a distance of 14 miles.

House members conversant with military matters said the reports that Britain's new barrage involved the use of fewer searchlights than heretofore indicated that some new method of plane detection was being used.

Others doubted this, expressing the opinion that the British merely had changed tactics and were using a "true barrage"—a curtain of anti-aircraft fire.

This theory was questioned by a member of the House Military Committee with artillery training. He said it would be virtually impossible to throw up such a "curtain of fire" around London because of the tremendous amount of ammunition necessary and the almost prohibitive wear on gun barrels.

Although the army has not had much to say about its new plane detector, some congressional sources expressed belief there would not be the same reluctance about making it available to the British as there would be about the Air Corps' highly prized bomb-sight.

A difference in policy, it was explained, could be justified on the ground that there was not the same danger of the plane detector falling into unfriendly hands.

British People Cheered by Message Says Mr. Churchill

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP)—The British people "are cheered and fortified to feel that Canada is with the Mother Country heart and soul," Prime Minister Churchill said in a cable to Prime Minister Mackenzie King today.

The cable, received in reply to one Mr. King sent the British Prime Minister on Wednesday expressing the loyal support of the Canadian people, [illegible]:

"I am touched by the personal kindness of your telegram and all our people are cheered and fortified to feel that Canada is with the Mother Country heart and soul.

The fine Canadian divisions which are standing on guard with us will play a notable part should the enemy succeed in setting foot on our shores.

I am very glad to have this opportunity of thanking you personally for all you have done for the common cause and especially in promoting a harmony of sentiment throughout the new world. This deep understanding will be a dominant factor in the rescue of Europe from a relapse into the dark ages.

On behalf of the government and people of the United Kingdom I send you heartfelt thanks for your memorable message.

INTERNATIONAL AT A GLANCE

(By the Canadian Press)

London — Buckingham Palace bombed for second time in week; Their Majesties escape unharmed; renewal of daylight raids on capital results in wide bombing, after night raid driven off by intense anti-aircraft barrage.

Cairo—Egypt vigilant as Italy palaces great iron gates near the border.

Cairo—Syria seen swinging to Gen. Charles De Gaulle and "free France."

FLYING HIGH NAZI RAIDERS BLINDLY DUMP BOMBS OVER LONDON

Flying too high to be seen and dropping their deadly cargos of high explosive and incendiary bombs without attempting to single out military objectives, Nazi airraiders have spread wide destruction in London. These pictures graphically illustrate the damage being done by the ruthless practice of Goering's bombers. British bombers have flown over Berlin and bombed the heart of the city in reprisal. When the British fliers turned toward home the Potsdam station, the most important railway terminal in the heart of Berlin had been repeatedly struck and fires were burning fiercely.

SHOTS EXCHANGED DURING TRANSFER

Hungarians Charge Withdrawing Rumanian Forces Tore Down Festive Arches

Kolossvar (Cluj) Hungary, Sept. 13.—(AP) — Scattered disturbances in which shots were exchanged were reported today as the Hungarian Army completed occupation of Rumanian-ceded Northern Transylvania.

In some instances, Hungarian troops charged that withdrawing Rumanian forces tore down festive arches decorated with pictures of Hitler, Mussolini and Admiral Nicholas Horthy, Regent of Hungary.

Many public buildings also were reported to have been stripped of their contents.

A Rumanian Commission was due in Budapest today to discuss technical details of the Axis-dictated Vienna award by which Hungary got back approximately half of her war-lost Transylvania territory.

BACON SURPLUS IS WIPED OUT

Increased Purchases by the United Kingdom Have Absorbed Canada's Surplus

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP)—Canada's surplus of bacon which at one time exceeded 30,000,000 pounds and was a cause of much anxiety for the bacon board has been wiped out by increased purchases from the United Kingdom, Agriculture Minister Gardiner told a press conference today. Increased exports started early in August.

The Minister said the government might not announce until Nov. 1 its policy of assisting wheat farmers who are unable to cash in on this year's crop because of lack of elevator space.

The Minister said Nov. 1 was the date western farmers usually paid their threshing bills and other accounts and with the situation in Europe liable to change at any moment the government would seek the latest information on the wheat market before announcing a policy.

Britain has 170,000,000 bushels of wheat in Canada, but with the bombings over the United Kingdom is importing flour instead of wheat. At any time the situation might change and the British-held wheat might start to move, providing more storage space in Canadian elevators.

Canadian wheat growers then would be able to store more wheat in the elevators and get paid for it. At present he may only bring in five bushels per seeded acre.

Buckingham Palace Became Royal Residence In Reign of Victoria

A whole cluster of Royal buildings, including St. James's Palace and Marlborough House, London residence of Queen Mary, lie within a few minutes walk of Buckingham Palace which was bombed today.

Buckingham Palace occupies the site of the old Mulberry Gardens, planted by James I in 1609 to encourage the native silk industry.

In those years there was but a house for the keeper of the gardens, known successively as Goring House and Arlington House and finally, after it had been rebuilt in 1703, Buckingham House. George III purchased the House in 1762 and the building was remodeled for George IV about 1825 from which time it has been known as Buckingham Palace.

It did not become a Royal residence until the accession of Queen Victoria in 1837, replacing St. James's Palace.

SUB SHELLED MEN IN BOATS

Lascar Seaman Says He Was in Boat With Two Dead Men for Six Days

Halifax, Sept. 13 —(CP)— Wounded when his ship, a British tanker, was torpedoed on the Atlantic by an enemy submarine, Victor Abraham, 43-year-old Lascar seaman, is in hospital here today recovering from his injuries and the effects of six days spent in an open boat with two dead companions.

Abraham, a native of Celyon, told newsmen his story last night in halting, broken English. Only 29 men of a crew of 42 were able to get into the lifeboats when the ship was torpedoed, he said. Their fate is unknown to him.

The submarine shelled the men in the lifeboats, Abraham said. Two in the boat with him were seriously injured. They died later.

Two days after the ship was sunk a storm arose and the lifeboats parted. Abraham's companians died and he was too weak from his wounds, shock and hunger to move the bodies.

"Six days I was in the boat," he said. "I had one biscuit—a ship biscuit—I had no water. Then a boat came and picked me up and brought me here."

Berlin Communique

Berlin, Sept. 13 (CP)—The German high command communique said today that British planes entered northern and western Germany last night and admitted that bombs were dropped in various localties.

The communique claimed, however, that the planes failed to reach their goals.

(The British Air ministry had not yet reported on last night's and this morning's air offensive.)

The communique also said that light British naval forces started to shell Bouloge-Sur-Mer, on the German-held French coast, but claimed that Nazi naval batteries drove off the units.

(There was no report of this operation from British sources.)

The text of Friday's German communique follows:

"A German submarine sank six armed enemy merchant ships of 37,600 tons, among them one already reported, a steamer of 7,000 tons.

(This claim was not confirmed by the British Admiralty.)

"British planes entering northern and western Germany in the night failed to reach their goals. A few bombs dropped on residential sections and one village caused small damage.

(The British Air Ministry has not yet reported on last night's activities of the bomber command.)

"During our own armed reconnaissance of southern England bombs were dropped on industrial plants in London, Bexhill, Brighton, Banbury and other places.

"An 8,000-ton merchant ship was severely damaged southwest of the Isle of Man.

"During the night of Sept. 12-13, battle planes again bombed the port and docks of London and Liverpool, causing new fires and explosions. British ports again were mined.

"One enemy plane was shot down. One of our own is missing.

"During the night of Sept. 12-13 light enemy naval forces attempted to shell Boulogne port. The opponent, without having caused any damage, was driven away by the fire of our coastal batteries."

(There was no report on this operation from the British Admiralty).

POPE TO DELIVER ADDRESS

Rome, Sept. 13 (AP via Radio)—The Rome Radio quoted Vatican circles today to the effect that a session of Catholic Action, lay organization of the Catholic Church, will be held Oct. 6 and that Pope Pius XII is expected to deliver an "important" speech to the gathering.

Wartime Board Has Power to 'Provide Safeguard' Against Too High Rentals Says McLarty

Complaints Have Been Sent to Government That Rents in Some Places Are Unduly High

HOUSING A PROBLEM

Ottawa, Sept. 13 (CP). — Labor Minister McLarty announced yesterday that the Wartime Prices and Trade Board had been given power to "provide safeguards" against "undue enhancement of rentals" and shortage of housing accommodation, particularly in areas where there has been an influx of military or industrial population.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board, under the chairmanship of Hector B. McKinnon, was originally empowered only to regulate prices and insure the adequate supply and equitable distribution of such necessities of life as food, fuel and clothing.

The minister said in a release to the press that widening of the board's authority to take in rents and housing shortages was "in the national interest".

Complaints have been brought to the attention of the government that rents in some instances in Ottawa are higher than they should be and that housing of many persons who have come to Ottawa to take war jobs, is becoming a problem.

Similar complaints of high rentals have come from other points where military or industrial expansion has occurred, such as eastern Canadian coast ports.

"The Wartime Prices and Trade Board has been given considerable thought to this problem," Mr. McLarty said, "and will announce in the near future the localities where control will first be applied as well as the methods of control to be employed."

Japan is Seeking Agreement With Russia Japanese Paper Asserts

Tokyo, Sept. 13 (AP).—The newspaper Kokumin, often a spokesman for the army, asserted today that the Japanese government was making special efforts to reach an understanding with Soviet Russia on the ground that the United States' preparedness program is directed at Japan.

A rapprochement is being sought in order to safeguard Japan's rear because, the newspaper said, relations between the United States and Japan are "fraught with the danger of war."

The United States, the article continued, is offering severe strategic, economic and political opposition to Japan, indicating "deadly preparedness and definite plans."

As evidence, the newspaper cited appropriations for a two-ocean navy, and contended that the leasing of British territories in the Atlantic for naval bases would be followed by similar moves in the Pacific.

It ridiculed American declarations that the proposed bans of scrap iron and gasoline are for purposes of national defence. The real reason, the article claimed, is to deny these commodities to Japan. Weighty po- British territories in the Atlantic for Secretary Cordell Hull's remarks relative to the maintenance of the status quo in Indo-China.

SENDS TRINKETS TO AID WAR FUND

London, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)—The Daily Mirror today received from Mrs. James Robson of Sault au Recollet, Que., a parcel of trinkets which she asked the paper to "hand over to the Fovernment." The woman said her husband gave her the watch and other trinkets "in my young happy days when I was living at Godalming, Surrey."

Member of Fascist Grand Council Killed in Battle

Rome, Sept. 13 (AP via Radio)—The Italian wireless in a broadcast today announced the death of Tonin Chiodi, member of the Fascist Grand Council, in an aerial battle "sometime ago" over Malta.

Chiodi, well-known as an airplane builder and flier as well as a figure in Fascism participated in the trans-Atlantic flight to Canada and the United States with the late Marshal Italo Balbo in 1933.

Prospect of Heavier Taxes is Predicted

Leeds, Sept. 13 (CP)—The prospect of heavier taxes was seen today in a declaration by Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, that it is undesirable for the country to try to finance itself through the war mainly by treasury bills and other forms of unfunded debt.

Sir Kingsley, addressing the Lord Mayor's luncheon here said the large sum required to avoid inflation meant a strict reduction in consumption, heavy taxation and continuous saving and lending.

N. P. A. M. Units Parade at Petawawa

Petawawa Camp, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—Three thousand Non-Permanent Active Militia troops paraded here today as their two weeks training neared an end. Brig. Logie Armstrong, Officer Commanding Military District 3, Kingston, took the salute from the troops which came from all cities in the district.

Brigadier Armstrong complimented the officers and men on their bearing and stressed the importance of discipline in army life.

Major G. R. Johnston and C.S.M. Fred J. Hellier of the Brockville Rifles were presented with long service decorations by Brig. Armstrong.

Swiss Cheesemaker Given Four Months

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 13—(CP)—Alfred Luchinger, 52 - year - old cheesemaker of Dundas, who allegedly hurled a kitten to its death on the floor when he heard of British air victories, appeared for sentence on two charges laid under Defence of Canada Regulations and heard Magistrate H. A. Hurbidge sentence him to concurrent terms of four months in jail.

Luchinger, a Swiss, when asked if he had anything to say before sentence was passed, replied: "I am not guilty."

Passenger Injured When Car Hits Pole

An automobile driven by Kamile Kondra, of Frankford, crashed into a telephone pole near Glen Miller shortly before 4.00 a.m. today resulting in a passenger in the vehicle sustaining injuries. The passenger, Robert Lumsden, of Marmora, was cut about the forehead by flying glass necessitating medical aid at Frankford. Kondra and Lumsden had borrowed an automobile at Frankford for the purpose of attending the Brighton fair and were enroute home when it is believed Kondra fell asleep at the wheel and the vehicle left the highway, crashing into the pole, where it was badly damaged. Motorcycle Patrolman J. J. Hatch investigated and stated today charges were pending.

Roosevelt Clamps Down on Export of Certain Aircraft Plans, Supplies

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP). — President Roosevelt clamped licence certain plans and supplies for air-requirements today on the export of craft, in order to "further strengthen the national defence".

The presidential proclamation, made public at his press conference, added to the export licence list equipment used for producing aviation motor fuel and tetraethyl lead or any plans or specifications used in the design, construction, or operation of such equipment; and plans, specifications and descriptive or technical information of any kind setting forth the design of construction of aircraft or aircraft engines.

These items are in addition to those covered in a proclamation last July placing petroleum products, tetraethyl lead and iron and steel scrap under license for export.

A proclamation of May 1, 1937, requires that exports of aircraft and aircraft engines be licensed.

"The present proclamation", a formal statement said, "taken with the preceding ones mentioned, has the effect of putting under the control of the President for export purposes not only the aircraft and engines but also the plans and designs for building them."

Huge Sum Appropriated By Congress During Session

Grand Total of $21,383,509,204 for Expenses and Defence Account

SETS A RECORD

Washington, Sept. 13 (AP)—The United States Congress has appropriated $13,127,427,195 so far this session and may be asked to approve $1,500,000,000 in additional funds before adjournment.

In addition, it has authorized another $8,256,082,009 for expenditure in future years—the actual cash to be voted in subsequent sessions—for a grand total of $21,383,509,204.

Appropriations and commitments for defence account for more than $15,000,000,000 of the total.

GEN. McNAUGHTON UNFOLDS PLANS

Somewhere in Southern England, Sept. 13 (CP Cable)—Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, inaugurating a series of weekly educational talks to officers' training units, today unfolded his plans for building a new Canadian Corps to carry the war to enemy territory.

He said that the 1940 edition of the Corps was faster, and harder hitting than the famous Canadian Corps of the last war because of modern mechanization.

Speaking from a stage of the Garrison Theatre he said that Canada had a larger proportion of engineers than any other country in the world and full use would be made of this asset. Both in numbers and equipment engineers in the new Canadian Corps would be exceptionally strong to "clear the way for these forces which are being developed here at the moment for defence, but later, in our own good time, to carry the war abroad."

He said the structure in general of this new Corp would follow the British War Office specifications, but that there would be certain differences to make the fullest use of special Canadian qualities and qualifications.

TWO MEN FINED FOR ILLEGAL POSSESSION

Two residents of this city were hailed into Deseronto police court, held before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., yesterday, charged with the illegal possession of intoxicants while on the Tyendinaga Indian Reserve. The "pale-faces" were apprehended by Constable Beatty of the R.C.M.P. following which the charges were preferred. Pleas of guilty and fines of $10.00 each resulted.

BOMBS DROPPED

Belfast, Sept. 13 (AP)—A German plane dropped a number of incendiary bombs on Northern Ireland today. Fighter planes went after the raider and followed it out to sea. An auctioneer's premises, a public house and a private home were set afire. Two bombs fell in the main street close to an air raid shelter.

GERMAN TANKER, A SUPPLY SHIP HIT AT LE HAVRE

London, Sept. 13 (CP)—British bombers struck last night at Le Havre, on the German-held French coast, where the Nazi army has been reported concentrating some of its most powerful units for an attempt to invade Britain, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

A German tanker and a supply ship were hit at Le Havre, the Ministry said

A British balloon barrage snared a German plane early today. The Air Ministry communique, issued Friday night:

"Yesterday aircraft of the coastal command attacked shipping off Le Havre. An enemy tanker and a supply ship were hit.

"Last night aircraft of the bomber command attacked oil stores, shipping and docks at Emden. They also attacked the docks at Flushing, where several large fires and explosions were observed.

"Other forces of aircraft bombed key distribution centres at Osnabruck, Hamm, Schwerte, Ehrang and Brussels.

"Several enemy airdromes and the Norderney seaplane base were also attacked.

"All of our aircraft returned safely.

"An enemy bomber fouled a balloon barrage cable early this morning and was destroyed."

Former Belleville Newsman Appointed Executive Secretary To State Governor

From the reportorial desk of a Belleville newspaper to the position of Executive Secretary to the Governor of the State of Michigan reads the rapid rise in the business world of Joseph J. (Joe) Creighton, former reporter on the old Belleville Intelligencer.

Joe Creighton joined the editorial staff of The Intelligencer in 1926 and remained at that post for over two years, resigning to accept a similiar position on The Lansing, Michigan, Journal. Three years later he was assigned to the post of State Legislature correspondent for The Lansing Journal. More recently, however, Joe Creighton was appointed Executive Secretary to Governor Dickson of the State of Michigan with offices in the State Capitol Building at Lansing.

Mr. Creighton's new position holds much responsibility as his work is closely associated with that of Michigan State legislation and the personal representative of the Governor of that state.

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheehan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 2.00 p.m.

MINES
Ajax	10 1-2
Aldermac	15
Anglo Hur	165
Aunor	153
Bankfield	9 1-2
Bidgood	11 1-2
Beattie	90
Big Missouri	4 3-4
Bralorne	970
Broulan	62
Buffalo Ank	350
Calgary and Ed.	137
Central Pat	171
Chesterville	90
Coast Copper	65
Conlaurum	127
Dome	21 1-2
Eldorado	36
East Mal	300
Falconbridge	265
Gillies L.	4 1-4
Gunnar	40
Hardrock	82
Home Oil	183
Hollinger	11 7-8
Howey	26
Hudson Bay	25 1-2
Kerr Add.	246
Kirk Lake	96
Lapa Cad	6 7-8
Lake Shore	21
Leitch	45
Little L. L.	210
Macassa	325
McIntyre	44 3-4
McLeod	215
McKenzie	94
Mining Corp.	73
Moneta	54
Nipissing	100
O'Brien	75
Okalta	65
Omega	16 3-4
Paymaster	23
Pamour	103
Perron	150
Pend Oreille	133
Pickle Crow	270
Pioneer	210
Powell	80
Premier	95
Preston E.D.	190
Reno	15
Royalite	23
San Antonio	183
Sherritt G.	68
Siscoe	60
Sladen M.	39
Sud. Basin	107
Sullivan	63
Steep Rock	162
Sylvanite	230
T. Hughes	305
Tex. Can. Oil	118
Toburn	125
Ventures	265
W. Amulet	335
Wr. Hargreaves	600

TORONTO
Bell Telephone	155
B. A. Oil	19
Brewing Corp.	127
Braz. Trac.	4 7-8
Can. Bud Brewery	4 1-2
Can. Cement	4 3-4
Can. Dredge	13
Can. Ind. Alcohol	193
C.P.R.	5 1-8
Can. Malting	35 1-2
Can. Vinegar	6 1-2
Canada Car	8 1-8
Cockshutt Plow	5 1-2
Cons. Bakeries	14
Con. Smelting	38
Dominion Foundries	23
Dominion Stores	4 1-2
Dist. Seagrams	23 7-8
Fanny Farmer	25
Ford "A"	17
Gypsum	3 1-2
Imp. Oil	11 3-4
Int. Nickel	35 1-2
Inter. Pet.	17
Imp. Tobacco	14 3-8
Loblaw	25 7-8
Massey Harris	3 1-8
Mont. Power	29 1-2
McColl-Frontenac	5 7-8
Power Corp.	8 1-4
Price Bros.	12
Steel of Canada	73
Supertest	32 1-2
Shawinigan	18 3-8
Walker's	38
Walker's, Pfd.	19 3-4
C.P.A.	4 5-8

NEW YORK
American T. and T.	160 3-4
Anaconda	20 1-2
Bethlehem Steel	76 1-4
Chrysler	74 3-4
General Electric	32 5-8
General Motors	46
Inter. Telephone	2 1-2
North American	18 3-8
Montgomery Ward	38
Phillips Pet	35 1-2
Radio	4 3-4
Standard Oil of N.J.	33 1-2
Standard Brand	6 1-8
U.S. Steel	54 1-4
United Aircraft	39
Vanadium	30 1-4
Westinghouse	102 3-4

WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 13.—(AP) — Traders, experimenting with a market hampered by war worries sent Steels a little higher today and virtually ignored the majority of other shares.

Some of the few securities favored by attention were up major fractions toward the fourth hour, but transactions were so scattered that no real trends in any direction developed.

The little strength shown was recorded primarily by U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Douglas, United Aircraft, Westinghouse and Allied Chemical.

Lake Shore Mines, in the Canadian list, dipped a fraction. Canadian Pacific held unchanged while Canada 4s, in the Bond Market, lost 1-2 point.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 13 — (CP)—The market registered a moderate retreat today. Only 46,000 shares changed hands.

Price adjustments were limited to minor fractions except for a point loss for Canada Cement Pfd. and Tip Top Tailors Pfd.

Pickle Crow and East Malartic weakened and some junior golds were a bit easy. Nickel, Norada and Smelters were moderately weak in the base metals.

Royalite weakened 2 in broken lot selling and Home Oil lost 5 to 1.85.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 13—(CP)—Prices were unchanged at Brantford, Hull and Stratford, Bacon-Hog Markets reporting early today.

Liveweight: Brantford $8.75.

Dressedweight: Brantford $11.75 plus transportation, Hull $11.65, Stratford $11.65 plus transportation.

Chatham later reported liveweight down 50c there at $8.50 and dressedweight down 40c at $11.60. London reported prices unchanged there at $11.75 plus transportation.

Produce Prices Remain Unchanged

Toronto, Sept. 13.—Another session of unchanged prices was reported for all lines on the Toronto open produce market.

Dealers on the butter market reported it not difficult to clear the light offerings of No. 1 Ontario solids a 23 cents per pound, but that efforts to obtain higher prices failed. Prints traded in retail channels at the steady rates of 24 1-2 cents to 25 cents per pound.

While receipts were not heavy, supplies on the egg market were ample to satisfy demand. Prices held previous levels in both sections with graded shipments of Government inspected eggs commanding a premium of 1-2 cent to 1 cent per dozen.

Montreal, Sept. 13.—Produce market prices here as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 24c to 24 1-2c; first grade solids, jobbing price 23 1-2c to 24c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 33 1-2c; A-medium, 31 1-2c to 32c; A-pullets, 26c to 27c; B, 24c to 25c; C, 16c. Receipts: 393 cases.

Would Extend Further Help to Britain

New York, Sept. 13 (CP)—Dispatch to Great Britain of 25 "flying fortresses", large bombers, as many combat planes as possible and 20 torpedo boat was urged Thursday by William Allen White, chairman of the committee to defend America by aiding the Allies.

Mr. White asked officials of 622 branches of the committee to have members telegraph President Roosevelt in support of such aid. The committee has been active in urging American aid, short of war, to Great Britain.

Weekly Livestock Report

Toronto, Sept. 13 (CP)—Cattle prices opened firm but weakened towards the close, calves, sheep and lambs were firm and hogs opened 15 cents higher but lost the early gain to close steady, in trading on the Livestock Market this week. There was a heavy holdover of cattle.

The cattle run included 2,000 Westerns. Opening trade was firm on good to choice quality killers and on better grades of stockers. By Wednesday, however, local packers were loaded with cattle and buying was very light for the balance of the week. About 1,500 head were unsold at the close. Weighty steers sold at a top of $9 for choice with others downward to $7.50. Good butcher steers and heifers opened at $8.25 and $8.50 with some light steers at $8.75. Common butchers sold downward to $6.50. No butcher sales were made above $8.40 after Monday. Butcher cows sold at $4 to $4.75 with canners and cutters at $2.50 to $3.75. Light bologna bulls sold at $4 to $4.50 and good butchers sold upward to $5.75. Fed calves were $8.75 to $10.50 with two at $11. Good light stockers were picked up at $7 to $7.75 cwt. while others sold downward to $4.75. Milkers and springers were steady at $50 to $85 each.

Calves were steady on vealers and 25 cents lower on grassers. Vealers sold at $11 to $11.50 for choice with common downward to $6.50. Grassers were mostly $5.25 to $5.50 with some at $5.

Hogs opened higher at $9.35 on truck for bacons and at $12.50 dressed, but dropped to $9.25 and $12.35 on Tuesday to hold steady for the balance of the week.

Lambs were unchanged at $9 to $9.50 for good ewes and wethers with bucks at $8 to $8.50 and culls at $7.50 to $8.

Sheep were firm at $2.50 to $6 cwt. according to quality. Weekly summary:

	Cattle	Calves	Hogs	Sheep and Lambs
This week	8,423	3,586	4,866	3,073
Last week	6,263	3,147	4,319	3,780
1940 to date	196,855	108,003	160,396	78,431
1939 to date	196,868	103,222	174,234	94,205
This week 1939	8,916	2,850	4,864	3,267

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS
Wholesale to retail:
A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.26
Grade "C"	.19

BUTTER
Butter, No. 1	.23
Butter, No. 2	.21-.22 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.22
Churning Cream, No. 2	.20

POULTRY
(Dressed)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—.16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12
(Live Poultry)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

BRITISH PRISONERS

(Continued from Page One)

Depends On Cases.

What happens to these men of occupied countries depends entirely upon cases. If they have friends in Switzerland they might be permitted temporary liberty. If they have friends abroad they might be lucky enough to get visas and transportation out.

Many an unfortunate escaped prisoner from a concentration camp has reached Switzerland after weeks of efforts, nearer dead than alive, only to find when he is nursed back to health that Switzerland has its own problems. It cannot support all the penniless, friendless, countryless refugees who came to its frontiers.

Some of these refugees work now in labor camps, happy to find employment in Switzerland even if it's labor to which they are unaccustomed. Some live on dwindling fortunes smuggled out with them or awaiting them in Switzerland.

War Prisoners Different.

War prisoners are of a different type. Most of them escape prison camps with two driving desires in mind—to go home or to go on with the fight.

Switzerland's own "war prisoners" try to escape, too. Technically they are not prisoners, for they are French, Poles and other soldiers driven across the frontier by the Germans. They surrendered their arms and now they're interned in Swiss villages.

No barbed wire surrounds them. Some work with the peasants. Some play games. Some do nothing at all. All suffer sooner or later from the boredom of internment. Armed Swiss soldiers remind them that they are not free to go home.

The French are closest to their homes and they speak the language of a part of Switzerland. Escape is easiest for them and many have taken the escape trail. Some Swiss and foreigners living in Switzerland who have been helping them get across the frontier have already been arrested, but the exodus continues.

AGRICULTURAL

(Continued from Page One)

from May to November, inclusive.

Mr. Gardiner said industries were being advised to prepare for the possibility that possibly one-eighth of those called up for training may decide to remain in the army and provision against this should be made by taking in a similar percentage of new men to train for work in industry to replace those who elect to remain in the forces indefinitely.

Forms are being sent out today to the registrars in the thirteen administrative divisions set up under National War Service regulations, to be filled out and sent by registered mail to those who will be called for training Oct. 9.

Report in Three Days.

These forms will instruct the men to report within three days to one of the 10,500 examining physicians throughout the Dominion. Shortly the minister will announce appointment of a medical officer in each of the thirteen divisions to examine the medical forms of all men rejected as being in category lower than C-1, with a view to having them appear before a board for re-examination if the circumstances indicate such action.

The first call will be made to men in the 21 year class and it was expected, the minister said, that there would be sufficient men in the 21-24 year classes to provide the full total needed for the first year's training.

Only those who were 21 years old on July 1 last will be covered in the first proclamation. Those who attain 21 years meanwhile will be covered in the next proclamation, which under present circumstances will not be made until a year from now.

The ministers said it was possible a special training camp would be set up in the Yukon to take care of the 820 men in the 19 to 45 year class there who are too far from training centres to make it feasible to call them to existing camps.

LONDON'S DEFENCE CLEARS SKY AGAIN OF NIGHT RAIDERS

Nazi Bombers Unload Screaming Bombs in Dusk-to- Dawn Battering

MANY DOGFIGHTS

Londoners Surprised at Early Day Raid Shortly After 8½-Hour Night Attack

London, Sept. 13—(CP)—Waves of German planes made a series of daylight attacks upon London especially early today after a night of intermittent raiding, and unloaded screaming bombs on the capital as anti-aircraft batteries and British fighters strove to ward off their thrusts.

Twice before 10 a.m. air raid sirens shrieked their warnings. Bombs blasted and anti-aircraft batteries boomed in all sections of the metropolitan area as the Nazi aircraft increased their pressure on the heart of the Empire, harried by six successive nights of dusk-to-dawn battering.

Lowering skies hid from watchers in the streets the drama being unfolded in the skies, but the chatter of machine gun fire told of dogfights raging at several points over the city.

At one point a rift in the clouds disclosed British fighters hotly attacking a four-engined Nazi plane —one of the mightiest bombers in Hitler's air armada.

Crashed in Park

One raider was believed shot down in Southwest London during the first burst of anti-aircraft activity. Another plane was seen diving down with smoke pouring from its tail and was believed to have crashed in a park.

A red glow illuminated the sky over the west end, and watchers on rooftops could see flames rising from that section.

Londoners, unaccustomed to raids in the early part of the forenoon, were caught by surprise when the sirens shrilled their first warning at 7.37 a.m. (2.37 a.m. EDT)—only one hour and 54 minutes after the all-clear signalled the end of an 8 1-2-hour night attack.

Sky Cleared of Raiders

The first alarm lasted only 53 minutes and intense anti-aircraft fire cleared the skies before the Germans could reach any objectives in the city, but only 16 minutes later the sirens screamed again.

This time a wave of raiders appeared to have come over the London area and then split up, some going toward the southwest and others toward the northwest.

Bursts of gunfire flashed in all directions as the ground defences opened an intensive barrage.

Two parachutes blossomed out in the sky as one Nazi plane, apparently hit by shellfire, plummeted toward the earth.

One lone raider dropped several incendiary bombs which fell in a roadway and were quickly extinguished by air raid wardens. Puffs of smoke appeared all around the plane as it turned and apparently retraced its course.

Incendiary Bombs Plentiful

Fires broke out in another London district as incendiary bombs fell.

Several German planes flew low and fast over still another London district, and the scream of falling bombs was heard, followed by loud explosions.

Anti-aircraft fire was particularly heavy over the northern end of the city.

Although some high explosive and incendiary bombs fell in the Capital during the night, the raiders failed to reach central London in force and a government communique said damage was the lightest since the massed raids began last Saturday. Casualties were small.

Other attacks were launched simultaneously on many areas in the British Isles, but the communique said that only lone bombers or small formations participated and declared their operations were seriously hampered by heavy ground fire.

Midlands Visited

The Midlands had its longest night alarm of the war, however, and a number of homes were damaged in two Lancashire towns and in a town on the eastern outskirts of London.

The terrific curtain of explosives thrown up by London's new anti-aircraft technique in the dusk-to-dawn raid appeared even more effective than Wednesday night, when the Nazis received their first taste of concentrated shelling.

The barrage was not as continuous as on Wednesday but appeared more intense whenever the drone of enemy planes was heard in the distance.

So heavy were the clouds that few of the shellbursts could be seen from the ground, but falling shrapnel beat a tattoo on rooftops, shattered many windows and kept most civilians under cover. As on the previous night few searchlights were used by the ground defences.

"Suicide Squads" Active

The raiders again dropped a number of time bombs and the areas where they fell were roped off while "suicide squads" worked to deaden the explosions when they come.

The London Press was jubilant over the success of the barrage. A bannerline in the Telegraph proclaimed "London gun barrage clears sky again."

There were no official figures on the night's casualties in London, but a communique announced that 125 had been killed and 250 wounded Wednesday afternoon and that 40 had been killed and 170 wounded that night.

This brought the total London casualties from Saturday through Wednesday to 1,175 dead and approximately 4,270 injured.

Last night's raids, which began at 9:11 p.m., followed a day of comparative peace in the London area, interrupted by only one alarm which sounded at 4:39 p.m. and lasted for only one hour and two minutes.

Streets Alight With Gunfire

Although the all-clear signal was not sounded until 5.43 a.m. there were intervals during the night when the city was shrouded in a silence unbroken by the sound of anti-aircraft fire or airplane motors.

The most determined assault came just before 3 a.m. and the ground defences, which had been firing only intermittently for some time, came to life with a deafening roar.

The streets were alight with the flashes of gunfire, refracted downward by the low clouds from which rain fell intermittently during the night. The effect was like a terrific thunderstorm.

At one time the raiders converged on the city from two directions at once, but their formations were scattered by the intense fire. Some of the attackers apparently jettisoned their bombs in the suburbs.

During the intervals between the attacks, the hum of presses was audible in Fleet Street as London's newspapers seized the opportunity to get their editions out on schedule for the first time since Saturday.

Catholic Church Destroyed

The presence in the city of delayed action bombs dropped in previous raids—one of which is imbedded near famous old St. Paul's Cathedral—continued to cause anxiety.

One of the time bombs exploded late yesterday in a central London thoroughfare with a roar heard over a wide area. Property was damaged and the street was blocked with debris.

A petroleum cannister hit a Roman Catholic Church in West London during the night and started a fire which burned out the inside of the building.

"We had not long ago finished renovations which had taken us nine years to complete and the church was destroyed within four hours," one of the priests told the British Press Association.

"We had a new roof and a new electric organ installed, and now only the outside walls stand. We saved what really mattered to us—the Sacraments. I was there within a few minutes but found even then the building was ablaze."

ARTILLERY FIRE

(Continued from Page One)

In particular, the Italians were reported strengthening their lines in a triangular area between Aziz, Bardia and Fort Capuzzo which has borne the brunt of heavy British aerial attacks and shelling by British naval units operating off the coast.

Some observers hold that Italy's key role in the German-Italian war against Britain is to tackle the British in the Mediterranean at the right moment, striking probably at such strategic points as the Suez Canal, which would be the ultimate goal of a drive eastward through Egypt.

Weather Cooler

Two factors led observers to believe Italy would strike soon:

1. Weather conditions are considered more propitious now that the blazing heat of the desert summer has subsided. Reports from the frontier say the nights are so cool that soldiers sleep under three blankets.

2. Marshal Rudolfo Graziani, commanding the Italian forces, is believed by the British to have abandoned hope of getting reinforcements from home across the Mediterranean in the face of the British naval blockade of the Libyan Coast. Thus, the British feel, he must try for a decisive blow before dissipating his ammunition and equipment in desultory fighting.

British troops officially have been declared to be pursuing a policy of letting the Italians spend their supplies in indecisive fighting.

British commanders in Egypt therefore have adopted a "wait and see" attitude, feeling fully prepared to meet any Italian drive.

Egyptian soldiers, withdrawn from border garrisons two months ago, have returned to their posts.

While British forces facing the Italians along the frontier are much smaller than the Fascist army, they are said to comprise experienced desert fighters.

British Reinforce Army

Recently Britain has landed thousands of soldiers in Egypt to reinforce the 60,000 British troops reported on Egyptian soil last May. Egypt herself has a British-trained army of about 20,000.

The Egyptian Government, linked to Britain by a military pact, has refrained from declaring war on Italy pending any direct Italian attack. Premier Mussolini, in declaring war on Britain last June, said Egypt was safe from attack so long as she remained strictly neutral.

At the Suez Canal, presumably a chief Italian goal, Britain bestrides Italy's lifeline to her East African empire. But 400 miles—largely across desert lands—separates the Libyan forces from the canal.

Of late the Italians have taken the initiative more frequently in air warfare, launching heavy assaults on Merza Matruh, British North African base.

However, damage and casualties have been slight.

In return, British headquarters have reported almost daily bombing of the principal Libyan coastal bases.

To the south, Italian and British patrols have clashed along a 200-mile front on the northern frontier of Kenya Colony with losses to the Italians, a headquarters communique said yesterday.

Says "Operation" Has Begun

Rome, Sept. 13 (AP)—An Italian attack on Egypt, a major Fascist objective, was believed under way today. A military authority said an "operation" had begun in that sector. He did not disclose details.

(Earlier dispatches from Cairo reported moving up of Italian troops along the Libyan-Egyptian border and increasing artillery fire there, with a major Fascist attack —expected to be Italy's key contribution to the war against England —believed imminent.)

Italy's North African forces have been preparing to invade Egypt from Libya ever since Italy entered the war at Germany's side, and foreign observers believed the attack was timed to coincide with the intense German aerial onslaught against Britain, Egypt's protector.

Italian Communique

The Italian communique Friday said:

"One of our submarines returned to base after having sunk 18,000 tons of British shipping in the Atlantic, including a 10,000-ton oil tanker and an 8,000-ton freighter.

(This claim was not confirmed from British sources.)

"In North Africa, our aviation has carried out day and night air actions against enemy positions, scoring direct hits on motorized equipment and other military objectives on the Egyptian coast. A gasoline depot base set afire. Various trucks, armored cars and tanks were repeatedly hit and put out of action.

"In East Africa, our air formations successfully attacked an encampment and barracks near Abiq in Sudan and an enemy motorized column of 20 machines in the El Katulo zone in Kenya.

"Enemy air raids took place at Massawa which was bombed four times with one building damaged; at Assab, where the hospital kitchen of an infirmary and dwellings in the centre of the village was destroyed, with six killed and several wounded among Italians and natives; and Asmara and Gura which suffered limited damage.

"Airports at Gimma and Sciamanna also were bombed with nine wounded and light damage. One enemy plane was shot down by our chasers and two others probably were shot down."

(The Royal Air Force middle east command has not yet issued a report on yesterday's air activities.)

THEIR MAJESTIES

(Continued from Page One)

Their Majesties were on tour Tuesday when a delayed action bomb, dropped on Sunday, ripped a 15-foot deep crater in the palace grounds next to the north front of the building, blasting an enclosed swimming pool, showering derbis and shattering windows.

Court Correspondent Sees Raid

The court correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph, British News Agency, who had just left the palace, witnessed today's attack. First he heard the roar of engines and then he saw a twin-engined bomber dive from the clouds.

As the plane came over the centre of the palace the pilot appeared to cut his engines and the machine lost speed. Then came the whistle of bombs and explosions were heard in rapid succession.

Inside the palace the King and Queen with members of the household staff already had gone to shelters underneath the palace. They were there when one of the bombs crashed into the south wing, shattering the royal chapel, which is close to the Ambassadors' entrance.

The Exchange Telegraph correspondent was thrown to the ground by pieces of stone and masonry which rained on Buckingham Palace road. One piece smashed a street lamp near him.

Smoke shot into the air and a few passers-by who had dared the alarm to remain outside shelter scrambled quickly to cover.

Come In With Motors Silent

The attacking plane had gone out of his dive into a "dead stick" glide—motors silent. The bombs plummeted down from it before the engine coughed and re-started. With a fresh roar the attacker climbed into the clouds again and was lost to sight.

Other bombs, incendiaries, fell close to the palace.

Soldiers from Wellington Barracks dashed across the palace grounds with spades and other implements to control any blaze starting from the palace bombardment. They were aided by the Auxiliary fire service.

Fires near the palace were extinguished quickly by policemen and park keepers.

Shortly after the "all clear" sounded the King and Queen walked through the cellars of the palace and talked with members of the staff.

Later it was learned that three members of the palace staff and three plumbers who had been working there were slightly injured.

King and Queen Inspect Damage

Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were not in the palace at the time, officials announced.

After the raid their Majesties went to the ruined chapel to inspect the damage. Then they left the palace on a tour of London areas which had been arranged yesterday.

The apartments of the King and Queen are in the north wing, on the opposite side of the palace from the chapel.

The two bombs falling in the quadrangle dug out large craters. A water main burst and water geysered up. Many windows of the south wing were blown out and the walls were pitted by flying debris.

Two bombs which fell in the roadway outside the palace close to the Victoria Memorial caused a fire.

A man walking by the palace at the time of the bombing said he was thrown to the pavement by the "tremendous explosions."

Cabinet Congratulates Their Majesties

London, Sept. 13 (CP)—The King, replying to the war cabinet's congratulations on their Majesties' escape when Buckingham Palace was bombed this morning, said:-

"Like so many other people we now have a personal experience of German barbarity which only strengthens the resolution of all of us to fight through to final victory."

GERMAN RAIDERS

(Continued from Page One)

Earlier in the week a time bomb which fell in the grounds of Buckingham palace destroyed the small swimming pavilion which juts out from the northwest corner and shattered hundreds of windows.

Attack is Deliberate

That bit of Nazi destruction was not believed to have been intentional due to the fact it was a delayed action bomb. However, there is no question that today's attack was deliberate.

Some eye-witnesses of the attack, which was launched and completed in the space of 15 seconds, claimed that they identified the plane as a French type.

Three palace plumbers who had been working in the south wing and had taken shelter near the chapel were slightly injured by the direct hit on the chapel section. They were given first aid by the palace ambulance corps and taken to Westminster hospital.

The palace was struck in the longest daylight raid the Nazis have made on the capital. Multi-engined bombers flew singly, and in small waves over the metropolitan area for four hours and 10 minutes, attempting to terrorize its millions with a shower of incendiary bombs and a few screaming bombs.

A later alarm lasted only 38 minutes, the "all clear" sounding at 4:08 p.m. (11:08 a.m. EDT). During the attack two screaming bombs plunged into central London.

Number of Fires Started

A number of fires speckled London's central area during the main raid. Two ancient hotel structures now used for another purpose were set ablaze but heroic fire squads, ignoring the droning planes, brought the flames under control before sirens moaned the all clear signal.

British fighters harried the massive bombers and the hot fire of the anti-aircraft gun crews often seemed to singe their tails, especially when they sought to strike toward a broad avenue along which government buildings are clustered.

One nervy Nazi who drove a three-engined bomber through low-hanging clouds in an effort to locate his target apparently lost the gamble. From a window of the Canadian Press office the raider could be seen barely skimming the barrage balloons. Suddenly a Spitfire roared from a cloudbank, its machine guns spitting fire. It was hanging on the big bomber's tail as they disappeared in the snowy clouds.

It was the second damage done to the Royal residence. A delayed-action bomb, dropped Sunday, exploded Tuesday and demolished a corner of the palace, including the swimming pool that is used by Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, and broke windows in the King's study and the Queen's sitting room. None of the Royal Family were in the palace at the time of the earlier bombing.

The damage today was described by the Ministry of Information as slight.

During a four hour and nine minute morning attack, the German raiders, coming singly and in small groups, appeared to strike particularly at London's most noted and cherished landmarks. The attack, starting with an alarm at 9:46 a.m. (4:46 a.m. EDT) ended at 1:55 p.m. (8:55 a.m. EDT). It was the second daylight alarm today.

Five Hit Palace.

Five bombs hit Buckingham Palace and its inner court as the raiders showered small incendiary missiles and some flaming oil cannisters far and wide in the central area. In some parts of the city screaming bombs were dropped.

The raiders operated with the greatest caution, hiding in the clouds until such times as they could dart out and elude British fighter planes and the intense aerial barrage.

Then they would fly low and fast toward their objectives.

Rooftop watchers saw single tri-motored bombers swoop low and fast with clouds of shells breaking about them and British fighters in hot pursuit.

Two Bombers Shot Down.

At least two of the darting bombers were believed brought down in the city and parachutes from crippled planes drifted over London landmarks as clouds of anti-aircraft bursts filled the skies and ranging British pursuit planes dashed after the attackers.

The bombers appeared to be seeking out particularly London's cherished, historic structures. Scores of incendiary bombs were dropped and far and wide, some of them in well-known thoroughfares. Air raid wardens promptly extinguished great numbers of them.

After 2½ hours, the raid still was going on, the longest daylight attack since Saturday evening's assault on east side docks initiated night-long attacks.

Some of Germany's biggest bombers were participating in the raid.

Despite the quick action of firemen, a red glow over the west end was seen by rooftop watchers and other fires broke out. Loud explosions and the scream of bombs sounded when several of the raiders flew low and fast over one London district.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When you make raisin muffins, rub the raisins with glycerine. They will cook as whole raisins, and those at the top or bottom of the muffins do not burn.

Piano authorities recommend that pianos in home use be tuned four times a year in order to compensate for the expansions and shrinkages in strings and soundboard caused by the change in seasons. The soundboard is constructed of a thin sheet of spruce, which, like all wood, is affected by climatic variations of heat and cold dryness and dampness. Because of the greater elasticity of new strings, a new piano requires more frequent tuning than an older one.

Helen Chandler and Stuart Erwin principals in "Mr. Boggs Steps Out," another laugh hit by the author of "Mr. Deeds," which is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre with the co-feature, "Silver on the Sage," starring Hopalong Cassidy.

Show Practical Patriotism
BUY
SECOND WAR LOAN
C. D. CROSBY
204½ Front St. BELLEVILLE
Telephone 2077
REPRESENTING
MILLS SPENCE & CO. LIMITED
TORONTO MONTREAL HAMILTON WINNIPEG
Invest in Freedom.

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Judith turned out the lights when the dishes were finished and curled up on the davenport. She lay there a long time shivering. She wondered if she walked out of the apartment to stay what Tex would do. But she had to face the fact that she no longer dared try that experiment. It was too dangerous. She remembered her father's words when she told him she and Tex were to be married:

"Always remember this, my girl. Matrimony is a give-and-take game. But never leave your husband—unless you mean it.

Finally she ended up crying herself to sleep in complete futility. It was getting daylight when Judith awoke. She could not remember for a moment where she was. Then she got up quietly, slipped into the bedroom. Tex appeared to be sleeping when she finally got into her bed.

Tex was up before Judith next morning. She could hear him clattering around in the kitchen. Then she smelled coffee. She lay there wondering just how to face him. But it had to be done.

"Breakfast is ready," Tex yelled.

She came out into the kitchenette as he was struggling with the toast. "I burned one batch. How the dickens do you manage?"

"Here, I'll do it," she said.

He'd set the table, cut the grapefruit.

"Do you want eggs?" she asked.

"No, thanks."

Tex did not meet her eyes as they sat down. She handed him his coffee but he was deep in the morning paper.

"I've got to go out to the field this morning to see Dudley again," Tex said. "I'll be back early though."

"Do you want dinner here?"

"Don't think so. May push off early." Then he added with elaborate carelessness:

"Might just as well get going. Today is booked fairly light to Chicago. I may have to wait over there to get to the coast."

Judith made one last effort. "I wish I could go with you."

Tex went back to his paper, but his voice was conciliatory. "It's pretty short notice for you. We may get out there in the Spring."

Judith did not comment.

"Better pack my bag while I'm gone. You can drive me over." Before he left, he kissed her. "Now be a good girl. I'd like to take you, kid, but the way things are it's impossible. Besides, Doc thinks I should get away. I don't want to go in for anything social."

Judith sent him away with a smile. There wasn't anything else to do. When the apartment was straightened, she went into the bedroom, began sorting shirts and handkerchiefs. She got out Tex's large airplane bag, and packed it.

The day seemed endless. She had no will to go any place. Besides she was not sure when he'd get back.

Judith went over the bills and her check book. While she was at the desk, Tex came back. He was in a great hurry.

"I want to get the four o'clock," he said. "How much money will you need?"

"There are some bills—and the rent."

Tex counted out some money, a generous amount.

"You better get your winter clothes while I'm away. Have a good time." Then as an afterthought he added, "Why don't you go out to Detroit?"

Judith hesitated an instant. "Not this time, Tex."

On the way to the airport, Aimes tried his best to be pleasant. His conscience hurt him. When Tex was doing something he shouldn't, he was always especially nice.

"I'll be at the Ambassador. Dudley fixed that up I can get in some swimming, too."

"Not with your head the way it is," Judith protested.

"Oh, I won't try any diving."

At the airport, Tex told Judith not to wait. "I might not get out on the four o'clock if she's full. You might just as well run along. Then you can go to a show."

As Tex was getting his bag out, Judith say Dudley's car drive up. Tex seemed suddenly in a great hurry. But in spite of his haste, Dudley came up to speak to them.

"On your way?" he asked. Tex nodded. He shook hands with Judith. "Haven't seen you since our dinner." He turned to his chauffeur:

"Get Mrs. Aimes' bag out of the car, Clark."

It was Judith who finally spoke. "I'm not going, Mr. Dudley."

Tex's face was crimson under the tan. Dudley nodded curtly, sent his chauffeur on.

"Take care of yourself, Tex. Report to our west coast doctor when you land." He shook hands with Judith. "I'll phone you and we'll have dinner one night while Tex is away."

Then Dudley left them together. Tex kissed Judith goodbye hurriedly. He found it uncomfortable to bear the reproach in her eyes.

"I'll write, honey. Wire me if you need anything."

Then he disappeared into the waiting room.

x x x

Tex Aimes had been gone a week, the longest Judith had ever spent, when Michael Dudley telephoned.

"I've been down south. Had to go to Baltimore and Ft. Lauderdale," he explained. "How about dinner tonight?"

Judith was grateful to hear his voice, eager for somebody to talk to.

"I'm at the field. I'll pick you up about five-thirty. Then you won't have to come over by train. Put on your best clothes. This is to be a real party. We can drop by my apartment, and I'll dress."

The day after Tex left, Judith had bought a new dinner dress. It was a slim black affair, very plain, but well cut. There was a matching black jacket which went with it.

Judith dressed, taking great pains with her lovely black hair. It was done in curls over her head, swept off her ears.

She made some cocktails, laid out her gloves and an evening bag Tex had brought her from Miami once when he felt especially flush.

Tex! She turned away from the mirror. There had been an airmail letter that day, written in his usual terse style. Tex hated to write letters. But he was having a grand time, he wrote, swimming every day. His head was better, and he wished she'd come with him. The note was a great comfort to Judith. She felt like celebrating.

When Dudley finally rang the bell Judith was in quite a flutter, like a girl at her first party. Her cheeks were flushed, her eyes shining as he greeted: "You look grand. What do you hear Tex?"

Dudley gave no sign that he might suspect she and Tex were surely drifting apart.

"He's having a grand time, says he feels in the pink."

"Good! Well, here's to Tex!" he toasted with sincere emphasis.

Dudley had never been in the Aimes apartment before. He liked its simplicity, neatness, and the clever way in which Judith had blended yellows and greens.

Dudley smiled. "I never imagined you were so domestic. Do you mean to tell me you can cook?"

"Of course. I'll prove it to you when Tex gets back."

The drive over to Manhattan was pleasant. She listened idly while Dudley told her about his boyhood in Idaho.... He now had an apartment on Park Avenue. They drove up Fifth Avenue, just behind the heavy rush-hour crowd. Lighted windows offered enchanting splashes of color.

Judith and Tex had never been in Dudley's apartment. The car pulled up before one of those quiet, expensive apartment dwellings off the 70's. The elevator itself radiated luxury. Dudley's man-of-all-work opened the door of the apartment.

There was a small foyer, beyond a huge living room. It commanded a fine view of the avenue, up and down town.

"Make yourself at home, Judith. Jim will bring you a cocktail. I've some new phonograph records. Try them."

He went on to dress. Left alone, Judith looked about her with keen pleasure.

It was a fine room, lined with books. It looked lived in. Nothing of the interior decorator here. There were many rich, dark oriental rugs, comfortable chairs. Judith saw an old wooden propeller over in the corner, one blade splintered. There was a date on it, 1934. Judith wondered whether it was off one of Dudley's planes.

She stood for a long time at the big windows. The lights on the cars far below gleamed like glow-worms in the deep blue twilight.

Judith did not realize how long she had stood there until Dudley joined her at the windows. He looked very handsome in his dinner coat.

"Nice view, isn't it?"

"Lovely."

"To me twilight is perfection. How blue the light was tonight."

For it had turned dark while Judith stood there.

"What about that 'prop' over in the corner?" Judith asked.

"My last crack-up. Got a nice banging up myself. I keep it there just as a reminder to me that a pilot must 'keep his nose down.' I got smart and see what happened? Maybe that prop is the reason our lines haven't had a crack-up in seven years."

"What happened?"

"I got caught in a fog and didn't have a radio. Thought I could make the airport. I didn't."

He put his hand on her arm and drew her over to the prop.

"See those names scratched on it? The gang amused themselves by autographing it while I was convalescing. Here's Eddie Stinson's and Speed Holman's—old timers. They're gone now. And Freddie Lund's and Lee Miles.' Here's Marvel Crosson's. She was killed in the first woman's derby. And Amelia's. ......Not so many of them left, Judith. And here's Doug Davis'."

Judith traced the famous signatures. Some of them she had known. All of them had been Tex's friends.

"Here's Tex's!" she cried suddenly.

"Yes, he was just a kid, then. Came to see me with Jimmie Doolittle. You'll find his there, too. Jimmie brought Tex to see me once—in St. Louis. Your future husband was just a school kid crazy about flying, almost as tall as he is today. I remembered him because he was such a handsome boy and skinny as a rail."

"I'd like to have known him then," Judith said.

"No, I think not. He wasn't interested in anything but flying. Very serious-minded."

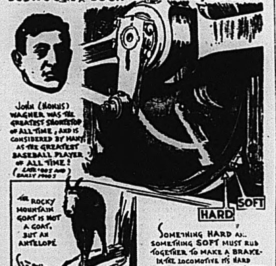
Judith laughed at such a description of her husband.

"Tex had something even then. He certainly has made a great flier. He has courage. I never hesitate to trust him with any ship."

Judith had found Tex's boyish signature scratched on the old "prop," a vastly different one than the scrawl which he used today for his autograph.

(To be continued)

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOTT



JOHN (HONUS) WAGNER WAS THE GREATEST SHORTSTOP OF ALL TIME, AND IS CONSIDERED BY MANY AS THE GREATEST BASEBALL PLAYER OF ALL TIME!
(CAREER 1897 AND EARLY 1900'S)
THE ROCKY MOUNTAIN GOAT IS NOT A GOAT, BUT AN ANTELOPE HARD SOFT
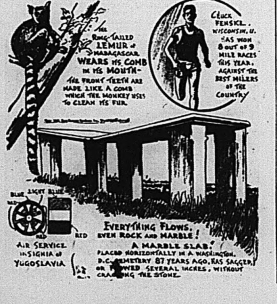
SOMETHING HARD AND SOMETHING SOFT MUST RUB TOGETHER TO MAKE A BRAKE- IN THE LOCOMOTIVE ITS HARD STEEL AGAINST SOFT CAST IRON

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK By R. J. SCOTT



THE RING-TAILED LEMUR of MADAGASCAR WEARS ITS COMB IN ITS MOUTH- THE FRONT TEETH ARE MADE LIKE A COMB WHICH THE MONKEY USES TO CLEAN ITS FUR
CHUCK FENSKE, WISCONSIN, U. HAS WON 8 OUT OF 9 MILE RACES THIS YEAR AGAINST THE BEST MILERS OF THE COUNTRY
BLUE LIGHT BLUE
RED
AIR SERVICE INSIGNIA OF YUGOSLAVIA
EVERYTHING FLOWS, EVEN ROCK AND MARBLE!
A MARBLE SLAB! PLACED HORIZONTALLY IN A WASHINGTON, D.C. CEMETERY 87 YEARS AGO, HAS SAGGED, OR BOWED SEVERAL INCHES, WITHOUT CRACKING THE STONE

Little Benny's Note Book

POP was starting his 2nd cigar and ma was doing the bridge problem and I was trying to juggle 4 marbles at the same time and they kept dropping on the floor on account of me needing more practice, and ma said, Benny, will you stop that constant silly juggeling before everybody's a nerviss wreck except yourself? He's been doing that the whole day, Willyum. Why cant he apply some of that inexhawstible concentration to a good cause once in a while? she said.

Well jimminy, ma, I mean holey smokes, pop, if a thing's worth doing it's worth doing well, isn't it? I said, and ma said, Such a question to apply to juggeling.

Well G roozalem, what's a matter with juggeling? I said, and pop said, it's true that there have been some deservedly famous jugglers who entertained great multitudes of people in their lifetime and who therefore obviously didn't waist their time in devoting it exclusively to the mastery of their chosen art. But unfortunately perfection does not always bring happiness. The thoroughly efficient person is usually saddened by the evidence all around him of the hopeless inefficiency of the rest of mankind, especially his family and friends, and he makes himself very unpopular by trying to do something about it, wich alas is imposible. Now for instance if by unrelenting practice you succeeded in juggling 4 objets perfectly, you would probably develop an uncomfortable feeling of intolerant impatience for your clumsy playmates who cant even juggle 2 objects with grace and precision. On the other hand if you content yourself with striving to master 3 objects with a fair degree of success, you will feel a pleasant and wholesome kinship with the many other strugglers tords the same modest goal, he said.

Well jimminy, pop, maybe three's enough, I said. I mean I guess what's a use? I said.

And I stopped juggeling any and started to read my new Paul Peppy book.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

FRIDAY, SEPT. 13.

6.30—Paul Sullivan Edits the News —WABC.
7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time.—WEAF, WGY.
7.15—Lanny Ross, tenor.—WABC, WGR.
8.00—Concert with Lucille Manners, quartet, Frank Black's orchestra.—WEAF, WBEN, CBL.
8.30—Death Valley Days. — WJZ. WHAM.
9.00—Waltz Time, Frank Munn, tenor, Manhattan chorus; Abe Lyman's Orch.—WEAF, WGY.
9.30 — Command Performance — CBL.
9.30—Music for Moderns—WEAF, WGY
10.00—Don Ameche Variety Show—WEAF, WGY
10.30—BBC News Reel—CBL
10.45—Golden Gate Quartet—WABC
11.30—Salute to Byrd Expedition: Honolulu, Hawaii Salutes—WEAF, WGY

SATURDAY, SEPT. 14.

11.15—Sports School—WEAF, WGY Concert—WEAF, WGY
1.30—Luncheon at the Waldorf—Guest: Madame Schiaparelli, fashion designer—WJZ

NIGHT

8.00—Listener's Playhouse—WEAF, WBEN
9.00—Evening Prelude: News — CBL
9.00—Your Hit Parade — WABC. WJR
9.30—Radio Guild Drama—WJZ, WHAM
9.45— Saturday Night Serenade — WJR
10.00—Uncle Ezra—WEAF, WGY
10.30—Melody in the Night—WJZ. WHAM CBL
11.30—Musical Mirror: News—CBO. CBL
12.00—Guy Lombardo's Orch.—WABC, CFRB

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200
UNITED STATES STATIONS
KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

Schoharie

Schoharie — Mrs. Lewis Cleave and Mrs. Douglas Tayler spent Wednesday at Gananoque with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Longwell and children spent Sunday with Mrs. Mildred Benson.

Mrs. Mary Barrett of Picton is spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw.

Mrs. Geo. Ketcheson, Wellington Road, spent Thursday last with her father, Mr. John Benson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walters and Homer spent Sunday in Consecon with Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson.

Mrs. A. Clarke left on Thursday to visit friends in Wooler and Stockdale.

Miss Grace McGee returned to her home last week after spending the summer at Lakeland.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ketcheson of Woodville were callers at the home of Mr. John Benson on Sunday afternoon.

The Live Women's Circle were delightfully entertained at the home of Mrs. Harry Foster on Thursday, Sept. 5th, and Mrs. Angus Walters was elected President for the coming year.

Shaped like a speed boat, an automobile invented by a resident of Miami, Fla., can be driven through water after its wheels have been raised above the water line.

RADIO PROGRAMS

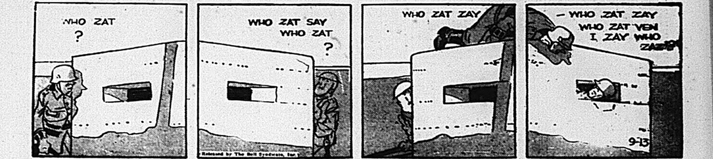
FRIDAY

12.30—Nat'l. Farm and Home Hour. WJZ, WHAM
7.30—Al Pearce's Gang—WABC, WGR
8.00—Man About Hollywood — WABC, WGR, CFRB
8.30—Choose up sides—WABC
8.30—Sinfonietta—CBL
8.30—From Hollywood Today—WEAF, WGY
9.00—Harry Kogen's Orch. — WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Johnny Presents; Drama; Orch—WABC, WJR
9.30—Grand Central Station — WABC
10.00—Chamber Music—CBO, CBL WABC
11.30—Woodhouse and Hawkins — CBO, CBL

SATURDAY

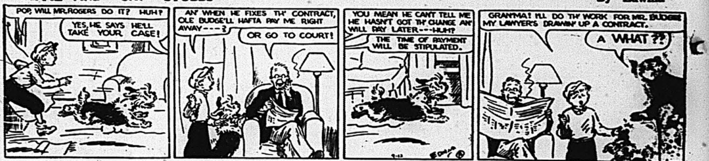
2.00—I'm an American — WEAF, WGY, WHAM
2.00—London Calling—CBL
3.00—Bobby Byrne's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM
4.00—Club Matinee—WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Truth or Consequences — WEAF, WGY
9.30—American Choral Festival—WOR, CBL
10.00—Let's Go to the Music Hall — CBL
10.30—News of War—WABC
10.30—Bobby Byrne's Orch.—WEAF
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBL
12.00—News, Abe Lyman's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

POP — Pop's Got 'Em Guessing By J. Millar Watt



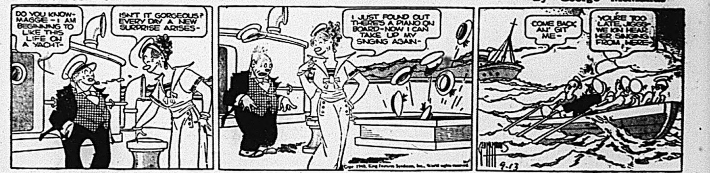
WHO ZAT ?
WHO ZAT SAY WHO ZAT ?
WHO ZAT ZAY
— WHO ZAT ZAY WHO ZAT VEN I ZAY WHO ZAT?
9-13
Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS — By Edwina



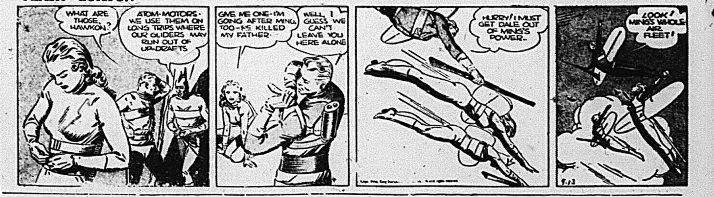
POP, WILL MR. ROGERS DO IT? HUH?
YES, HE SAYS HE'LL TAKE YOUR CASE!
AN' WHEN HE FIXES TH' CONTRACT, OLE BUDGE'LL HAFTA PAY ME RIGHT AWAY---?
OR GO TO COURT!
YOU MEAN HE CAN'T TELL ME HE HASN'T GOT TH' CHANGE AN' WILL PAY LATER---HUH?
THE TIME OF PAYMENT WILL BE STIPULATED.
GRAN'MA! I'LL DO TH' WORK FOR MR. BUDGE! MY LAWYER'S DRAWIN' UP A CONTRACT.
A WHAT ??
9-13
EDWINA

BRINGING UP FATHER — By George McManus



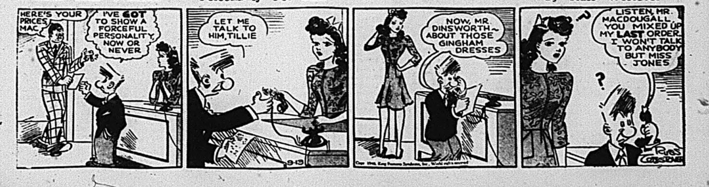
DO YOU KNOW-MAGGIE - I AM BEGINNING TO LIKE THIS LIFE ON A YACHT-
ISN'T IT GORGEOUS? EVERY DAY A NEW SURPRISE ARISES-
I JUST FOUND OUT THERE'S A PIANO ON BOARD - NOW I CAN TAKE UP MY SINGING AGAIN-
COME BACK AN' GIT ME-
YOU'RE TOO LATE, JIGGS- WE KIN HEAR HER SINGING FROM HERE-
9-13

FLASH GORDON



WHAT ARE THOSE, HAWKON?
ATOM-MOTORS- WE USE THEM ON LONG TRIPS WHERE OUR GLIDERS MAY RUN OUT OF UP-DRAFTS
GIVE ME ONE- I'M GOING AFTER MING, TOO- HE KILLED MY FATHER-
WELL, I GUESS WE CAN'T LEAVE YOU HERE ALONE
HURRY! I MUST GET DALE OUT OF MING'S POWER..
LOOK! MING'S WHOLE AIR FLEET!
9-13

TILLIE THE TOILER — Personality For Sale By Russ Westover



HERE'S YOUR PRICES, MAC
I'VE GOT TO SHOW A FORCEFUL PERSONALITY, NOW OR NEVER LET ME TALK TO HIM, TILLIE
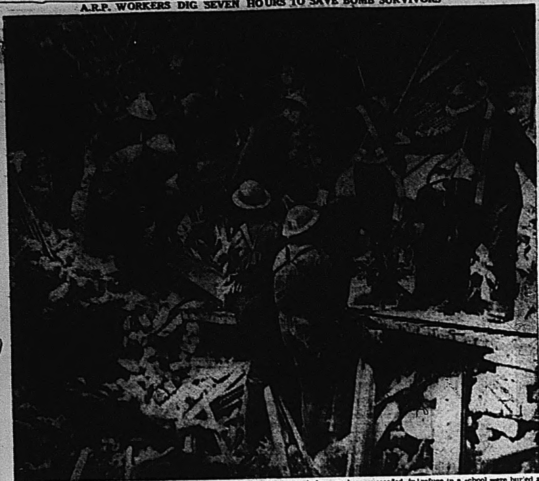
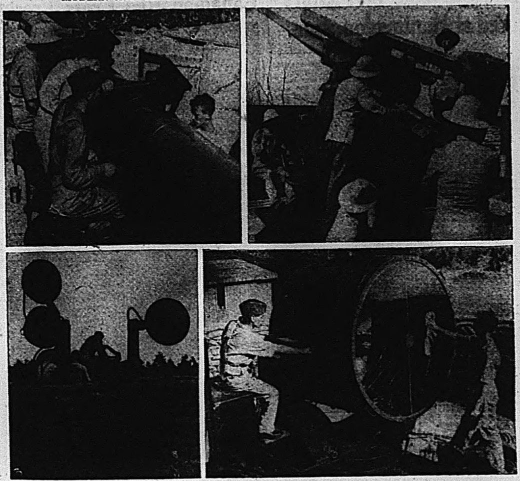
NOW, MR. DINSWORTH— ABOUT THOSE GINGHAM DRESSES
?
LISTEN, MR. MACDOUGALL, YOU MIXED UP MY LAST ORDER. I WON'T TALK TO ANYBODY BUT MISS JONES
?
9-13
RUSS WESTOVER

A.R.P. WORKERS DIG SEVEN HOURS TO SAVE BOMB SURVIVORS



Air raid precautions workers are shown carrying survivors from a bombed building in London after hours of ceaseless digging in the ruins. The rescued had been entombed in the wreckage for seven hours before workers succeeded in reaching them. At another part of London 500 persons who took refuge in a school were buried alive. Of the first hundred dug out of the ruins only one was alive.

MODERN ANTI-AIRCRAFT BATTERIES GUARD CANADA'S EAST COAST

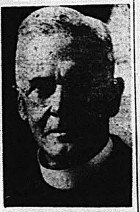


Brought to a high state of perfection since the outbreak of the present war, modern anti-aircraft batteries stand guard over Canada's east coast. Range finders, UPPER LEFT, are invaluable units of these anti-aircraft batteries. Manned by four men, this instrument determines the height of enemy planes and the range of fire. The 3.7 anti-aircraft guns, TOP RIGHT, can fire a death-dealing shell every five seconds. These shells travel two or three miles varying with the trajectory. Powerful mechanical ears, LOWER LEFT, will detect approaching planes long before they are within sight. Manned by highly trained crews, these instruments automatically direct the powerful beams of adjoining searchlights, LOWER RIGHT.

ROYAL AIR FORCE CREATES HAVOC IN THE HEART OF BERLIN

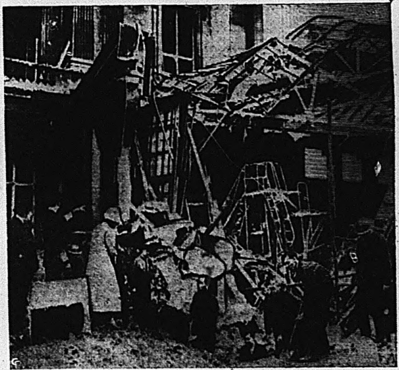
Roaring over the heart of Berlin, British bombers have scored hits on many important buildings and thoroughfares of "the city that could not be bombed." One of the buildings that felt the weight of British bombs is shown, LEFT, while a gaping hole on Berlin's famous Unter Den Linden, RIGHT, testifies to the havoc caused by the British bombs. The historic Brandenburg gate, which was damaged in the raid, may be seen in the background. The Reichstag and Potsdam station were other points which received the attention of Britain's bombers.

NEW MODERATOR



Rev. Aubrey S. Tuttle, principal of St. Stephen's college, Edmonton, has been chosen moderator of the United Church of Canada at a meeting of the General council of the United Church at Winnipeg.

PRIME MINISTER AND RULERS INSPECT BOMBED PALACE



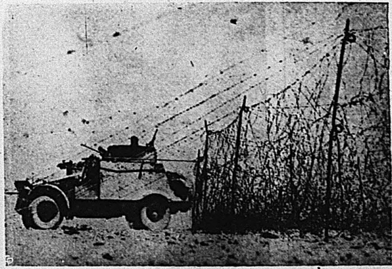
Prime Minister Churchill, LEFT, is shown with King George, POINTING, and Queen Elizabeth as they examined damage done by a delayed-action bomb at Buckingham palace. The bomb was dropped by a Nazi warplane during the week-end raids. None of the Royal family was in the palace at the time of the explosion. Despite the terrific pounding given the British capital, Premier Churchill reiterated his confidence that Britain would emerge from the struggle victorious.

U.S. GOBS TURN DESTROYERS OVER TO BRITISH TARS IN CANADIAN WATERS

The spirit of friendship and goodwill that has characterized the relations between the British Empire and the United States here is dramatically typified by the American sailor, who brought some over-age destroyers to eastern Canadian ports, and the Royal Naval rating who has come from his own country to help man the ships during their voyage to the United Kingdom. They are shown above on the stern of a U.S. destroyer.

Ratings from the Royal Navy are shown above listening intently as a brother sailor of the United States Navy explains the workings of some of the defensive equipment on an over-age United States destroyer, one of the many being transferred to the Royal Navy. A number of these destroyers arrived in eastern Canadian ports prior to being officially handed over to their new owners.

ITALIAN FRONTIER WIRE FAILS TO STOP BRITISH



This official British photograph shows an armoured car of one of the advance units passing through Italian barbed wire on the Libyan frontier—this wire barrier is part of the border defences upon which the Italian forces are depending so much. It runs for a distance of four hundred miles along the frontier.

Mrs. Jesse Cole of Picton Injured at Huntingdon, Que.

Car in Which She Was a Passenger Topples Over Steep Embankment

OTHER ITEMS

Picton, Sept. 13—(Special)—Mrs. Jesse Cole of Picton, who is visiting friends at Huntingdon, Quebec, received a severely bruised hip and thigh in an automobile accident there. With two friends she had gone for a motor drive which led up a mountain with a narrow road. An oncoming car forced that in which they were riding so far over that it turned over a steep embankment. The driver was able to open a door and pull the two ladies out. The girl suffered a severely lacerated knee.

Nearly all canning factories in Prince Edward County are now paying forty cents a bushel for tomatoes, following the lead of a few factories.

Teacher Honored

Miss Genevieve Smith, a former teacher in Bloomfield Public School was honoured on Saturday evening last when her village friends assembled in the S.S. room of the United Church and presented her with a walnut desk and chair, radio, a clock and a table lamp. Miss Smith, who left Bloomfield, to teach in Kingston Public School, expressed her thanks and regretted leaving her many friends in the district. Refreshments were served. Mrs. James Gough, Mrs. Frank Stone, Miss Freda Marshall and Miss Helen Cahoon were the committee in charge of this event.

Successful Tea

A very successful tea was held Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Walter S. Fraser under the sponsorship of the Sir Thomas Picton Chapter I.O.D.E. There was a large attendance and lovely summer flowers decorated the home, one of the finest in the district. Mrs. Fraser was assisted in receiving by Miss Lillian Boulter, Regent of the Chapter, while Mrs. Keith Pearsall admitted the guests and Mrs. S. J. Collier and Mrs. William Tait received the fees. The hostesses were Mrs. J. F. Reycraft, Mrs. Iva E. Martin and Miss Vera Lerch. Tea was poured by Mrs. P. A. Vancewater, Mrs. Morley Currie, Mrs. G. E. Boulter and Mrs. Mary Crawford. The assistants were Mrs. M. Mason, Mrs. C. E. Goodwin, Mrs. J. W. Cavers, Mrs. H. Ruttan, Mrs. Gordon Whattam, Mrs. V. J. Butler and Mrs. J. W. Leavens.

Pilot Prisoner of War

Pilot Officer William Webster of the R.A.F. is a prisoner of war in Germany according to information received here Thursday by Mrs. Fletcher Webster. No information was given. He is a brother of Lieut. Fletcher Webster, who was recently called for service with the Royal Canadian Volunteer Reserve at an Eastern Canada port.

Mrs. C. S. McGillivray entertained St. Andrew's Guild for their September meeting at her home on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Harvard Vancleaf presided. Reports were given by Mrs. C. H. McGibbon and Mrs. J. W. Reid. Plans were discussed for fall activities and talent money was handed in. The hostess was assisted at the refreshment hour by Mrs. F. Braden, Mrs. C. D. Wilson and Miss Jessie Redmond. Mrs. J. W. Reid invited the group to her home for the October meeting.

Personals

Mrs Bernard Kingley entertained a party of friends at the tea at the home of Mrs. W. S. Fraser on Thursday.

Mr. G. M. Hicks and Capt. W. C. Hicks were in Toronto a few days this week.

Mrs. C L. Collier and family have returned to town after spending several months at Minet Point near Barrie, while Lieut. Colliver was at Camp Borden.

Radio listeners were pleasantly surprised on Monday evening when they heard the voice of Lieut. William McLean coming from England. It was during the 'With the troops in England' program.

Mrs. J. A. Wallace returned Wednesday evening from Toronto where she visited Mrs. Albert Seeds.

Mrs. A. M. Palmatier entertained the bridge club of which she is a member on Wednesday afternoon.

Major Leland Boulter, M.D., Ottawa is a guest this week of his mother Mrs. George E. Boulter.

Mrs. Hedley Welbanks of Belleville, was a guest of her sister, Mrs. A. M. Palmatier on Wednesday.

Miss Barbara McWilliams will attend Queen's University this term.

Miss Alice Conger entertained friends at the I.O.D.E. tea Thursday afternoon in honour of Mrs. Finley Boulton of Duluth.

T. W. Kinney has offered $75 to the horse breaking the track record at Picton fair on Sept. 27, it was announced yesterday. If the record it not broken but equalled $50 is to be given by Mr. Kinney.

Last year Mr. Kinney offered a similar prize and as a result Lastic Grattan set a new mark of 2.08.

Colin Rorke of Windsor, was in town Thursday for the funeral of his brother, Roland J. Rorke. Mrs. L. A. Kells and John Christie, of Belleville, were also in attendance.

Miss Elleda McCalpin has returned to Toronto after a holiday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred McCalpin.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Warren accompanied by their son, Mr. Carl Warren and Mrs. Warren, of Buffalo, N.Y., are spending a few days the guests of their daughter, Mrs. Smythe and Mr. Smythe, in Pembroke.

Miss Nona Kearney has accepted an office position in Toronto.

Mr. James Stewart was called to Hamilton early in the week owing to the serious illness of Mrs. Stewart in the Mountain Sanitarium.

Miss Doris Ackerman was hostess of a jolly children's party on Tuesday afternoon in honour of Miss Betty McDonald, who is leaving Picton with her parents.

Mr. C. O. King, manager of the C.D.S. at North Bay, enlisted last week in the R.C.A.F. Mr. King took his flying instructions in Kingston while he was in charge of the Picton C.D.S. two years ago.

Mr. Herman Dainard is very seriously ill at his home on Church St. Dr. Clegg is in attendance.

Mr. Wm. Cavers of the Maher Shoe Store is undergoing treatment in P.E.C. Hospital.

Messrs. George and Winston Hicks were in Toronto on Tuesday and registered at the King Edward Hotel.

Mr. Wilfrid Lane has purchased the Gurney store on Main St., lately occupied by the A. and P. store.

The Gilmore store on Main St. is undergoing repairs and will be occupied by D. A. Fournia who is opening a store and electrical equipment shop in the near future.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Torrid Zone"

Probably the fastest, funniest comedy-drama that Hollywood has given out with this year is "Torrid Zone". Triple-starred with James Cagney, Ann Sheridan and Pat O'Brien, the new picture at the Capitol rings the bell with every line of its swift-paced dialogue.

The triple-threat star trio makes a dynamic combination. Whether Cagney is making love to Miss Sheridan, or fighting with O'Brien, he is indomitable. As for Miss Sheridan, she is exuberantly lovely whether she is cheating the natives at cards, singing the tuneful new song "Mi Cabellero" in a cafe, or using her justifiable famous "oomph" to ensnare Cagney, or brawling with O'Brien.

The story is laid somewhere in the banana belt. O'Brien, as head man for a big fruit company, is the big shot of Puerto Aguilar, and runs things pretty much to suit himself. Chief thorn in his somewhat tough side is Cagney, as the ace plantation boss, who refuses to be run. When the story opens, Cagney has just given notice that he is quitting and going back to the States. O'Brien has to swallow his pride and bribe him to stay, because he is badly needed. In a fit of temper over the situation, O'Brien goes into the Hotel Nacionale Bar, and finds Miss Sheridan cheating the patrons at cards after wowing them with a torch song. He orders the chief of police to arrest her and send her back to the States.

But Miss Sheridan likes the tropics and she also likes Cagney, of whom she has gotten a brief glimpse, so she escapes from the boat just before it sails and stows away on the fruit train that is taking Cagney back to his plantation job. Arriving there, she finds some competition. Helen Vinson, as the beautiful and dissatisfied wife of another one of the plantation bosses, is also interested in Cagney, in a large way. As for Cagney himself, he is too much harassed by the depredations made on the plantations by a group of guerilla bandits, during his absence, to give much time to romance.

To complete this grand feature are these added treats: "Universal News", "Luney Tune cartoon", "Popular Science" in Technicolor and the 9th. chapter of the thrilling serial "Buck Rogers".

AT THE BELLE

"The Sea Hawk"

Errol Flynn, swash-buckling hero of so many thrilling screen adventures, has his most glorious romantic role in "The Sea Hawk", Warner Bros., thrilling new saga of the seven seas, which is scheduled as the next feature attraction at the Belle Theatre.

Riding the danger-swept waters of the Spanish Main, fighting through enemy ambushes in the swamp-infested jungles of Panama, attacking the fighting ships of a great Armada, battling the tyranny that shackles men to the torturous chains of a terrible bondage, Flynn's role as "The Sea Hawk" is film adventure at its greatest heights. Lavishly produced, nothing has been spared in bringing the action-packed story to thrilling life on the screen. Mighty sea battles, daring duels, magnificent court scenes and a tender love story are masterfully interwoven in "The Sea Hawk", which critics who have previewed it have already labelled one of the great motion pictures of all time.

Featured with Flynn is beautiful Brenda Marshall, hailed as one of the most exciting new star "finds" of the year. Claude Hains, Donald Crisp, Flora Habson, Alan Hale, William Lundigan and Una O'Connor head the supporting cast of thousands. Michael Curtir directed from the screen play by Howard Koch and Seton I. Miller. Erich Wolfgang Korngold wrote the musical score which accompanies the thrilling action of the film.

"Our Town"

By far one of the greatest and most stirring pictures ever made in Hollywood is now closing a highly successful engagement at the Belle Theatre where United Artists present the screen version of Thornton Wilder's delightful comedy romance "Our Town".

"Our Town" was brilliantly directed by Sam Wood who was responsible for the eminently successful "Goodbye Mr. Chips". An outstanding cast of stars headed by Martha Scott, William Holden, Frank Craven, Thomas Mitchell Fay Bainter, Beulah Bondi, Stuart Erwin and Guy Kibbee. Many other enact the stirring and poignant story of "Our Town" with unfailing brilliance drama and emotion.

"The Golden Fleecing"

"The Golden Fleecing", story of uproariously funny adventures, with Lew Ayres as a timid clerk thrown in with a gang of big city racketeers.

A notable supporting cast includes Lloyd Nolan, Rita Johnson, Leon Errol Virginia Grey and Nat Pendelton.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Silver on the Sage"

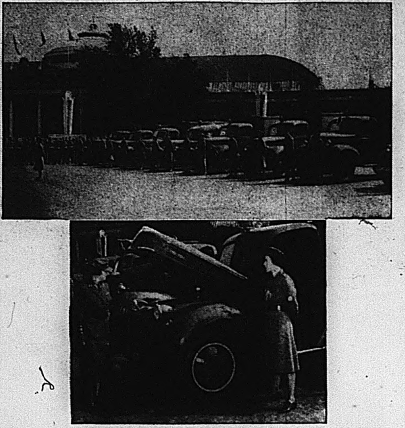
Straight-from-the-shoulder action—plenty of it—is the keynote as "Hopalong Cassidy," your favorite range hero, rides back to town in "Silver On The Sage" latest thrill-story of high life in the desert cattle country. With William Boyd again playing "Hoppy," the picture is now showing at the McCarthy theatre. George (Windy) Hayes, one of the screen's finest oldtime western characters and Russell (Lucky) Hayden a coming star who can ride a horse like the wind, are again "Hoppy's" pals in "Silver On The Sage" a piture every member of the family will enjoy.

"Mr. Boggs Steps Out"

In addition to the western feature, the McCarthy is also now showing another laugh riot by the author of "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town," entitled "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" starring Stuart Erwin.

The story of "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" is based on Clarence Budington Kelland's American Magazine story, "Face the Facts" and Richard English, who wrote the screen adaption, has been careful to lose none of the keenly humorous situations in the original, adding others and inserting much clever dialogue. There is a barrel of fun in every reel of "Mr. Boggs Steps Out" and in addition to Stuart Erwin an excellent cast of funmakers including Otis Harlan, Toby Wing, Tully Marshall and Helen Chandler, keep the comedy highlights spaced for laughs every minute. The second chapter of "Terry and the Pirates" is also now on the McCarthy screen.

Canadian Red Cross Presents Ambulances



Smartly-uniformed members of the Women's Voluntary Service Corps, Transport Section, took part in a colorful ceremony in Toronto last week when the Canadian Red Cross presented 130 ambulances to the British Red Cross, 20 ambulances and seven station wagons to the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps for service overseas, and 27 ambulances to the Royal Canadian Air Force in connection with the Empire Training Scheme. It was a "token" presentation because most of the ambulances have already been shipped overseas and are in use in England. Eight ambulances, on their way from factory to destination, were shown at the ceremony. The top picture shows the women drivers lined up in front of the ambulances. In the lower picture Mrs. W. D. Chambers, Montreal, national commandant of the Transport Corps, inspects one of the vehicles.

EXPECTED TOLL

(Continued from Page One)

includes bombings."

(In the passage which specifically named the Hercules Company, Paynter was discussing the activities of Georg Gyssling, Nazi Consul at Los Angeles.

(He wrote:-

(Gyssling was present at a meeting in which plans to dynamite the Hercules Powder Company were discussed. U.S. counter-espionage agents were also present.")

Countryside Rocked

The blast was of such intensity that the countryside was rocked for miles around. Reverberations were felt as far away as Danbury, Conn., 125 miles to the East.

The powder exploded in two terrific blasts and was followed by a series of lesser concussions and a fire which raced through the ruins and surrounding woodlands. The flames hampered rescue efforts and for a time threatened an underground magazine.

Twelve hours later another explosion sent shivers through Kenvil residents. It was minor in character but loud enough to arouse alarm.

William C. Hunt, of Wilmington, Del., in charge of the Company's explosives department, said eight tons of powder in a solvent recovery plant blew up in the first two blasts, setting off other explosions which destroyed an additional 20 tons.

Relatives of the plant's 1,500 workmen rushed to the 2,000 acre factory site. Anguished cries of wives and mothers added to the shrieks of the injured.

Police Chief Harry Jenkins, describing the scene at the plant as "horrible," said he saw arms and legs torn from bodies.

Despite the enormity of the tragedy, residents discussed the disaster with philosophical resignation.

"We kind of expect things like this, up here," one said.

KING GEORGE SHARES RUTHLESS NAZI BOMBING WITH HIS PEOPLE

Sharing the ruthless Nazi bombings of civilian London with his people, the King is shown, LEFT, consoling East Londoners whose bomb-wrecked homes may be seen in the back-ground. "Wonderfully brave," was the King's description of the people he talked with in the bombed areas. His Majesty was visibly moved by the expressions of loyalty which greeted him from the victims of Nazi bombs. A.R.P. workers are shown, RIGHT, digging through wreckage in London's East End. A growing grim determination to see the raids through to a victorious end is the Londoners' answer to the German and children the targets for Goering's bombers.

SOMERSET HOUSE, 8 CHURCHES HIT BY NAZI BOMBS

Rotten Row and Berkeley Square Listed by Press as Being Damaged

REPAIRS BEING MADE

London, Sept. 13 (CP)—Somerset House, historic building in the Strand now occupied by numerous Government offices, the Picadilly Hotel and eight churches were listed by the Press Association today as being among London buildings "affected" by recent German air raids.

Announcing that it was now possible to disclose for the first time the identity of some of the structures damaged, the Press Association said:

"Among the buildings concerned are Somerset House, and the Churches of St. Magnus the Martyr, St. Swithin's, Cannon Street, St. Mary-at-Hill; St. Dunstan's In-the-East; St. Mary Woolnoth; St. Clement's, East Cheap; St. Augustin's, Watling Street, and St. Giles Cripplegate.

"Rotten Row and Berkeley Square also were affected, and among the places which have suffered were the Ford showrooms, the Picadilly Hotel and the premises occupied before the war by the Italian Tourist Company."

Rotten Row is the famous bridle path in Hyde Park frequented by London society and Berkeley Square is a well-known old residential section.

Resentment Against Italians Runs High in Syria, Reported

Cairo, Sept. 13 (CP)—The French National Committee in Egypt said today that a "tremendous change of sentiment" in Syria for joining Gen. Charles de Gaulle and his "Free Frenchmen" and continuing the war has taken place since the arrival of the Italian Armistice Mission there.

"Resentment against Italian efforts to disarm Syria is running high," a spokesman for the committee said.

"An explosion may come at any moment.

"Thirty resolute officers could probably swing the balance at this moment."

The committee, which is in close touch with Syria, said the information came from persons of unquestioned reliability, just arrived from there.

"A month ago Syria was apathetically following the Vichy Government, unenthusiastic about continuing the war," the spokesman said. "But the Italians were too hurried. The mission has been badly received by Syria, Lebanese and French alike. One Italian colonel was punched in the nose in the street. A group of foreign legionnaires jumped on another member, according to reports received."

Bitterness especially was engendered by the French conviction that Italy, though first to arrive for the spoils, did not defeat France and never could have, it was said.

The committee also regards the mission's pressure for diarmament of French Syrian force as an attempt to win an easy victory.

"The Italians can land no large force by sea in Syria without risk, because the British Fleet stands between them and Syria. But if they get the country disarmed they may be able to land enough men by air to take control. That's why they are working from within," the committee spokesman said.

An Italian occupation of Syria would be followed, it is feared, by a thrust at the Mosul oil fields, just across the frontier in Iraq to cut off the main oil supply of Britain in the Near East.

Newspapers here and in Palestine are carrying on a vigorous campaign on behalf of General de Gaulle. These have been officially barred in Syria, on demand of the Italian mission, it is reported, but radio stations pour exhortations into Syria and the de Gaullists there are said to be active.

The Egyptian Gazette said: "Now that the situation is clearer, especially after General de Larminat's appeal to the French Army in Syria not to allow themselves to be disarmed by the Italian mission, it is realized the men in Vichy have sold Syria to the Italians."

General de Larminat is Governor of French Equatorial Africa, which recently rallied to the side of General de Gaulle.

GIRL GUIDE CLUB

London, (CP)—A club for Girl Guides of every nationality, who seek sanctuary in England has been opened in London. It was organized by Mrs. M. Leigh-White, a director of the World Bureau International Offices of the Girl Guide Association.

The club quarters are in a top-floor room of the Bureau building and were furnished by the Guides. There is a small library attached to the club, officials of which include girls from Switzerland, Belgium, Poland Austria and the Netherlands.

STILL BIG ON SEAS

London, (CP)—Twenty-five per cent more shipping left the United Kingdom in July for North American ports than in earlier months of the year while no German or German chartered ship has crossed the Atlantic for months.

Great Fall Feature
FOR CANADA'S GREAT, REGULAR MADE-TO-MEASURE SUIT VALUE
40 Imported English TWEEDS
HAND CUT FOR YOU
EATON
MADE-TO-MEASURE
ONE-TROUSER SUIT
$26.50
TWO-TROUSER SUITS $32.50

NOW ... for Fall ... we offer you our greatest ... most varied selection of woollen tweeds in years woven for us by some of the Old Country's best known fabric houses. With the unprecedented swing of well-dressed men towards tweed for business ... sportswear ... work ... school ... we've amassed an array of patterns and colours from brilliant outdoor types to definitely "quiet" tweeds for the office.

By all means take advantage of this remarkable offer ... right away. And don't forget ... men who prefer serges or worsteds ... there are scores to choose from in this same price range.

Other 3-Piece Suits at $33.50 and $39.50
Purchase these Suits on EATON'S Budget Plan Terms if you wish
T. EATON Co
CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Bancroft

Bancroft, (Special)—Word reached the village on Monday of the death of Mrs. Robt. Vardy, who has been a patient in the Gravenhurst Hospital for some time. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the home of her sister, Mrs. C. Lake. Interment was made in the United Church Cemetery, Bancroft.

Many of the Bancroft people journeyed to Petawawa Sunday to visit with the boys who are in the training camp there.

Miss Kemp, R.N., stationed at the Red Cross Hospital, Coe Hill, underwent an operation in Bancroft Hospital Saturday.

Mrs. H. Tanner and family returned home Sunday after spending the past week with relatives in Little Briton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Richardson and Helen spent the week-end in Bancroft with their daughters, Mrs. Walter Mullett and Mrs. Ronald Maxwell.

Miss M. Onley of Coe Hill was rushed to the Red Cross Hospital Bancroft, Sunday evening where she underwent an operation.

Miss Marjorie Stratton returned home Monday after spending a two months' holiday with relatives in Manitoba.

Mrs. Harry Plumley and baby are spending this week visiting relatives in Trenton.

Miss Cora Stewart and Mrs. M. Dempster returned to their homes in Toronto Thursday after spending the summer at their cottage at Trout Lake.

Sunday was observed as a special day of prayer in the Bancroft churches.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Flynn of Bird's Creek returned home Monday after visiting at Orillia over the week end.

Miss Jean Maxwell is a patient in the Red Cross Hospital, Bancroft, having undergone an operation on Tuesday.

WOMAN FOREMAN

London, (CP)—Mrs. Mabel Clark, a neat little woman who operates a small tobacco and newspaper agency, was commended by the court for the manner in which she filled the office of foreman of a jury at the London Sessions—the first time a woman ever has held the post.

"Oh, the evidence took a bit of following", said Mrs. Clark, "but on the whole it was a matter of common sense. I wasn't a bit nervous".

CANNY NEW ZEALAND

Wellington, N.Z., (CP)—Forestalling advantage to the enemy and disadvantage to New Zealand should British notes be seized in occupied allied countries, the government has prohibited their importation here without consent of the Customs Ministry.

Ann Sheridan puts all her famed "oomph" into her rendering of this rhumba tune for the benefit of Pat O'Brien, in "Torrid Zone," the picture co-starring James Cagney, Miss Sheridan and O'Brien, currently showing at the Capitol.

Probabilities

Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday with thundershowers in many districts; moderate easterly to southerly winds, becoming variable on Sunday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1940

Temperatures

	Max.	Min
Today..	64	47
One Year Ago	78.5	63.2

Weather—Overcast.

LONDONERS EXPERIENCE THIRD ALARM TODAY

Next Two Days "Period of Intense Danger" State Neutral Observers

Test Bomb Dropped on Canadian Liner

Bomb Accidentally Dropped by Japanese Fliers

Four Chinese Crewmen Injured But Empress of Asia Not Damaged

Tokyo, Sept. 14 (AP)—The Japanese admiralty announced tonight that naval fliers accidentally dropped a test bomb on the Canadian liner Empress of Asia, injuring four Chinese crewmen.

The navy at once sent surgeons and official representatives aboard to give what assistance they could and express prompt apologies.

The announcement said there was no other damage. The incident occurred while a naval squadron was in bombing practice off Oshima Island.

The purser of the liner, which sailed tonight for a Canadian port, said there was no structural damage to the 16,909 ton ship. The Associated Press spoke to him by radio telephone, but he would give no further details.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Toronto, Sept. 14—(CP) — Mr. Justice J. A. Hope reserved judgment yesterday in the action brought by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Kemp against the town of Midland and Midland Parks Commission for $20,000 on account of the death of their son, William, 21. He was killed July 9 last year when a tree in Little Lake Park, Midland, fell on the automobile in which he was sitting.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 14 (CP).—Showers have occurred in Western Ontario, though in other districts the weather has been fair. It has been fair and cool in Manitoba but warm in Alberta and west Saskatchewan with light showers in Alberta.

Lake Superior—Fair and cold tonight and Sunday with moderate winds, mostly northeast and north.

Manitoba—Fair and a little warmer. Sunday, fresh southeast winds. Partly cloudy and moderately warm, followed by scattered showers.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy and moderately warm with scattered thundershowers; cooler tonight in northwest portion. Sunday, partly cloudy and a little cooler with scattered showers.

Alberta—Cloudy with light scattered showers; cool tonight. Sunday, partly cloudy with a little higher temperature.

	8 a.m.	High	Low
Victoria	55	64	53
Calgary	57	79	56
Edmonton	46	74	44
Saskatoon		76	52
Winnipeg	43	59	38
Sault Ste. Marie .	53	66	50
Toronto	56	66	54
Ottawa	49	65	45
Quebec	52	64	47
St. John	58	68	40
Halifax	59	67	50
Detroit	58	71	58
New York	59	70	59
Miami	77	88	72
Los Angeles		83

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Weather and astronomy! No one is as careful as to the location of his workshop as an astronomer. Weather conditions have much to do with the seeing. The scientists in charge of the 200-inch telescope had a great responsibility in selecting a location for that instrument. All things considered, Mt. Palomar is the best all around place for freedom from clouds, fog and haze, and for a steady atmosphere. The image will dance if there are layers of air of different temperatures and therefore different densities. Mt. Palomar is a hog-back, not a peak; and therefore there is less tendency for rising currents to come up its sides and cause poor seeing.

84,575 Tons British, Allied and Neutral Shipping Lost in Week Ending September 1

(By the Canadian Press)

The 7,430-ton Belgian liner Ville De Mons was the only merchant ship sinking announcement made in the week ending Sept. 13. Admiralty policy is not to announce individual ship sinkings, and loss of the Ville De Mons became known through neutral sources.

The admiralty's summary for the week ended Sept. 1 showed that 11 British, five Allied and four neutral merchant ships, with a total tonnage of 84,575 tons, were lost in that period.

U.S. GOV'T GIVEN WIDE POWERS IN NEW DRAFT BILL

Can Take Over Industrial Plants When Necessary to Get Defence Orders Filled

BILL READY TO SIGN

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP)—Enactment of the first United States Peacetime Draft Bill became but a matter of hours today after an arguing Senate voted 37-33 late last night to give the Government power to take over industrial plants when necessary to gett defence orders filled.

Both the House of Representatives and Senate agreed to meet an hour earlier than usual and leaders said that before the day was over the measure calling for registration of all male citizens 21 through 35 would be ready for President Roosevelt's signature.

With debate over the industrial issue ended in victory for proponents of a provision with "teeth" in it, the Senate still had at least two other controversies on tap but there was no indication that they would arouse similar prolonged and heated discussion. They revolved around the age range of men to be registered and the House proposal to delay the draft 60 days and try out a voluntary enlistment system.

Leaders predicted that despite outcroppings of opposition the age span provided would remain unchanged and the delay proposal would not be restored to the Bill from which it was removed earlier this week by a Senate-House Conference Committee.

Once the Senate had finished with the measure it was slated to go to the House.

Quickly Adopt Measure.

The senate vote on the plant seizure controversy came on a motion by Senator Matthew Neely (Dem., West Virginia) to send the entire bill back to the conference com-

(Continued on Page Eleven)

CONVICT TO FACE MURDER CHARGE AFTER STATEMENT

George H. King, Now in Penitentiary, Allegedly Relieves His Mind to Prison Chaplain

ANOTHER MAN

Statements Concern Shooting of County Constable Shervill at Orchard Beach in 1938

Toronto, Sept. 14 (CP)—Law officers of the Ontario Attorney-General's Department said today George H. King, now serving a term in Kingston Penitentiary will face a murder charge before the Grand Jury at the Fall Assizes in Hamilton, Sept. 23rd, as a result of statements he allegedly made to a prison chaplain "to relieve his mind of worry."

The officials said he will be charged with the murder of Donald C. Shervill, High County Constable of Wentworth County, at Orchard Beach near Hamilton the night of Feb. 8, 1938.

They said King told the prison padre he had been involved with another man in the shooting of the constable but that he had a "good defence." He is reported as saying he wanted to make a statement and the padre is said to have communicated the information to criminal investigation officers of the Provincial Police.

The Wentworth constable was found fatally wounded after he had been on a night patrol investigating the burglary of summer cottages at the beach resort.

Judge C. A. Cameron Appointed Chairman of Conciliation Board

Ottawa, Sept. 14 (CP)—Establishment of a Board of Conciliation and Investigation under the Industrial Disputes Investigation Act to deal with differences between the Renfrew (Ont.) Woollen Mills and employees of the Renfrew Branch of the Mills was announced last night by Labor Minister McLarty.

County Judge Capt. C. A. Cameron of the Argyll Light Infantry, Petawawa, Ont., was appointed Chairman of the Board by Mr. McLarty. Hemmett P. Hill of Ottawa was nominated by the Company and James A. Maloney of Renfrew by the employees.

Differences concern wages and working conditions. The Renfrew Mills are operated by M. J. O'Brien, Limited.

Dancer Forced To Change Name

Pittsburgh, Sept. 14 (AP).—Miriam Verne, 21-year-old entertainer whose dancing won favor from Adolf Hitler, has changed her stage name, her mother said today, because she was "a victim of anti-Nazi persecution which caused her embarrassment and cost her engagements wherever she went."

New Vitamin, Biotin, is Probably Primary Source of All Food on Earth

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
(Associated Press Science Editor)

Detroit, Sept. 14 (AP)—A new vitamin, biotin, the most potent and powerful physiological substance ever discovered, was described to the American Chemical Society here yesterday.

Biotin, a colorless crystal, has been a chemical mystery for two years since the Netherlands scientists P. Kogel and B. Tonnes extracted a barely visible quantity from 250,000 Chinese dick eg" yolks.

The mystery was cleared by a symposium here of some leading American chemists.

Biotin proves to be part of the Vitamin B "complex." It is so powerful it is measured in thousands of a millionth of a gram.

Without it, soil germs, the Azotobacter, which fix nitrogen for plant growth, are unable to work. This fixation is the base of all plant life, and therefore biotin probably is a primary source of all the food on earth.

The two species of animals so far experimented with, chicks and rats, develop serious skin diseases when deprived of biotin. They invariably die unless given this vitamin again. But the amount necessary to save life is far too small to be visible in pure form

The dilution which saves an animal's life is at the ratio of one gram in millions of gallons of water.

One rich source of biotin is molasses, interesting when it is recalled that grandmothers used to insist on molasses and sulphur in springtime.

Other sources, as reported by J. O. Lampen, G. O. Bahler and W. H. Peterson, University of Wisconsin, are baker's yeast, brewer's yeast, pork liver, wheat, yellow corn, beef kidney, soy beans, grass juice and milk.

No 'Mass Evacuation' in London County Council Sources Report

Those Evacuated Accept Temporary Shelter and Then Return to Their Neighborhood

CHILDREN SENT AWAY

(By Harold Fair, Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 14—(CP Cable)—Stand along any street leading through central London from the east and frequently you see a sight which brings home the stark tragedy of air raids—families evacuated after losing their homes through Hitler's air war against "military objectives."

These people huddle in the back of trucks with their pitiful collections of bags and boxes as they are taken to billets elsewhere in London or in the country.

Although the east end suffered heavily in recent raids, London County Council sources say there is no "mass evacuation." Strangely enough, they seem reluctant to move, a spokesman said.

A "fair amount" of private evacuation from the city is reported, but the main effect of the week's raids has been a speeding up of the evacuation of school children. About 1,000 are registered daily now as compared with the trickle of 200 or so before the intensification of the air war.

East enders whose homes were destroyed or closed until delayed action bombs exploded have been given the opportunity of living elsewhere but generally accept temporary shelter for one day or two and then return to their familiar neighborhood. A spokesman said that often when a home is lost and the father is without a job, the usual comment is: "Oh we'll, get a home somewhere else there and the old man will find another job."

Shortly after the outbreak of war about 250,000 school children were sent to safer parts of Britain. Last June another 161,000 were evacuated. They started returning to the city with the result that by the end of August only 166,000 were away.

Lists were opened again but only around 250 a day registered to be taken away again. The past week, however, saw the total reach 3,500. A peak was reached Thursday with a total of 1,700. Evacuation follows about 48 hours after registration.

The "speed-up" brought crowding of some stations reminiscent of peacetime excursions. One railway executive said extra railway coaches were added where possible but that the trains were heavily loaded.

YOUTHFUL KING WELCOMES HOME EXILED MOTHER

Princess Helen, Divorced Wife of Ex-King Carol, to Assist Her Son

HUGE CELEBRATION

Bucharest, Sept. 14. —(AP) — Young King Michael, stiff and formal in the uniform of a Rumanian General, welcomed his mother, Princess Helen, home from ten years of exile today.

The meeting between the serious-faced, 18-year-old monarch and the tall, chestnut-haired Grecian Princess took place at the border railway station at Jimbolia.

Despite an official announcement that Gen. Ion Atonescu the nation's military dictator, would accompany Michael, the General remained in Bucharest for "State reasons".

Rumanians expressed belief that new disputes with Moscow over a frontier incident required his presence in the capital.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

The meeting of the youthful king and his mother, who was divorced from Carol II and exiled by him a decade ago, occurred in the very station through which raced the bullet-riddled train bearing the abdicated Carol and his friend Mme. Magda Lupescu into exile six days ago.

Today, crowds of cheering Rumanians threw flowers at the exact spot where a group of Iron Guardists were arrested as they attempted to stop the former ruler's train.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Balloon Barrage Of 'Improved Design' Used in London

London, Sept. 14 (CP)—The use in London of a balloon barrage of "improved design" which floats at considerably greater height than had been possible heretofore was disclosed today by authoritative British sources.

The informants said it was these balloons that trapped a German bomber in a raid on the city early Friday. Previously it was announced merely that a German plane was caught and destroyed by a barrage balloon.

Details of the new balloon were withheld. Coastal observers said the new type bags had been used successfully against dive-bombers before they were put up in London.

FRANCE FEARFUL NAZIS WILL TAKE ENTIRE COUNTRY

Swiss Leaders Concerned Over Prospects of This Action Taking Place

VICHY GOV'T. MEETS

Chancy, Switzerland, at the French Border, Sept. 14 — (AP)—Defeated France, struggling to solve serious economic and political problems engendered by the disastrous war, fears the Germans may take over the entire country within a few weeks, travellers returning from the unoccupied zone declared today.

Swiss leaders also were said to be concerned over the prospect of German control of the entire French-Swiss border, now the only link between Switzerland and the outside world free of axis domination.

The French were described as expressing no eagerness for closer contact with their conquerors but hopeful that union of the presently divided country would improve their condition.

(At Vichy, the Petain Government met last night to study the question of food substitutes. The French Press began preparing the nation for severe restrictions as the full import of the $8,000,000 daily cost of maintaining the German army of occupation was brought home.

The travellers said the Germans virtually have emptied the unoccupied zone of reserve stores of food and such merchandise as textiles and rubber.

The Germans alone are able to move gods, for there is no regular rail service, and only the German military authorities have the gasoline to operate truck transports.

Feeling is growing in France that only a British victory will assure France's future national existence.

Departure of Gen. Maxime Weygand for a new post in French Morocco as soon as he recovers from rib fractures suffered in a recent airplane accident was regarded by observers here as a spark of hope for France in the event the entire nation becomes a virtual German province.

Weygand is said to have left the Petain Government because he disagreed with the appeasement policy of Vice-Premier Pierre Laval.

CITY YOUTHS FOUND IN BETTER PHYSICAL CONDITION

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP).—The Marine Corps, which rejects six out of seven applicants, finds that its physical requirements bar a higher percentage of country boys than city bred youths. Giving this information to the House Naval Committee yesterday, Major General Thomas Holcomb, Marine Commandant, said tooth troubles were more prevalent among farm boy applicants.

NO MORE ROSE ESSENCE

Washington, Sept. 14. — Blame the war, if milady cuts down on perfume. A commerce department report from Sofia, Bulgaria, said today that shipment of Bulgarian rose oil, an important base of American perfumes and cosmetics had virtually been stopped since Italy entered the war and the Mediterranean was blocked.

NAZI ARTILLERY ON FRENCH COAST HEAVILY BOMBED

Observers at Dover See Repeated Flashes of Anti-Aircraft Fire From Nazi Batteries

ALL-NIGHT RAID

One German Plane Destroyed as Londoners Driven to Shelter Twice Early Today

London, Sept. 14 —(CP)— Air raid sirens sounded in the London area at 3:48 p.m. (10:48 a.m. EDT) today, the third alarm of the day.

London, Sept. 14—(CP) — High-flying German bombers droned back and forth over London last night and early today, rounding out a solid week of dusk-to-dawn raids by raining high explosive and incendiary bombs on the southwest and western areas of the capital despite intense anti-aircraft fire.

Although attacks on central London were comparatively light, the Germans struck repeatedly at objectives in the outer districts for eight hours and 25 minutes, guided to their targets by bright moonlight.

Londoners were driven to shelter twice before noon today by new alarms, but neither gunfire nor planes were heard over the city. An alarm at 9.26 a.m. (4.26 a.m. EDT) lasted five minutes and the second at 11.01 a.m. (6.01 a.m. EDT) ended in 15 minutes. In between, however, explosions—either of bombs or anti-aircraft fire—were heard in the London area.

A government communique said fires were started at various points in the city during the night raid but said that all of them either had been extinguished or brought under control.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

GERMAN DOWNED FRIENDLY PLANE

Nazi Air Crew Over England Fired on One of Their Own Craft

Somewhere in England, Sept.—(CP)—A flying officer in a fighter command is grateful to a German pilot for doing his job for him.

He had just attacked, and seriously damaged, two Messerschmitts during a dog-fight over the Channel. Then he turned his Spitfire to attack another enemy.

Here is his description of what happened:

"When about to attack a Messerschmitt 109 a second Messerschmitt 109 passed me and shot down the first 109. I am definite about the identity of both these aircraft."

N.Y. TIMES PRAISES BRITAIN

New York, Sept. 14 (CP).—The New York Times in its leading editorial today drew a graphic picture of the way Londoners are standing up to the unceasing German air raids and declaring that "as the terrible climax of this war draws near, the British have not yet been crippled or cowed." It added: "They should be doubly, trebly able to withstand it because they know, to the last man, woman and child, what freedom means."

German Raiders Test Defences of England's Coast

Weather Conditions Off Dover Not Favorable For Attempted Invasion

London, Sept. 14 (CP).—The next 48 hours are "a period of intense danger of invasion to Britain", neutral military sources said today.

This statement came as German raiders tested the defences of England's southeast coast following the eighth consecutive night of raids on London.

Weather conditions off Dover, the nearest point to German-held France across the channel, were described, however, as slightly less favorable for sea-borne invasion than for some time.

A stiff southwest breeze ruffled the channel surface and mist formed over the distant outline of the French coast.

Although air raid warnings sounded twice for brief intervals in London and there were sporadic forays by German planes on northeast coast towns, only one bombing was reported in daylight today after a week of history's greatest aerial siege.

One German bomber appeared out of a cloud bank over a southeast town, dropped two bombs and vanished into the cloud. Other German planes were sighted in the same area.

While the army, navy and Royal boarders" on Britain's coasts and boarders' 'on Britain's coasts and airfields, the postmaster general announced that, due to heavy pressure on telegraph and telephone services, the public had been asked to use them for urgent messages only.

No Evidence to Support Report

Armed patrols of police and the home guard turned out at one southeast coast town last night and searched riverside wharves and railroad sidings following reports that six parachutes were seen descending in that direction. They failed to find any evidence to support the reports

High flying bombers dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs on the southeast and western areas of the capital last night despite intense anti-aircraft fire.

A time bomb, dropped in yesterday's attack on Buckingham Palace, exploded in front of the great grey stone building today.

The Ministry of Information announced that South Africa House London headquarters of the union of South Africa and the law courts in the Strand were damaged in last night's raid. Additional damage was reporter in Trafalger Square, where South Africa House is located. Canada House also is in Trafalgar Square.

A number of new fires were started during the night, but the government announced they were extinguished quickly.

GUARDS ALERT

London, Sept. 14 (CP)—An incendiary bomb tossed by a German raider upon the metal roof of a Canadian building in London Friday was prevented from doing any damage by two alert guards. As flames spluttered from the missle, the guards picked up one end of a ladder and with the other end pushed it to and fro over the roof until the combustible contents were expended.

(The name of the building was not given).

Nazis' Attempt to Destroy Palace Results in Only Slight Damage

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 14 —(CP—Cable)—A corps of 100 workmen are busily repairing the comparatively slight damage wrought by the German's attempt to destroy Buckingham Palace yesterday.

A survey of the palace grounds today showed that seven bombs fell when a raider dived on the royal residence but outside of one which scored a direct hit on the private chapel damage was superficial.

Two others which fell in the inner quadrangle shattered about 200 windows, tore two craters in the courtyard and left a great crack that might have been caused by an earthquake.

One of them which landed against the south wall of the four forming the quadrangle—an open courtyard in the centre of the century-old palace—wrecked gas and water mains and wrecked some of the rich furnishings.

The other that exploded in the quadrangle tore a crater 15 feet deep. Debris ripped through windows on all four walls and scarred the greystone walls. Two bombs buried themselves in the spacious garden which borders the palace on three sides. They tore up the grass turf.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Seamen Granted $2.50 Month Increase

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)—Increases in wages averaging $2.50 a month are granted in a new agreement reached Friday between the National Seamen's Association of Canada and eight contracting shipping companies operating on the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence River.

The new wages set are said by Association officials to be the highest yet paid by the Lake companies, with minor exceptions, and it is pointed out that the increases were arrived at without the aid of any conciliation board but through direct negotiations with company representatives.

New rates, retroactive to Sept. 1, follow: Deckhand, $65 a month; Watchman, $72.50; Wheelsman $87.50; Coal-Passer, $65; Fireman, $82.50; Oiler $87.50; Porter, $57.50; Second Cook $65; Cook Canaler $120; Cook, Upper Lakes, $130.

This was the second increase in wages granted this season by the Companies involved. Company officials said the further advance was in line with the higher cost of living.

The N.S.A.C. is an affiliate of the Canadian Brotherhood of Ships Employees. The C.B.S.E. claims a membership of more than 5,000.

Magistrate Leaves Bench to Give Evidence in Case

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 14 (CP)—Magistrate Percy C. Bergeon stepped down from the bench in Court here yesterday to assume the unusual role of complainant and chief witness against two men.

Following the magistrate's testimony, Alfred and Duncan Poitras were sentenced to 30 days in jail and an extra 10 days in default of payment of a $10 fine, by Ovila Laurin, Justice of the Peace.

Police supported the magistrate's evidence that the men whom he met on the street either were "intoxicated or crazy, passing remarks decidedly uncomplimentary to one in my position," and falling on the ground and staggering on the street.

OTTAWA MESSENGER GIVEN PORTRAIT OF 'COBBER' KAIN

Ottawa, Sept. 14—(CP)—Allan Kimpton, 19-year-old office messenger of the Secretary of State Department here is the proud possessor of a picture of Flying Officer E. J. "Cobber" Kain, New Zealand ace who downed 40 German planes before being killed in the war. What is more important, it came from Kain's fiancee, Miss Joyce Phillips.

Kimpton received the picture and a letter of appreciation from Miss Phillips after he had sent her a pencil drawing of her fiancee. Kimpton drew the portrait from two newspaper pictures.

Kimpton did a drawing of Their Majesties during the King and Queen's visit last year and was complimented by Lady Katherine Seymour, Lady-in-Waiting to the Queen after he had sent her the picture.

PURCHASE NO MORE MAPS

New York, Sept. 14.—(CP)—For the time being no more maps of Europe or Asia are to be purchased for the New York City School System, Dr. Harold G. Campbell, Superintendent of Schools, announced yesterday. To buy European maps now would be just a waste of money, Dr. Campbell declared. As for Asia, the boundaries of China are changing "almost every

Coming Events

5c BINGO, FOR WAR PURPOSES. Monday and Tuesday evenings, Sept. 16, 17, Knights of Columbus and Moose Halls. Auspices Catholic Women's League. Voucher prizes. Voucher door prize each night. S14-2t

Mr. Small Investor! Help Canada — Buy War Loan Bonds!

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

STILL HUNTING AT EIGHTY YEARS

"Shucks, eighty years is not old. I can still knock a deer down with the best of 'em," snorted J. W. Masters of Ameliasburg, as he applied for his 1940 hunting license. The elderly man has been making annual trips to the deer country for several years and will be out with the younger generations this Autumn to get his "bag."

37-POUND LUNGE HOOKED IN BAY

Mr. Frank Aikens and Party Land Fine Specimen in Muscote Bay

It may not have been the granddaddy of all the lunge, but the big fellow apparently was monarch of his watery domain in Muscote Bay, for he waged a terrific twenty minute battle before he said "uncle." The muskie tipped the scales at thirty-seven pounds, and is just about as handsome a specimen of his fighting family as has been seen in these parts.

He was hooked by Gordon Ketcheson, Ottawa; Gilbert Roblin, Toronto, and Frank Aikens of Belleville. Hauling in the big fellows is no new experience for Mr. Aikens, for he has several that have weighed well over twenty pounds to his summer fishing credit.

Yesterday's catch is on display in the window of Clark and Miles, Front Street provision merchants.

Port Hope Ladies Defeat Local Golfers

A team of lady golfers from Port Hope defeated the ladies of the Belleville Golf Club here yesterday by the score of 13 to 11 in a friendly inter-club match. Following the game the visiting Port Hope ladies were entertained at luncheon at the Belleville Golf Club.

The results of the match were as follows:

Port Hope — Mrs. Smart 1-2; Mrs. Brackenbury 3; Mrs. Barnes 3; Mrs. Mitchell 0; Miss Fraser 3; Mrs. Sculthorpe 0; Mrs. Martin 1-2 Mrs. Forrest 3; Total 13.

Belleville, — Miss Roberts 2 1-2; Mrs. Parker 0; Miss Cook, 0; Miss P. Burrows 3; Mrs. Scott 0; Miss J. Porritt 3; Mrs. Chant 2 1-2; Mrs. Lyall 0. Total 11.

Canadian Pilot Awarded D.F.C. Is Now Interned

Victoria, Sept. 14 (CP)—Acting Flt. Lt. William Weir Campbell, whose award of the Distinguished Flying Cross was announced in London last night, has been interned after making a forced landing during air operations last month, according to a cable received by his mother here.

Campbell is the son of Mrs. and the late Major P. J. Campbell of Victoria.

The Air Ministry merely said the award was made "for gallantry and devotion in execution of air operations," however, another Victoria flier, Fred Beckett of British Overseas Airways, has written to relatives here that Campbell was the flier who bombed and sank two Italian submarines in the Mediterranean last July and may have sunk a third on the same patrol.

Beckett wrote he had the information from one of Campbell's fellow squadron officers.

It Pays to Shop at The Rexall Store.

4 CAKES
Cashmere Bouquet
Soap with sample of
FACE POWDER
All for 23c

McKEOWN'S
DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

36 YEARS IN BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY
and
PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
337 Coleman St. Phone 777

WHEATLEY MUSIC STUDIOS
All Grades to
A.T.C.M. and A.C.C.M.
NOW OPEN
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac.
A.R.C.O., Director
(Bank of Montreal Chambers)
S3-6t-eod

Police Blotter

Activities proved rather quiet and serene in and around local police circles during the past 24 hours, although three persons were taken into custody on minor charges.

Two inebriates awoke in the cell block this morning quite surprised to find their night abode surrounded with iron bars. Both were released today with instructions to appear before Monday's police court. The third detained was a member of the C.A.S.F., who was apprehended absent from his unit without leave. The soldier was later given into the custody of the military authorities.

City police are in possession of a delivery boy's money pouch which was found on city streets and given into the custody of the authorities.

Only two transients sought shelter in the police station last night, Friday the 13th passing without particular incident in the city.

Additional Staff Appointments to Y.M.C.A. Services

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)— Appointments of additional staff members to serve with the Canadian armed forces in camps and barracks at home were announced by the National War Services executive committee of the Young Men's Christian Association.

Ralph Walden, Kitchener, Ont., is appointed to duties at Windsor, Ont.; H. A. Messacer of Hamilton, Ont., to Stanley Barracks, Toronto; Don McLaren of Kitchener to the Militia Camp at Kitchener; Kenneth McAdam of London, Ont., to the Air Force Station at Trenton; Walling Rugby of London, to Camp Borden.

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday
A TENDER, SINCERE STORY OF YOUNG LOVE TODAY!

A GRAND PICTURE! A Boy and a Girl . . and the kind of courage that makes a go of marriage on nothing a week!

Manhattan Heartbeat
ROBERT STERLING
VIRGINIA GILMORE
JOAN DAVIS
EDMUND MacDONALD
DON BEDDOE
PAUL HARVEY

— ADDED ATTRACTION —
THE LEGION SMASHES THROUGH!

SCOURGE OF THE DESERT!
JACK HOLT
in
TROUBLE in MOROCCO
Mae Clarke
C. Henry Gordon

CAPITOL
ENDS TONIGHT
"TORRID ZONE"

GRAPES APPEAR ON LOCAL MART FOR FIRST TIME

Both Blue and Green Varieties Sell for 50 Cents a Basket

Grapes made their first appearance on the Belleville market on Saturday morning with mixed basket of blue and green grapes selling at 50c each. Peaches held at Thursday's price of 45c for No. 1's, seconds at 35c with a special grade selling at 50c per basket. Bartlett pears were plentiful at 60c per six-quart basket. Gages were 40c the basket and plums at 45c.

On the vegetable market, parsnips made their initial appearance selling at 10c the bunch while other bunches of vegetables sold at 5c the bunch. Onions were 20c the half peck while cucumbers were scare with gherkins selling at $1.00 per six-quart basket with the larger variety cucumber selling downwards to 50c per basket. Caulifowers ranged from 40c downward.

Tomatoes remained steady at 15c per 6-quart basket and 30c for eleven quarts. Bushels sold at 75c. Cooking apples sold at $1.00 or at 30c per peck. St. Lawrence apples were 35c per basket. Corn remained steady at 25c per dozen ears. Beans sold at 20c per quart, and potatoes 25c per peck or 80c per bushel.

Grade "A" large eggs sold at 35c per dozen with lesser grades down to 33c. Grade "A" pullet eggs sold at 30c per dozen. Chickens sold steadily at 25c per pound with large birds bringing $1.25. Broilers brought 75c to 90c per pair, according to weight. Butter sold at 30c per pound.

Whitefish remained at last week's price of 22c per pound while trout sold at 28c or at 32c per pound sliced.

Vendors were asking $4.50 and $6.00 each for young porkers.

COMPLETE PAVING OF NEW SECTION ON MADOC ROAD

Stretch of 1½ Miles From Ivanhoe North Ready for All Traffic

Completion of the one and one-half miles of paving on the Belleville - Madoc highway extending from the end of the old pavement to Ivanhoe was announced today by County Road Superintendent W. L. Langlois. Approximately one and one-half miles in the highway between Belleville and the end of the paving were finished last year. Yearly additions to the pavement will be made, if financial appropriations permit, until the entire road is paved, the superintendent added.

Shoulder trimming, installing farm entrance culverts and other pertinent work in the vicinity will be completed by county workmen next week.

A seal coat has been applied to 2 1-2 miles of pavement laid in 1932 on the Madoc road north of West Huntingdon. Also a half mile of old pavement on the county road from Crookston going into Tweed, in addition to sealing the pavement on about a half mile of streets in the Village of Tweed. A single surface treatment was laid on one mile of county road from Foxboro to the C.N.R. Station, also on half a mile of county road west of Stirling, which goes to Campbellford, and in addition a mile of double surface treatment was laid on this same road east of Hoard's station.

One county crusher, which has been crushing rock near Queensboro Village, which has been used to surface county roads northeast of Madoc, shut down this week and will be moved shortly to the Malone area to commence crushing on the county road from Eldorado to Deloro. The 200 ft. bridge over the Moira River at Tweed was recently refloored. Some crushed rock has been produced from the small county crusher in the north and placed on the county road between Coe Hill and Ormsby. Many of the gravel roads in the southern section of the county are rough as two power graders have been tied up on special work for some time, but both machines will be back on their regular dragging schedules commencing tomorrow and this situation will be remedied within the next week or two.

SENATE APPROVES BILL

Washington, Sept. 14 (AP).—The senate approved and sent to the House of Representatives today a final compromise version of the peacetime conscription bill making approximately 16,500,000 men from 21 through 35 years old subject to immediate registration and possible draft for a year's military training.

BARGE CONCENTRATIONS BOMBED

London, Sept. 14 (CP)—Large forces of Royal Air Force bombers wrecked barge concentrations and started fires amidst German shipping, harbors and docks on the French and Belgian coasts last night, the Air Ministry announced today.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. John Browning and family wish to express sincere gratitude for the kindness of neighbors and friends and Rev. W. J. Walker during their sad bereavement; for the many beautiful floral offerings and the use of cars at the funeral; the thoughtfulness and kindness of nurses and doctors at Belleville General Hospital during Mr. Browning's illness are particularly appreciated. S14-1t

Splendid Floor Show And Dance Given in Aid of Red Cross

The Foxboro Red Cross and Sidney Junior Farmers' Ambulance Fun benefited to the extent of approximately one hundred dollars, the receipts of a dance and floor show staged at the Oak Lake Casino by the Sidney Junior Farmers on Friday evening. The event was exceptionally well attended and much credit is due the sponsors for their efforts in making the program a success.

The floor show program, staged by the pupils of Mrs. C. Ashley's dancing class was particularly enjoyed with the pupils giving an excellent performance of their varied numbers. Mr. Ralph Campbell, president of the Sidney Junior Farmers', acted as master of ceremonies for the program, while Mrs. William Warham and Mrs. Ashley acted as piano accompanists. Jack Denmark and his orchestra provided the music for the dancing which continued until a late hour.

Following is the floor show program:

Ronnie Donovan, song and dance; Mary and Mafalda Pidgeon, accordian duet; Barbara Donovan, rube dance; "Billie" Marsh, solo; Jeannie Watson, tap dance; "Billie" and Jackie Marsh, duet; Barbara, Jeannie and Joy Mumby of Stirling. Irish song and dance; Mary, Elda and Mafalda Pidgeon, Gypsy dance; Joan Marsh and Joyce Woodhouse, duet; Jackie Marsh, solo; Barbara Donovan, Sailor's Hornpipe, with taps.

Here You Get More Than A Used Car

Come in now while prices are yet low and stocks are not yet depleted. Here you can buy a dependable used car and get dependable co-operation in your use and enjoyment of it.

'28 ESSEX SEDAN
$35.00
'29 FORD ROADSTER
$95.00
'32 OLDSMOBILE SEDAN
$325.00
'36 PLYMOUTH DELUXE COUPE.
$500.00
'38 FORD TUDOR
$675.00
'34 CHEVROLET MASTER COACH
$350.00

J. B. BOYCE
Chevrolet Oldsmobile
Sales — Service
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
Front St. Phone 704

INSPECTOR VISITS LOCAL STATION

Inspector E. Carroll, of Ottawa, on the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, was in the city yesterday on a tour of inspection of the Belleville detachment of the force.

FOX'S PEACHES
Supreme in Quality
Tree Ripened
Defuzzed

We invite you to visit our Packing House and Salesroom near

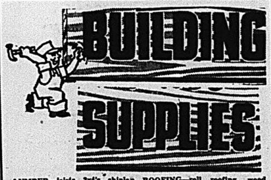
TRENTON

LOCATION On No. 2 Highway, two miles west of Town at Frank Hendrick's Apple Storage.

There you will see thousands of bushels of high-grade peaches arriving in bulk, fresh daily, direct from our trees in Norfolk County.

You will see these fine peaches being graded, packed, lenoed, labeled and made ready for the various markets located in your vicinity.

BUY FOX'S PEACHES
AND YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.
Phone TRENTON 805 Ring 2
S11-5t



LUMBER—joists, 2x4's, shiplap, fencing—lowest prices are lower yet on quantity orders. Ask for estimate of your job.

ROOFING—roll roofing, wood shingles, asbestos shingles, slate and composition. Guaranteed satisfaction. Ask for estimate.

MILLWORK— doors, windows, cabinets . . hundreds of designs and sizes for every type of home. Come in and see our catalog.

INSULATION—save fuel, increase comfort the year 'round with good insulation. All types priced low. Ask for estimate now.

The Houston Co. Limited
ST. PAUL STREET PHONE 1677

Wm. 'Kibo' Young, C. N. Switchman, On Retired List

When he stepped down off the yard engine he had followed in the Canadian National Railway yards here for nearly a quarter of a century, William "Kibo" Young, veteran Belleville railwayman, gazed with longing eyes upon the large "iron horse" as he realized he would never again ride the "flying switch". William Young, after 47 years of service with the old Grand Trunk and more recently the Canadian National Railways was retired from service today following a career of railroading that carried him through various phases of that intriguing vocation.

Mr. Young, who was known as "Kibo" to his contemporaries along the main line, entered the service of the old Grand Trunk in February 1893 as a fireman, when the old type of "hand stoker" engines were in vogue and the fireman shovelled in "a little more coal" as he kept a watchful eye on the steam gauge. Those were the days of hardened railway pioneers and "Kibo" Young plied his trade well and became a classed engineer and promoted to the cab on June 18th, 1900. For many years he was at the throttle of the fast trains of the old Grand Trunk system, but on April 21st, 1916, Mr. Young reverted to the Belleville yards where he has been continuously employed as switchman ever since and has followed the switch engines in fair weather as well as adverse conditions continuously.

Today William Young completed his many years of service with the Canadian National Railways and was retired. He received the congratulations of his fellow-workers and many old railway cronies, who like Mr. Young have lived to see the C.N.R. rise to be one of the greatest railway systems on this continent. Mr. Young is the father of Arthur L. Young, general manager of the Stewart Warner-Alemite Company of this city, with whom he will reside during his years of retirement, which are hoped to be many.

Ladies Conservative Club Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladie's Conservative Club was held in their club rooms Friday night, with Mrs. Harry Rollins, President, in the chair. The meeting was opened by a solo from George Shepherd "There Will Always be an England." After the usual business was taken care of Mrs. Arnott advised that Miss Earshman would speak at the October meeting on Health, from the Provincial and Federal Department of Health.

The program for the evening was very capably carried out by two talented young singers, Miss Ethel Smith, whose mother is pianist for the Conservative Club, and Mr. George Shepherd. One of their numbers was a song which they composed themselves as follows:

Hitler, Goering, Mussolini
Who do you think you are?
With the British Navy here,
You cannot get very far.

Hitler, Goering, Mussolini,
British Tommies stand so strong
Don't think you can win the war
Cause the British do no wrong.

Hitler, Goering, Mussolini
Maybe you've planes galore
But while our air force stands by
You never can win the war.

Hitler, Goering, Mussolini,
You may say that England's yours
But you better go back home
'Cause you'll never reach their shores.

So you better take your pop guns
And play like children play
For if you stray out of your nursery
We will take your toys away.

We have given you fair warning
Because England's on our side
So listen while we have our say
Forever more in peace abide.

We have told you all about them
We don't mean to cause them harm
For they don't know what their doing
Let them go back on the farm.

The meeting closed with God Save the King, after which a quiz contest was held and a dainty lunch served by the executive.

OBITUARY

HARRY AYLING

Harry Ayling, residence, 144 Burnham Street, passed away in the Belleville General Hospital early this Saturday morning. He was in failing health for the past two months.

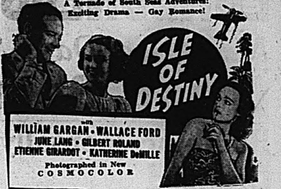
The late Mr. Ayling, who was in his 67th year, was born in Worthing, Sussex, England, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Ayling. For the past thirty-two years he was a resident of this city, being engaged as a brick layer, and was highly esteemed. In religion he was a member of the Church of England and a parishioner of Christ Church. Fraternally he was a member of the I.O.O.F. of Worthing, England.

Surviving him are his wife; one daughter, Miss Florence Ayling, at home; one sister, Mrs. John Jupp, Worthing England; four brothers, Mr. Albert Ayling Belleville; Mr. William Ayling, England; Mr. James Ayling, New Zealand and Mr. Samuel Ayling, England.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Monday
Tuesday
Wednesday
DAILY
2.30 p.m.
7.10 p.m.
9.10 p.m.
AIR CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
A Tornado of South Seas Adventures!
Exciting Drama — Gay Romance!



ISLE OF DESTINY
with
WILLIAM GARGAN • WALLACE FORD
JUNE LANG • GILBERT ROLAND
ETIENNE GIRARDOT • KATHERINE DeMILLE
Photographed in New COSMOCOLOR

EXTRA SPECIAL
FOX NEWS — crammed with sensational International Scenes, including Bombing Raids on Berlin and other German Cities.

LEON ERROL
COMEDY
"TRUTH ACHES"

WALT DISNEY
CARTOON

ENDS TONIGHT
STUART ERWIN in "Mr. Beggs Steps Out"
HOPALONG CASSIDY in "Silver on the Sage"

Rome Communique

Rome, Sept. 14 (AP).—The text of Saturday's Italian high command communique:

"In the eastern Mediterranean a convoy of steamships escorted by warships was bombed by one of our air formations and later attacked by one of our torpedo planes. A steamship of medium tonnage was hit by a torpedo and, heavily listing, was abandoned by the rest of the formation. On later reconnaissance flights the steamship was found to be missing and therefore was probably sunk.

"Another convoy, also escorted, was repeatedly overtaken by our bombers which hit squarely one freighter and probably warships, which immediately ceased firing. Despite violent anti-aircraft fire, all our planes returned to their own bases.

(There was no immediate comment from the British Admiralty on these claims.)

"In North Africa there was more intense activity by exploring parties on the Cirenaican frontier. In East Africa enemy tent encampments were attacked and bombed in the Ras El Sil zone north of Gallabat.

"An enemy plane which was reported yesterday as probably shot down after a raid on Sciamanna was found burned in our territory. The crew, composed of an officer and two non-coms, were captured. Further checks show two other enemy planes which bombed Kassala Sept. 11 were shot down in flames in addition to that reported Sept. 11."

UNITS TO ARRIVE IN CITY SUNDAY

Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) and 34th Battery N. P. A. M. Complete Training at Petawawa

According to information received today the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) and the 34th Battery R.C.A. and the 2nd Battalion Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment N.P.A.M. regiments of this district will arrive from their two weeks' camp training period in Belleville on Sunday evening. The information stated the units are leaving Petawawa training camp at 4.15 p.m. Sunday and are expected to arrive in Belleville between 10.00 and 11.00 p.m. Sunday evening at the Canadian Pacific Railway station.

For the past two weeks the above-mentioned units have been engaged in an elementary military training period at Petawawa and upon detraining at Belleville on Sunday night, the units will doubtless parade to their respective armouries for dismissal.

Girl Found Buried 3 Days in Wreckage

London, Sept. 14 (CP)—Buried three days in the debris of her bomb-blasted home, 14-year-old Mildred Castillo is reported recoverning in hospital. Three men passing the demolished home at 10 o'clock Thursday night heard faint cries from the basement. Tunnelling through the ruins, they found the girl still alive. The house was bombed Monday night. The girl's mother was believed dead in the wreckage.

Adventure Ahoy!
Tonight you can sail with the "Robin Hood of the Sea", searching the ocean's byways for pirate treasure, enemy galleons, red-lipped ladies, adventures you've always dreamed of and never lived...before!
ERROL
FLYNN
The Sea Hawk
He won his greatest victory in the battle for her heart.

Brenda Marshall • Claude Rains
Donald CRISP • Flora ROBSON • Alan HALE
Warner Bros. New Season Special!
Extra
MICKEY and PLUTO
in Walt Disney's Latest
"BONE TROUBLE"
BELLE
HOME OF FINE PICTURES!
DAILY .... 2.30: 7.00: 9.10.
Tonight - Monday
Tuesday - Wednesday
FEATURE 2.50: 7.08 9.25

15390
11 120
4 270

CANADA'S PEACE GRIP CANADIAN FROM WAR ZONES

It Takes Time to Get Used to Normal Living Without the Alert for Air Raids and Bombs

By GLADYS ARNOLD
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Ottawa, Sept. 14— (CP) —The normalcy of Canadian cities comes as a slight but pleasant shock after the day-to-day atmosphere which prevades London. One has forgotten what "peace" is like. It's a relief to see a monument like the War Memorial standing naked and unafraid, not dressed in sandbags and a tin hat to keep off the rain of bombs.

It's good to find the churches, the public buildings and stores with their windows unbanked and no barricade of bristling and rusty barbed wire embellishments.

How strange too to see the lights come on until the cities are ablaze with brightness and color. To see the people loitering along the business streets "window shopping" — a pastime which has been denied to British men and women for a year.

No more stepping into a black vacuum when coming out of a cinema, thearte or restaurant after 10 o'clock. No more stumbling along in the dark searching for the white-painted street-egde or dodging passers-by whose groping hands sometimes push into your face. No more vainly looking for the faint letters "OPEN" which indicates that behind the multitude of black velvet curtains and double doors a sandwich or a drink may be obtained.

No need here to take the stained glass windows of the churches and bury them somewhere in the country. There's something comforting too about the roar of the airplanes which break through the busy hum of the cities — a roar which one knows is friendly.

But in spite of that, nerves become tense and strained — from habit. The habit which caused a recently-arrived Canadian carefully to pull down the blinds in the hotel and close the curtains before turning on the light; just as carefully to turn out the light at 10 o'clock before going to the window to see where the airplane roar came from. That's the silly sort of thing one does for a while after coming back to a sane corner of the world.

There's something very precious too about being able to look up the canal into the beautiful parks and not see the green grass turned up and disfigured by trenches; sandbag fortresses encircled by barbed-wire from which the menacing snouts of guns point skyward.

It's a bit startling at first to see a bus or streetcar come around the corner with all lights blazing at midnight. As the little English boy who wrote home from Canada to his parents said, "I like Canada very much but there's a scandalous waste of electricity and petrol going on over here. The people just get in their automobiles and drive anywhere instead of somewhere."

But with being unpatriotic one might say similarly that after living in London there comes the conviction when one has just eaten a good Canadian dinner with fresh apple pie and coffee with as much sugar as you like (and the way it's made over here), that the food in Canada is the best in the world.

Berlin Barbarians Attempt to Kill Heads of All States

London, Sept. 14 (CP Cable)—Attempts to assassinate the heads of state are part of a calculated policy of "the Berlin barbarians," the Daily Mail said today in an editorial on the bombing of Buckingham Palace.

The Daily Mail, comparing the palace bombing with the Nazi attacks on Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands and King Haakon of Norway, said Germany's object is "to destroy every rallying point of national sentiment and character and to reduce civilized peoples to the ghastly mould of the Nazi robots."

It added:—

"The first stage of this spiritual offensive against the British people is to drive the King from his capital. "If the King leaves London German armies will have scored their first tentative victory," says the Nazi press.

"Such a victory was denied them. The King's first act after the bombing was to visit his people in the East end of London.

"His reply to Hitler was given in his message to the Cabinet. The attack on the palace he said 'only strengthens the resolution for us all to fight through to the final victory.'

"There speaks Britain," The Daily Mail declared.

COULDN'T SLEEP COULDN'T WORK

What a relief to settle down to a real night's rest, and awake fully refreshed, ready for the day's duties. I was tortured by fretful nights—tossing, turning—never comfortable. Half awake days—over-tired, driving body and mind to work when they needed rest. "Try Dodd's Kidney Pills," said a friend—"it may be your kidneys". I'm glad I followed his advice as now I'm sleeping like a top—thanks to !!!

Dodd's Kidney Pills

An air-raid precautions worker in London comforts a little boy whose home has been reduced to rubble by a German bomb. The little fellow takes consolation from the fact that his toy railroad escaped damage. The boy holds sections of the tracks in his hand.

'Quick-Freezing Plant to Be Established in City This Fall

Latest Idea in Cold Storage Facilities to be Reality Here in Plant Built by Mr. John Spencer

KEEPS FOOD FRESH

Fresh strawberries in December. New string beans, asparagus, corn-on-the-cob in January. Fresh chicken, fowl and game at any time. Tender beef at one's finger-tips whenever you desire it. A personal larder just around the corner in which can be kept fruits, vegetables and meats at seasonal freshness.

Refrigeration science has made such possibilities a reality. In the near future, a modern "quick-freezing" plant, will be installed in Belleville, which will bring the above facilities to residents of this city and district. The plant will be owned by Mr. John Spencer, of this city and will be known as the Spencer Frigid Lockers. Its locale will be in the vicinity of the city market.

Housed in a modern building, the plant will contain the latest in refrigeration equipment which will service 300 specially built lockers. Each locker will be 17 inches deep, 20 inches high and 30 inches long with a cubic capacity of six feet, capable of containing 250 pounds of meat. All foods will be put through special freezing and other processes before being placed in the locker to await the customer's pleasure.

Benefit to Farmers

Officials of the plant claim the new quick-freezing process will be of especial benefit to farmers, who kill their own cattle and store meat at home. Or for that matter to the urban resident too, who can purchase meat in quantities at a time to suit himself and place it in the plant to be called for as needed.

Freshly killed meat is first placed in a specially built "chill-room" in a temperature of 35 degrees F. The animal heat extracted by this process, it is placed in an "aging room" and left there for 10 days, at the same temperature. During this period, the meat undergoes special processing by Ultra-Violet Ray lamps. This process not only sterilizes, but eliminates the possibility of mould formations on the surface of the meat.

Taken to "Processing Room"

From here the meat is brought to the "Processing Room" where a custom butcher cuts it into steaks, chops, roasts, or whatever cuts the locker renter desires. Following this operation, the meat is wrapped in moisture and vapor-proof paper and taken to the "Quick-Freezing" Room and remains there for a day in a temperature of 25 degrees below zero.

Then it is transferred to the renter's locker in the Locker Room to await his pleasure. Lockers are maintained at a temperature of zero. The renter has a key to his locker which will be accessible at all times.

No Injurious Effects

Plant officials claim that the quick-freezing process has no injurious or detrimental effects upon the food. The extremely low degree of temperature does not cause expansion in the tiny cells, thus retaining the original fresh quality, flavor and juices.

Fruits and vegetables are washed and packed in special containers before being processed and made ready for the ultimate consumer. Locker rentals will be priced at ten dollars per year, it was stated. The new "Quick-Freezing" process has met with startling success in many parts of the United States and Canada and is said to be rapidly gaining popularity on both sides of the border.

DRAGGER FLEET FOR U.S. NAVY

Uncle Sam May Acquire a Number of New England Fishing Vessels

Boston, Sept. 14—(CP)—Edward H. Cooley, manager of the Massachusetts Fisheries Association has announced that the U. S. Navy may acquire 19 of the wooden daggers of the Boston and Gloucester fishing fleet under negotiations now in progress.

Although the Navy remained silent as to what use would be made of them, waterfront observers suggested that the draggers might be used in searching for magnetic mines. The Navy recently acquired 12 trawlers of the Boston fishing fleet to be used in mine-sweeping operations.

The draggers, most of them of recent construction, average about 100 tons, carry two masts and auxiliary motors and have an average capacity of 50 tons.

Spokesmen for the fishing fleet said their transfer would have little effect as the fleet numbered about 150 draggers and more were being constructed. Approximately 200 fishermen might be "on the beach" temporarily, one spokesman said, but he added that new jobs would be open as new draggers were launched.

The Gloucester Sea Foods Workers' Union, however, sees a threat to the fish cutting and packing industry in Gloucester if the Navy is permitted to buy fishing vessels without stipulating that selling owners immediately replace them.

SAYS PATRIARCHS WERE NOT SO OLD

Even Methuselah Only 192 Says Yale Researcher Into Biblical Lore

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 14 — (CP)—A Yale University research fellow has announced discovery of a secret key to ancient knowledge which "rationalizes, among other things, the Genesis of the Old Testament and showed that Methuselah was not so old as the Bible says."

Dr. Andrew Efron, 40-year-old scholar who fled his native Russia in 1919, said that in the light of his discovery, "the ages of all the patriarchs, from Adam to Noah, must be rectified."

"Moreover," he maintained, "the legends composing the Genesis receive a perfectly rational explanation and are entirely correct."

While the Bible gives Methuselah's age as 969 years, Dr. Efron said, that oldest of all Biblical patriarchs lived only 192 years. Adam died when he was 96 years old rather than 930, and Noah was a comparatively young man of 48 when he built the ark and not 600 years old.

The key which Dr. Efron used is a tree-shaped symbol which has been found carved on rocks and in other records of the ancient world. The number of branches differs, also their positions, lengths and thicknesses, all combining apparently to form a code.

History of Belleville Given At Bay of Quinte W. I. Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Local Institute was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Fred Denyes, Front Road.

The president, Mrs. Richie Ketcheson took charge of the meeting. Business was discussed and Mrs. Percy Bolton and Mrs. Bruce Hogle were appointed delegates to attend the Convention Area to be held in Belleville October 3rd and 4th. The convener Mrs. Casey Ketcheson now took charge and discussed some Red Cross work. All enjoyed a short space of community singing, then Mrs. Ketcheson introduced Mrs. S. Anderson as guest speaker. The topic for this month being "Historical Research", Mrs. Anderson chose for her talk a research of "The City of Belleville". How the city of Belleville grew from the year 1816, being only 200 acres of land, the site of the village was laid out by surveyor Wilmot. This particular ground was on Dundas Street, now where the Old Peoples' Home is. Settlement for some years being very slow, the townships of Sidney and Thurlow forming the Western limit of settlement. Captain John Singleton and Lieutenant Ferguson were the first settlers in the new townships. Neither of these pioneers survived long. Singleton died in 1789 and Ferguson followed him to the grave three months later.

In the Spring of the same year fifty Loyalists settled in Thurlow and Sidney. In the following year John Taylor, one of the party settled up the river in the 5th concession. Capt. John Meyers purchased from Mr. Taylor the north half of his lot for $100 and in the year 1790 erected a dam on the site of what is known as Walker's Dam where he built a mill. The only one between Port Hope and Napanee and in 1794 constructed the famous old brick house which until the year 1876 stood on the northern brow of the hill and was the oldest brick house in Upper Canada. Near the mouth of the river was a barren plain with heavy cedar swamp extending on each side of it. What is now Front Street in Belleville was in 1800 a very thick cedar swamp, with rock within a few inches of the surface.

First Bridge in 1804

In 1804 the first bridge was erected at the spot where the lower bridge now is. This was off the line with then the principal road, but thought advisable to be placed at the narrowest part of the river to save expense. Up until 1816 Belleville was called Meyers' Creek, in honor of Captain Meyers. The river bore an Indian name of Sagonaska. In the year mentioned, Governor Gore named the village of Belleville in honor of his wife, Lady Bella, which name by the addition of single letters has been transformed into that which it now bears. In the same year a post office was established in Belleville. Mr. S. N. McNab was first Postmaster. The inhabitants were about 150 people in year 1818; in 1824 500 people; in 1829 700; in 1836 about 1700 of a population. In 1831 Belleville printed her first paper called "Anglo Canadian". In 1838 the Court House and gaol were completed with the cost of $23,640.

In the year 1836 Belleville was said by the writer of the Intelligencer paper to contain 1,800 inhabitants. Belleville was incorporated as a town in 1850. Improvements in construction of gravel roads throughout the country was largely due to George Benjamin, proprietor of the Intelligencer paper. In 1859 another idea of his was carried into effect that of tolls and toll gates from the roads which had proven of great advantage.

In 1860 the town was separated from the county which was beneficial. In 1861 the population had increased to 6,277, and in 1871 was 7,305. A special census taken in 1876 gave the population at 11,120. The corporation limits have been extended several times from the 200 acres from which the village was founded in 1816, having gradually expanded to 1,360 acres within the city limits in 1879.

Incorporated As City in 1879

It was incorporated as a city by the Act of Legislature of Ontario in the year 1877 which came into effect on the first of January, 1879. The first ferry boat named Prince Edward went from Rossmore to Belleville at the old Ferry House.

The first street car in Belleville went from the old Ferry dock to the Grand Trunk station. The street car went on steel rails drawn by a horse, seating capacity 12 to 15 people. A chain with a horse shoe attached was used for a brake thrown over the wheel, when needed. Some time in 1892, Belleville had an electric street car running from the boat docks to the Grand Trunk station on what is now Front Street. In 1860 gas lights was the lighting system until late years when the electricity came in.

In 1935 the census taken showed a population of 14,411. The acreage is now 1,800 acres and the amount of taxes levied in the year 1935 amounted to $596,489.17.

Speaker Thanked

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Anderson for giving of her time to us with such a wonderful paper on research of the home townships and city. Mrs. Glenn Meyers favoured with a solo "Long, Long Ago". This part of the program closed with the singing of, "There'll Always be an England".

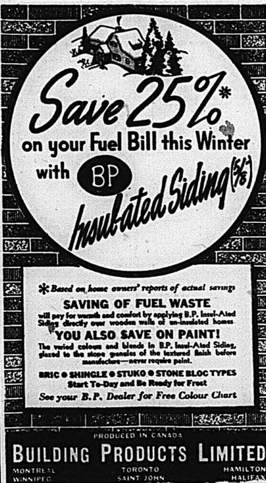
Mrs. R. Ketcheson again took charge, when Mrs. Moore on behalf of Mrs. Wilson presented Mrs. Ketcheson with a bouquet of zinnias in honor of her birthday on the day following. Mrs. Anderson, Mrs. George Bush judges for flowers, awarded Mrs. Denyes prize for basket of glads, Mrs. Moore receiving prize for table bouquet.

First Plough in Canada

Mrs. Anderson again gave a short research on the first plough in Canada. In the spring of 1628, Canada was a very little colony perched upon the rock of Quebec with a small trading station at Tadoussa where the Saguenay river enters the St. Lawrence. The white population was under 1,000, the men being hunters and trappers for fur was the only export of the country. There was considerable Indian population. The women did all the farm work while the men talked war, with their heavy wooden hoes getting the fields ready to put in the seed, corn, squash and beans. But this particular April they did not go to war, but listened to a youth who was startled with excitement to tell them what he had seen. Men had tamed great deer by magic, and they were doing strange things with them. The beasts must be deer for they have horns and eat grass, they are like no deer ever seen, but come ye and see. The men following the narrow trail through the woods for these were the only roads in Canada. They came to the heights of Quebec. The only two farms in Canada were there. The first started by Louis Herbert, our first farmer, had its fields of corn and garden vegetables all dug by spade and cultivated by hoe. Herbert had two daughters, one married in aristocratic family, who was called Sir Couillard. He decided to help this farmer and father-in-law, Herbert. In the year 1628, April 27th, the first plough was used in Canada which created so much excitement, the Indians even broke up a war council to see what new thing Sir Couillard would be doing. They were all watching in this big field, he with two white oxen just out from Europe was ploughing, turning the first furrow in Canada. All the white population of Quebec was out and the Indians stood in a dense crowd. As he was unyoking his ox team they came joyfully through the crowd to congratulate Couillard on his oxen and plough. In 1644 on the same date, April 27th, he sowed his first wheat.

God Save the King was sung. Lunch was served and a social half hour spent. A vote of thanks was extended Mrs. Denyes for opening her home.

Katherine DeMille who is featured with William Gargan, Wallace Ford and June Lang in the adventure drama, "Isle of Destiny," next attraction at the McCarthy Theatre.



*Based on home owners' reports of actual savings

SAVING OF FUEL WASTE will pay for warmth and comfort by applying B.P. Insul-Ated Siding directly over wooden walls of un-insulated homes

YOU ALSO SAVE ON PAINT!
The varied colours and blends in B.P. Insul-Ated Siding, glazed to the stone granules of the textured finish before manufacture—never require paint.

BRIC ● SHINGLE ● STUKO ● STONE BLOC TYPES
Start To-Day and Be Ready for Frost
See your B.P. Dealer for Free Colour Chart

PRODUCED IN CANADA
BUILDING PRODUCTS LIMITED
MONTREAL TORONTO HAMILTON
WINNIPEG SAINT JOHN HALIFAX

FOR SALE IN BELLEVILLE
BY HOUSTON CO., LIMITED
ST. PAUL ST. PHONE 1677

FOR SALE BY
ALEX W. CARMICHAEL
ROOFING AND FLOORING CONTRACTOR
336-40 Pinnacle St., Belleville Phone 1872

CAPITAL HAVING HOUSE SHORTAGE

Wartime Jobs and Dearth of Building in Recent Years Brings Problem

Ottawa, Sept. 14— (CP) —New houses here are sold "even before the walls are up," so acute is the housing situation these days. Real estate agents declare it will be even worse by the end of the month.

"Things are reaching a point where it is virtually impossible to find a client a place to live in," one agent said. "Few realize how serious the problem is."

A "blitzkrieg" on real estate offices is expected as building has not kept pace with the increase in Ottawa's population since war started and residents of summer cottages — there are thousands in the district—will be coming to the city for the Winter. And on top of that, appointments to wartime jobs here continue.

Because they are liable to be transferred at a moment's notice, Royal Canadian Air Force men have the most trouble to find dwellings. Landlords prefer more permanent tenants than the nomadic airmen.

Italy has limited telegraphic correspondence with foreign countries to the Italian language and has prohibited all long distance telephone calls to such countries.

Bridge Street United Church

REV. J. SEMPLE, B.A., S.T.B., Th.D., Minister
11.00 a.m.—MORNING SERVICE.
7.00 p.m.—EVENING Service.
Speaker:
Rev. Principal Howard
AT BOTH SERVICES.
SUNDAY SCHOOL 2.30
Alec Gerden, Organist Leona Riggs, Choir Leader

HOLLOWAY STREET UNITED CHURCH

REV. ROYAL E. NEWMAN, Minister.
11.00 a.m.—Speaker: REV. GEO. A. WILLIAMS, Toronto
2.30 p.m.—SUNDAY SCHOOL. (Rally Day Service.)
7.00 p.m.—Guest Speaker: MR. HARRY ATKINSON, Albert College.
Wm. Conner, organist. S. M. Anglin, choir leader

ST. ANDREW'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

REV. W. J. WALKER, B.A., B.D., Minister.
10.00 a.m.—SUNDAY SCHOOL
11.00 a.m.—THE WISDOM OF THE WORLD.
7.00 p.m.—WAGES OR GIFT.
Mr. H. J. McNish will be the visiting organist.

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH

11.00 a.m.—PRAYER AND THE WAR.
Is it right for a Christian to pray for the defeat of Germany?
11.30 a.m.—Junior Congregation. Mrs. (Dr.) Branscombe.
2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
7.00 p.m.—THE LIFE OF MR. ENCOURAGEMENT.
FRIDAY NIGHT, 6.30—Congregational Rally.

Victoria Avenue Baptist Church

Rev. Claude Troupe Olmstead, B.A., B.D., Minister
Sunday—Services at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. Rally Day in the Sunday School at 3 p.m.
Monday—Senior and Intermediate B.Y.P.U. Banquet at 6.30 p.m.
Wednesday—Church and Congregational Rally with supper at 6.30.
Thursday—Choir Meeting at 7.45 p.m.
Friday—Brotherhood Supper Meeting at 6.30 p.m.
MUSIC: Mr. and Mrs. John W. Deacon

CHURCH OF ENGLAND
CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS

17th. Sunday After Trinity. Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Rector
8 a.m. Holy Communion; 11 a.m. Matins; 7 p.m. Evensong.
Royal Arch Masons will attend the service at 11 a.m.
Earnest Wheatley, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist

CHRIST CHURCH

17th. Sunday After Trinity Rev. G. G. Wright, L. Th., Rector
8 a.m.—Holy Communion. 2.30 p.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer. 7.00 p.m.—Evensong.
George N. Maybee, Organist and Choirmaster

EMMANUEL CHURCH

(FREE CHURCH OF ENGLAND)
VICTORIA AVE. Rector: REV. D. R. CHATREAU
10.00 a.m.—CHURCH SCHOOL.
11.00 a.m.—THE SEVERITY OF JESUS CHRIST.
7.00 p.m.—IS THE END OF THE AGE AT HAND?
WEDNESDAY AT 8 p.m.—Prayer and Bible Study.

ALLIANCE TABERNACLE

Cor. West Moira and Coleman Sts. REV. C. V. FREEMAN, Pastor
11.00 a.m.—THE WORLD OF TOMORROW.
7.00 p.m.—JUST OUTSIDE THE DOOR.
9.45 a.m. Sunday School. Tuesday, 8 p.m., Prayer Meeting.
Friday, 8 p.m., Young People's Society.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

(I.O.O.F. TEMPLE, 271½ FRONT STREET)
SERVICE 11 a.m. SUNDAY SCHOOL 11.00 a.m.
Subject: "SUBSTANCE"
Testimonial Meeting First Wednesday of Each Month at 8 p.m.
The Public is Cordially Invited to Attend These Services

BETHEL HALL

Corner Church and Station Streets
9.45 a.m.—SCHOOL AND BIBLE CLASS.
11.00 a.m.—REMEMBERING THE LORD.
7.00 P.M. — GOSPEL SERVICE
Speaker: MR. F. R. PEER. Subject: "A Bad Bargain."
THURSDAY, 8.00 P.M.—PRAYER MEETING.

EVANGEL TEMPLE

An Evangelistic Church with a Warm Welcome and Bright Singing
Bridge West and Coleman Streets. E. N. O. KULBECK, Pastor
10 a.m. Sunday School. 11 a.m., Gathered Unto the Lord Jesus.
7.30 p.m.—TETELESTAI—The Greatest Word Ever Uttered.
God be praised for the preservation of the King and Queen.
God is still almighty, and trustworthy. Have you proven Him?

CHURCH OF NAZARENE

Sunday 11.00 a.m.—WORSHIP and TESTIMONIES.
7.00 p.m.—EVANGELISTIC.
Wednesday, 8.00 p.m.—PRAYER and PRAISE SERVICE.
A Hearty Welcome to All.
REV. W. W. MALLORY, Pastor.

$242,100,000 Now Subscribed in Loan

Ottawa, Sept. 14 —(CP)— Books of Canada's second war loan—the $300,000,000 objective in sight—will remain open the early part of next week so that Canadians may have further opportunity of subscribing.

Preliminary figures on cash subscriptions released last night by the Bank of Canada showed a total of $242,100,000 already taken in the first five days of the sale, leaving a balance of $57,900,000 to be subscribed.

Private subscribers who took up 66.6 per cent of the issue of the first loan last JPanuary, up to last night had made less than 50 per cent of subscriptions to the second loan, it was stated.

Many subscribers have increased their earlier orders and investment brokers, banks and brokers will attempt to secure a greater proportion of subscriptions from individual subscribers in their final special drive.

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

LONDON LANDMARKS TARGETS FOR ENEMY

Twice during the week German bombs have damaged Buckingham Palace while on Friday an incendiary bomb was reported to have damaged the House of Lords. It appears as if the Nazis are deliberately seeking out historic buildings in London to destroy them. This is one of the tragedies of the war. Buildings that have been associated with England's history for hundreds of years can be obliterated by a few well-placed bombs. When we think of London we do so in the associated memories of history. What would the city be like without Westminster Abbey, The Tower of London, Buckingham Palace. the Houses of Parliament, London Bridge and other places known to visitors who have spent magic hours touring about the city and of which the above are the main points of interest.

If this war goes on long enough it will take its toll of many of the places Londoners and the world hold dear. Even with the best of defences a few planes can always slip through and it needs no armada to smash buildings that offer such easy targets to the enemy.

However, as Mr. Churchill said some time ago, London will be defended even though it is reduced to ruins rather than see the Germans in possession. Those were no idle words and we know that that sentiment has been echoed in the hearts of all of us.

ITALIAN CAMPAIGN IN AFRICA

News dispatches on Friday carried word that Italy has begun her long-expected attack on the British in Egypt. The Italian commander Graziani is reported to have about 250,000 troops on the Egyptian-Libyan border and in some quarters it is thought that Italy is starting her offensive timed to occur at the same time as Hitler's attack on the British Isles.

In preparation for the offensive, Britain has landed recently large reinforcements of troops and equipment in Egypt while her fleet has, also, been greatly strengthened just in case the Italian navy came out of hiding and attempted a sortie towards the eastern Mediterranean.

The Italians are probably feeling rather confident since Britain had to withdraw from Somaliland and concentrate her forces elsewhere but recently one of Mussolini's plans to get gasoline supplies to his forces in Italian Somaliland, which borders on the Indian Ocean on one side and Ethiopia on the other, met with disastrous failure. "Auger," the well-informed correspondent of the New York Times, tells the story of how it happened.

By reason of the geographic position of Italian Somaliland, Mussolini's forces there are cut off from normal communications with Italy, and as British bombers destroy their reserves of gasoline and munitions, replenishment is almost impossible, then somebody, he writes, had a brilliant notion.

The Indian Ocean is full of smugglers eager to make a dishonest dollar, and Mussolini hired them in large numbers. Little Arab ships picked up stocks of gasoline all over the area, and pro-Petain Frenchmen in French Somaliland, Madagascar and elsewhere helped materially, it is said, after the armistice. Precious gasoline was bought with Italian gold and more gold was paid the smugglers, who had been told to run the British blockade and make deliveries to Mogadiscio. Astonishingly the Arabs found the blockade an easy barrier, and gradually large quantities of gasoline were assembled at the Italian port, loaded on trucks ready for the journey into Ethiopia.

Then the British struck heavily with a fleet of bombers. They had not been fooled but had merely decided it was easier to destroy this great store of gasoline in one blow, after it had been assembled, than by chasing over hundreds of miles of ocean. "British bombers," says 'Auger,' "in fifteen minutes annihilated the result of Mussolini's patient endeavor. So the British had achieved their end, the Arabs had their gold, and everybody was happy except the Italians."

If the British fleet in the Mediterranean can keep a large amount of supplies from the Italians in Libya it may be that the campaign will not tax the capacity of the British forces in keeping the enemy away from vital centres. This time the Italians will find they are not fighting poor defenceless Ethiopians, Albanians or poorly-armed Spaniards but a determined people who have nothing but contempt for their leader and a feeling of pity for the Italian people for allowing themselves to be led into a war they did not want by a man whose good judgment has been warped by his imperialistic ambitions.

JUST A PREDICTION BY A KEEN OBSERVER

Quite a few people, who have been predicting that the United States will be joining Britain soon, will take some comfort from a short article written by L. S. B. Shapiro, the new York correspondent of the Montreal Gazette and a keen observer of public opinion across the border. He writes:

"There is one prediction which observers of all shades of political opinion seem to offer with the force of conviction. It is that, no matter what the outcome of the Battle of Britain, this country will be in the war before the end of the year.

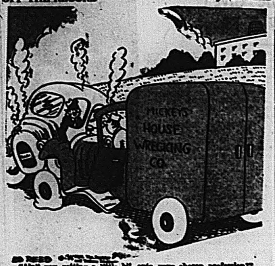
"All the old plans and arguments have been shattered. There is only a single line running across our world. Germany is on one side of it: the United States on the other. And the Nazi aptitude for "schrecklichkeit" has shown that an armed peace is more dangerous than an open war. No matter who wins the election, the people of this country will make the fateful decision before the end of the year. That is the echo here to the shriek of bombs over London."

Mr. Shapiro says, also, that a fortnight ago Senator Hiram Johnson, an Isolationist, was nominated in California by an overwhelming majority. This week Senator Henry Ashurst, also an Isolationist, was abruptly disowned by Arizona after twenty-six years of service. He was beaten by a so-called Interventionist. Willkie who was the White Hope of the Republicans is bogged down and all but ignored by the anxious eyes of the nation trained on the White House and the man who sits in it. Today the forthcoming election appears trivial.

There it is, one man's opinion and the trend of recent events certainly lend credence to what he says. However, a lot can happen in over three months and all predictions are hazardous as many prophets have found out in recent years.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED



"Ain't you getting a little bit outa your chosen profession?"

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 14th., 1920.

A farmer in Durham township has sold his apple crop from an orchard of 100 acres to a Toronto firm for $34,000.

The rinks of the Belleville Lawn Bowling Club went to Deseronto this afternoon to play a match with two rinks of that town. The Belleville players are: Rev. A. S. Kerr, Judge Deroche, Mayor Riggs, H. W. Ackerman, A. R. Symons, W. H. Gilbert, A. McFee and Don. Bleecker.

Mr. E. H. Tickell is in Toronto to day on business.

Mr. Leo McGinnis is spending a few days in Ottawa.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 14th., 1910.

In a baseball match at the Agricultural Park between the G. T. R. team and the Park Nine Team, which was played for a silver cup donated by the Fair Board, the G. T. R. team won, the score being 12 to 9. By many it was thought that the Park Nine team, the winners of the City League for this season, would win the game, but the G. T. R. boys put up a great game, in fact good ball was played by both teams. Sullivan pitched the entire game for the winners and had good control of the ball. Smith for the Park Nine team, pitched seven innings and was relieved by Gerow for the last two innings. W. Cochrane gave entire satisfaction as umpire. The following composed the teams: G. T. R.—Campbell, W. Brown, G. Brown, O'Neill, Farrell, Hagerman, LeFleur, Johnson and Sullivan. Park Nine Team,—McGuire, Thomas, Connell, Gerow, Connolly, Reeves, Jones, Brennan and Smith.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 14th., 1900.

To day a big Conservative gathering is being held in Belleville and a vast crowd was at the station when the train came in bearing Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, Hon. George E. Foster and Hon. J. P. Whitney and a grand welcome was given them. A procession was formed and proceeded down Front Street to the market square where the parade disbanded and the guests went to Hotel Quinte for luncheon. This afternoon the Conservative leaders will deliver addresses at the fair grounds. Following was the order of parade: I. O. O. F. Band; First carriage, Sir Charles Tupper, Hon. Hugh John Macdonald, Mr. H. Corby, M. P., and Mr. N. Baldwin Falkiner; second carriage, Hon. George E. Foster, Hon. J. P. Whitney, Mr. A. W. Carscallen, M. P., and Mayor J. W. Johnson; third carriage, Mr. M. B. Morrison, M. P. P., Mr. W. B. Northrup, ex M. P., Mr. W. J. Allen, M. P. P., Mr. George A. Alcorn, Q. C.; fourth carriage, Mr. Uria Wilson, M.P., Mr. W. R. Dempsey, M. P. P., Mr. A. A. Richardson, Mr. James English; fifth carriage, Mr. E. Cochrane, M. P., Mr. P. R. Daly, Mr. W. H. Matthews, Mr. P. J. Thompson; Deseronto Band; citizens in carriages; Frankford Band; citizens on foot. The marshals of the parade were as follows: Mr. John Taylor; Capt. McFee, Mr. T. H. B. Purdy, Mr. J. Vickers, Mr. A. Patterson, Mr. A. Huyck, Mr. W. S. Morden, Mr. D. J. Fairfield, Mr. J. H. Moon, Mr. J. Gauthier and Mr. W. Chisholm. Front Street never looked more beautiful with generous decorations.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 14th., 1890.

The pulpit at the Tabernacle to morrow will be occupied by Mr. M. E. Farnsworth and Mr. Marshall, both students at Albert College.

A telephone has been installed in Mr. J. H. P. Young's grocery.

The steamer Norseman is now making weekly trips between Belleville and Charlotte, N. Y.

Mr. S. Burrows has returned after a trip to the Western States.

Mr. John G. Lyons and Miss Minnie Lyons of Ottawa are guests at the home of Police Officer P. Hayes.

Mr. W. W. Pope of the G.T.R. legal offices here is attending court in Brockville.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1.—In what famous poem does the following line appear, and who was the author?—"Then from the gladdened multitude up went a joyous yell".

2.—Is a barracuda (1) a Latin-American weapon, (2) fish, (3) musical instrument?

3.—With what countries are the following news agencies, which are often credited as sources of foreign news in U.S. papers, identified?—Reuter's, Tass, Domei, Stefani.

4.—The first name of Candidate Willkie's wife is Mary, Edith, Ethel, Josephine, Alice?

5.—Ottawa capital of the Dominion of Canada, is in the province of Quebec, Ontario, Nova Scotia, British Columbia.

6.—Two U.S. Senators named Clark are in the news. Can you give their first names and States?

7.—Bimelech retires to the stud as a leading money-winner among the 3-year-old thoroughbreds. Name two big races he won.

Answers

1.—"Casey at the Bat" by Ernest L. Thayer, who died recently, 50 years after his poem became a classic.

2.—A game fish, considered more dangerous than the shark.

3.—In order, Great Britain, U.S.S.R., Japan, Italy.

4.—Edith.

5.—Ontario.

6.—Bennett C. Clark Missouri; D. Worth Clark, Idaho.

7.—If you said Kentucky Derby, you're wrong. He did win the Preakness and the Belmont.

A Churchill Ancestor

Letter to the New York Sun.

Sir.—If the Rt. Hon. Winston Leonard Spencer Churchill becomes as good a Prime Minister as his American grandfather, Leonard Jerome, of New York, became a poker player he should be able to call the Nazi's hand and win the war.

Martin Van Buren, the eighth President of the United States, had a son named John, who became known as "Prince John" and who acted as secretary to his father while the latter was President. After Van Buren's retirement from the Presidency he purchased the Van Ness mansion in his native town of Kinderhook, up the Hudson. There he continued to live until his death in 1862.

Many of the politicians of that day, as well as in other days, were heavy drinkers, fond of horse-racing and gambling. A pond formerly lay in front of the Van Buren home, Lindenwald, and it is said today by some of the older generation that President Van Buren was obliged to have it filled in because "Prince John" several times fell into it coming home late at night in his cups.

After the President's death the son became the owner of Lindenwald and made it his home. Many are the tales told of parties held there by the widower, "Prince John". On one occasion there was a poker game, the stakes were high, Leonard Jerome was one of the players, and he found himself in possession of the property. The card table on which this game was played is still in the old house. Jerome lived there for a few years and finally transferred the property to his brother. Eventually the place was regained by "Prince John", but whether by another poker game or by purchase the records do not state.

Leonard Jerome had a beautiful daughter, Jennie, the toast of New York society. She married, as her first husband, Lord Randolph Henry Churchill, son of the seventh Duke of Marlborough, in 1874. In November of the same year their eldest son, the present Prime Minister, was born.

E. Y. SMITH.

New York, Aug. 27.

Newest Notes of Science

Science News Service

Goggles for motorists having wire screen mesh instead of the usual colored lenses have been invented that are asserted to reduce the glare of approaching headlights without impairing the vision.

The Japanese government has increased its subsidy for crude camphor and camphor oil in an efforts to increase camphor production in Japan proper from 1,400,000 to 1,800,000 kilograms annually.

A new brush for massaging the scalp that is vibrated 5000 times a minute by an electric motor is asserted to give hair as much brushing in three minutes as would require 15 or 20 minutes by hand.

A Fordham University scientist has invented an electrical device to test the vitamin content of foods and drugs, the fluorescent illumination from a vitamin being registered by an electric eye and a meter.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.,

Small Doses of Insulin Bring Relief to Mental Patients

One of the effective forms of treatment for mental patients who are in an excited or even dangerous frame of mind is the use of hot baths. The hot baths so soothe the nerves that the patient becomes quiet, often going off into a sound sleep. The use of quieting drugs is another method of allaying violent symptoms in these patients.

Insulin, causing shock, is now being used in practically all mental hospitals. That doses of insulin kept so small that they do not cause shock but still help mental patients is recorded by Drs. C. R. Bennett and T. K. Miller, Camarillo, California, in the American Journal of Psychiatry. They used these small doses of insulin in 125 cases which formerly had been treated by both baths and quieting drugs. They state that nearly every case of acute manic excitement was controlled within an average period of thirty-six hours with insulin, without the use of the hot baths or quieting drugs. The hot baths and quieting drugs are now used only in epileptic cases or in those cases where excitable behaviour occurs only at night. Improvement in newly admitted cases of dementia precox (persistent dream state), depression and melancholy states is in many instances almost miraculous because the changes are so rapid. The improvement does not continue if the insulin is discontinued as soon as improvement is noticed. Usually from three to eight weeks of continued treatment is required to bring about complete relief of the symptoms.

All patients improve remarkably in their general physical condition, gaining weight on an average of 15 pounds within six weeks. Warts, carbuncles, and acne (pimples) in these patients disappear quickly. It has become "routine" now to give insulin to any patient threatened with boils. Acne does not always respond favorably.

By the use of insulin the so-called "disturbed" ward has passed away.

When we remember that mental hospitals have more patients than all the other hospitals combined and that dementia precox patients make up the largest number of mental patients, it is gratifying to know that insulin in small doses is bringing relief to so many of these cases.

CATS OF LONDON

Letter to New York Sun.

—Sir:—I have just received a letter from my twelve-year-old niece in North London, in which she writes:

"Tiggy, the cat, has joined the National Air Raid Precautions Animal Clinic, and is very proud of her medal and pretty blue cross which she wears round her neck. All animals belonging to this clinic have numbers allotted to them, and records are kept of their names addresses and ages. The medal requests the finder to report the number to the nearest national animal guard; so you see even the kitties are now organized over here.

"I have painted the front of our dugout a dark brown. The inside is already a bright green. Dad made a collapsible table and a sort of bench fixture down one side. There is also a cupboard containing first aid and also a bountiful supply of biscuits and sweets. Against the wall is a fork and spade, to dig ourselves out if necessary. The outside is camouflaged with grass and flowers. Every night mother packs a basket with flasks of hot water, coffee and chocolates, just in case."

Mrs. H. J. Marks.

New York, September 4.

Italian People Long For Peace

(By P. E. Brigust)

Rome (by Mail)—Rome has put on her garb of war. Under the dazzling August sun, she is still attractive. She has not about her the strange sadness of Paris before the invasion, all wrapped up in sandbags, plunged early in the blackout darkness, and uncertain about her future. Rome, so far, fears no such misfortune. She keeps on her guard, but people smile in silence before the ever-increasing aerial scare. France is crushed, the United States distant and unprepared; Britain is reduced to stand upon the defensive.

Foreigners devoted to Rome would not know their pet town. Nothing but Italian is heard in the streets—and a little German. No more Americans, Englishmen, French, Dutch, hardly any Swiss, and not many diplomatists. Germans only, usually to be known by the Nazi Swastika, which many fasten to their buttonhole. No more pilgrims, and very few seminarists. The only ones whose long, solemn corteges can still be seen at times are the Spaniards, in a cowl violet and black, and the Hungarians and Germans, in scarlet. None but German and Swiss papers in the newstands. The old famous name of Thos. Cook & Sons has been blotted out, and if a travel agency still exists in the local station, the Italian railways have taken possession of it. On the still busy Via del Tritone, one-half of the steamship agencies are closed. Alone subsists, on Spain Square, immovable and unafraid, the American Express. Its offices were crowded to capacity two months ago. Almost deserted now, it is waiting for better days. At the Messaggero corner, in front of the Due Macelli, is the busiest spot in Rome, a great show window where the Germans exhibit maps explaining the progress of their various offensives and territorial acquisitions. There is always there a crowd of dumbfounded loungers.

• •

Some names have, of course, disappeared. Thus, on Spain Square, Anderson, photograph dealer, has thought it wise to remove the great white letters which reminded all tourists of a glory a century old. Such transformations are undoubtedly funny. Thus the Hotel Gran Bretagna has become Bocca di Leone—Lion's Mouth. Hotel de France is now Albergo Franco, after the Spanish dictator. Such names as Paris and Bristol are banned. Hotel sounds too foreign. It is replaced by "Albergo." One exception only: The Eden's, which maintains untouched the name of a garden famous since the remote antiquity for its apples, and which a British minister's fame, not acknowledged in Rome, could not overshade.

The walls are now becoming cleaner, but many old posters may still be seen on most of them. Two months ago they heaped upon each other with ever-increasing rapidity. This flow of posters gave an unmistakable look, last May and June, to the streets of Rome. Enormous jibes at Britain at democracy; a frightful negro king, stupid with booze and drugs, surrounded by naked savages and the inscription, "Defender of France"; maps of Corsica, of Malta, clasped in a British hand; of Tunis, whence a pistol aimed at Italy's heart; an Italian soldier breaking through his chains, incensed appeals for Nizza, scrambles of quotations and names — Garibaldi, Napoleon, Mazzini — colours, exclamations, attacks, condemnations and frenzies—all things that the summer dust and heat have already made stale and yellow.

The crowds, of course, are no longer quite so thick. Fewer uniforms than in the last months of the non-belligerency period, and most men wear plain clothes. In the evening you can, without trouble, move among the less numerous groups which walk slowly up and down the Via Nazionale, in order to breathe the first fresh breeze of a waning day. And the evening seems endless—summer-time, having become war-time, drives the night back far beyond 9 o'clock. But then night takes possession of Rome a few instants after the sun has sunk behind St. Peter's cupola. Never was in Paris the blackout so absolute—just a few blue, dim and hesitating lights which point out the general direction of the streets. Motor cars are hardly distinguishable. Their green eyes pop out suddenly from the darkness and pass by in the thick, pitchy night with a great, windy noise. No shop is lighted. If you want to enter a coffee house you have to push a long, funereal hanging behind which you would never have thought it possible to relish still the delicious "espresso" or the velvety "cappuccino." There is a constant risk of falling into your neighbor's arms, not always young and pretty. Therefore, the Romans, who after 11 o'clock cannot find in their home town a single bar or coffee stand open, have decided to go to bed early. They rise earlier, too, and from 6 a.m. the Eternal City rings all over with the joyful and noisy pops and claps of motors. Life starts its course again, nearly normal, in the soft, golden glow rising behind the Alban Mounts, the harmonious curves of which outline at short distance the profile of the horizon. From the Gianicolo hill cypresses to the parasol pines in Villa Medici, Rome ever spreads in the sun her sea of ochrous domes and cupolas.

• •

The blackout remains the Roman housewife's nightmare. The blue paper on all lights keeps from working at night. And rounds of policemen beat up the streets yelling out "Luce, luce!" (light, light), ready to deal out fines to those who "thought" they had made their windows invisible. During the first week of the Italian war the sirens blew almost every night. Their yells and the defenders' cannonade had a great effect. The invaders threw only pamphlets, and since France had capitulated it is more difficult for British planes to reach Rome.

This does not keep Italian authorities from taking all precautions. Little by little, shelters have risen everywhere. Heaps of big paper sandbags isolate and darken here and there Rome's many arcades. Colonna Square is all disfigured. But neither the Marcus Aurelius nor the Trojan columns have been enveloped in sandbags and scaffoldings. Both stand erect, ever the same, and their sculptures glow in the hot July sun. The Emperors' Forums have not been touched either, and their noble columns rise intact in front of the Palace of the Knights of Malta. The splendours of ancient Rome face unperturbed the mechanical horrors of modern warfare. What have the columns of Trojan's or Caesar's Forums to fear? If bombs were to throw them on the ground, from which they were recently lifted, they could be assembled again.

But it is not the same with sculptures. Trajan's Anaglypha, placed near the Rostra on the Roman Forum, are covered with laths and a double sheet of corrugated iron. They resemble — an unexpected landmark in this classical surrounding—an Indian camp in the clearing of a Canadian forest. The Roman Curia is closed; its marble and mosaics pavement, entirely restored a few months ago, is no longer to be seen. Scaffolding disgraces Constantine's Arch and hides all the sculptures. Titus' Arch would be as usual except for the sandbags that cover the famous bas-reliefs representing the emperor's triumph over the Jews, and the arrival in Rome of Jerusalem's sacred spoils. St. Mary-the-Old is grilled, but its strange Byzantine figures may still be scanned in the distance. The Colosseum remains untouched. It still spreads its 2000-year-old skeleton-like circle of bricks and stuccoes. But on the northern, inside incline there is painted the huge international sign for the protection of historical monuments—a rectangle divided by a diagonal into two white and black triangles. By the moonlight even it is perfectly visible. Augustus' Peace Altar disappears under the sandbags heaped upon the Lungotevere. Capitol Square is disfigured by an immense scaffolding which wraps up Marcus Aurelius' bronze statue. All this certainly spoils Rome. Her figure remains, however, still solemn and attractive. But it is bandaged all over. Fortunately, these cover no wounds yet.

• •

Museums, of course, are all closed. In March precautions had already been taken. In the Thermae museum the Cyrene Venus and most of the Farnesina Roman rooms had been removed. At the Villa Borghese, the masterpieces to be protected have been divided into two lots. In a first collection are gathered the most important works, among which are Titian's Sacred and Profane Love, Raphael's Fornarina and Deposition, Correggio's Danae and Canova's Pauline Borghese. They have been placed in specially protected rooms. A collection of the less precious works have been left in the museum's cellars. The same has been done for the Capitol and Thermae Museums. Rome's famous bronze mother-wolf, the little thorn-drawer Love and Psyche, Abundance, Medusa's Head, and the most beautiful ancient Roman mosaics have been removed and placed in the subterranean gallery of the Capitol, prepared by Pietro Colonna, under the Caffarelli Museum.

All churches remain open, but precautions have been taken. Thus Michelangelo's Christ, in St. Maria-Minerva, and the same artist's Moses in St. Peter-Bound, on the Esquiline, have been wrapped in a cast of plaster. The splendid mediaeval mosaics in most churches are invisible. St. Clement's, St. Pudentiana, St. Praxedis and St. Mary-in-Transtevere have their apse disfigured by scaffoldings. A sorrowful spectacle, but it cannot be helped, and one ought to rejoice at the thought that, once the nightmare of war is removed, our eyes and hearts will be able to commune again with the great artists of the past.

• •

There is a lonely exception. The Vatican ignores the fears and cares of war. St. Peter, St. John Lateran, St. Paul and all the Vatican museums are open as usual. No scaffolding, no plaster, in the huge metropolitan basilica, which remains ever the same. At the entrance, Michelangelo's Pieta still casts her moving look of merciful love down on all human and divine sorrows. In the golden expanse of the basilica the sunbeams rush down among the rosy peace doves, sculptured by the hundred on the marble of each huge pillar. You may, if you wish, pass the Sistine chapel and meditate under the vault where Michelangelo seems to have fore-visioned and depicted our own time. These men in flight, before the waters of the Flood, are they not these millions of fugitives thrown by modern horrors toward unreachable shelters? A tragic figure recoils in dismay before apocalyptical landscapes, suddenly laid bare by impious explosives. Others contemplate motionless, as if benumbed by the depth of human sacrifice, its misery, its majesty. But in the northern panel God Himself rises, extends His hand to man just born, created by the divine breath of life. Is this a symbol of a new birth?

• •

Thus does Rome lie down to sleep tonight under her veiled glories.

Unconscious, so to speak, of the tragedy that thunders and whirls at Italy's doors, her people await with confidence, and no hate at all the peace they trust will soon be restored to them.

Stumped Over Silk Nightie

Letter in Ottawa Journal

Sir—I wanted to know what the duty would be on a silk garment which I wished to send to England. I phoned the Government operator and told her what I wanted. A quiet voice answered and referred me to the British trade commissioner's office. There a friendly voice said they knew nothing of the matter and suggested I try the foreign tariffs branch, department of trade and commerce, and gave me a number.

I went through my routine again, but the young lady said that as my inquiries concerned a blue satin nightie and I was talking to the agricultural branch she really couldn't help. She referred me to the Customs House, department of national revenue. I don't give up easily so that I phoned there. This time a gentleman informed me the person I wanted to talk to was in the office of the British high commissioner and gave me a number. It was no use, I was simply told to phone the foreign tariffs branch again. That was that.

The result is that I have an excellent opinion of the good nature of our Government employees but I would like to know what the duty on a blue satin nightie would be if sent to England.

Ottawa, P. W.

House of Continental Rothschild Crumbles

Many royal dynasties have fallen in the past two decades. Few of them, however, have been so spectacularly overthrown as that of the "Commoner" dynasty, the Rothschild Family.

True, the British branch of that famous family still holds its proud place—but the continental branches have suffered eclipse in no uncertain manner.

As this is written, Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, head of the Vienna branch, lies in the Montreal Jewish Hospital in a critical condition, a fugitive from his native land. Latest reports, however, state his condition is somewhat improved. His brother Baron Edward, head of the Paris firm, visited him this week, but has now returned to New York, where he has taken up at least temporary residence. The plans of the two brothers are still indefinite.

Two Alone

All that remains today of the powerful Continental branches of the family are these two brothers. Once financial overlords of all Europe, able to lend money or deny it, to kings and queens, they have been forced to flee their homes.

All wealth and estates of the French branch of the family have been confiscated by the Petain-Laval Fascist Government. The same branch is being denounced daily by the French radio in a newly begun campaign.

Baron Edward and Baron Alphonse are possibly planning to found an American branch of the Rothschild interests on whatever jewels, money and securities they were able to save when Hitler drove them forth.

Red Shield Rothschild

The fall of the House of Rothschild is, except for the British branch, complete. The family fortunes rose more than 100 years ago from one Mayer Anselm, born in 1743 in a Frankfort ghetto. The house had as a sign a red shield, and from this came the name Rothschild, German for "red shield."

Anselm started a money-exchange business and developed a reputation for honesty and trustworthiness.

Mayer Anselm became rich and took into the business his five sons.

Anselm 2nd remained in Frankfort and carried on the business there, which was finally wound up in 1901. Salamon established the Vienna house, Nathan the English, Karl the Neopolitan, Jacob the French.

In all undertakings the brothers collaborated. They financed railways and industrial undertakings, became bankers for kings and nations. Their joint wealth was once estimated at two billion dollars

Nathan was the founder of the English branch. Lionel, his son, was four times elected to Parliament, refusing each time to take his seat until the oath was changed to omit its basis "on the true faith of a Christian." His son Nathan was the first Jew to become an English peer, and it was he who advanced four million pounds to Disraeli to buy from the Khediv of Egypt the controlling shares in the Suez Canal. Today that control is a vital factor in the British Empire war effort.

Fall Began in 1900

At the beginning of this century only the Vienna, Paris, and London houses remained. The Vienna house failed, even before Hitler's advent, when the Rothschilds put up money to cut the losses to depositors in the crash of another big bank. When the Nazis entered Vienna, Baron Louis Rothschild was taken prisoner and held for ransom.—Montreal Star.

Anniversary Services Held at Moira United Church

Moira, Sept. 14—The annual anniversary services of Moira United Church were held on Sunday with large congregations and with many former members and visitors coming for the day and being entertained in the homes of the community. Mr. Kenneth Stewart conducted both services and special prayers were offered for victory and peace and for the armed forces of the British Empire.

In addition to appropriate anthems by the choir of which Mrs. Nelson Welsh is leader, at the morning service Pte. Joe Williams of Camp Borden sank "The Holy City" accompanied by Mrs. Williams at the piano. During the evening service the choir again gave special numbers with Mrs. James Vanderwater as pianist and Messrs. Milton Vanderwater, Gordon Foster, Mrs. Nelson Welsh and Miss Norma Ketcheson singing a quartette. The sermon subjects for the day were "Prayer" and "Weary of God".

The celebration was continued on Tuesday evening when the Woman's Association served a bounteous chicken supper and although the weather was inclement, yet the number present was larger than usual.

An excellent concert was held following the supper which was both patriotic and religious. Selections were given by an orchestra composed of Messrs. Douglas and Wilbert Wannamaker, Glen Morton and Misses Irene and Marguerite Elliott; numbers by a quartet from Marsh Hill consisting of Misses Parks, Coulter, Vanderwater and Tanner; humorous readings were excellently given by Mrs. M. Hayton of Fuller and Miss Daniels of Foxboro. Duets were given by Misses Irene and Marguerite Elliott and also by Messrs. D. and W. Wannamaker. This entertaining program was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

Personals.

Mr. K. Stewart and Mr. B. Ketcheson attended a Presbytery meeting at Selby one day recently.

Mr. Horace Flynn of Toronto spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. David Thompson and attended anniversary services.

On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clare entertained Mrs. S. Coulter, Doris and Burton of Chapman's Corners, Mr. and Mrs. P. Blakely and Barbara of Tweed and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Reid and family of Stirling.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. William Shaw of Ivanhoe, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Campbell and Ralph of Foxboro.

Mr. James Vanderwater is improving following a recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Herity entertained Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ketcheson to dinner Sunday.

Those entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace McInroy following the morning services were Mr. and Mrs. John Wallace and children, also Mr. and Mrs. Tom Elliott and family of West Huntingdon.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster were Mr. and Mrs. B. Mitts and family, and Mr. Gardiner Mitts, Mr. and Mrs. H. Townsend, and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Townsend, all of Halloway, and Mr. and Mrs. Burton Foster and family.

Mr. Don Ketcheson of Belleville spent the week-end at his home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Emerson and Eric of Halloway took tea Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson and attended the evening services.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shaw and Wayne of Ivanhoe were Sunday guests of Pte. and Mrs. Joe Williams.

Miss Pearl Vanderwater of Madoc is visiting several days at her home here.

Foxboro

Foxboro, Sept. 14—Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hoard of Campbellford were Sunday guests at Mr. Charles Stewart's.

A large number of guests attended a reception held at the home of Mr. Evans in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Evans who were recently married. A lovely supper was served and many pretty and useful gifts were received. On Monday evening they were visited by a rousing charivari and on Tuesday evening a reception was held in the S.S. rooms where the bride and groom were presented with an end table and occasional chair, together with the best wishes of the community.

Miss Grace Priest is a guest at Mr. George Priest's.

Mrs. Knox is spending some time at the home of her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Cooke.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels and Marion were Sunday guests at Mr. Gordon Green's.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Lowe and Stewart were Wednesday evening guests at Mr. Harold Stewart's.

Members of two groups of the Women's Association were entertained at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Helliwell on Tuesday afternoon.

HELD NO FEARS FOR THIS MISS

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 13 (CP)—Friday the thirteenth had no terrors for Miss Alice Gardner. Walking in a local park today she spied a clump of clover. The clump was a treasure-house of the superstitious. It contained one seven-leaf clover, one six-leaf, four five-leaf and two four-leaf clovers.

THESE ARE WHAT GERMANS TERM MILITARY OBJECTIVES

A.R.P. workers dig through debris of bomb-shattered workers' homes in a London suburb after one of the recent intense air raids staged by the Nazis.

Canada's War Chiefs

Hon. Angus Lewis Macdonald

MINISTER OF NAVAL AFFAIRS

(This is one of a series on military chiefs directing Canada's armed forces).

By C. R. BLACKBURN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1940, by The Canadian Press)

Hon. Angus Lewis Macdonald, a studious son of Nova Scotia's Inverness highlands, is not a naval man but few appointments in recent years have met such widespread acclaim as his selection as Minister of National Defence for Naval Affairs.

Like most maritimers he has a love for the sea and the men who sail. This, coupled with his administrative experience made him a "natural" for the job of heading the naval ministry.

His appointment was announced in the House of Commons last July 8 and he got down to business almost immediately. Premier of Nova Scotia at 43 and leader of that government until his appointment to the federal portfolio, "Angus L." had often been mentioned as a certainty for a high place in the Dominion's life.

He had no seat in the House of Commons during the last parliamentary session but on Aug. 12 received an acclamation in Kingston City, the constituency represented by the late Hon. Norman Rogers, Minister of National Defence, who died last June in an airplane crash.

Angus L. brought to his new post the dry wit of his Scotch forbears. He brought too the keen mind of a successful lawyer and the hard-won experience of a soldier in the First Great War.

He likes to tell a joke on himself. And for the times when he can forget official duties this quiet spoken representative of the long "mac" and small "d" Macdonalds has a fund of amusing and pointed stories.

Angus L. is a smoker. With the thrift natural to a Scot there was a time when he rolled his own smokes. Latterly he has turned to ready-made cigarettes.

Macdonald's hair is graying in a distinguished way. He is slender almost to the extent of being thin. But his piercing blue eyes and eloquence as an orator give the lie to his almost shy manner.

The navy minister is a good listener. But he is also a good cross-examiner and questioning newspapermen more often than not have found themselves subjected to a good deal of inquiry rather than being on the receiving end of all answers. When he can do so conveniently Angus L. snatches an hour to appear at some necessary function or to meet with comrades of the last war. He would much sooner do the latter.

Cape Breton Scot

The navy minister was born in Dunvegan, Inverness County, in the heart of the Cape Breton Highlands 50 years ago. His father, Lewis, was a Scot. His mother, Veronica Perry, was French.

Angus L. went overseas in the First Great War with the 26th Nova Scotia battalion as a lieutenant and returned a captain with the 185th battalion of the Nova Scotia Highland Brigade. The Scotch burr is on his tongue and he speaks the Gaelic with fluency.

The minister's legal training at Dalhousie Law School in Halifax, where he became a law professor, followed preliminary education in the common schools of his native county.

He attended Port Hood Academy and the University of St. Francis Xavier in Antigonish, N. S., and then took post-graduate courses at Columbia and Harvard Universities.

Politics interested him. In 1930 Macdonald tried for Dominion political honors in his native county but was defeated. At that time he was practising law in Halifax.

A short time later he was invited to attend a Liberal party convention called to choose a new provincial leader. To Angus L's astonishment he found himself the convention's almost unanimous choice.

He led the party to victory in the provincial elections of 1933 and 1937 and was premier and provincial secretary.

The minister married Agnes, daughter of John Foley of Halifax, in 1924. They have two daughters and a son.

Halloway

Halloway, Sept. 14—Mr. and Mrs. A. Wallace and daughter of Dresden, called on Mr. and Mrs. Jim McMullen recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Emerson were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Garrison, Centenary.

Mr. William Faulkner has gone to the west to help with the harvesting.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Townsend and Mr. and Mrs. Coleman Townsend and Peter Larsen attended anniversary services at Moira on Sunday and took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. George Foster.

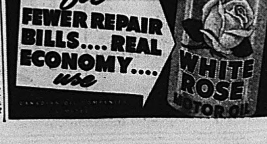
Those attending Toronto Exhibition this year included Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Blake McMullen, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elliott and Mrs. R. Townsend.

Mrs. Percy Kelly and Gary, Mrs. John Townsend and Joyce spent Sunday with Mrs. Arthur Greenwood, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Emerson and Eric took tea Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Emerson, Moira, and attended the anniversary services.

8th Tyendinaga

St. Paul's Church Guild met at the home of the president, Mrs. N. Wilson, on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11th, with a good attendance. The president presided. After a hymn business was discussed. The Guild in the past year has held several social evenings to raise funds for the painting of the church, which now is nearly completed. Bills were moved to be paid. A pot luck dinner and quilting is to be held at Mrs. W. Alford's. A dance was planned. Collection was taken and this part of the meeting closed with prayer by the president. Mrs. W. Jordon had charge of the program. Misses Irene and Edith Crawford and Marion Coulter gave readings. Mr. John Hart gave a selection on the violin. Miss Minnie Hamilton gave an interesting talk. "God Save the King" was sung. Lunch was served.



St. Peter's Y. P. Elect Officers

Madoc.—On Tuesday evening last the Young People's Society of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church met in the schoolroom of the church for re-organization for the coming season. Douglas Blue, the president, presided and after the worship period Margaret Brett was named secretary for the evening's meeting and the following officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. Mr. Hunter.

President—Mary Finch.

1st Vice-President—Stanley Hawthorne.

2nd Vice-President—Mary Hallstone.

Secretary—Archie Walden.

Treasurer—Margaret Brett.

Conveners of Committees—Fellowship: Florence Young; Worship: Evelyn Moore; Service: Olive Carswell; Leadership: Douglas Blue; Membership: Jean Kernahan and Evelyn Moore.

A special campaign is being put on for new members and an interesting season is anticipated.

The Young Women's Club of St. Peter's Club resumed activities with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Ken Nicol on Tuesday evening. Devotional exercises were in charge of Miss Mackintosh, Mrs Hunter and Miss Connor with Miss West at the piano. Plans were made for a tea and home cooking sale. A social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. Nicol serving lunch assisted by Misses Betty, Barbara and Pat Nicol.

Mrs. H. S. Graham of Belleville is visiting Mrs. F. E Jenkins.

Queensboro

Queensboro, Sept. 14.—Mrs. Ernest Groves is taking treatment in hospital in Toronto.

Miss Marjorie Delyea is visiting friends in Stirling this week.

Mrs. Mary Burris, Madoc, who is visiting here spent Tuesday with Mrs. Will Lynn.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. Ford Tumelty, Sadie and Billie, Madoc, were Monday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Irvine Delyea.

Mr. Will Glover spent last Sunday at Gunter Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Rourke, Mrs. Wallace Kincaid and Miss Audrey Bateman spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ken Bateman, Eldorado.

Mrs. Dan Bird, Toronto, has been spending this week with her mother, Mrs. Ella Holmes.

Inspector A. W. McGuire, B.A., Tweed, paid his semi-annual visit to Queensboro public school and other schools in the vicinity on Tuesday.

Mrs. Ella Holmes and Mrs. Dan Bird were guests of Mrs. Will Keene on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Wallace, Stirling, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Harry Delyea.

Mr. Ernest Groves spent the past week in Toronto.

Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. Harland Sexsmith were Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Thompson, Jean and Bobby, Tamworth, Mr. Earl Credicott and children, Sulphide and Mrs. Sexsmith and Miss K. McNaughton, Actinolite.

Rev. E. D. Snelgrove attended the Belleville Presbytery which convened in Selby on Thursday last.

Mr. Joe Laton is in Belleville General Hospital receiving treatment following an accident which occurred at his home while threshing one day early in the week. Mr. Laton stepped between a tractor and a truck, the latter backing up and pinning him between, causing a broken collar bone and several other injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Fleming and Alex spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Groves, Madoc.

Operating on the principle of Venetian blinds, screens having slats made by flattening fine wires have been invented for use outside windows that admit light but deflect the heating sun's rays away from the glass.

Canada's production of wheat this year is expected to be not less than 400,000,000 bushels, compared with 489,000,000 bushels last year and an average of less than 300,000,000 bushels for the preceding six years.

Surprise Party Honors Huntingdon Couple On Silver Jubilee

West Huntingdon, Sept. 14.—An event of unusual interest took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of Mill street when their children surprised them by sponsoring a party for them in honor of their 25th wedding anniversary. Guests numbering over 60 were present from Belleville, Carmel, Foxboro, Campbellford, Moira, Stirling and the surrounding community. Mr. Clayton Wright was chairman for the evening's program which consisted of a mock marriage. Those assisting were Mr. Ben Clark of Carmel, groom; Mrs. Percy McGee of Ridge Road, bride; Mr. John McInroy as officiating minister.

Readings were given by Mrs. Ben Clark of Carmel, Mrs. John McInroy of West Huntingdon. Other numbers were a trio by Misses Joan McCurdy, Louise McGee and Margie Haggerty; a piano solo by Muriel Thompson; a solo by Miss Helen McGee of Campbellford.

Mrs. Morley Haggerty on behalf of friends and community read an appropriate address which was signed by Mrs. John Haggerty and Mrs. John McInroy. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson were presented with a floor lamp and chesterfield table from the friends and community and the family presented them with a handsome electric plate. Both the bride and groom of twenty-five years made suitable replies and appreciated very much the kindness of so many friends and neighbors. The remainder of the evening was spent in a social manner and a bountiful lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson are held in very high esteem by a large circle of friends and all wish them many more years of happy wedded life.

Y.P.U. of Fuller.

The regular meeting of Fuller Y.P.U. was held in the church on Tuesday evening with a large attendance. Miss Lily Mitts presided in the business period. Vacancies on the executive were filled as follows: Mrs. Albert Mitts, Jr., president; Miss Fay Kellar, treasurer, and Mrs. Gordon Mitts, secretary. Mr. Kenneth Stewart gave the topic.

Mr. Frank Brough sang a solo and readings were given by Mrs. M. Hayton and Jean Mitts.

Mr. Blake Ketcheson and Mr. Kenneth Stewart represented West Huntingdon circuit at the Belleville Presbytery meeting at Selby last Thursday.

A large number from here attended anniversary services at Moira on Sunday and the fowl supper on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Annie Bates of Johnstown has been visiting Mrs. Effie Wilson.

Jimmie McQuarrie of Lindsay spent a few days with his cousin, Mr. Alex McCurdy. They also spent the week-end with their aunt, Mrs. Mae Humphrey of Consecon.

The hay fever season is here again and those in this community who are most seriously affected are Mrs. Howard Cooke, Miss Georgia Pitman and Arthur Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Sprague and Amy of Big Island were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Pargey.

Affairs Institute Has Had Busy Year

Toronto, Sept. 14—(CP)—The most active year in its history is recorded by the Canadian Institute of International Affairs in the annual report for 1939-40.

President W. M. Birks of Montreal points out that in the crisis of war the organization's efforts in the field of public education had expanded, a series of popular publications launched and a new department of public information established. More exchange of speakers and regional conferences with various groups in the United States had also added considerably to the Institute activities.

It is noted that certain points in Canada's policy had assumed a new appearance and become matters of urgency, such as Canada's defence policy and immigration and refugees, including "The King's wards and guest children." The work of the Institute had been adjusted to the changed situation and the national executive was maintaining contact with official services to carry out the most useful program in the present circumstances.

Celebrate 25th Anniversary of Their Wedding

Third Sidney, Sept. 14.—A few friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Selburn Westover gathered at their home, Third of Sidney, on Monday evening, Sept. 9, in honor of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary.

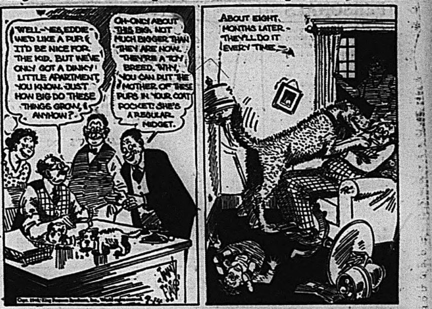
The gathering was called to order by Mr. Stanley May. A congratulatory address was read by Mrs. Wilmot Bailey and Mrs. Arthur Saylor presented Mr. and Mrs. Westover with an electric sandwich toaster.

Having just arrived from a motor trip to Ottawa, they were taken completely by surprise, but each graciously thanked the friends assembled for the gift.

Short addresses were given by Mr. George Westover, Mr. Clarence Hay and others present.

Lunch was served by the ladies and the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds" and "God Save the King" brought the evening to a close.

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatl



WELL—YES, EDDIE—WE'D LIKE A PUP. IT'D BE NICE FOR THE KID. BUT WE'VE ONLY GOT A DINKY LITTLE APARTMENT, YOU KNOW. JUST HOW BIG DO THESE THINGS GROW, ANYHOW?
OH-ONLY ABOUT THIS BIG. NOT MUCH BIGGER THAN THEY ARE NOW. THEY'RE A TOY BREED. WHY, YOU CAN PUT THE MOTHER OF THESE PUPS IN YOUR COAT POCKET! SHE'S A REGULAR MIDGET.
ABOUT EIGHT MONTHS LATER—THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME—
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.
9-14

INCOME TAX JOTS BOTHER BRITISH

But They Are Given a Hand in Working Out What's to be Paid

London, Sept. 14—(CP)—British taxpayers, now paying record high rates of income tax to meet war costs, find new problems to harass them in the forms which the inland revenue department requires them to fill out for assessment purposes.

The British taxpayer has one advantage over the Canadian taxpayer—even if it's a minor one. The income tax authorities work out the amount the individual owes, based on his estimate of his annual income. In cases where the estimate differs from the actual income, the authorities adjust the assessment and the amount of tax payable.

But the British forms have always been complicated. Sundry cryptic abbreviations have made them still more difficult to fathom.

One taxpayer, baffled by the abbreviations, got the Income Tax Payers' Society to explain them.

Here's what they told him:

CY means current year; PY means previous year; EIR, earned income relief (in other words the exemption allowed on earned income); AS, allowance to a single person; DR, dependent relatives; RR, rate relief (that portion of the income chargeable at less than the standard rate).

CANADIANS SIGN FOR UNCLE SAM

Registration Over the Border Includes Fingerprints of Aliens

Boston, Sept. 14—(CP)—Hundreds of Canadians in this area were among the aliens who registered under the new U. S. Federal regulation.

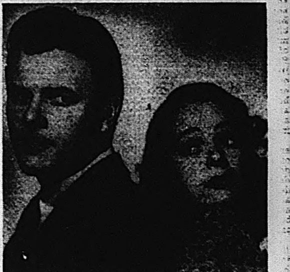
The period of registration, which is nation-wide, extends from Aug. 27 to Dec. 26 inclusive. For the most part, post offices are the designated places, and on the opening day here nearly 1,000 aliens and their relatives crowded the corridors of the Postoffice Building.

Elderly men and women predominated the first groups. After the review of the sample forms, the aliens were directed to the fingerprinting division where a staff of clerks transferred the prints of aliens' fingers and hands on fingerprint cards.

The final step in the procedure consisted in the administration of the oath by the registration officer, signing of the form by the alien and the imprinting of the right index finger on the form. About 25 minutes is required for the complete process.

Besides the usual questions for establishing identification, the alien is asked to tell how and when he entered the country, the method of transportation he used to get here and the name of the vessel, if any, on which he arrived. He is also asked to state the length of time he has been in this country and the length of time he expects to stay. He must describe any military or naval service he has had, and list the names of any organizations, clubs or societies in which he participates or holds membership.

This information will be kept confidential in the files of the Department of Justice. Law-abiding aliens are assured that they need have no fear that the records will be used in any way to their harm.



Robert Sterling and Virginia Gilmore, leading featured players, find an answer to their particular problems in the entertaining film, "Manhattan Heartbeat" coming next at the Capitol and on the same programme the added action-filled feature "Trouble In Morocco" stars Jack Holt and Mae Clarke.

Salem

Salem — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Salem was held at church on Wednesday afternoon with a good attendance. A splendid program prepared by the group leader, Mrs. Clarence Hagerman was enjoyed.

Mrs. Bruce Sherman spent Thursday with her mother, Mrs. Thos. Leslie.

Mrs. James Cole and Mrs. R. McMechan were recent tea hour guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. Miller.

The many friends of Dr. H. Welsh are very glad to hear that he is gaining nicely, although still confined to the Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. George Sills and family were Sunday guests at the home of Mrs. Sills' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bradshaw, Bethany.

A number of ladies from this line attended the Institute quilting on Tuesday.

Rev. Mr. Sterling made a number of calls on this line on Wednesday.

Mrs. George Badgley is confined to her bed through illness. All join in wishing her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jared Hanna were dinner guests on Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Utman, Stirling, and in the afternoon called on Mrs. William Hanna.

School re-opened again on Monday with no new pupils starting this year. Miss Helen Hicks is the teacher for another year with Miss Bernice Robinson, A.T.C.M., as the music teacher. Both teachers and pupils were pleased to return to their redecorated school.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sills called on Mr. and Mrs. Owen Roblin, Corbyville, on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hagerman and Ronnie visited Mrs. James Wilson Saturday evening. She is a patient in the Belleville General Hospital.

Master Ronnie Hagerman met with a painful accident this week, when a dog bit his face below the eyes. A number of stitches were needed to close the cut.

Save MONEY on Insurance with Brantford Roofing

● In many communities you can save up to 20% on fire insurance premiums if you specify Brantford Asphalt Slate for your home. This saving is made possible because Brantford Roofing materials provide extra fire protection.

In addition to shielding the home against wind and rain, you add beauty and value to your property. You may choose from many attractive colour combinations. Remember—35 years' Canadian experience in producing roofing materials to meet the tests of our own climatic conditions guarantees dollar for dollar value. Just specify "Brantford Roofing" and be sure.

Sold by Reliable Dealers Everywhere

Brantford Roofs
Brantford Roofing Company, Limited
BRANTFORD, ONTARIO
BR5

For Sale by
285 COLEMAN ST. ARTHUR A. SILLS PHONE 1584

PERSONALS

Mrs. J. E. Hancock, who has been the guest of her brother, Mr. J. A. McFee and her friend, Miss Maud Reeves, returned to her home in Leamington today.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bremner who have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Bremner, Bleecker Ave., have returned to their home in Flint, Michigan.

Mrs. Vincent Lynch, who has been the guest of her cousin, Mrs. Bremner, has returned to her home in Toronto.

Miss Isobel Morton has returned to the city from Jasper Park, where she has spent the summer.

Ted Doyle, son of Lt.-Col. J. V. Doyle and Mrs. Doyle was among the twenty-three trainees who graduated yesterday from the R.C.A.F. elementary training flying school at Malton Airport, Toronto. He left immediately for the intermediate training school at Saskatoon. J. B. Kerr of Trenton was also a member of the graduation class which left Toronto last night for the West.

Mrs. B. Mills, 14 Green Street, is a patient in Belleville General Hospital.

Miss Dorothy Kelly has left for Geraldton, Ont., to spend her vacation the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Firman.

With the rich colorings of Autumn flowers and fruit providing a lovely setting for the event, the Harvest Home tea held yesterday afternoon in Bridge Street United Church parlours under the auspices of Miss Elizabeth Corbett's and Mrs. E. B. Mosher's unit. Mrs. James Semple, Mrs. C. Hyde, Mrs. Mosher, Mrs. J. McIntosh Sr., and Mrs. A. H. Bruein received. Miss Corbett was in charge of the tea room. Mrs. G. Duesberry was treasurer for the afternoon. The tea table was particularly charming with its centrepiece of zinnias and fruit. Mrs. A. Calnan, Mrs. W. H. Lattimer. Mrs. Hugh Ross and Mrs. J. B. Foley poured tea and those who assisted in the serving were Mrs. Harry Mills, Mrs. W. Gilbert. Miss Grace Givins, Miss Betty Cooper, Mrs. Wm. McIntosh, Miss L. Brown, Mrs. R. A. Lashbrook, Mrs. Harold Carrutners, Mrs. Wm. Curry, Miss Marjorie Lashbrook, Miss Bessie Soutar, Miss Phyllis Clemence, Miss Kay McPherson, Miss Mary Lockhart, Miss Grace Houston and Mrs. Arthur Sprague. The homecooking table, with its decoration of fruit and vegetables, polished to a brilliant finish, was the centre of interest and was in charge of Mrs. Jack Andrews, Mrs. Harry Rollins and Mrs. R. D. Arnott. The musical program provided by Mr. William Connor and Mr. Alec Gordon, at the piano, was one of the highlights of the afternoon, adding greatly to the enjoyment of the many guests.

WEDDINGS

LOOKER—SHAW

The wedding of Miss Margaret Linsey Shaw, daughter of the late Joseph H. Shaw and the late Mrs. Shaw of Westmount, P.Q., and Mr. Arthur John Looker, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Looker of Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal, formerly of Belleville, Ontario took place at the First Baptist Church, Montreal, at seven o'clock on Friday evening. Rev. M. McCutcheon officiated: Miss Audrey Looker assisted the bride and Mr. Frederick Looker acted as best man.

A reception for the immediate families followed the ceremony and late Mr. and Mrs. A. Looker left for a short stay in the Laurentians.

HOLLOWAY ST. W.M.S.

The W.M.S. of Holloway St. Church held their regular monthly meeting in the church parlours on Thursday afternoon, September the 12th. There were eighteen members present.

Mrs. Cordes occupied the chair and Mrs. Hubbs presided at the piano. The meeting opened with the National Anthem followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. The sick members were not forgotten.

Mrs. Denton gave a reading on Christian Stewardship.

The Treasurer Mrs. Beal reported $211.80 sent to the Presbyterial.

Mention was made of the beautiful work done by Miss Sweetnam. Mrs. Hubbs read a letter from the Supply Secretary requesting children's clothing for the bale.

The thankoffering meeting is to be held on October 2nd with Mrs. Hyde and Mrs. Mloyd as conveners.

The Fall Rally on October 10th at Cannifton was announced. Mrs. Coulter was chosen as delegate.

Mrs. Newman resigned the presidency of the Society and the First and Second Vice Presidents are carrying on until the end of the year. Appreciation for the splendid work of Mrs. Newman was expressed by the ladies.

It was decided to use the new Study Book "Comrades in the World Church".

The theme for the day was "Living the Christian Life" and the worship service was conducted by Mrs. Cordes, Mrs. Mott and Mrs. Hubbs.

The hymns and Scripture Reading also were based on the same theme.

Mrs. Hagerman rendered a beautiful solo "Abide With Us". Mrs. Cordes gave a reading "In Times of Peace Prepare for War".

The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer.

Introducing
the newest and finest in COMMUNITY PLATE
MILADY PATTERN
CREAM LADLE
LIMITED QUANTITY 35¢
Regular Value $1.50
GET YOURS TODAY

Angus McFee JEWELERS SINCE 1860

SILK DRESSES

Special care is given by us to the cleaning and renewing of silk dresses. Our special process removes every trace of dirt or stain, and restores their lustre. Bring them in and

LET LANGLEY'S DO IT!

Langley's LIMITED
DRY CLEANERS
219 Pinnacle St. Phone 286

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Still Plenty of Opportunities to the Ambitious

Not a week passes but I get a letter from some young man wailing that he's found the one and only girl but can't afford to marry because he has no job, or such a poor one that he doesn't dare risk marriage.

To these doubting Thomases, and an equal number of Dicks and Harrys lacking in initiative, please let me mention one name—the late Walter Chrysler. He had not the entire frontier to choose from, like the heroes of those pioneer success stories. Born in Kansas, hardly two generations ago as time is reckoned, he became one of the industrial giants of the expansion period, at the beginning of the World War.

He was the son of a locomotive engineer and there was no silver spoon in his mouth when he was born. As a "kid" he took a tremendous interest in the huge driving wheels and the simple old boiler of his father's engine. They inspired him to become a railroad worker.

By 1908 he had successfully borrowed $4,300 and with $700 of his own dime-and-nickel savings, he bought an automobile just to take it apart, put it together again and learn all its quirks and crotchets. At the time he didn't know how to drive a car, but he took that $5,000 machine apart forty times and put it together again. And four years later he was able to enter the automobile industry as a works manager. He took the job at half the salary he got formerly, because he wanted the experience.

He kept on the up and up until he built the tallest building in the world—the Chrysler Tower, topped only by the Empire State Building. While he directed the policy of many organizations, it was said of him that he could replace any workman in his plant and do as good or a better job himself.

Chrysler's career is a straight answer to people who wail there are no more opportunities in this country. He did not wait for opportunity to seek him out. He went out and sought it.

Boys with a mechanical bent, such as Chrysler had, may be interested to learn that the Navy Yard in Washington has taken on five hundred apprentices. But please do not rush to Washington in the hope of getting one of these jobs, as someone has said it is about as difficult to break into Washington as it is to break into Hollywood.

In your own cities, the National Defense program is training boys. Only trades essential to the defense program are included in these vocational classes, and the worker goes from one phase of the process to another, until he has mastered some special job, such as automotive training, electrical work, aircraft ground mechanics, mill work, welding and die making.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The Proper Positions For All the Table Silver at a Dinner

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—From which side of the guest should the plate be removed, and from which side should the dessert be served?

2.—Where should the salad fork be placed? The iced-teaspoon?

Readers

1.—Serving dishes should always be passed at the guest's left. This makes it easier for the guest to serve himself. However, all beverages are poured or placed at the right of the guest. Plates are usually removed from the left of the guest, but it is just as proper to have them removed from the right.

2.—Where we place the salad fork depends on when the salad is to be served. Silverpieces are placed in the order in which they are to be used, the forks at the left of the plate, the knives and spoons at the right of the plate. Properly, they are placed so that the person eating uses first the piece of silver farthest from the plate.

At formal dinners, and at most informal dinners especially when there is a waitress, the silverpieces are placed for all the courses to the dessert course. The dessert silver is usually brought on the dessert plate. At most dinners, formal or informal, the salad is served as a separate course between the roast course and the dessert. Therefore, the salad fork is placed at the left of the plate, nearest the plate.

The iced-teaspoon may be placed either at the extreme right of the plate, or if you prefer, above the plate, with the handle toward the right.

Names for the Press

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

When at a public bridge and your name is called upon for the press, is it correct to give it as Mrs. Ralph Williams or Mrs Gertrude Williams?

W.

You should give your formal name, Mrs. Ralph Williams.

Woman-to-Woman Courtesy

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I was at dinner at one of the clubs the other night and I noticed seated at the next table a middle-aged man with three boys and a young woman. A woman from another table about fifty years old, approached the table and spoke about one minute. I expected the men to rise but the woman at the table rose also. Was this correct or incorrect? I have never seen a woman rise for another woman, except in respect for old age.

R.

It was not necessary for this young lady to rise when the other woman stopped at the table, but I admire very much her courteous impulse to do this. It showed that she had a charming respect for the older woman, not at all necessarily because of her age, but because she evidently admired this woman and wished to show her this courtesy. The young lady had excellent manners, and I am sure that the older woman appreciated her gallant politeness.

Gifts By Maid to Employers

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Do you think it will be all right for a maid to give a birthday or holiday gifts to her employers and family? I have been working for this family for quite a few months and I am treated like one of the family. Please advise me what to do?

Reader

Most employers prefer not to have a maid or other employee give them gifts. Most employers, of course, admire the generous spirit that prompts this gesture of friendliness, but still it does create a situation that the employers feel that they are expected to meet. That is, they then feel that they must give gifts to the maid, whether or not they intended to do so.

A birthday greeting card, or a greeting card appropriate to the special holiday would be in excellent taste.

Aching Feet

A warm bath, anoint with Dr. Chase's Ointment and the stinging, irritation disappears. Strongly antiseptic and medicinal, soothes and heals.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

Playmates Help Slow In Speech

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

Some bright babies who spend practically all their time with their parents (rarely with other little children) begin talking relatively late. With a sign language of his own so well obeyed by the parents, the youngster may have very little need of conventional speech.

Dear Dr. Myers—My boy is a little past two years old. He has just started to talk, everyone tells me he should have been able to talk long before this, he says such words as mamma, dad, light and almost all food names. I know there is nothing wrong with his hearing, and my husband and I talk and try to make him understand what we are saying.

Don't Force Him

When our boy has been around other children he learns to say things they do for example, my nephew has only to ask my boy to say a word once and he'll remember that word forever, whereas I may repeat a word every day for a week and he does not repeat it of his own will.

Could you advise me how I can speed up his talking? Or should I just go along, try to help him and he will soon be talking my leg off.

My reply: I have no doubt your child will soon be "talking your leg off," if you quit urging him, especially if he spends more time with other children. It is very significant that he remembers and repeats words he hears your nephew say. The nephew has no anxiety about your baby's talking; you have, and inevitably betray this emotion. Your very eagerness to have your baby talk hampers his speech development.

Try to expose your baby to more children and read to him, you and Dad, every day. I can think of no better contribution to your baby's speech now and in the future than frequent reading to him. I am enclosing a selected list of books for this purpose. Begin on one with a picture on every page and very little reading. He will hear what you read about the picture while he looks at it.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. My nine-year-old boy seems to have lost affection for me. He doesn't want to kiss me as he leaves for school, if other children are around.

A. He loves you just as much as ever, only he does not want to let other children think he is a baby. Give him a pat on the shoulder and he will accept that as conveying far more affection than a kiss.

FASHION FLASHES

GOING BIG with college gals is a set consisting of corduroy casual coat on boxy lines with fly front and stitching, worn with a matching corduroy jockey cap, the vizor pushed back to show pompadours.

A GOOD PAL is a broad belt of velvet set with huge topaz stones. Nice with a matching beanie in such hues as beige, wine or sapphire blue.

OFF TO SCHOOL goes little sister wearing a pinafore frock of fine woolen plaided in red, blue, yellow and white. Tiny pouch pockets on the skirt. Worn with a white pique blouse with blue and red wool cross-stitch edging.

THE SMARTEST frocks are one-piece with a two-piece look about them. A delightful dinner dress has a long slim skirt of crepe with a hiplength top beaded all over in contrasting colors. The neck is of the open, casual type like a cardigan sweater. Nice in black with red beading or in white with sapphire blue beading or in sea-foam green with copper beading.

SOON ENOUGH party time will come for little girls as well as for their big sisters. A darling of a party frock for a five-year-old is of deep sapphire blue or ruby red velveteen made with trim waist and skirt cut almost on circular lines. Collar and cuffs of fine tucked organdie trimmed with lace. Tiny white buttons down the bodice.

LOOK OUT for those shoes made of glasslike transparent plastic. Smart shoes of suede have strips of this material, which is stretchable and hugs the foot beautifully.

W. C. A. NOTES

The first fall meeting of the Women's Christian Association was held at the Hospital on Tuesday, September 3rd with the President, Mrs. V. Blakslee in the chair. Mrs. Dolan was appointed lady on duty for the Home for the Aged for the month of September.

Donations for June—Mrs. Riggs, candy and raisins; Mrs. Draycott, E. Bridge Street, leg of lamb, 1-2 gallon ice cream, cakes; Mrs. Trudeau, fish; The Baptist Church, Sunday School papers. Lady on duty, Mrs. Hogle.

Donations for July— Ladies of the Home Board, $4 for tobacco; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, 286 George Street, cut flowers; Mrs. Gribble, lady on duty for July.

Donations for August—A Friend, a large cake; A Friend, literature; Mrs. Wills, magazines; St. Julien Chapter large carton of buns; Baptist Church, Sunday School papers. Lady on duty, Mrs. Ketcheson.

JUST ABOUT the most interesting accessory of the coming season is the necklace of pearls or other beads or gilt metal balls interspersed with large fur-covered knobs. Ocelot and leopard are the furs used so far.

Leave Henna to the Expert

By HELEN FOLLETT

Time was when henna was a madness. The number of women who monkeyed with it was beyond reckoning. It is a valuable coloring agent and used properly brings satisfactory results. Beauty shops still use it. The professional knows the ropes, while the experimenter goes at the matter blindly, praying for the best.

To apply henna to salt and pepper locks is to let oneself in for a lot of trouble. The dark hair will be auburn, the white threads a carroty shade, sometimes a vivid orange. Henna can be used on brown hair to impart red glints, but the timing must be exactly right and only the experienced operator knows about that.

Bleached hair takes to it like a house afire as it is in a condition to dye quickly and like a house afire it may look after the deed is done.

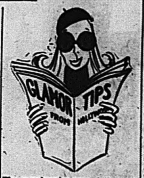
Can Be Done

Copper colored hair that has gone drab can be brightened by a weak henna pack to which a small amount of peroxide has been added. Again we must state that this is no job for the amateur. In large beauty shops there are attendants who do nothing else but dyeing and bleaching. If you must have a color change for your brain blanket seek high class service.

Medium brunettes — girls with brown eyes, dark hair and fair skins—have a wide range of colors from which to choose. They can wear black if it is relieved with a vivid color like cerise or jade green. Chinese red, peach and coral are flattering tones for them; they give freshness to the fair complexion.

x x x

Navy is a sure bet and it is fashionable at the present moment. Browns are safe, but a few shades of brown are interesting; the right one should be selected. Beige is not so good, purple is out of the running, grey makes dark eyed duckies look pale.



The experimenter goes at the matter blindly, praying for the best.

2nd Thurlow

Second Thurlow, Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. A. Greatrix and Mr. and Mrs. H. Grills are enjoying a trip to Killarney where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kierl, and also the quintuplets at Callander, and other points enroute.

Mr. Robert Atkins spent Sunday with his grandmother, Mrs. A. Barnum and aunt, Miss Myrtle Barnum, Belleville.

On behalf of friends and neighbors of the second line, Misses Ileen Robinson and Lulu Mitchell presented Mr. and Mrs. Nick Prokopetz (nee Anile Shymzshyn) with suitable gifts in honor of their recent marriage. They will reside in Hamilton.

Mr. Lewis Leverton, Shannonville, spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Donaldson.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Atkins, Isabelle and Ronald, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mitchell.

Miss Helen J. Thompson has resumed her teaching duties at S.S. 4, Thurlow.

Miss Edyth Donaldson, nurse-in-training at Kingston General Hospital, is spending her holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs John Donaldson.

Mr. Ted Brown of the C.A.S.F. at Petawawa Camp is visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. Shymyshyn.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Simmons, Cobourg, spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Simmons.

Miss I. Spencer, Madoc, has resumed her teaching duties at S.S. 3, Thurlow.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Donaldson and Miss Bell Clazie attended the funeral of their cousin, the late Mr. Wm. Clarke, Foxboro, on Sunday afternoon, and also the funeral of their uncle, the late Mr. Wm. P. Clarke in Belleville on Tuesday.

A number from this line have attended the Toronto Exhibition this year.

Miss Lola Den and Mr. Cecil Grills have entered Grade 9 at the Belleville Collegiate.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Shetler of East Orange, N.J., visited the former's sister, Mrs. E. Vivian and husband last week.

Mrs. Mitchell and Lulu spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. P. Mitchell and family.

Miss Mabel Clazie has left for Japan where she will continue her duties as a missionary for United Church of Canada. Miss Clazie has spent the past year at the home of her sister, Mrs. J. Donaldson.

Miss Florence Lawson of Ottawa is visiting this week with her aunt, Mrs. Arthur Dent, also calling on friends in the neighborhood.

Mrs. P. Haight is spending a week visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Chambers, Stirling, and brothers, Messrs. Clayton and Ambrose Wright, West Huntingdon.

Messrs. Wesley Gray, Sr., and K. R. Vivian were in Kingston on Tuesday to visit with Dr. Welsh.

Mrs. Arnold Mitchell spent Tuesday with Mrs. Douglas Atkins.

A large number attended the Bay of Quinte Institute at the home of Mrs. Carman Clapp on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. Cecil Keene called on Monday afternoon at Mrs. G. Atkins.

Miss Margaret Donaldson who is teaching this year at R.R. 1, Halloway, spent the week-end at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mitchell and family, Mrs. R. Mitchell and Lulu spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Will Donaldson, Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. John Donaldson and Edith spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Vivian.

Miss Doris Atkins spent the supper hour on Friday with Miss Lorena Haight.

William Gargan and June Lang co-stars of "Isle of Destiny," new natural color production which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre.

Dr. Dafoe's Column on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Making Children Taller

It is certain heredity is not the only factor in the height of children. Post-birth factors can have a considerable effect to the stature of any boy or girl. It has been shown that an increase in outdoor life, exercises, climate, greater exposure of the body to sunlight in addition to a greater vitamin intake and rest habits are factors contributing to increase in stature.

Parents, to get the greatest results in making a child taller than the average must, of course, begin the efforts when the child is quite young. However, there is no regimen that will insure a child growing up into a six-footer. All that can be assured is that the child will become an adult taller than he would have been if the the growth-promotion rules hadn't been followed.

The full extent to which heredity influences growth is still too obscure for anyone to attempt to predict what height a child will ultimately attain, but there seem to be some general rules that apply.

From observation it appears that if both a child's parents are tall, then the child will be tall, or at least taller than the average. If both are short, then the child's chances of being tall aren't very great, although he may well be taller than either of his parents. When one parent is tall, and one short, then the child's final stature will probably be between the two, but it will favor the shorter one.

There is a steady tendency toward greater average height at the present time. Figures show that the average man today is almost two inches taller than his forebears of 300 years ago. Harvard University has made an interesting investigation of the stature of its students for the last 80 years and found that the height has gone up steadily. Men there today are a good inch and a half taller than students at the beginning of this century.

The Wisconsin Research Foundation, studying heights of this and previous generations, concludes that "children today are more apt to reach a height of six feet than ever before".

It is natural to look on this height increase as an improvement. It results from improved living conditions—better homes, better medical care, better diet. But, it isn't at all certain that this height increase is such a good thing for the race. The tall person's body is apt to be unbalanced. The longer distance from the pelvis up to the chest is unsupported and unprotected. This very often leads to poor posture and easy tiring.

Also, the long abdomen with the thin abdominal wall allows the stomach to hang so low that this person is apt to have gas after eating, and also may have some trouble with his bowels.

The fact is, that the death rate is lowest for people of average height. Unusually tall people are likely to die at a much younger age than those of average height.

TIRED FEET

FIND INSTANT EASE WHEN YOU RUB IN

MINARD'S GREAT CANADIAN RUBBING LINIMENT

MINARD'S LINIMENT

100

We invite you to test the

DUO-THERM OIL HEATER

in your own home on

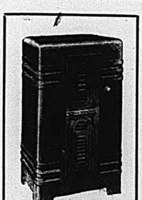
30 DAYS FREE TRIAL

(Offer available to any responsible citizen)

NO OBLIGATION TO BUY

A splendid opportunity for you to judge for yourself . . . at your leisure . . . the great comfort and convenience of this excellent oil heater. If, at the end of 30 days—you do not wish to keep it, we shall take it back cheerfully as there is no obligation to buy. However—after a trial—we believe that the convenience and merit of the Duo-Therm will solve your heating problem and you will therefore be quite interested in buying.

THIS OIL HEATER IS WONDERFUL—BUT, FIND OUT FOR YOURSELF.



A model for every size of home, apartment, office or store.

Prices Range From

59.50 up

A Duo-Therm will give you all the heat you want—as easy to regulate as turning a light switch.

You will be rid of the trouble of bringing in fuel—you will be free from the nuisance of carrying out ashes.

There is no dirt—no dust—no soot—no smell—no sound—no trouble.

The Duo-Therm burns economically the cheap furnace fuel oil and produces a clean fire at every flame-setting.

Whether the weather is mild or the mercury dives below zero, the Duo--Therm can be easily set to give you just the amount of heat you want.

Take advantage of this Trial Offer, and, if you wish to buy, just pay 10% down and the balance will be spread over 10 months, plus a small service charge.

Simpson's

23 BRIDGE STREET
BELLEVILLE

- PLANS FOR AN EFFICIENT HOME
- DR. CLENDENING'S HEALTH ARTICLES
- TEMPLE MANNING'S TRAVEL SERIES

A PAGE FOR WOMEN

- AIDS FOR MODERN HOME MAKING
- COSTUMES TO GRACE THE CAMPUS
- REMEDIES FOR OUTDOOR INJURIES

Labor Out Of Modern Home

MAYBE grandma's kitchen was an enormous room with rows and rows of shining pots and pans and jars of preserves, aided and abetted by a whale of a range. But just the same, today's kitchen, although it isn't so large, is a well-planned, scientific room, making for a saving of labor, time and motion. And by the same token, today's housewife tackles her task just as skillfully as ever grandma did, but she gets it done in time to have leisure for many and varied pursuits. Labor saving devices and scientific short-cuts have made possible this happy state of affairs. Our modern housewife too, works out ideas for herself to make her task still easier and even better. Taking a tip from the office file, today's housekeeper installs a proper file box, a stack of cards and an index. She gets to work and pastes newspaper or magazine recipes on cards and files them, or she types them onto the cards. The main thing is that the recipes are filed. The same goes for menus. Where there is much entertaining it is nice to file the favorite dishes of favored guests. To include such a dish is a compliment sure to be appreciated.

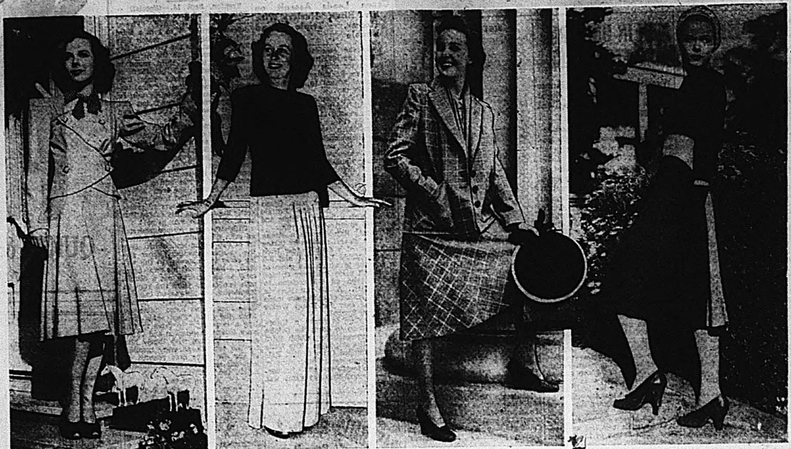
The telephone does its share to make the burden of housekeeping a lighter one. So at the telephone place a writing pad and a pencil.

Lost Laundry

Lost laundry is one of the things that slows up the household round and makes for frayed tempers as well as frayed linen. So the wise housekeeper gets busy and attaches name tapes to all the pieces that go out to the laundry. She goes over the linen shelves too and sees how she can make things easier there. She sews various colored tabs on sheets to denote which are for single, double or three-quarter size beds. This obviates the necessity of pulling out sheets and opening them to determine size. And if she is addicted to sweet smelling linen, she saves up and buys some of that heavenly smelling perfumed lacquer made for painting linen closets and bureau drawers.

A good idea is to make a package corner complete with tissue and wrapping paper, a ball of twine and a stout scissors. There'll be none of that frantic scurrying around and lost motion that seems to occur everytime a package has to be made up. Keep a roll of that gummed paper, too, together with the cord. Then the parcel will go forth and arrive securely wrapped and fastened.

TOGS FOR THE COLLEGE CAMPUS



Life begins with September.... at least for the fall fashion world! These glamor-enhancers will be the eye-catching fancies the ladies will be seen in this fall. Left, is a smoothie in fine wool, the jacket cross-buttoned over a soft silk blouse, gayly striped in red and white. The skirt is a flare, yards around. Next is a smart outfit, specially planned for that supreme dinner date.... soft black crepe, girdled with green velvet, tops a gold crepe dinner skirt. The blouse and skirt are separate, by the way, and can be worn with other outfits. For casual wear, what could be smarter than a plaid suit, with the pattern cut diagonally in the skirt, and topped by a boxy jacket. Patch pockets will still be news in the fall, since they were found so useful this summer. The hat is a darker tone, bound with white grosgrain. Extreme right: Copper-colored crepe slims the bodice and skirt, and the glove-fitting waist....of chartreuse crepe, trails into a flared back. Match your silk jersey turban to the chartreuse and your pumps should be copper. Gloves are classic black suede.

Sense Enough to Come Out of Rain in Style

By ALICE DENHOFF

HOW TO be smart when it rains is an easily solved problem these days. Remember way back when the raincoat, ugly and drab, the flopping arctics or rubbers was the costume of the rainy daisies? But now we can go forth into the downpour wearing rain togs that are charming and colorful, and which do a swell job of keeping us dry.

Matching 'em up seems to be the thing for rain togs. Some shops are featuring three-piece sets of shower-proofed cotton, in delectable pastel shades of blue, pink, green or beige. New coats are really different. One is seven-eighths length with big buttons and enormous patch pockets waiting to receive bags, gloves, packages, anything. There is an all-enveloping head scarf that ties under the chin, and to complete the trio, a long-handled umbrella.

Surprise— Rbuies

The powers-that-be in charge of snooty fashion shows are giving a nod in the direction of Jupiter Pluvius. At one show we admired a copper colored, smartly cut rain coat with a matching transparent umbrella. A pair of celluloid ducks were perched coyly on the coat lapel. Another good number was a beautifully styled rain coat cut on princess lines, with a hood. The coat was natural color, the hood in bright ruby. What got us was the sparkling zipper of simulated rubies streaked through the full length of the coat.

Do you dislike drab, dull rubbers, so much so that you go out without 'em even when it pours? Now you can be colorful in the rain for shops are already stocking clever shoe protectors of colorful transparent rubber. These are light, compact and easily stowed away in their case in even a small handbag or pocket. A revolutionary improvement in rubbers and apparently here to stay, judging from its reception.

Mud Guards

If there is anything that annoys a girl, it is rain or mud-splashed hose. She's water-proofed from her hat to her rubbers, her dress or suit is protected by rain coat or cape. But what about her stockings? New on the market is a clever hoseguard — light, sheer oiled silk spats. Clear and transparent, they nestle in a tiny case that slips into a corner of the handbag. They zip all the way down in front, and an elastic band slips under the shoe to hold them down. A consealed garter holds the hose guards firmly just below the knee. Sounds complicated but it is a swell, simple gadget that was badly needed.

Before rainy days are here again you'll be seeing smart shoe gloves and overshoes designed by top-notch names in the design field. Same goes for raincoats. There seems to be a revival of those glistening white rubberized silk raincoats as the shops are stocking them for Autumn. Some of these are hooded, others have matching berets.

Now's The Time To Beware of Poison Ivy

By ALICE DENHOFF

INTO EACH life some rain must fall, and it is insects, poison ivy, and sunburn that can dampen the joy of summer. Despite all the precautions, mean things will happen, and it is wise to be fore-armed with a few simple remedies to take the sting out of summer accidents.

When a bad sunburn occurs, the easiest and best thing to do is to cleanse the area with warm sterile water, patting lightly. Apply a good solution of boric acid with cotton, using a clean fresh pledget for each application. After the area is dry, apply plain cornstarch, taking care to apply with a light hand. This should give considerable relief if properly applied.

Poison Ivy

Da' ol' debbil poison ivy gets in his dirty work every summer, turning many a hiking trip into anything but a pleasant excursion. One recommended remedy is salammoniac, using one tablespoon in two tablespoons of water. Apply with fresh, clean absorbent cotton. Use an old dish and be very careful of the contents, as salammoniac is a poison. Wash the affected area well but lightly with this solution.

One of the familiar ways of dealing with insect bites and stings is to treat them with undiluted vinegar. If the sting is that of a spider or hornet, it may be necessary to have it treated by a physician. A thick paste of bicarbonate of soda and water will often take the sting out and gives relief promptly.

When there is a bad bruise such as a stone bruise, it is helpful to use hot and cold boric acid solution compresses, applying them alternately. For the worst summer accident of all — sunstroke— reasonable measures, promptly given, should bring relief. Artificial respiration, strong stimulants, and a spinal massage with a downward stroke away from the brain will help to make the sufferer easier.

Place the head high and insist on absolute quiet.

A word about artificial respiration: When there is a group of friends in a summer community, it is wise for one or more to take a first aid course, with special emphasis on artificial respiration. Prompt, aid, scientifically administered, has saved more than one life or prevented serious illness.

New Ideas in Furs

A stunning ocelot coat which will take you to rugby game or top your smartest afternoon frook and be equally chic. Made with loose sleeves, and a small collar, after the prevailing fur styles.

Life in Acapulco

By TEMPLE MANNING

IT'S A CASE of mixed emotions when the traveller sees a favorite hideaway being discovered by the multitude. Acapulco is one such spot. For years this lovely old Mexican town on the Pacific, seventeen degrees above the equator, was a favorite resort with a favored few who guarded knowledge of its existence and told only a few friends about it. Life was leisurely and lovely in this tropical port, which did not have a single tourist hotel.

Today there are seven hotels with more to come in construction. The pounding of the surf is muffled by the pounding of hammers. Life and fame have caught up with Acapulco, and now that it is a port of call for ships of the United States lines en route between California and New York, it is going to be better known and more frequented than ever. To visit Acapulco but a few hours is to make a vow to return soon.

Famed For Fishing

Acapulco boasts one of the finest bays in the world, an inlet off the Pacific. The scenery is superb. From Puerto de Marques to Pie de la Cuesta, the colorful rocks, the cobalt seat, the beaches, the sense of detachment engendered by the mysterious silence of the place, make Acapulco unique. It is an angler's heaven, for the waters are filled with every type of fish, tame or fighting. The broad beaches glisten with white sands, and far behind the brushlands is the deep, mysterious jungle for which hunting parties set out from time to time. Life at Acapulco can be as simple or as strenuous as one cares to make it, which perhaps, accounts for its success.

In Acapulco

Lagoons all along the coast are frequented by thousands of birds of brilliant tropical plumage There are five grand beaches and rocky promontories from which to just sit and laze and watch the fish dart through the clear waters. About six in the evening everyone leaves the rocks, the beaches and the boats and drifts toward the Quebrada.

Young men sit and strum guitars and sing the songs of old Mexico, while from a higher level the town's band gives out with its version of swing in honor of the visitors. Old hands shut cut the sounds of jazz and just concentrate on watching the fabulous sunsets.

Poor Vision, Poor Grades

Faulty Sight Plays Mean Tricks on School Children

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF THE teachers in a grade school heard that the psychology department in a nearby university was giving paper and pencil tests to children to determine their I.Q. ratings. She had her entire class examined and found she had what she considered an unusually large group of low ratings. In talking this over with another teacher it was suggested that this same group be examined by a member of the staff of the National Society for the Prevention of blindness. Nearly half the group had visual defects sufficient to interfere with their seeing critically and accurately.

A Definite Handicap

This is a rather high finding, but, taking large groups of children with low intelligence ratings, it is found that about 10 per cent have visual defects which account for their low scores in intelligence tests.

Supervision of school examinations for visual efficiency should be made much more exact and comprehensive than it now is. In some school systems the entire program for eye health is based on whether a child is able to read a 20/20 chart. Not much attention is paid to what kind of a chart it is, whether one drawn to the scale of Snellen measurements or not, nor whether the tests are made according to controlled and consistent standards of lighting. This, of course, is not adequate if any large amount of good is to be done to directing improvement in vision in our schools.

Far-Sightedness Common

It would be a safe guess to assume that if the majority of school nurses were asked what visual defect is commonest among our school children they would reply near-sightedness. But the experienced school ophthalmologist would reply far-sightedness.

The most common eye difficulties found among elementary school children are:

1. Errors of refraction of various degrees occurring in the following order of frequency: far-sightedness (hyperopia), astigmatism, and near-sightedness (myopia).
2. Failure of the two eyes to work together, forms of strabismus or squint — muscle intolerance.
3. Eye diseases affecting the different parts of the eye such as corneal opacities, iritis, recurrent pink eye, ingrowing eye lashes.
4. Congenital and hereditary diseases of the eye.

Color blindness may go on for years, even to adult life, without the person who is color blind or anyone else being aware of it. Your dog evidently doesn't realize any defect in his vision. Yet we are told he is totally deficient in color discrimination and sees the whole world as pale gray. Brown, red, blue and white details are missing in the dog's world. The child with color blindness has the same thing. Yet much of his proficiency in school work may depend on his acute color discrimination.

Questions And Answers

C. N., Astoria, Long Island—"I have bunions on both my feet. Do you advise an operation? I am 48 years old. My husband says I will become a cripple if I have them removed as I am too old."

Answer— Certainly operations can be done successfuly for bunions, and 48 is not too old an age for such an operation. In fact, bunion does not come on until middle age, so all operations are done late in life. If the orthopedic surgeon, and he should be selected with more care for a bunion than for an appendicitis operation, does not interfere with the head of the metatarsal bone too much, the gait afterwards will be natural and painless. Your husband should wake up—48 is the prime of life. Maybe he is trying to get your goat.

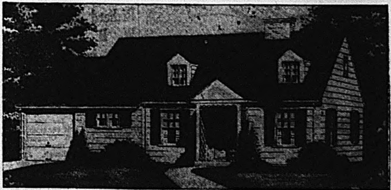
J. E.—"Please tell me what I can eat in plaѕe of meat in a reducing diet. I have always had an aversion to meat and have never eaten it. In place of it I have eaten cheese. I can eat fish."

Answer—Either cheese or fish will take the place of meat to a certain extent. Also some vegetables have a high protein content, such as beans, peas, wheat and oatmeal.

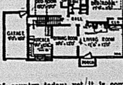
M. F.—"Please tell me if nausea can be caused by nervousness."

Answer—Nearly any symptom can be caused by nervousness and nausea is one which is most easily excited in this way. If by nervousness is amount any emotional disturbance or imbalance, it must be evident that nausea can be caused in this way. The common phrase "It made me sick at my stomach" is an indication of how frequent the association is.

Where Cooking is Made a Pleasant Art



National Plan Service, Inc., Chicago.



● The sizable budget-plan house above is as early American as the art of blowing glass. But it's kitchen space is anything but pioneer in spirit. Glass brick could easily be let into its wall to give greater light, and all the necessary cabinets and electric helpers to make cooking a pleasant art can be gathered handily into its area. Notice, too, that while there is no pantry in the plan, the range and sink are widely separated and the cook at work can get away from the maid's activities — even if the housewife is doubling in those roles herself.

Remember the woman—maybe it's you—who really liked to cook and had a talent for it, but who simply couldn't bear to "clean up" after herself in the kitchen?

You can't blame her when you compare the kitchens of even five years ago with the beautifully equipped home chef's delights of today. And just as few women had one of the new kitchens five years ago, scarcely more possess one today.

It's a funny fact, and well established, that 85 percent of family buying is done by women in this country today; yet it is comparatively recent that kitchens got rid of the single bulb drop light illumination (impossible not to get in your own light at any task, along any wall of the place) and provided sinks, tables and shelves that could be used without bringing on

PROFESSIONAL WRESTLING (EXHIBITION)
Hume Arena, Belleville, Monday September 16th, 8.45 P.M., D.S.T.
MAIN BOUT
Geo. Pavich vs. Speedy Mason
SEMI-FINAL
Tom George vs. Dick Bishop (Draginais)
PRELIMINARY
Pedro Valdez (old favorite) vs. Sam Karikosta
Admission 35c. Ladies and Children 25c; Ringside Reserved 50c. Ladies accompanied no extra charge.
Members of His Majesty's Militia or R.C.A.F. in Uniform Admitted Free this Monday Night.

Tommy Bridges Curve-Balled Yankees Into Helplessness To Gain Victory by a Shutout

Cleveland Keeps Pace by Defeating Boston Red Sox on Three Hits, 1-0

WHITE SOX FOURTH

Jimmy Dykes Drives His Squad to Double Victory Over the A's

By BILL WHITE
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

For a team of "nine old men" who seemed destined to suffer from the altitude if they got higher than fifth place in the American League, Detroit Tigers seem surprisingly spry.

Tagged by the baseball writers last spring as a team that had definitely seen better days and might be lucky to limp home the Tigers today are the hottest—if not the best—team in the American League.

Twice they have stopped New York Yankees, the last time yesterday by a humiliating 8-0 shutout as little Tommy Bridges curve-balled the Yanks into helplessness. That was their eighth victory in the last nine games and the fifth straight over their two toughest foes, the Indians and the Yankees.

Bridges was touched for three solid blows in the first two innings, but after that the Yankees didn't get a man past first base. The Tigers pounded out 16 hits, including Hank Greenberg's 33rd homer, a lusty 415-foot blow that helped hand Marius Russo his first defeat in his last eight starts.

Meanwhile the second place Cleveland Indians stayed close to the Tigers as Al Milnar and Boston's young Jim Bagby hooked up in the day's finest pitching duel. Milnar's three hitter won out by a 1-0 score over Bagby's two hitter—because the Indians bunched singles by Roy Weatherly, and Jeff Heath, and a double play to send Weatherly across with the game's only run.

Chicago Now Fourth

Chicago White Sox crept into fourth place by running their victory string to five straight with a pair of victories over the Athletics by 6-2 and 8-4.

Bill Trotter of the Browns, ordinarily a relief hurler, went the distance for the first time this season and snuffed out Washington Senators by 7-3.

When the National League firing was over Cincinnati Reds were still 7 1-2 games ahead of the Dodgers. The Reds kept their pace by whipping Carl Hubbell and his Giants 5-2, thanks largely to Mel Ott who played a butter-fingered third base and let the Reds have two runs by his miscues.

Pro. Hockey Players Must Get Training States Department

Ottawa Sept. 14.—(CP)—The position of professional hockey players who have not taken their military training in the non-permanent active militia and who play on teams in the United States or cross into the United States for games, has not been specifically considered by the National War Service Department, it was made known here today.

Maj.-Gen. L. R. LaFleche, Associate Deputy Minister, said that the "recruits" regulations issued by the department did not specifically cover the situation of these men or others who were in similar situations.

But, he said, the attitude of the department was that all men of the age classes called must hold themselves in readiness for a call to take their compulsory 30-days training and those who might be absent when called must take the responsibility.

He suggested that the best course to be followed by Canadians who found it necessary to be absent from the country for business reasons would be to write to the registrars of their district explaining the circumstances. The registrars are clerks of the district boards, which make final decisions as to calling men up and might be able to clarify the positions of such men.

The Dodgers kept in second place by trimming Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 as Rookie Ed Head won his first Major League victory by scattering seven hits.

Kirby Higbe pitched the Phils to a 6-1 victory over the Cubs—for his 13th victory of the season. He limited the Cubs to four hits. The Cardinals hammered Boston Bees for a 9-3 victory.

AMSTERDAM EVENS SERIES

Amsterdam, N.Y., Sept. 14—(CP)—Amsterdam Rugmakers, who had a no-hit no-run game pinned on them Thursday, blasted out 21 hits last night to defeat Gloversville Glovers 20-5 and tie the Canadian-American League best-of-seven final series at one game each.

											r.	h.	e.
Gloversville	2	0	3	0	0	0	0	0	0	—	5	9	5
Amsterdam	2	4	0	3	0	3	5	3	x	—	20	21	2

Rhem, Plunkett, Steffin and Dick; Meriweather, Mishasek and Skiff.

"we want Sweet Caps"

$1.00 sends 300
SWEET CAPORAL or WINCHESTER cigarettes or $1.00 will send either 1 lb. of OLD VIRGINIA pipe tobacco or 1 lb. of SWEET CAPORAL FINE CUT (with Vogue papers) to Canadians serving in C.A.S.F. overseas only.
$2.50 sends 1,000
cigarettes to an individual or unit.
Address "Sweet Caps," P.O. Box 6000, Montreal, P.Q.

At home and overseas, everybody wants Sweet Caps! Smooth—fragrant—uniform—Sweet Caps "get that way" because they are made according to the famous Sweet Caporal formula which calls for the balanced blending of 38 classifications of the finest Virginia tobaccos. Buy a package of Canada's most popular cigarettes—today!

"The purest form in which tobacco can be smoked!"

SWEET CAPORAL CIGARETTES

MEN IN UNIFORM ADMITTED FREE

Wrestling Card at Hume Arena for Monday Night Has Three Excellent Bouts

A gesture, that will be most accepted to all members of His Majesty's forces now serving in all branches of the Canadian Active Service Forces, was announced by the management of the Hume Arena today when it became known that all soldiers, sailors and members of the Air Force would be admitted free to Monday night's professional wrestling show at the Hume Arena.

"We have a good card next week and we are therefore inviting our fighting forces to be our guests," declared Norman Barriage, manager of the Hume Arena today.

Three bouts will be presented for entertainment, upon which is included three new faces to a Belleville ring. In the main bout George Pavish, the villainous Greek grappler, meets Speedy Mason, former American professional football star. Pavish has never tasted the bitter dose of defeat in his two appearances in a local ring, but the promoters induced Mason to come to Belleville for the express purpose of taking care of the rough Pavish.

Pedro Valdez, of Mexico and an old favourite in local wrestling circles, will return to the local wrestling wars on Monday when he meets Sam Kariskosta, a compatriot of Pavish's from sunny Greece. Valdez was always a popular favourite in Belleville and has only returned from a tour of the Eastern States recently.

The preliminary bout sees Tom George, Grecian heavyweight wrestle Dick Bishop, of Ohio, to round out a perfect three-bout card.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 14.—(AP)—Broadway is wondering.: if Joe DiMaggio will be the only Yank to finish with a .300 batting average . . . Whether Ceferino Garcia did his dardnest vs Steve Belloise Thursday night. . .What happened to Bud Ward at Mamaroneck . . . If Bill Terry will go to Cleveland, take over Boston Bees or stick on with the Giants . . . What the big idea is for the Yanks to start giving games away at this stage of the race, for crying out loud . . . .

Most fans hope the Cleveland Bawl Club doesn't get into the World Series but Cincinnati Reds, to a man, are pulling for the tribe. . . . The Reds figure that two capacity crowds in the big municipal Stadium in Cleveland would mean a 7,000 melon for each member of the winning club.

Sports Cocktail.

The Clemson Football Squad practices in four sets of Jerseys—orange for the first team, blue for the second red for the third and white for the fourth . . . . The G.O.P. wants Artie McGovern, the physical culture expert, to accompany Willkie on his campaign trip and keep him in shape . . . Nice to hear from all over the country that Ken Overlin is wearing the same size hat he did before winning the New York edition of the middleweight title.

Richard Chapman, W. B. McCullough Meet in Final

Mamaroneck, N.Y., Sept. 14 (AP).—A couple of young gentlemen who were born with silver brassies in their mouths meet politely on the winged foot course today in the 36-hole final match for the United States amateur golf championship.

Neither Richard Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., nor Warrington Bannerman McCullough, Jr., of Philadelphia, ever caddied a day in his life. Neither of them is from "across the tracks" but there they are in the final today, Dick and "Duff".

"Duff" got his nickname as a youngster from his father, the head of a notable Philadelphia golfing family. When "Duff" was just a sprat, learning to hit the ball with shiny new clubs, the elder McCullough would come home and ask: "Well, how is the young duffer coming along?"

"Duff never entirely made his mark until yesterday, when he obliterated Ray Billows if Poughkeepsie, 5 and 3, in a 36-hole semi-final.

Chapman, who recently collaborated on a little volume entitled "Golf As I Play It", and who on occasion has brayed into a night club microphone, won a daffy semi-final from Wilford Wehrle of Chicago, 3 and 2.

MAY PLAY AGAIN

Dave Sprague, "The Galloping Alderman" of the Ottawa Roughriders who announced his retirement from football last December, may once again don the Roughrider's uniform. It was reported in Ottawa that Sprague would make a definite decision this week.

Dave Trottier Anxious to Play Hockey This Season

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)—Marc McNeil says in his sports column in the Gazette today that Dave Trottier former National Hockey League star, "wants to take another crack at hockey, preferably in 'amateur' ranks."

Marc says Trottier plans to apply "to the amateur hockey salons to see if anything can be done about getting his card back.... If his projected request for reinstatement is not granted, Dave had two other alternatives in mind."

The alternatives, the column says, are 1. Apply to President Frank Calder of the N.H.L. for a refereeing position. 2. Offer his services to Canadiens to play home games only.

Former Professional Hockey Player Back In Amateur Ranks

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)—Russ Blinco, the National Hockey League's outstanding rookie in 1933-34 with Montreal Maroons, Friday applied for reinstatement as an amateur.

Blinco's application was discussed at a meeting of the Quebec Amateur Hockey Association, and the Q.A.H.A. decided to recommend the reinstatement to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. Blinco has not played hockey since the 1938-39 season when he played with Chicago Black Hawks.

Yesterday's Stars

Al Milnar, Indians — Scattered three hits to beat the Red Sox 1-0.

Thornton Lee and Jack Hallett, White Sox—Former hurled seven hitter and latter an eight hitter to stop Athletics twice.

Tommy Bridges, Tigers—Limited Yanks to six hits, beating them 8-0.

Ed Head, Dodgers—Seven-hit performance against the Pirates gave him his first victory of the season.

Joe Beggs, Reds—Fine relief pitching gave Reds another victory and handed the Giants their fourth straight setback.

ELIMINATES CHAMP

Ray Billows

The tables were turned on Marvin "Bud" Ward, defending champion in the U.S. national amateur golf tournament, when Ray Billows eliminated Ward 4 and 3 to gain the semi-finals. A year ago Ward eliminated Billows in the same tournament finals at Chicago.

FRIDAY THE 13TH A LUCKY DAY FOR THE WINGS

Score 13 Runs on Thirteen Hits for 13-0 Win Over Buffalo Bisons

CLINCH PENNANT

Cazen Leads Assault on Five Bison Hurlers With Homer, Triple and Double

(By the Associated Press)

Friday the 13th may be a day of ill omen for some people, but the players on Rochester Red Wings have good reason to remember it as a lucky day.

The Wings discredited the bugaboo about the number of 13 last night by scoring 13 runs on 13 hits for a 13-0 victory over Buffalo Bisons, to clinch the International League championship of 1940. The last time the camera city had a pennant winner was in 1931.

Pitcher Hank Gornicki and Outfielder Wally Cazen divided the honors of the evening for the Red Wings. Gornicki blanked the Bisons with eight hits, fanned eight and issued only one walk. Cazen led the assault on five Buffalo hurlers with a homer, a triple and a double to drive in six runs.

Montreal Royals made a strong bid for a playoff position by taking both ends of a doubleheader from Toronto Maple Leafs 7-1 and 5-0 to advance to within one game of the fourth place Baltimore Orioles, who dropped an 8-5 decision to Jersey City. A five-run blast in the first inning of each game made the going easy for Kemp Wicker and Newt Kimball.

Jersey City overcame a three-run handicap to down the Orioles and mathematically clinch third place in the standings. . The Little Giants pounded Orlin Collier, Baltimore starter, for all their runs in the third, fourth and sixth innings.

The Newark-Syracuse game was postponed.

Baseball's Results & Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Rochester	95	60	.613
Newark	93	64	.592
Jersey City	81	75	.519
Baltimore	78	79	.497
Montreal	77	80	.490
Buffalo	75	82	.477
Syracuse	70	88	.443
Toronto	57	98	.368

Friday Results.

Montreal 7-5, Toronto 1-0.
Jersey City 8, Baltimore 5.
Rochester 13, Buffalo 0.
Only games scheduled.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Detroit	80	58	.580
Cleveland	79	58	.577
New York	76	60	.559
Chicago	75	64	.540
Boston	73	65	.529
Washington	59	79	.428
St. Louis	57	82	.410
Philadelphia	50	83	.376

Friday Results.

Chicago 6-8, Philadelphia 2-4.
Detroit 8, New York 0.
St. Louis 7, Washington 3.
Cleveland 1, Boston 0.

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Cincinnati	88	47	.652
Brooklyn	81	57	.587
Pittsburgh	70	64	.522
St. Louis	69	64	.519
New York	66	69	.489
Chicago	67	71	.486
Boston	58	80	.420
Philadelphia	44	91	.326

Friday Results.

St Louis 9, Boston 3.
Brooklyn 8, Pittsburgh 2.
Philadelphia 6, Chicago 1.
Cincinnati 5, New York 2.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

	W.	L.	P.C.
Kansas City	93	56	.624
Columbus	88	58	.603
Minneapolis	85	57	.599
Louisville	73	73	.500
St. Paul	66	77	.462
Indianapolis	60	82	.423
Toledo	57	88	.393
Milwaukee	56	87	.392

Friday Results.

St. Paul 6, Milwaukee 5.
Columbus 6, Louisville 0.
Toledo 5, Indianapolis 1.
Minneapolis 4, Kansas City 3.

League Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE.

Batting—Cooney, Boston, .320.
Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 100.
Runs batted in—Mize, St. Louis, 120.
Hits—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 171.
Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 39.
Triples—Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.
Home Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 41.
Stolen bases—Moore, St. Louis, 17.
Pitching—Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 14-2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.

Batting—Radcliff, St. Louis, .344.
Runs—Williams, Boston, 119.
Runs batted in—Greenberg, Detroit, 127.
Hits—Cramer, Boston, 187.
Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 48.
Triples—McCosky, Detroit, 17.
Home runs—Foxx, Boston, 35.
Stolen bases—Case, Washington, 29.
Pitching—Newsom, Detroit, 18-3.

"SPEEDY" FARR HURLS NO-HITTER AGAINST ORILLIA

R.C.A.F. Flyers Win Third and Final Game in Trenton by 7-1 Count

NOW IN FINALS

Trenton, Sept 14.—(Special) — With "Speedy" Farr pitching a no-hit game, the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" defeated Orillia 7 to 1 in a third and deciding softball match here tonight, that saw the Georgian Bay nine eliminated and the Air Force advancing to the third round in the intermediate "B" playdowns of the O.A.S.A. versus Port Colborne. It was a third and final tussle, each having previously won on the opponent's diamond, but last night it was all Air Force and particularly Farr.

Farr retired the Orillia nine in order in six of the nine frames He struck out six and tossed out five at the initial sack and walked but a single visiting batsman as his contribution. Orillia scored their lone tally in the second as the direct result of two errors and a fly ball to deep centre, the run scoring after the catch. The three miscues committed by the Flyers all proved costly insomuch as they robbed Farr of a no hit, no run game.

Offensively the Airmen collected an even dozen hits off the deliveries of two Orillia moundsmen, Reid the visitor's starting pitcher giving away to Robinson in the seventh. Farr helped his own cause early as he punched out a double, with two on, to score two runs in the second, but the pay-off came in the fifth when the Flyers pushed three runs across home plate to cinch the piece, Farr again getting a two-bagger to drive in two more. Snape, Stephenson and Caton all came through with timely hits for the winners, as every member of the Air Force nine counted at least one safe blow, except "Simon" Legris, the shortstop.

Almost Perfect

Air Force	ab.	r.	h.	po.	a.
Snape 2b	5	1	3	5	0
Legris, ss	4	0	0	2	0
Gibson c	4	0	1	8	0
Weaver cf	5	0	1	2	0
Casey 3b	4	2	1	3	1
Caswell lf	5	2	1	1	0
Stephenson 1b	5	1	2	6	0
Farr p	4	0	2	0	5
Caton rf	4	1	1	0	0
Total	40	7	12	27	6

Orillia	ab.	r.	h.	po.	a.
Wilkinson 2b	3	0	1	2	2
Reid p	3	0	0	1	2
McDonald 1b	4	0	0	10	0
Larkin ss	4	1	0	1	4
Dillworth 3b	4	0	0	0	0
Wilkie cf	4	0	0	2	0
Turnbull c	3	0	0	7	1
Hare lf	3	0	0	3	0
Rutherford rf	3	0	0	1	0
xRobinson p	1	0	0	0	0
Total	32	1	0	24	9

x—Replaced Reid in 7th.

Score by innings											r.	h.	e.
Orillia	0	1	0	0	0	0	0	0	0	—	1	0	2
Air Force	0	2	0	1	3	1	0	0	0	—	7	12	3

Summary: — Errors, Legris 2, Gibson, Stephenson, Dillworth, Hare two base hits —Farr 2, Caton, Stephenson 2, Casey, Weaver; left on base—Orillia 5, Air Force 9; struck out—by Farr 6, Reid 3, by Robinson 4, base on balls, off Reid 2, off Robinson 1, off Farr 1.

Umpires—Steenburg and Scott.

Lawn Bowling

With the advent of cooler weather has been arranged by games chair- Bowling Club are slowly rolling around to the point where the club championships are being declared. In the club doubles "Col." Bonisteel and "Joe" Black defeated Ernie Vanner and Art Rogers in the club finals last night. Throughout the season a systematic series of games

In the "challenge" men's doubles man Cliff Argue in an elimination competition for the men's club doubles title, that was determined last evening when the team of Bonisteel and Black emerged winners after a strenuous season's play.

In the "challenge" men's duobles for the Tip Tip Tailors' trophy, however, keen competition was seen throughout the entire season, however. Last night the team of Frank Correll and L. E. McLean defeated Fred Harper and Doug Row, after each pair had defended the "mug" on six previous occasions.

However, the "cut-throat" club competition has still to be decided, that being the club singles title, which opens on Tuesday night next. The club singles is always the coveted honor of the season as the competition is of the "knock-out draw" play. Games chairman Cliff Argue is desirous that all contestants get in touch with him over the week-end in order that draws may be made to assure sportsman-like competition for club singles title.

The Belleville Lawn Bowling Club was well represented at both Deseronto and Campbellford this week during respective home tournaments held in those centres. At Campbellford Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Argue won top honors with two games high.

The next two weeks will see the termination of lawn bowling activities in Belleville which should assure a goodly representation in the forthcoming men's singles .

WINNERS TO MEET IN BELLEVILLE

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)—The Canadian Professional Golfers' Association, Eastern Division Assistants' match will be a 36-hole medal play event over the Elm Ridge course here Sept. 16. The winner will meet the Western Division winner at Belleville, Ont., Sept. 23.

Dress Up for FALL

If you are feeling a little out of spirits with yourself, the best remedy in the world is to step out in a new outfit.

It's just the thing you need to make you friends with the world.

Why not make it a point today to come in and see the new Fall styles in men's suits and topcoats . . and prices that will meet with your approval.

QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with
Ken J. Colling

Today's column takes the form of a letter and a reply to the same. The other day we received a four-page letter from the Belleville boys in the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, C.A.S.F. now stationed somewhere in England. The letter was signed by 20 of Belleville's sons now serving their country overseas and we're happy to report that all of the boys are in excellent health and good spirits. when they wrote the epistle late in August The letter was signed by Corps. Bill Anderson, Archie Munns and Cecil Styles and Ptes. George Brant, Harold Dracup (former softball pitcher), J. Dracup, Leo Potts, Hank Potts, Harry Crossen, Jimmy Archer, Gordie Cook, (Junior O.H.A. goalie), Ronald Calbury, Johnny Calbury, Andrew Wilson, Lloyd Bulpit, Bob Emerson, Bob Stephenson, Andy Knott (softball and baseball player), Jimmy York and Bert Royle. First and foremost the lads wanted us to assure all their relatives of their good health and thoughts of home. As for the letter, it reads:

"Dear Ken:—We, the undersigned wish to let you know that a lot of Belleville lads are together here now fighting for our native country, Canada, and would like you to know that Belleville is a dear spot to us. Although there are numerous regiments here, the Belleville boys lead the way in sports, especially in baseball and softball and tonight we take on the 48th Highlanders of Toronto at soccer football, so we think old Belleville is well represented in sporting events.

"We all like it here pretty good, but would take Canada any day. We like to hear of sports in Belleville and wish luck to Red Townsend and his juniors, which we hear are doing very well. We also hope Belleville has a hockey team this winter that will bring a championship home, which we know can be done just the same as Peterborough. We surely look forward to the occasional copy of the Ontario Intelligencer, which we got regularly in camps in Canada, but we've only seen one copy here, that being in London.

"They are feeding us well and we are all in A-1 condition for stepping out on long route marches and there isn't a sick lad in our crowd. Would you let all of our friends and relatives know we are well and hope they are in good health also. We hear a lot of our folks are worrying about us, everything here is fine and most of the fighting is in the air and our Air Force is knocking the enemy right and left and old Hitler is getting nowhere fast, as a matter of fact ,he's losing many pilots, so don't worry as we're going to win this war.

"We would like all our relatives to know we never fear, and so don't you. Keep your chins up in Belleville and cheer us home, as we get lonesome sometimes over here and think of you at home, so think of us as your "Belleville Boys overseas."

The letter closed with the boys asking us to pass this along and it was signed by the twenty names we gave you in the opening paragraph.

As we intend to mail a few copies of this issue back to the Belleville lads overseas, the next few paragraphs will be devoted to information regarding summer sports in Belleville this season.

"Thanks a lot fellows for your letter and I might say we at home are quite concerned over the happenings of those we cherished over there."

"Since you boys left Canada two or three softball leagues operated here this summer. In the Senior loop the Shell "Oilers" won out over Corbys A.C. after a hectic seven-game series. Johnnie Bawden and company then disposed of Trenton in the O.A.S.O. playdowns, but fell before Kingston in a third playdown game at Napanee. However, four of the local players were at military training camp at Petawawa, so you see our boys were handicaped. The players absent were Art Cole, Alfie Rowbotham, Johnny Ronsky and "Wimpy" Reynolds. The other teams in the league were Point Anne, who were put out again this year by Wooler in the O.A.S.A., Townsend's juniors, who fell before Oshawa, and Picton. I might add here that a goodly number of the Shell and Corby players are enlisted in the local N.P.A.M. units here and trained all summer three nights a week, following which they went for two weeks' training at Petawawa camp.

Girls' softball was revived in Belleville this year with six teams facing the starting barrier. The teams were Zeller (league champions), Kresges, Corbin Lock, Metropolitan, Vikings and Woolworths. They played most of their games at the Armouries lawn and Chuck Barnett's Zellers beat Stub Barrett's Kresge nine in the league finals. The Neighbourhood loop out around College Hill and Coleman Flats also operated, but generally speaking the crowds were far below those of previous seasons.

There was no baseball in the Bay of Quinte district, fellows, except the old South Hastings League, won by Cannifton this year. Walt Gerow is in Northern Ontario coaching baseball while young Walt is with the 47th Battery, C.A.S.F. as are Don Thomas, Harold Reid, Lum Carson, Freddie McGuire and the Holway brothers, Cec and Bill.

If any of you fellows remember Ralph (High-Pockets) McCabe, a former Belleville junior pitcher, he's up in Malartic, Que., pitching baseball with quite some success, as is Lefty Weeks. McCabe was signed by Newark, they say, and hopes to land with the New York Yankees some day. Several other former Belleville boys are also playing ball up north this summer, as there was no baseball in this district to speak of.

As for hockey, well that is a big problem at this time. Rumours say the Air Force will not operate in the O.H.A., despite the fact they have a large increase in their numbers at Trenton. In Belleville we may have to be satisfied with a juvenile city league and a junior O.H.A. club for this season at least. And so fellows I hope this brings you up to the times with sports in Belleville and on behalf of the local sporting fraternity, we all wish you good health, victory and a safe journey back to old "Belleville on the Bay."

Post Script: "Professional wrestling holds sway here every Monday evening and all members of His Majesty's fighting forces, in active service, are admitted free. On Monday night next three bouts are carded headed by a main scrap that brings George Pavish, the Greek villain in against Speedy Mason, a former American professional football player.

"Wonder if any of you fellows ever run into George Pepper? He was racing in England this summer, when not employed at the General Aircraft Company, somewhere in England. His brother Jim, who played junior hockey here, is also in England, so perhaps you fellows may be able to look them up while on leave and renew old acquaintances. Tell Cec Styles I was talking to his Dad today and everybody is fine over here."

FOR HOME CONSUMPTION—"Speedy" Farr, the Air Force fireball hurler, just missed pitching a no-run, no-hit game against Orillia last night. . . . Farr hurled a no-hitter as the Flyers won 7-1. . . Little Tommy Bridges handcuffed the Yankees yesterday, allowing them six bingles, as the Tigers handed the chumps (sorry, we meant champs) an 8 to 0 shellacking.

Phone Your Want-Ad NOW to 99

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS
REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL
17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1152. "THE HEALTH INSTITUTE" 231 William St. Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils. Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 288 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 900. Lady attendant.

E. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists. Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1154W

LEGAL

S. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 256½ Front St., Belleville over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2500. S27-1y

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
THE SEA HAWK
Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall
2.50 — 7.08 — 9.25

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
MR. BOGGS STEPS OUT
Stuart Erwin, Helen Chandler
2.50 — 7.35 — 10.15
SILVER ON THE SAGE
Hopalong Cassidy, George Hayes
4.00 — 9.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
TORRID ZONE
James Cagney, Ann Sheridan, Pat O'Brien
7.30 — 9.50

Wooler

Wooler — Mrs. Fay McColl has been visiting Mrs. Eustacia McColl, her daughter, Mrs. Ken Flindan and grandchildren. She returned to her home in Detroit, Mich., on Wednesday.

Mrs. Ken Golseil opened her home to the ladies of the Women's Institute on Wednesday. The attendance was fair. After the business was attended to and the program was given, a light lunch was served by the charming hostess.

The ladies of the "Guild" sponsored by St. George's Church, met at the home of Mrs. Frank Ellis on Wednesday afternoon. Due to other pressing activities, the attendance was small. A very pleasant time was enjoyed followed by a dainty lunch. After school closing at 4 p.m. several children came and enjoyed the "eats."

Mrs. Perry has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Richard Haggarty, Mr. Haggarty and Edith of Mt. Carmel. While there she accompanied them to the C.N.E.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins and children of Ottawa are guests of Mrs. Eustacia McColl and Jean, Mrs. Collins' sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Nee and chauffeur of Kingston were guests on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bell. After tea they returned home, little Barbara Nee, who has spent the summer months with her aunt accompanied her parents.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bell were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clegg of Trenton on Thursday.

The hum of the threshing machine continues to be heard in the neighborhood.

The exhibitors, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. McColl, Mrs. Roy Putman and others attended Brighton and Marmora fair this week. Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Blake were there also with their lunch counter and lots of hot taffy.

Mrs. J. P. McAuley spent Wednesday at the home of Messrs. Hugh and Fred McAuley, cooking and serving meals for the threshers.

Mrs. Will Crawford and children of Trenton, who have been spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Mitchell, returned home.

Messrs. W. J. and Arthur Bell were in Trenton on Friday.

Of the first Wooler-Port McNichol's game on Wednesday, our boys were the losers. The score was 9-5 in favor of Port McNichol.

WANTED

SCHOOL GIRL FOR PART TIME work. $12 per month. Write Box W, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-1t

GIRL OR WOMAN FOR GENERAL housework. Apply 311½ Front St. S14-1t

APPLICATIONS WILL BE RECEIVED until October 1st, 1940, for the position of Chief Librarian at Corby Public Library, Belleville, duties to begin on December 1st. Applicants will state qualifications, experience and salary expected. Living quarters heated, are provided on the premises. Address applications to H. J. Clarke, B.A., Secretary, 255 Foster Ave., Belleville. S14-3t

MALE AND FEMALE HELP WANTED

NOW IS THE TIME TO QUALIFY for a government job as Clerk, Postman, Customs Clerk, Steno., etc. Four Dominion-wide exams held since war began. Free booklet. M. C. C. Schools Ltd., Toronto 10. Oldest in Canada. No Agents. S14-WStf

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHER, must be good typist and able to transcribe shorthand accurately. Write Box P, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-3t

BOY WANTED TO LEARN BAKING. Hannah's Bakery, 334 Front St. S13-tf

4 OR 5 ROOMED APARTMENT or small house, unfurnished, by young couple. Phone 1463. S13-3t

WE HAVE A CLIENT WANTING to purchase for cash, modern home, bungalow preferred. Either East or West Hill, if in good residential district. What have you? Belleville Realty Co., Kresge Bldg., H. B. Wilson, Prop. S11-13-14

TO RENT, HOUSE WITH HYDRO preferred, in or near town. Mrs. Henry Dean, Bonarlaw. S13-3t

150 ACRES OR MORE, FARM TO rent or work on shares. Write stating particulars, Box D, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

POSITION AS PRACTICAL nurse or housekeeper by experienced middle aged woman, references. Write Box M, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

TWO GIRLS TO SHARE FURNISHED heated bedroom, all conveniences. Phone 1343. Apply 12 Hillside St. S12-3t

WARM ROOM WITH BOARD IN private home by lady. Write Box 4, Ontario Intelligencer. S12-3t

A SMART WIDE-AWAKE DRIVER. Clean-cut young man. Salary and Commission. Apply DeLuxe Cleaners, Trenton. S12-3t

SOMEONE TO COACH ALGEBRA, Geometry and Latin four evenings a week. Address replies to Box J Ontario Intelligencer. S4-tf

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

CASH EVERY WEEK! SELL UNiversally used RED TAG Nursery Stock full or part time. 1300 varieties. Samples and sales help, no investment required. Dominion Nurseries, Montreal.

MEN WANTED

ATTENTION! WAITING TO BE CALLED UP? YOU STILL HAVE TO LIVE! KEEP WORKING! Put the interval to PROFITABLE USE! We have several good openings waiting for ambitious men. GET STARTED TODAY in a business of your own AT ABSOLUTELY NO RISK. With our money-back guarantee, you lose nothing, even if you have to give up in a few days! Build up a steady chain of customers AND PICK UP WHERE YOU LEFT OFF WHEN YOU COME BACK! PAMILEX, 570 St. Clement, Montreal. A10,17,24,31, S7,14

FOR SALE

NEWLY DECORATED FRAME house, large living room, dining room, kitchen, bathroom, sunroom, 3 bedrooms, large garage attached. All conveniences except furnace. Apply 15 Brassey St. S14-2t

40 WHITE LEGHORN PULLETS. 3 - 4 months old. Cecil B. Ketcheson, Holloway, Ont. S14-1t

COUNTRY STORES AND GARAGE. Farms, large and small. Well located and priced to sell. Would like to exchange one hundred acres with good buildings for about one hundred and fifty acres with good buildings. Will pay cash difference. J. G. Dusenbury, Carrying Place, Ont. S14-2t

REGISTERED COCKER SPANIEL Pups. Roydon James, Consecon, Ont. S14-3t

FARM FOR SALE OR RENT —200 acre farm, Lot 16, Con. 7, Rawdon, 2 miles off highway, 10 acres orchard. Bert Thompkins, Harold, Ont., Phone Stirling 712. S14-3t

SNAP PRICE FOR QUICK SALE. Modern village residence. Waterworks. Electricity. Park-like surroundings. Rented if not sold soon. S. Edgar Masten, Bloomfield, Ont. S14-21

123 ACRE FARM AT MELROSE. 3 miles from No. 2 Highway, well fenced, abundance wood and water, close to school, church and cheese factory, new bank barn, modern house, hydro. Apply Jos. Taylor, Route 1, Shannonville. S4-7-14

QUEBEC RANGES WITH OVENS, Dining Room Suites, oak and walnut, Dressers, Studio Couches, Chesterfield Sets and various articles, all used, in good condition. Model Home Furniture, 312 Front St. Phone 526. S13-3t

DEERING CORN BINDER, IN good working order. Ready for immediate service. Price $70. Raymond O. Fretts, R. 2, Napanee. S13-2t

REGISTERED YORKSHIRE boars, ready for service. T. A. Crawford and Sons, Picton R. 8. S13-2t

TRADE INS, RECONDITIONED and guaranteed Sewing Machines, drop heads, complete with attachments, $15.00 and $25.00. R.C.A. Victor Radio, combination, original price, $395, for $39. Stewart Warner 7-tube console, $29.50. David's Electric Shop, 340 Front St., Belleville. S13-3t

1938 HUDSON COUPE, GOOD condition, privately owned, terms given. Reasonably priced. Phone 2177. S13-2t

FARM, 50 ACRES, FRONTING ON south shore of bay, modern dwelling. Cost $4000 to erect. Electric lights. Owner has been offered $2500 for vacant shore frontage alone. Price $4500.00. Belleville Realty Co., H. S. Wilson, prop. Kresge Bldg. S11-13-14

BOSTON POOL TABLE, UPright piano. Phone 1844. 23 Charlotte St. S13-3t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. P. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

BREAD WAGONS, PANS, GASOline engine 3½ H.P. Box 162, Phone 355 Trenton. S9-6t

HOUSE, 25 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 326 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

NOS. 33 AND 35 HOLLOWAY ST. Double brick house in good state of repair. Each residence has large living room, dining room, kitchen, gas, four bed rooms and bath, good basement, hardwood floors downstairs, hot air heating, double garage, good lot, comfortable bright houses, low price for quick sale. Could be made into excellent apartments. As an investment this is worth investigating. Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators) exclusive agents, 166 Front St. Phone 99 House Phone 687. A23-tf

NOTICE

To whom it may concern:
Kindly take notice that on and after this date I will not be responsible for any debts contracted by my wife.
Sept. 12, 1940. (Signed)
THOS. MILLAR
65 Geddes St.
S12-3t

TO LET

BRICK HOUSE, EAST HILL — large living room, dining room, kitchen, wired for range, gas, three bedrooms, bath, furnace, cellar, garage. Immediate possession. H. Taylor, Shannonville. S14-1t

LARGE BED SITTING ROOM and kitchen, furnished; heat, light and water, ground floor, private entrance, near Front St., on bus line. Use of phone. Phone 1414J for appointment. S14-3t

2 ROOMS FOR LIGHT HOUSEkeeping. Apply 16 W. Bridge St. S14-1t

HOUSE, 32 HILLSIDE, ALL CONveniences, hot water heating, wired for electric range, garage. Possession October 1. Apply Dr. Duprau, 267½ Front St. or on premises. S14-4t

FURNISHED BED SITTING room, kitchenette, newly decorated, every convenience. R.A.F. Officer and wife preferred. Phone 860W. S14-3t

FURNISHED HEATED APARTment. Apply 60 Bridge St. W. Phone 825M. S14-1t

SIX ROOM HOUSE, 201 CHARLES St. Apply Jamieson Bone & Co. S14-2t

PARTLY FURNISHED FRONT room on ground floor at 75 North Front St. S14-1t

OCTOBER 1ST., THREE UNfurnished rooms near C.N.R. Station, $6.00 weekly, including heat and light. Write Box 9, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-3t

TWO UNFURNISHED HEATED rooms. Phone 304J. S9-6t

MODERN LOWER DUPLEX, Bridge East, living room, dining room, kitchen, hardwood floors. Hot water heating, garage. $45. per month. Belleville Realty Co., H. B. Wilson, Prop. Day phone 391, night phone 1977. S11-13-14

LARGE FURNISHED FRONT BED sitting room, heated, also bedroom, furnished, gentlemen preferred, near Front St. Write Box 3, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

FARM FOR RENT — LOTS 23 and 24, 9th. concession of Marmora township, 80 acres (more or less), under cultivation, rest in pasture and woodland. Good buildings, two wells and running water. Nine miles northeast of Marmora. Immediate possession. Terms reasonable. Apply W. K. Long, Marmora R. 2. S12-3t

UPPER DUPLEX, FOUR ROOMS, sunroom, insulated, heated, separate entrance and bath. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine St. S7-dtf

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

Point Anne

Point Anne — The prize winners at the weekly Red Cross euchre on Wednesday evening were ladies 1st, Mrs. Genereaux, 2nd, Mrs. MacKay, consolation, Mrs. W. Horwood; Gents., 1st, L. Roluf, 2nd. J. Chaykoski, consolation, G Fraser. Mrs. Cecil Reid held the lucky number on the sweater donated by Mrs. Jenkinson for Red Cross funds.

The sympathy of the community is extended to Mrs. John McConnell in the loss of her father who passed away at his home near Roblin on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Howard spent Wednesday with Mr. Howard's brother, Mr. Nelson Howard, who is very ill at his home on the 8th of Thurlow.

Miss Jennie Hill has secured a position teaching school at Port Arthur, Ontario.

Mrs. G. H. Swan, of Hamilton, is visiting her sister, Mrs. J. R. MacDonald

Men have been busy shingling the house occupied by Mr. I. Hill, the roof of which was partially destroyed by fire recently.

Mrs. Fred Mayne spent last week in Toronto with her sister, Mrs. R. Chandler.

Mrs. Grace Ryan, Belleville, spent Wednesday afternoon with her mother, Mrs. E. Wilson.

McKeown's
DRUG STORE
Open Sunday

FOR SALE
Business Property
118 Front St.

Just north of the former fire hall, near Dundas Street. Concrete building, 2 floors. Offers will be considered for the purchase of this building, which is to be sold this month.

THIS IS WORTH INVESTIGATING.

Exclusive Agents
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
GEO. N. GORMAN, Prop.
166 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 House Phone 687
S15-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240 1A Bridge St. W
Res. 2112M Belleville
S5-tf

TREASURER'S SALE OF LANDS

In the County of Hastings, in the Province of Ontario.
To Wit:

By Virtue of a Warrant issued by the Warden of the County of Hastings bearing date of the Twenty-second day of July, 1940, sale of lands in arrears of taxes in the County of Hastings will be held in Shire Hall, in the City of Belleville, at the hour of Ten o'clock in the morning on Thursday, the Seventh day of November, 1940, unless the taxes and costs are sooner paid. Notice is hereby given that the list of lands for sale for arrears of taxes is being published in the Ontario Gazette on the Third day of August, the Seventh day of September, and the Fifth day of October, 1940, and that copies of said list may be had at my office, 228 Church Street, Belleville.

Treasurer's Office this Eighth day of August, 1940.

James W. Haggerty, Treasurer
A10,17,24,31, S7,14,21,28, O45,12,19,26 N2.

PERSONAL

YOU CAN RUN A HOME KINDERgarten with our help. Canadian Kindergarten Institute, Toronto 10, Ontario. 14-estf

Melville

Melville—Mrs. Chas. Matthews, Cannifton and Mrs. Grass, Stockdale and a niece from Shanty Bay, Barrie spent a day last week visiting Mrs. E. Margetson and Mrs C. Hardy.

Mrs. Nell Wood and baby were callers Tuesday on Mrs. Morris Dulmage.

Mrs. R. Dulmage and Anita of Zion's Hill, spent a few days last week with Mrs. Morris Dulmage and Mrs. D. H. Young.

Mrs. H. B. Anderson spent last week with Mrs. M. Arthur and Miss Nellie Arthur, Ann Street, Belleville and accompanied them to Toronto Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Root and Earl spent Tuesday in Belleville and were callers on Mrs. E. Kent, Mrs Cecil Davis and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Beare, Lingham Street.

Mr. C. Palmer, Douglas and Howard Palmer, Mrs. J. Root and Miss Josephine Pierson, motored to Kingston, on Sunday to see Mrs. C. Palmer, who is critically ill in Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. C. Palmer was called to Kingston on Tuesday to be with Mrs. C. Palmer who passed away Wednesday morning. Funeral service at the home on Friday afternoon, Interment in Wellington Cemetery. Mr. Palmer and sons have the sympathy of the entire community in their loss.

Mrs. R. J. Smith, Belleville, Mrs. Roy Pierson, 3rd concession Mrs. Ed. Jeffries, and three daughters, Oshawa, spent several days with Mr. C. Palmer and sons.

DEATHS

AYLING—In the Belleville General Hospital on Saturday, Sept. 14, 1940, Harry Ayling, residence 144 Burnham Street, Belleville, in his 67th. year.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, from where the funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, Sept. 16th. Service in the chapel at 2 o'clock.

Interment Belleville Cemetery.
S14-1t

GRANT
FUNERAL HOME
68 North Front St. Belleville
PHONE 373

WE TRY to be genuinely useful to this community and to the people we serve.

Belleville Burial Co.
27 Campbell St.

THOMAS C. THOMPSON
Funeral Director
24-Hour Service
32 Everett St. Phone 62
AMBULANCE SERVICE
Branch at Madoc — Phone 112

PERSONAL LOANS
For Any Useful Purpose
Including Fuel Requirements
ONE YEAR TO REPAY
Apply to Nearest Branch of
THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE
MONTHLY DEPOSITS PROVIDE FOR REPAYMENT.

If You Borrow	You Receive	You Make 12 Monthly Deposits of
$ 60	$ 55.87	$ 5
$ 96	$ 89.71	$ 8
$ 144	$ 134.80	$12
$ 192	$ 179.92	$16
$ 300	$ 280.34	$25
$ 432	$ 403.67	$41
$1,068	$ 1,000.36	$89

Other Amounts at Proportionately Low Rates
Your Estate is Protected by Life Insurance Which the Bank Arranges

The War This Week

(By Don Gilbert, Canadian Press Cable Editor)

Preparations for the German attempt to invade the British Isles and for a concurrent Italian drive on Egypt were believed to have neared completion in the 54th week of the war and Britain expected the axis powers to strike quickly without awaiting the outcome of the struggle for supremacy in the air.

Prime Minister Churchill told the British nation that the Nazi attack cannot be long delayed and that the coming week must be ranked with other momentous days in British history, when the Spanish armada was approaching and when Nelson waited for Napoleon's army to set sail from Boulogne.

He disclosed that hundreds of barges designed for the carrying of troops and similar numbers of larger vessels are arrayed along the channel ports opposite the shores of Britain. And next week tidal conditions will be suitable for the last time before the change of weather makes a crossing extremely hazardous from a nautical standpoint.

From Egypt came word of a "thickening up" of the Italian forces in Libya and there were increasing indications that Marshal Graziani will time his gamble to coincide with the Nazi assault on Britain. Sharp fighting between patrols on the Ethiopian-Kenya border was taken to mean that the Italians will stage a secondary drive in that direction.

Attempts Have Failed

Prior to the Prime Minister's speech it had been generally thought that a channel crossing would not be attempted by the Germans unless they could first gain the upper hand in the air. In fact Mr. Churchill, despite his foreboding as to next week, declared the effort of the German air force to obtain daylight mastery of the air over Britain to be the crux of the whole war.

Their attempts to attain this having failed, the German fliers during the week turned to large-scale night raiding, but no sooner were their bombs beginning to have a telling effect than London's defenders put into force an entirely new scheme of defence—a thick curtain of fire covering the whole space in which the invading planes are known to be. It resulted in an immediate reduction in the effectiveness of the German planes.

Delayed-Action Bombs

Their terror bombing of the crowded east end curtailed, the Germans then picked on objectives widely known to the public, destruction of which would be calculated to damage morale. Buckingham palace was struck twice by bombs. The House of Lords also was slightly damaged by an incendiary bomb and delayed action missiles were dropped in precincts of St. Paul's cathedral.

Although their work was overshadowed by the exploits of the fighter command, Royal Air Force bombers gave Germans a nightly taste of the air war. Berlin was bombed severely several times during the week. Essen, the munitions centre, was another target, while nightly attacks were made on the enemy's barge concentrations in the channel ports.

Glancing back 25 years: The Canadian corps was organized Sept. 13, 1915, under Lt.-Gen. E. A. H. Alderson Allied troops prepared during the week of Sept 8-14 for an autumn drive on the western front while in the east, Russian counter-attacks were partially successful in stemming the Austro-German advance.

Centenary

Centenary, Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. Everett Elliott spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dafoe of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. H. McLeod are visiting the latter's son, Mr. Sinclair, at Dartmouth, B.C.

Mrs. Hart, mother of Mr. R. Hart, passed away suddenly at her home in Mexico, N.Y. Mrs. Hart who was over eighty years of age, spent a month with her son recently and had made many warm friends who will deeply regret to hear of her death. The community extends to Mr. Hart and his family their sincere sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Elliott visited on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Welsh, Ivanhoe.

The September meeting of the Woman's Association was held at the church on Thursday, Sept. 12. A good number attended. A pot luck dinner was served in the dining hall and was most enjoyable. With the president in charge, the meeting was opened with a theme song followed by the National Anthem. Prayer was offered by Mrs. Aikins, Mrs. Mercer, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Elliott and the president. Following the Scripture reading a reading by Christian D. The singing of the National Anthem Larson, "The Optimist Creed" was given by Mrs. Holton. The roll call found fourteen members and one visitor present. Business followed and it was decided to hold the annual chicken dinner early in November. The meeting closed with a hymn and prayer by Rev. Mr. Mercer.

The W.M.S. meeting was held at the church on Thursday following the W.A. meeting. The president, Mrs. Geo. Avery was in charge opening the meeting in the usual manner. A motion of congratulation was extended by Mr. Mercer, seconded by Mrs. Holton, to Mrs. George Avery who was married recently. Remarks from the president regarding duty to the church, both spiritually and financially were timely. It was decided to have a prayer meeting. After singing a hymn, Mr. Roblin moved the adjournment of the business meeting. Mrs. F. Aikens, group leader for September, then took charge. The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. W. Ray. A reading was given by Mrs. Adams assisted by Mrs. Waite, Mrs. E. Ray, Mrs. J. Kelly, Mrs. H. Garrison, Mrs. S. May and Mrs. J. Orr. Mrs. E. Elliott favored with a solo which was much enjoyed. Poems were read by Mrs. Aikens and Mrs. Harry Roblin, and the benediction by Mr. Mercer brought to a close a very helpful and profitable meeting.

OUT—ON NON-STRETCHABLE DOUBLE

Pete Reiser, of the Brooklyn Dodgers is out at third base trying to stretch his two-bagger into a triple. It didn't stretch. Stanley Hack of the Chicago Cubs puts the ball on Pete. This is in the fifth inning of second game of double-header. The Cubs won both games, the first by 8 to 5 score, this night-cap by 3 to 2.

BE INDEPENDENT

When you need money in an emergency why embarrass yourself by asking friends?

You have available to you the service offered by our company to help you through your emergencies and you will find that this friendly service offered you is easily obtainable and quickly available.

No embarrassing questions—no red tape—no publicity.

Come in today and let us explain how easy it is to solve your money problems.

CASH LOAN YOU GET	AMOUNT YOU PAY BACK EACH MONTH Including All Charges
	6 months loan	8 months loan	10 months loan	12 months loan	15 months loan
$ 50	$ 8.93	$ 6.83	$ 5.57	$4.73
100	17.85	13.65	11.13	9.46	$ 7.78
150	26.78	20.48	16.70	14.18	11.67
200	35.71	27.30	22.27	18.91	15.57
250	44.63	34.13	27.83	23.64	19.46
300	53.56	40.95	33.40	28.37	23.35
400	71.41	54.60	44.53	37.82	31.13
500	89.26	68.25	55.66	47.28	38.91

QUINTE FINANCE AND SECURITIES LIMITED

168 Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 168

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

"I'd like to learn to fly," Judith said.

"Why?" asked Dudley.

"Oh, something to occupy my mind. Something absorbing."

She almost added: To make me forget.

Dudley was frowning slightly.

"You don't approve of women fliers?"

"I wouldn't say that. Only so few women want a house and garden. They want to fly or be movie stars. I wouldn't want you changed."

Suddenly Dudley's voice was deadly serious. Judith looked up at him a little startled. When he noted her glance, he burst out laughing, and she joined him.

"Let's stop all this serious talk. Let's just have fun. Now off to dinner!"

They stopped the car once while Dudley went in to get an orchid for Judith.

At an old French hotel, Dudley chose the most formal dining room where cuisine is an art and wines are excellent. There was soft music and they made a great ceremony of ordering. Just the right foods, just the right wines.

"Now tell me something about your childhood. I told you all about —me."

They settled back. "There's isn't much to tell. The usual. We have a nice old house back in Detroit. On Commonwealth avenue. It used to be very fashionable when I was little. In those days I wanted to teach school. I settled for a business course. By the time I grew up I was lucky that dad could do that!"

"Did you like it?"

"Loved it—that is, I loved my job. I worked in the office of the airlines in Detroit where I met Tex Aimes."

It was when they were dallying over coffee and brandy that Hugh Lanning came into the dining room.

"The head waiter told me you were in here. I was at the bar. How are you?"

Dudley asked Lanning to sit down. "What I really came here for was to ask Judith to have dinner with me. I didn't know Tex was away until I saw the paper this morning. I'm sorry about that."

Hugh was sorrier the next instant for, as he caught Dudley's warning glance, he knew Judith had not seen the item. It had never occurred to Hugh for one moment that she would not know. He was so sure that some loyal wife would have telephoned her, that he did not attempt to feel his way. He tried to repair the damage:

"Oh, it was nothing. Just that he was west."

But it was too late. Judith knew he was not telling the truth.

"What paper?" Judith asked.

"I don't remember that."

Pretty bad for a newspaper man, Hugh, Judith wanted to say. But she saw Dudley's eyes, knew that he too had seen the item, whatever it was. That was why he had asked her to dine with him! Because he, too, was sorry!

Lanning left as soon as he could, in complete confusion. He felt like a clumsy bore, wondered what Dudley would think of him. When he had gone, Judith turned to Dudley.

"You'll tell me. You won't make me look through all the papers?"

"It wasn't anything. Just one of the gossip columnists."

"You aren't telling me anything I don't know, Mr. Dudley. Please!"

Still Dudley did not speak.

"It was something about Tex and Miss Winthrop, wasn't it?"

"There was that intimation. Just about a 'flying duo' or something like that."

"What paper?"

"The morning Gazette, I think."

Judith sat quiet for a moment. Then she spoke impulsively: "Mr. Dudley, I want a job."

That was about the last thing Dudley expected Judith to say.

"What in the world for?"

"You understand. I'd like to start earning my own living again."

"You're being childish, Judith. It isn't like you. You understand Tex. You also understand that a man can't be famous without getting himself talked about every time he takes a girl out to dinner. Suppose I'd just flown 'round the world. They'd be trying to make a romance out of my dining with you tonight."

"I realise all that. Just the same I'd like to work."

Dudley put his hand on hers as it rested on the table: "Child, jobs these days are serious matters. There are so many girls who must work—to eat. Is it fair for a nice wife to take a job away from somebody who needs it desperately?"

"There are some things more terrible than being hungry!"

The protest was wrung from her lips. She had hoped so much after Tex's letter that the disappointment now was more than she could bear. But even as Judith spoke she pressed her fingers to her lips, as though to stop the words which might startle Dudley.

* * *

Next morning Judith sat in the middle of the living room floor surrounded by newspapers. She was hunting for the item about Tex. It was not in the Gazette. Dudley had not told her the truth. She kept up her search.

The party last night which had begun so gaily had ended in disappointment for them. Both tried to ignore her sudden confusion, tried to enjoy the night club which they visited after the dinner. Judith came home early. It was no use.

As she looked through the columns of the big papers, Judith thought of Dudley's good-night:

"You know I'd do anything for you I could, Judith."

Anything but get me a job, I suppose, she thought rebelliously. . . . Why did everybody try to protect Tex? It did not occur to Judith they had been trying to protect her.

For to do both Dudley and Lanning justice, neither had believed the gossip. They knew Tex was in love with Judith. Maybe he was indiscreet. He was attractive and women made a great fuss over him, but they believed Tex was happy in his marriage. They wanted to see him stay that way. And they did not want Judith hurt.

Methodically she turned the news-want ads.

Judith had almost given up when she found the item buried in the middle of a lively daily article on Hollywood. It read:

"Saw Tex Ames, demon flier, at the Dented Derby today, squiring Sonny Winthrop, lady bird. Romance? Note to producers: they'd make a great romantic team for a flying film. Both handsome and Sonny can ACT, I know."

Judith sat for a long time staring at the paragraph.

After all, maybe she was being childish. Perhaps Michael Dudley was right. Her husband couldn't lock himself up. There was some comfort in the fact that Tex must have written her after he had seen Sonia.

Tex wouldn't be home for at least another week and she must get through the days somehow. Judith put on her hat and went for a long walk. Today the clock seemed to stand still. "I'm just being dramatic," she argued with herself.

Dudley telephoned on Saturday but she pleaded a headache. She felt she could not face him. Whether or not he understood she did not know. At any rate he sent her a big box of autumn flowers which brightened the lonely apartment on the gloomy Sunday which followed. That evening Dick Van Mathas called. He was still moping about over his lost ship.

"Dad's furious with me. Says I've got to go into the bank again. When is Tex coming back? He's got to get things fixed up!"

"He'll be home some time this week, Dick."

Dick groaned. "Can you imagine the old man raising rim with me because I used my head and saved my neck?"

Judith tried to comfort him and he stayed on for a late supper. She was glad of his company for he was so utterly unconscious of her own problems, he made her forget them for a while.

* * *

For days Mrs. Aimes waited in her apartment for word from her husband, Tex, but none came.

By Thursday, Judith was beside herself. In the afternoon, after long hours of arguing pro and con, she telephoned Michael Dudley's office. A secretary would not put her call through until she gave her name. Then Judith heard Dudley's warm voice:

"How are you?"

"Have you heard from Tex, Mr. Dudley?" she asked.

"Got a wire today. He should be in tonight or tomorrow morning. What have you been doing with yourself?"

"Busy. There always seems to be something to do."

She got away as soon as she could. Then she rushed out to do some shopping at the market. She wanted everything ready, perfect when Tex came home.

That afternoon she cleaned the apartment thoroughly. She figured Tex might come in on the 10 o'clock ship, which made good connections from the coast. It was fine flying weather in New York but not content, she called to check Chicago departures.

She baked a cake, fussed about most of the evening. Before 10 she bathed and dressed. Since he had not wired she hesitated to go to the airport. She'd better wait here. At 10:15 she checked the plane.

A new man was on the telephone at the airline office. As an afterthought she asked if Mr. Aimes had arrived from the coast.

"He came in at seven," was the report.

Judith was stunned. In at seven, and he had not telephoned! But maybe the man was mistaken. She paced up and down the apartment until she was exhausted. Again and again she picked up the telephone to be sure it was working. It was.

By midnight Judith had a splitting headache. If she could go out for a walk she might feel better but she would not leave. Tex might come.

Some time after two she fell asleep on the davenport, slept until dawn. She got up, went into the bedroom and took off her pretty frock. It was rumpled now. No use trying to sleep any more.

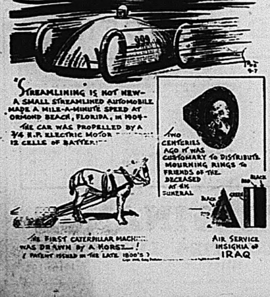
Judith was completely bewildered. The more she tried to figure out what happened, the more confused she was. She made some coffee, drank two cups and felt better. Probably the man had been mistaken.

She made up her mind to telephone Dudley. But it would be a long time before he was in his office. And she would not call him at home.

(To Be Continued)

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R. J. SCOTT



999
"STREAMLINING IS NOT NEW - A SMALL STREAMLINED AUTOMOBILE MADE A MILE-A-MINUTE SPEED AT ORMOND BEACH, FLORIDA, IN 1904 - THE CAR WAS PROPELLED BY A 3/4 H.P. ELECTRIC MOTOR ... 12 CELLS OF BATTERIES
TWO CENTURIES AGO IT WAS CUSTOMARY TO DISTRIBUTE MOURNING RINGS TO FRIENDS OF THE DECEASED AT HIS FUNERAL
THE FIRST CATERPILLAR MACHINE WAS DRAWN BY A HORSE - ! (PATENT ISSUED IN THE LATE 1800'S)
BLACK
RED
GREEN
BLACK
AIR SERVICE INSIGNIA OF IRAQ

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a walk with pop so he would injoy his supper, and pop said, Look at that that's Ray Driver's 4 thousand doller car, and look at it, it looks as if it hadn't been washed for months, it's a disgrace, it's a public spectacle, a man might as well go around with a derty neck as a car in that condition.

Meaning a big long automobile with mud splashed all over it, and pop kept looking at it and shaking his head, saying, A 4 thousand doller Gerkenfield special looking like that. It's always the wrong people that get hold of a lot of money. That's always been my contention, that's the kind of a Socialist I am. I say redistribute the wealth so that it all falls into the hands of people who know enough to keep a Gerkenfield looking like four thousand dollers worth instead of like a nickel's worth. Ray Driver made all his money playing the market at the height of the depth of the depression, and any man with the dumb luck to do that just naturelly hasn't go the branes to be trusted with a flock of money, and I mean Ray Driver, he said.

Wich just then a man came up and started to get in the car, saying, O, hello, Potts, are you getting an eyefull of my old Gerky."

I'll say I am, pop said, and the man said, Did you ever see a car more beautifully travel stained? I just came in from a seven hundred mile drive, going day and night an average of 70, and good old Gerk bears the scare of honorable battle. Well, it wont be long now before she looks like a city slicker again, he said.

And he drove away in his Gerkenfield with a big noise, pop saying, Now that's just about what I'd expect of somebody like Ray Driver, bragging about his silver and cromium mountings even when they're covered up with mud.

Proving if you dont like somebody it's a cinch to keep from being complimentry about them.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, September 15

SUNDAY'S Horoscope holds testimony of moderate success in whatever may be undertaken. But the spiritual, mystical and emotional affairs are under good auspices. There may be incentive to write poetry, music and other forms of creative expression.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a moderately successful year in commonplace forms, although it might be well to practice composition in drama, music, art and love as well.

For Monday, September 16

MONDAY'S Astrological Forecast shows great activity, largely in the creation of new and unusual forms possibly in scientific invention as also in adventure, travel, and romance. Emotional experience is to the fore, with much happiness, although probably opposed by superiors or elders. Shun reckless and impulsive moves and quarrels.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a happy rather than a prosperous year, although things will be rather active, especially in invention, science, aeronautics and as well in adventure and travel.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

SATURDAY, SEPT. 14.

11.15—Sports School—WEAF, WGY
Concert—WEAF, WGY
1.30—Luncheon at the Waldorf—Guest: Madame Schiaparelli, fashion designer—WJZ

NIGHT

8.00—Listener's Playhouse—WEAF, WBEN
9.00—Evening Prelude: News — CBL
9.00—Your Hit Parade — WABC ....WJR
9.30—Radio Guild Drama—WJZ, WHAM
9.45— Saturday Night Serenade — WJR
10.00—Uncle Ezra—WEAF, WGY
10.30—Melody in the Night—WJZ, WHAM
CBL
11.30—Musical Mirror: News—CBO, CBL
12.00—Guy Lombardo's Orch.—WABC, CFRB

SUNDAY, SEPT. 15.

AFTERNOON

2.00—Treasure Trails of Song — WJZ, WHAM
3.00—Nat'l Open Polo Matches—WABC, CBO

NIGHT

5.30—Flow Gently Sweet Rhythm —WABC, WGR
6.00—Fun in Print, literary quiz—WABC
6.30—Gene Autry's Melody Ranch —WABC
6.30—Beat the Band, quiz show; Ted Weems' Orchestra — WEAF, WGY, WHAM.
7.00—String Orch.—CBL
7.00—The World this Week — WABC, WGR
7.00—News from Europe — WJZ, WEAF, WGY
8.00—Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy — WEAF, WGY, CBL
8.00—Sunday Night Concert—WJZ CBO, CBL
8.30—Crime Doctor, drama—WABC WGR
8.30—Romance of Sacred Music—CBO, CBL
8.30—One Man's Family—WEAF, CBL
9.00—Carry On—CBL, CBO
9.00—Ford Summer Hour; Jessica Dragonette, Sop. — WABC, WGR
9.00—Manhattan Merry-Go-Round —WEAF, WBEN
9.00—Walter Winchell — WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Let's Face the Facts—CBL
10.00—Good Will Hour — WJZ, WHAM
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBL
12.00—News; Duke Ellington's Orch. —WEAF, WGY

MONDAY, SEPT. 16.

7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time—WEAF, WBEN, WGY
7.30—Blondie Sketch — WABC, WGR
7.30—Burns and Allen — WEAF, WHAM
8.00—Play Broadcast—WGN, WOR
8.00—The Telephone Hour; Musical Program with James Melton—WEAF, WGY
8.30—Toronto Symphony Band — CBO
8.30—Voice of Firestone; Symphony Orch. with Alfred Wallenstein conductor — WEAF, CBL
8.30—Pipe Smoking Time—WABC
9.00—Radio Theatre: Bob Hope, Madeleine Carroll and Ralph Bellamy in "Love Is News"—WABC, CFRB
9.30—Show Boat—WEAF, WBEN
10.00—Guy Lombardo's Orchestra —WABC, CFRB, WJZ, WEAF
11.15—Filbert's Filharmonic Forum—WEAF, WGY

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200

UNITED STATES STATIONS

KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

RADIO PROGRAMS

SATURDAY

2.00—I'm an American — WEAF, WGY, WHAM
3.00—London Calling—CBL
3.00—Bobby Byrne's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM
4.00—Club Matinee—WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Truth or Consequences — WEAF, WGY
9.30—American Choral Festival—WOR, CBL
10.00—Let's Go to the Music Hall — CBL
10.30—News of War—WABC
10.30—Bobby Byrne's Orch.—WEAF
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBL
12.00—News, Abe Lyman's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

SUNDAY

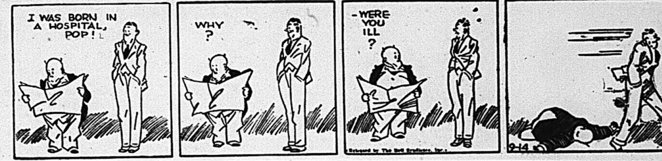
10.00—Highlights of the Bible — WEAF, WGY
10.00—Church of the Air—WABC
11.30—Major Bowes' Family—WABC, CFRB
12.30—Salt Lake City Tabernacle—WABC, WGR
2.00—Treasure Trails of Song — WJZ, WHAM
4.00—National Vespers—WJZ
4.30—Invitation to Learning — WABC, WGR
4.30—Fun with the Revuers—WJZ,
5.00—Church of the Air—CBL
5.30—Voice of Hawaii—WJZ
5.30—Behind the Mike—WJZ
6.30—Parade of the Years—WJZ
7.30—Summer Band Wagon — WEAF, WGY
7.30—Grenadier Guards Band — CBL
7.30—Adventures of Ellery Queen—WABC, WGR
8.00—Columbia Workshop, drama —WABC, WGR
9.30—Album of Familiar Music — WEAF, WGY
9.45—Sports Newsreel of the Air; Bill Stern—WJZ, WHAM
10.00—The Hour of Charm—WEAF, WGY
10.00—Take it or Leave it—WABC
10.30—Human Nature in Action — WEAF, WGY, WBEN
11.30—In the Music Room—CBL, CBO
12.00—Artie Shaw's Orch.—WABC, CFRB

MONDAY

1.00—The Goldbergs—WABC, WGR
5.45—Scattergood Bains, sketch — WABC
6.15—Hedda Hopper's Hollywood: —WABC
7.30— Burns and Allen — WEAF, WHAM
8.00—With the Troops in England —CBL, CBO
8.00—Those We Love — WABC, WGR
8.00—Little Ol' Hollywood— WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Pipe Smoking Time—WABC, WGR
8.30—True or False—WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Basin Street Chamber Music —WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Contented Hour — WEAF, CBL
10.30—Adventure in Reading — WJZ, WHAM
11.30—Woody Herman's Orch.—WEAF, WGY, CBL

POP — No! Just There Visiting

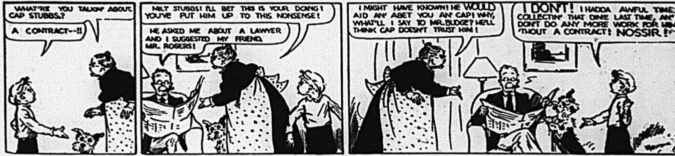
By J. Millar Watt



I WAS BORN IN A HOSPITAL, POP!
WHY ?
- WERE YOU ILL ?
9-14
Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

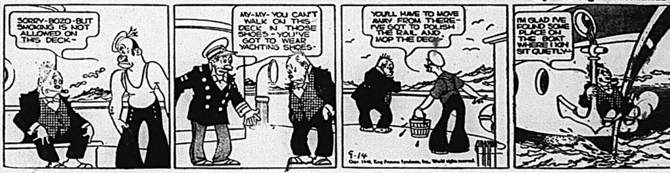
By Edwina



WHAT'RE YOU TALKIN' ABOUT, CAP STUBBS ?
A CONTRACT--!!
MILT STUBBS! I'LL BET THIS IS YOUR DOING! YOU'VE PUT HIM UP TO THIS NONSENSE!
HE ASKED ME ABOUT A LAWYER AND I SUGGESTED MY FRIEND, MR. ROGERS!
I MIGHT HAVE KNOWN! HE WOULD AID AN' ABET YOU AN' CAP! WHY, WHAT'LL I SAY TO MR. BUDGE? HE'LL THINK CAP DOESN'T TRUST HIM!
I DON'T! I HADDA AWFUL TIME COLLECTIN' THAT DIME LAST TIME, AN' I DON'T DO ANY MORE WORK FOR HIM 'THOUT A CONTRACT! NOSSIR!

BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



SORRY-BOZO-BUT SMOKING IS NOT ALLOWED ON THIS DECK-
MY-MY- YOU CAN'T WALK ON THIS DECK IN THOSE SHOES - YOU'VE GOT TO WEAR YACHTING SHOES-
YOU'LL HAVE TO MOVE AWAY FROM THERE- I'VE GOT TO POLISH THE RAIL AND MOP THE DECK-
I'M GLAD I'VE FOUND SOME PLACE ON THE BOAT WHERE I KIN SIT QUIETLY-9-14

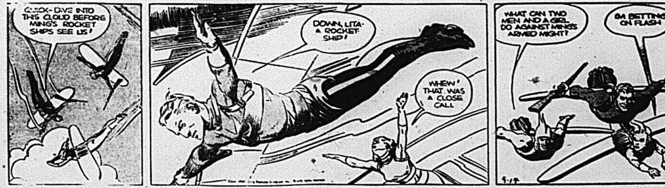
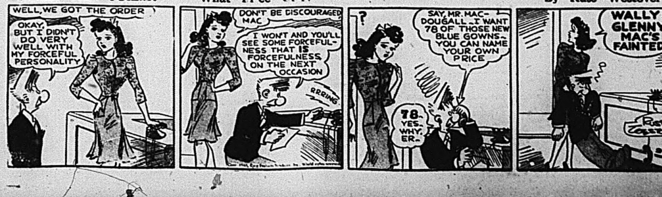
FLASH GORDON



QUICK-DIVE INTO THIS CLOUD BEFORE MING'S ROCKET SHIPS SEE US!
DOWN, LITA-A ROCKET SHIP!
WHEW! THAT WAS A CLOSE CALL
WHAT CAN TWO MEN AND A GIRL DO AGAINST MING'S ARMED MIGHT?
I'M BETTING ON FLASH
9-14

TILLIE THE TOILER — What Price Glory

By Russ Westover



WELL, WE GOT THE ORDER
OKAY, BUT I DIDN'T DO VERY WELL WITH MY FORCEFUL PERSONALITY
DON'T BE DISCOURAGED MAC
I WON'T AND YOU'LL SEE SOME FORCEFULNESS THAT IS FORCEFULNESS ON THE NEXT OCCASION
RRRING
?
SAY, MR. MAC-DOUGALL - I WANT 78 OF THOSE NEW BLUE GOWNS - YOU CAN NAME YOUR OWN PRICE
78 - YES - WHY, ER -
WALLY! GLENNY! MAC'S FAINTED
RUSS WESTOVER
9-14

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 11.45.

MINES

Ajax 11
Aldermac 16
Anglo Hur. 164
Aunor 184
Bankfield 9 1-2
Beattie 82 1-2
Bidgood 11 1-2
Big Missouri 4 7-8
Bralorne 900
Broulan 62
Buffalo Ank 350
Calgary and Ed. 141
Central Pat 170
Chesterville 91
Coast Copper 66
Coniaurum 127
Dome 30 1-2
Eldorado 34
East Mal 305
Falconbridge 267
Gillies L. 4 1-8
Gunnar 37
Hardrock 80
Home Oil 182
Hollinger 11 7-8
Howey 25 1-2
Hudson Bay 25 3-4
Kerr Add 253
Kirk Lake 92
Lapa Cad 7
Lake Shore 20 1-2
Leitch 53
Little L.L. 210
Macassa 325
McIntyre 45
McLeod 207
McKenzie 95
Mining Corp. 73
Moneta 58
Nipissing 95
Obrien 77
Okalta 70
Omega 17
Paymaster 23
Pamour 102
Perron 151
Pend. Oreille 243.
Pickle Crow 267
Pioneer 207
Premier 95
Powell 83
Preston E. D. 187
Reno 13 1-2
Royalite 22
San Antonio 183
Sherritt G. 68
Siscoe 57
Sladen M. 41
Sud. Basin 109
Sullivan 57
Steep Rock 143
Sylvanite 226
T. Hughes 315
Tex. Can. Oil 127
Toburn 125
Ventures 240
W. Amulet 325
Wr. Hargreaves 607

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 154
B. A. Oil 19½
Brewing Corp. 127
Braz. Traction 5
Can. Bud Brewery 4½
Canada Cement 4⅞
Can. Dredge 11
Can. Ind. Alcohol 190
C.P.R. 5¼
Can. Malting 34½
Can. Vinegar 6½
Canada Car 8¼
Cockshutt Plow 5½
Cons. Bakeries 14
Con. Smelting 37
Dominion Foundries 23½
Dominion Stores 4½
Dist. Seagrams 24½
Fanny Farmer 25
Ford A. 16½
Gypsum 3¾
Imperial Oil 11½
Int. Nickel 35¼
Inter. Pet. 16⅝
Imperial Tobacco 14½
Loblaw 25¾
Massey Harris 3¼
Montreal Power 29¼
McColl Frontenac 5⅜
Power Corp. 7½
Price Bros. 12¼
Steel of Canada 73
Supertest 32½
Shawinigan 18⅜
Walker's 37⅞
Walker's pfd. 19
C.P.A. 4½

NEW YORK

American T. and T. 162
Anaconda 21 1-4
Bethlehem Steel 76
Chrysler 75
General Electric 32 3-4
General Motors 46 3-4
Inter. Telephone 2 3-4
North American 18 1-8
Montgomery Ward 39
Phillips Pet 35 3-8
Radio 4 3-4
Standard Oil of N.J. 34
Standard Brands 6 1-4
U. S. Steel 54 3-4
United Aircraft 39 1-2
Vanadium 30 1-2
Westinghouse 103

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 14 (CP)—Dressed-weight were down 15 cents at Stratford and prices were unchanged at Chatham and Hull in bacon-hog markets reporting today.

Liveweight: Chatham $8.50.

Dressedweight: Chatham $11.60, Hull $11.65; Stratford $11.50 plus transportation.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, Sept. 14 (AP)—Chemicals joined steels and rails today in a lifting movement which steadied the Stock Market. Transactions totalled about 150,000 shares.

On the advancing side were Dow Chemical, Union Carbide, Dupont, Westinghouse, American Can, U.S. Steel, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, Boeing, Douglas, American Telephone and Western Union. In the Canadian section Dome Mines and McIntyre advanced slightly while Distillers Seagram lost 1-8 point.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, Sept. 14.—(CP)—The Toronto Stock Market rounded out the week with another dull session and a moderately weak price tone. Only about 40,000 shares were traded in the two hours with the Gold issues supplying the main action.

Steel stocks comprised the one firm group in the Industrial section. Page-Hersey advanced a point, Dominion Foundries added 3-4 and Hamilton Bridge was a 1-4 point up at 4 5-8. In the Utilities Gatineau Power and Consumers Gas displayed strength against a loss of nearly a point for Bell Telephone. Papers and banks were steady and narrow losses were posted by Walkers Common and Industrial Alcohol A.

Changes in the Mining Division were of small size. Kerr-Addison, Malartic Gold Fields, Sylvanite and East Malartic advanced slightly and the close was narrowly lower for MacLeod-Cockshutt, Pickle Crow, Delnite and Upper Canada. Hard Rock was lower and Moneta higher for broken lots and Partane was a fraction up at 4.

A gain of 1-2 point for Consolidated Smelters was the main change in the Base Metal group. Noranda was firmer for broken lots and Nickel held steady at 36. Jack Waite and Steep Rock ruled slightly stronger and Sherritt was unchanged at 68. Castle-Tretheway sold at 56, unchanged.

Western Oils boarded few trades. Calgary and Edmonton sold at 1.41 for a gain of 6 cents and Vermilata at 8 cents was a cent lower. Homestead Oil and gas was off 1-4 to 3 1-4.

Residence of Bank Manager Robbed At Joliette, Que.

Joliette, Que., Sept. 14—(CP)—Three masked men entered the bank residence of Edouard Perreault at nearby St. Thomas De Joliette Friday, and forced Perreault to open the bank vault, escaping with approximately $1,900. Perreault was manager of a sub-branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale. He lived in an apartment over the bank. He said the men pulled him out of bed, forced him downstairs, and made him open the bank safe.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS

Wholesale to retail:
A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.26
Grade "C"	.19

BUTTER

Butter, No. 1	.23-.23 1-4
Butter, No. 2	.21-.22 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.22
Churning Cream, No. 2	.20

POULTRY

(Dressed)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	20—22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12

(Live Poultry)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

Butter Market Remains Firm

Toronto, Sept. 14.—Produce lines maintained an even keel throughout the week's session of the Toronto open market here, with no feature evident apart from a show of firmness in butter prices.

The butter market reached for higher levels on release of the all-Canada stock report late Tuesday. The trade considered that the figures indicated a satisfactory domestic supply position after taking into account the lack of export business this year. Offerings of first-grade Ontario butter were light all week and they cleared well at firm prices. Friday's market improved ¼-cent per pound to range at 23 cents to 23¼ cents for No. 1 solids.

Receipts were not heavy this week on the egg market and a good clearance was effected at generally steady prices. High prices on top grades were responsible for better inquiry for lower grades. Inspected shipments to northern points were normal. Exporting to Newfoundland in a small way was reported, and l.c.l. shipments have gone forward to the Maritimes. One car of grade B eggs is rolling to seaboard for shipment overseas. Government inspected shipments of graded eggs moved at a premium of 1-2 cent to 1 cent per dozen all week.

Although offerings were heavy, no change occurred in price on live poultry to producers and country shippers. Price shading down was evident in wholesale to retail channels, however, an effort being made to keep supplies moving after processing. More supplies arrived on the dressed poultry market. Local demand was fair, with some of the larger dealers shipping to Montreal.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, Sept. 14 (CP)—Produce market prices here, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 24 1-2c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 24c. Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large 34c; A-medium 32c; A-pullets, 27c; B, 25c; C, 16c. Receipts: 1,374 cases.

SAYS U.S. FLEET BEST IN WORLD

Naval Secretary Knox Says It is Strongest and Most Effective of Any Navy

Honolulu, Sept. 14—(AP) — Intensive study of the United States fleet in action has convinced United States Naval Secretary Frank Knox it is the "greatest" in the world. Knox, seated last night in a hotel room from whose window he could see a portion of the fleet at anchor in Pearl Harbor, said:

"The United States is the greatest, the most powerful and the most effective fleet on the high seas anywhere in the world."

YOUTHFUL KING

(Continued from Page One)

The royal train immediately began the slow return journey to Bucharest with many scheduled stops to permit public ovations for the king and his mother, who left her villa in Italy yesterday.

Government posters announced an elaborate festival would be held in Bucharest tomorrow to greet Princess Helen home as queen mother. Helen stopped an hour in Venice last night for a chat with Prince Nicholas, Carol's brother and another exile of the abdicated monarch.

Nicholas also was understood to have received an invitation from Antonescu to return to Rumania. Indications were that he would wait and let Helen have her ohmecoming honors alone before deciding whether to accept.

Cold Nights and Cool Rains Retard Growth of Pigs

The advantage of favorable weather for the raising of pigs is short lived. The month of September brings cold nights and cool rains that seriously retard the growth of small pigs unless they have proper accommodation.

Last year there was much work done to develop suitable brooders for young pigs. Ontario conditions vary so much from the extreme weather in Western Canada that the brooders that proved satisfactory in the west were not practical in Ontario. The most satisfactory brooder was the electric brooder, which consists of a small box-like structure in which there are two 60-watt bulbs to supply the heat. This brooder supplied enough heat, protected the pigs from the sow while she moved about in her bed, and could be used as a creep for the feeding of supplementary feeds. Pigs raised in this type of brooder do not become accustomed to a great deal of heat but are climatized to normal stable conditions each time they leave the brooder. This is important because they do not suffer a set-back when weaned. Full particulars regarding the construction of this brooder can be procured from the Animal Husbandry Dept., Ontario Department of Agriculture, Guelph.

Some good lots of hogs marketed out of the Belleville district during the week of September 13th, 1940, are as follows:

		GRADE
		A	B			C
Name and Address:	No.	1	1	2	3	1	2	3	Premium
Howard Moran, Frankford	10	7	3						$7.00
C. Dawson, Frankford	7	4	1	2					$4.00
Frank Wood, Stirling	5	4	1						$4.00
P. Sheffield, Halloway	11	7	4						$7.00
Wm. Fitzgerald, Madoc	7	3	3	1					$3.00
Joseph Hayton, Madoc	14	6	8						$6.00
Fred Moorcroft, Madoc	4	3	1						$3.00
W. J. Irwin, Madoc	4	2		2					$2.00
J. Newton, Tweed	4	3	1						$3.00
C. Sills, Tweed	5	3	2						$3.00
W. S. Black, Belleville	4	4							$4.00
Wm. McMullen, Belleville	6	4	2						$4.00
P. Burkitt, Consecon	4	4							$4.00
S. Fox, Rednersville	5	4			1				$2.50
G. Waterhouse, Mountain View	9	7	1	1					$7.00

Signed, W. M. GORDON,
Federal Dep't. of Agriculture,
Canada Packers Limited,
Peterborough, Ont.

NAZIS' ATTEMPT

(Continued from Page One)

Landed On Roadway.

The other pair—one of them a time bomb—landed outside the palace gates on the roadway. The delayed action missile was covered with sandbags. When detonated it ripped up a broad sidewalk and destroyed about five yards of the great wrought iron fence, outside which the Royal sentries stand guard.

The other bomb, which plummeted outside the grounds, sent a shower of cement and mud from the roadway over the majestic statue of Queen Victoria which stands in St. James's Park circle. A few blobs of mud stuck to the statue by jagged bits of cement, weighing up to ten pounds, which were flung about did not scratch the grey marble likeness of Victoria Regina Imperatrix enthroned or its base.

It was a member of a press party of sixty representing countries in every part of the world who were permitted to wander about the Royal residence, its courtyard sand garden, to see the damage. Considering that the Nazis aimed seven bombs at the palace in what must be regarded as an attempt to destroy it the damage was not great

The superintendent of the palace work staff told me that "twenty or thirty thousand pounds should see everything put shipshape."

Looked For Oil Tanks

In the estimate he included repair of the swimming pavilion which was wrecked by a time bomb earlier in the week. Before entering the palace gates I toured the surrounding area looking for the oil tanks the Germans claim they sought to attack when explosives were rained on the Royal Palace during yesterday's four-hour daylight attack. I could not even find a gasoline filling station within a mile of the palace and St. James's Park in which it stands.

The bomb, which tore a jagged hole in the roof of the small chapel royal on the outer southwest corner of the building, pushed its red-carpeted floor into a basement below. Four plumbers working in the basement were injured, one of them seriously.

The little house of worship—it will seat about 100—was a scene of havoc but not beyond repair. Dust thrown up by the explosion covered several wooden pew benches, many of which were ripped like matchwood, and all else. Down among the mortar and other debris that half filled a hole in the floor were prayer books, hymnals and red damask prayer cushions.

The royal pew, on a small balcony facing the altar which was completely destroyed, was itself undamaged. Also unscratched was John Gobelin's famed painting of John the Baptist baptizing the Lord which covers half the wall back of the altar.

Two Paintings Ruined.

The only other bomb which caused real damage was one which landed against the south wall of the quadrangle. Fragments which tore through the lower windows damaged two of the irreplacable paintings which cover the wall of the ambassadors' corridor in the south wing.

Five holes were torn in the painting of her Royal Highness Princess Augusta Wilhelmina of Hesse-Cassel, Duchess of Cambridge, which was done in 1835 by C. F. Rechmann. One of them was as large as a man's head. The others were small.

A companion picture of Adolphus Frederick, Duke of Cambridge, done by John Lucas in 1839, gave up a few particles of paint to the concussion but otherwise escaped damage.

When I stopped to study these paintings I became detached from the rest of the newspaper men and women. I wandered about the deserted corridors and grand rooms of the palace for a quarter hour without seeing the press party or anyone else. At least several members of the Royal household seemed to have left until the worst of the damage is repaired.

Full of Royal Ghosts.

One of the score of doors I opened apologetically and gingerly during the search let me into a small ante-room that was full of Royal ghosts. It was used to store a dozen paintings. Nine of them were stacked on the floor and three were hung up temporarily.

Those three were full length paintings of the last of the German Kaisers, Wilhelm, who flung the world in the first great war; the last of Austro-Hungary's emperors, Franz Joseph; and Russia's last czar, Nicholas.

It was like a visit to the morgue. I tip-toed out of there at full gallop.

NAZI ARTILLERY

(Continued from Page One)

One Nazi Plane Down

One German plane was reported shot down by ground defences after being caught in a web of search lights over East London.

The all clear signals sounded the end of the night alarm at 5.25 a.m. (12.25 a.m. EDT).

The morning newspapers declared essential services still were carrying on—"limping a little in some places," the News-Chronicle said—and declared that seven consecutive nights in air raid shelters had failed to shake Londoners' morale.

The threat of delayed-action bombs remained ever-present, however.

Five unexploded bombs still lay in the vicinity of St. Paul's Cathedral, which was guarded closely.

Raids were also reported in other parts of the United Kingdom. Early this morning a lone plane attacked a Welsh town and four persons were believed killed when a bomb struck a hotel.

The Royal Air Force, battling almost endlessly in defence of the island, carried on, too, with its counter-offensive against German bases across the channel.

Observers at Dover saw repeated flashes of anti-aircraft fire rising early today from the German-occupied French coast, indicating a renewed British attack on Nazi artillery emplacements.

Pillars of Flame Seen

In the vicinity of Cap Gris Nez, from which German guns have shelled the Dover area, the firing appeared particularly intense, and watchers reported a brilliant pillar of flame shot high into the air.

While the British Transport Ministry appealed to London motorists to keep private automobiles out of the central part of the city "in order to maintain freedom of movement on the roads," the Air Ministry carried forward the growing list of London casualties.

Wednesday night's raids killed 110 persons and injured 260, it was announced, bringing the totals from last Saturday through Wednesday to 1,245 and 4,810 injured.

The toll Thursday night was withheld although a communique said it was "not heavy."

Friday's dead likewise were not yet counted, but the list was said to be extensive after the longest daylight raid of the war—four hours and nine minutes—during which Buckingham Palace, Downing Street and Whitehall, where most of the government's business is transacted, were hit.

Part of Calculated Policy

The Daily Mail, commenting on the palace bombing, declared today that attempts to assassinate heads of foreign states are part of a calculated policy of "the Berlin barbarians."

The Mail said the bombing was comparable to reported Nazi attacks on King Haakon of Norway and Queen Welhelmina of The Netherlands when their countries were invaded, and asserted Germany's objective was "to destroy every rallying point of national sentiment and character and to reduce civilized peoples to the ghastly mould of the Nazi robots."

"The first stage of this spiritual offensive against the British people is to drive the King from his capital," the newspaper continued. "Such a victory was denied them. The King's first act after the bombing was to visit his people in the east end of London."

During the long night of raiding, two high explosive bombs and one incendiary bomb damaged a church and blocked a road in the western district. A number of fires were started, including one at industrial premisis in the eastern section of the city.

Workers' Tenement Hit

A stick of bombs dropped on a workers' tenement in the southwest while particularly heavy damage was done to another residential district.

Two villas were demolished by explosives which hurled a sideboard through a back wall and blew a sewing machine across the street. The Press Association said these bombs caused "scattered casualties."

A correspondent at Deal on the southeast coast said the R.A.F. attack on the German-occupied French coast, which began at dusk and continued until 5 a.m. (12 midnight E.D.T.) lit the European shoreline from Boulogne to north of Dunkerque with flashes of exploding bombs, anti-aircraft guns and fires.

Continued air and searchlight activity over the southeast coast was also reported.

Section of Wall Blown Out

A stick of three high explosive bombs fell in Central London during the night raid. One glanced off the roof of a building and crashed through the building opposite, bringing down a large section of wall.

The other two made direct hits on a large apartment house. Each blew out a huge section of masonry and destroyed numerous apartments, but the Press Association said that all the occupants had gone to shelters in the building and there were no casualties.

At least 12 high explosive bombs and a number of incendiaries were dropped in the Thames Estuary area. The Press Association called this an effort to locate and silence anti-aircraft batteries. The anti-aircraft bombardment in that region was reported as the "most terrific" yet heard. Defences there are part of the outer bastion of London's ring of anti-aircraft guns.

U.S. GOV'T GIVEN

(Continued from Page One)

mittee with instructions to the senate conferees to substitute the industrial provision voted by the House for a compromise of original senate and House provisions which the committee had recommended.

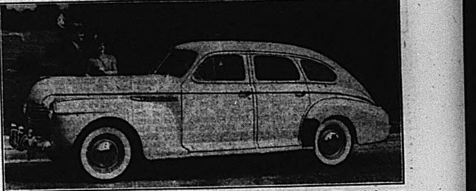
The eleven senators and representatives quickly gathered in a nearby committee room and adopted the House provision.

By this time, however, the senate had quit for the night, and the House, which had been waiting in recess for several hours for the senate to pass the legislation in time for final action about midnight, had adjourned.

The 600-word section which the committee accepted on Senate instructions and which thereupon became a part of the bill provided, in principle, that once the President had placed a defence order, the manufacturer should accept it at a price declared to be "reasonable" by the Secretary of War or the Secretary of Navy.

If the manufacturer declined to give the government preference on this order, or refused to fill it, the government could step in and operate the plant, paying "fair and just" compensation. The manufacturer would be subject to maximum penalties of three years imprisonment and $50,000 fine.

1941 McLAUGHLIN-BUICK



Incorporating such advanced features as aerodynamic streamlining, "fireball" engines developing 115, 125 and 165 horsepower, and new Compound Carburetion on Super, Century, Roadmaster and Limited models, McLaughlin-Buick for 1941 is presented in five new series on three wheelbases, and offers a choice of twenty-two different body types. Illustrated above is the Special six-passenger, four-door sedan, built on a 121-inch wheelbase.

Berlin Communique

Berlin, Sept. 14 (AP)—The text of Saturday's German High Command communique follows:

"The Air Force, despite unfavorable weather yesterday, continued retaliatory attacks day and night against the British capital, scoring numerous hits on tanks, storehouses and factories. New fires started at several places. Furthermore airports, industrial plants and railroads in Southeastern England were effectively bombed.

"The enemy made some short flights over Holland, Belgium and Northern France and dropped bombs at several places without causing noteworthy damage.

(The British Air Ministry has not yet issued its report on last night's bombing activities of the R. A. F.)

"Because of heavy clouds there were only scattered air fights during the day. Eight enemy planes were bagged by chasers and anti-aircraft. Two of our own planes are missing."

(British statements indicated that no British planes were lost yesterday. Three German aircraft were destroyed.)

Axis Powers Victims Of Their Own Strategy

Washington, Sept. 14 —(AP)—As the storm over London reaches a new crescendo, there are widely scattered war developments elsewhere to strengthen Britain's confidence that time is her ally and that victory in the present crisis means final victory.

Centring in the Mediterranean, they lend support to the idea stressed by British leaders that a strong element of desperation compels the preparations of Hitler and Mussolini to strike quickly for a decision.

Gibraltar reports that six French warships have just headed westward into the Atlantic. They sailed past the silent guns of the fortress as Britain's allies or there would have been no word of their movement.

Earlier, the arrival at Gibraltar of thirty or more warplanes from French Morocco was noted from Spain.

In Washington, Axis uneasiness over the Mediterranean is hinted by authoritative information that the Vichy government has rejected a demand that some 200,000 French Empire troops in North Africa be disarmed lest they imperil Italy. It was France's collapse at home that makes feasible an Italian drive to attempt to conquer Egypt—which Il Duce now threatens—by releasing troops from the western frontiers of Libya.

From Greece comes rumors that reinforced British naval forces have been thrown around Italy's strategic Dodecanese Islands in the Eastern Mediterranean, which already have been shelled and bombed.

Rome acknowledged the likelihood that the acquisition of fifty United States destroyers will enable Britain to add further to the forces determined to shatter Mussolini's dream of empire.

Meanwhile, though Marshal Graziani appears to have a margin of two to one or more for an Italian land and air drive to cut the British Empire lifeline at Suez, British commanders, confident over the ultimate outcome, say Italy is faced at the moment with an uncomfortable now-or-never dilemma.

With the two main Fascist armies isolated by sea from home supply bases and by geography from each other, the Italian commanders cannot afford to dissipate munitions and equipment in inconclusive fighting.

Il Duce, like his Axis partner, is under urgent pressure from time and events to strike, or at least to feint in force, in the hope that a Nazi victory on the war's main front may save Italy from heavy losses.

Both he and the Nazi Fuehrer are in a measure helpless victims of forces they unloosed. Certainly, once an invasion of Britain is launched there can be no turning back for Hitler without disaster.

CANADIAN TROOPS ADD TOUCH OF HOME

(By Francis Stevens)

Somewhere in Iceland, Sept. 14.—(CP)—A touch of Toronto has been added to this outpost of Canada where Canadian troops are on guard. Approaching the headquarters of one encampment the first thing that meets the eye at road intersection sign posts reading Yonge Str.et, Bloor Street.

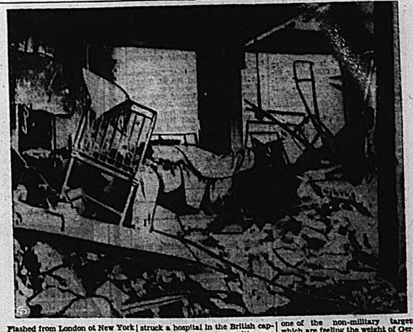
The scene is not unlike those on the Western Front during the First Great War, duckboard pathways and officers and men in high boots wading through deep mud as the hard-working outfit engages in extensive preparations designed to block possible enemy movements.

Officers have a keen understanding of the strategic importance of Iceland in this war. They are wide awake to the fact that Germany is making serious preparations concerning Iceland and they, on the other hand, are making equally serious counter plans.

The Icelanders are showing marked courtesy to their defenders. Every church parade concludes with the National Anthem of Iceland followed by "God Save the King".

A touch of home is found in the quarters of the officers and men in this remote spot. There the walls are decorated with pictures of the wives and children and sweethearts at home in Toronto.

All's fair in love and war, and Errol Flynn is exceptionally able on both scores in his role as "The Sea Hawk," in which he wins lovely Brenda Marshall. "The Sea Hawk" is now at the Belle Theatre.



Flashed from London ot New York by cable, this photo shows the damage done when German bombs struck a hospital in the British capital. The number of casualties was not immediately known. This is but one of the non-military targets which are feeling the weight of German bombs as the Nazis seek to terrorize the city's populace.

Canada's War Chiefs

REAR-ADMIRAL PERCY W. NELLES

CHIEF OF THE NAVAL STAFF

By KEN CLARK

Canadian Press Staff Writer
(Copyright, 1940,
by The Canadian Press)

Rear Admiral Percy Walker Nelles, born at Brantford, Ont., 1,000 miles or more from the sea, was in at the birth of the Royal Canadian Navy. Today he heads it. On his "yes" and "no" hang the success of operations and the lives of thousands of navy men.

He is the man back of the tremendous expansion of Canada's navy since August, 1939, a short, wiry man who wears his gray hair close-cropped, reads with horn-rimmed spectacles, and smokes cigarettes with cork tips.

He is 48 but looks considerably younger. He has two dogs, a Cairn and a Dachshund, the latter being British born and raised in the proper tradition.

The Admiral likes hot weather and despises December to April in Ottawa where he has been in charge of the navy since 1934.

In August a year ago the Royal Canadian Navy was equipped with 15 vessels, carrying in size from one small sailing vessel to six modern destroyers. The personnel on active service was 1,774. Today the force numbers 113 vessels manned and maintained by nearly 9,000 officers and men and in the near future 100 more vessels will be in operation.

In a comparatively simple industrial organization an expansion of this kind would be considered an almost impossible feat. But those who know the admiral say he was the man to do it in a highly-specialized and complicated structure such as the modern navy.

He has had long training in the tradition and technique of the best navy there ever was. He is a man of executive ability who delegates responsibility and above all he is a man of vision.

This is what the admiral sees for the future of the Royal Canadian Navy: not a predominant force competitive with the striking power of the British or United States navies, but a comparatively small, extremely modern and efficient force capable of meeting all Canadian defence needs.

This is what he thinks about the current controversy as to relative value of the naval and air arms: "They (Great Britain and Canada) would be in no better position than Belgium, France or Holland, if it were not for their navies."

As long as trade and commerce is water-borne and has not taken to the air, he believes the navy will be the factor it has been in the balance of power and the strength of nations. That is a pretty liberal statement for a bred-in-the-bone navy man.

Army, Navy and Church

Most of the Nelles family were not service men. The Admiral's father was Brig.-Gen. C. M. Nelles and his brother, Norman Cunningham Nelles, a Royal Military College man, was killed near Ypres in 1915.

But the family for a good many years were men of peace, clergymen in the church of England. The Admiral's grandfather was an Archdeacon on the Mohawk Reservation near Brantford, the ancestral home of the Canadian Nelles.

"I played with boats because I didn't want to go into the army," the admiral said once in an interview. "I never had a minute's doubt. The navy was to be my career."

He went to Lakefield Preparatory School in Peterborough, Ont., and Trinity College at Port Hope but in 1908 when he was 16, he signed up as the second of the first seven Canadian naval cadets.

There had been Canadians who went into the British Navy before that, of course, but this was the first batch for the Canadian service, trained as such.

The Admiral is careful to be exact about being the first Canadian-trained officer to command a British cruiser. He wasn't the first Canadian to do so, he was the first Canadian-trained officer or an officer trained for the Canadian Navy.

Admiral Nelles served as lieutenant with the Royal Navy for three years from 1914. In 1917 he came to Ottawa as flag-lieutenant to Admiral Kingsmill. Later he returned to England and took a staff course.

He brought the destroyers Skeena and Saguenay across the sea to Halifax after their purchase in Great Britain and he was commander-in-charge at Halifax.

In 1933 he was promoted to captain, the first officer of the Canadian Navy to hold that rank. He proceeded to England to the Imperial Defence College and returned to Ottawa to relieve Commodore Hose as chief of Naval Staff in 1934. In August, 1938, he was made rear admiral.

In 1915 the young officer Nelles was in Bermuda and there at the same time was United States Consul Allen. Lieut. Nelles married the consul's daughter, Helen Schuyler Allen. They have two sons.

The Admiral's career runs the circle of chancy times in the blue Carribean and on other seas—for which he wears two strips of ribbons. He represented the Royal Canadian Navy at the coronation of King George V and King George VI.

He is a man willing to try the impossible. For instance he tries not to work at night. And his golf is bad, not so much because he is a sailor but from lack of time to get out on the course.

International at a Glance

By The Canadian Press

London—Nazi air raiding slackens; Britain on guard for weekend invasion attempt; South Africa House and the law courts damaged in night raid.

Moscow—Soviet denounces German-Rumanian press reports on Russia's alleged Balkan intentions.

Bucharest—King Michael welcomes his mother, Princess Helen, back to Rumania.

Chancy — Travellers reaching Switzerland say French fear Germans will take over all France within a few weeks.

DIES ON SERVICE

London, Sept. 14.—(CP Cable)—The War Office announced today that 2nd Lieut. J. D. Hamilton of Simcoe, Ont., an officer of the Royal Engineers, has died on active service.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Isle of Destiny"

"Isle of Destiny", a Fine Arts Picture distributed by RKO Radio, brings William Gargan and Wallace Ford to the McCarthy Theatre next in a film photographed entirely in the thrilling new Cosmocolor. The story, which is laid in the South Seas, presents these two vigorous screen personalities as U.S. Marines who are rivals in love for the same girl—and what a girl!

The luscious, blonde June Lang plays the role of a debutante aviatrix who finds society too dull for her adventure-loving spirit. She rides the uncharted sky lanes for excitement and finds plenty of it when she falls into a cunningly laid trap of a gun runner operating in the South Seas. Held captive on a jungle island it takes the Marines—two in particular—to rescue the girl and break up the nefarious plot of the gun runner.

"Isle of Destiny" is a Franklyn Warner Production directed by Elmer Clifton. The cast, besides William Gargan, Wallace Ford and June Lang, includes Gilbert Roland, Katherine DeMille, Grant Richards, Tom Dugan, Harry Woods.

Leon Errol Comedy

In addition to the feature presentation "Isle of Destiny" the program includes Leon Errol also known as (rubber-legs) in his new and funniest comedy of the season "Truth Aches"; Latest Fox News events which presents pictures of the bombing of Berlin and other German cities, by the R.A.F. also an amusing all technicolor Walt Disney cartoon "The Practical Pig".

A great two feature show, another laugh hit by the author of "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town", Stuart Erwin and an all-star fun cast in "Mr Boggs Steps Out", also Hopalong Cassidy in "Silver on The Sage" an action-packed western, are both showing at the McCarthy Theatre in addition to the second chapter of "Terry and the Pirates".

AT THE CAPITOL

"Manhattan Heartbeat"

Madly in love with no money to get married! That's the situation that faces Robert Sterling and Virginia Gilmore in "Manhattan Heartbeat," new 20th Century-Fox film coming next to the Capitol Theatre. While returning from a vacation trip they meet, fall in love and later get married on practically nothing a week.

Their tender, human story, told with striking simplicity, impressed previewers and all reports indicate that moviegoers can expect a tender, romantic entertainment experience when the film opens

Featured with Sterling and Miss Gilmore, two promising newcomers, is a topnotch cast, including Joan Davis, Edmund MacDonald, Don Beddoes and Paul Harvey. Sterling, as the boy who tries to listen to his head, and Miss Gilmore, as the girl who makes him listen to his heart, are said to provide particularly fine presentations and Joan Davis and Edmund MacDonald help relieve the film's dramatic intensity with their lively down-to-earth comedy.

David Burton directed "Manhattan Heartbeat" and Sol M. Wurtzel was executive producer. The screen play is by Harold Buchman, Clark Andrews, Jack Jungmeyer, Jr., and Edith Skouras from a play by Vina Delmar and Brian Marlowe, based upon a novel by Vina Delmar.

On the same programme an action-filled feature from start to finish, "Trouble in Morocco" starring Jack Holt, Mae Clarke and C. Henry Gordon.

AT THE BELLE

"THE SEA HAWK"

"The Sea Hawk" starring Errol Flynn in the most glorious screen adventure of his career, has been scheduled by the Belle Theatre as the feature attraction, and is now playing. In the stellar supporting cast are Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robinson and Alan Hale.

Background of the stirring story of "The Sea Hawk" is England in the lusty days of Queen Elizabeth. Among England's heroes of the time are sea fighters, who prey on the Spanish galleons, stripping them of their rich booty and bringing it home to swell England's dwindling treasury. Most daring and fearless of these privateers is Geoffrey Thorpe, the role portrayed by Flynn.

The fortunes of England are at a low ebb, however, and King Philip of Spain, aided by Elizabeth's traitorous chancellor, is planning to attack and seize the weakened country. To further his plans he sends one of his most able men to England as ambassador. Thorpe attacks the ship which is bringing the ambassador and his lovely niece Maria (Brenda Marshall) to England. Maria scorns Thorpe as a pirate and a thief until he returns her jewel casket to her, and also points out that the Spanish ship she was on was propelled by several hundred galley slaves, all Englishmen. From that time on Maria and Thorpe are allies, bound together by mutual understanding as well as romantic inclination.

In secret conclave with the Queen, Thorpe outlines a plan whereby he can salvage considerable gold from the Spaniards in Panama. Before Maria can warn him that the Spaniards have learned of his plans, Thorpe sets sail for Panama. There he falls into the hands of the Spanish, and is impressed as a galley slave until he can be returned to Spain for trial by the Inquisition.

The dauntless sea hawk, however, still has a trick or two at his command. When the slave ship arrives in Cadiz, Thorpe steals a knife from one of the guards, frees himself and his men from their chains, and under cover of night, they daringly capture the "Madre Di Dios," and make a dash for the open sea. On the ship, Thorpe finds the documents he is looking for, which prove that Spain had planned to attack England.

Master Director of the action film, Michael Curtiz has directed "The Sea Hawk" with the emphasis on robust adventure, stirring sea fights, and daring duels, interspersed with tender romantic interludes. With Flynn in the tailor-made role of the daring sea hawk and a splendid supporting cast, "The Sea Hawk" is a glorious screen adventure that no one will want to miss thrilling to.

"Pluto the Pup" in Walt Disney's latest cartoon "Bone Trouble" precede the feature attraction.

JAPANESE BLAST CHINESE CAPITAL FROM THE AIR

Chungking, capital city of "Free China", rocks and trembles beneath fierce air-raid of Japanese bombing planes. Debris and smoke shoot high into the air, seeming to tower miles into the sky as the Japanese warbirds blast away. This was only one of the many raids to which this unfortunate city has been subjected. Although the ground beneath the city, and surrounding hills is said to be honeycombed with air-raid shelters, loss of life is still heavy in these raids.

For '41—Finest We've Done!

NOW ON DISPLAY
AT BUICK SHOWROOMS
EVERYWHERE

MORE ROOM —from longer, broader bodies

MORE POWER —from stepped-up FIREBALL engines

MORE COMFORT —from softer, steadier ride

MORE VALUE —any way you measure it!

THE FIREBALL* DOES IT!

Modern gasolines have high octane ratings to permit higher compressions without "ping." Note how this piston, which can be used only in valve-in-head engines, rolls the fuel charge into the shape of a flattened ball that centers around the new, smaller, racing-car type spark plugs. Fired at its very heart, this more highly compressed fuel lets go with such full-forced, "ping-free" wallop that any gasoline of 75 octane rating (now available at standard fuel prices) may be used in the 115-hp. engine. Any fuel of 80 octane rating serves in the 125- and 165-hp. engines.

*According to the Encyclopedia Britannica, a super meteor which travels with such a series of explosions like the shock waves of a great projectile is called a "FIREBALL".

With this advertisement, McLaughlin-Buick ushers in a brand-new automobile model year.

We've dreamed and schemed the last twelve months in our experimental and engineering divisions, constantly searching for new ideas and new values.

You don't stand still in this business. You go ahead or you fall back. And we're putting in what it takes to keep us on the march.

We've taken our greatest all-time Buick and steadily and carefully brought it forward to a perfection of action, ease, goodness beyond anything ever offered under our name.

We honestly mean that, as you will see when you look it over—more, when you drive it—most of all, when it serves you as your very own.

It's hard to picture the new 1941 Buicks fairly with old adjectives. Every car in all five series of the whole new line deserves unused fresh-minted language.

Stylewise, their suave and dynamic beauty refreshes the jaded eye as would sight of a hydrant in the desert.

They move and function like young wild things. They're all grace and poise and eagerness. They bring to driving and handling a keener pleasure and a new thrill.

Go see these superb new cars at your dealer's—they make plain why Buick is rightly called "exemplar of General Motors value."

Ask especially about the new micropoise-balanced FIREBALL engines—the 1941 furtherance of Buick's Dynaflash design and kingpin of all the features that make Buick the sensation of the new automobile year.

14-141

ONLY CAR IN THE WORLD WITH ALL THESE FEATURES

BUICK FIREBALL VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINES—115, 125 and 165 horsepower. Higher compression; better combustion, greater economy from design that makes the most of modern fuels.

MICROPOISE BALANCING AFTER ASSEMBLY—engines with less vibration per ounce than a fine wrist watch.

COIL SPRINGS ALL AROUND —no lubrication, no spring covers, no breakage, softer ride.

"MASS-STREAM" BODIES, BIGGER, ROOMIER—Unisteel Bodies by Fisher with concealed running boards and hidden hinges on all doors.

COMPOUND CARBURETION —reserve twin-barrel carburetor that cuts in as needed; greater brilliance with 30-mile economy at 50-mile speed.

PERMI-FIRM STEERING—freedom from steering wheel play over three or four times the usual service period.

DUREX MAIN BEARINGS—mechanical and chemical bond between babbitt and backing plate; and practically indestructible in normal service.

FORE-N-AFT DIRECTION SIGNAL (Automatic Cut-Off)—with rear signal flush-mounted in fender.

MASSIVE BUMPERS—with four front bumper guards, built-in front license frame, and new gravel guards.

PLUS: Full-Length Torque Tube in Sealed Chassis ★ Tiptoe Hydraulic Brakes ★ One-Piece "Lift-Off" Hood ★ Easier, Quieter Concentric Shifting ★ Built-in Automatic Choke ★ Heavy Duty Oil Bath Air Cleaners ★ Power-Saver Fan and Water Pump ★ Micro-Matched Connecting Rods ★ Sealed Beam Headlights ★ Two-Tone Body Colors ★ Safety Glass All Around.

"Best Buick Yet"

BE SURE TO SEE THE NEW 1941 BUICKS AT OUR SHOWROOMS

BUY WAR SAVINGS CERTIFICATES

Belleville Motor Car Co., Ltd.

208 Coleman at Bridge Street Telephone 340

Probabilities

Lower Lake Region— Moderate northeast winds; fair today and Tuesday with not much change in temperature.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	71	52
Year Ago	88	69

Rainfall: .13 inches.
Weather: Clear.

* *

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1940

BRITAIN TENSELY AWAITS HITLER'S NEXT MOVE

R.A.F. Inflicts Heavy Damage on Italian Motorized Units in N. W. Egypt

Hitler's Invasion Plans Impeded by R.A.F. Raids

Armored Cars and Guns Rain Shells On Fascist Columns

Early Fascist Successes Seen as Merely Occupation Of Desert Wastes

Cairo, Sept. 16 (AP).—Italian columns, heavily bombarded from the air and running into a constant stream of fire from British armored cars, have pushed twenty-five miles into Egypt to the village of Buqbuq, and the coastal road.

Tanks, armored cars and motorcycle units protected by bombing and fighting planes are leading Marshal Rudolfo Graziani's forces which have been advancing across the burning sands of the western desert since Saturday, British authorities said.

So far, they declared, little resistance has been put up and the Italians have been permitted to advance over "no man's land" with the British forces concentrating on inflicting casualties and smashing motor transport units. Native Libyan troops were said to be bearing the brunt of the guerilla warfare.

The Italian troops knifed down a Mediterranean coastal road yesterday and occupied desert villages—including Bir Nuh, seven miles south of Sollum, a port near the Egyptian-Libyan frontier, which, with the British-abandoned village of Musaid, was taken over by the Fascist force Saturday night.

The R.A.F. said its attacks were "successful" and that moving troops had been bombed, great damage inflicted on expeditionary equipment and many fires started in Italian held territory. There was no contact of ground forces, but British artillery and armored cars were pouring a constant heavy fire on the advancing Italians.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 16 (CP).—The weather has been comparatively cool over Ontario with showers in some districts. It has been fair in nearly all parts of the west, warm in Manitoba with moderate temperature in Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Lake Superior—Moderate east to southeast winds; fair today and most of Tuesday and becoming a little warmer, followed by scattered showers in western districts.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan — Mostly fair today and Tuesday with not much change in temperature; a few scattered thundershowers.

Alberta—Fair tonight and Tuesday with not much change in temperature; a few scattered thundershowers.

Alberta—Fair tonight and Tuesday with not much change in temperature.

	8 a.m.	High	Low
Victoria	56	65	54
Calgary	46	70	46
Edmonton	42	70	40
Sault Ste. Marie	48	68	44
Toronto	56	63	54
Ottawa	54	71	51
Quebec	53	58	51
Halifax	59	67	57
Detroit	58	70	55

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Mixing the air! Everybody knows that air is composed of various gases, each having a different density. But some think that if there were no wind to mix the air up, the gases would arrange themselves in layers according to their densities the densest at the bottom. But such is not the case. Each gas, acted upon by gravity only, would arrange itself as though none of the other gases were present, that is it would be dense at the bottom and rarer with elevation. Each gas interpenetrates all the others, therefore there would be a natural mixing even without wind. The proportions would be substantially the same as at the surface; except at the highest levels the lighter gases would predominate.

3 Persons Injured As Cars Miss Hitting Chicken

Cornwall, Ont., Sept. 16—(CP)— A chicken's life was saved but three persons were injured and two cars damaged when the automobiles met in a collision on the highway near here Sunday.

The injured were passengers in a car driven by Herbert Malcolm of Cornwall. They were Mrs. Herbert Malcolm and Mr. and Mrs. Alex Cross, all of Cornwall, who suffered cuts and bruists.

Malcolm's car smashed into one driven by Frank Alter of Toronto as they both attempted to avoid hitting the chicken crossing the road. Alter and his passenger, Wallace Wright of Niagara Falls, Ont., escaped injury. Damage to the cars was $450.

MEXICO MARKS ANNIVERSARY

President Cardenas Says Pan-American Solidarity to Guarantee Independence

Mexico City, Sept. 16 (AP).—Mexicans celebrated the 130th anniversary of their independence today with assurance from President Lazaro Cardenas that Pan-American solidarity would keep the Western Hemisphere secure against threats of conquest from abroad.

"There are neither hates nor ambitions strong enough to cause the American peoples to betray each other."

A carnival spirit prevailed throughout the nation as gaily-dressed throngs crowded decorated streets for the second day of the anniversary celebration. The persistent buzzing of reports that followers of Juan Andreu Almazan, defeated presidential candidate, might take the opportunity to demonstrate in support of his claim to the presidency and a statement by Cardenas that "some people" were trying to cause a rebellion in Mexico were the main sobering influences.

Berlin, Sept. 16 (AP).—Adolf Hitler today sent President Lazaro Cardenas of Mexico his best wishes on the occasion of Mexico's 130th anniversary of independence.

FOUR PERSONS KILLED

Van Wert, O., Sept. 16 (AP) — Four persons were killed here today when a Pennsylvania passenger train struck their automobile at a downtown crossing. The dead are Robert Heuck, Jr., 22, his sisters, Nancy, 13, and Janet, 10 and a nurse, Mrs. Clementine Sutteff, all of Cincinnati.

SAY JAPS MAY BE ALLOWED TO ENTER INDO-CHINA

Authoritative Sources in Hanoi Say Such Action Might Bring Chinese Troops Across Border

SAY MISSION FAILED

French Indo-China, it is Said, Fears to Arouse Japanese Feeling

By C. YATES McDANIEL
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Sept. 16 (AP). — Authoritative French, Japanese and other foreign sources expressed belief today that early developments may bring the Japanese army into this French possession, probably without any resistance by the French.

But this, they said, may prompt China to send forces across the frontier and lead to a conflict that might mean the beginning of the end of France's 60-year rule of this 230,000-square mile area in eastern Asia.

French officials refused to comment for publication. But privately they admit that negotiations under way here are most likely to result within a few days in an agreement permitting the Japanese army to land and supply possibly 25,000 troops.

Mission Sent to U.S. in July.

French sources said an Indo-China mission had been sent to the United States early in July, but had failed to obtain 300 warplanes and other material they sought. These sources said the mission also had failed to persuade the United States to divert planes from the Philipp-

(Continued on Page Five)

Shipping is Warned Of Approaching Storm

Washington, Sept. 16—(AP) — The United States Weather Bureau warned shipping along the northeastern Atlantic coast today that the tropical storm centred southeast of Nantucket, Mass., is still "dangerous with winds of full gale force."

At 10:30 (EST) advisory said: "Northeast storm warnings continued 10:30 a.m., Bock Island, R. I., to Esport, Me. Tropical storm central this morning about 250 miles southeast of Nantucket, Mass., moving northeastward about 23 miles per hour attended by gales over a wide area and by winds of hurricane force over a small area near its centre. Indications are storm centre will reach southwestern Nova Scotia late this afternoon or early tonight. No dangerous winds or tides expected on New England coast but tris is still a dangerous storm with winds of full gale force about 100 miles east and southeast of Nantucket. Caution advised vessels in path."

Long Daylight Alarm

London, Sept. 16—(CP)— The all clear signal sounded in London at 5:59 p.m. (12:59 p.m. EDT) to end the city's fourth air raid alarm since dawn, one of the longest daytime alarms of the war—three hours and 49 minutes.

British People Taking Nazi Air Bombardment Casually Says Author

London, Sept. 16—(CP)— Despite the grim features of the air raids, the British people are taking the Nazi air bombardment casually, J. B. Priestly, British author, said Sunday in a speech broadcast to North America by the British Broadcasting Corporation on the program "Britain speaks."

Britons were ready for an attempted invasion of Britain which might be made "in spite of the colossal smashes of our bombers at the ports facing us," he said.

The Germans faced a difficult proposition if they did make the attempt, with the power of the British navy and air force arrayed against them on the voyage across and with the British army waiting to ambush them at every turn in the crooked English roads.

"If I were a German soldier," he said, "I should take a very forlorn view of this enterprise and I would ask to be permitted to do my invading elsewhere even on the desert sands of Africa."

The prospective slaughter, however, would not deter the power-crazy rulers of Germany, the men who "piled up their dead like robots" on French battle-fields and "hadn't even the decency to tell their people of the losses." The same men gave misleading information about air losses and selected the planes for each raid from different squadrons.

"But when 100 planes are lost and the men are told only 10 were lost," even the Germans must begin to smell a rat, he said.

The British policy of understating of enemy losses and the correct statement of British losses might be bad propaganda at the moment but in the long run was sound "unless the whole world has suddenly become half-witted."

Invest in Freedom, Buy War Loan Bonds Says Hon. J. L. Ilsley

Last Monday we began the task of raising $300,000,000 to arm and equip Canada's fighting forces. That task is still uncompleted. I have therefore asked the press of Canada for their co-operation in enabling me to make this serious appeal to all Canadians.

Grave events transpire across the seas; grave events impend. In the ultimate issues, our all is at stake.

Canada needs you to put your money behind your men, for airplanes, tanks, ships, guns, munitions. That is the reason you were asked to subscribe to the Second War Loan.

I urge all of you at home who have not yet subscribed, to hasten that important duty, hearten our comrades. Delay can only hearten our foes.

To those who have subscribed I say: "Buy more bonds, unless your subscription really reflects your ability to lend."

"Especially do I direct this message to all those hundreds of thousands of men and women of moderate earnings and modest means. It is for them that the books are open.

"Their subscriptions, in vast numbers, not only register this nation's patriotic unity but help ensure a wider and healthier war-time and post-war distribution of purchasing power in the form of earnings.

Safe and income-earning investment though your subscription is, it is in another sense the greatest, soundest investment opportunity you could seize; an investment in human freedom for you and your children.

In this hour we fight to save all we have from destruction, ourselves from enslavement. We fight for the precious, priceless, right to live our lives in liberty.

It is for this country, this freedom, that our men in arms are risking—giving— their lives, in the air, on the sea, and on the land. Those of us who do not bear arms must bear our dollars to the colors to support those who do.

Large subscribers, institutions, corporations responded quickly and encouragingly—sure evidence of their sense of safe investment value as well as their sense of patriotic duty.

To those of more modest means, as to all Canadians, I stress this solemn appeal; recruit your earnings, your savings, quickly to the colors. Buy War Loan Bonds. Invest now in human freedom.

J. L. ILSLEY,
Minister of Finance.

NAZI PRESS SAYS SWEDEN PAPERS INSULT GERMANY

Finds Fault With Government for Not Reprimanding Paper Reporting Terrorism in Reich

CRITICIZED HITLER

Berlin, Sept. 16—(AP)— The German press launched a concentrated attack today on the Swedish government and press, charging that certain newspapers in Sweden deliberately insult Germany.

Hitler's newspaper Voelkischer Beobachter headed the procession by finding fault with the Swedish government for reprimanding one paper which asserted that the British occupation forces in Iceland had resorted to terrorism, but failing to reprimand another which charged that terrorism was used in Germany.

The Berliner Boersenzeitung found the Swedish press unneutral in permitting unfavorable criticism of Hitler's speech of Sept. 4 forecasting intensified air assaults on Britain.

Major James Inrig, Lt. J. McKibbon, Picton And Soldier Injured

Barrie, Sept. 16—(CP)— While on their way home to Picton, two officers and a soldier of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, Camp Borden, were injured in an auto accident. The car in which they were riding overturned on highway No. 90, 10 miles west of Barrie.

The trio were moved to Camp Borden military hospital, where medical investigation revealed their injuries were not serious. The men were Major James Inrig, 40, who was driving, Lieut J. McKibbon, 44, and Private C. Michaud, 43, who had a sprained back.

"SUICIDE SQUAD" LEADER DOESN'T THINK OF DEATH

Lieut. Robert Davies, Canadian Who Saved St. Paul's, Describes Task as Easy One

HOW BOMB IS BLOWN

By LOUIS HUNTER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 16 (CP). — Lieut. Robert Davies, the Canadian who saved St. Paul's, is a "tough guy" and looks it.

Today's hero of the second great war is a fellow who "just doesn't think of death"—those deadly duties of rendering harmless "Goering's eggs"—those deadly delayed action bombs.

He is a native of St. Catharines, Ont., is 40, and has a commission in the Royal Engineers. (Lieut. Davies had previously been reported erroneously as an officer of the Royal Canadian Engineers.)

He described the task of removing the bomb from St. Paul's as "just an ordinary job."

The leader of the small suicide squad which toiled and sweated for 3½ days to remove the bundle of death from the dean's yard near the west end of the cathedral, not only removed the fuse from the bomb—it is a touchy job he will not ask any of his men to do—but drove the bomb in a lorry through three miles of London's streets to Hackney marshes where it was detonated.

"The biggest thrill was that I had speed cops escorting me and the road was mine," was how he described the latter part of the adventure that has made him the talk of all London town.

Although this bomb—almost half a ton in weight—was the biggest to land in London to date, the Canadian officer did not regard it as anything special.

Treats All With Respect.

"I treat all bombs with healthy respect," he said.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

PRISONER ESCAPES FROM INTERNMENT CAMP IN ONTARIO

Civilian Makes Get-Away Into Rugged Bush Country

SEVENTH TO ESCAPE

All Except One Man, Now in U.S., Have Been Recaptured

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Internment operations headquarters said today a German civilian prisoner escaped during the night from a Northern Ontario Internment camp.

Officials said the prisoner, who escaped under the wire fence surrounding the camp, was Fritz Fuchs. He is about five feet, nine inches tall, has dark brown hair, grey eyes and a sallow complexion. He weighs about 160 pounds and has a dagger tattoed on his upper left arm.

Fuchs, who speaks fairly good English, was missed when the roll was called this morning. Officials said he has a relative in New York.

The Northwestern Ontario camp from which the prisoner escaped is deep in the rock and bush country not far from the International boundary.

Internment headquarters said a search for the escaped prisoner had been started as soon as his absence was noted.

This man was the seventh to escape from Ontario prison camps since a large number of Nazis—civilians and from the armed services—were brought to this country for internment. The other six were all recaptured and all but one of them is back behind barbed wire. The exception is a civilian who escaped from the same camp as the present escaper. He is held by United States Immigration authorities at International Falls, Minn.

Three other escapes were made from a camp in the Muskoka summer resort district and two men had a short period of precarious freedom in the rough country near Sudbury.

Militiamen Injured On Military Duty Eligible for Pension

Ottawa, Sept. 16—(CP)—Militiamen injured in performance of military duty in the training centres set up for men called under the National Resources Mobilization Act will be eligible for pension, it was learned today.

They come under the same provisions as all members of the non-permanent active militia. The decision as to whether a particular injury was received while performing military duty, in cases of doubt, is a matter for the Canadian pensions commission.

Bomb Penetrates Theatre Roof

London (CP)—The Press Association said last night that a high explosive bomb hit and penetrated the roof of a movie theatre where there was an audience of 300, including many children. Four children and two adults were killed and 20 injured.

Base Activities Across Channel Shrouded by Rain

London Undergoes Four Air Raid Alarms Without Much Damage Being Inflicted

London, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Persistent German pilots kept London under almost continual raid alarms today, causing the sirens to shriek three times before noon and battling the capital's defenders high over city streets in a fourth raid which was still in progress after three hours.

Salvoes of long-range artillery shells plunge into the streets of Dover, the "invasion corner", injuring eleven persons. The Germans opened fire in reply to a British bombardment.

Dull explosions were heard on various sides of the capital as the Germans made sporadic attacks during the fourth raid which began at 2.10 p.m. (9.10 a.m. E.D.T.). Machine-gun fire, the racing of motors and moderate anti-aircraft activity sounded around London.

German planes still were reported over London as the raid continued into its fourth hour although for some time comparative quiet had reigned in the centre of the city.

The Press Association reported that a single bomber dived from the clouds over one residential district and dropped its load.

A mother was reported killed when her home, one of three hit, was shattered. Her three children were treated for shock at the hospital.

The big German shells fell in Dover streets as correspondents in the "invasion corner" of Britain continued to report movements of many German troop carriers, of all shapes and sizes, close along the French and Belgian coasts under cover of night and mists.

It was understood that the German guns were replying to a bombardment of the French coast by British long range guns which fired about two dozen shells across the channel.

Heavy Rainfall On Channel.

For the first time in weeks, heavy rainfall partly shrouded the activities at Hitler's bases across the channel.

Veteran seamen hoped a "stiff nor' easter" soon would pile up high waves on the French coast which would make impossible any immediate thrust across the narrow waters.

Alarms of a total duration of an hour and 54 minutes were sounded in the London area. They were respectively of 35, 40 and 41 minutes—at 9:56 a.m. (4:57 a.m. EDT), 10:55 a.m. (5:55 a.m. EDT), and 12:09 p.m. (7:09 a.m. EDT).

During the first alarm a large formation of bombers was encountered inland by British fighters, who turned it back. There was anti-aircraft activity in London during the third alarm, but the hundreds of batteries were silent throughout the second.

Interspaced in the long night attack was a half-hour "silent" raid in which large numbers of time bombs or duds were dropped on London without exploding.

These thrusts followed a 9½-hour night attack and a series of Sunday mass raids in which Britain scored her greatest air victory of any single day of the war—185 German planes shot down on British soil.

Small Houses Demolished

A number of casualties, some fatal, were caused when two time bombs exploded in Southeast London in slightly more than an hour. The first demolished some small houses, burst a gas main and left a large crater in a road.

The second tore away the rear of a Catholic School, scattering furniture and leaving pictures, including one of the Madonna, intact on a top floor.

Three hospitals were among the targets of the night raiders but no patients were hurt. The only casualty was a doctor who received a severe cut.

Two high explosive bombs in North London during the night left families homeless and blasted every pane of glass from the windows of houses and shops within a quarter mile, but there were no fatal casualties.

Five occupants of one of the houses were buried in debris when it collapsed but all were rescued suffering only bruises. The sixth member of the family, a boy aged five, was blown from the house by the force of the explosion but was not hurt.

In a southeast district, a high explosive bomb dropped during the night demolished three houses, damaged 20 stores and broke windows in 200 houses, but only three people were slightly injured.

INVASION PORTS BOMBED BY RELAYS OF BRITISH PLANES

France, Belgium, Holland and Norway Under Constant Attacks for Weeks

By J. F. SANDERSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 16 (CP Cable). Hitler's invasion plants have been seriously impeded by intense bombing raids by Royal Air Force planes, it is believed in authoritative quarters here.

Night after night, the invasion ports of France, Belgium, Holland and Norway have been bombed by relays of British planes in an attempt to dislocate troop and shipping concentrations, and damage and destroy loading and transport facilities.

These nightly raids have not prevented the Germans from marshalling their forces on the other side of the Channel, but they have dislocated their facilities, inflicted severe losses, and added greatly to the general complexity of the operations, it is believed here.

While the threat of imminent invasion hangs over this country the main efforts of R.A.F. bombers must be focused on the invasion ports, but this work is regarded merely as a diversion from the primary work of raiding military and industrial objectives in Germany and German-occupied territory.

For months the R.A.F. has been working on a long-range bombing policy designed to cripple Germany's wartime industry but this has had to be interrupted in part to give priority to the invasion threat.

'We Are Relighting Fires of Faith To Match Opposing Fires of Hatred'

New York, Sept. 16—(CP)— Democracy is one of the noblest visions ever given to man "but it has been taken for granted and too casually by some who have come to regard it as extra leisure, extra comfort, extra idleness," believes the English author, James Hilton.

"We enjoyed our liberties as a man enjoys a heavy nap after lunch," Hilton said last night in an address over the national network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. He spoke at the invitation of the director of public information in Ottawa on the weekly feature "Let's Face the Facts."

"We thought of our liberties in those terms but there is a realization now that this was not enough," he said. "We are already relighting the fires of faith to match the opposing fires of hatred. We may yet be in time."

The fires burned low, but they would not die of neglect. "Our task is to defeat the great conspiracy that threatens to put them out by force. It is a conspiracy, to reverse by a lightning blow the verdict of mankind after centuries of struggle—the verdict of the defendant individual against a prosecuting autocracy."

Seeking the cause of the present events, Hilton said that he would not exalt Hitler to the point of supposing that without his existence the world would have been a paradise. "But if Hitler had died 10 years ago, or were to die tomorrow, the battle would remain to be fought."

It was not a new battle. But no ancient tyrant approached the power to put out all lamps at once. "Today that is possible. It is the unique and terrifying climax to which modern scientific technique has pushed an age-long struggle."

Acquisition of air bases on British Empire soil by the United States in exchange for destroyers was a sign of the "beginning of the consolidation of a new empire of faith and purpose.

Coming Events

THE HOSPITAL AUXILIARY will hold its first Autumn meeting on Tuesday, September 17, 3 p.m. in the Nurses' Residence. Election of officers. Please attend. S16-1t

BINGO, FOR WAR PURPOSES, Monday and Tuesday evenings, Sept. 16, 17, Moose and Knights of Columbus Halls. Auspices Catholic Women's League. Voucher prizes. Voucher door prize each night. S16-1t

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

ACUSTOPHONE SYSTEM DONATED TO CHURCH IS DEDICATED

With a few simple words of prayer spoken by Rev. W. J. Walker at the Sunday morning service, the gift of a new Acustophone amplification system was yesterday dedicated to St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

The gift of the new amplification system, given by Mrs. Marjory O'Flynn in memory of her mother, Mrs. D. M. Watters, will be much appreciated by members of the congregation who are unfortunate in being afflicted with hearing difficulties.

At present there are nine individual receiving units stationed throughout the pews for use by the congregation who require them. Each receiving unit has a controlling feature which enables the user to adjust the amplification to any required volume. The receiving sets are connected by wire with a microphone in the pulpit.

JUNIOR AND PREP CLASSES ON OUTING

Autumn weather and hiking seem to go hand in hand, or so report the Junior and Prep classes of the local "Y" who on Friday afternoon and Saturday enjoyed one of the best outings of the seasons.

On Friday afternoon the Junior and Prep girls "hiked" up the west side of the river to Cannifton where they had a ball game and as supper time arrived, lit a huge bonfire over which they roasted wieners before making their way back to the city.

Early Saturday morning about 25 boys of the Junior and Prep classes started out on a bicycle hike, spending most of the day in the vicinity of Massassaga where the boys enjoyed themselves to the full, indulging in a full program of sports and swimming. The party was in charge of Ben Ogilvie, Jack Salz and Bob Knox.

WHEREABOUTS OF MAN SOON LOCATED

Response to City Clerk Wilfred Holmes' request for information regarding one Gifford Rankin, as asked for by the Toronto Office of the Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, was not long forthcoming. Mr. Rankin, who lives near Napanee, saw the request in the columns of this newspaper on Saturday, and immediately got in touch with Mr. Holmes.

DOUGLAS McINTOSH JOINS FLYING CLUB

Douglas McIntosh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack McIntosh, 275 John Street, left today for Galt, Ontario, where he will join the flying club there preparatory to his admission into the Royal Canadian Air Force.

UNEMPLOYMENT FIGURES LOWER

Said to be the lowest figure in years, unemployment registration figures at the local Employment Office have dropped 50 per cent. from those of a year ago, officials said today. Approximately 311 persons of both sexes are now registered as against 768 of September last year. War conditions are responsible in the main for the decrease, it was stated. Registration represents persons from all parts of the district.

It Pays to Shop at The Rexall Store.
4 CAKES
Cashmere Bouquet Soap
with sample of FACE POWDER
All for
23c
McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

35 YEARS IN BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY and PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

LEONA RIGGS
RESUMES CLASSES in PIANO, VOICE, THEORY.
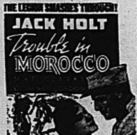
Telephone 50
S16-18-30

VITAMIN PRODUCTS
●
FRESH STOCKS OF ALL MAKES CAPSULES OR LIQUIDS FOR BUILDING UP RESISTANCE
We'll gladly advise you as to type best suited. Preventive dosage should start Now.
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST. Ph. 105



CAPITOL
Now Showing
2—GRAND HITS—2
The World is Full of Swell Kids Like These.
Manhattan Heartbeat
A tender, human story ...a grand picture!
ROBERT STERLING
VIRGINIA GILMORE
JOAN DAVIS
EDMUND MacDONALD
DON BEDDOE
PAUL HARVEY
ADDED HIT
ACTION! ADVENTURE!
THE LEGION SMASHES THROUGH!
JACK HOLT
Trouble in MOROCCO
Plus: CARL HOFF BAND
●
Complete Shows 7 - 9.15

Prank Backfires On Perpetrator

What was intended to be a harmless prank resulted in some embarrassment for a member of the Royal Canadian Air Force the other night. Standing near the corner of Front Street and the city market, Plainclothesman Fred Isard, saw the blue-clad airman deposit a "No Parking Sign", he had taken from a point on Upper Front Street, beside a parked truck.

Stepping back, the airman reviewed his work in an appreciative manner. He dusted his hands and grinned in appreciation. Then the law stepped in. Questioning revealed the prank had been done "for a joke" with nothing serious intended. The police officer admonished the youthful airman, with instructions to return the sign from whence it came. A few minutes later, a red-faced young aircraftsman strolled slowly up Front Street with the heavy sign on a shoulder, while comrades, attracted by the scene, indulged in some wholehearted "ribbing."

Hospital Auxiliary Grateful for Fine Response of Public

A total of $353.00 was realized by the Hospital Auxiliary from their tag day held on Saturday. Auxiliary officers are particularly grateful for the very generous response of the public in donating to this humanitarian cause.

"The people were very kind and generous, they couldn't have been more thoughtful and we are very grateful for the response," stated an officer of the Women's Auxiliary this morning.

POLICE COURT

When the name of John Butler, 17-year-old Detroit youth, was called in city police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., today, Chief Kidd revealed the fact that the lad had obtained employment on a farm in Ameliasburg Township. Butler was arrested last week on a charge of stealing a windbreaker, left for display in front of Goodman's haberdashery. Last Friday Butler was given into the custody of Major Alderman of the Salvation Army who procured employment for the youth. His Worship suspended sentence for a period of three months.

Joseph Iseman, Toronto, appeared on a charge of the theft of $11.00, the property of Alex McLaren. As Crown Attorney S. G. Robertson was not prepared to continue the case, owing to the absence of Crown witnesses, Iseman was admitted to $250.00 cash bail.

Several charges of infractions of the Traffic Act were introduced by Chief Kidd, all accused persons implicated having entered written pleas of guilty and minimum fines were paid previous to today's court.

A juvenile case was heard in camera at the close of the morning's regular court. The case arose out of the theft of a wrist watch which was stolen by the accused juvenile, but recovered by Detective Fred Isard. The lad was given into the custody of his father as his case was enlarged today.

Police Blotter

Despite the efforts of city police in the apprehension of two local juveniles last week, who admitted the stealing of money from milk bottles left for collection, again the pilfering of cash from milk bottles was reported on Ann St. over the weekend.

Reg. Moncrieff reported the theft of an eleven plate storage battery, which was stolen from his motor boat. The boat was moored in Mr. Moncrieff's personal boat house at the foot of George St. when the battery was stolen.

Cobourg police reported the theft of a 1938 model Pontiac sedan over the weekend. The vehicle was equipped with Ontario licence plates number 8-N-482.

Officials of the Tweed Milling Company, Albion St., asked police protection in the matter of so many window panes being broken in their plant. Mischievous lads throwing stones in the general direction of the premises are believed responsible.

Otherwise no serious crime was reported locally over the weekend.

Failure to Produce Registration Card Brings a Fine

As the result of a motor accident at the intersection of Yeomans and West Moira Streets shortly after midnight Saturday night, two charges were preferred against Arnold Lever, Noranda motorist, in today's police court held before Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C. Lever was not only charged with careless driving, but also of failing to produce his registration certificate, contrary to the National Registration Act. The accused young man paid the minimum fines in both incidents.

Lever was proceeding north on Yeomans Street when his automobile was in collision with a west bound vehicle, being driven on West Moira Street by Ross G. Fisher, of Frankford. Considerable damage resulted to both vehicles. When city police arrived to investigate Lever was unable to produce his National Registration card. Lever settled both fines out of court.

Blinded by Lights Motorist Turns Car Over in Ditch

When he was blinded by the lights of an approaching automobile, a motor car driven by Gordon S. Dingman, 375 Front St., crashed into the ditch on Highway No. 41, north of Napanee, last night. Mrs Dingman, who was a passenger with her husband, sustained a fractured leg, injured knee and abrasions to the right foot to such an extent, that skin graft was necessary in the Belleville General Hospital last night following the accident. Dr. R. M. Anderson was the attending physician. Cut by flying glass Mr. Dingman also sustained severe facial lacerations.

When Mr. Dingman became blinded by the glaring headlights of an approaching automobile, he swerved his car to the right to avoid possible collision. The rear wheels of the vehicle struck loose gravel on the side of the road, causing the car to turn over in the ditch. Mr. Dingman reported to Sergeant Arthur Booth after bringing his wife to the hospital.

PRINCESS HELEN NOW IN RUMANIA

Begins Duties of Queen Mother in Country That Has Been Fashioned to Nazi Pattern

Bucharest, Sept. 16 —(AP)— Princess Helen undertook today the duties of a Queen Mother—ending nearly a decade of exile to return to the side of her son, Michael, once again king of Rumania.

As Queen Mother, Helen—henceforth to be known as "Regina Mama Elena"—returned to the huge Rumanian royal palace vacated only a week ago by Carol II, who divorced and exiled her and who is himself now an exile living temporarily in Spain.

Gen. Ion Antonescu's new Iron Guard state prayed and cheered yesterday as the youthful new king brought his mother to Bucharest. Antonescu, who has taken the title "Leader of the National Guard State and Chief of the Iron Guard Regime," arranged the homecoming as a climax to transformation of the country into the Nazi pattern.

A GOOD WATCH

Shelton, Neb., Sept. 16 (AP).—B. M. Bentley lost his watch while ploughing. That was twenty-five years ago, but he found it two years later. Two years ago he lost it while ploughing. Now it has been found again—and it still keeps good time.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

Tonight—Hume Arena
Professional Wrestling

Tag Day for the Blind
BELLEVILLE
Saturday Next
HELP THE BLIND TO HELP THEMSELVES.
Support the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.
S16-18-30

FOX'S PEACHES
Supreme in Quality
Tree Ripened
Defuzzed
We invite you to visit our Packing House and Salesroom near
TRENTON
LOCATION On No. 2 Highway, two miles west of Town at Frank Hendrick's Apple Storage.
There you will see thousands of bushels of high-grade peaches arriving in bulk, fresh daily, direct from our trees in Norfolk County.
You will see these fine peaches being graded, packed, lenoed, labeled and made ready for the various markets located in your vicinity.
BUY FOX'S PEACHES
AND YOU WILL NOT BE DISAPPOINTED.
Phone TRENTON 805 Ring 2
S11-58

YOU LOOK SMARTER WHEN YOU STAND STRAIGHTER!
Look at the Results of these Remarkable Shadowgraph Tests
This test is one of many searching laboratory studies that confirm the benefits of Dr. M. W. Locke Shoes.
Your shoes have a very definite effect on your posture—make a noticeable difference in the way you look in your smart new clothes. Recent laboratory tests proved that Dr. M. W. Locke Shoes often help bring the body back to its normal "posture line"—reducing the danger of unattractive sagging and that common fault, the "sway back." The shoes developed by famed Dr. Locke are not only comfortable, they're better for your appearance! Let our trained shoe men fit you—soon.
Leslie's Shoe Store
255 FRONT STREET PHONE 553

OBITUARY

LATE THOMAS GERALD LYNCH

Saturday afternoon the funeral of Thomas Gerald Lynch took place from his residence, 302 Coleman Street, to Christ Church where the burial office of the Church of England was conducted by the rector, the Rev. G. G. Wright, who said also the committal service at the graveside in Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. Charles Meagher, William Beare, William Cook, George Lee, Frank Domenico and Thomas O'Hara.

The funeral was largely attended, the church being filled to capacity and there was a wealth of beautiful floral tributes.

LATE MRS. FRANCES PERRY
(Thomasburg)

The funeral of Mrs. Frances Perry, widow of Roland Perry, and late residence Thomasburg, took place Sunday afternoon from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, to Christ Church (Anglican) in Thomasburg, where the burial office was conducted by the rector, the Rev. P. C. Beaser, who said also the committal service at the graveside in Thomasburg cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. G. Evans, H. Carter, W. Bushel, C. Clapp, York Bushel and M. Rose.

LATE JAMES BROWNSON
(Thurlow Township)

Funeral service for James Brownson, late residence Thurlow Township, was conducted in the chapel at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street, on Saturday afternoon, by the Rev. W. J. Davis.

Interment was made in Victoria cemetery; the service at the graveside was conducted by the same minister.

The bearers were Messrs. M. Jones, E. Horton, J. Reynolds, F. Hicks, W. Meyers and A. Scott.

R. H. McCONNELL
(Port Steele, B.C.)

R. H. McConnell, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. R. J. McConnell Melrose, Ontario, died in the hospital at Cranbrook, B.C., on Sept 8th.

The late Mr. McConnell was well known and highly esteemed in the Melrose District and his passing has brought sincere regret to his old friends. He served all through the last Great War, and visited friends in Ontario before returning to British Columbia, where he since resided.

Left to mourn his loss are his wife; one son, Herbert; one brother, Mr. J. J. McConnell, Port Hope; four sisters, Mrs. James McCreary, Mrs. J. W. Rollins, both of Plainfield; Mrs. S. M. Provins, Deseronto, and Mrs. James Bunnett, Belleville.

MRS. WALTER HARRISON

Thomasburg.—The funeral of Mrs. Walter Harrison was held from her home to Thomasburg United Church on Saturday, September 14th, at 2 p.m.

Rev. Mr. Doggett preached a very impressive sermon, Mrs. Alfred Davis of Tweed rendered a very beautiful solo, "I Shall Know Him", and Mrs. Doggett also sang a very appealing solo, "City Four Square". The Sister Rebekahs held their memorial service at the grave.

Mrs. Harrison was formerly Charlotte Palmateer, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Katen Palmateer of Buller Siding. She was a member of Thomasburg United Church and a member of the Crescent Rebekah Lodge.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing husband, one son, Mr. Albert Forsythe of Syracuse, and a daughter, (Nellie) Mrs. R. Southworth of Toronto. They were by a former marriage. Two daughters from the present family, (Mildred) Mrs. Grantly Burleigh, of Roslin, and (Laura) Mrs. Prentice, of Toronto.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the sorrowing relatives.

The bearers were near neighbors, namely, Albert Porter, William Grills, Willard McTaggart, Matthew English, Ervine Bateman and Harry Kennedy.

The flower tributes were beautiful and were carried by nephews and grandsons of the deceased.

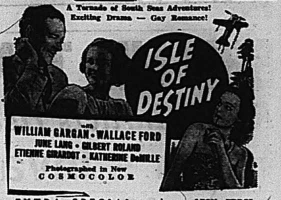
TABERNACLE W.M.S.

The regular monthly meeting was held in the church parlours. The meeting opened with the singing of the National Anthem followed by prayer by the President for King and country in this time of war and confusion. The minutes were read and the treasurer reported.

The theme of the worship service was given by the President, "Living the Christian Life". The Scripture reading was given by Mrs. Lent and a hymn and prayer followed. Mrs. Doherty was called on, who gave in her own original way, the report of the "The School for Leaders", held at Whitby in August. The new study book and the blue book were topics of study there. Those present then formed into a semi-circle and several took part in the study of the "Life of Rev. James Evans". Meeting closed with prayer.

"WIMPY" REYNOLDS HAS FRACTURED LEG

Local softball fans will be sorry to learn that "Wimpy" Reynolds, right fielder for the Shell "Oilers" is confined to the military hospital at Petawawa suffering from a broken leg as the result of an accident while playing softball at the military camp. "Wimpy" was left behind when the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) N.P.A.M. returned to the city last evening from Petawawa and will be confined to the hospital for the next two weeks.



Tonight Tuesday Wednesday
DAILY 2.30 p.m. 7.10 p.m. 9.10 p.m.
AIR CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
A Tornado of South Seas Adventures!
Exciting Drama — Gay Romance!
ISLE OF DESTINY
with WILLIAM GARGAN • WALLACE FORD
JUNE LANG • GILBERT ROLAND
ETIENNE GIRARDOT • KATHERINE DeMILLE
Photographed in New COSMOCOLOR
EXTRA SPECIAL
FOX NEWS — crammed with sensational International Scenes, including Bombing Raids on Berlin and other German Cities.
LEON ERROL COMEDY "TRUTH ACHES"
WALT DISNEY CARTOON

Members of City's N.P.A.M. Units Resume Harness of Civil Life

Bronzed young militiamen, members of the city's non-permanent active militia units, stepped back into character today with the memory of two weeks intensive camp training still fresh in their minds.

Tanned young faces, bodies hardened by the new strange life, and a new perspective on things military, took their accustomed places in the whirl of city industry and business. With their return employers heaved a sigh of relief as they let down their figurative shirtsleeves and resumed their more familiar role in executive capacities.

Today city offices, factories, shops and other places of employment rang with the reminiscences of the past two weeks. The glory and glamor, the hardships and joys, of military camp-life lacked nothing through the telling. Route marches, parades, P.T. drills, manoeuvres that are incidental to training in a summer camp, were repeated, in some cases, with dramatic touches by the militiamen.

However, there were "no complaints" according to the majority of the men with whom a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer talked. The food was good. There was a little discomfort at first with sleeping facilities, but this wore off and the tent-life soon became familiar.

No Sleeping In At Camp

"The army has a very thorough way of getting one out of bed in the morning," grinned a tanned youngster today. "You roll over twice after going to bed, and a gun booms. Later the band parades up and down outside the tents, and you realize there is but one thing you can do, and that is get up." But that was all in the day's work, he added, "This morning," he continued, laughing, "I 'slept in' until 7.30 a.m."

According to other members of the units, the training period was one which "we would not have missed for the world." True there were a few grouches at first, but the boys proved their adaptability to the new environment and all was well.

A new conception of camaraderie was learned by the majority of the city's civilian soldiers, another asserted. Fraternizing, shoulder to shoulder, with men of your own age, under military discipline, sharing the joys and hardships of a brand new life with each starting from "scratch" as it were, from this was born a new conception of human nature. One learns to know his neighbor, as it is impossible to do in any other phase of life.

Smart Appearance

The smart, efficient appearance of the troops as they swung through city streets Sunday night to the music of their regimental bands, bespoke results of intensive training such as could not have been realized unless personal enthusiasm, competent instructors and capable officers were distinctive parts of a whole that has transformed raw recruits into well-drilled units.

PHILADELPHIA IS FOCAL CENTRE

Developments in City of Friends Indicates Steps in U.S. Defence

Philadelphia, Sept. 16 —(AP)— Philadelphia becomes a focal point in the United States defence picture today with these developments:

1. Laying the keel of the 45,000-ton battleship New Jersey, first of five scheduled for construction here.

2. Sale at a sheriff's auction of Cramp's Shipyard, famous for naval building during the last war but idle for more than 10 years to satisfy $1,300,000 in defaulted taxes and $1,000,000 in Federal claims and clear the way for its reopening.

3. Formation of a special squad of 1,650 detectives and policemen to guard against sabotage and spies in the vital defence industries of the Philadelphia area.

Under wartime restrictions with admittance limited to officials and a few individuals, the navy arranged for Charles Edison, its former assistant secretary, to weld together two plates resting on the keel block of the $93,000,000 floating fortress. Work on the battleship was started two months ahead of schedule because of the speed-up in defence preparations. It will be four years or more, however, before the New Jersey joins the fleet.

The keel of a sister ship, the Iowa, was laid in Brooklyn Navy Yard recently.

Predicts Germany Will Open Peace Offensive Within a Fortnight

Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 16 (CP).—Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies predicted in a speech today that Germany would open a peace offensive within a fortnight to top off the nerve-shattering effect of the incessant bombing of London and England. The prime minister said he felt sure Britain would refuse to make peace "until the evils the Nazis have built up have been purged away."

CHOLERA SWEEPS FUKIEN

Hong Kong, Sept. 16 (AP).—Chinese dispatches said today that 5,000 Chinese have died in the last month in a cholera epidemic which is sweeping the coastal regions of Fukien Province. Foochow was among the cities affected by the outbreak. Meanwhile, the cholera epidemic which started here on Aug. 23 continues unabated.

All Of Romance, Adventure, Thrills In One Great Picture!
ERROL FLYNN
TOPPING ALL OTHER ADVENTURES!
The Sea Hawk
with Brenda MARSHALL
Claude RAINS
He won his greatest Victory in the battle for her heart!
◆
PLUTO THE PUP CARTOON.
◆
SEE IT Tonight
BELLE
Daily 2.30, 7.00, 9.15

Industry Advised to Take on Additional Men Ready to Fill Vacancies Created by Training

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Canadian Industry is being advised to take on additional men to be ready to fill, temporarily, the places of those called up for compulsory military training, and to provide for permanent vacancies which may be created by men voluntarily enlisting in the Canadian Active Service Force.

Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services, said in an interview Sunday that one of the immediate tasks of the human resources branch of his department would be to co-operate with industry in meeting any skilled labor shortage resulting from the training program.

The Minister estimated Friday that one-eighth of the men called for training would want to stay in uniform and would join the Canadian Active Service Force. On the basis of 240,000 men called each year for training, this would be 30,000 joining the C.A.S.F. from this source.

A great volume of information on the skilled labor available in Canada is contained in the forms completed during National Registration of all persons of 16 years or more concluded last month.

Collect and Classify Information

This information will be collected and classified for the use of the Human Resources branch which will be in a position to advise industry that men are available. The aim will be to make it unnecessary for any industry to become disrupted by absence of men in military training or on active service.

First task of the Human Resources Branch that of providing the National Defence Department with recruits for military training—would have concluded the initial stage in about 3 1-3 weeks, the Minister said.

By that time the Defence Department will have received about 30,000 physically fit men for the first training period of 30 days, starting October 9. This work will be continuous, however, as successive training periods are held at the rate of eight in each 12 months.

The Human Resources branch will also concern itself with possibilities of providing training of men and women for work which would add to the efficiency of the war effort.

Up to the present this branch has been handled by Mr. Justice T. C. Davis of the Saskatchewan Court of Appeal, and Maj. Gen. L. R. LaFleche, former Deputy Minister of Defence, Associate Deputy Ministers of the New Department.

$51,800,000 to Be Raised This Week to Complete War Loan

Small Bank Depositors Urged to Invest in Three Per Cent War Bonds

WISE, PATRIOTIC

Ottawa, Sept. 16.—(CP)— The second week of Canada's second War Loan Campaign opened today with a concerted drive to rally the support of a greater proportion of people of modest means.

The campaign was $51,800,000 short of reaching its $300,000,000 objective as Navy Minister Macdonald called on small bank depositors like himself to do both themselves and their country a good turn by taking some of their savings out of the banks and buying three-per cent war bonds.

Mr. Macdonald in a nation-wide broadcast last night over The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation network, said the money was available in the banks. There was more than $1,000,000,000 on deposit in savings accounts of less than $1000 each and it was to owners of such deposits he appealed particularly.

"If everyone who has less than $1,000 in the savings banks withdrew his savings and invested them in these bonds, the entire loan would be oversubscribed", the Minister said.

Advantages

There was every reason why people should withdraw their money from the banks for this purpose. They would get more than double the interest the banks gave them, by buying war bonds. It was safe wise, patriotic and necessary.

The war was costing a great deal but Mr. Macdonald warned that the alternative would be worse. One had only to picture conditions in the countries Germany had overrun to realize this. France for instance, was paying $8,000,000 a day to maintain the German army of occupation.

To Assure Freedom

"What would Canada have to pay if we should lose this war? Let us think of that before we say carelessly that the buying of these bonds is a trifling matter and not of our concern".

The money was needed to pay for the training and equipping of Canada's armed forces which would stand with those of Britain "in our defence as well as hers".

There was the example of the British folks in their present hour of trial and Canada's own forces ready to show their mettle.

"Let it not be said of the rest of us, those who cannot fight, that we have failed our armed forces, that we are not as good as our English civilian brothers . . . . Never has a people shown itself more worthy of defence. Never has a country had more gallant defenders".

ROYAL ARCH MASONS ATTEND DIVINE SERVICE

Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Rector of St. Thomas Church, Delivers Inspiring Sermon

150 IN PARADE

Capitular Masons of the Royal Arch degree from throughout the length and breadth of the Prince Edward District, No. 11, R.A.M., G.R.C., attended divine service in a body at St. Thomas' Anglican Church yesterday. Upwards of 150 members of the R.A.M. paraded from the Masonic Temple despite the inclement weather. Rev. Comp. A. Beauchamp Payne, rector of St. Thomas' Church, delivered the morning's discourse based on the teachings of Royal Arch beliefs, as should be practiced in every day life.

After welcoming the members of the Royal Arch Masons, Rev. A. B. Payne took the 6-7th verses of the book of the prophet Zechariah and the 5-7th verses of the 87th Psalm as his text, which included the picture of the messanger of God delivering His word to Zerubbabel during the building of the Temple at Jerusalem.

"Picture us today, we are passing through 'the vale of tears', but we shall go forward from strength to strength with the God of gods, which is so characteristic of Royal Arch Masonry. Your motto is—'the stone which the builder rejected became the headstone of the building.' There is no headstone or keystone greater than the reality and practicability of Christianity. The keystone of our great Empire is Christianity and it is through Christianity we shall take courage, comfort and ultimately prevail over the darkness that now encircles the world and threatens our very existence. We shal triumph through the Living God of Christianity," concluded Rev. Mr. Payne as the National Anthem was sung.

Every Chapter in the Prince Edward District No 11, R.A.M., was represented. The church parade was headed by Rt. Ex. Comp. H. C. McElrath, D.D.G.M., of Prince Edward District Ex. Comps. C. Ackerman, First Principal of Moira Chapter No. 11 Bellecille and . Bateman first principols of Quinte Friendship Chapter No. 227, were also present. Other chapters present were Prince Edward No. 31, Picton, St. Marks No. 26. Trenton, Presqu'Ile No. 144, Brighton, Mount Sinai, No. 44 Napanee. Keystone No. 72, Stirling and Madoc Chapter No. 161.

Refugee Families Harvest First Crops On Farms at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Sept. 14 (CP)—Driven from their homes in Germany, Czechoslovakia and Poland by Nazi persecution, 25 Jewish refugee families who settled on farms around Winnipeg today were harvesting their first crop.

Many of the refugees are former professional men but are well satisfied with their new strenuous life and plan to stay on the land, according to officials of the Winnipeg branch of the Canadian Jewish Congress, under whose supervision the families were settled here.

Father Charged Under Defence of Canada Act

Kitchener, Ont., Sept. 14 (CP)—Lambro Gakeff, father of three children, who refused to salute the flag or sing "God Save the King" while attending public school here, was charged under the Defence of Canada Regulations today. The case is scheduled for hearing next Wednesday, police chief John Hicks said.

The children, all registered at Margaret Avenue School are John, 14, David, nine and Paul, eight.

Canadians Wed As Sirens Shriek And Bombs Burst

London, Sept. 16.—(CP Cable)—While air raid sirens shrieked and bombs burst in the neighborhood, two members of The Canadian Press London Staff Saturday took time off for reporting the battle of Britain to be married at the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Dilys Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Fred Chapman of London, was married to Patrick Edgeworth Usher who has been in London Bureau since its establishment four years ago. He is a son of Lt.-Col. J. F. H. and Mrs. Usher of King, Ont. Miss Thomas is secretary to the Superintendent of the C.P. London Bureau.

During the ceremony air raid sirens sounded. Two bombs exploded in the neighborhood but otherwise it was what the society writers call a "quiet" wedding.

DECLARED LEGALLY DEAD

London, Ont. Sept. 16 (CP)—William McCreery formerly of Toronto, who disappeared in 1926 after a visit to Port Hope, Ont., was declared legally dead by Mr. Justice R. G. Fisher in weekly High Court Saturday. McCreery, native of Port Hope, would have been 90 this year.

The order enables paying of life insurance to the estate of his daughter the late Mrs. Lillian Bouchard, wife of Arthur Bouchard of Detroit.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Isle of Destiny"

Romance that is alluring and heart thrills 'neath a tropical moon, are woven in a poignant drama of the South Pacific in "Isle of Destiny" which features June Lang, Wallace Ford, William Gargan and Gilbert Roland, now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

June, daughter of a wealthy family, whose social prestige and financial independence make her a real catch, is on a round-the-world flight in a monster amphibian plane in which various new flying apparatus is being tested.

A terrific battle against the elements, plus the pitfalls of man, makes her adventure fraught with thrills and romance.

The picture, which has been filmed entirely in Cosmocolor reveals many of the scenic splendors of the tropics of the South Pacific. Katherine DeMille, Harry Woods, Grant Richards, and Tom Dugan are also in the cast of this Franklyn Warner production for RKO Radio.

Leon Errol Comedy

"Truth Aches" a new and hilarious Leon (rubber-legs) Errol comedy, Fox News—crammed with sensational International Scenes, including Bombing Raids on Berlin and other German cities, also a clever Walt Disney cartoon, "The Practical Pig" is also now playing at the McCarthy Theatre in addition to the color feature "Isle of Destiny."

"I Married Adventure"

Watch for it! Coming to the McCarthy Theatre, Mrs. Osa Johnson's life story, now filmed into one of the most exciting motion pictures ever made "I Married Adventure", based on the great Book-of-the-Month "I Married Adventure" of which over 100,000 copies have already been sold. Never a picture before like it! A picture you will never forget! A picture you will praise! We urge you plan to see "I Married Adventure" when playdates are announced for its showing at the McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Manhattan Heartbeat"

"Manhattan Heartbeat" the 20th Century-Fox film, which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre, tells the tender, understandable story of a boy and girl who get married on practically nothing a week and then crash head-on with the harsh realities of married life.

The leading featured roles in the new film are played by Robert Sterling and Virginia Gilmore. Their sensitive, well-rounded portrayals were highly praised by preview audiences. Joan Davis and Edmund MacDonald share the comedy honors. Others featured in the strong cast are Don Beddoe and Paul Harvey.

David Burton directed and Sol M. Wurtzel was executive producer.

On the same program an action-filled drama from start to finish to keep you thrilled throughout, "Trouble In Morocco" starring Jack Holt, Mae Clarke and G. Henry Gordon.

AT THE BELLE

"The Sea Hawk"

All the flaming adventure of the thrill-swept Spanish Main lives again in Warner Bros.' magnificent new production of "The Sea Hawk" starring Errol Flynn as the Robin Hood of the seas. Here is the reckless story of the most daring buccaneer who ever plundered the high seas—for the greater glory of his Queen. Thrills, excitement, spellbinding adventure, tender romance are blended in generous proportion to make "The Sea Hawk" the year's best bet in screen entertainment.

Errol Flynn has seldom had a role that shows to better advantage his magnificent talents and compelling screen personality. He is completely at home in his portrayal of Sir Geoffrey Thorpe, daring privateer who engages in piratical pursuits against Britain's enemies. In this, he has the unofficial approval of Queen Elizabeth. Flora Robson portrays the good Queen Bess in the film, and seldom has the redoubtable monarch received better treatment in the hands of an actress.

Thorpe's plundering activities, directed against the armada of Philip of Spain, one day delivers into his hands Dona Maria (Brenda Marshal), the lovely niece of Philip's ambassador to England, played by Claude Rains. The captive is not proof against her captor's charms, and she comes over on his side as soon as she learns from him the truth about Philip's insidious plotting against England.

She also learns that the Spanish ship on which she had been travelling was propelled by hundreds of British galley slaves, now freed through Thorpe's "piratical" activities.

Back in England, Thorpe makes plans for a daring coup by which he will divert Spanish gold from the New World into the Queen's treasury, thereby giving Elizabeth the wherewithal to fight Spain. He sails secretly for Panama, before Maria is able to reach him the warning that the Spanish have learned of his plan through the traitorous British Chancellor (Henry Daniell). As a result, Thorpe and his men walk right into the Spanish trap, are captured and impressed as galley slaves, and taken back to Spain to face the Inquisition.

But thorpe is resourceful enough to ease out of even so tight a situation as this. Under cover of night he frees himself and his men from the slave ship just after it has docked in Spain. They capture another ship, on board of which Thorpe knows there are papers proving that Phillip's Armada is going to attack England. This information safely placed in Elizabeth's hands, Thorpe receives his just reward—a knighthood and the hand of the lovely Maria.

Seldom has such a sterling cast of players been assembled for one picture, and each plays his role with the consummate skill of a seasoned performer. Following the brilliant lead of Flynn, Miss Marshall, Miss Robson and Claude Rains, are such players as Alan Hale, Donald Crisp, Henry Daniell, Montague Love, Gilbert Roland, Una O'Connor, William Lundigan, James Stephenson, Robert Warwick, J. M. Kerrigan and literally hundreds of others.

"The Sea Hawk" is cinematic adventure at its best, from every angle the entertainment peak of the cinematic year.

70 Deaf Children Sent to Montreal

Montreal, Sept. 16.—(CP)— A group of 70 children from the Manitoba School for the Deaf are expected here today, to take up residence in the MacKay School for the Deaf in Montreal. The children will arrive in two special railway cars.

The buildings and grounds of the Manitoba School for the Deaf have been placed at the disposal of the Department of National Defence. The 90 students in the school are being transferred some to Saskatoon and the remainder to Montreal.

Canada Will Soon Be Manufacturing 25-Pounder Guns

Winnipeg, Sept. 16—(CP)—Canada and her allies are determined not only to win the war but also to clean up the whole European situation so that such a war will not happen again," Defence Minister Ralston said here Saturday on returning from a western trip.

This would not be done in a short time and he emphasized that the soldiers of Canada's forces must be trained to fight in any part of the world.

He said he was tremendously pleased at the manner in which all sections of the nation, industry and labor, employers and employees alike, were working together in the war effort.

Canada would be manufacturing 25-pounder guns shortly and the first of these guns would probably leave the assembly line of Canadian plants in November, he said.

Lovely June Lang and William Gargan, co-stars of the all color production, "Isle of Destiny." South Seas adventure-drama, now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Turner, residents of North London, are shown enjoying a spell of sunshine and fresh air outside the bomb shelter that saved their lives when German bombs fell in their front and back gardens during a German raid. Most London suburbanites have had to take their sun and air in short periods between raids since the Nazis began their all-out air attack on the British capital. The Turner baby, too young to be scared, looks at the photographer with traditional British calm.

She wanted to look in his eyes

—but HE wanted to get away

SUE WAS A WARM-WEATHER OFFENDER

IT wasn't the first time Sue had noticed that men shied away from her—just when she least wanted them to : : : She didn't know that everybody has to perspire to live—and warm, sticky weather greatly increases the amount . . : makes you run the serious risk of becoming a "Warm-Weather Offender." We all perspire from a pint to three pints daily. This sweat left on the body, under the arms, around the waist, goes stale—decomposes. Then YOU have "B.O."

Offensive "B.O." can ruin your romance, business and social chances: Take the simple precaution of careful people—stop it before it starts, with Lifebuoy. Lifebuoy contains an exclusive deodorizing ingredient not found in any other leading toilet soap. Used in your daily bath Lifebuoy stops "B.O."—protects you from offending others. It is kind to the skin, too—20% milder than many so-called "beauty" and "baby" soaps.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS ABOUT 'B.O.'

The adult skin has 2 to 3 million sweat glands which act as a cooling system; giving off from 1 to 3 pints of perspiration daily—even when we are sitting still. If perspiration stopped, we would die from hyper-pyrexia (heat stroke).

Because much of the water in perspiration evaporates, we do not see or feel it. Summer heat, nervous excitement, heavy clothes or warm rooms quickly decompose this sweat deposit—turn it stale—cause offensive "B.O." (Body Odor).

"HE JUST LEFT ME AND NEVER SAID A WORD! ... I WAS SO EMBARRASSED!"
"WELL, GET READY FOR MORE OF THE SAME...HE COULDN'T TELL YOU WHAT I CAN...YOU NEED LIFEBUOY REGULARLY"
"I REALLY DO FEEL DIFFERENT...CLEANER ... SAFER, THANKS TO LIFEBUOY'S PEPPY LATHER...I HOPE JACK CALLS"
"SUE, DARLING I NEVER NOTICED BEFORE HOW BLUE YOUR EYES ARE"
HE DOESN'T KNOW IT YET... BUT HE'LL SPEND THE REST OF HIS LIFE LOOKING INTO THEM. THANKS TO MARY!
NEXT TO OTHERS—YOU NEED ME MOST!
LIFEBUOY HEALTH SOAP

LIFEBUOY IN YOUR DAILY BATH Stops "B.O."

Holidays March on..

THE MORE HYDRO POWER YOU USE . . . THE LOWER YOUR UNIT COST

. . . when HYDRO servants do the work

● Labor Day has gone its way—vacation time's over for another year—but the smart Hydro housewife can still take time out every day for a holiday from old-fashioned toil. In her spotless, modern kitchen, a flameless Electric Range cooks the meals automatically while she relaxes : : : Again, she has a complete electrical laundry to tub and iron the weekly wash—a Hydro Water Heater for everyday "clean-up" needs . . . All through the house, convenient, work-saving electrical servants do her bidding at the snap of a switch! Is this lucky lady rich? Not a bit of it! . . . There's dozens like her on nearly every street—smart women who have wakened up to the real economy of using all the Hydro power they can. Take their tip . . . study the chart at left . . . the more you use Hydro service—the more you get for your money!

HD-49

Hydro BRINGS YOU BETTER LIVING . . . AT LOWER LIVING COST!

THE HYDRO-ELECTRIC POWER COMMISSION OF ONTARIO

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

LETTERS FOR TROOPS OVERSEAS

The other day we were reading a letter from a Canadian soldier overseas and he closed with the plea that letters from friends in Canada are gladly received by the "boys." He said that newspapers are not received regularly and it is "mighty nice" to get a letter from friends at home giving the news that only a letter can give.

Writing a letter for most people is a task that is put off as long as possible and then it is written in a hurry with no details of what is going on to make it interesting. These men are far away from their homes and many of them a little more than boys who have never been far from their families before. We have no doubt that many of them are homesick and lonely and a letter from relatives and friends cheers them up as nothing else can.

So if any readers have soldier friends overseas get out your writing paper today and do your share to give the boys a friendly message of cheer and comfort.

ENGLISH WILTON RUG FACTORY CLOSES AFTER 500 YEARS IN BUSINESS

The manufacture of the Wilton rug has been stopped by the war. We are speaking of the Wilton rug industry of Great Britain and not Canada for it is being manufactured in Canada so far as we know under the trade name of Wilton.

The Wilton rug has been a popular one here and has always given the best of service at a moderate price although we suspect that the original rug as manufactured in Britain would cost a considerable sum. Its manufacture is one of the rare survivors of handcraftmanship in Britain dating back for five hundred years.

In the office of the Royal Wilton Carpet Factory at Wilton in Wiltonshire is the warden's wand marked, "Roger Tarrant, Henry Jeffery, 1698." That, the London Daily Mail relates, was when William the Third gave the factory its charter and the right to style itself "Royal."

Here also are piles of patterns of carpets. Carpets made to the designs of Laura Knight and Rex Whistler; carpets for nurseries with houses and animals, carpets whose pile stands an inch above the floor in great bossed designs, even carpets with portraits. The village has seen the evolution of British carpet making from its earliest days under Henry the Eighth. It saw the collapse of the firm thirty years ago and its salvation by the Earl of Pembroke, who formed a private company to carry on Wilton tradition from Wilton House.

It is to be hoped that when the war ends this fine home of ancient handicraft will be able to continue to produce its excellent rugs.

BRITISH SCIENCE RESOURCEFUL

There has never been any doubt of the resourcefulness of the British people in the matter of the spirit, in their courage and in meeting practical problems such as the war has produced in contraptions or weapons used by the enemy. No sooner had the Nazis used the magnetic mine than British science met it successfully. In the great issue which developed with the collapse of France, Britons faced the crucial test of their resourcefulness and courage. And how they have heroically met it is known to all the world. They have won the praise of humanity as the world witnesses the British race fighting the battle of democracy for all mankind.

As a practical demonstration of the thoroughness of the British people's preparation to face problems, one can cite the instance of the new method of removing delayed action or time bombs. Now it is said that the British experts have discovered a method to delay the action of the bomb and then to dismantle it in safety.

The time bomb is the weapon which Hitler has used against St. Paul's cathedral, Buckingham Palace and public buildings in London. That it has been safely met is cause for great satisfaction and pride in the ingenuity and skill of British science.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

VITAMINS RELIEVE PAIN FOLLOWING REMOVAL OF TONSILS

When an attack of rheumatism or arthritis occurs, the physician asks the patient if he recently has had a sore throat or an attack of tonsilitis. In many cases, the patient will state that he has had no sore throat because the sore throat may have occurred so long ago—some weeks — before the onset of the rheumatism or arthritis, that he has forgotten about it.

That the tonsils are related to rheumatism, arthritis, neuritis and other painful conditions is reported by Dr. C. M. Baer, in Ear, Nose and Throat, Bologna. He states that he had observed a considerable number of cases of tonsilitis in which the tonsils were removed under a local anaesthetic, instead of putting patient to sleep under gas or ether. He states that inflammation of the tonsils is often associated with lack of vitamins B1 and C, and with active rheumatism or rheumatism in a quiet state. He believes that pain the first day the tonsils are removed is due to the wound and exposure of the nerve ends but the pain the second day and thereafter is due to lack of vitamins B1 and C or to the presence of rheumatism, or to both.

While the pain killing drugs should or may be given immediately after the operation, he was able to give relief from pain the second and following days after operation by the use of vitamins B1 and C, in fifty patients who were suffering severe pain following operation.

In all cases the treatment by vitamins B1 and C caused lessening of the local pain in the throat, more rapid healing of the throat, and improvement in the general condition.

I have spoken before of the work of Dr. W. J. McCormick, Toronto, in successfully treating a number of arthritis patients with vitamin B1. It is believed that lack of oxygen to the nerve fibres or cells causes pain. Vitamin B1 enables the oxygen to penetrate the covering of the nerve and reach the nerve itself.

It would seem like good sense, therefore, for those with sore throats, arthritis and neuritis to keep their blood and tissues well supplied with vitamins B1 and C.

Foods rich in vitamin B1 are: brewer's yeast, wheat germ, peanuts, ham, malted milk, beef liver, bacon.

Foods rich in vitamin C are:—oranges, lemons, grapefruit, raw vegetables, and cooked vegetables.

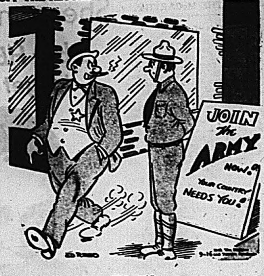
King and People Alike

The King is sharing with his people of London their common danger from the German bombers; even has had, with many of them, the experience of having his home bombed. Buckingham Palace has been damaged by the barbarians, fortunately without loss of life, and another item is written into the account Germany must pay.

The King, first among equals in our democratic way, has been going among the people of the stricken East End, cheering them by his presence and his sympathy, showing by his presence the grief and indignation of the Empire at destruction so brutal and senseless. The humble Londoner, standing beside the ruins of his little home, his few remaining possessions in a bundle at his feet, perhaps members of his family murdered by Germans who drop bombs indiscriminately from high above the clouds, makes a tragic picture — and sums up in his humble person the reason Britain will fight this war to victory, no matter how hard the path.

Neutral observers pay tribute to the supreme courage of the British people—a spirit so fine, says a London correspondent of a United States newspaper, that it almost brings tears to the observer's eyes. From the King to his humblest subject the reaction to the German bombing is wrath, and invincible determination that this grossly evil thing which comes out of Germany once for all must be eliminated from the earth.—Ottawa Journal.

OFF THE RECORD By ED REED



JOIN the ARMY NOW.
YOUR COUNTRY NEEDS YOU!
ED REED
9-16

"Flat Feet."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 16th, 1920.

Mr. Walter Panning of Cranbrook, B. C., a former resident of Belleville, is renewing acquaintances in the city.

Mr. Arthur Blackburn has returned to the Dental College in Philadelphia, Pa., where he will resume his studies.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald of McDonald's corners, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Reid, Queen Street.

Mr. Laurie Wrightmeyer has left on an extended visit to California.

Mr. Hugh Anderson, an old Belleville boy, has returned to his home in Detroit, Mich., after visiting his uncle, Mr. Shelley Anderson, Dundas Street.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 16th, 1910.

At a meeting of the city council Mayor Marsh brought up the matter of a permanent pavement for Front Street. Just imagine Belleville's main street being properly and permanently paved. The dream of our Front Street merchants may be realized in time.

Mr. W. R. Mather, Reeve of Stirling and Warden of the County, was in town to day.

Messrs. Richard Arnott, W. H. Adams and Sanford Burrows motored to Frankford to day to take in the fair.

Mr. Sidney Dellor, formerly of Belleville, has been appointed manager of the C. P. R. Hotel, Royal Alexandra, in Winnipeg.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 16th, 1900.

A large elm tree in front of Mr. R. McCoy's residence on Benjamin Street, was splintered by lightning last night.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Lockett of Kingston, formerly of Belleville, are visiting friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Macdiarmid are spending a few days in Ottawa.

Dr. G. H. Denike of Clinton, N. Y., is visiting his brother, Mr. W. F. Denike, Queen Street.

Mr. Fred Stirling of Toronto, an old Belleville boy, is visiting friends in the city.

Mr. John Moult of New York City, an old Belleville boy, is here on a visit.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 16th, 1890.

Mr. George Dafoe of the 4th. concession of Huntingdon Township, has a sun-flower on his premises, the head of which measures 41 1-4 inches in circumference and 13 1-4 inches in diameter. The stalk is over 7 feet in height.

A social will be held in Harrison's Hall this evening by the members of the Y. P. C. A. of Emmanuel Church.

Mr. William Webster, Collector of Customs at this port, has returned home from the Maritime Provinces where he spent his vacation.

Mr. John White, ex. M. P. has left for Calgary.

Mr. A. E. Metcalf has returned home after a visit to the United States.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1. Who, in a recent contest, entered a state primary as a Republican, Democrat and Progressive and won all three nominations?

2. Who are the authors of the following best sellers: (a) Stars on the Sea", (b) "I Married Adventure", (c) "How Great Was My Valley"?

3. Does the adoption by U. S. citizens of refugee children (foreign born) confer citizenship on the children?

4. Can you tell how many of the states of the continental U. S. are adjacent to foreign territory?

5. This is directed to golfers: For what does PGA stand?

6. A recent newspaper headline was 85,000 SEE PACKERS RIP STARS. What does this mean to you?

7. In air circles, the term "secret varnish" has come into being. To what does it refer?

ANSWERS

1. Hiram Johnson won the Senatorial nomination in California.

2. (a) Van Wyck Mason, (b) Osa Johnson, (c) Richard Llewellyn.

3. It does NOT.

4. Sixteen — Wash., Idaho, N. Dakota, Montana, Wisconsin, Minn., Mich., N.Y., Ohio, Vermont, New Hampshire, Maine, Calif., Ariz., New Mexico, Texas.

5. Professional Golfers' Association.

6. The Green Bay Packers, champion professional football team, defeated the college All-Stars before a crowd of 85,000 persons.

7. German air officials claim the British are using a varnish on their planes which makes them invisible under the glare of searchlights.

Justice for The Huns

There will be very general approval in this country, we think, with the opinions of a writer in the London Express about the conduct of this war. There is nothing to do with the Germans, he says, but to kill them. The Germans boasted that they would make war without mercy and they deserve no mercy—let them have justice. They made it a war of people against people, and Britain should fight back on those terms, without any sentimental nonsense "about mercy for the poor, deluded Germans who never really wanted the war but were just misled". That is the argument of the Express writer. The London Sunday Dispatch takes the same ground. We must fight the war, it says "grimly, relentlessly, and even unscrupulously".

The inference is that we should copy German methods. If the Huns bomb a hospital we should bomb ten German hospitals. If they destroy an apartment house the R. A. F. should make apartment houses their goal. That is the natural reaction to the fiendishness displayed by the Germans in their recent attacks on London. We should have revenge!

The British Government takes a longer view of the situation. Reprisals in themselves are not sound strategy, its position seems to be, and revenge for the sake of revenge is a sign of weakness. A bomb that might destroy a block of offices or a row of workmen's houses could be used to much greater military advantage on a factory or an oil tank. Wars are not won, it is argued, by killing women and children but by destroying the enemy's military force and the means by which his force is maintained—and this is the dominating motive of the British campaign.

The blind raiding of London, the indiscriminate dropping of bombs, is nothing short of murder—a crime in which the Germans have had a great deal of experience in Czecho-Slovakia, in Poland and elsewhere. In their wrath the British people cry for revenge, and it is natural that they should. But those in command of the Air Force know they must not dissipate their strength in sideshows, must concentrate their resources on the powerful enemy war machine. —Ottawa Journal.

Story Behind Notice of Prize Court

By Ronald Kenvyn to the Vancouver Province.

It is a brief legal notice, tucked away in an official English publication, but it is linked with the Royal Canadian Navy and is a chapter in the gallant effort made by one of Canada's fighting ships.

"In Prize", reads the notice. "By order and for the account of the Admiralty Marshal, Messrs. Ide E. Christie are instructed to sell by private treaty ex-S.S. Hanover, 321 bales Chilean hemp; 146 bales Chilean hemp tow, 100 bundles broom root, lying at Gun Wharf, Wapping, London. The above cargo has been damaged by fire. To be sold with all faults. Subject to Government restrictions as an export."

Late last Summer the Hanover, a German steamer, loaded cargo on the west coast of South America. She steamed north, passed through the Panama Canal and was heading for Germany when Britain declared war on September 3, 1939.

Immediately the paralyzing hand of the Royal Navy was laid on German shipping. Into neutral ports they scurried, among them the Hanover. She sought refuge in the Dutch West Indies with some 14 other Nazi vessels. At Curacao and Aruba they swung at anchor.

Port costs mounted, crews became disgruntled, ships deteriorated, food supplies began to dwindle. But they dared not put to sea, for British cruisers from the Bermuda station were on watch.

Last May Germany invaded Holland and Belgium. Thus the Dutch West Indies were no longer neutral territory, and the Allies could take action there.

Out to sea went the Hannover, hoping to evade the roving British cruisers and make her way home to Germany, via a far northern route, as the Bremen and others had done.

She didn't get far. A British light cruiser hove in sight, and with her was a unit of a new navy. For Canada was on the high seas now. Her efficient little destroyer force of seven vessels was concentrated in the Atlantic, and it was the Canadian flotilla leader Assiniboine which was cruising with the English man-of-war.

The Hannover skipper saw capture was possible, so he followed instructions and set fire to his ship and opened the seacocks. He was not quick enough. Up stormed the cruiser, flinging a white bow wave from the blue Caribbean sea. A boarding party clambered aboard and shut off the seacocks. But the fire was gaining.

It was here the Assiniboine entered the picture. Steaming 35 knots, she came roaring along. Fire parties had been mustered, and as soon as she reached the Hannover, hoses were rigged and steady streams of water poured into the blazing German.

For four days, under tropic heat, the Canadians stood by and fought the flames. They won. The Hannover was saved, towed to port, condemned by a prize court and her cargo ordered sold and the notice quoted above deals with one of the consignments.

The Assiniboine won high praise for her work and the British Admiralty conveyed its appreciation to the Naval Department at Ottawa.

The Hannover is now doing duty for Britain. Her new name is the Sinbad.

What of Those Hardy Scots

A lot of people must be wondering and perhaps worrying about those rugged Scots who were brought up on porridge and whiskey to go out and conquer the earth and the fatness thereof. Are they going soft? Has good living and regular meals reduced them to the common level? Is it possible the Scot isn't what he used to be?

We don't know, but what is one to make of this? The other day a competition for sword dancers was held at Toronto fair. The entry list was full of McTavishes and McIntoshes, of McLeods and McNeills and McPhersons, and the accent around the platform was thicker than the lake mist. But, in a field where the Scots have specialized for years—it's as much an institution as the haggis and the bagpipes—the silver cup was taken home by a Chinese girl of nine years, little Joyce Chang.

The same day there was an item in the papers about Donald Bain, aged eight, a laddies from Aberdeen or thereabouts, who arrived in Toronto as a child guest from the war zone. And what said Donald when they gave him porridge for breakfast? Did he say, This is just grand? He did not. Donald complained bitterly. He dinna like the porridge, he said, and he'd been fooled because they dinna tell him he'd have to eat porridge in Canada.

Frankly, we fear the situation is pretty grim, with a laddies from Aberdeen declining his porridge and a Chinese girl beating a collection of Macs in a sword dance. It's so serious, in fact, that we shall not be surprised if our Scottish colleague tells us the haggis is an over-rated abomination fit only for Englishmen and the bagpipes are good only for scaring sheep. —Ottawa Journal.

14,000 FIGHTING PLANES FOR BRITAIN BY 1942

William Knudsen, chairman of the production division of the U.S. defence advisory commission, and Major-General H. H. Arnold, chief of the U.S. air corps, are pictured here examining a P-40 pursuit plane at the Curtiss-Wright plant at Buffalo. Mr. Knudsen announced himself highly pleased with the production of this type of plane and declared that by April, 1942, Britain will receive 14,000 new fighting planes, while the U.S. military forces would be equipped with 19,000 new fighting planes.

Lowly Perch Finds A Defender

This page has been taken to task about some remarks concerning the lowly perch. Said remarks were offered as comment after receipt of a bulletin from the Ontario Department of Game and Fisheries showing that, among fish plantings in the past year, were some thousands of perch. It was regarded as peculiar that the government would propagate perch while other interests sometimes sought to clear them out of lakes so that other game fish might survive.

The critic of our criticism is a well known local lover of hunting and fishing. He says the perch is a desirable fish. He admits it is not a sporty fish in the sense that it is hard to catch or, on being caught with a hook and line, will put up a battle and give its captor a thrill. He says it is desirable from the standpoint of the epicurean. Its flesh is white, solid and sweet. A perch steak is one of the nicest things he knows.

To reminder that, while the flesh might be all that, the fish was "ninety" per cent bone, the reply was that there was still enough of good eating on those bones to make the perch worth while. It's all in knowing how to dress and cook the fish. The first thing to do is to practice some modern surgery to remove the long finn from the back of the creature and then perform some further acts of skill with the knife, after which the back bone and the ribs can be pulled out, leaving a fine, white, tasty perch steak. Then you fry it and roll it in corn meal and serve it to a man who likes perch. The perch is generally dead by this time although legend has had them jumping out of the frying pan when the heat is on.

Some people even like pike. Many Americans do. They get a great thrill in catching the fish that in this country is regarded by most people as valuable principally for making the corn and tomatoes grow in the garden.

Yes, the defender of the perch knew that. He didn't like pike either, but he insisted again that he did like perch. They didn't fight him when he caught them on hook and line and he had taken them up to two pounds in weight. He has a few holidays coming yet this season and he is going to spend them in a nice place on Lake Superior where the perch fishing is good.

That may be the secret of the whole thing, permitting them to live, and grow in Lake Superior, where there is lots of room.

There are still those who may think that, in the inland lakes, water is too scarce to be given over to perch when the fighting trout and bass are equally prolific.—Port Arthur News Chronicle.

A Prophecy By Disraeli

Mrs. I. Davey, in London Times.

—This prophecy of Disraeli's, written in 1859, would seem to be nearing its fulfilment; and it is indeed a heartening message from the past:—

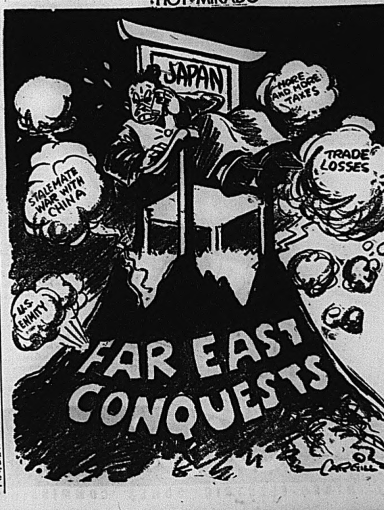
Remember always that England, though she is bound to Europe by tradition, by affection, by great similarity of habits and all those ties which time alone can create and consecrate, is not a mere Power of the Old World. Her geographical position, her laws, her language, and her religion, connect her as much with the New World as with the Old. Still, if ever Europe by her shortsightedness falls into an inferior and exhausted state, for England there will remain an illustrious future.

We are bound to the communities of the New World, and those great states which our own planting and colonizing energies have created, by ties and interests which will sustain our power and enable us to play as great a part in the times yet to come as we do in these days, and as we have done in the past. And therefore . . . I say it is for Europe, not for England, that my heart sinks.

It Made Him Mad

The most revealing commentary on the sweetness of feminine influence was delivered to New Yorkers on Thursday night . . . A Detroiter in a local hotel, having had a drink too many, barricaded himself in his room and gleefully proceeded to toss the furniture into the street . . . Police were hurriedly summoned. They tried to cajole him into opening his door but he would have none of it, answering their every plea by tossing another chair or table out of the window . . . Finally a detective bethought himself of a brilliant idea. He knocked on the door and in a falsetto voice said, "Open the door. This is your wife. I want to come in." . . . The drunk's response was immediate. He rushed into the kitchenette, tore the sink out of the wall and tossed it into the street. —Shapero in Mont. Gazette.

"HOT MIKADO"



Number of Young Americans In R.A.F. & R.C.A.F. is Growing

Others Gathering to Shuttle Bombers Across Atlantic From Canada to Britain

COMMITTEE HELPS

(By Sidney Grusan Canadian Press Staff Writer).

New York, Sept. 16 (CP)—Lured in part by the promise of adventure but mostly by the belief that "this is our fight, too," an ever-growing number of young Americans are taking places in the Royal Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force.

Others, experts in the task of piloting big ships across long distances, are being gathered to shuttle bombers across the Atlantic from Canada to Great Britain.

Most of the men have found their way into the Empire's air services through the aid of the Clayton Knight Committee, an organization of a few American aviation enthusiasts and believers in Britain's cause that bears the name of one of the foremost illustrators in the United States.

It was organized in June after Knight, attached to the Royal Air Force in the first Great War, had talked privately with one of the Canadian air aces of that struggle, a friend of Knight's since the war. They talked of the probability of young Americans wanting to join the R.C.A.F. and in Knight's mind then was born the idea of doing what he could to aid them.

Way is Prepared

Nothing is done to violate United States neutrality regulations. No effort is made by the committee to "hire" the men here or sign them to any contracts. But they prepare the way for a man so that when they give him a place to go, whether to the R.C.A.F., the R.A.F., or to Canada to shuttle across the bombers, the officials at the other end know they have a man ready to do the job—and do it well.

Since Knight and his friends, including Errol Boyd, formerly of Toronto and one of the first men to fly the Atlantic, began their work, they have opened offices in Los Angeles, San Francisco, Dallas, Kansas City and Chicago beside their New York headquarters.

Several hundred men have come to the New York offices for help in getting into one of the services. Some have been men with a few hours' experience in a trainer plane. They've been among the hundreds rejected. Some have been men with 700, 800 and 1,200 hours experience in big ships, with high instrument rating. They've been among the 200 or so helped by the committee.

Feel "This is Our Fight"

The ideal the committee looks for is a man not over 35, with 700 or 800 hours experience. That kind of a flier can earn $7,000 to $10,000 a year in a flying job in the United States, and have no trouble getting a job, yet there's a steady trickle of them coming to the committee convinced, as one of the committee's officers said, that "this is our fight, too."

There was a young fellow with several hundred hours to his credit. He was a graduate of the University of Missouri law school. He's given up his law career for a while to fight with Britain.

There was another chap from New Orleans who tried to enlist through the British Consul there and was told United States neutrality laws forbade a Consul doing anything. He worked his way to Havana on a freighter and, when nothing could be done there, returned to New Orleans, heard about the Knight Committee and travelled two days and two nights in a bus to come to New York.

He was an A-1 flier except that he had to wear glasses. While the committee checked on him and tested his flying ability, he got a job washing dishes in a hotel. Now he's in Canada with a special letter from the committee that probably will get him a "job," despite the glasses. He was too determined—and too good an aviator—to be turned down.

Committee Works Quietly

The committee works quietly, without publicity, the word of its work getting around through the "grapevine" that exists between men who fly machines. The men who run it work hard, seven days a week. Most of them are men who would be in the R.A.F. or R.C.A.F., if they were a little younger. This is their way of doing their "bit."

Plainfield

Plainfield—Mrs. T. Mills is spending some time with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Salisbury and Mrs. E. Salisbury, California, spent a day recently at Harold and Cordova Mines.

Mrs. B. C. Salisbury celebrated her seventy-eighth birthday recently. A birthday dinner was enjoyed by her family. Mrs. H. Connor, Tweed, Mrs. E. Sills, Foxboro, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Salisbury, and Mr. E. Salisbury, Berkley, California, were present to wish her many happy returns of the day.

Mrs. Violet Elliott and family took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Welsh, Moira.

Miss Martha Hazard, Trenton, spent Saturday last with Mrs. O. Rollins.

Mrs. Clarence Marshall accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wilson, Holloway, are spending a few days with friends in Gilmour.

W.I. met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Walter Hall and was well attended.

Sympathy is extended to the son and family of the late James Brownson, who passed away on Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Shaw, of Campbellford, and Mr. and Mrs. William Burton, Toronto, were recent callers of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Prindle.

Mr. E. Salisbury has left for his home in Berkley, California, after spending some time with friends and relatives here.

Mrs. Shane, Napanee is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. Hall.

W.M.S. workers met on Friday at the home of Mrs. Hubel, where a quilt which had been donated was quilted and the missionary supply box was packed.

Mr. Clement has started the decorating of the outside of the new Orange Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Hazard and John Allan were dinner hour guests on Wednesday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Pound.

Miss Martha Hazard, Trenton, returned to her home on Thursday evening.

Plainfield.—A large number of friends and neighbors gathered in the Orange Hall Saturday evening to do honor to one more of Plainfield's fine young men in the person of Mr. Carl Platt who has recently received his call in the R.C.A.F.

Rev. G. T. McKenzie called the meeting to order. Community singing was enjoyed, led by Mrs. H. Harrison at the piano. Solo, Mrs. Moore. Guitar and mouth-organ solo by Mr. Ralph Wilder, accompanied by Mrs. Harrison at the piano. Piano duet by Misses Beryl Platt and Marjorie Creeper. A reading by Mrs. H. Harrison was well given.

Mr. Carl Platt, Gnr. Norman Hall and Arthur Carleton were then called to the front. An address was read to them by Mrs. Fred Prindle from the S. S. Classes and Community. Mr. Vernon Emerson and Garfield Hall then presented Carl with a ring and identification bracelet from the community and a pair of military brushes from his S. S. Class.

Mr. Horace Palmer and John King presented Arthur, and Norman with their presents which were to have been given to them one week ago as they were unable to be present then. Each one made a suitable reply, thanking one and all for their kindness. "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" was sung. The meeting closed with "God Save the King" and lunch was served.

A scene from "Trouble in Morocco," starring Jack Holt, now showing at the Capitol. On the same program "Manhattan Heartbeat," a tender sincere story of young love today.

Good Light Saves Sight

MADE IN CANADA

EDISON MAZDA Lamps

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. LIMITED

John Lewis Company
265 Front St. BELLEVILLE Phone 2260

White's Hardware Co.
230 Front Street Phone 323

Stroud's Variety Store
208 Front Street Phone 301

Thurlow Township School Library Elects Officers

A reorganization meeting of Thurlow Township School Library was held at Corby Public Library on Saturday morning. An election of officers took place with last year's officers returned; H. E. Darling, President, H. Walkom, Secretary-Treasurer and the Book Committee, consisting of Miss Olive Blue, Miss H. Thompson, Miss Maude Burke, Miss M. Barnum and Miss Kathryn Gallagher of the Public Library as Chairman. One more school joined the growing system, making a total of seventeen contributing units.

This co-operative scheme, one of the few of its kind carried out in Ontario, was presented to the teachers of Sidney and Thurlow Townships at the teachers' convention held in the city last Fall. It was explained by the Librarian and Boys' and Girls' Librarian from a similar scheme successfully operating in western Ontario. Many teachers approved of the idea and each teacher participating contributed an equal amount of money. From this fund, sixteen boxes of graded books were exchanged at the library each month.

The scheme met with splendid success, with the result that in Thurlow Township, 542 children read 5,346 books during the first four months of the project, an average of almost 10 books per child. Over half the percentage of books read was in the non-fiction class.

The teachers and pupils alike were enthusiastic about the results, as it meant that instead of using the same shelves of books month after month of the school term, a new assortment was brought to the school each month. The rural school children now are able to experience some of the pleasures and privileges of the city school children, who can come to the Public Library and have a wide selection of books at their disposal.

Presentation

Centenary.—On Friday evening, Sept. 13th, the school children, parents and friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Ray to pay honor to their former teacher, Mr. H. G. Bates who has accepted a position on the staff of Queen Mary School, Belleville.

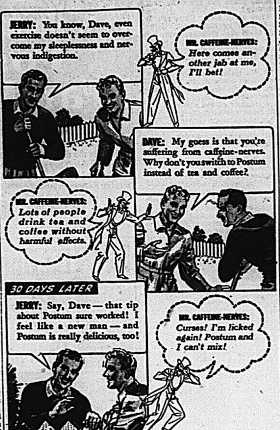
The chairman for the evening, Mr. Holton, called the gathering to order and all sang "There'll Always Be An England." With Mr. and Mrs. Bates in the seats of honour, Miss Evelyn Ray read an address which was signed on behalf of the community by Doris Waite, Doreen Hall, Burton Hubble and Bruce Holton, and Miss Lola Nelson presented Mr. and Mrs. Bates with a coffee set, consisting of a tray, sugar and cream and coffee vaculator, also a gold chain and key ring.

Mr. and Mrs. Bates although taken by surprise very graciously expressed their appreciation and thanks to the children and friends for the gift, and invited one and all to call on them at their home in Belleville.

The singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows" expressed the sentiment of all present.

After a short program, refreshments of ice cream, cake and coffee the happy gathering departed to their homes voting to Mr. and Mrs. Ray many thanks for the use of their lovely home.

Mr. Caffeine-Nerves Gets Weeded Out!



JERRY: You know, Dave, even exercise doesn't seem to overcome my sleeplessness and nervous indigestion.
MR. CAFFEINE-NERVES: Here comes another jab at me, I'll bet!
DAVE: My guess is that you're suffering from caffeine-nerves. Why don't you switch to Postum instead of tea and coffee?
MR. CAFFEINE-NERVES: Lots of people drink tea and coffee without harmful effects.
30 DAYS LATER
JERRY: Say, Dave—that tip about Postum sure worked! I feel like a new man—and Postum is really delicious, too!
MR. CAFFEINE-NERVES: Curses! I'm licked again! Postum and I can't mix!

● Many people can safely drink tea and coffee. Many others—and all children—should never drink them. If you are one of these, try Postum's 30-day test. Buy Postum and drink it instead of tea and coffee for one month. Then, if you do not feel better, return the container top to General Foods, Limited, Cobourg, Ontario, and we'll gladly refund full purchase price, plus postage. Postum is delicious, economical, easy to prepare, and contains no caffeine.

Instant POSTUM
A CEREAL BEVERAGE
There's a Reason
Makes 100 Cups

POSTUM

P500

182 Couples Wedded Every Day in July

Toronto, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Marriages in Ontario during July showed a decided increase prior to National Registration, according to the Provincial Secretary's Department. The average was 182 a day compared with 105 a year ago.

Total marriages for the month were 5,013 compared with 2,840 a year ago. In June there were 4,928 and a year ago 3,589. In Quebec during June there were 4,718, or at the rate of 157 per day.

As between Ontario and Quebec according to Federal statistics the increase during 1939 over 1938 is about equal, there being a 10.8 per cent increase in Quebec and a 10.5 per cent increase in Ontario. In 1939 there were 34,6[illegible] weddings in Ontario and 28,911 in Quebec. In 1938 there were 30,008 in Ontario and 25,044 in Quebec.

Thomasburg

Thomasburg — Miss Florence Beatty, Reg. N., returned to her home at Kingston after spending some time with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Morton.

Miss Helen Cox, of Flinton, teacher of the Fourth line school spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. William Vance.

Miss Evelyn Sills, of Roslin, spent the week-end with Miss Merle Carleton.

The following relatives from a distance attending the funeral of Mrs. W. Harrison were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Forsythe and son of Syracuse, N.Y., and Mr. and Mrs. R. Southworth and Mrs. Prentice of Toronto.

Mrs. Silas Prindle entertained a number of relatives for dinner on Sunday.

"TIRED" ALL THE TIME

She felt miserable—draggy—low in vitality—lower in spirits. She hadn't thought of her kidneys, until a friend suggested Dodd's Kidney Pills. At once she took Dodd's. The "washed out" feeling was soon replaced by clear headed energy and restful sleep. Headache, backache, lassitude and other signs of faulty kidneys disappeared. 112

Dodd's Kidney Pills

SAY JAPS MAY

(Continued from Page One)

pines for immediate use in Indo-China.

The feeling is widespread that only the United States might deter Japan, but authoritative sources said that fear here of arousing Japanese feelings has kept Indo-China authorities from making any appeal to Washington.

Military experts expressed belief that the Japanese would start promptly to move in men seasoned in tropical conditions.

French Fear Jap Foothold.

The Japanese demands for military facilities are based on the claim they are necessary to Japan's prosecution of her war with China. French officials, however, express fear that Japan's real purpose is to secure a foothold in Indo-China as the first major move of her long-heralded southward expansion. The expected penetration is aimed at China only secondarily. But they say China will carry out her declared intention to cross the colony's frontier as soon as Japanese troops enter, no matter under what pretext.

Most French opinion here is agreed that the colonial administration stuck with the Vichy government partly because of the hope that Vichy could persuade Germany to soften Japan's ambitions.

Vichy Government's Failure.

Vichy's failure so far has deepened popular interest in Gen Charles de Gaulle, leader of free Frenchmen still fighting with Britain.

Russians Foresee Growing Struggle

Moscow, Sept. 16—(AP)— The United States and Japan were described by the newspaper Pravda today as engaged in a growing struggle for supremacy in the Pacific.

The Communist party organ, in a review of far east relations since the first Great War, asserted the present war has broken the balance of power among Britain, United States and Japan.

"Now the struggle for hegemony over the Pacific is sharper than ever before," the newspaper said.

"The United States has an opportunity to manifest its long-concealed colonial ambition. Under cover of the Monroe doctrine, American imperialism has declared an unshared hegemony over both Americas.

"For a very cheap price, it has purchased a chain of English bases in the Atlantic. But strengthening the American position in the Atlantic does not mean lessening of United States interest in the Pacific."

Pravda claimed the United States is now aiming at control of Singapore and Australia, asserting:

"These bases in the hands of Americans means not only cutting Japan's access to raw materials in southeast Asia, but also that the United States will have points at its own disposal for offensive operations against Japan."

With Japan simultaneously putting pressure on French Indo-China, the newspaper said, "events in Europe are casting a more and more ominous shadow on the waste spaces of the Pacific."

Marmora

Marmora—Group 2 of St. Paul's Ladies' Guild held a euchre party in the Parish Hall on Friday evening with nine tables in play. Prizes for best scores went to Mrs. W. J. Reynolds (playing as gentleman) and Mrs. W. R. Linn. Refreshments were served at the close of play.

Deloro was eliminated in the O.B.A.A. Intermediate series on Saturday as on their own grounds they lost a ten innings game by the score of 9-5. "Chuck" Barriage was the winning pitcher and Carl Casey hurled for Deloro.

Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell officiated at St. Mark's, Rawdon, on Sunday evening, the service at St. Paul's being taken by W. J. Cottrell, lay reader.

Rural Dean and Mrs. A. B. Caldwell attended the funeral of the former's brother-in-law, the late Mr. Piggott at Barrie on Monday.

Miss Chloe Gaffney of Belleville, spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. Gaffney.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Keating of Toronto, spent the week-end with relatives here.

Mr. F. Daniels and Mr. A. Lalonde of Peterborough, spent Sunday with friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Paquet of Montreal, spent the week-end with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Paquet.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Marble of Cleveland, are holidaying at Crowe Lake.

Pte. Harry McWilliams of Kingston, spent the week-end at his home here.

Lorne Forestell of the R.C.A.F., St. Thomas, spent the week end at his home here.

A mission opened on Sunday at Sacred Heart Church and will continue until next Sunday. The mission is being conducted by Rev. Father Kelly and Rev. Father O'Sullivan, both of whom visited Marmora and conducted a mission ten years ago.

SHANNONVILLE W. A.

The ladies of the W. A. of the United Church of Shannonville held an all day meeting and quilting at the home of Mrs. Orval Stratton on Thursday September 12th. A delicious pot luck dinner was served at noon, proceeds being $9.70. The president, Mrs. Sam Elliott, was in charge of the afternoon meeting and opened with the theme song and all repeating the Lord's Prayer. After the opening hymn the Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Everett Stratton. Rev. Sterling led in prayer and all sang "God Save the King." Adjutant Alderman of the Belleville Salvation Army was present and sang a lovely solo.

The minutes of the last meeting were given by the secretary, Mrs. Orval Stratton, and adopted as read. Mrs. Will King expressed her thanks to the ladies for the card she received when she was ill, also to the W.M.S. for the same. Adjutant Alderman gave a report of the Salvation Army's war efforts. A report of the money raised in the W. A. for war purposes was very encouraging. A vote of thanks was tendered the Adjutant for the part he took in the meeting. He thanked the ladies for their help in supporting the war-time efforts of the Salvation Army and commended them for their industry, the quilts and money received were much appreciated by those in charge of the work. A report of the money raised by the W. A. for war work was very encouraging. A vote of thanks was given Mr. and Mrs. Orval Stratton for the use of their home. Meeting was closed by the W.A. benediction.

ARNOLD PREXY ACTORS GUILD

Hollywood, Sept. 16—(AP) — Edward Arnold was elected President of the Screen Actors Guild last night to succeed Ralph Morgan.

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Accept This Generous Offer!

J. S. McKeown will return your money, if one bottle of Ru-Ma does not give you relief from rheumatic aches and pains, sore, swollen and painful joints. No matter how long you have suffered, you must get relief or "no pay." Try Ru-Ma and be convinced. Accept this generous offer now.

CONFEDERATION LIFE FOR STRENGTH, SERVICE AND SECURITY

Confederation Life has become my partner

● When I insured with the Confederation Life, I gained a partner upon whom I can rely to carry out my wishes.

In my policy I was able to specify whether my beneficiary should receive money in a lump sum, or as a monthly income, or for specific purposes. When I reach retirement age and my children have grown up, it can be arranged that I shall receive the entire proceeds in cash, or as a Monthly Income for Life.

The Confederation Life has been a partner to thousands of men every year since 1871.

When a Confederation Life representative calls upon you, consult him. He is trained to advise you.

BEFORE YOU INSURE Consult Confederation Life Association

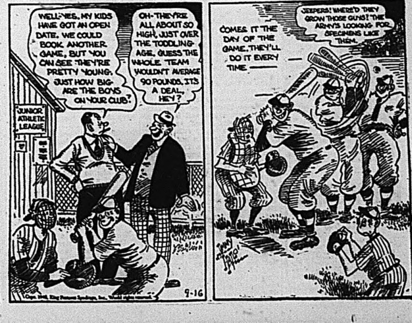
ONE OF THE WORLD'S GREAT LIFE INSURANCE INSTITUTIONS

M. C. BURGESS, Representative, 211 Pinnacle St., BELLEVILLE

The nonchalant gent who is taking in his milk from the doorstep here is typical of many Englishmen of today. They are so accustomed to bombings that they would be more annoyed at the milkman if he failed to leave the usual couple of bottles than they are at the Nazis who dumped cargoes of destruction that blow in their front doors, break their windows and keep them awake nights.

They'll Do It Every Time

By Jimmy Hatlo



WELL-YES, MY KIDS HAVE GOT AN OPEN DATE. WE COULD BOOK ANOTHER GAME, BUT YOU CAN SEE THEY'RE PRETTY YOUNG. JUST HOW BIG ARE THE BOYS ON YOUR CLUB?
OH-THEY'RE ALL ABOUT SO HIGH, JUST OVER THE TODDLING AGE. GUESS THE WHOLE TEAM WOULDN'T AVERAGE 90 POUNDS. IT'S A DEAL, HEY?
JUNIOR ATHLETIC LEAGUE
9-16
COMES IT THE DAY OF THE GAME. THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME—
JEEPERS! WHERE'D THEY GROW THOSE GUYS? THE ARMY'S LOOKING FOR SPECIMENS LIKE THEM.
JIMMY HATLO

PERSONALS

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. H. R. Hunt, Belleville, wishes to announce the engagement of his daughter, Rhoda, to Wesley Gray, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gray, Belleville. The marriage to take place October 1, at White's Church.

Mrs. A. Goyer, Toronto, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Lee over the week-end and attended the funeral of the late Gerald Lynch.

Mrs. B. J. Black returned to the city after visiting her daughter, Mrs. Hubert Bedore and Mr. Bedore, Gananoque.

Garn E. Dobbs, who has been a patient in Belleville General Hospital has sufficiently recovered from his illness to return home.

Flight Lieutenant George Friend R.C.A.F., Toronto, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. A. Lee, Cedar Street, over the week-end.

Mrs. George Forham received word this morning from Winnipeg, of the death of her brother, Frank Moxam, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. George Moxam of this city.

Ald. A. McLean Haig has been ordered to report to the R.C.A.F. Air Station at Trenton for duty on Saturday.

The many friends of Mrs. W. H. Anderson, Pine Street, will regret to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. W. J. Spencer in Toronto, on Sunday.

Mrs. S. E. Morton and family, Bridge Street East, have returned home after spending the summer at their cottage at Crowe Lake.

Messrs. Geo. Keegan, Harry McGuire and Howard Storms are leaving tonight for Kingston, having been called for active service with the Royal Navy.

Mrs. J. Allin of 443 Bleecker Ave., has returned home after visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Squire, St. Thomas, and other relatives, and also her brother, Lance Corporal Phillip Luscombe of the R.C.I., London.

On Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gazley, their daughter, Miss Jessie, was pleasantly surprised by her friends, who gathered to express their best wishes in honour of her approaching marriage by presenting her with a shower of towels. The delightful gathering was arranged by the girls of the Woolworth Company with whom Miss Gazley worked. After presenting the gifts the remainder of the evening was spent in games. Delicious refreshments brought the very pleasant evening to a close.

WEDDINGS

PEDEN—BOTHWELL

Bridge Street United Church was the scene of a quiet wedding on Saturday afternoon, Sept. 14th., at five o'clock when Doreen Genevieve Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Bothwell of this city, became the bride of Frank Richardson Peden, son of Mr. and Mrs. P. Peden, Montreal, Quebec. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. B. Howard, Albert College. Wedding music was played by S. Alec Gordon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a becoming frock of Skipper blue and white with blue accessories and carried a bouquet of Better Time roses.

Miss Wilda Sprott of Montreal, Que., as bridesmaid, wore a dress of wine and grey and carried yellow roses.

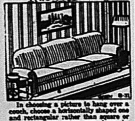
Mr. Richard Elliott, New Hampshire was groomsman.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the New Queen's Hotel, the bride's mother, received wearing a gown of Teale blue with black accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Peden, mother of the groom, wore pearl grey with navy accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Peden will reside in Longlac, Ontario.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Morgan, Campbellford, Mr. and Mrs. David Fowler, Millbrook; Miss Belle Brown, Miss Freda Peden, Dr. and Mrs. McCoy, all of Montreal and Mr. and Mrs. Elliott of New Hampshire.

Wife Preservers



In choosing a picture to hang over a couch, choose a horizontally shaped one and rectangular rather than square or round. If you cannot procure a large picture for this space, use a group of smaller ones, framed alike, on related subjects.

FOR WOMEN ONLY!

If fidgety nerves, restless nights and other distress from female functional disorders keep you from enjoying life—take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—well known for over 60 years in helping weak, nervous women during "difficult" days. Made in Canada.

Your Beauty I. Q.

What about teeth? The rule is to brush after each meal.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Today, let's have a beauty questionnaire. We suggest that the members of our pulchritude class answer them truthfully. They may find that they aren't doing everything they should to promote or preserve good looks.

Do you go to bed with a clean face every night, no matter how late you fall in, and do you ever fail to give the skin surface a good creaming and light tapping?

Is the shampoo date kept on the dot, do you have a trim when the hirsute shock gets raggedy? Do you ever permit stringy strands to spoil the ringleted fringe?

How About Nails?

Are you faithful to your hand lotion? Do you oil the cuticle around the finger nails, not just believe that if you keep on the glowing polish you are doing your full duty?

What about teeth? The rule is to brush after each meal. Difficult to do that after luncheon, but easy enough to scour and polish the white pearls after breakfast and dinner and before going to bed.

Do you make a real effort to be gracious to everyone, the lady next door, the boy who brings the groceries, the telephone operator? Nice manners oil the wheels of life and make the going happier.

Are you a daily bather and do you use a deterrent in the arm pits? Very important, these little beauty tasks.

x x x

Good dressing starts with the foundation garment. Only the slimpsies can get along without one. Surprising what a well-fitted corset can do, how it will control those over-curves, put curves on where one needs them.

Make a selection that will give free movement because if you are not playing out of doors these days you are missing a lot of fun. You may like the corset pantie which does away with the revealing hem line that shows under frocks of thin fabrics. Also, if you are one of the bare-legged cult you will enjoy wearing a garment with detachable garters.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

YOU ARE JUDGED BY YOUR TABLE MANNERS

"There are no more frontiers in America today", goes the lament; and it is becoming as true socially, in a "manners-sense", as it is geographically. And as the frontiersman becomes extinct, so, praise be, do his trencher-manners. This is not to disparage these, our worthy ancestors. With only his infinitely patient wilderness for auditor, what matter a gust of noisy blowing or the cheery crunch of tooth on bone? Can we blame them for wolfing food (when they could get it) when, all the while, they must keep looking over their shoulders lest they themselves be wolfed?

In this world of ours today, which, by contrast, literally teems with creature comforts, there can be scant excuse for incorrect table behaviour. We have tables and china to put on them and to eat and drink from, and appropriate knives and forks and spoons for our convenience and care-in-eating, and we eat with people who have sensibilities of eyes and ears. A decent regard for the sensibilities of our table-companions, if we ourselves are blind and deaf to the dismaying effect on others of our short-comings, is the very least our companions-at-table can expect of us. Trencher-manners are devastating to watch . . . and to hear!

"As ye eat, so shall they know ye", to change the old proverb a bit, bears the stinging barb of truth. In no phase of our manners are we more truly judged than by the way ye eat.

About Cocktail Forks

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I plan to serve fish cocktails, but do not have cocktail forks. Would it be all right to use salad forks?

E.

Since you have no cocktail forks, I suggest that you serve the fish cocktail on one or two small leaves of lettuce, on a small plate (say a six inch plate, perhaps a bread and butter plate), and then the salad forks will be of appropriate size.

On Wedding Procedure

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. A very small wedding, is it necessary to give the maid of honor and the best man a gift?

2. My fiance and I are planning to go with our attendants, to a small town in this state to be married. Is it proper to send marriage announcements afterward? If so, should the new address be on the announcements?

V.T.Y.

1. It's the size of the budget, rather than the size of the wedding, that determines the giving of these gifts to the attendants. I suggest that you do give your attendant a simple, inexpensive gift as "a memento of the occasion", and that your fiance do the same.

2. Yes, it is proper, although of course not strictly necessary, to send marriage announcements, even after this "very small wedding." It isn't proper to engrave the new address on the announcements, but you may properly enclose a small card . . . an "At home" card . . . with your new address on it.

Hat at Wedding?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Will you kindly let me know if a hat should be worn by the mother of the bride at a church wedding?

D.

If the church wedding is in the daytime, the mother of the bride, like all other women who attend the wedding, should wear a hat. If the church wedding is in the evening, and is formal, whether or not the mother wears a hat or some other covering for her head depends on the regulations of the denomination.

COURTESY TIP

In a movie theatre where there is no usher, or in a restaurant where there is no headwaiter, the man leads the way. It is the man's place, not the girl's, to go ahead and find the seats most desirable.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Divorce No Solution

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I am the quiet type of man, now 36, married 18 years; our son is 17. I like to putter around the house and am satisfied to go out a couple of times a week to dinner or a show. I don't drink or smoke, and am not a "jolly good mixer" at a party.

I adore my wife, but she has gradually become the opposite of me. She has a pleasant personality and everybody likes her. She says her love for me has died, but she continues to be a good cook and housekeeper and good mother. She goes out with her friends and sometimes stays out all night or returns at four or five A. M. She says she isn't interested in other men, and that her friends take her to places where they have cocktails, dance, laugh and talk. She wants to enjoy herself, as she was tied down too young with a baby.

I've offered to take her to these places, but she says I'm no fun. Her friends get the impression that I disapprove of them because I'm so quiet, so they avoid me, and I have few friends. And she prefers a divorce to giving up her pleasure. She won't get a job and won't have more children. Will she outgrow this or will we get farther apart in our likes and dislikes, ending in divorce? I fail to see any happiness for myself after a divorce.

R.

Sometimes women who have married too early, losing their playtime of youth, have this resentful attitude toward marriage, their husbands and domestic duties, when they approach middle age. But, as you tell me, a divorce would only make you unhappier than the present arrangement. There seems to be little to do but to put up with things in the hope that she may change her mind.

It's questionable if you gave her a divorce whether she would be any happier than she is at present. She claims she isn't interested in any other man, and your tolerant attitude gives her all the freedom she asks for. In the many years I've answered this column, I've had numerous letters from women of the same type as your wife, and after the last vestige of the marriage bond has been broken, they were extremely unhappy.

You tell me she's a good mother. And keeping up the home in the interests of her son doubtless stands for something in her life. A little more time may furnish a solution.

Would a Post-Card Commit Him to Anything?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've been going with a young lady for a couple of years and would like to send her a picture postal of a beautiful view where I am enjoying my vacation. I don't want to do this if it would give our friendship a serious tone. In fact, I don't want to be committed to anything.

Jay

No, my dear sir, a picture postal of the beautiful view you are enjoying on your vacation commits you to nothing. Why this spasm of prudence? Have you been reading "Pickwick Papers," and wish to avoid Mr. Pickwick's troubles for sending the telegram "chops and tomato sauce?"

The Energy Foods for Young Folk

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

● FORTUNATE THE baby who, until a year of age at least, has his foods ordered for him by the doctor. And you and I can hardly feel happy until proper medical care is available for every baby and its mother.

After babyhood, the child usually has the right food when his whole family is properly fed. The most important foods for children are: milk and milk products, vegetables and fruits, whole grain cereals and bread, eggs, lean meat, fish or poultry, and cod-liver oil. These foods provide the essential vitamins, minerals, other building materials and energy.

The Right Foods

Milk. One and one-half pints a day needed by the growing child, a quart by the expectant or nursing mother, at least a pint for others over 16.

Vegetables and fruits. Every member of the family needs fruit and vegetables daily that are rich in vitamin C, including such as oranges, grapefruit, tomatoes, greens, cabbage, turnips and rutabagas. Children under 4 especially need, daily, oranges, grapefruit or tomatoes, or their juice. Older children and adults need also one serving, at least, every day, of some food rich in vitamin C.

Every member of the family needs, every day, a vegetable or fruit rich in vitamin A. All green vegetables, yellow fruits and ripe tomatoes have vitamin A in abundance. Rich in iron also are green leaves. Let us remember the value of such vegetables as turnip tops, beet tops, kale, spinach, collards, broccoli, lettuce, dandelion, and other edible wild greens. Also the yellow vegetables as, carrots, yellow turnip, rutabagas, squash, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, apricots, and yellow peaches.

Moreover, the growing child needs potatoes or sweet pototoes every day.

Also good and inexpensive foods for daily choice are: apples, pears, bananas, prunes and other dried fruits; dried beans, dried peas, peanuts and peanut butter.

The Energy Foods

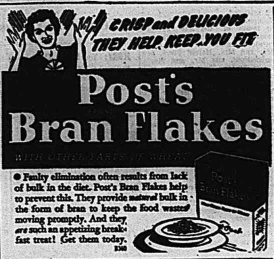
Eggs. For young children and expectant or nursing mothers, 4 or 5 eggs a week are desirable.

Lean meat, fish, poultry. At least 4 servings a week desirable. All lean meats are rich in iron and have some of the vitamins and building materials.

Cereals. A serving once a day, more if money is scarce. Bread at every meal, especially for 'teenage children. Most desirable are whole-grain flour and cereal preparations.

Fats. About three-quarters of a pound per person per week. Butter and cream supply vitamin A as well as energy; most other fat, energy only.

Cod-Liver oil. Needed daily by young children since it contains vitamins necessary for building strong bones and sound teeth. For this reason many doctors recommend it as essential diet of expectant or nursing mothers.



CRISP and DELICIOUS THEY HELP KEEP YOU FIT

Post's Bran Flakes

WITH OTHER PARTS OF WHEAT

● Faulty elimination often results from lack of bulk in the diet. Post's Bran Flakes help to prevent this. They provide natural bulk in the form of bran to keep the food wastes moving promptly. And they are such an appetizing breakfast treat! Get them today.

B340

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

VOMITING

A short time ago, in discussing this subject and a few of the causes, I overlooked one common cause, and several persons have written to remind me of it. One of these was a woman who had written me about her child's vomiting spells. I had suggested that the baby might be swallowing air during feedings, and this she confirmed was the trouble.

Small babies often do swallow small amounts of air either during or between feedings. Children who are overfed are prone to do this. A child may be fed while lying on his side, and if the head isn't supported properly, the milk will come out of the bottle too fast. If he swallows air, along with this rapid flow of milk, then vomiting is quite likely to occur. If the child is fed in an upright position, the air bubbles will have a chance to rise through the food and escape without bringing up the whole feeding along with it.

The best way to prevent trouble as a result of swallowing air is to hold the infant over your shoulder before and after each feeding. Patting the child on the back while he is over your shoulder, will help bring up the air. Nurses in hospitals usually refer to this as "burping" the baby, and I must say this term is very expressive.

Sometimes this procedure must be done in the middle of the feeding. We found this helpful in the cases of the Dionne Quintuplets. From the day they were born, feeding problems cropped up. We just had to keep their food down, for they were so weak they couldn't have lived. So, they were "burped", before, during and after meals when they were small.

It is wisest to handle a child just as little as possible immediately after feedings and the post-feeding "burping" should be done carefully.

Children who suck their thumbs often acquire the habit of swallowing air. The same is true of children who are given comforts or pacifiers.

Vomiting most often occurs of course, when a baby's stomach has been overloaded, either from too heavy or too frequent feedings. Again and again, I have found that children fed at three hour intervals will vomit much oftener than will children whose feeding intervals are four hours apart.

FASHION FLASHES

A NEW NOTE in domestic fashions is struck by gauntlet cuff gloves of black suede or kidskin. The leather gauntlets are decorated in gilt kidskin motifs of a western note, featuring famous ranch names and brandings.

TO THE HEAD OF THE CLASS goes a grand schoolgirl frock. The top is a shirtblouse of fine wool checked in blue or red or white. The full swirling skirt is of plain woolen with strips of the checked fabric outlining the slanting pockets.

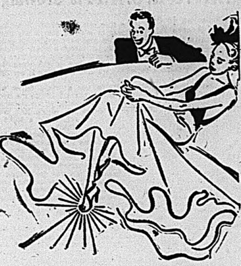
BECOMING to most women is a tambourine sailor in sable brown felt, its upturned brim finely fringed. Thick gold cord that continues through a slot and ends in big gilt tassels at one side.

RIGHT TO ONE SIDE sweep the fastenings of many of the new winter coats. A beauty in black needlepoint woolen has a huge sailor collar of silver fox and at the side, where the coat fastens, an enormous bow of silver fox. Shown too in mink, also in leopard.

A BIT DIFFERENT from the usual hat is a swirled, pointed tricorne made of tiny irridescent feathers pasted onto a buckram foundation. The hat is swathed with misty veiling.

HAWES' No Rubbing FLOOR GLOSS

Eye Shadows Bring Eye Shine



"Soft corns between the toes are horrid pests."

By HELEN FOLLETT

Sometime when you're hanging round a make up bar—you'll find them in the beauty shops of nearly all large department stores — ask the pretty lady in charge to let you play with eye shadows. Or, better still, ask her to see what she can do to make you look beautifully mysterious. She can turn slick cosmetic tricks.

Some girls can flaunt them, others can't, but everyone should find out about the matter, settle it once and for all. The girl with a flair for dress, who is three laps ahead of the fashion parade, can get away with them in fine style. They make her more vivid, bring out the eyeshine. We do not recommend them to the shy little mouse who sits on the side lines; they're out of character.

There is an endless array of colors from which to make a choice —blues, greens, mauves, browns, grey, even purple which do not recommend as it is too suggestive of a black eye.

Mauve is the beauty ticket for the white haired lady with fair skin and blue eyes. Green—a tiny, light film—is dandy for the red head. Brunettes look well with blue lids or bronze ones and, if they are especially exotic with raven locks and very dark eyes, they can flaunt the metallic offerings, especially silver.

They're not easy to apply. Start at the eyelashes, do as a fade away as you sweep upward. Blend and blend.

Soft corns between the toes are caused by excessive moisture of the skin and the pressure of shoes that are narrow. These horrid pests can be extremely painful. They will disappear if correctly fitted shoes are worn, the flesh kept dry with foot powder and a pledget of cotton.

Hard corns should be subjected to a soapy soaking, frictioned with a toilet pumice stone and massaged with mineral oil. To use sharp instruments to remove the hardened skin is to take a chance of getting an infection. Don't do it!

Boredom a Red Flag to Beauty

With nothing to do but kill time, what can you expect?

By HELEN FOLLETT

Few women have more beauty griefs with which to contend than the woman who is restless. Moves about, here and there, putters around, doesn't know what to do with herself. She has gone mentally flat. Enthusiasm has died. Something has blown out the spark of ambition. Feet drag, eyes lack sparkle, lassitude prevails.

Keep the Mind Occupied

The cure for this condition, which takes the color from the complexion and ages the body before its time, is interesting work. Or, if not work, then some interesting study. Or even a fad. Anything to take the mind away from oneself. There are so many things to do. One can learn to be a first-class cook. Making frocks brings a lot of pleasure. There are all manner of outdoor sports that pep up the spirits; all too often these activities do not appeal because the restless woman is downright lazy.

She ought to pull herself out of the ditch of dullness. She isn't good company, nor is she qualified to fight Time, that enemy of good looks.

x x x

It is the season of hurty feet which cause frowns and grouches. A daily change of hosiery helps them to toddle along in comfort, as will a frequent change of footwear.

When the flesh smarts and burns, sponge with cold water, then friction with mineral oil, which is soothing to a dry surface. If corns are present, blame nobody but yourself; properly fitted shoes will send them scattering.

CHARM OF ANOTHER DAY lingers in a delightful evening frocks of black velvet, slim as a sheath and set off by a box-pleated hem ruffle of black moire. Similar treatment for yoke and short sleeves.

Special $3.35

"WHEN I SAY FRESH I MEAN UNTOUCHED!"

..in other words, wrapped in "CELLOPHANE"

"FASTIDIOUS? Maybe I am. But I look at it this way — if packaging in "Cellophane" allows me to buy fresher and cleaner goods it's wise to take advantage of it. After all, why take unnecessary chances?

"That's why I always look for lingerie, hosiery and other wearing apparel in "Cellophane" — I can see what I'm getting, yet I know, when I tear off the wrap that my hands are the first to touch the goods since they left the factory. "The same thing goes for sheets, towels and all other textiles. The transparency of "Cellophane" lets me see what I'm buying and I know that what I select hasn't been handled by other people."

Cellophane

C-I-L CELLULOSE FILM

Housing Problem Seen as Acute In Some Smaller Centres

Troop Concentrations and Expansion of War Industries Seen as Cause

SURVEY BY 'CP'

(By The Canadian Press)

Demands of Canada's war effort have caused a housing problem in Ontario and a survey by The Canadian Press shows that the situation is acute in some of the smaller cities and towns directly affected by troop concentrations and the rapid expansion of war industries.

Shortage of homes has been accompanied by large scale construction operations in most cities, reaching boom proportions in some of the smaller places. Except where the shortage of homes has been extreme, rents have not advanced generally more than $5 a month.

Concentration of Troops

Although industrial expansion has been responsible generally for the shortage that exists, some of the most extreme cases of shortage are seen in Ottawa, Kingston and Barrie due to the concentration of civil and military war employees and their families.

Ottawa—There is an acute shortage of houses and apartments for rent due to the concentration of extra war employees in the Civil Service and additional staffs at Naval, Air and Military Headquarters. About $750,000 has been spent on housing construction since April 1 to meet the demand. Rents have advanced on an average of $5 a month.

Kingston—There is the greatest shortage of houses in many years, due in large part to troop concentrations. The city also is enjoying one of its greatest building booms. Many complaints are being made about rent increases but the main trouble is the lack of houses. Many tenants have had their homes "sold over their heads," and have been unable to find other houses.

Influx of Soldiers' Families

Barrie—There is a decided shortage of houses to rent due to the influx of the wives and families of men at nearby Camp Borden. Rents have gone up sharply and some instances of profiteering have been charged. The Mayor has recommended that complaints be sent to the Federal Government.

Parry Sound—The intensive industrial activity at nearby Nobel accompanied by employment of many hundreds of men has caused such an extreme housing shortage here that chicken coops and garages have been converted into makeshift homes. Mayor C. C. Johnson has said that rents have gone up 100 per cent and he hopes a federal rent controller will be appointed to keep rents at a fair level.

Situation at Kitchener

Kitchener—Houses for rent are scarce but there is no shortage and there are no reports of profiteering. There has been a considerable building boom, including construction of 113 residences ranging in value from $2,500 to $10,000. When national housing act concessions were cancelled, small-home building stopped.

Stratford—Although there is no acute shortage of houses, there has been a widespread building boom involving construction of 19 new dwellings since April 1 compared with four for the corresponding period of 1939. There have been a few rent increases where the owners said the rents should have been raised before. The demand for apartments has dropped since the Perth regiment moved away.

London—There has been an 85 per cent increase in the permit value of new homes built since April 1 compared with the similar period last year. There is a shortage of smaller homes but no shortage of more expensive houses and apartments. Rents generally have not increased although an increase is predicted if the small home shortage continues.

Building in Toronto Increased

Toronto—There has been an increase of building operations since the first of the year of nearly 20 per cent over the corresponding period of 1939. Total building permits of $7,081,343 were issued in the first eight months. August, a typical month, was marked by construction of 15 new brick houses, 49 frame houses and three apartment blocks. There has been a decided move towards the purchasing of residential property and the average price paid is about $4,500. Rentals have increased slightly.

Fort Erie—A special committee has been appointed to study the serious housing shortage which will be more acute when a new industrial unit is opened shortly.

Welland—Residential construction is above normal and there is some shortage of homes due to the expansion of existing plants.

Building Boom at Niagara Falls

Niagara Falls—There is a mild building boom with the the number of building permits about double those for the corresponding period of 1939. A shortage of homes is expected with the expansion of war industries. Rents have advanced on an average of $3 to $5 a month.

Brantford—Despite a shortage of houses, building operations have dropped one-third from the corresponding 1939 level. Agents are "besieged" with requests for houses for rent and rents have risen about 10 per cent. About 100 new homes will be needed when work starts on the new airdrome and military training centre next month.

Sudbury — The mining boom started before the war and now things have settled down and rents are slightly lower than a year ago. There is no shortage of lower and medium-priced homes but there is an acute shortage of higher-class accommodation.

Canadian Spending In U. S. Increases Three War Purchases

Lake George, N.Y., Sept. 16—(CP)—Canada's restrictions on funds for pleasure travel in the United States have not been followed by less Canadian spending in the United States but far more, because of heavy buying of war materials there, A. McD. McBain of the Canadian Foreign Exchange Control Board, told a meeting of the New York State Bankers' Association here Saturday.

The stark question in making such restrictions, he said, was deciding on "the relative importance of the different purposes to which our supply of United States dollars is to be put.

"The maintenance of our debt service and the importation of materials essential for war purposes and for the continued functioning of Canadian industry must have first call on our exchange resources. All other expenditures must give way."

Canadians have had to make sacrifices, accept temporary restrictions of liberty and forego pleasures, and this has reacted on some Americans. "But," he said, "first things come first, and we have no alternative since we must pay cash in United States dollars before we can take delivery of essential war materials."

Brenda Marshall is Errol Flynn's lovely leading lady in "The Sea Hawk," magnificent new romantic picture which is the current screen fare at the Belle.

Rally Day Service Is Open Meeting

The Victoria Avenue Baptist Sunday School met in open session in the church auditorium Sunday afternoon when a large congregation attended Rally Day services.

Mr. P. C. MacLaurin, who was guest speaker, gave an inspiring address on the theme: "The Everlasting Kingdom". This was not only a time to rally together, stated Mr. MacLaurin, "but a time for each one to rally himself in the cause of righteousness. Despite the thrones that had fallen and earthly kings deposed the throne of God would endure for ever," said the speaker, "and all the forces of evil would not prevail against it. In these difficult times we would all have to sacrifice some of our pleasures and luxuries and lend not only our time but our money to help the forces defending the right."

The Scripture lesson was read by Bruce Neal and prayer was offered by the pastor, Rev. C. T. Olmstead. Two splendid anthems were sung by the girls of Miss E. Looker's and Miss D. Aselstine's classes. Mr. Fred D. Fox conducted the promotion exercises and also had charge of the session in the absence of the superintendent, who was at military camp.

Christian Street

Christian Street—Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Roblin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roblin, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cross and family, Mrs. George Oram and sons attended the funeral of the late Wm. Clarke of Foxboro, on Sunday. Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Roblin and other relatives in their bereavement.

A number of members of Crofton Ladies' Aid were guests of the Ladies' Aid at Mount Pleasant on Wednesday afternoon and a pleasant time enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Daly and Mrs. Evelyn Vandusen, of Toronto, spent the week-end with their father, Mr. P. W. Roblin and attended the funeral of their uncle at Foxboro on Sunday.

Miss Marjorie Beale spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. Taylor, at their cottage at Wellington.

Prof. and Mrs. Fred Odell and son of Ann Arbour, Mich., were guests of her aunt, Mrs. M. M. Werden and Mr. Werden, also of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden and family.

The members of Crofton Ladies' Aid were entertained at the home of Mrs. Val Squires of Burr's on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Morden and Beatrice entertained at a family dinner on Sunday with Mrs. Harland Barrow as guest of honor.

Congratulations to the newlyweds—Mr. and Mrs. Don Munro, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Soble and Mr. and Mrs. Warner McFaul. Several from here attended the McFaul charivari on Saturday evening.

Mr. Fred Sherman resumed his work with Messrs. Johnson and Rutter after being home ill with measles.

Miss Gertrude Cross resumed teaching at Big Island School on Sept. 9th after being ill for some time.

Miss Nellie Werden of Victoria spent the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden and family. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Dick and baby of Gilead were also week-end guests at the Werden home.

Mr. Norman Morden spent a recent week-end with Mr. Eric Foster and family of Northport.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Johnson, Mr. Herb Rutter, also Mr. and Mrs. Walter Clark of Crofton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Calnan.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moxam and Lillian of Rossmore spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. David Fox.

The Stars Say

For Tuesday September 17

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A PREPONDERANC of auspicious planetary aspects in this day's astrological map bespeaks conspicuous success, accomplishment and happiness, both in a business and private way. An opening for outstanding achievement in connection with groups or in mass production is definitely shown, and this may be in some humanitarian, social or political plan for uplift, enlightenment or relief. Social, affectional and domestic as well as artistic factors or reactions are involved, but there may be some unwelcome news, or perplexing problems to meet, calling for prudence and precaution. Be especially careful with agreements or correspondence.

Those whose birthday it is may expect an important year, with great propitious and happy accomplishments in both business and personal affiliations. An association with groups for political, humane or spiritual purpose, lofty and ambitious, is probable. Also the social, family or love life should bring both pleasure and profit. But be careful with all manner of writings, documents and correspondence, which may complicate or present anxiety and problems.

A child born on this day may be clever, refined, artistic, affectionate and friendly. It may have an outstanding flare for social service, political prestige or possibly spiritual uplift.

Thousands Acclaim N.P.A.M. Units on Arrival in City After Two-Weeks Training

A. L. I. (Tank) and 34th Battery March to the Armouries Behind Regimental Bands

UNITS QUITE SMART

Sun-tanned members of the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank); the 34th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery and the 2nd Battalion, Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment district non-permanent active militia units received the acclaim of thousands of city and district residents last night, when they arrived home from their two-weeks training period in Petawawa.

The units, headed by the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment arrived at the Canadian Pacific Railway station a few minutes after ten-thirty. The district unit train was transferred to the Canadian National tracks, with the exception of Northern Hastings county members, who detrained here and left for their homes by bus.

Bronzed militiamen of the local units immediately following disembarkation, "fell in" and to the stirring tempos of the regimental band of the A.L.I. and the kilted pipers, swung up Pinnacle Street to the Armouries, where they were dismissed.

Crowds Line Route

Cheering crowds lined the route of march to welcome husbands, brothers, sweethearts and friends. Long before the scheduled time of arrival excited jostling crowds milled about the station impatient to greet the returning soldiers. Officers of the unit had difficulty in making room for the units, when they detrained. From the station along Pinnacle Street sidewalks were packed with throngs of humanity. The Pinnacle Street-Bridge Street intersection was black with people when the troops swung by. The Armouries was the scene of many joyful reunions. In fact, as one old soldier puts it, "You would think the boys had just returned from winning a war".

It was a vastly different parade of men, that swung through city streets following their training period, to that which departed from here two weeks ago. Shoulders were straighter. The bronzed tan the result of fourteen days training under hot sun and wind, blended with the colors of their denim-battle dress. Their rifles were held correctly at the slope and they swung along the route of march with the stride of experienced soldiers. It was a clear exemplification of two weeks' strenuous training under capable officers and competent instructors.

And during the period, nearly one thousand young men of this district have secured a new lease on life. Like the traditional "Tommy Atkins" the Canadian counterparts have not been averse to an occasional grouch, but without exception all who attended the Petawawa training camp admit they have benefited tremendously. A casual survey of various members of the unit resulted in a consensus of opinion that practically amounted to "Everybody had a swell time".

"I wouldn't have missed it for anything", grinned a tanned young sergeant. "It was swell Ma, but I'm glad to be home", said a young soldier after he had received the maternal greeting.

Broader Conception Given Men

A broader conception of the nation's war effort was brought home to these men through their training period. Artificialities of city life wear pretty thin under the close scrutiny of other men who are at one's side during the long hours of drill and manoeuvre, and in the bivouac and hut or tent at night. They made new friendships, cemented old ones, and received a new slant on things military. That the new environment agreed with them was seen in the splendid appearance of the units as they marched through city streets last night.

In conversation with available officers of the unit, a reporter learned that the "boys" lived up to the traditions of the thousands of men of this district who have been in the service of their country. "They behaved themselves admirably and were a credit to Belleville and its surrounding districts", one said.

Only two "casualties" marred an otherwise two weeks of perfect camp-life. One member of the Argylls suffered a broken ankle when playing softball, while another, believe it or not, went sick with the mumps.

R.C.A.F. Hurricane Squadron Brings Down 3 Nazi Bombers

Canadians Have Brought Down at Least 20 Since Unit Went Into Action

MANY ARE DAMAGED

By SAM ROBERTSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 16—(CP Cable) — The Royal Canadian Air Force hurricane squadron shot down three bombers and probably destroyed at least that many more on Sunday in contributing to what the Air Ministry today described as the British fighter command's "greatest victory over the Luftwaffe."

Spitfire and Hurricane pilots wiped out a third of the bombers and fighters massed for what was intended to have been the enemy's heaviest attack on London.

But, instead of dumping wholesale death and destruction on the capital, the raiders had to fight a major battle over the clouds which ended in the destruction of 185 of their members—the greatest bag of any day since the war began.

Anti-aircraft crews, whose marksmanship is improving steadily with experience, destroyed seven of these. The rest fell to fighter pilots.

Twelve pilots of the 25 British planes missing parachuted to safety. Compared with this the Nazis lost at least 450 trained airmen.

Sqdn.-Ldr. Ernest McNab of Regina and his flying Canadians fought one of the most bitter battles of their comparatively young careers when they drove their Hurricanes into a strong formation of the many planes Goering flung on the United Kingdom.

After sending three big bomb carriers careening to earth and seeing three or four others turn toward the coast or seek safety in the clouds, the Canucks zoomed upwards at a wave of Nazi fighters.

The sky was soon speckled by dogfights. A number of Messerschmitts were known to have been damaged when the Germans broke off the fight.

While official figures are not released until the pilots' reports are carefully verified, it is believed that the Canadian squadron's toll of raiders destroyed and probably destroyed at least 20, and since the Canadians first went into action as a unit Aug. 25 the number known to have been splintered and otherwise damaged by their machine-gun fire is greater than that figure.

Canada's 2nd War Loan will make the grade— if You are willing to help!

Is this too much to ask?

There stands Britain — where Canadian fighter squadrons are breaking up Nazi raids and Canadian divisions are guarding those ancient cliffs and beaches so precious to you now.

We Canadians can conquer a simple matter like this 2nd War Loan, just as we can expect our fighting forces to help conquer the enemy.

If you have not subscribed, don't hold back any longer — if you have subscribed consider increasing your subscription at once.

Before now, Canada's War Loan Bonds have proved to be the finest possible investment. They will do so again. They are safe, marketable and provide a good return.

See your investment dealer, bank or stock broker.

Nothing you can do today is as important as this.

Published by the Government of the Dominion of Canada on behalf of
Canada's Fighting Forces —
who are expecting your support for Canada's 2nd War Loan.

South Hastings "Combines" Defeat Deloro "Smelters" 9-4 In Ten Frames to Win Round

Winners Score 5 Runs in Tenth With Bleekman Hitting Triple With Bases Loaded

BARRIAGE STEADY

Allows Only Six Hits While St. Louis and Bleekman Had Three Hits Apiece—Collins Fields Well

Scoring five runs in the first half of the tenth inning, the South Hastings "Combines" defeated Deloro "Smelters" at Deloro on Saturday afternoon, hanging up a 9-4 decision to take the third and deciding game of their best two out of three series in the O.B.A. Intermediate 'C' playoffs. The local "Combines" will now enter the third round of the O.B.A. playdowns and will undoubtedly await a winner to be declared in the Lake Shore group, so local baseball fans will at least see another ball game before the season is concluded.

To "Chuck" Barriage must go a lion's share of Saturday's glory in winning over the "Smelters" as after turning the northern lads back here last Wednesday, he repeated with a colorful six-hit performance, limiting the opposition to one earned run and pitched shutout ball after the fifth inning. Casey, who hurled for the Deloro lads, was nicked for a total of 16 safeties over the ten inning route, but until the disastrous tenth, pitched steady ball. Nine Deloro batters were whiffed by Barriage who gave up two walks and hit two batters. Casey struck out two and walked two.

Bleekman Hits Triple in Tenth

It remained for Bleekman's mammoth three base clout in the tenth with the bases loaded to write finis to Saturday's ball game. With the score tied at four-all beginning the tenth, the "Combines" managed to fill the bases and after one run was scored on Jarrell's single, Bleekman strode to the plate and cracked out a triple, that took all the fight out of the Deloro lads.

For the regulation nine inning period, however, it was as pretty a hurling duel as you would care to watch with both teams going scoreless after the sixth. Deloro scored once in the first inning only to have the "Combines" even matters in their half of the second. Starting the fourth the visitors went two ahead as Collins and St. Louis led off with singles only to be scored with a smashing double from Marsh's bat. Deloro scored three in their half of the fifth as an error and a walk put Barriage in a hole. Before the side was retired the homesters were out in front by one run but the visitors scored again in the sixth to tie the ball game up.

Collins Steals Limelight

"Ripper" Collins, playing at third for the locals, stole the limelight, scoring four of his team's nine runs and connecting for three hits as well as accepting six chances afield. St. Louis and Bleekman also hit well for the winners, connecting for three singles, and two one base blows and a triple respectively. As a team, Deloro rather outfielded the winners, with Wright at second being in on eight plays as well as being the pivot for the only double killing of the afternoon. McInroy at third also played well.

The box score:

VICTORS

Combines	AB	R	H	PO	A
Jarrell, 2b	6	1	2	2	2
Bleekman, rf	6	1	3	0	0
Sero, ss	6	0	2	4	1
Empson, lf	6	0	1	1	0
Collins, 3b	5	4	3	3	3
St. Louis, c	5	2	3	9	0
Marsh, lf	5	1	1	0	0
Carson, 1b	4	0	0	11	1
Barriage, p	4	0	1	0	4
Totals	47	9	16	30	11
Deloro	AB	R	H	PO	A
Gray, ss	5	1	0	0	2
Gazley, lf	5	2	1	3	0
Wright, 2b	5	1	1	4	4
Brown, c	5	0	1	5	1
McInroy, 3b	5	0	2	3	2
M. Callery, cf	4	0	1	1	1
Casey, p	4	0	0	2	3
Knowles, rf	5	0	0	1	0
S. Callery, 1b	3	0	0	11	0
xHunter	1	0	0	0	0
Totals	42	4	6	30	13

xBatted for Casey in tenth.

Score by innings:		R	H	E
Combines	010 201 000 5	9	16	6
Deloro	100 030 000 0	4	6	5

Summary: Errors, Jarrell 2, Sero Collins, St. Louis, Carson, Barriage, Gray 2, Wright, M. Callery, Casey; two base hit, Marsh and Gazley; three base hit, Bleekman; runs batted in, Barriage, Marsh 2, Jarrell, Bleekman 3, Empson, McInroy 2, Wright 2; stolen bases, St. Louis, Knowles; left on base, Combines 11, Deloro 9, hit by pitcher, by Barriage (S. Callery and M. Callery); struck out by Barriage, 9, by Casey 2; bases on balls, off Casey 2, off Barriage 2; wild pitch, Casey. Umpires, "Red" Townsend, plate and Regan, bases.

PORT McNICHOL DEFEATS WOOLER IN SECOND GAME

Winners Take "C" O.A.S.A. Round in Two Straight Games

SCORE IS 3-2

Game Developed Into Pitcher's Battle With Each Hurler Allowing Five Hits

Trenton, Sept. 16 (Special)—Port McNichol advanced to the 4th round of the Intermediate O.A.S.A. playdowns here on Saturday when they defeated Wooler by a 3-2 count in a closely contested battle. The winners took the series in straight games, the first being played at the "Port" and won by the homesters.

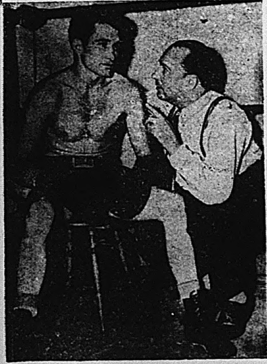
Wooler took the lead in the first inning when they shoved over a single run. They "accordioned" the game by scoring another and their remaining counter in the ninth. The effort was not good enough as the winners counted a brace of markers in the sixth and added the winning run in the final innings.

The game developed into a pitchers' battle with Howe, Port hurler and Stacey, on the mound for the losers, limiting the sluggers of both teams to five hits. Airtight fielding and additional defensive work on the part of both squads resulted in a fine exhibition.

Score by innings:
Port McNichol .. .. 000 002 001—3
Wooler .... 100 000 001—2

Batteries—Howe and Armstrong; Stacey and Radcliffe.

WORDS OF BOXING WISDOM FROM LEONARD



Benny Leonard, RIGHT, who retired as undefeated lightweight champion many years ago, gives some worthwhile advice to the present lightweight king, Lew Jenkins of Sweetwater, Tex., at Philadelphia, Pa., where Lew meets Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery in a non-title bout September 16. While Leonard is backing Jenkins, Lew Tendler, a ring rival of Leonard's in those "good old days," is backing Montgomery.

Here's the Smoke Treat You've Been Waiting For!

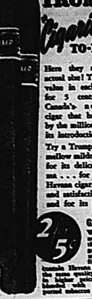
Try a TRUMP "Cigarillo" TO-DAY

Here they are — actual size! Ten cent value in each at 2 for 5 cents . . . Canada's newest cigar that has sold by the millions since its introduction.

Try a Trump for its mellow mildness . . . for its delicate aroma . . . for its real Havana cigar flavour and satisfaction . . . and for its price.

Guarantee

We guarantee that these cigars today at two for five cents contain Havana filler of the same quality as used in higher priced cigars blended with fine imported tobaccos . . . .



ROCHESTER WINGS CROWNED CHAMPS OF INT. LEAGUE

Playoffs Start on Tuesday With Rochester Meeting Orioles and Newark Playing Jersey City

MONTREAL MISSES

Playoff Berth Denied Royals by Half-Game Although Team Won Five Over Weekend

Rochester Red Wings, who won the International League playoffs last year after finishing the regular season in second place, will take their newly-won championship into the 1940 playoffs against Baltimore Orioles tomorrow.

Newark and Jersey City, second and third, respectively, in the long season which ended yesterday, will meet in the other preliminary round. Both series are four-of-seven affairs, like the governors' cup final between the two winners. The ultimate survivor will meet the American Association playoff winner in the little world series.

The Orioles took their last two games from Jersey City 6-4 and 9-0 to remain a game in front of Montreal Royals. Montreal finished by taking five straight from the last-place Toronto Maple Leafs, the last two yesterday by 3-2 and 2-0, but missed out on its playoff bid. Baltimore's double victory put the Orioles only a half game behind Jersey City.

Rochester finished with a 2 1-2-game margin after losing a 2-1 decision to Buffalo while Newark was breaking even with Syracuse, winning 2-0 after taking a 6-5 setback. That gave the Bears, who were fourth until late June, a record of 57 victories and 32 defeats after July 4.

Jack Tising broke a 10-game winning streak for the Bears in yesterday's opener but Johnny Johnson and Hank Borowy collaborated on a two-hit pitching job in the nightcap. Rochester's lone defeat came at the hands of Hal White, brilliant Bison rookie, who yielded eight hits but left seven runners stranded. The second game was rained out.

Nick Etten and Gene Corbett led Baltimore to its double victory by belting out five hits apiece as the Orioles collected 13 in each contest. Italo Chelini pitched seven-hit ball for Baltimore in the second game.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 16 —(AP)—Week's Wash: Don McNeill can hardly wait till he catches up with the Radio announcer who called him Jim "Oakie" . . . Salt Lake City is trying to get Jack Dempsey to pull up stakes here and settle down in the old home town. They can't do that to us!. . Alice Marble's favorite yarn is of the days when she was the tow-headed mascot of the San Francisco ball club—used to go out in centrefield and shag flies.

Some weeks back we told of a baseball team which staged an uproarious 18-run inning in which one player came to bat three times and got three hits and another went up three times and drew three walks. . . We never thought we'd read of anything to beat the likes of that, but here it is. . . . Texas League record show that in August, 1929 Waco defeated Beaumont 20-7. . . .. Waco scored 18 runs in the eighth inning . . . .Gene Pye, Waco's centrefielder, was up three times in the eighth. . . .He slammed out three homers—one to the right one to centre and one to left . . . . it's in the book.

An unidentified contributor wants to know if, when he is through with the Cubs, Zeke Bonura will favor a third team in Washington.

Feller Leads Way to Double Decision Over Philadelphia Putting Indians in First Place

Bobby Scores Shutout Retiring 22 Batters in Order Before Hit is Registered

TIGERS BEATEN

Yankees Drop Behind by Losing Doubleheader to St. Louis Browns

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

As quickly as you can say Robert William Andrew Feller, Cleveland Indians have ascended again to the top of the American League, a full game in front of Detroit Tigers.

Feller led the way to a double decision over Philadelphia Athletics yesterday by giving up only two hits, striking out seven and for the second time in his Major League career allowing no walks, and scoring a 5-0 shutout. He retired the first 22 batters in order.

It was Feller's 25th victory against nine losses and helped put Cleveland right in front of the pennant picture. In the nightcap when the A's got rough but George Caster, after pitching no-hit ball for four frames, blew wide open and the Trige triumphed 8-5.

At the same time the Tigers were tamed 6-1 by Dutch Leonard of Washington Senators, who gave only six hits and one run—a homer by Rudy York.

The onrushing Chicago White Sox won two and the slowing-up New York Yankees lost two, leaving this lineup:

	Won	Lost	Pct.	GB	TP
Cleveland ..	81	59	.579	—	14
Detroit	80	60	.571	1	14
New York ..	77	62	.554	3½	15
Chicago	78	64	.549	4	12
Boston	74	67	.532	7½	13

Browns Win Twice

The Yankees were the victims of St. Louis Browns, 10-5 and 2-1. This ran New York's slump to five defeats in six games and put the champs in jeopardy of being passed by Chicago White Sox, who just about eliminated Boston Red Sox 5-1 and 4-2.

In the National League Cincinnati Reds stretched their first-place margin to nine games by conquering Brooklyn Dodgers 13-3 in the first game of a doubleheader. The second game ended in a 1-1 tie when darkness halted play after 11 innings and will be tried over today.

Pittsburgh Pirates knocked New York Giants into sixth place with a double victory 16-3 and 4-3, ending their own losing streak at five games and extending the Giants' skid to seven

St. Louis Cardinals refused to budge from their third-place perch, trimming the Phillies 7-0 and 3-1. Boston Bees and Chicago Cubs divided a doubleheader 7-3 and 7-4.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Ted Lyons and Joe Kuhel, White Sox—Former pitched three-hit ball to beat Red Sox in first game and latter won nightcap with home run in 10th inning.

Bob Feller and Ben Chapman, Indians — Feller pitched two-hit shutout against Athletics and Chapman bated in two runs to lead tribe to triumph in second game.

Bucky Walters and Jim Ripple—Reds—Walters earned 20th victory with five-hit hurling in first game with help of three-run homer by Ripple, who also doubled for Cincinnati's only run in nightcap.

Dutch Leonard, Senators—Pitched six-hitter that dumped Tigers out of American League lead.

Rip Sewell, Pirates, —Scored 15th triumph with eight-hit hurling against Giants.

RED CROSS MATCH WILL BE VETOED BY GOLF PREXY

Pros. Would be Too Swift for Amateurs and Result in Poor Match

CHAPMAN WINS

Dickie Chapman Defeats Duff McCullough 11 and 9 in Poorest Exhibition for a Final in Year

New York, Sept. 16 (AP)—I think that Hal Pierce of Boston, President of the U. S. Golf Association and an amateur at heart, will be smart if he continues to say no to a proposed Red Cross match along Walker Cup lines between picked teams of the country's amateur and professional linksmen.

The proposal was put up to Pierce during the past week, while he was watching the amateurs play for their national title at the Winged Foot Club. He said no, possibly because he had been watching the amateurs.

It wouldn't be much of a match. I speak as one who just witnessed the stirring struggles between the money players at Hershey, Pa., and the one-sided matches between members of the awkward squad at Winged Foot. The contrast was pretty awful.

The professionals were uniformly fine golfers—at least those who qualified for match play. In duel after duel toward the last, holes were won only with birdies.

On the other hand, the amateur who could approximate par over Winged Foot during the past week was more than likely to find himself winning by some lop-sided margin like 6 and 5. Close, hard-fought matches were few and far between, right through the final in which Dick Chapman, the New York playboy, overwhelmed W. G. "Duff" McCullough of Philadelphia, 11 and 9.

There are no Bobby Joneses in today's amateur crop. Marvin (Bud) Ward of Spokane, Wash., and Wilford Wehrle of Chicago probably are the closest approaches. Both came down with the wobbliest sort of rounds to lose out in the latter stages of the amateur.

Chapman played scrambling golf all week to win out on his "home" course, the layout he knows best. He was all over the joint with his drives and his approaches, but some of his putting bordered on the miraculous. He knocked them down from any and all parts of the green.

As for McCullough, he probably was the most surprised finalist in golf history. He has been playing golf almost since infancy, but at 32 he has never won an important crown and plays mostly on weekends. His progress to the final round filled him with amazement. For instance, he knocked off such a former luminary as Gus Moreland with a score of approximately 80. Imagine him trying to compete against, say, Sammy Snead in a charity round!

BASEBALL'S Results & Standings

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
(Final Standing)

	W.	L.	Pct.
Rochester	95	61	.609
Newark	95	65	.594
Jersey City	81	78	.509
Baltimore	81	79	.506
Montreal	80	80	.500
Buffalo	76	82	.482
Syracuse	71	90	.441
Toronto	57	101	.361

Sunday Results
Montreal 3-2; Toronto 2-0.
Baltimore 6-9; Jersey City 4-0.
Syracuse 6-0; Newark 5-2.
xBuffalo 2; Rochester 1.
x—Second game postponed; rain.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cleveland	81	59	.579
Detroit	80	60	.571
New York	77	62	.554
Chicago	78	64	.549
Boston	74	67	.525
Washington	60	80	.429
St. Louis	60	82	.423
Philadelphia	50	86	.368

Sunday Results
Cleveland 5-8; Philadelphia 0-5.
St. Louis 10-2; New York 5-1.
Chicago 5-x4; Boston 1-2.
Washington 6; Detroit 1.
x—10 innings.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cincinnati	90	47	.657
Brooklyn...	83	58	.589
St. Louis	72	64	.529
Pittsburgh	72	66	.522
Chicago....	68	73	.484
New York..	66	72	.478
Boston....	59	82	.418
Philadelphia	45	93	.326

Sunday Results
Cincinnati 13-x1; Brooklyn 3-1.
Pittsburgh 10-4; New York 3-3.
Boston 7-4; Chicago 3-7.
St. Louis 7-3; Philadelphia 0-1.
x—Called at end of 11th—darkness.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION
(Final Standing)

	W.	L.	Pct.
Kansas City	95	59	.625
Columbus	90	60	.600
Minneapolis	86	59	.593
Louisville	75	75	.500
St. Paul,...	69	79	.466
Indianapolis	62	84	.425
Toledo	59	90	.395
Milwaukee	58	90	.392

Sunday Results
Kansas City 12-x6; Minneapolis 9-6.
Louisville 13-1; Toledo 2-4.
Indianapolis 2-3; Columbus 1-4.
St. Paul 4-0; Milwaukee 3-2.
x—Called end of 7th. Sunday law.

Provincial League To Operate as Usual

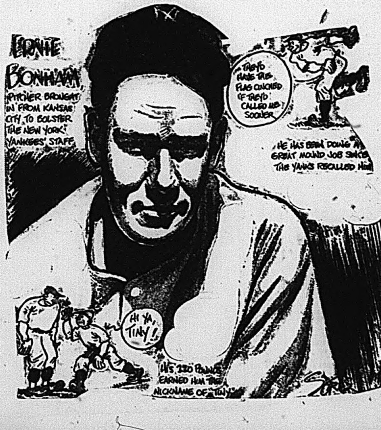
Montreal, Sept. 16 (CP)—After a five-hour meeting here yesterday, the executive of the Provincial Senior Hockey League decided to operate as usual this season, despite the loss of two teams.

Sherbrooke Red Raiders, league champions last season, and Verdun Bulldogs, announced their retirement from the league. Bulldogs are expected to apply for entry into the Quebec Senior Hockey League, while Sherbrooke plans are indefinite.

Possibility was seen after the meeting that the P.S.H.L. would play an inter-locking schedule with the Q.S.H.L., the leagues operating independently but with teams staging home-and-home series with teams of the other league, the points to count in their respective standings.

(A meeting of the Q.S.H.L. members has been called for Wednesday night.)

Teams remaining in the P.S.H.L. are Boston Olympics, Lachine, Valleyfield, St. Hyacinthe, Shawinigan, and Quebec Beavers.



ERNIE BONHAM, PITCHER BROUGHT IN FROM KANSAS CITY TO BOLSTER THE NEW YORK YANKEES' STAFF
THEY'D HAVE THE FLAG CINCHED IF THEY'D CALLED ME SOONER
HE HAS BEEN DOING A GREAT MOUND JOB SINCE THE YANKS RECALLED HIM
HI YA, TINY!
HIS 220 POUNDS EARNED HIM THE NICKNAME OF "TINY"
NY

Step Out This Fall In Style

Everything For The Young Collegian!

CHOOSE FROM SMART STYLES AND QUALITY MERCHANDISE.

QUICK & ROBERTSON

CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with
Ken J. Colling

Although it took them ten innings to dispose of the Deloro "Smelters" in a third and final game, "Doc" Empson's South Hastings "Combines" turned the trick on Saturday, scoring more runs in the top half of the 10th, than they had pushed over home plate in the nine previous frames. The "Combines" got to Carl Casey for five runs in the tenth to win by a 9 to 4 score. Again it proved a case of too much Chuckie Barriage for Bob Elliott's "Smelters" as Barriage hurled six-hit ball, struck out nine, threw out four and had a hit that drove in a run, which is a pretty fair average afternoon's effort on the ball diamond for any moundsman. On the other hand the Combines nicked Carl Casey for a total of 16 solid base blows, including a triple by righthander Bill Bleekman of the South Hastings nine. After the fifth Barriage tightened up and only once from that point did Deloro get a man to third. The Combines now will meet the district winner north of Oshawa.

The highways and byways lead to the Hume arena tonight for the professional grappling show. With the admitting of Canadian soldiers and members of the Air Force as guests of the arena, no doubt an increased crowd will welcome the gladiators. Incidentally Speedy Mason, the former American professional football player, who meets George Pavish in the main bout tonight, comes to this city highly recommended as a wrestler of the first water. It is the first time Mason has ever appeared east of Windsor. After last week's show the fans are clamouring for an opponent to subdue the pugnacious Pavish and Mason with his famous flying tackle hold, learned on the professional gridiron, may be just the proper man to take care of the rough, unorthodox Pavish. One thing certain can be said, the fans are assured of one crowd-pleaser in Pedro Valdez, the lithe Mexican, who was always a favourite in Belleville. He meets Sam Karlskosta as part of a three-card bout.

Wooler passed out of the O.A.S.A. picture on Saturday losing 3 to 2 to Port McNichol at Trenton. The "sluggers" failed to rally sufficiently in their accustomed ninth inning effort, although they scored one in the last half of the ninth, but they left the tying run on the runways, as Howe, Port McNichol's hurler, abruptly halted Wooler's dying effort. Port McNichol took the round in successive games, having won at home 9 to 5. With the passing of Wooler from the softball wars of the season, there is only one team east of Oshawa left in the O.A.S.A. playdowns, that being the R.C.A.F. Fliers. However, in baseball circles the fans have the South Hastings "Combines" to support and providing the weatherman smiles and provides a little warmer weather for the remainder of the month, no doubt increased baseball attendance can be looked for here. Incidentally it was Bill Bleekman's three base smash, with the bases loaded, that broke up Saturday's game at Deloro.

Wm. J. Walshe sports editor of the Kingston Whig-Standard unrolls a lot of truth in the following paragraph: "It is bad enough when sports writers use war terms to describe games and plays as if there is not enough fighting mentioned in other parts of the newspaper, but it's about time words like blitzkrieg were dropped entirely not only from sports stories but from other reports. There are plenty of good English words to describe anything pertaining to peace, war or every-day happenings without resorting to terms from a language of a country that is trying by every unethical means to crush our home-lands. By dropping the German war terms that have crowded into our vocabulary in the last year we might render a service to our Empire of talking, writing and thinking British."

(To which we add an emphatic 'amen' and although an offender in the past, we'll string along with Bill and hope others will see the light. "Nice going Willie.")

Do you remember when "Sunny Jim" Bottomley, St. Louis Cardinals first-baseman, batted in 12 runs in one game to set a major baseball record 16 years ago today. Playing against Brooklyn Dodgers, Bottomley had a perfect six-for-six at bat. The Cards won 17-3.

The Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League, will commence their fall training period at St. Hyacinthe, Que., on Oct. 8th., Business Manager Tommy Gorman announced over the week end. It will be recalled that Dick Irwin, was named as managing-coach of the Flying Frenchmen last spring. Fifteen amateurs will be getting trials with the Habitant sextette at St. Hyacinthe. The Rangers will train at Winnipeg and it is expected the Maple Leafs will return to St. Catharines.

The Northern Ontario Secondary Schools' Association will continue its conventional sporting program, with expenses curtailed as much as possible. The sports program in the schools is conducive to the maintenance of school and public morals and should be carried through wherever possible.

Sport Spice — 'Member Jo Jo Graboski, the one-eyed centre ice puckster who was with the Allan Cup Blue Devils last winter? Well Joey's with the Glace Bay Miners in the same league with his brother Tony, who is with the Sydney Millionaires.....It proved a drastic week end for the Detroit Tigers, who lost to the Yankees on Saturday and the Senators yesterday....In the meantime the Indians won two and are perched on the top rung of the American League ladder....Bucky Walters chalked up his 20th win of the season when the Reds beat the Dodgers yesterday, which is no mean pitching effort in any man's baseball loop....Chalk up another win for the rejuvenated Dizzy Dean, he beat the Boston Bees as they split with the Cubs....The Hollinger Bombers, with Art Scarlett in left field, won the N.O.B.A. title over the week end..Oshawa beat Toronto in the senior O.B.A. final opener and should win the series.

League Leaders

(By The Associated Press

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting — Lombardi, Cincinnati, .319.
Runs—Mize, St. Louis, and Werber, Cincinnati, 101.
Runs batted in—Mize, St. Louis, 120.
Hits—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 175.
Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 41.
Triples—Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.
Home Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 41.
Stolen Bases—Moore, St. Louis, and Frey, Cincinnati, 17.
Pitching—Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 15-2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting—Dimaggio, New York, .348.
Runs—Williams, Boston, 121.
Runs batted in—Greenberg, Detroit, 130.
Hits—Cramer, Boston, 189.
Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 48.
Triples—McCosky, Detroit, 17.
Home Runs—Foxx, Boston, 35.
Stolen Bases—Case, Washington, 29.
Pitching—Rowe, Detroit, 14-3.

MAKE IT A HABIT TO READ THE WANT-ADS DAILY

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER WANT AD RATES

Minimum Charge for the first twenty words, per Insertion 30c
Two Insertions 60c
Three Insertions 75c
Over Twenty Word, 1½c per word per insertion.
Box number .... extra 10c
Copy accepted until 12.30 noon on day of publication.
Telephone 99.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL
17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1132. "THE HEALTH INSTITUTE" 231 William St. Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils. Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 382 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 900. Lady attendant.

H. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists. Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1154W

LEGAL

S. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 256½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2500. S27-1y

A WONDERFUL FEELING!

Bills All Paid— Money to Spend!

That's what a QUINTE loan does for you! And they're low-cost, easily repaid, strictly confidential, no red tape.

QUINTE FINANCE and SECURITIES LIMITED
BELLEVILLE
162 Front St. Phone 162

WANTED

MAN FOR GENERAL CLEANING around hotel. Apply Docter's Hotel. S16-1t

SINGLE LADY DESIRES A heated apartment on the east hill, consisting of kitchenette, bedroom and sitting room, or sitting room bedroom, and private bath room. 'Phone particulars to 497. S16-4t

GIRL FOR GENERAL HOUSEwork. Apply 48 Everett St. S16-1t

WARM ROOM IN MODERN home by young man at business. State garage facilities if any and rate to Box 7, Ontario Intelligencer. S16-2t

LARGE HEATED VACANT ROOM —housekeeping privileges, rent reasonable by school girl. P.O. Box 239. S16-2t

TO BUY, 200 BUSHEL OR MORE of grain, wheat, barley and oats. Apply M. Kane, Foxboro, Ont. S16-1t

TWO OR THREE ROOM UNfurnished or partly furnished apartment. Young couple. Immediate possession. State location and price. Jack Sproule, Shannonville. S16-2t

MARRIED COUPLE, PREFERably without children for club, accommodating staff of industrial plant. Ordinarily comprised of 15 to 20 members. Located in Central Ontario village. Excellent position for right parties. Apply stating references and experience to Box R, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-16-18

APPLICATIONS WILL BE REceived until October 1st, 1940, for the position of Chief Librarian at Corby Public Library, Belleville, duties to begin on December 1st. Applicants will state qualifications, experience and salary expected. Living quarters heated, are provided on the premises. Address applications to H. J. Clarke, B.A., Secretary, 255 Foster Ave., Belleville. S14-3t

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHer, must be good typist and able to transcribe shorthand accurately. Write Box F, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-3t

TO RENT, HOUSE WITH HYdro preferred, in or near town. Mrs. Henry Dean, Bonarlaw. S13-3t

150 ACRES OR MORE, FARM TO rent or work on shares. Write stating particulars, Box D, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

SOMEONE TO COACH ALGEBRA, Geometry and Latin four evenings a week. Address replies to Box J Ontario Intelligencer. S4-tf

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

HELP WANTED
AMBITIOUS MAN OR WOMAN needed to take charge of profitable route in Belleville. Business established. Full credit for repeat orders. Commission and bonus average $1.50 per hour. Write promptly Dept. C.M.S., 2177 Masson St., Montreal
S9, 16, 23, 30

LOST

IN CITY, SATURDAY AFTERnoon, pair of nose glasses in case. Finder please leave at Ontario Intelligencer. S16-1t

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
THE SEA HAWK
Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall
2.50 — 7.08 — 9.25

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
ISLE OF DESTINY
June Lang — Wallace Ford
3.10 — 8.00 — 10.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
TROUBLE IN MOROCCO
Jack Holt, Mae Clarke, G. Henry Gordon
7.00 — 9.30
MANHATTAN HEARTBEAT
Robt. Sterling, Joan Davis
Virginia Gilmore
8.00 — 10.30

Madoc

Madoc.—The Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church, Madoc, held an open meeting in the Sunday School rooms on the afternoon of Friday, Sept. 13th. Members from neighboring auxiliaries accepted an invitation to attend. Devotional exercises were conducted by the president, Mrs. Manley Fox, and Mrs. Ferguson contributed a reading, "A Little Parable For Mothers." Mrs. Dafoe in a few well-chosen words introduced the guest speaker. Miss Paddock, missionary at large in North Frontenac County. Miss Paddock was one of a class of twenty that entered the W.M.S. Training School in Toronto two years ago. All the provinces of the Dominion except Quebec were represented in this class and today through their earnest Christian work is being carried on in B.C., Peace River District, China, India, Trinidad, Hudson Bay and Toronto. It was a great privilege to have Miss Paddock present and to hear of the work that is being carried on among neighbors on the Denbigh-Plevna charge. A social half-hour followed the meeting, enabling the members to meet Miss Paddock.

On Thursday, September 12th, at the United Church, one of the W. A. Groups under the leadership of Mrs. Ambrose Smith, held a very successful afternoon tea and a business men's supper. Musical numbers were given by Barbara Nicol, Barbara Phillips, Phyllis Tanner and Phyllis Beatty; a solo by Mrs. C. Caverly and instrumental music by Mrs. L. Ashley.

Mrs. Alex Moore of Belleville is spending a few days with her son, Mr. Carl McCoy and Mrs. McCoy.

KEEP A THING SEVEN YEARS AND YOU'LL FIND A USE FOR IT —

KEEP READING THE WANT ADS. FOR SEVEN DAYS AND YOU'LL FIND MANY USES FOR THEM.

—AFTER THAT — YOU'D NEVER BE WITHOUT THEM.

TO LET

ON OR BEFORE OCTOBER 1, two or three rooms, unfurnished, heat and light. Apply 172 E. Dundas St. S16-3t

HEATED FURNISHED BEDroom, all conveniences. Few minutes walk from business section. Apply 15 N. Front St. S16-1t

LARGE BED SITTING ROOM and kitchen, furnished; heat, light and water, ground floor, private entrance, near Front St., on bus line. Use of phone. Phone 1414J for appointment. S14-3t

HOUSE, 32 HILLSIDE, ALL CONveniences, hot water heating, wired for electric range, garage. Possession October 1. Apply Dr. Duprau, 267½ Front St. or on premises. S14-4t

FURNISHED BED SITTING room, kitchenette, newly decorated, every convenience. R.A.F. Officer and wife preferred. Phone 869W. S14-3t

SIX ROOM HOUSE, 201 CHARLES St. Apply Jamieson Bone & Co. S14-2t

OCTOBER 1ST., THREE UNfurnished rooms near C.N.R. Station, $6.00 weekly, including heat and light. Write Box 9, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-3t

TWO UNFURNISHED HEATED rooms. Phone 304J. S9-6t

LARGE FURNISHED FRONT BED sitting room, heated, also bedroom, furnished, gentlemen preferred, near Front St. Write Box 3, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-3t

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

Misses Margaret O'Connell and Betty Stewart leave on Monday for Kingston where they will enter the School of Nursing at Hotel Dieu.

DR. GLENN FRANK, EDUCATOR, KILLED

Candidate for Republican Nomination in Wisconsin for Senator is Accident Victim

Greenleaf, Wis., Sept. 16—(AP)—Dr. Glenn Frank, 52, Republican political adviser, educator and author, was killed in an automobile accident last night on the election eve of his first campaign for public office.

His son, Glenn Frank, Jr., 21, a newspaper reporter, was fatally injured and a publicity aide suffered minor injuries.

Dr. Frank, chairman of the Republican party's policy committee, was seeking the United States senatorial nomination in tomorrow's Wisconsin primary election.

En route from one political gathering to another, Frank's automobile failed to round a curve at a road intersection, crashed into a sand pile, and overturned.

Theodore Stumpf, 23, of Waukanee, a member of Frank's campaign publicity staff, was burned by acid let loose by the automobile's campaign sound equipment.

Tibbett Forced to Cancel Tour

New York (AP)—Lawrence Tibbett, noted Metropolitan opera baritone, must not sing for four months because of a state of high tension in the muscles of his larynx. As a result, his manager announced last night, Tibbett has been forced to cancel his entire fall concert and opera tour.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE ESTATE OF GRACE ROBLIN MAIR, deceased.

All persons having claims against the estate of Grace Roblin Mair, late of the city of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Married Woman, deceased, who died on or about the 24th. day of June, 1940, are hereby notified to send in to the undersigned Personal Representative of the said deceased on or before the 15th day of October, 1940, full particulars of their claims. Immediately after the said date the said Personal Representative will distribute the assets of the said deceased having regard only to claims of which it shall then have notice to the exclusion of all others, and it will not be liable to any person of whose claim it shall not then have notice for the assets so distributed or any part thereof.

Dated at Belleville this 9th day of September, 1940.

NATIONAL TRUST COMPANY, LIMITED
20 King St., East, Toronto, Ontario.
(Executor)
by Porter, Payne & Arnott,
219 Front Street,
Belleville, Ontario
their Solicitors herein.
S16-23

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE ESTATE OF GEORGE HENRY ANDERSON, Deceased.

All persons having claims against the estate of George Henry Anderson, late of the Township of Tyendinaga, in the County of Hastings, Retired Mariner, deceased, who died on or about the 14th day of August, 1940, are hereby notified to send in to the undersigned the solicitors for the personal representative of the said deceased on or before the 16th day of October, 1940, full particulars of their claims. Immediately after the said date the said Personal Representative will distribute the assets of the said deceased having regard only to claims of which it shall then have notice to the exclusion of all others, and it will not be liable to any person of whose claim it shall not then have notice for the assets so distributed or any part thereof.

DATED at Belleville this 9th day of September, 1940.

PORTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT,
219 Front Street,
Belleville, Ontario,
Solicitors for the Personal Representative.
S9, 16, 23

CALGARY BRONKS DEFEAT REGINA

All Alone in First Place by Scoring 12-3 Victory on Saturday

Regina, Sept. 16 (CP)—Calgary Bronks face Winnipeg Blue Bombers today in a test of their undefeated record in the Western Interprovincial Football League.

The Calgary squad is all alone in first place in the League by their convincing 12-3 victory over Regina Roughriders Saturday. They have been undefeated in two starts, while Regina and Winnipeg share second place, each with a win and two losses.

The Bronks rode into first place over a stubborn Roughrider defence Saturday when they scored two last-quarter touchdowns. Paul Rowe, the League's leading scorer last year, and Joe Turner crossed the Rider line for the Calgary scores. Rowe converted both touchdowns from placement.

Rowe and Turner led in a second half offensive that carried the Bronks almost to the Regina goal posts three times before the Regina defence finally broke. Calgary had possession of the ball throughout the last quarter and in spite of a desperate stand by the Riders well back in their own section they held control of the play.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

London (CP)—The forthcoming marriage of David Niven, British film star, to Miss Primula Rollo, daughter of Flight Lieutenant William Rollo and Lady Kathleen Rollo, was announced today. The wedding is to take place shortly. Niven gave up a big salary in Hollywood to fight for his country. He now is a captain in a rifle brigade.

FOR SALE

SMALL COOK STOVE, COAL OR wood, with warming closet and water front, good condition. Phone 1968J, 51 Cannifton Road. S16-2t

ONE UPRIGHT PIANO, AND ONE large bookcase, both in first class condition. For particulars phone 497. S16-3t

HEINTZMAN UPRIGHT PIANO, good condition, $30. Sewing machine with motor; 18-inch electric fan. 181½ Station Street. S16-1t

McCLARY CIRCULATOR HEATer, Gilbert and Barker oil burner, both in good condition. Apply 210 MacDonald Ave. S16-3t

USED CAR PARTS, 600x20 TIRES, 30x3½, also 19 inch, Star Motor, Ford A Coach, body good condition. Pigden's Garage, opposite Crystal Hotel. S16-3t

CIRCULATOR COAL HEATER, good condition. Nearly new. Phone 2178. S16-2t

USED INCH LUMBER PLANK and framing. Phone 1862W. S16-1t

100 LEGHORN PULLETS, FIVE months' old, from Bray's blood tested stock. Floyd Thrasher, Holloway. S16-3t

65 ACRES, MILE NORTH STIRling, George Griffin farm. Apply farm or Mrs. Garnet Reid, 228 Coleman St., Belleville S9, 16

NEWLY DECORATED FRAME house, large living room, dining room, kitchen, bathroom, sunroom, 3 bedrooms, large garage attached. All conveniences except furnace. Apply 15 Brassey St. S14-2t

COUNTRY STORES AND GARage. Farms, large and small. Well located and priced to sell. Would like to exchange one hundred acres with good buildings for about one hundred and fifty acres with good buildings. Will pay cash difference. J. G. Dusenbury, Carrying Place, Ont. S14-2t

REGISTERED COCKER SPANiel Pups. Roydon James, Consecon, Ont. S14-3t

FARM FOR SALE OR RENT —200 acre farm, Lot 16, Con. 7, Rawdon, 2 miles off highway, 10 acres orchard. Bert Thompkins, Harold, Ont., Phone Stirling 712. S14-3t

QUEBEC RANGES WITH OVENS, Dining Room Suites, oak and walnut, Dressers, Studio Couches, Chesterfield Sets and various articles, all used, in good condition. Model Home Furniture, 312 Front St. Phone 526. S13-3t

TRADE INS, RECONDITIONED and guaranteed Sewing Machines, drop heads, complete with attachments, $15.00 and $25.00. R.C.A. Victor Radio, combination, original price, $395, for $39. Stewart Warner 7-tube console, $29.50. David's Electric Shop, 340 Front St., Belleville. S13-3t

BOSTON POOL TABLE, UPright piano. Phone 1844. 23 Charlotte St. S13-3t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating, etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. F. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

HOUSE, 25 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 326 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators. Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

NOS. 33 AND 35 HOLLOWAY ST. Double brick house in good state of repair. Each residence has large living room, dining room, kitchen, gas, four bed rooms and bath, good basement, hardwood floors downstairs, hot air heating, double garage, good lot, comfortable bright houses, low price for quick sale. Could be made into excellent apartments. As an investment this is worth investigating. Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators) exclusive agents, 166 Front St. Phone 99 House Phone 687. A23-tf

4 HILLSIDE STREET, WELL built brick house, three bed rooms bath, living room, dining room and kitchen. Good basement and hot air furnace, nice grounds. Reasonable price for quick sale. Exclusive agents, Geo. N. Gorman 166 Front Street, Phone 99. House Phone 687. S4-tf

FLYING GLASS SPLINTERS BLAMED FOR RAID CASUALTIES

London (CP)—Flying splinters of glass from windows broken by German bombs were blamed today for one-fifth of London's air raid casualties and for the loss of a considerable quantity of food. Even canned food has not been immune from the splinters, which have pierced cans and left a sprinkling of minute, razor-like glass chips in the contents.

IN MEMORIAM

McKEAN — In loving memory of Clarence McKean, who passed away Sept. 16, 1937.

"Calm and peaceful he is sleeping,
Sweetest rest that follows pain;
We who loved him sadly miss him
But trust in God to meet again."
—Ever remembered by Helen.

BIRTHS

BEDORE—In Gananoque on Monday, September 16, 1940, to Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Bedore (nee Bernadette Black), a daughter Margaret Anne. S16-1t

FOR SALE

Business Property 118 Front St.

Just north of the former fire hall, near Dundas Street. Concrete building. 2 floors. Offers will be considered for the purchase of this building, which is to be sold this month.

THIS IS WORTH INVESTIGATING.

Exclusive Agents
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
GEO. N. GORMAN, Prop.
166 Front St. Opp. City Hall
Phone 99 House Phone 687
S15-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240
Res. 2112M
1A Bridge St. W
Belleville
S5-tf

RAIDS BUND CAMP NEAR KENVIL, N.J.

Kenvil, N.J., Sept. 16 (AP)—An investigator for the House of Representatives Committee on unAmerican activities who searched employees' lockers at the explosion-wrecked Hercules Powder Company plant for links with subversive groups took his findings to Washington today.

While Robert B. Barker, special investigator for the committee, was revealing his check of the plant payroll and of lockers not destroyed by Thursday's mysterious blasts, Sussex County Sheriff Denton J. Quick led 18 police chiefs yesterday in a raid on the German-American Bund's Camp Nordland, 10 miles from here.

Quick, who said he also sought to check the Hercules payroll against a list of persons believed to frequent the Bund Camp, reported seizure of subversive literature and a rifle equipped with telescopic sights.

As Kenvil quietly buried its dead and nine agencies including several Federal groups probed the blasts that killed 48, injured 125 and wiped a score of buildings off the 2,000 acre property, a Hercules Company expert expressed "great surprise" at the intensity of the explosions.

A. M. Ball of Wilmington, Del., chemist, said the explosion "violated the rules for behavior of powder" but declined additional comment.

EARLY WEEK
SPECIALS
LUCKIN'S
WHERE THE BETTER MEATS COST LESS.

WHY PAY MORE?

Choice Leg VEAL STEAK lb. 33c
Fresh SAUSAGE MEAT 2 lbs. 25c
Boneless STEW BEEF 2 lbs. 35c
Lean RIB STEW lb. 10c

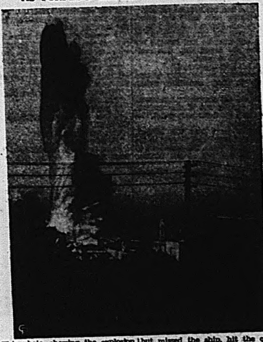
22c Shoulder Veal Steaks Pork Chops 22c

Sirloin Steak lb. 27c

SLICED BACON lb. 25c
PORK LIVER 2 lbs. 25c
Extra LEAN HAMBURG lb. 15c
BLADE ROAST BEEF lb. 18c
LAMB CHOPS lb. 27c

Phone 500 FREE DELIVERY

AS TORPEDO KILLED GREEK PILGRIMS



This photo, showing the explosion of a torpedo against the quayside at the Greek Island of Tenos, was made on the morning of Aug. 15 while Tenos islanders were celebrating the feast of the Assumption of the Virgin Mary. The torpedo had been aimed at the Greek cruiser Helle, seen in background, but missed the ship, hit the quay and killed nine pilgrims and wounded 22. Another torpedo fired at the Helle hit a breakwater; the third found its mark on the cruiser which sank one hour and 15 minutes later. Identity of the submarine that fired the torpedoes was never established, but the finger of suspicion points toward Italy.

HOW TO GET A CASH LOAN

WITHOUT ENDORSERS OR GUARANTORS

Payments to fit your budget — Quick, private service

Now you can apply for a Household Finance loan without coming to our office. You need no endorsers, no bankable security to borrow $20 to $500. You may repay your loan on the schedule which best fits your own monthly budget.

Choose your own payments

Suppose that you need $100. You find this amount in the first column of the table below. Then read across, picking out the monthly payment which you wish to make. You will see that monthly payments of $7.78, for instance, will repay your loan in full in fifteen months. Or twelve monthly payments of $9.46 each will also repay a $100 loan if you pay on schedule. There is nothing more to pay. You may wish to borrow an amount not in the table. If so, just tell us how much you need and for how long.

You can borrow $20 to $500 if you can make these convenient monthly payments

CASH LOAN YOU GET	AMOUNT YOU PAY BACK EACH MONTH Including All Charges
	2 months loan	4 months loan	6 months loan	8 months loan	10 months loan	12 months loan	15 months loan
$ 20	$10.30	$ 5.25	$ 3.57	$ 2.73	$ 2.23	$ 1.89
50	25.75	13.13	8.93	6.83	5.57	4.73
70	36.05	18.38	12.50	9.56	7.79	6.62
100	51.50	26.26	17.85	13.65	11.13	9.46	$ 7.78
125	64.38	32.83	22.32	17.06	13.92	11.82	9.73
150	77.26	39.39	26.78	20.48	16.70	14.18	11.67
200	103.01	52.52	35.71	27.30	22.27	18.91	15.57
250	128.76	65.66	44.63	34.13	27.83	23.64	19.46
300	154.51	78.79	53.56	40.95	33.40	28.37	23.35
400	206.02	105.05	71.41	54.60	44.53	37.82	31.13
500	257.52	131.31	89.26	68.25	55.66	47.28	38.91

WE GUARANTEE the total amount figured by using this table to be the full amount you will pay, when payments are made on schedule. You will pay less if you prepay your loan in full or in part, since you pay charges only for the actual time you have the money. Payments include charges at the rate of 2% per month as authorized by the Small Loans Act, 1939.

B. E. Henderson
B. E. HENDERSON, PRESIDENT

Fair treatment

In a case of sickness or unemployment, while paying on a loan, Household shows the borrower every consideration. During the past seven years Household has made over 225,000 loans to Canadians amounting to over $38,000,000 and in not a single instance foreclosed a mortgage or garnisheed a wage cheque.

Borrow on your own signature

All you do is fill in and return the coupon below. We then send a representative to your home to make the simple arrangements for your loan. No credit inquiries are made of your friends or relatives, and you don't have to ask friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. You get your loan—without delay or embarrassment—in a pleasant, private transaction.

Why don't you send the coupon for full information about this new service now? You will be under no obligation to borrow.

"Doctor of Family Finances"

HOUSEHOLD FINANCE CORPORATION OF CANADA

Personal Loans $20 to $500

SECOND FLOOR, KRESGE BUILDING, 355 GEORGE ST.
PETERBOROUGH, ONT. PHONE 5841

Household Finance Corporation of Canada
Please tell me, without obligation, how I can apply for a Household Finance loan without going to your office.
Name.............................
Address.............................
City.............................

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER NINETEEN

Judith had set ten o'clock as the hour she would try to get Dudley on the telephone. As she picked up the receiver, there was the rattle of a key in the door. Just that familiar sound made everything all right. Tears rushed to her eyes.

"I'm a fool. I mustn't let him see! Such relief.

Tex came in, freshly shaved. "Hello Judith," he said.

"Tex!" She rushed into his arms, and in spite of all her good resolutions, sobbed wildly, her face buried in his necktie.

"What's this?" he asked shaking her gently by the shoulders. She tried to smile through her tears.

"Nerves!" she managed. "I was worried."

"In this flying weather?"

She had to pull herself together.

"Have you had breakfast?"

"Yes, thanks."

"Why didn't you telephone? I could have picked you up."

"Got a lift in," Tex said nonchalantly. Judith looked at him then for the first time. She thought he seemed thinner.

"How's the head?"

"Good as new. I'm back on the run tomorrow."

"Was the vacation nice?"

"Very."

Then for the first time Judith noticed he had not brought his bag.

"Where's your bag?" she asked. There was always that old joke of Tex's that she dove for his bag to find out what he had brought her before she kissed him. Tex hesitated for a moment.

"I left it at the airport."

Something in his voice warned her. "Is there something wrong, Tex?"

He did not answer for a moment, stood looking out of the window. "Think I could use some coffee," he said suddenly.

Judith went into the kitchen, weak and frightened, plugged in the percolator. When she came back to him he was still at the window. "What is it, Tex?"

He began reluctantly: "I came back to talk to you today."

"Yes?"

"A lot of things have happened since I went away."

She stood there waiting.

"Do you know they made me a movie offer out on the coast?"

Judith laughed a little hysterically, she was so relieved. "You're taking it?"

"Of course not! I'm no movie actor. I'm a flier."

He began to pace up and down the room. "Something's wrong with us, Judith."

His wife could not speak. She sat down suddenly on a straight chair by the desk.

"I've been doing a lot of thinking since I went away," he continued. Thinking! Judith's hand flew to her throat at the memory of those terrible days of waiting.

There was a noise in the kitchen. The coffee was boiling over. She rose mechanically, got cups, sugar, cream, and brought them back. She put the tray on the coffee table in front of the davenport, and poured Tex a cup, fixed it carefully as he liked it. He took a sip, set it down, and forgot it. He was under great tension as he began. "Judith, I've been thinking it would be a good thing if I went away for a while."

Judith finally found her voice: "What do you mean?"

"Just that. I'm tired and nervous. I think I might take a room near the airport."

The blow fell.

"Are you trying to tell me, Tex, that you want to leave me? Is that it?"

He could not meet her eyes. "I suppose it is."

She struggled to keep control of herself. "Tex, is it because of Sonia?"

He did not answer.

"We've always been honest with each other, Tex."

Judith waited. She thought she was going to faint, so she poured herself some of the black coffee. The cup rattled against the saucer in her unsteady hands.

"You must be honest with me. It is Sonia, isn't it?"

Tex sat down on the davenport and put his head in his hands, saying, "I guess it is."

In that moment she felt sorry for him. He seemed so bewildered and uncertain. There was hope in that very thing! She found courage.

"Tex, if you feel you'd like to get away for a while until you make up your mind, all right."

Tex stood up. "I knew you'd say that, Judith!" He turned impatiently. "I've made up my mind. Nothing can change me."

Judith was desperate. "Are you telling me you are to marry Sonia?"

"Yes."

"Yes."

She gasped. "You can't be serious."

"I am. You don't understand." He began to walk up and down the room. "Flyings my life. You aren't in it, Judith."

So this was the end.

"Tex, I can't bear it!"

He did not answer her.

She had to bring him to his senses. "You're just a new hero to Sonia, Tex. Can't you see that? You'll get over it."

"I wont get over it. I know."

She sat there stunned.

Tex, afraid to stay there with her any longer, went on into the bedroom. She could hear dresser drawers opening and shutting. He was getting his clothes together. For an instant, the old instinct was so strong, Judith arose to help him. But she sat down again. . . . If only Tex had been drinking, but she knew he had not.

It seemed a long time before he rejoined her. He had two suitcases with him, dropped them by the door.

"You can't do this to me, Tex!"

"I'm sorry." His voice broke. "I—I hate this as much as you do. But what else can I do?"

"What do you mean by that, Tex?"

"I've got to go."

"I don't understand."

"I love her and I can't help it. That's all."

"But what about me?"

"I'll take care of you."

Anger flamed in Judith's eyes. "I don't need your money, Tex. I'll take care of myself."

"Don't be silly. It will cost—to get a divorce."

Judith felt as though he had struck her in the face. Until that moment she could not believe what she had heard. Her voice was quiet as she asked:

"Then you and Sonia have talked this situation over?"

"Of course."

Tex had his topcoat over his arm. He put a roll of bills on the desk, saying: "It will cost money for a divorce."

Judith could not move or speak.

"I'm sorry, Judith." He came over and kissed her cheek. Without any more ceremony, Tex picked up his bags and left.

Judith sat staring at the closed door as though hypnotized. She heard the elevator bang shut. He was really gone, for good. . . . Still she could not believe. Judith got up wearily and went into the bedroom. The sight of the yawning clothes closets, the opener bureau drawers broke her down. For a long time she lay on the bed sobbing wildly. After a while she sat up. Her eyes hurt painfully, and she felt faint and ill.

She wished desperately that she might die right there. But she did not have the courage. She had no idea to whom to turn. Dick? She could not trouble either him or Lee in this. They were too close to Tex. She shrank from talking to any of the women friends she had made since she came east? Hugh? She hunted for his telephone number, had difficulty reading it. She tried to keep her voice steady when she got Hugh on the line.

"Hugh, I'm in trouble. Can I see you?"

"What's wrong, Judith?" Hugh's voice showed his concern. He knew something was seriously amiss.

"I've got to talk to somebody, Hugh." The desperation in her voice touched him. He told her to meet him at his favorite eating place at one o'clock.

How she dressed, Judith never knew. As she was ready to leave the apartment she saw the roll of bills Tex had thrown on the desk. Sonia's money, probably! She stuffed it into her purse without counting them. She could not afford to be too proud.

Judith walked until she found a cab to take her down to the station. When she finally walked into the little chop house on 43rd street, Hugh was waiting. He was shocked when he saw her face.

"What on earth has happened?"

"Tex has left me."

"I don't believe it."

"It is true."

Coming over on the train she had tried to decide what to do. Her mind was clearing a little.

"I want you to give me the name of an attorney."

"Now, don't be silly! Just a little quarrel, Judith. Use your head!"

Judith did not seem to hear what he said.

"Tex wants to marry Sonia. He asked me to get a divorce."

Hugh was dumbfounded. He knew Tex liked to play around, but that it was serious, he could not believe.

"You're acting just like a jealous wife, Judith, and the role is not becoming."

Judith's story amazed and moved Hugh.

"He came back from the coast last night. He didn't come home. This morning he came to tell me he was through."

"What did you quarrel over?"

"We didn't quarrel, Hugh."

"Tex wouldn't do that."

She opened her purse, showed him the bills. "He told me to give him his freedom, that he is going to marry Sonia."

Hugh ejaculated: "He's lost his mind!"

"He says he's in love with her."

"Nonsense!"

"But you see it isn't. He was quite calm. They must have decided everything while he was west."

Hugh shook his head. "I'm not going to let you do anything foolish. You'll both be sorry soon."

"I tried to tell him that, but he said he'd made up his mind."

(To be continued)

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself in his private chair and ma said, Mr. and Mrs. Cuttle are coming for a little bridge a little later, Willyum, and pop said, I'm not surprised, in fact I'd be surprised to hear they weren't coming. I've had nothing this morning when I opened my egg at breakfast and got a whiff from the past, and when an egg stops reminding you of the present and the future, all its news is bad. And then down at the office I got word that the boy had broken his adenoids or something and couldn't come on, just when I had about 50 errands to send him, and that's a way it went all day, what a day, and now the Cuttles, he said.

Wich just then the telephone rang, pop saying If that's for me I'm not home and not expected, it's just more bad news.

Now Willyum, dont jump at conclusions before you come to them, ma said. You're bound to have good news some time, even a worm has to turn for the better, she said, and I said, I'll answer it.

Wich I did, saying, G, pop, ma was right, it was good news, Mr. and Mrs. Cuttle cant come tonight.

There, you see, Willyum, ma said, and pop said, I take it all back, it's the best of all possible worlds and I've got a grandstand seat. Benny, you may stay up half an hour passed the deadline, he said.

They're coming tomorrow night instead, I said, and pop said, Yee gods, 24 more hours of looking fallward to worse than nothing. I might of known it, what kind of a way of delivering a message is that, you can go to bed a half hour before your regular time, he said.

The result being I stayed up to my usual time after a short argument, feeling partly lucky.

BRITISH BOMBERS KEEP BERLIN'S DEFENCES BUSY

British bombers are keeping Berlin's anti-aircraft gun crews and searchlight crews busy as they roar over the German capital, bombing the heart of the city. Fingers of light mingle with the paths of tracer bullets as Berlin defences attempt in vain to drive the British off. While sending his air-raiders over London to bomb indiscriminately, Chancellor Hitler is reported not to be taking kindly to having his raids reciprocated.

Terror Over Britain

Winston Churchill was wise to have warned his people last week that the attacks against them might be doubled and trebled before the Nazi terror had reached its fullest fury. The fulfillment of his prophecy came on Saturday, when swarms of raiders spread death and desolation across part of industrial London. It came again on Sunday, when indiscriminate death was hurled from the night sky at almost every section of the great city. It came again at twilight Tuesday, when German bombs ripped London streets and houses for the third successive night. It will come again, and yet again; for the world's greatest city has now become a battleground.

It is clear that the Germans are out to win a quick decision if they can. Where world domination is the prize, no methods of terrorism are too brutal if they will help to win. The Nazi leaders showed last Spring that they were willing and able to destroy a defenseless city like Rotterdam, and kill perhaps 25,000 civilians, for the sake of terrorizing other cities on the Continent. The diseased minds that ordered the Rotterdam slaughter will order it repeated elsewhere if they think they can accomplish it.

Already the restraints have disappeared from this war, one by one. The occasional bombs of early August around London were followed by storms of explosives on the city itself in September; the explosives were followed by incendiary bombs that spread a blood-red glow across the London sky. The horror of poison gas still remains in reserve, but we may be sure that the Germans will stop at nothing in this air warfare. They are willing to reduce all London to a shambles if it will serve their ends.

They might already have repeated the story of Rotterdam in London if British fighting planes had not been ranging the skies and if British anti-aircraft guns had not been spitting fire from the ground. Fortunately, the British are not ready to be terrorized. Their air defenses remain stubborn and continue to bring down enemy planes from every raid. Their civilians are showing a cool heroism that was not surpassed by trained troops in the worst moments of the last war. Their industrial production as a whole does not appear to have been damaged severely, in spite of the heavy blows around the Port of London. The British watchword today is: "We can stand it." This, surely, is not what Marshal Goering expected. He will have to hurl more terror, for weeks or months of uninterrupted action, before he can force the British spirit to crack and yield.—N. Y. Times.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

MONDAY, SEPT. 16.

7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time—WEAF, WBEN, WGY
7.30—Blondie Sketch — WABC, WGR
7.30—Burns and Allen — WEAF, WHAM
8.00—Play Broadcast—WGN, WOR
8.00—The Telephone Hour; Musical Program with James Melton—WEAF, WGY
8.30—Toronto Symphony Band — CBO
8.30—Voice of Firestone; Symphony Orch. with Alfred Wallenstein conductor — WEAF, CBL
8.30—Pipe Smoking Time—WABC
9.00—Radio Theatre: Bob Hope, Madeleine Carroll and Ralph Bellamy in "Love Is News"—WABC, CFRB
9.30—Show Boat—WEAF, WBEN
10.00—Guy Lombardo's Orchestra —WABC, CFRB, WJZ, WEAF
11.15—Filbert's Filharmonic Forum—WEAF, WGY

TUESDAY, SEPT. 17

7.45—War and the Weather; News —CBL, CBO
8.00—Court of Missing Heirs — WABC, WGR
8.30 — "Information Please" — WJZ, WHAM
8.30—First Nighter—WABC, CFRB WHAM, WJZ.
8.30—Musical Rendezvous—CBO
9.00—We, the People—WABC
9.00— Battle of the Sexes, Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson. —WEAF, WGY.
9.30—Meredith Willson musical revue.—WEAF CBL.
10.00—Tommy Dorsey's Orchestra, —WEAF, WHAM
10.00—Composers Series—CBL
10.15—Public Affairs.—WABC.
10.30—Uncle Walter's Dog House.—WEAF, WGY.

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200

UNITED STATES STATIONS

KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

RADIO PROGRAMS

MONDAY

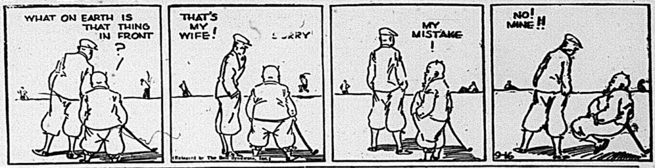
1.00—The Goldbergs—WABC, WGR
5.45—Scattergood Bains, sketch — WABC
6.15—Hedda Hopper's Hollywood: —WABC
7.30— Burns and Allen — WEAF, WHAM
8.00—With the Troops in England —CBL, CBO
8.00—Those We Love — WABC, WGR
8.00—Little Ol' Hollywood— WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Pipe Smoking Time—WABC, WGR
8.30—True or False—WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Basin Street Chamber Music —WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Contented Hour — WEAF, CBL
10.30—Adventure in Reading — WJZ, WHAM
11.30—Woody Herman's Orch.— WEAF, WGY, CBL

TUESDAY

2.00—Light of the World, sketch— WEAF, WHAM
7.00—Fred Waring's Orchestra. — WEAF, WGY
7.15—John B. Kennedy, news — WEAF, WGY
8.00—Roy Shield's Revue — WJZ, CBL
8.00—Johnny Presents Ray Bloch's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Musical Treasure Chest; Horace Heidt's Orchestra — WEAF, WGY
9.00—Musical Americana —WJZ, WHAM
9.30—So You Think You Know Music—WABC, WJR
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orchestra — WABC, WJR
10.30—BBC Newsreel—CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBL

POP — An Admission

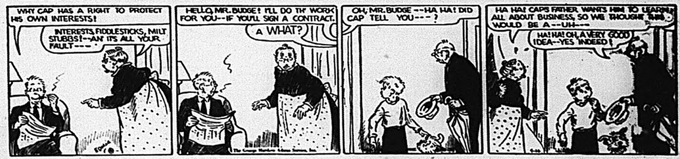
By J. Millar Watt



WHAT ON EARTH IS THAT THING IN FRONT ?
THAT'S MY WIFE!
SORRY
MY MISTAKE !
NO! MINE !!
(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)
9-16

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

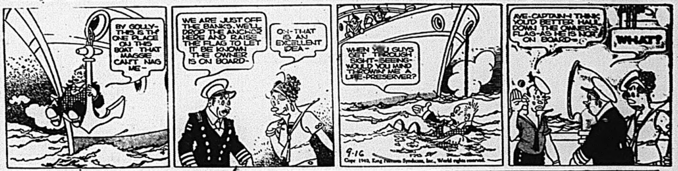
By Edwina



WHY CAP HAS A RIGHT TO PROTECT HIS OWN INTERESTS!
INTERESTS, FIDDLESTICKS, MILT STUBBS!--AN' IT'S ALL YOUR FAULT---
HELLO, MR. BUDGE! I'LL DO TH' WORK FOR YOU--IF YOU'LL SIGN A CONTRACT.
A WHAT?
OH, MR. BUDGE --HA HA! DID CAP TELL YOU---?
HA HA! CAP'S FATHER WANTS HIM TO LEARN ALL ABOUT BUSINESS, SO WE THOUGHT THIS WOULD BE A--UH---
HA! HA! OH, A VERY GOOD IDEA--YES INDEED!
EDWINA
9-16

BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



BY GOLLY- THIS IS TH' ONE PLACE ON THIS BOAT THAT MAGGIE CAN'T NAG ME-
WE ARE JUST OFF THE BANKS. WE'LL DROP THE ANCHOR HERE AND RAISE THE FLAG TO LET IT BE KNOWN THE OWNER IS ON BOARD-
OH-THAT IS AN EXCELLENT IDEA-
WHEN YOU GUYS GET THROUGH SIGHT-SEEING-WOULD YOU MIND THROWIN' ME A LIFE-PRESERVER?
AYE-CAPTAIN-I THINK YOU'D BETTER HAUL DOWN THE OWNER'S FLAG-AS HE IS NOT ON BOARD-WHAT?
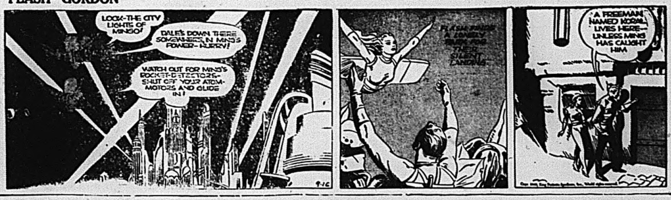
9-16
Copr. 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved.

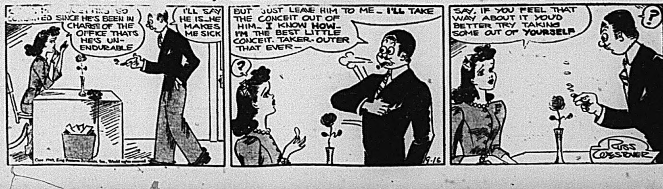
FLASH GORDON



LOOK-THE CITY LIGHTS OF MINGO!
DALE'S DOWN THERE SOMEWHERE, IN MING'S POWER- HURRY!
WATCH OUT FOR MING'S ROCKET-DETECTORS-SHUT OFF YOUR ATOM-MOTORS AND GLIDE IN!
9-16
FLASH FINDS A LONELY PARK FOR THEIR SILENT LANDING
A FREEMAN NAMED KORAL LIVES HERE- UNLESS MING HAS CAUGHT HIM

TILLIE THE TOILER — Wally Can Practise on Himself

By Russ Westover



[illegible] GETTING SO CONCEITED SINCE HE'S BEEN IN CHARGE OF THE OFFICE THATS HE'S UN-ENDURABLE
I'LL SAY HE IS_HE MAKES ME SICK
BUT JUST LEAVE HIM TO ME_ I'LL TAKE THE CONCEIT OUT OF HIM_ I KNOW HOW_ I'M THE BEST LITTLE CONCEIT. TAKER-OUTER THAT EVER—
?
9-16
SAY, IF YOU FEEL THAT WAY ABOUT IT YOU'D BETTER TRY TAKING SOME OUT OF YOURSELF
?
RUSS WESTOVER

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 2.00:

MINES

Ajax 11
Aldermac 16
Anglo. Hur. 170
Aunor 153
Bankfield 9 1-2
Beattie 82
Bidgood 11 1-2
Big Missouri 5 1-2
Bralorne 967
Broulan 60
Buffalo Ank. 350
Calgary and Ed. 143
Central Pat. 177
Chesterville 90
Coast Copper 67
Conlaurum 128
Dome 20 1-2
Eldorado 34
East Mal. 305
Falconbridge 269
Gillies L. 4 1-4
Gunnar 37
Hardrock 80
Home Oil 190
Hollinger 11 3-4
Howey 25
Hudson Bay 25 3-4
Kerr Add. 263
Kirk. Lake 93
Lapa Cad. 6 1-2
Lake Shore 20 5-8
Leitch 51
Little L. L. 210
Macassa 330
McIntyre 45
McLeod 210
McKenzie 95
Mining Corp 75
Moneta 60
Nipissing 90
O'Brien 75
Okalta 78
Omega 16 3-4
Paymaster 23
Pamour 103
Perron 155
Pend Oreille 135
Pickle Crow 270
Pioneer 207
Powell 80
Premier 90
Preston E.D. 187
Reno 13
Royalite 21
San Antonio 187
Sherritt G. 68
Siscoe 62
Sladen M. 43
Sud. Basin 112
Sullivan 59
Steep Rock 150
Sylvanite 250
T. Hughes 315
Tex. Can. Oil 115
Toburn 125
Ventures 240
W. Amulet 335
Wr. Hargreaves 620

TORONTO

Bell Telephone 153 1-2
B. A. Oil 19 3-8
Brewing Corp. 130
Braz. Trac. 4 7-8
Can Bud Brewery 4 1-4
Can. Cement 4 3-4
Can. Dredge 14
Can. Ind. Alcohol 190
C.P.R. 5 3-8
Can. Malting 35
Can. Vinegar 6 1-2
Canada Car 8 3-8
Cockshutt Plow 5 1-2
Cons Bakeries 14 1-4
Con. Smelting 37
Dominion Foundries 23 1-2
Dominion Stores 4 1-2
Dist. Seagrams 24 1-2
Fanny Farmer 25
Ford "A" 16 3-4
Gypsum 3 3-4
Imp. Oil 11 3-4
Int. Nickel 36 3-4
Inter. Pet 17
Imp. Tobacco 14 1-2
Loblaw 25 1-2
Massey Harris 3 1-4
Mont. Power 29 1-8
McColl Frontenac 5 7-8
Power Corp 7 1-4
Price Bros. 12 3-4
Steel of Canada 72 1-2
Supertest 33
Shawinigan 17 7-8
Walker's 37 3-4
Walker's Pfd 19 3-8
C.P.A. 4 1-2

NEW YORK

American T. and T. 162 1-2
Anaconda 21 1-8
Bethlehem Steel 78
Chrysler 76 1-2
General Electric 33
General Motors 47 3-4
Inter. Telephone 2 3-8
North American 18 5.8
Montgomery Ward 39
Phillips Pet. 35 1-4
Radio 4 3-4
Standard Oil of N.J. 34 1-2
Standard Brands 6 1-8
U. S. Steel 55 3-4
United Aircraft 39 7.8
Vanadium 31

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 16—(CP)—Trading picked up on Toronto exchange today. Some advances were shown with sales totalling 47,000 shares.

Prices generally held steady after a fairly firm opening. Preston and Hard Rock lost their initial gains, but the other golds held up. Sylvanite, ahead 14 at 2.40 jumped to 2.50 shortly after noon. Kerr Addison and McLeod held 8 and 6-cent gains, respectively. East Malartic was weak at 3.05.

Steep Rock was active on base metals and held a 7-cent gain at 1.50.

Fractional advances among industrials were held by United Steel, Union Gas, Bell Telephone and Imperial Oil.

WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 16—(AP)— A little buying crept into the stock market today, but it was notably selective.

Steels and rails were among early favorites. Gains running to a point or so at the best were trimmed near the fourth hour. Dealings were exceptionally slow throughout.

Among stocks attracting support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, N. Y. Central, Santa Fe, Great Northern, Chrysler, General Motors, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, Glenn Martin, United Aircraft, Kennecott and Westinghouse.

McIntyre and Canadian Pacific, in the Canadian list, advanced fractions. Canada 4s, among bonds, advanced 3-4 point.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS

Wholesale to retail:

A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.26
Grade "C"	.19

BUTTER

Butter, No. 1	.23-.23 1-4
Butter, No. 2	.21-.22 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.22
Churning Cream, No. 2	.20

POULTRY

(Dressed)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—.16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12

(Live Poultry)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

Produce Markets Quiet Prices Unchanged

Unchanged prices and light trading were reported for all lines on Saturday's short session of the Toronto open produce market.

Small offerings met quiet demand on the butter market, but prices held steady and the undertone remained firm. Reports from Montreal state that substantial improvement in distribution last month may have been accounted for, in part, by a larger tourist traffic in recent weeks. September distribution, however, is likely to show a decrease from a year ago as it will be remembered that a heavy buying movement in butter, along with other commodities, last year followed the declaration of war. First-grade Ontario creamery solids sold at 23c to 23 1-4c per pound Saturday, with the higher price obtained on 40 score butter. Holders asked 23 1-2c to 23 3-4c for Western offerings, business being recorded at the lower figure only.

Available supplies were sufficient to satisfy buyers' requirements on the egg market. Previous prices prevailed in both sections of trading. Government inspected shipments of graded eggs moved at 1-2c to 1c per dozen premium.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, Sept. 16—Produce market prices here Saturday, as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price 24 1-2c; first grade solids, jobbing price 24c; Quebec No. 1 pasteurized, current receipt price 23c; Quebec No. 2, 22c; Quebec No. 1 pasteurized, wholesale jobbing price 23 3-8c; Quebec No. 2, 22 1-2c. Receipts for the week 12,944 boxes, compared with 13,424 a year ago.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price A-large 34c; A-medium 32c; A-pullets 27c; B, 25c; C 16c. Receipts for the week: 7,239 cases, compared with 6,790 a year ago.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Sept. 16 (CP).—Cattle trade was very dull up to mid-session on the local livestock market today with sales of killers too few to establish prices. The general market feeling was lower. Veal calves, lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from last week was 1,200 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 5,420, calves 2,130, hogs 1,460, sheep and lambs 1,480.

A few weighty steers sold at $7-$8.65. Butcher cows traded at $4-$5.50. Fed calves sold at $8.90-$10.50. The stocker market was fairly active at $5.75-$7.50. Good stock calves brought $7.75.

Veal calves sold at $11-$11.50 for choice with common selling downward to $6.50. Grassers sold at $5.25-$5.50.

Lambs sold at $9-$9.50 for good ewe and wethers, $8-8.50 for bucks and $7.50-$8 for culls.

Sheep sold at $2.50-$5.50 with a few light ewes at $6.

Hogs closed previously at $9.25 off-trucks for bacons and $12.35 dressed-weight.

Montreal, Sept. 16 (CP)—Calves were about steady while lambs and hogs opened a shade easier on Montreal Livestock Markets today, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Receipts: Cattle 1,555; calves 2,477; sheep and lambs 3,819; and hogs 2,263.

There were not enough early sales of cattle to form a basis for quotations.

Good quality veals made $9.75-$10 with a few tops at $10.50. Medium veals sold from $9 up and common lights were down to $7. Drinkers ranged from $5.50-$7. Grassers made the bulk of the offerings at $4-$5.

Good ewes and wethers made $8.50 with a couple of loads at $8.75. Bucks and culls were cut $1 and $2 per hundredweight respectively. Sheep were from $3-$5.

Bacon hogs, fed and watered, brought $9.25 and up to $9.50 off trucks. Hogs sold on rail grade made $12.35 hot weight. Selects drew $1 premium with the regular cuts on off grades. Sows were easier at $5.50-$6.25 with an odd sow up to $6.50.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 16 —(CP)— Dressedweight were down five cents at Hull in bacon-hog markets reporting early today.

Dressedweight: Hull $11.60; Stratford $11.50 plus transportation.

Chatham later reported liveweight down 25 cents there at $8.25 and dressedweight down 60 cents at $11.

"SUICIDE SQUAD"

(Continued from Page One)

Lieut. Davies has not had more than snatches of sleep for almost three weeks. He has been on instant call to face death by night and day but he does not like all the hero worship his exploit has brought him.

"All a bomb can do is blow you up and what goes up must come down," he said, smilingly.

You knew it was not braggadacio but rather that he is one of those rare individuals who does not even know how fear might be spelled.

He said the men with him on the St. Paul's job were the "best on earth". Three of them were taken to hopital when gassed during the digging operations. They bumped into a broken gas main which caught fire over the bomb. They were back on the job today, little the worse for the experience.

"If anyne is being praised for the job my men are entitled to a large share of it," Lieut. Davies said.

Interviewed In Car.

Lieut. Davies was interviewed in the back seat of a police car after supervising the removal of bombs from a dock area. It was during a raid and bombs were thumping all around. It did not bother him in the least, though one plumped somewhere in the vicinity with a terrific racket.

Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, Dean of St. Paul's, declared "the whole nation owed a debt of gratitude" to the men who removed the explosive. The Dean said he had been told that "the bomb entered the roadway at an angle and continued sinking in clay, gradually getting nearer and nearer to the foundations of the cathedral."

Lieut. Davies' feat recalled another act of great bravery in rendering explosives harmless. That was in the sinking in June of the Canadian destroyer Fraser, when 17-year-old A. L. Jones of White Rock, B.C., removed the fuses of a number of depth charges which threatened to blow up at the slightest impact.

Just Ordinary Job

The St. Paul's job was "just an ordinary job" for Lieut. Davies who said he derived greater satisfaction from removing a bomb a couple of days ago from a welfare centre where there were 500 children under five years of age.

Nevertheless the St. Paul's missle was "the biggest we have handled and I have felt very proud of the way my men have been dealing with Goering's eggs." He himself has been removing the fuses from the bombs—the most dangerous part of the whole job.

"You should not expect an officer to ask his men to do a job like that," he said. "If an officer can not take the lead he's not much good. Its hardly fair to ask the men to do something I would not do myself."

Lieut. Davies is unscratched although he has handled dozens of unexploded bombs.

"My only regret is that I am not a memger of the Royal Canadian Engineers." he said. "As a Canadian I feel immensely proud of the fact that Canada's war effort is so good."

Members of Lieut. Davies' bomb disposal section think he merits the Victoria Cross for his work. So does his landlady. She calls him "our Robert." When she went shopping today the clerks cheered as she walked in.

"They all know him now round our way," she said. "He's a fine man."

Sapper Gives Opinion.

Sapper John Hobson, Lieut. Davies' batman, thinks he's "a grand chap. He never asks the boys to go into a hole if there is danger. He strips off his jacket and goes in himself."

"That's right," agreed Lieut. E. A. Chadwick, second in command to Lieut. Davies, and Lieut. F. Webb, an officer of the unit.

Neville King, junior station inspector, and Inspector John Coote, police officers who have been operating with Lieut. Davies recently, said: "We need more like him."

Lieut. Davies who is a veteran of the last war was commissioned at Plymouth last September as a second lieutenant and promoted to lieutenant when he came to London about four months ago.

He was born at St. Catharines in 1900, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Davies. They are both Canadians, his mother from Saskatchewan and his father from Manitoba.

Educated at St. Catharines

Lieut. Davies went to school at St Catharines and Exeter, England, from where he returned to Canada. He was under 16 when he enlisted with the 75th Battalion in Toronto in 1916.

He worked six months as an accountant at the Welland Canal and then took up engineering at the University of Toronto. He was graduated in 1922 and went back to the canal for a year as junior engineer.

Three years later he went to Japan and Siberia as a civil engineer and then went back to construction work on the Welland Canal until 1927. He spent most of the next secen years in Nigeria with the British West Africa public works department. He was invalided to England with enteric malaria.

In 1920 he married Miss Isabel Malcolm Coupland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Coupland of (10 Walnut Lane) Merritton, Ont. They have four children, Jack, 20, is in the British army; June, 18, whose husband is in the Royal navy, is a Red Cross nurse; David Graham, 17 is busy making munitions; and Edith Maud, 14, is still at school. Mrs. Davies is at home knitting and sewing for troops.

Canadian R.C.E. Member Trucks Away Bomb, That Threatens St. Pauls

London, Sept. 16—(CP)—"Suicide squads" removing time bombs were disclosed today to have saved both Buckingham Palace and St. Paul's Cathedral from possible heavy damage.

St. Paul's still is menaced by four German time bombs buried in its vicinity, but a giant 1,100-pounder has been removed.

Two time bombs which fell in the Buckingham Palace precincts, one of them on the northwest wing, yesterday in the third German bombardment of the royal residence, have been extricated and carried to the edge of the palace lake.

The Press Association said one of the bombs fell near the royal apartments, crashed through a palace-roof and landed in a bathroom. It was moved by palace air raid precautions workers, police and soldiers. The other fell on the palace lawn.

Led by Lt. R. Davies, Canadian member of the Royal Engineers, a "suicide squad" trucked off the heavy bomb which for four days had threatened destruction of St. Paul's and exploded it harmlessly in the hackney marshes outside the city. The blast ripped out a 100-foot-wide crater.

Aware always that the bomb might explode at any moment, the squad worked day and night against the hazard of flaming gas seeping from a broken main to raise the projectile from its 27-foot pit. Twice it slipped and fell back.

Sunday services in the Cathedral were suspended until the squad finished its perilous assignment.

Although the London press said a method had been found to thwart these bombs—which explode after an acid has eaten through a metal plate—authoritative sources denied it.

Tweed and District

Tweed — Mr. George Morrison, son of Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Morrison who has been employed in the mines in northern Ontario for the past year and a half has returned home.

Tweed village streets, Metcalfe, Colborne, Bridge and certain short connecting streets, have been given a coating of tar and covered with stone chips. This work has been done by the county in accordance with arrangements whereby road improvements are made each year. There is a strong possibility that the main thoroughfare from the southern limit of the village to the new bridge may be paved this year. Negotiations with the Department of Highways are under way at the present time and Reeve Kerr and the council look for some action in the near future.

Rifleman Jack Arber of the Queen's Own Rifles has been promoted to the rank of Corporal. He is stationed in Newfoundland. Keith Wilson, now in England, has also received a promotion to the rank of Corporal in charge of the Sergeant's mess.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Phillips and son, Hugh, will move to Peterboro at the end of the month. Mrs. Phillips will have charge of the dining room of the Grand Hotel. Then many Tweed friends regret their departure. Prior to coming to Tweed, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips lived in Warkworth.

Mrs. Fred Houston, Dorland and Margaret Houston, Mrs. Caverly and Miss Duggan who have spent the summer at the Houston cottage on Stoco Lake have returned to Belleville.

Tweed Lodge No. 290, I.O.O.F. have returned to their old lodge room in Tweed Auditorium which they purchased a short time ago.

During the past few days some four hundred revolvers, rifles and guns have been registered by clerk G. D. C. Morton.

Miss E. Nephew of Finch, has returned to her school at Northbrook.

During the past four or five months the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Co., has sawed nearly six million feet of lumber. They will complete the cut by the end of this month according to the superintendent, Mr. Wallace I. Johnston. Most of the cut of hemlock is supplied to the Dominion Government for war purposes. They are employing more than two hundred men.

Miss Bessie Gordon, Mrs. C. C. Aiton and Miss Myrtle Foster spent some days in Toronto last week.

Mr. Ken Morrison and Miss Louise Morrison have returned home after visiting friends in Kemptville and Toronto.

Chief J. C. Hayes accompanied by Mrs. Hayes and Fred was on a business trip to Ottawa, Pembroke, Petawawa and Morrisburg last week.

Mr. Norman Brown, Belleville, is on the staff of Tweed News during the illness of his brother Bernard Brown.

Miss Enid Moffat Reg. N., of Montreal, is visiting at her home in Tweed.

Tweed Steel Works, busy day and night on war orders for the Department of National Defence, has fifty men on the payroll. Mr. Carpenter, a machinist of Toronto, and Mr. St. David a welder, of Belleville have been added to the staff.

Mr. Arthur Corbet of Sulphide, has joined the staff of the Canadian General Electric in Peterboro. His family will move to the city in a short time.

The Young People's Union of Sulphide United Church have elected the following officers: President, Art Coruneyea; Vice President, Art Courneyea; Vice President, Earla Credicott; Contest Convener, J. W. Wallace Jr., Program Conveners, Mrs. F. A. Courneyea, Mrs. O. B. Edgeley, H. K. Carleton, Jas. Corbet; Secry-Treas. R. G. Cotton; Organist, O. B. Edgeley.

Miss Nancy Porritt celebrated her sixth birthday on Friday and entertained a number of her little friends including Hazel and Colleen Calgan, Mary Emerson, Carol-Ann Connor, Shirley Way, Dawn and Sandra Myles, Judith and Mary Johnston, Margaret Garrison and Martha Elliott.

Rainfall in Tweed during August was only 2.50 inches, being but little more than half the monthly average of 4.35 inches compiled over a period of fourteen years. Precipitation was lowest in four years for the month.

Corvette Type Chaser Launched Under 'Dry' Conditions

Orillia, Ont., Sept. 16. — (CP) H.M.C.S. Orillia, the Corvette type submarine chaser which was launched at a Georgian Bay Port Saturday, maintained in a way the "dry" traditions of this town after which it wasnamed, civic officials said today.

Orillia has been staunchly prohibitionist for many years. The Orillia made its contribution to the cause by breaking away from the christening stand and conducting its own christening in the waters of Georgian Bay before Mrs. H. G. Pack, wife of the Mayor of Orillia, could reach it with the champagne bottle.

The older tradition, that of the champagne christening, triumphed in the end. Mrs. Pack descended from the platform and at the water's edge completed the ceremony by throwing the champagne bottle against the steel hull of the vessel.

FEW CASUALTIES DUE TO SPLINTERS FALLING ON CITY

Two Million or More Jagged Pieces of Metal Drop Like Hail Daily on London

LONDONERS ALERT

(By Edwin Stout Associated Press Staff Writer).

London, Sept. 16 (AP)—A sharp ear for explosions, a practised eye on shellbursts and the habit of staying home nights combine to keep the besieged Londoner from getting shell splinters in the neck.

Two million more jagged pieces of anti-aircraft steel ranging from thumb size to pound-and-a-half whoppers have fallen on London every night from four miles or more up in space.

The guns fire about 20,000 rounds and each shell breaks into a hundred or more pieces. Some of these pieces, the newspapers warn, may not fall to earth for as much as three full minutes after the gun is fired.

Shower Largely Harmless

Most of this shower of potential death falls harmlessly on streets and sidewalks and rooftops. Casualties due to shell splinters are reported to comprise only a small fraction of the total killed and injured in air raids.

The reason for this is that when night sirens sound, virtually all London automaticaly—now—takes cover. Those who stay above of necessity or through a daring penchant for rubber-necking at the unprecedented aerial shows walk close in the lee of buildings.

Londoners Know

They listen for the sound of firing watch the overhead flash of the explosion—and then duck into doorways until the firing dies away. Then they wait a bit longer, for splinters shower down many seconds after the flash, Londoners are learning.

Dropping on streets and roofs, splinters sound like pebbles pattering—but the bigger chunks bump like heavy stones.

At daylight everyone gets out to pick up the pieces—either as scrap metal to be turned back into sharpnel by the government or just for souvenirs.

Cross is Burned Near Residence In Elginburg

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 16.— (CP) —While Provincial Police probed the week-long attacks on the home of Thomas Berry of Elginburg, near here, youthful raiders made a return visit over the week-end. Armed with a 15-foot wooden cross covered in oil-soaked rags, they wired the cross to the fence, a few feet from the front of the house, and ignited it with a match. The cross was soon a mass of flames that burned brightly until early in the morning before it fell, leaving a cross-shaped formation on the lawn of the Berry home.

Mrs. Lawrence Berry, daughter-in-law of Thomas Berry, confined to the house since Thursday suffering from fright, left the village Saturday to come to Kingston, leaving the house vacant for the first time since the mob attacked.

Mrs. Thomas Berry, suffering from shock is still confined to the hospital.

Provincial police declared charges would be laid against "five or six".

Anti-Aircraft Gunners on Steamer Bring Down Plane

London, Sept. 16 (CP)—Anti-Aircraft gunners of the 8,789-ton steamship Port Auckland shot down a German bomber over the Thames during air attacks on London yesterday.

An Admiralty communique issued Monday said:—

"Information has been received that the British S. S. Port Auckland, which was proceeding down the River Thames during one of the enemy air attacks on London yesterday, shot down an enemy bomber.

"A shell from the Port Auckland's AA gun burst close underneath the German bomber, which caught fire and crashed in flames on the bank of the river. One of the bomber's crew was seen to bail out."

Marshal Goering Flew Over London Is Berlin's Claim

Berlin, Sept. 16 (AP)—German sources described as authorized claimed today that Marshal Goering flew over London last night at the controls of a Junkers plane.

Goering's plane, a Ju-88, was accompanied by two "destroyer" planes, the source said.

Returning to his Air Force headquarters in an unnamed village in Normandy, Northwestern France, Goering was quoted as saying:—

"I am glad I made my Air Force such a strong weapon."

VICHY TAKES NEW PRECAUTIONS

Colonial Governors Authorized to Prohibit Wearing of Emblems

Vichy, France, Sept. 16 (AP). — The French overnment took a new series of precautions in the colonies today in the face of reports of redoubled efforts by followers of Gen. Charles de Gaulle to win over the remainder of the French possessions.

Colonial governors were authorized to prohibit the wearing or display of emblems denoting adherence to any movement likely to disturb the public order. Prison sentences up to one year may be imposed.

It was announced that a "certain number of Frenchmen whose anti-national activity represented a public danger" had been rounded up in French Morocco and confined in a camp at Bou Denib.

Decree Extended to Colonies.

A decree requiring employees of public administrations to be Frenchmen born of French fathers or direct descendants of men who fought in French armies in the wars of 1914 or 1939 was extended to the colonies. Certain exceptions were made for natives.

Three cruisers and three destroyers which left Toulon last week arrived safely in Dakar.

Claim Communists Rounded Up.

In France proper, Communist propagandists have been rounded up at various points, notably Lyon, where five were jailed, and in Marseille, where one was sentenced for distribution of leaflets.

Premier Petain himself was named as active head of the "French Legion", which is a member of all former war veterans associations being organized as a kind of national patriotic movement.

185 Nazi Planes Downed From Skies By RAF Fighters

Germans Change Their Tactics But Anti-Aircraft Fire Breaks Up New Formations

London, Sept. 16—(CP)— The Royal Air Force and British anti-aircraft guns scored a record victory over German raiders last night and early today, shooting down 185 of the Luftwafte which dropped incendiary and high explosive bombs.

The great slaughter of German fliers came after a comparatively quiet Saturday when, although 18 Germans were downed, only scattered bombing occurred, and at one time the ground forces were considered sufficient to look after the raiders.

However, the Ministries of Home Security and Air issued figures showing that through last Wednesday and up to Saturday night London had lost 1,245 dead and 4,810 injured among the civilian population.

During the last few days, it was disclosed, damage has been done three times to Buckingham Palace, once to a quadrangle of fine shops in Regent Street to Berkley Square, to South Africa House at Trafalgar Square and The Strand, to Somerset House and to the law courts in Fleet Street.

Many British Pilots Saved

In Saturday's air fighting nine British aircraft were lost but the crews of six escaped. In Sunday's record fighting the R.A.F. lost 25 aircraft but saved 12 pilots.

London authorities officially listed 1,983 German aircraft downed in the battle of Britain and these did not include Sunday's 185. British fighter planes lost in the same battle, they said were 528, but 247 pilots escaped.

Germany's attack on London last night was long, nine hours and 30 minutes, only 10 minutes shorter than the record attack of the war one week ago, but the damage appeared comparatively light. The defenders bag of 185 was five greater than the previous record Aug. 15.

British fighter planes were credited with destroying 178 of the raiders yesterday in a series of massed daylight attacks on the capital. Anti-aircraft guns accounted for the remaining seven.

Germans Change Tactics

During the night attack, which began at 8.07 p.m. (3.07 p.m. E.D.T) and continued to 5.35 a.m., the Germans changed their tactics and resorted to the use of small formations which hammered at London's defences at regular intervals.

The raiders also struck at numerous other areas in northwest and southeast England and South Wales, but the government said that most of the bombs fell in rural areas and that damage was not extensive. One bomber was reported shot down during the night.

Reports from various parts of the London area indicated that time bombs were dropped in showers and observers speculated that the Germans were adopting new tactics in an effort to disrupt life in the capital.

Among the buildings damaged by high explosive or incendiary bombs the government listed three hospitals, which were not identified by name, private homes and "commercial premises".

Quiet in Central London

Terrific gunfire echoed in the Metropolitan area at intervals throughout the night, but comparative quiet prevailed in Central London during the latter hours of the alarm.

During the daylight raids Sunday two heavy bombs and a number of incendiaries were dropped on Buckingham Palace, already bombed twice previously.

The King and Queen were not at the Palace when the projectiles fell. None of the missiles exploded, but one fell in the Queen's apartment, causing considerable damage.

A British fighter pounced upon the German plane which loosed the bombs on the Palace and literally shot it to pieces. The Nazi pilot fell dead on the roof of a nearby building, his parachute unopened.

British Pilot Safe

The British plane also was damaged in the fight and the pilot baled out, receiving a hero's welcome as he parachuted to safety in the same neighborhood.

While London's defenders were fighting furiously yesterday to ward off attacks on the capital, a "suicide squad" unearthed a 1,100 pound time-bomb which for days had menaced historic St. Paul's cathedral, trundled it out of town in a truck and detonated it harmlessly in the hackney marshes.

While the Germans were hammering at Britain, the Royal Air Force struck back Saturday night and Sunday morning at Nazi bases in Germany, northern France, Holland and Belgium.

Docks, warehouses and oil tanks all along the German side of the channel were heavily bombed, the Air Ministry reported.

One R.A.F. pilot told of setting fire to a 5,000-ton merchant ship at Antwerp where he saw more than 300 barges moored in the harbor—possibly in preparation for the long-threatened invasion of Britain.

Channel Ports Shelled

Ostend, Flushing, Dunkerque, Calais and Boulogne also were hit hard, the Air Ministry said, attacks also were made on gun emplacements at Cape Gris Nez, and on supply depots at Osnabruck, Mannheim, Aachen, Hamm and Krefeld.

Two great waves of German bombers, each estimated to include more than 350 planes, participated in the heavy assaults on England Sunday.

Londoners who ventured outside of air raid shelters saw a thrilling drama unfolded overhead as scores of planes, engaged in violent combat, twisted and turned like birds in the sunlight.

Nazi Bomber Falls on Station

Some of the big Nazi bombers were brought down in the heart of London, one falling on Victoria Station and others in the Kennington and Streatham sections.

The Press Association said that yesterday's aerial activity brought to 2,143 the number of German planes shot down over Britain since the war began, Sept. 3, 1939. Of these 2,069 were said to have been downed since the massed raids on the island began June 18.

One heavy bomb which fell on a business building in central London during the night did considerable damage to the two top floors and shook a nearby hotel, but caused no casualties.

ARMORED CARS

(Continued on Page Ten)

Fascist Advance Only Into Desert

British forces, showing no signs of stiffening to meet the Italian drive, led by Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, appeared to be awaiting the main force of the attack and discounted the early Fascist successes as comprising merely the occupation of desert wastes.

There was widespread speculation as to whether the Italian thrust, which began Saturday, really constituted the first step of a general offensive or merely was another local operation.

Many expressed the view that it was designed merely to hold the frontier and prevent continued British raids, which have resulted in the capture of many Italian soldiers, including one General.

Graziani apparently intended to use Bir Nuh as a supply base for the Egyptian campaign, since he left a sizeable force there to start building camps.

Method of Italians

The Fascist Commander, using large numbers of Libyan native troops, apparently had split his force, moving one column down the coast and the other over the desert south of Sollum. The Libyans and Arabs were reported to be leading the advance, protected overhead by Italian bombers and fighters.

One air squadron attempted to bomb Mersa Matruh, about 150 miles from Alexandria, but the British authorities said anti-aircraft fire brought down one raider and forced the others to turn away.

Cairo Remains Calm

Cairo remained calm in the face of the invasion. Egyptians hope the city will be spared bombardment, as an open city, and as a holy place to Moslems. Only a partial blackout exists. Alexandria, however, has a complete blackout, since the British fleet is moored there and the city has been bombed several times.

King Farouk appealed to Moslems all over the world for a collective prayer of peace for Egypt, a country on which Italy has not formally declared war.

He asked Mohammedans to implore Allah to "extend his mercy throughout the world and restore an era of peace and harmony, heal the wounds of humanity, to protect the Moslem countries from all misfortune and resuscitate the prestige of Islam".

Egyptian newspapers gave flaring headlines to the Italian advance and published simultaneously long articles on "Why the Invasion cannot succeed". They all declared Egypt would fight if attacked.

Desert Danger to Invader

"There is a vast desert separating the sea from Libya which only fools would not take into consideration", said the newspaper Al Baladh. "Armies which cross the desert will not all fight. Every fighting soldier requires three to five men behind him to serve him.

"If Italy wishes to march with an army of 250,000 men, it would be like moving the innabitants of a large city with all means of transport. They need foodstuffs and munitions, not to speak of hospitals, as well as workshops to repair damaged materials".

The newspaper also pointed out that mass movement of Italian forces along the Mediterranean exposed them to bombardment of the British fleet.

Plainfield Couple Celebrate Diamond Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Treverton Enjoy Wide Circle of Friends in Community

IN FAIR HEALTH

In the quiet comfort of their home near Plainfield, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Treverton, well-known and highly respected Hastings County residents celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding on Saturday.

Characteristic of their unassuming personalities, Mr. and Mrs. Treverton requested that relatives dispense with any ceremonial observances of the occasion. The day was an ordinary one to them and they received felicitations of their immediate family and friends with no outward demonstrations.

Scion of a fine old pioneer family, Mr. Treverton, who like his wife, the former Annie M. Buskard is eighty-two years of age and was born in Murray Township. His wife first saw the light of day in Surfolk, England, coming to Canada at an early age. On September 14th, 1880, they were married in Trenton by the Rev. E. E. Howard.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Treverton resided in Sidney Township for a period of 24 years. Here four stalwart sons were born to the union and one daughter. At this time, they moved to their present home near Plainfield where they have resided for the past thirty-six years.

An inherent love of agriculture kept Mr. Treverton on the farm. After receiving his education he became a "tiller of the soil" a vocation he has followed all his life. Though in fair health, the elderly couple are able to "get around" and are enjoying the fruits of a life well and truly lived.

Their immediate family all of whom are living, paid their tribute to loving parents on Saturday. The sons include, J. P. Treverton, Plainfield, Fred, of Corbyville; Walter, Plainfield; Edward, Corbyville. Their sister is Mrs. Orville Beer, of Belleville.

Crown Withdraws Appeal Against Sentence

Toronto, Sept. 16 (CP)—C. P. Hope, K.C., representing the Crown, today withdrew an appeal by the Attorney-General in the Appellate Court against a sentence imposed on Orval Henderson by Magistrate E. J. Butler, Belleville, at Napanee for dangerous driving. He had been sentenced to pay a fine of $15 and costs or one month and also to have his permit cancelled for two months. The magistrate's report, Chief Justice Robertson stated, would go to show that the magistrate had accepted Henderson's statement as to an accident and that on the facts as presented he might very well have been acquitted.

SPAIN'S COURSE IS WATCHED

London, Sept. 16—(CP)—Informed observers of Spanish politics here today expressed the view that the Berlin conference of Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish Minister of the Interior, with Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop is highly significant.

Spain's agitation for the return of Gibraltar and speculation that she may enter the war alongside Germany and Italy were recalled. The Spanish Minister is Gen. Francisco Franco's brother-in-law.

Spanish political observers predicted an early reorganization of the Spanish government from the ground up.

Mayalde Visits Berlin

Under any such shake-up, these sources said they expected full power over the administration would fall to the falanage espanola, the semi-fascist single party in Spain which Suner controls and which, by and large, stands for entry into the war.

A recent Berlin visitor was the Count of Mayalde, director of the Spanish Department of Security which functions more or less as do secret police services in other totalitarian countries.

An official explanation said the Count was to study German police methods. But because he is one of Suner's closest friends, the belief was expressed that he had gone to prepare the way for his chief.

Italy's Reported Effort

Observers say Italy has been pressing Franco either to attempt to seize Gibraltar or permit Italian soldiers to pass through Spain to attack the fortress.

Franco was said thus far to have refused, although after Italian entry into the war he showed friendly feeling toward the axis powers by shifting Spain's status from neutrality to non-belligerency. He has asserted that he does not want war if he can avoid it.

A powerful war party does exist in Spain, however, and the question is whether Franco can resist combined German and Italian pressure to bring Spain in.

OIL INDUSTRY OF NAZIS IS MOST VULNERABLE

Is Given Priority in Attacks by R.A.F. — Germany Scatters Bombs Indiscriminately but R.A.F. Confines Attack Upon Military Objectives

(By J. F. Sanderson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Sept. 16 (CP Cable)—In London's long-range plan Germany's oil resources have No. 1 place, followed by transportation facilities and aircraft factories.

While the German luftwaffe scatters its bombs more or less indiscriminately over Britain, particularly London, the R.A.F. has concentrated on military objectives.

In is believed that Germany's main aim for the London raids has been to spread panic among the civilian population and perhaps to drive thousands of people from the city to choke highways in the country and disrupt transportation generally.

But it has not worked out that way although reports reaching London indicate that the prolonged, systematic bombing of the industrial cities of the Ruhr has spread fear an uncertainty among the civilian population there.

Germany's indiscriminate bombing of London has merely resulted in the people getting enraged about it, which seems to strengthen the belief that the R.A.F. raids on military and industrial targets accomplish far more in the end than terror attacks.

Germany's oil industry has been given priority among bombing targets because of the conviction here that it is the most vulnerable spot in the Nazi wartime economic fabric.

Short of Requirements

Authoritative circles believe that Germany is eating into her oil reserves at a steady pace because monthly receipts from synthetic plants as well as from Russia and Rumania fall far short of wartime requirements.

There are qualified oil experts here who believe that Germany's present rate of consumption of gasoline and high grade lubricants can be measured in terms of months, not years.

They estimate that Germany is being forced to dip into accumulated reserves to maintain her war machine and that if these reserves can be depleted and synthetic plants damaged by bombs it will have an appreciable effect on the length of the war.

Selection of communications as the second main target also has an effect on Germany's oil position. When big freight yards such as Hamm's or Canals such as the Dortmund-Ems System are struck, it not only disrupts these transport facilities but throws extra work on highway traffic, forcing Germany to use more oil.

Accuses Willkie as 'Ignorant Of History of Last Few Years'

Secretary Hull Replies to Willkie's Charge That Roosevelt Helped Munich Pact and Urged Settlement Which 'Sold Czecho-Slovakia Down the River'

Washington Sept. 16 (AP)—State Secretary Cordell Hull accused Wendell Willkie today of being "grossly ignorant of the history of the last few years" in placing upon President Roosevelt responsibility for the fate of Czecho-Slovakia at Munich.

The Republican Presidential nominee charged in a speech in Illinois Saturday that Mr. Roosevelt helped to promote the Munich Pact and urged a settlement which "sold Czecho-Slovakia down the river."

In a statement Mr. Hull declared "the assertions which Mr. Willkie made are untrue and make it evident he is grossly ignorant of the history of the last few years."

Referring to Willkie's assertion that President Roosevelt "telephoned Hitler and Mussolini and urged them to sell Czecho-Slovakia down the river at Munich," Mr. Hull said:—

No Talks With Dictators

"The President has never communicated by telephone with either Premier Mussolini or Chancellor Hitler.

"All the President has ever urged upon the nations involved has been in accordance with the provisions of the Kellogg Pact which provides for pacific solution of controversies as they arise.

"In September, 1938, he specifically urged in messages made public immediately that a peaceful solution be found through negotiations in which all the nations involved would be represented, including Czecho-Slovakia and that such negotiations be undertaken by all nations on an equal basis with none of them under the threat of aggression."

After Willkie had made the charge at Joliet, Ill., Saturday, his press secretary, Lem Jones, said that he had "misspoken" and what he had intended to say was that President Roosevelt had urged a settlement at Munich and that the pact there, "agreed to sell Czecho-Slovakia down the river."

The War Today

(By Guy Rhoades)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Britain's heavy coastal guns tossed shells across the Channel at their Nazi opposite numbers and drew reply while the nation celebrated the greatest air victory of the war today.

Royal Air Force fighters and anti-aircraft fire within 24 hours ending this morning knocked 185 German aircraft out of the skies, while 12 pilots escaped alive from 25 British planes lost.

Coastal defences remained braced to receive a German invasion attempt with fire and steel, but there was no sure indication when it would come, if at all. R.A.F. bombers continued to hammer at possible starting points for such an attempt and ranged farther afield, smashing at supply-marshalling points and factories. Berlin experienced two night raids.

Meanwhile on the African front British forces withdrew from desert villages considered no longer useful to the defence of Egypt while King Farouk called on all Moslems to pray for a return of peace to the world.

It was recalled in this connection that as late as a year and a half ago there was talk in some Mohammedan circles of reviving the Grand Caliphate with Farouk at its head as spiritual leader of all Moslems. The office was discontinued in 1924 with the break-out of the old Ottoman Empire and the term Caliph has ceased to have more than a local meaning.

The trouble appears to have been that Moslems felt there was no competent machinery for re-establishing the Grand Caliphate, although an effort was made at a Congress in Cairo in 1926. Nevertheless it has been felt in some quarters that Farouk, as the leading temporal figure in the Mohammedan world, might become the logical person to invoke a holy war.

Perhaps sensing something like this Rome authorities today sought to represent that they were by no means making war on Egypt, but merely leading an expedition against British forces within its borders.

Should Egypt consider herself outrightly attacked she might invoke the aid of her Moslem neighbors, including Turkey with its powerful army. It was considered significant in some quarters that Farouk should call for peace prayers for the whole Moslem world.

Many felt, however, that the African campaign was largely a side issue and the battle between totalitarianism and democracy would have to be fought between the Empire and Germany.

THE TATE GALLERY STRUCK BY BOMB

German Air Attack of Last Week Responsible for the Damage

London, Sept. 16.—(CP)—The Tate gallery, one of London's most famous art museums, was struck by a bomb during a German air attack last week, it was disclosed today.

The Tate Gallery—its proper name is the National Gallery of British Art—is on the Thames embankment, near Vauxhall Bridge, west of the Houses of Parliament and forms a triangle with them and Victoria Station in the heart of London.

The late Sir Henry Tate, sugar merchant and art patron, founded the gallery with his own collection of modern British pictures.

Britain's most prized art treasures were taken from museum walls and placed in special repositories, mostly underground, early in the war.

GERMAN WARSHIP HIT BY R. A. F.

British Air Ministry Announces Direct Hit Made at Terschilling Off Dutch Coast

London, Sept. 16.—(CP)—Military objectives in Berlin were bombed by the Royal Air Force last night during widespread raids on enemy territory covering the German, French, Netherlands and Belgian coasts, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

R.A.F. bombers scored a direct hit on a German warship at Terschilling, off the Netherlands Coast, the Ministry said.

May Adopt Loan Policy

Ottawa, Sept. 16 —(CP)— The least acceptable method of financing farm-stored wheat in Western Canada would be that of adding to producers' indebtedness by advancing loans but if no other way can be found it may be necessary to adopt a loaning policy, Agriculture Minister Gardiner said in an interview today.

★ A message to the many new citizens whom Belleville has welcomed in the past year.

So, you've come to live in Belleville

. . . And you'll be happy here. In spite of the many new citizens and many new tasks it has acquired in these war days, Belleville is never too busy to make you feel at home. You've probably discovered this already . . . in the courtesy of the sales girl where you bought cosmetics, in the extra care with which the salesman fitted your suit, in the friendliness of the store where you bought new home furnishings . . .

THE NEWCOMER'S first impressions of Belleville are usually very happy ones. For more than most cities, the culture and charm of Belleville is reflected in its stores. There is a reason for this. Belleville people are not lightly won from old loyalties. So, the stores they patronize, are for the most part, long established. Their owners or managers are citizens of Belleville, active in their business and in their community. Their roots are deep in the soil of the city's life.

BELLEVILLE PEOPLE, too, have tastes just a little above the average, with the means to enjoy them. So we find in Belleville's stores that quality of merchandise that attracts fastidious buyers who appreciate merchandise that bears the hallmark of craftsmanship.

BECAUSE LIFE in Belleville is pitched at a more even tempo, shopping in Belleville stores is pleasant. They are conveniently grouped, well lighted, airy, and modernly designed.

WE COMMEND you to the stores of Belleville. As they are new friends to you, they are old friends to us. We've a friendly partnership that goes back with some of these merchants for many, many years when their advertising first appeared in the early issues of The Ontario and The Intelligencer.

AS ONE of Belleville's new citizens who are now making The Ontario Intelligencer your family newspaper, you too, will join that partnership—making the acquaintance of Belleville merchants through a newspaper which has become an institution through more than a century of service to its community.

The Ontario
Estd. 1840

The Intelligencer
Estd. 1837

Probabilities
Light to moderate winds; fair and warm today and Wednesday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1940

Temperatures

	Max.	Min
Today	75	48.9
One year ago	69.5	44

Weather:—Clear.

**

CHURCHILL CONFIDENT OF BRITISH DEFENCES

Gale Sweeping English Channel Scatters Invasion Fleet

Troops Battle in Sandstorms of Desert

Heavy Blows Dealt Hitler's Invasion Plans

British Premier Says 2,000 Civilians Killed, 8,000 Wounded in Nazi Raids Sept 1-14

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 17 (CP Cable)—Ten thousand people, men, women and children, were killed or wounded by the air bombing of Britain in the first fortnight of September, Prime Minister Churchill announced today to the House of Commons.

Those killed numbered 2,000 and the wounded 8,000. Four fifths of all the casualties occurred in London. To demonstrate the wantonness of the German air attacks, the Prime Minister added that in the same fortnight these attacks killed or injured only 250 men of the British fighting services.

Mr. Churchill spoke during an air raid alarm.

The Prime Minister expressed extreme confidence in the ability of Britain's defences to subdue German air attacks and advised the House not to under-estimate the bomb damage inflicted on Hitler's invasion force massed on the other side of the channel.

The House began a secret debate after the Prime Minister had finished his public statement.

Mr. Churchill spoke before an assemblage of Commons which began at 2:45 p.m. (9:45 a.m. EDT), but the fact that it was in session was kept secret for more than two hours, because of repeated air raids over London.

The House adjourned shortly after it had assembled when the sirens sounded the third alarm since dawn at 2:53 p.m. (9:53 a.m. EDT), but reassembled before the all-clear blew.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 17 —(CP)—Synopsis—The weather has been fair in most districts of Ontario with a tendency to higher temperature. Thundershowers have occurred in Manitoba, southeast Saskatchewan and in northwestern sections of Ontario. It has been warm throughout the west.

Lake Superior: Moderate to fresh southeast winds; partly cloudy and warm today and Wednesday with scattered thundershowers.

Manitoba: Partly cloudy and warm; scattered thundershowers in eastern districts. Wednesday—Generally fair and warm.

Saskatchewan: Generally fair and warm today and on Wednesday.

Alberta: Mostly fair today and Wednesday with not much change in temperature.

Victoria	55	61	53
Calgary	39	72	39
Edmonton	42	72	42
Winnipeg	63	86	62
Toronto	57	69	54
Ottawa	56	73	53
Quebec	58	60	54
St. John	52	56	50
Detroit	50	71	48
New York	60	73	57
Miami	77	88	77

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Air and sound! If the people at Dover, England, can hear the reports of cannon on the other shore of the channel, they will also hear the whine of the projectile overhead before the report of the cannon is heard. This is because air carries sound, and the speed of sound in air at 68 degrees Fahrenheit is 1130 feet per second, while a high-speed shell may travel more than twice that fast. Thus, a shell may pass over Dover and its whine be heard about 45 seconds before the report of the gun firing that shell is distinguished.

SAW ALLIED SHIPS SINK BATTLESHIP AMERICAN SAYS

Seattle Youth Declares He Was Eye Witness of Battle Off Trondheim on April 4th

BRITISH GUNNERS GOOD

Seattle, Sept. 17—(AP)—An 18-year-old Seattle youth arrived home from Norway yesterday with a story of having seen two warships sink the German pocket battleship Deutschland last April 14.

Arnold Bergstrom, who returned to the United States recently aboard the American Legion, said he was positive of the identity because he saw the ship's name plainly through glasses, about a mile off shore near the mouth of Trondheim Fjord, and later saw the ship's name on the caps of German sailors whose bodies were washed ashore.

(Reports from the European continent listed the Deutschland in action after April 14, but under another name).

It was in the evening, Bergstrom recounted, that he and villagers at Stadsbygd witnessed the battle.

"A British battleship and a French sub-chaser entered the Fjord and the Deutschland and a German destroyer went out to meet them....

"The British battleship opened up. Those English certainly are good gunners. They made direct hits right away. The Germans replied, but in about 20 minutes the Deutschland sank. The German destroyer was badly damaged.

"The next day 150 bodies were washed up on the beaches."

Bergstrom said half a dozen German airplanes participated in the battle but failed to hit either ship with bombs.

R. A. F. Pilot Dives Flaming Flame Into Nazi Bomber

London, Sept. 17 (CP)—A Spitfire pilot today used his flaming plane as a projectile to bring down a German bomber.

At the height of the fighting the flier shot down two or more Dornier bombers from a formation and flew away, only to find that the tail of his Spitfire was literally spitting fire.

He headed back toward the German formation, took a "bead" on the nearest Dornier, and leaped clear just before the collision.

The Briton landed safely in the street of a Southeast town, while the Germans crashed to earth.

Surgical Operation Brings Relief In the Treatment of Insanity

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Philadelphia, Sept. 17 —(AP)— A surgical operation that brought "truly amazing" results in the treatment of insanity cases where all other methods had failed was described today to the bicentennial conference of the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Edward A. Strecker, chairman of the University's department of psychiatry, said the operation was the first attempt at surgical treatment of insanity. It indicates, he added, that some ideas of the hopelessness of long-standing cases of insanity can be revised.

Operations were performed by Dr. Francis Grant on the brains of eight persons who had been insane for more than 10 years. The operation itself is not new but had not previously been used on insanity patients.

Through an opening in the region of the temple a fan-shaped cut is made in the upper forward part of the brain known as the frontal lobes.

Doctor Walter Freeman and Doctor James W. Watts of George Washington University School of Medicine, Washington, D.C., discovered that this operation would control the melancholias of late middle life.

This led Dr. Strecker to reason that the forward portion of the brain might be a key in long-standing insanity known as Schizophrenia.

"The results," he reported, "were interesting and sometimes truly amazing. The aggressiveness, in some instances homicidal in degree, disappeared; mental material which one would have believed irretrievably lost was apparently salvaged by the operation; panic reactions were terminated. While the operations did not effect complete cures, life became bearable and pleasant for patients who before were living in veritable misery."

CAUGHT HIDING IN A COAL BIN ROBBER IS SHOT

Norman L. Rathburn, Proprietor of Bakery, Fires Five Shots at Alex Coward, Two Taking Effect

CALLS POLICE CAR

Proprietor Awakened by Barking of Spaniel Pup and Two Men Wrestle on Cellar Steps

Hamilton, Ont., Sept. 17—(CP)—Alex Coward, 37, of Hamilton, was shot and fatally wounded early today after he was caught hiding in a coal bin by the proprietor of a bakery shop. He died 30 minutes after being admitted to hospital with two bullet wounds.

Police said Norman L. Rathburn, proprietor of the bakery who was awakened by the barking of a dog, told them he fired five shots from a .38 calibre revolver. Coward was hit in the hip and abdomen.

Rathburn said he found a man hiding in the coal bin in the cellar and rushed back upstairs to get a revolver. When he returned the man had reached the top of the cellar steps. The man attacked, but Rathburn broke away and fired two shots which missed. Another scuffle followed and Rathburn fired three more shots.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

P-O. E. Minchington Missing in Near East

Toronto, Sept. 17—(CP)— Pilot Officer Edward Charles Minchington of Toronto is missing as a result of Royal Air Force operations last Saturday in the Mediterranean, his parents here were notified today by the Air Ministry in London.

P-O. Minchington is the first Ontario flier reported missing with the R.A.F. in the Near East. He was born in Toronto and graduated from Pickering College at Newmarket in 1931. He joined the Toronto Flying Club in 1937 and after obtaining his pilot's licence was accepted by the R.A.F. and left for England in November of that year. He was assigned to the Near East command of the R.A.F. in May, 1938. For the first two years he had served continuously in the Near East.

Lately he had been in command of a reconnaissance bomber.

DRAMATIC EDITOR DIES

Westport, Conn., Sept. 17 (AP)—Matthew White, Jr., for 28 years dramatic editor of Munsey's Magazine, died of bronchial pneumonia today at his home here. He was 83.

In addition to his position on Munsey's Magazine, White also had been editor of Argosy—All Story Weekly Magazine.

He was author of such stories as "Eric Dane," "The Young Editor," and "My Mysterious Fortune," and of the novels, "One of the Profession," and "The Affair at Islington" among others.

SIGNING THE "GRAB TREATY"

Rumanian Foreign Minister Manoilescu affixes his signature to the treaty making legal the Hungarian "grab" of much of Rumania's rich province of Transylvania. The historic Belvedere Palace in Vienna is the scene for the signing. The Italian and German diplomats, who were the prime movers in this deal, are not shown, but they were there looking on.

MAY NOT CALL MEN BEYOND THE 21-24 CLASS

Annual Coming of Age of New Group Expected to Fill Needs

WILL BE 8 CAMPS

Ottawa, Sept. 17 (CP)—It may be unnecessary at any time to go far beyond the single men of the 24-year-old class to obtain a steady flow of recruits for Canada's compulsory military training program opening next Oct. 9. The Canadian Press learned from Hon. J. G. Gardiner, Minister of National War Services.

Single men and childless widowers, now in the 21-year class, and those who will become 21 in the next few years, will play the major part in the training program as presently envisaged by his department, Mr. Gardiner said in an interview.

At the same time he emphasized that this schooling in Non-Permanent Militia centres is merely training and not a call for home defense and that present views of the program might be changed by the exigencies of war. Actual training of the men is in the hands of the Defense Department.

The first men to be called for training—30,000 21-year-olds as at last July 1—will shortly receive their notice by registered mail to report for medical examination and if found fit, to proceed to training centres about Oct. 9.

Eight Camps Planned

For subsequent camps registrars will first exhaust those remaining in the 21-year class and work up through the other three classes now on call.

As Mr. Gardiner outlined the training program, the plan is for men presently in the 21-year-old class to have undergone a minimum of four training periods of thirty days each at the end of the

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Young Polish Pilot Again Wants Action

Quebec, Sept. 17—(CP)—Kazimierz Rebalski, a young pilot who fought in Poland and in France, escaped from an internment camp in Rumania, and outwitted Vichy representatives at Casablanca before reaching America on a freighter, said in an interview last night that he hopes to return to England to fight with the Polish squadron there.

The 27-year-old pilot said he expected to have an interview with the Polish Consul in Montreal today and see what possibility he has of returning to England.

Through an interpreter, the pilot told newspapermen that "Italians are not good soldiers; poor pilots. I was at the front against them. I came on a group and they fled when they saw us coming against them."

FLEET AIR ARM SCOURS THE SEA WITH VIGILANCE

Mediterranean Fleet Active Hunting for Italian Submarines

ROUTINE DESCRIBED

With the Fleet Air Arm in the Mediterranean, Sept. 17 (CP-Reuters).—Life goes on as usual with the fleet air arm in the Mediterranean even if most of the Italian fleet is hiding in its harbors.

The Royal Navy is scouring the seas with ceaseless vigilance, hoping to find at least stray adventures and also to keep the ships and men in good fettle by constant training.

This correspondent has just spent four days at sea with the fleet air arm, aboard an aircraft carrier that Berlin and Rome claimed several times to have sunk.

Life on board this ship is an unending round of fascinating routine, every effort being bent on getting the aircraft into the air in the fewest possible minutes for reconnaissance or combat, and getting them landed and stowed in the hangar in the shortest time.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Editorial Tribute Paid to Lt. Davies

New York, Sept. 17 (CP)—The New York Times today paid editorial tribute to Lt. Robert Davies, Canadian member of the Royal Engineers who directed excavation of a half-ton time bomb from the precincts of St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

"The Victoria Cross has gone to heroes who faced less fearful odds," said The Times in recalling how Davies and his squad dug for 96 hours, in imminent danger of death, to remove the huge bomb. It added:—

"In the rage of battle, when passion and the hot blood surge up, men will risk death freely to get at the enemy. Day and night, for 96 endless hours, Davies and his squad grubbed toward a cold, blind death. All the while the acid within the bomb was eating toward the explosive vitals. A gas main broke, caught fire and the bomb began to cook. The men kept digging.

"They risked their lives for a symbol. The dome that still stands, the dome the people watch so prayerfully, covers 2 1-2 centuries of England. Over the city it is like a flag flying above the bloody deck of a beleaguered battleship. It may be shot away but it must not fall while there are Britons who can save it."

In its news columns, The Times devoted a column to biographical matter on the daring Canadian. It recalled he had spent his boyhood near St. Catharines, Ont., and in Akron, Ohio, and graduated from the University of Toronto as an engineer.

BRITISH INFLICT HEAVY LOSSES ON ITALIAN VAN

Battle Rages in Intense Heat Forty Miles Inside Border

TANK TRUCKS BOMBED

Flames of Burning Vehicles Visible for Forty Miles

Cairo, Sept. 17 (AP)—Italian motorized forces, driving across hot Egyptian deserts from Libya, have occupied Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, British military sources announced today.

Officials said that the Fascist advance cost the Italians heavily in men and materials, but that no large British forces had yet engaged the invaders, and no battle had yet been fought.

The desert battle has raged in intense heat, with the temperature climbing to 110 and 120 degrees at times and with combatants limited in some cases to scant supplies of water.

So far as could be learned in Cairo, the area occupied by the Italians was confined to a narrow strip along the Mediterranean coast.

The goal of the Fascist drive apparently was Alexandriavo site of an important British naval base, which still is more than 250 miles beyond the advance.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

PRIME MINISTER STAYS FOR LUNCH

Winston Churchill Has Audience With King George and Witnesses Investiture

London, Sept. 17 —(CP)— Prime Minister Churchill had an audience with the King at Buckingham Palace today and stayed for lunch.

His Majesty held an investiture in the air raid shelter of Buckingham Palace. Twelve men and four men who attended the private ceremony received decorations awarded husbands or sons.

As they filed into the shelter the Earl of Clarendon, Lord Chamberlain, called their names and also the name of the man who would have received the awards had he lived. Then the insignia of the decoration was handed over.

V.C. for Men Who Saved St. Paul's Demanded by London News Chronicle

By HAROLD FAIR
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 17 (CP).—The News Chronicle demanded in a leading editorial today that tough Lieut. Robert Davies and his daredevils of the suicide squad who saved St. Paul's should be awarded the Victoria Cross.

Informed circles are doubting whether such battle honors as this and the Distinguished Service Order are possible under the present system of awards and suggested that the Canadian officer and his men might get the prized empire gallantry medal for removing a half-ton time bomb from the cathedral precincts.

The feat of Lieut. Davies, formerly of St. Catharines, Ont., and his squad was hailed in editorials in other papers while Canon F. A. Cockin of St. Paul's disclosed in a letter to the Times that the Dean and Chapter of the cathedral are taking steps to express their appreciation in suitable form.

Heroes See What They Have Saved.

The dean, Very Rev. W. R. Matthews, wrote that after the men had been given "suitable refreshment to celebrate the conclusion of their labors, I had the privilege of showing some of the men around the cathedral in order that they might see some of the things they had saved."

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Knox Picks Britain to Win War Is 'Quite Cheerful' About Outcome

San Diego, Calif., Sept. 17 (AP).—Navy Secretary Frank Knox of the United States gives Britain a better than even chance to defeat Germany—feels indeed "quite cheerful about it".

The secretary who arrived here by navy plane yesterday from Honolulu where he inspected naval facilities and spent five days at sea with the United States fleet, told newsmen he believed the chance for a successful invasion of Britain was growing weaker every day.

"To invade Great Britain," he said "Germany must destroy British air power, and it has by no means done that. Germany's 3-1 air advantage has dwindled because, as the offensive nation, it has lost more planes.

"Germany's losses usually are total—plane and pilots. Many English pilots, when their ship is disabled, can land on English soil and return to fight again.

"I believe England now has better than a "50-50" chance to win out, and I feel quite cheerful about it."

RAF Pilots Report 'Sudden Changes' In Disposition

British Convoys Pass Through Channel Without Nazi Attempt to Molest Them

London, Sept. 17. — (CP)— A westerly gale sweeping through the English Channel throughout last night scattered Germany's invasion fleet and sent her ships scurrying for shelter, the Air Ministry announced today in giving reports of British reconnaissance planes.

Many British convoys passed through the Channel today without any German attempt to molest them.

Royal Air Force planes combing the German-occupied coast across the Channel reported "sudden changes" in the disposition of German ships which previously had been spotted.

The storm, which, along with a thick land fog was a welcome barrier to any immediate invasion, failed however to stop German planes in their attacks at London. The city experienced three air raid alarms during the day.

Nazi Pilot Bails Out

The third alarm sounded in mid-afternoon and a brisk encounter ensued between Nazi craft and British fighters. One German pilot bailed out. The alarm ended at 4.24 p.m. (11.23 a.m. E.D.T.), after being in force an hour and 31 minutes.

In a southeast English town a lone Nazi raider during the morning caused considerable damage and a number of casualties.

The daylight raids followed a heavy night assault on London.

An official announcement said that the night attacks were concentrated on the London area and that a number of fires were started and considerable damage done, but that casualties "on the whole do not appear to have been heavy."

Bond Street, Oxford Street, Berkeley Square and Sloan Square— in the heart of the West End—were among the buildings hit. Bombs also fell in Piccadilly, Park Lane, Regent Street and the Burlington Arcade.

One of the daylight attackers was believed downed by anti-aircraft fire and another was snared in a barrage balloon cable during the night.

German Prisoner Who Escaped Is Recaptured

Burlington, Ont., Sept. 17—(CP)—A German prisoner, identified as Alexander Siegel, was recaptured at this Hamilton district tow ntoday, about five hours after he escaped from an internment camp in the Toronto area. The capture was made by a police officer.

Toronto, Sept. 17 —(CP)— The escape of a German prisoner, identified as A. Siegle, from a Toronto district internment camp was announced today by W. H. Stringer, commissioner of Ontario Provincial Police. Siegle escaped early today, but no details of the break were released.

He was the second man to escape from an Ontario camp in two days. At present police and soldiers are scouring the Thunder Bay District for Fritz Fuchs, a civilian prisoner, who slipped from a northwestern Ontario camp. Six other escapers in recent months have all been recaptured.

Siegle is described as 27 years old; 5 feet, 7 inches tall; 142 pounds, sallow complexion, black hair cut short, hazel eyes, good teeth. He speaks excellent English and was wearing the prison trousers of blue with red stripe and blue shirt with Red circle.

Siegle's escape was the first reported from this particular camp.

Officials expressed doubt that Siegel had been able to get completely away. It was thought that he might be hiding in one of the large camp buildings or in nearby fields. Much of the hunt was concentrated in the immediate camp surroundings.

Siegel was accounted for at the morning roll call and his absence was discovered a short time later. Soldiers were immediately despatched to all roads in the vicinity where passing cars were scrutinized. Siegel had been working with a party of about fifteen prisoners inside the wire fence which surrounds the grounds.

Other parties have been engaged at times on farm work outside the grounds of this particular camp, under armed guards, but after Siegel's escape the outside parties were ordered back into camp. A check-up showed that no others were missing.

TRUCK SIDESWIPES STREET CAR

Toronto, Sept. 17 (CP)—One woman was seriously hurt and five persons suffered lesser injuries when a heavy cartage truck and trailer sideswiped a street car here today.

Coming Events

TAG DAY FOR THE BLIND, Saturday, Sept. 21. Help the Blind to help themselves by supporting the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. S17-19

THE SALVATION ARMY FAREWELL MEETING of Brigadier and Mrs. Riches, Wednesday, 8 o'clock. Twenty officers attending. Public is invited. S17-1t

SPEND THE HALF HOLIDAY AT Stirling Fair. Good races assured. Grand military display with Regimental and Bugle Bands. Dance in evening. Meet your friends at Stirling Fair, Wednesday, Sept. 18th., and see the Black and White Holstein Cattle Show of over two hundred head, with many other attractions. S17-1t

BINGO, FOR WAR PURPOSES, Tonight, Sept. 17, Moose and Knights of Columbus Halls. Auspices Catholic Women's League. Voucher prizes. Voucher door prize. 30 games for 25c. S17-1t

CENTENARY UNITED CHURCH Anniversary Service, November 3. Annual Chicken Supper, Wednesday, Nov. 6. Reserve date. Good program. Admission 50c and 25c. S17-1t

HUNGERFORD JUNIOR FARMers' Dance, Tweed Pavilion. Friday, Sept. 20, 9 to 2, S.T. Jitney Dancing. S17-1t

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

GROWS PLUMS OF FINE FLAVOR

Mr. George Britton, College St., brought into this newspaper office today some luscious plums picked from a tree four or five years old growing in his garden. The fruit is of very fine flavor. Mr. Britton explained that he had grafted a bradshaw plum on a gage.

CANNERIES BUSY ON PLUM, TOMATO PACK AT PRESENT

Lombard plums and certain other fall fruits are being picked up by district canning factories for canning and jamming purposes according to farmers attending market Tuesday morning. One farmer stated that his entire crop of Lombards had been sold to the canning factories who seemed anxious to purchase this fruit.

Tomato canning has now become general in most of the district factories with most plants working on full time. The local plant of the Canada Packers on Albion St. has operated daily since Friday and reports that tomatoes are now arriving at the plant in increasing quantities. Prices at all factories have been increased from 35c to 40c per bushel owing to the scarcity of the crop.

NINETY-NINE NAMES INSCRIBED ON PLAQUE

Ninety-nine names grace the plaque placed in the clubrooms of the Army and Navy Veterans in Canada, Belleville Branch No. 201. The names are of those Belleville men who have joined His Majesty's Canadian fighting services. The plaque was installed recently with the purpose of paying tribute to the city's military, naval and air force sons.

JUSTICE GODFREY TO PRESIDE HERE

Mr. Justice Godfrey will preside at the Fall Assizes of the Supreme Court of Ontario which convenes here on October 28th. Four murder charges and a criminal negligence charge are on the docket.

TWO LOCAL MEN JOIN NAVAL FORCES

Clarence Ramsay, son of Mrs. F. Ramsay, 106 College Street, will leave for Kingston on Saturday where he will join the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve. Mr. Ramsay was called to the colors yesterday. William Hirst, John Street, former employee of the Belleville Sargent Company, joined the Canadian Navy last week and is at present in training in Kingston.

G. F. OSTROM, JR., JOINS R.C.A.F.

Mr. George F. Ostrom, Jr., son of ex-Ald. George F. Ostrom, left yesterday for a western centre where he will begin his training in the Royal Canadian Air Force.

COURT MOIRA

At the opening meeting last evening for the fall season of Court Moira Independent Order of Foresters in their chambers, West Front Street here there was a representative turnout with Chief Ranger Geo. Ellarby ably presiding.

High Secretary Charles L. Walters of the Eastern Ontario jurisdiction of the Order gave a report of the Executive Committee which held a conclave at Brockville last Saturday and he addressed the Brothers and Companions concerning the "good and welfare" of the fraternity.

Because of the recent death of Bro. S. S. Finkle, the local recording secretary and treasurer Bro. Fred Henry was appointed to fill out the year's term in this official position.

500 Blankets Urgently Needed to Supply Evacuee Children

Britain's children sent from the battle-scarred shores of the Old Land are still arriving in Canada. In Toronto the little evacuees are gathered in the Oddfellows' Home on Davenport Avenue where they undergo medical examinations and other necessary requirements before being sent to their homes across Canada. Here they stay for an indefinite period, awaiting their turn to go before doctors and officials.

Responsibility of the new home for these children has been undertaken by the Provincial Chapter of the Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire, and the various chapters in Ontario have been asked to contribute to the welfare of Canada's little war guests.

Five hundred blankets are urgently needed and the provincial members have been asked to contribute this amount.

Belleville has always generously responded to calls of this nature and local members of the I.O.D.E. feel that this call will not go unheeded.

So the appeal goes out for blankets for these children. Those desirous of contributing to the needs of the new Evacuees Home should get in touch with Mrs. A. B. Gribble, Regent of the Argyll Chapter, I.O.D.E. as soon as possible. The telephone number in 1889.

The need is urgent. Contributions should be made as quickly as possible.

It Pays to Shop at The Rexall Store.
4 CAKES
Cashmere Bouquet Soap
with sample of FACE POWDER
All for 23c
McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

26 YEARS IN BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY and PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

LEONA RIGGS
RESUMES CLASSES in PIANO, VOICE, THEORY.
Telephone 50
S16-18-30

WHEATLEY MUSIC STUDIOS
All Grades to A.T.C.M. and A.C.C.M.
NOW OPEN
Prof. Wheatley, Mus. Bac. A.R.C.O., Director
(Bank of Montreal Chambers)
S3-6t-eod

POLICE COURT

Although only out of sight of his motor car for a scant few minutes, it was sufficient time to permit thieves to steal an automobile off Front Street last evening. James Thompson, Marmora, parked his motor car near the City Hall and while he was absent conducting some personal business the vehicle was stolen. It was a 1936 model Chevrolet coach bearing Ontario licence plates number 363-D-8. City police immediately notified surrounding district police authorities, but the vehicle had not been recovered at noon today.

Henry (Benny) Storms, of Napanee, was arrested at his home last evening by Provincial Constable J. G. Burton and brought to Belleville to face a serious charge preferred by a Deseronto woman. Later in the evening Storms was admitted to bail, which was set at $2,000.00. His case will be heard in County police court on Thursday.

Two inebriates, one a woman, were apprehended locally last night. The woman appeared before H. B. Wilson, local Justice of the Peace, this morning and was remanded to custody at the county jail house, while the man was admitted to bail.

With no transients seeking shelter at the police station last night, the two inebriates slumbered without disturbance.

Roslin

Roslin — The September meeting of the Roslin Women's Institute was held Friday afternoon, September 13th, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Weir with an attendance of twelve ladies.

The President, Mrs. W. White, presided, the meeting opened with the singing of the Institute Ode, Mrs. Fargey acted as pianist, following this all joined in repeating the Lord's prayer. The secretary gave her reports and a short business period followed.

Mrs. H. Chisholm who was leader for the day's programme, gave a talk on the motto, "By their fruits ye shall know them."

Mrs. C. Chapman gave a talk on "The care of house plants and bulbs." All joined in singing several songs. Mrs. Gillespie read a poem: "The Soul of a Child." Mrs. Slingerland gave a reading: "The Glory of a Garden."

All joined in a "Seed Contest." The National Anthem was sung and lunch served.

Mrs. Hillman, of Windsor, was a recent visitor at the home of her brother, Mr. J. Johnson.

Mr. H. Chisholm and Mr. Charles Hart were guests on Thursday evening at a banquet held in the "New Queens Hotel" Belleville, sponsored by Canada Packers.

Mrs. J. Robinson spent a week recently with her daughter in Toronto.

The painting of the exterior of the Anglican Church was completed last week, and a vast improvement in it's appearance is noted. Extensive repairs to the foundation of the church were also made. Mr. N. Wilson was in charge of the work.

Mrs. W. Clapsaddle spent several days last week with Mrs. H. B. Wilson in Colborne.

Mrs Wm. Bates who has been ill and who spent several days last week in Belleville Hospital, was able to return to her home on Saturday evening.

Mrs. Wm. Eaton of Tweed, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Bates.

The congregation of the Presbyterian Church held a successful anniversary supper in the Manse on Tuesday evening, around one hundred persons enjoyed the supper and the programme which followed.

Miss Helen Welsh has returned to Havergal College in Toronto after spending the summer vacation at her home here.

Mrs. H. E. Welsh and Mrs. H. Elliott of Thomasburg spent several days last week in Toronto.

Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer spent Saturday in Kingston.

On Thursday evening friends and neighbours gathered in the hall in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Kilpatrick, (nee Ruby Robinson) who were married recently and presented them with a miscellaneous shower.

The young couple were the recipients of many lovely gifts for which they graciously thanked their friends.

The evening was spent in dancing.

Albury

Albury—A number of boys from this vicinity have been away for two weeks at Petawawa.

Those who attended the quilting at the home of Mrs. Roy Williamson, were Miss Hattie Peck, Mrs. Frank Dempsey, Mrs. Bert Bryant, Mrs. Harry Dempsey, Mrs. S. C. Peck, Mrs. Beuford Peck. Mrs. Harry Peck, Mrs. Bill Bowerman. The quilt was donated by Mrs. Frank Dempsey for the Red Cross.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyons and sister from Jersey City have been visiting in this vicinity.

Mrs. Bob Dempsey and son, Norman, are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy and Eleanor of Toronto, called in this vicinity before leaving for Halifax on Thursday to meet three English children.

Mr. Eugene Irwin of West Lake, is the new teacher succeeding Miss Audra Alyea.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl West, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lyons spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Allan Weese.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Carnrike, Miss Edna Carnrike and friend spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Weese.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Williamson, Mr. and Mrs. Beuford Peck spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Young and Evelyn.

Mr. and Mrs. L. McCutcheon of Ottawa, are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crouter.

Germany Given Rest

London, Sept. 17 —CP—Cable)— The Royal Air Force gave Germany and Nazi-occupied terrority a rest last night from the relentless bombing of military objectives of recent weeks.

This was due to adverse weather conditions, it was learned today. The weather was unsuitable for accurate bombing, although it might have been satisfactory for indiscriminate attacks.

FRESH AS A FLOWER!
'LOTUS'
The New Perfumed Cologne by YARDLEY
$1.10 and $1.95
At once subtle and exotic . . . yet fresh and fragrant as an English country garden! The floral undertones in this delightful new Cologne leave a lasting impression of charm.
GEEN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 131 — Prompt Delivery

Free Transportation Asked For Enlisted Men on Leave At City Council Meeting

Recommendation Will be Sent to Prime Minister and Local Member of Parliament

OTHER BUSINESS

The City Council, after enjoying a summer holiday resumed their regular session for the balance of the year with a regular meeting held in the council chambers last night but there was little business to transact and the session was of short duration. There was a full attendance of the Council with Ald. Robert Graham appearing in uniform, having completed a training period at Camp Petawawa with the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) battalion. Ald. McLean Haig will not be regular attendant after last night for the Chairman of Executive will join the R.C.A.F. as an administration officer. Ald. R. B. Cooper is in uniform being a Captain in the Veterans' Home Guard.

And in speaking of the war, the members of the council went on record of forming a committee to wait upon the publisher of the Ontario Intelligencer to request a complete list of those enlisted from this city to be published in the paper for history's sake. The members of the Council will be willing to co-operate with the paper in securing a comprehensive and complete list and as enlistments are made these can be added to the list. Ald. Harry Rollins and Ald. Harold Armstrong were appointed to this committee.

Submit By-law to Electors

A by-law will be submitted to the electors at the next municipal election asking them to vote on the question of a two year term for the City Council for the duration of the war. This is in accordance with a request of the Ontario Government, that governing bodies be elected for a two year term in order to save expenses. In order to assist the 32-34th and 3-47th Batteries of the Royal Canadian Artillery, the bands of each unit will be enriched by the sum of $250. The council unanimously passed the recommendation "That the sum of $250 each be granted to the bands of the Belleville troops of the 3-47th and 32-34th batteries and that the Council apply to the Municipal Board for permission to grant the same."

The members of the City Council are anxious to have some military unit have Belleville used as a training centre and a recommendation "That a committee be appointed to interview through proper channels with representatives of the National Defence Department of the Dominion Government relative to having a Military Unit established in Belleville for training purposes" was unanimously passed. Alds. Pringle, Butler, Haig, Armstrong and Jeffery signed the recommendation and Mayor Thompson appointed these Aldermen as the committee to conduct the negotiations.

A delegation of the market gardeners waited on the Council last night and presented a petition to curb the house to house canvassing of garden produce for which the sellers pay no licence to the city. The delegation also asked that hawkers be licenced. Mayor Thompson promised earnest consideration of the request as the petition was referred back to the committee. A number of city properties ranging in price from $275 to $40 were sold to various residents and upon which houses will be erected within the next year and thus add more revenue to the Corporation. The chairman of Special Property, Ald. H. J. Clarke and the Comptroller, Harold Bateman, were given permission to sell the movable chattels at the Isolation Hospital on West Moira Street.

Tenders to be Called

Tenders will be called for a light pick-up truck of a ton and a half capacity for the Public Works Department. The truck being used at present by the City Superintendent, Cliff Matthews, will be turned in on the new truck. Lights will be placed on Grier and North Front Street at Evans Street, one on Gordon Street and two on West Dundas Street west of the Bay Road. The roadway on the north side of Victoria Avenue between Church and Pinnacle Street and the roadway in front of the Bell Telephone Company will be widened to take in the boulevard at an estimated cost of $580 and the work will start as soon as permission is given from the various owners. Mrs. Ada T. McGrath will be paid $50 for a quick claim deed on property recently purchased by the city.

The C.D.S. asked for the right to install a Rotary Fire Alarm bell in the City Fire Hall to be connected with the new sprinkler system installed in the store at no cost to the city. The matter was referred to the committee. The Army and Navy Veterans applied for a grant of $200 to apply on their taxes and this was referred to the comptroller for consideration and advice.

The Argyll Chapter of the I. O. D. E. applied for the first Saturday in May for their annual Tag Day next year but the matter was referred to next year's council for decision.

Under the head of inquiries Ald. Logan asked if there was any provision made for the weighing of coal after hours and Ald. Butler, Chairman of Market and City Property stated that it was imperative that coal dealers have their coal weighed over the city scales before delivery and the purchaser can demand the coal dealer to produce a weigh ticket from the city scales. Ald. Allin asked if a reporter was barred from the meetings of the Hydro Electric Commission meetings, and why were the meetings not reported. Mayor Thompson stated he did not think there were any restrictions about reporting the business of the commission and that he would take it up with the members.

New Chairman Named

Under the head of by-laws, Glencoe E. Thompson, Mayor of the City was named Chairman of the Executive during the absence of Alderman McLean Haig for military duties. Ald. Haig will also serve but by the appointment of a temporary incumbent of the office cheques can be issued and other business of the city can be transacted when either of the above are absent from the city.

Transfers of property were given to Carl Crosby and Harry Smith. Alderman Pringle was appointed Chairman of Printing and Stationery for three months due to the absence of Ald. R. B. Cooper on military duties.

A recommendation that needs no explanation was unanimously passed by the council.

To Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Prime Minister, Ottawa, Ont.

Whereas the active service men have enlisted in the armed forces of the Dominion of Canada for the Defence of Canada and the British Empire for the preservation of freedom and democracy.

And Whereas under present conditions the transportation expenses incurred on leave to visit friends and relatives are in many cases a severe strain on the financial resources of the enlisted men

Therefore be it resolved that the council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville recommend the Government of Canada to give serious consideration to the possibility of arranging transportation free of charge on the various transportation systems throughout the Dominion for persons in the active service forces.

Be it further resolved that it be recommended that all enlisted men with the Active Service Forces who are in possession of duly authorized leaves be entitled to the proposed transportation free of charge."

The motion was passed unanimously being moved by Alds. Jeffery and Allin. A copy will be sent to the Member of Parliament for South Hastings, Mr. George H. Stokes, M.P. There being no further business the meeting adjourned.

Business in Belleville Shows General Uptrend

A general uptrend in business conditions is being reported by local businessmen with Front Street merchants stating they are gradually doing more business and that customers are spending money more freely than has been the case for some time. Customers are showing a greater willingness to buy and are paying cash for their purchases while the price limitation on articles purchased has also been raised.

"We are just beginning to feel the effects of the soldiers' money and the money of their dependents," was the reason given by one merchant, while he was also of the opinion that improved employment conditions were in no small measure responsible for the current business improvement.

Bomb Splinters From Battle of Britain

By DOUGLAS AMARON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

The Bobby was doing his job with typical efficiency, stopping all sight-seers from passing through a cordon surrounding a bombed building. An official war correspondent's pass wasn't sufficient to get an American newspaperman through. The Canadian, armed only with an ordinary civilian's identity card, tried his luck.

"From Canada are you?" asked the bobby. "Good old Canada. Sure you can go in."

A woman in a shelter was told by a warden that she had left a light burning in her house.

"No I haven't," she said. "It must be an incendiary bomb." It was—and wardens put it out.

Bombs play funny tricks with houses. One scored a direct hit on a cottage. The adjoining cottage on the right was shattered but there wasn't a window broken in the one on the left. Another bomb stripped a wall of its paper but left two pictures hanging at their proper angle.

Residents of a London district think a German bomber has singled them out for special attention. "The fellow what done it last night done it Saturday night too," said the A.R.P. warden of a borough that was bombed twice in four days. "I could understand 'is dive, I could," he explained. "It were exactly the same both nights."

"Be on your mettle! Bring your scrap iron here and have it made into guns," is the sign over a London scrap-collecting depot.

A bomb demolished the front of a Londoner's home. He moved the broken furniture into the street, covered it with a huge Union Jack and placed a sign—"bombed but not beaten"—on another.

"Hope them blighters are shot," said the old gentleman whose home was damaged in an air raid. It wasn't the damage that raised his wrath but the fact that a blast from a 500-pound bomb had "turned" all the milk in his kitchen and he had to drink his afternoon coffee clear.

A sparrow was the only casualty when a bomb damaged an isolation hospital in the London area.

Lord Nuffield glanced out of his office windows and saw a company of soldiers returning from a route march. They looked hot and thirsty. So the millionaire philanthropist telephoned their depot and ordered up a pint of beer for each man.

"Blackfrairs, sir? Well, I think you can get through," the London bus conductor told a passenger. "We are doing our best, you know. My house was bombed tonight, but the rotten part of it is, as you can see, I have lost my false teeth. But that's not all. When I turned up for duty this morning I found the blighters had dropped one on the garage as well."

Broom sticks, in great demand these days for cleaning debris out of damaged homes, have become scarce. Large stocks of handles were seriously depleted when a fire destroyed the timber and machinery of the largest manufacturers and importers of broom handles in the country.

Two quarter-pound blocks of chocolate bearing the name of a British manufacturer were found in a Messerschmitt shot down near a southeast town—presumably part of supplies lost in Flanders.

BUY YOURS NOW
They're Going Fast
There has been no let-up in the demand for good used cars. Stocks are getting lower every day. Protect yourself with good transportation and save money. We still have a good assortment of excellent values, but come in now. Don't delay.
'29 DURANT SEDAN $95.00
'29 FORD ROADSTER $95.00
'29 DURANT COACH $35.00
'28 STUDEBAKER SEDAN $50.00
'28 BUICK COACH $95.00
'27 REO SEDAN $95.00
'28 HUDSON COUPE $95.00
'28 ESSEX SEDAN $85.00
J. B. BOYCE
Chevrolet Oldsmobile
Sales — Service
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
Front St. Phone 704

Little Change Noted In Market Prices

Very little change was noted in produce prices on the Belleville market on Tuesday morning with peaches holding at Saturday's prices of 50c per basket for selects, 45c for No. 1's and 35c for No. 2's. Pears suffered a decline of 5c per basket, selling at 55c. Plums and gages sold at 40c per basket, with Blue Damsons selling at 30c.

Tomatoes sold at 75 per bushel or at 15c the six-quart basket. Cucumbers were scarce with gherkins selling at $1.00 per basket with larger sizes ranging downward to 50c. Potatoes held steady at 25c per peck or at 85c the bushel.

Corn was 25c the dozen ears, while apples sold at $1.00 per hamper for the cooking varieties, or at 25c per basket for Wealthies and McIntosh. Melons were plentiful, selling at 25c downward for both varieties.

OBITUARY

INFANT DAY
—(Ameliasburg)

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Day of the 2nd concession of Ameliasburg Township, Prince Edward County, will receive the sympathy of their friends in their bereavement occasioned by the death of their infant daughter, which occurred in the Belleville General Hospital on Monday, Sept. 16th. The child was born on Saturday, Sept. 14th.

Interment was made in the Belleville cemetery this Tuesday.

LATE HARRY AYLING

Monday afternoon the funeral of Harry Ayling, late residence, 144 Burnham Street, took place from the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The service in the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville cemetery was conducted by the Rev. G. G. Wright, Rector of Christ Church.

The bearers were Messrs. E. Bunnett, J. Rainbird, W. McKenna, J. Bawden, F. Hall and S. Munnings.

LATE LT. ROSS SUCCEE
(Trenton)

Trenton, Sept. 17 (Special)—Full military and Masonic honours were accorded the late Lieutenant Ross Succee of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment at his funeral held here yesterday afternoon.

The late Lieutenant Succee died on Friday last after a lingering illness.

For many years he had served with the Hastings & Prince Edward Regiment, before war broke out. When the regiment was called up for active service, Lieutenant Succee immediately signed up and became the Intelligence Officer of the unit. It was while serving with the regiment overseas, that he became ill and was invalided home in June of this year.

The funeral was held from the Northey Funeral Home with Rev. P. G. McLennan of King Street United Church in charge of the service.

The Colborne Lodge No. 91 conducted the Masonic rites with W. J. Potts, P.D.D.G.M. of Trenton Lodge No. 38 in charge

Interment was held in the Mount Evergreen cemetery where the Last Post was sounded by S. Lockyear of Picton and the firing party fired three shots over the grave.

The Honorary Bearers were Col. T. D. Beddell, Picton; Lt.-Col. B. C. Donnan, Belleville; Major E. T. Naylor, Kingston; Major Angus Mowat, Trenton; Capt. G. S. White, Madoc; Capt. W Davern, Wellington; Capt. G. Wallace, Picton; Major G. G. Ferguson, Picton; Capt. G. Grant, Wellington; Lt. T. C. Holmes, Picton; 2-Lt. M. Anderson, Belleville; 2-Lt. F. Burtt, Trenton; 2-Lt. J. McKibbon, Trenton; 2-Lt. A. Cole, Belleville; 2-Lt. F. Mowat, Trenton.

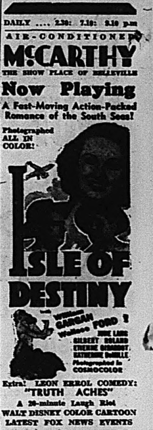
The bearers were Pte. James Coyle, Pte. A. M. Waller, Highway Traffic Officer D. Wilson, Douglas Taite, E. M. Broomfield and W. J. Onyon.

The firing party, under the command of Lt. F. Houchin, was comprised of Sgt. Cranfield, Sgt. J. Beal, Cpl. Sutherland, Sgt. Wannamaker, Cpl. Churcott, Cpl. Davis, Cpl. Mitts, Cpl. Tompkings, Sgt. Motley, Cpl. Ferguson and Cpl. Azzis.

MRS. FANNIE BLACK

Marmora, Sept. 17 (Special)—The oldest link with Anglican Church life in the Rural Deanery of Hastings was severed last Friday morning in the passing of Mrs. Fannie Black at her home in Tudor Township. The deceased lady was the daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Norman of Millbridge. Her father was responsible for the erection of the Anglican Church at Millbridge about sixty years ago and her brother, the late Albert Norman, was the builder of Holy Trinity Church, North Marmora. Her father, the late Capt. Norman saw service in the Crimean War and personally knew Florence Nightingale. The late Mrs. Black had the distinction of being the first organist of St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, which last month observed its seventy-fifth anniversary. She passed away in her ninety-third year and until last October when she was compelled to take to her bed, had not known any serious illness. After relinquishing her position as an organist, she continued to play in her home using the old organ of the Millbridge Church which was presented to her, as a new one was installed in the church. Neighbors testify that the Church always came first in her conversation. She was fond of children and was foster mother to others, outside of her own. Her husband, William Black, predeceased her about fifteen years ago. She is survived by three children, Charles, resident in Western Canada, and Minnie and Ralph at home. She is also survived by one brother, Edward of Millbridge.

At the funeral which was held on Sunday afternoon, the seating accommodation at Millbridge Church was totally inadequate to accommodate the large gathering of relatives and friends who assembled to pay the last respects to one they so honored in life. The choir was augmented by members of Coe Hill Anglican choir who sang impressively those familiar hymns, "Rock of Ages", "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" and "Abide With Me." Rev. A. Redding, incumbent of Bannockburn and Coe Hill who officiated stressed the richness of the life which had now passed on to higher service. Interment was made in Millbridge cemetery, the pallbearers being Clayton Davidson, Samuel Davidson, John Norman, William Norman, John Landon and Wilbert Lavender.



DAILY .... 2.30: 7.10: 9.10 p.m
AIR-CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
Now Playing
A Fast-Moving Action-Packed Romance of the South Seas!
Photographed ALL IN COLOR!
ISLE OF DESTINY
with William GARGAN Wallace FORD
JUNE LANG GILBERT ROLAND ETIENNE GIRARDOT KATHERINE DeMILLE
Photographed in COSMOCOLOR
Extra! LEON ERROL COMEDY: "TRUTH ACHES"
A 20-minute Laugh Riot
WALT DISNEY COLOR CARTOON
LATEST FOX NEWS EVENTS

Roosevelt Signs Conscription Bill

Washington, Sept. 17 —(AP)— In "the factories and fields, the cities and towns," 16,500,000 young United States men, 21 through 35 years of age, got their orders from President Roosevelt today to register Oct. 16 for possible service in a great new citizen army. The President signed the United States first peacetime conscription bill yesterday.

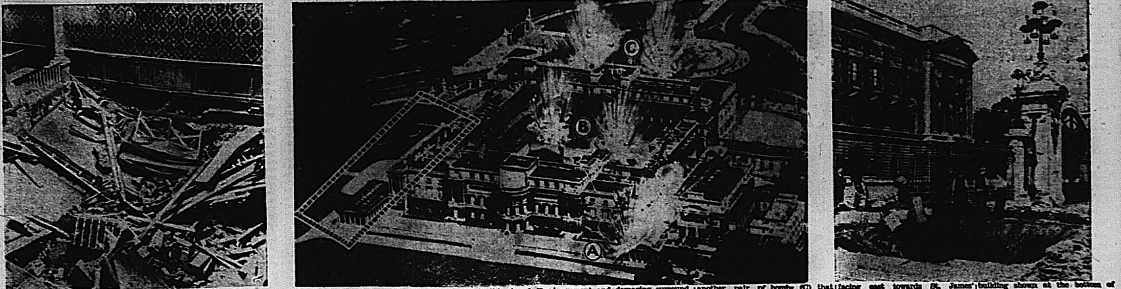
Then, laying the historic law aside, he put his name to a proclamation which said this marshalling of military strength was "to fend off war from our shores," to avoid "the terrible fate of nations whose weakness invited attack."

The draftees, to be called up for a year, will receive their training with some 240,000 guardsmen, who will be mustered into Federal service by Jan. 1, and with the regular army, now recruiting toward a strength of 375,000.

ERROL FLYNN
TOPPING ALL OTHER ADVENTURES!
The Sea Hawk
with Brenda MARSHALL Claude RAINS
He won his greatest Victory in the battle for her heart!
PLUTO THE PUP CARTOON.
Tonight and Wed'y.
BELLE
Daily 2.30, 7.00, 9.15
THEN on THURSDAY
Two Great Stars in the most exciting jungle picture ever filmed!
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr.
MADELEINE CARROLL
SAFARI

CAPITOL
The tender, understandable story of a boy and a girl in the big town . . where the going is even tougher!
'Manhattan Heartbeat'
ROBERT STERLING
VIRGINIA GILMORE
JOAN DAVIS
A GRAND SHOW FOR ALL THE FAMILY
Added Delight
Trouble in Morocco
JACK HOLT
Mae Clarke
C. Henry Gordon
Paul Hurst
Two Complete Shows at 7 - 9.
TODAY
WEDNESDAY Is FOTO - NITE
First Show at 6.45
$340
OFFER FOR SOMEONE'S PHOTO
Selection at 9.00

KING AND QUEEN CARRY ON WITH THEIR DUTIES DESPITE THIRD BOMBING OF BUCKINGHAM PALACE



This photo-diagram of Buckingham Palace, CENTRE, shows how the royal residence suffered from repeated German aerial attacks. Their Majesties' private chapel (A) was completely wrecked by one great bomb. A view of the wrecked chapel is shown, LEFT. The King and Queen have made it a daily custom to pray in this chapel. Two more bombs fell in the quadrangle (B), tearing great holes in the pavement and, damaging surrounding walls. The front of the palace, at TOP of diagram, was pitted by another pair of bombs (C) that fell between the status of Queen Victoria and the front entrance, facing east towards St. James' park. A clean-up squad is shown, RIGHT, around the crater. The building shown at the bottom of the area inside the dotted lines is the swimming pool demolished in the first assault on the palace.

Canadian Institute for the Blind Gives Helping Hand to Hundreds Of People Who Have Lost Their Sight

In Order to Carry on Work the Institute is Holding Tag Day Here Saturday

NEED EARLY CARE

The prevention of blindness is one of the major activities of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. This is a very important and a very necessary work. It has been estimated that of the eleven thousand blind persons now in Canada, between four and five thousand need not have been blind had they received the proper care at the proper time. The Institute is now trying to make sure that no person in this country shall lose his sight if modern skill and knowledge can prevent it.

Too often those persons who are in the unfortunate position of not being able to secure the proper care, neglect their eye defects. This neglect and delay is injurious and often proves fatal to vision. It is to these persons that the Institute, through its Prevention of Blindness Department, desires to hold out a helping hand. By making it possible for these persons to receive the proper care at the proper time it is preventing the loss of sight. Each year it saves hundreds of pairs of eyes. Through its efforts, and the efforts of other organizations interested in the work, it is reasonable to suppose that, in due course, the amount of blindness in this country will be reduced to the lowest possible minimum.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is supported by government and municipal grants and also by public subscription. The funds derived from public subscriptions, however, acount for over two thirds of the amount required to keep the Institute functioning. This week the citizens of Belleville will have their opportunity to assume a share of this tremendously important and humanitarian work. On Saturday, Sept. 21st, the local branch of the Institute is holding its annual tag day and the support of the Belleville citizenry is solicited.

The drive in Belleville is under the direction of a local committee. No canvassers are paid and all work in connection with the campaign is voluntary. All money subscribed is used for the purpose for which it is given.

Japanese Nationals In Indo-China Ordered To Prepare to Leave

By C. YATES McDANIEL

Associated Press Staff Writer

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Sept. 17—(AP)—The Japanese Consul General ordered Japanese Nationals today to prepare to leave in the event of a worsening in the tense relations between Japan and French Indo-China.

The Consul General, Roroku Sukuki, announced that ships had been ordered to the port of Haiphong to take out Japanese refugees in case this became necessary.

The announcement came as Maj.-Gen. Issaku Nishihara, head of a Japanese military mission, and the French Governor-General, Admiral Jean Decoux, continued conferences expected to bring a showdown on Japanese demands for permission to transport Japanese troops across Indo-China into southwest China and for a naval base at Haiphong.

Japan is demanding these to enable her to invade China across her vulnerable southern border in the hope of bringing the China war to an end.

A Japanese army emissary arrived by plane from Tokyo yesterday with fresh instructions which Japanese quarters expected to accelerate their efforts for concessions in this French Asiatic outpost. Japanese informants said these instructions, to be presented to Admiral Decoux, would be of a "definite nature."

17th Casualty List

Ottawa, Sept. 17 (CP).—The 17th Canadian Active Service Force casualty list, containing three deaths, was issued by the National Defence Department today. It brought C. A. S. F. totals since the war began to 55 dead and missing.

Today's list also contained names of three men wounded and three seriously ill.

Following is the latest list of casualties with regimental number and next of in, (no dates reported):

Dead:

Royal Canadian Artillery — Gnr. Philip Ryan, C-10325, Mrs. Marguerite Rose Ryan (wife), Ottawa.

Royal Canadian Army Service Corps—Pte. Harry Wickwire, B84260, Mrs. Sarah J. Wickwire (mother), Kentville, N.S.

Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps — Pte. Lorne Campbell, D-93728, Wilfred Campbell (father), Montreal.

Wounded:

Royal Canadian Engineers — Sgt. Alfred Messham, B-26419, Mrs. Jeanette Messham (wife), 14 Doddington Drive, Humber Bay, Toronto.

Infantry—Cpl. Cecil Sherrard, B-61076, Mrs. Elsie Sherrard (mother), 970 College street, Toronto.

Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps —Pte. Cecil Joseph William Arthurs, B-94501, Mrs. Florence Arthurs (wife), 46 Burgess avenue, Toronto.

Seriously ill:

Royal Canadian Artillery — Gnr Douglas Walter Laird, H-12141, Mrs. Nettie May Laird (mother), Winnipeg.

Royal Canadian Corps of Signals —L. Cpl. Walter Louis Harvey, A-2098, Mrs. Eva Eugenia Harvey (wife), 28 Wharncliffe Rd. N., London, Ont

Alberta Regiment—Pte. Frederick Michael Stepchuck, M-16154, Michael Stepchuck (father), Mundare, Alta.

FLOTILLA LEADER NAMED CHURCHILL

U.S. Destroyers Transferred to Britain All Re-Named Says Admiralty

London, Sept. 17—(CP)— The leader of the first flotilla of United States destroyers transferred to Britain will bear the name of the Prime Minister, the House of Commons was informed today. The craft will be named "Churchill."

A. V. Alexander, First Lord of the Admiralty, who made the announcement, added that others will be named Caldwell, Cameron, Casleton, Chelsea, Chesterfield, Clare and Campbellton, explaining that these are the names of towns and villages common to the United States and the United Kingdom. Names will be given shortly to the other destroyers.

These will include a special choice of a few names common to the West Indies as well, he said.

Replying to a suggestion that the destroyers retain the original names, Mr. Alexander said that an agreement between the two governments forbids this.

"BOMB" TURNS OUT TO BE BOX OF KITTENS

Chicago (AP)—Detective George Bevan and his police squad, summoned by an excited, bomb-conscious caller, moved cautiously toward a mysterious package bulking forebodingly on the moonlit sidewalk. But, instead of the "tick-tick" of an infernal machine, they heard the "Meow—Meow-w-w" of four frightened kittens.

LONDON'S MAYFAIR DISTRICT BOMBED

Neighborhood of Fine Shops, Clubs and Hotels Damaged

London, Sept. 17—(CP)— Bond Street, Oxford Street, Berkeley Square and Sloan Square—in the heart of London's west end — were hit last night by German bombs, the Air Ministry announced today.

The bombed area is the fashionable district known as Mayfair, a neighborhood of fine shops, clubs, hotels and the rendezvous of London society.

Piccadilly, Park Lane, Regent Street and the Burlington Arcade also were disclosed to have been hit.

"Hitler's bombers are cultivating more expensive tastes," the Press Association remarkd.

"Last night they visited the west end and today fashionable shopping streets were carpeted with glass thick as snow until the cleaners got busy.

"The sufferers included a number of very well known shops with world-wide clienteles. A number of them are either closed altogether or in part or are carrying on behind empty windows.

"One bomb which fell in a big house is believed to have killed four men. Fourteen hours afterwards, the body of only one of them has been recovered."

Berkley Square, which has rows of office buildings and apartments on two sides, now is virtually glassless. Hundreds of panes were blown out from top to bottom of these buildings, but air raid shelters under the square itself were unharmed.

Bond Street, one of the world's most famous shopping centres, is carrying on "business as usual." Even a famed beauty salon went right on setting milady's coiffure.

Several Cities Will Supplement Salaries N. P. A. M. Members

By The Canadian Press

Several Canadian cities have decided to supplement the salaries of their employees who go to camp as members of the Non-Permanent Active Militia. The basic pay for either volunteers or draftees is $1.20 a day while at training camp.

Toronto recently decided to make up the difference between its employees' N.P.A.M. allowance and their regular civic salaries. Similar action, according to a previous Canadian Press survey, was taken earlier by seven other centres — Vancouver, Victoria, Calgary, Lethbridge, Alta., Saskatoon, Regina and Windsor, Ont.

The employees at London, Ont., and Winnipeg are exceptionally lucky. They will get both their soldier pay and civic pay. Moncton will pay the difference for a maximum of six weeks at camp to all permanent employees. This Maritime city also gives a week's pay as bonus to all joining the Canadian Active Service Force.

Other cities encourage their employees to spend their holidays at N.P.A.M. camps and in such cases they receive both civic and soldier pay. This is the case in Ottawa, but it applies only where the man previously has not taken holidays. The camp period of this year is not considered next year's holidays.

At Charlottetown, city council gave employees two weeks vacation with pay and two without so they might go to camp. Edmonton, on the other hand, joined Montreal and Sherbrooke, Que., in deciding not to pay their employees during camp period.

Still undecided were New Westminster and Nanaimo, B.C., Saint John, N.B., Three Rivers, Que., Halifax and Sydney, N.S.

Brandon, Manitoba, last night joined the cities which will supplement army pay during camp training to bring the total up to the amount of the soldier's regular salary.

Trenton and District

Nine Horses Reported Missing From 2 Farms Near Frankford

Manley Maybee Misses Six and David Mallory Three Horses

POLICE INVESTIGATE

Trenton, September 17—Provincial police are investigating the disappearance of nine horses from two farms west of the village of Frankford, some time on Sunday night. Manley Maybee, who lives one mile west of Frankford reported to the police this morning, about the disappearance of the horses.

Mr. Maybee stated that he had not reported the horses missing before because he had thought that they had wandered away from the farm in the night and would return. After a careful search yesterday afternoon, he decided to place the matter in the hands of the police.

"It is possible that they were stolen", stated Mr. Maybee, "but it would have taken two trucks to cart them away. Tracks were found on a neighbouring farm but could only be followed a short distance".

Provincial Constable D. Carruthers of Campbellford, has been called in to conduct the investigation.

Six of the horses belong to Mr. Maybee, while three are owned by David Mallory. The two farmers have adjacent farms which are properly fenced. Mr. Maybee reported to the police that three fence posts on his farm had been broken during Sunday night but it was impossible to tell just how they had been broken.

Four-year-old Peter Hill was seriously injured late yesterday afternoon, when it is alleged he darted into the side of a passing motor car. The young lad suffered a fractured collarbone and numerous lacerations. He was attended by Dr. F. L. Reid.

The small boy was playing on the south side of Dundas Street and suddenly started across the road running into the side of an automobile driven by L. J. Tudhope of Toronto. The impact threw the boy to the pavement causing the injuries. The driver of the car was not held.

The late John Allore

Following a long illness, John Allore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Allore of Trenton, died in the Hamilton Sanitarium, early Monday morning.

He was 15 years of age and was one of the honour students at the Trenton High School before becoming ill.

Motor-Equipped Canoe Capsizes, Two Drowned

Bryson, Que., Sept. 17 (CP)—Two Bryson youths were drowned near here Monday after their motor-equipped canoe capsized in the Ottawa River. The two drowned were: Bernard Migneault, 26, and Oscar Blais, 20, a cousin of Migneault.

A third occupant of the canoe, Peter Walls, 29, also of Bryson, escaped a similar fate when he swam ashore to obtain aid. Bryson is about 50 miles west of Ottawa.

Walls said the three had set out on a fishing trip with a small outboard motor attached to the stern of their canoe. The river was fairly rough and the canoe overturned when the rudder was turned too sharply.

$4,000,000 TO RED CROSS

London (CP)—The American Red Cross has donated about $4,000,000 in cash and supplies to alleviate civilian suffering in Britain since last July 1, David Bruce, a Red Cross official, disclosed here today.

Empire Air Training Scheme Is in Advance of Schedule

Viscount Caldecote Addresses House of Lords on War Effort

DOMINIONS PRAISED

By HAROLD FAIR

Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 17 (CP Cable) — Dominions Secretary Viscount Caldecote told the House of Lords today that the "empire air training scheme is in advance of schedule and we shall very shortly receive a flow of highly-skilled pilots and air crews to redress the balance in the air and ultimately to give us air superiority which will be one of the decisive factors in the achievement of victory."

The Dominions Secretary, in the course of a war statement similar to that of Prime Minister Churchill in the House of Commons, praised the work of the Dominion forces in the war.

He paid tribute to Prime Minister Mackenzie King for his work in fostering Anglo-United States harmony. He hailed the British-American destroyer-defence facilities deal.

Repeats Tribute to King

Lord Caldecote said the destroyer deal had "been coupled with, and indeed preceded by the agreement between the U.S.A. and Canada for the setting up of a joint defence board."

"I would repeat the tribute which the Prime Minister (Churchill) paid in a recent message to Mr Mackenzie King for the great part he has consistently played in promoting harmony of sentiment between the Empire and the U. S. A." the Dominions Secretary added.

"I need not remind you how pregnant of possibilities this new development will be for peace and freedom in the years to come."

Lord Caldecote also paid tribute to the Dominions for the manner in which they modified their plans and organization when the inclusion of almost all Europe in the war zone deprived them of many valuable markets.

This was done "even though it may be to the prejudice to some extent of the wealth of the Dominions themselves," he added.

Lord Caldecote described Newfoundland's contribution to the sea and land defence of the British Isles as "remarkable."

2 Flying Boats Avoid Storm At Charlottetown

Charlottetown, Sept. 17 (CP)—Two unidentified flying boats dropped down on Charlottetown harbor last night and moored in the stream, apparently to avoid the storm sweeping the Maritime Provinces.

They were believed to be United States army or navy planes.

(Three U. S. planes were in Newfoundland yesterday, in conjunction with the arrival of a group of naval experts in connection with the establishment of U.S. naval bases in that colony.)

The crews of the flying boats did not come ashore here. Residents did not go out to the ships for fear of damaging them in the darkness.

NON-DRIVER GETS SAFETY AWARD

Pittsburgh, (AP)—Dave Roberts laughed when an insurance company sent him a safe driving award. Although he's owned an automobile for 14 years, he has never driven it himself.

Skies Over Britain Thick With Fog; Heavy Night Raids

Fog Limits Effectiveness of Operations and Breaks Them up

London, Sept. 17 —(CP)— A southwest wind of near gale velocity churned the Straits of Dover into a wave-tossed barrier to German invasion and the skies over Britain were thick with fog today as the Nazi air force struck at London again following furious night-long attacks.

British seamen watching the white-capped channel with practiced eye, said the blow looked like the beginning of the fall storms and declared that Hitler had lost his best chance to attempt a landing on the shores of England.

From the Dover coast a Canadian Press correspondent telephoned this report to London: "It's 'Churchill weather' here this morning. There's a nasty cross sea running and the channel here would be bad for regular steamers in peacetime, let alone for any flat-bottomed troop barges.

"Sailors say this is a number seven wind—gale force is number nine. There's mist on the water, clouds overhead and the outlook is not very promising for either air or sea crossing."

To Britons, waiting along Dover's chalk cliffs for Hitler's armada to appear through the mists, the tune whistled by the wind across the straits sounded like a cheering 'Rule Brittania."

Obstacle to Continued Assaults

The thickening weather also threatened to prove an obstacle to continued mass assaults upon Britain by the German air force, but it failed to keep the raiders out of the skies altogether.

London, battered for the 10th consecutive night by large numbers of Nazi warplanes, had its first daylight alarm of the day at 7:59 a.m. (S:59 a.m. EDT), but the all clear sounded 47 minutes later without incident in the capital area.

A second alarm sounded at 9:09 a.m. (4:09 a.m. EDT).

Several minutes before the alarm sounded passengers in a train standing outside a station in the London area reported hearing an airplane engine above the clouds and then a nearby anti-aircraft gun fired one round. A terrific crash on the opposite side of a hill followed, accompanied by an explosion which suggested the plane had crashed.

Alarm Lifted in 55 Minutes

This alarm was lifted 55 minutues later, the all clear sounding at 10:04 a.m.

The Germans apparently hurled a greater number of planes than usual into the attack upon London last night and early this morning, but heavy fogs limited the effectiveness of their operations and broke them up.

Numerous high explosive and incendiary bombs were dropped on the metropolitan area, starting a number of fires and causing some casualties—including several firemen who were killed while fighting a large blaze in central London.

The Nazis began their customary night assault on the capital at 8:09 p.m. (3:09 p.m. EDT), drawing the heaviest anti-aircraft fire yet heard in the city as they sent a steady succession of planes to the attack.

The unfavorable weather, growing steadily worse as the night progressed, caused the onslaught to taper off toward midnight, however, and the all clear signal was sounded at 2:41 a.m. after an alarm lasting six hours and 32 minutes.

It was the first time in several nights that the Germans had broken off their attacks so early in the morning.

Despite the adverse conditions the Nazis made one more assault on the capital before dawn, and anti-aircraft batteries slammed into action again almost simultaneously with the shriek of the sirens at 3:49 a.m.

More bombs fell before the all clear was sounded at 5:24 a.m. after an alarm lasting one hour and 35 minutes.

Invasion Armada in Chaos

Just as cheering to the British as the weather news were announcements of continued Royal Air Force successes in attacks on German barge concentrations and channel bases.

"Invasion armada in chaos" exulted the London Mail in large headlines. "Havoc in channel bases" shouted the News Chronicle, and the jubilant Express proclaimed "Invader Hitler gets big battering."

Newspaper reports of weather conditions in the channel were followed with intense interest. Publication of such news, vigorously censored at the first of the war, has been permitted since June when the Germans reached the channel themselves but dissemination of inland weather information still is forbidden.

A government communique said that the German air raids during the night were concentrated upon London, but some activity also was reported over the industrial Midlands, Wales, Northeast England and elsewhere.

"On the whole," the communique said, "casualties do not appear to have been heavy."

One of the German night bombers was destroyed by crashing into a cable attached to a barrage balloon.

Several Fires Started

Several fires were started in one fashionable London residential area, and number of homes and commercial buildings were destroyed in other sections. A hospital was among the structures listed as damaged, but there were no casualties there.

No figures have yet been issued on the casualties in Sunday night's raids, but authorities said they were "a little greater" than for the nights immediately preceding though not as great as Saturday a week ago when more than 300 were killed.

Informed sources, meanwhile, said that a general debate on the war and particularly on the effect of the Nazi air raids on London will be held at the next session of the House of Commons.

For "security reasons," however, there will be no advance notice hereafter on the day or hour of parliament meetings. An air alarm recently forced members of parliament to take shelter and a German bomb struck the wing in which the House of Lords sits.

Just Starting to Work

The first air raid alarms this morning came as many Londoners were starting to work through streets from which debris scattered by night attacks was being cleared away.

Two famous squares and a world renowned shopping district in the west end were bombed in the night and bombs fell near another well known square. The windows were blown out of a restaurant and a block of flats which previously had been hit.

Firemen quickly controlled a blaze started in a group of luxury shops.

Nurses and doctors worked amid the threat of falling bombs in the night to remove 160 patients endangered by a delayed-action bomb which dropped on a London hospital. Two patients and two nurses were slightly injured.

A time bomb crashed through the roof of one section of the hospital, the Press Association reported, and buried itself in the floor of a ward. A high explosive bomb wrecked an empty receiving ward 50 yards away.

Patients Moved During Attack

A member of the hospital staff said:

"For several hours doctors and nurses were engaged in moving patients while bombs were falling in the vicinity. Stretchers and cots were used to take them from four threatened blocks to a safer part of the building."

The patients later were removed to another hospital.

In an area just outside central London a salvo of bombs wrecked houses and damaged a block of flats. Workers dug into the debris of a house next to a chapel in an attempt to rescue an elderly woman still believed alive in the wreckage.

Soldiers and passersby drove out 45 horses from a dairy stables struck by an incendiary bomb in northwest London. The horses spent the rest of the night in a shelter and started their delivery rounds on schedule.

British Steamship Incemore Aground Off Anticosti Island

Thomaston, Me., Sept. 17 (AP)—Mackay Radio reported receiving a distress call today from the British steamship Incemore, saying, "Ashore with reefs in close proximity on Anticosti Island in Gulf of St. Lawrence."

"Crew still standing by vessel," said the terse message picked up at 6.45 a.m. E.D.T.

Lloyd's lists the Incemore as a 4,098-ton vessel fitted for oil. The 360-foot steamship's port of registry is given as Liverpool. It was built in 1920 and the owners are listed as the Johnston Line, with Furness Withy and Co., as managers.

Mackay said it had intercepted a message from the steamer Manchester Commerce to the Incemore saying that it would "be with her around 11 o'clock."

Montreal, Sept. 17 (CP)—Officials of Furness Withy and Company Limited said today they had been advised the British steamship Incemore was ashore off Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence but they had no other information.

"I have no word as to just how badly she is damaged," said an official of the Company, agents for the 4,098-ton vessel. "I guess the storm which swept up the Atlantic Coast last night drove her aground."

(Reports from Thomaston, Me., said another ship was steaming toward the stricken vessel.)

Long-Distance Guns Used to Shell London State Nazi Spokesmen

Berlin, Sept. 17—(CP)— Nazi spokesmen today claimed that German long-distance guns on the French channel coast have begun to shell London.

(There was no immediate comment on this claim from Britain.)

The Nazis admitted that the firing of the guns is more or less limited to range-finding. They claimed the cannon are of a type hitherto not used.

(It is roughly 90 miles from the German-occupied French coast to London.)

BLOW-OUT OF TIRE FATAL TO WOMAN

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 17.—(CP) —Mrs. Barney Snider of Denbigh, was killed today when a tire blew out on the automobile in which she was riding with her husband, her 17-year-old son and 19-year-old daughter. Police said the son was driving the car and when the tire blew the car crossed the road and crashed into the ditch.

BLACK EAGLE READY FOR BATTLE

New York (CP)—Hubert Fauntleroy Julian, the "Black Eagle" of Harlem and one-time, one-man Ethiopian air force, said Monday he had challenged Marshal Goering to an air fight and that the challenge had been accepted. Julian, self-styled "Colonel," said someone telephoned him Saturday, announced he was the German military attache and said: "Tell that black swine his challenge has been accepted." Julian said he plans to buy a captured Messerschmitt from Britain, battle Goering 10,000 feet over the English Channel and "machine-gun that lousy creature out of this life."

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

THE STRAP FOR JUVENILES

Last week in commenting on the amount of juvenile crime in Belleville and elsewhere, Chief Kidd had this to say, "It is my firm belief that it is time to revive the old penal system of the strap. The increase in juvenile delinquency and crime among the 'teen-aged is appalling and a mild form of strapping is the only method to curb these boys."

The Chief has given expression to a very sound idea and we are in thorough agreement with it. There is something about corporal punshment that puts fear even into the most hardened criminal. A gentleman of our acquaintance who has had considerable experience transporting criminals to the penitentiary at different times says that when these men are to receive the strap as part of their sentence they are very curious as to the time it will be given to them and they wonder if the ordeal will be painful. He says, also, that they do not seem to mind their prison sentence nearly so much as the strap.

While the strap may not be so much of a deterrent to a hardened criminal, the youngster who toys with the idea of petty pilferage might decide to turn to some other means of getting money such as going out and trying to get a job if he knew that if he was caught stealing or in other petty crimes he would get a few good strokes of the strap in the place where it would do the most good. He might decide that honesty was the best course after all.

THE CHANNEL AND THE SEA

A few miles of water and all the difference in the world! These waters have made the British free, have developed them as one of the great seafaring peoples of the world.

The time has come when the spirit of this people and the waters which wash the shores of Britain will write the greatest story of all the ages of warfare—the downfall of the greatest menace humanity has ever known, the end of Hitlerized Germany.

Hitler was on familiar ground when he was dealing with nations with which he had common borders. But what can Hitler know of the sea and of the inspiration of the sea? He would use his land methods in his attempt to conquer a seafaring people, but these British Islanders, equally at home on sea or land, prepare to hurl him back to his destruction.

The waves and the tides, the fogs and the clouds, the spirit of the people of Britain, are facts that the Nazis do not understand.

GERMAN LOSSES IN PLANES AND PERSONNEL

How recklessly Hitler and Goering are throwing away the German air force in an attempt against Britain is indicated in the official report of the British that the Germans lost 185 planes destroyed on Sunday. These are actual losses properly verified. That there were other planes lost is to be taken for granted, planes which were unable to make their way home because they were disabled and they probably fell into the sea.

Sunday's was a terrific blow to the Huns in number of planes and flying personnel. The toll ran high into the hundreds of German fliers.

It was the greatest day for the Royal Air Force and the other defences, for on Sunday Hitler paid the highest price in his vain attempt he has yet paid.

German methods have but roused the anger of Britishers who have withstood the perils of aerial bombardments as heroes and have lent courage and hope to the world. German military targets have been mercilessly pounded by the Royal Air Force battling at the Nazi oil resources, lines of communication and airplane plants and other factories in the war industrial fabric of Germany. German civilians are showing grave anxiety over the blows dealt to Hitler's military centres, but the British, subjected as they are to the barbarous methods which the Huns have developed, some believe, to terrify the people and to start an exodus, have not yielded to this and defy Hitler as they stay in London and watch the progress of the air battles or go about their work.

Out of the air warfare the Royal Air Force appears in its glory as a defensive and offensive weapon. More adept than the Germans, British aviators have not suffered the losses that the Germans suffer in personnel and planes.

The great attrition which the R.A.F. is exacting of the enemy is bringing more and more to a parity the number of machines of the British and the Germans and heralds the day when the great preponderance of planes on the British side will be the greatest step towards victory.

When the losses which the Germans have suffered in flying personnel and equipment and which have been dealt to German oil resources, and plants, railways and communications and to war industry plants are compared with what the British have suffered, the advantage lies greatly with the R.A.F. and Britain. German wantonness in scattering bombs recklessly is costing them plenty in resources, while Britain is satisfied to devote attention to the military objectives of the enemy.

Now the recklessness which Hitler has shown for all the finer refinements of life and his preference for the barbarous and violent are manifest in these violent attacks on Britain and in the heavy toll which his airmen are required to undergo for the satisfaction of his enmity to Britain and anything that stands in his way.

It is the law of life that those who live by the sword shall perish by the sword. That is the dread of dictators and it is the salvation of life. The nation that would crush others is itself called upon by its very outlook on life and its attitude towards the rest of the world to bear a terrible cost in blood and in resources. The gangster nation must go the way of the gangster, it must pay in blood and in wealth, however much it exacts of those whom it violates.

Life is just in this regard. The violent Nazi aggressor is not a dashing gallant aviator who has a noble cause to stir his best endeavor. Fed by spleen and hate, he turns from his course as a soldier to shoot down the innocent out of mere malice and hatred.

The last month has told a tale of destruction of German planes and fliers which must have been felt keenly by the Nazis. Hitler's violence has used up resources as a gambler would use them, oil, planes, men, every facility of his nation and of those nations he has overrun.

Sunday's toll is a sign of the times.

OFF THE RECORD By ED REED

"He wants a two tab navy."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 17th., 1920.

Mr. Hugh Stevenson, Provincial Factory Inspector, formerly of this city, is in town on business.

The 34th. Battery, commanded by Major Rierdon, has been reorganized, and is about to commence the season's operations. Persons wishing to join the battery may apply to C. A. Payne, W. H. Finkle, Ted Yeomans or R. J. E. Graham.

Workmen are engaged in tearing down the big mill at Deseronto.

Mr. Howard Bamforth of Deseronto will have charge of athletics at Albert College this year.

Dr. O. A. Marshall is out west inspecting his large wheat farm near Lanigan, Sask.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 17th., 1910.

Mr. John Wilson is home from Winnipeg on a visit.

Messrs. James Boy, Henry Pringle and Col. Ponton were in Deseronto yesterday on business.

Mr. Lorne Young, a member of the Intelligencer staff for some time, has left to reside in his home town of Perth, Ontario.

Mr. J. G. Davison is spending some time in Western Canada.

Mr. W. J. Moore of Madoc was in town to day.

Mr. B. Hepburn of Picton was in town to day.

Mr. Charles N. Sulman is spending a short time in Montreal and Quebec City.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 17th., 1900.

Mr. W. Armstrong, of Vares, Ontario, is visiting friends here.

Mrs. Cyril Bird is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lake.

Mr. Allan Schryver is spending his vacation in the country.

Mr. John McClellan of New York City is visiting friends here.

Mr. R. T. Muir of Toronto is in town.

The Rev. Mr. Partridge and family, who have been visiting friends here, have left for their home in Riverside, California.

Mr. F. E. O'Flynn, barrister, is in Chicago, Ill., on business.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 17th., 1890.

Mr. H. Corby, M. P., entertained a number of the members of the County Council on his steam yacht the Cosette. The Murray Canal was visited and a trip made through the canal.

Some black and red game fowl owned by Mr. Hugh Walker, Jr., and Mr. R. Smith of this city, won first and second prizes in their class at the Toronto Fair.

Grain is being offered freely. Barley is bringing 65 cents, rye 50 cents, peas 60 cents, oats 38 cents, wheat 90 cents to 95 cents per bushel.

Messrs. J. T. and F. H. Warrington shipped 8,000 boxes of cheese to the Old Country yesterday.

The fall style opening of Messrs. W. P. Jones, Brignall & Thompson and A. N. Reid will take place to morrow and no doubt will attract many ladies.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1.—The Aga Khan is (a) an East Indian religious leader, (b) a race horse, (c) a celebrated "hoodoo" diamond?

2.—Gaston Henri-Haye, new French Ambassador to the U. S. formerly worked here as (a) an interior decorator, (b) hotel bellboy, (c) headwaiter.

3.—There is talk of restricting employment of married women. The 1940 census show that about one in five, one in ten, one in fifteen married women is gainfully employed. Choose the correct number.

4.—Where in South America is Devil's Island—on the western coast, the southwestern coast, the northeastern coast?

5.—Dr. John Vernalgia, Medford, Mass., has just brought the U.S. its first world's record for big game fish by catching a 927-pound specimen of what species?

6.—What nation sold the U.S. battleships to help it win the Spanish-American war?

7.—Quick, name four countries having four-letter names.

Answers

1.—East Indian religious leader.
2.—Bellboy.
3.—One in five.
4.—The northeastern coast.
5.—Tuna.
6.—Great Britain sold the U.S. two newly completed cruisers, which became the Albany and New Orleans.
7.—Iraq, Iran, Eire, Peru, Cuba

SAFETY DECALOGUE— HOW TO AVOID ACCIDENTS

An illustrated poster just issued by the Industrial Accident Prevention Associations outlines a "decalogue of safety" designed especially for pedestrians. Here are the ten points it stresses:

CROSS ONLY AT CROSSWALKS — The record in many cities indicates that it is five times more dangerous to cross in the middle of the block than at the corner.

WAIT ON THE SIDEWALK — Impeding the visibility and progress of motor vehicles and risking injury to yourself by standing in the street while waiting for an opportunity to cross is foolhardy.

CROSS ON THE PROPER SIGNAL — Traffic lights are for all traffic, pedestrians as well as motorists. Don't expect the motorist to obey them if you aren't willing to do so.

BE SURE THE WAY IS CLEAR — Wait until a closely approaching car has passed, or until the driver has given you the right of way. Never step between two cars in close-parked traffic.

BE DOUBLY ALERT DURING THE FIRST FEW STEPS — Seventy-five percent of pedestrians in accidents are hit before reaching the middle of the roadway, with absent-mindedness the greatest single cause.

CROSS WITHIN THE CROSSWALK — Seconds and steps saved by skirting the crosswalk or crossing diagonally are not worth the chances you take with your life.

WALK, DON'T RUN — Needless hurry afoot is often as dangerous as needless speed in a car. Don't start across unless you are sure you can make it safely at a walk.

ON RURAL ROADS, WALK FACING TRAFFIC — This enables you to watch oncoming traffic and to step off the pavement and out of the way in an emergency. Two pedestrians are killed walking with traffic for every one killed walking against it.

AFTER DARK, WEAR SOMETHING WHITE — You protect yourself my making certain you will be seen, especially when walking along rural highways at night. Wear a white shirt, shoes or dress — or carry a light, an open handkerchief or a newspaper.

LOOK TWICE BEFORE CROSSING — And you'll probably live twice as long.

Falmouth, England (CP)—The Ministry of Supply has stopped the sale of naval relics belonging to this town until the need for scrap is "far more acute than it is now."

Isolation is Terrible In Unoccupied France

The following letter was written by a French woman of 80 whose home is in a suburb of Paris. With two of her daughters she left her house on June 12 and returned there on July 1 after three weeks in an evacuation train.

The letter was written at her residence on July 22. It was sent by "underground railroad" to the unoccupied part of France, whence it came to the United States by regular air mail, arriving August 7. The name of the writer is withheld for obvious reasons.

I have received your letters of June 27 and July 10. There has been no outbound mail for America for weeks, but M. has heard of a way which sounds reliable, so we are going to try it.

We left home in the rain on Wednesday, June 12, walked eight or ten miles from Versailles to St. Lambert-de-Chevreuse, where we spent the night with some good people M. knew. I thought that I should never be able to go on, if I stopped for a moment along the road. We next spent three days, from Thursday evening to Sunday midnight, in cattle cars. During this time we had nothing to eat, and forgot all about time and weather. The days were long for the train would go five or six miles, then stop for several hours, with similar trains ahead and behind. In spite of all the criticism, I think all this was well organized. On the whole we had what we needed. The railway employees, who were harassed and overworked, were always polite. They were rather quiet, not knowing what to answer — and how could they in the midst of such a mess?

Gunned Station

At nightfall on Thursday, dive bombers machine-gunned the station full of refugees at Dourdan. Most of the people were already used to scuttling along the walls, hollow-eyed and with screaming children in their arms. We were planning to separate at Dourdan, M. and S. going ahead on their bicycles to Tours, and I following in the train with the baggage. But when we had been so close to death (there were a score of victims) we made up our minds to die together if need be, but not to leave each other. It was a wise decision, for we would never have found each other again. Even now there are so many people who are searching for children and relatives, and so many people left in unknown graves along the road.

Saturday afternoon M. did go ahead on her bicycle, but fortunately found us all right in the darkened, crowded station at Orleans. She had been to Amboise, hoping that we might stop with the B.'s, but they were leaving, too. So we got back into our train which took us as far as Anche, near Chinon, where we stayed for 12 days.

The train stayed with us, and we could sleep in it. There was a Pullman car this time, but with people standing and such a mixture—dogs, dirty people and clean ones, too! So the first night of our stay at Anche we slept in a barn on some straw, and after that in a hayloft. After we went up the ladder, M. and S., two other women and their two children and myself, a nice old farmer would come and take the ladder away so we wouldn't be disturbed by the Boches, who got there five days after we did. They began by stealing M.'s bicycle, along with a lot of others. There were 800 Germans in this village of 400 inhabitants, along with the 2,000 people in our train besides. Food was a constant problem, people standing in line everywhere for milk, for bread, for meat.

All sorts of things happened. There were tragedies as well as humorous and comic scenes. Now it all seems like a nightmare. Through it all we stayed together, running the same risks and looking after ourselves. We rubbed elbows with people from all walks of French life, including the lowest with their vices and their resourcefulness, their generosity and their gratitude for the least service. M. often helped out with some bandage or other; they called her the nurse. Yes, we saw all sorts.

Coming back we crossed Tours in a truck on the way to the train. A whole section of the city was destroyed and still burning. The bridge over the Loire had been blown up and the town was full of Boches. We found the same cattle-cars again, which took us from Tours to Juvisy and from there to the Austerlitz station in Paris. But this time we were going home, so we didn't mind, and besides we were used to anything by now.

• • •

Thanks to our devoted friend S., who came here frequently while we were away, our house was neither sacked nor occupied. The thoughts of the house being looted haunted me, for so many people were plundered.

Take Possession

Here at X., when one of the neighbors came home he found his house taken over by some Hitler youth. He was allowed to keep one bedroom and a Boche soldier brought him a pair of sheets and three towels. He had to go down in his cellar on the sly to get a few bottles of wine for the Germans were helping themselves to his stock of 500 bottles and he could say nothing. They took his telephone, his typewriter and everything else.

We are forbidden to go out after 10 in the evening—it's Central European time everywhere — and forbidden to have lights visible from outside after 10. Down the street, near the convent, there was a light the other evening because a child was sick. They didn't put it out instantly when warned, so the Boche fired a revolver shot through the window.

Paris is empty. There are no buses, no French cars. Whole quarters are shut up and dead. People don't want to come back. The Boches, some in uniform, some in civilian clothes, are everywhere. The only French people there are those who can't help it. The factories are closed, so there are long lines of unemployed workers walking the streets. The Renault factory, with 30,000 workmen, is closed. This may lead to anger, revolution and civil war, especially with this Fascist Government which can't last. Petain was all right as the hero of Verdun, but as a statesman he's a puppet manipulated by anti-Jewish rightists.

"Such humiliation," a cashier in one of the department stores said to me, "they soil our pavements!" The poor girl added that when she returns French change to them, they refuse it with disgust. They are giving us Reichsmarks, printed especially for the occupation, in order to drain away all our own money. In two months there won't be any French money left and their mark is now worth 20 francs. It's one humiliation after another. In the Montparnasse station the signs and notices are all in German.

The station-master is German. People who arrive during the night are obliged to stay in the coaches, guarded by Germans, until 5.30 in the morning. In the streets, one way traffic is not observed by the Germans, who drive everywhere at top speed. The Boche soldiers smoke in the subway. The police have to salute German style. And there's a 300 franc fine for calling them Boches!

We still have plenty to eat, although there is no milk and no fruit. Think of the fruit going to waste in the Rhone valley! We have one pound of sugar per person per month. That's hard, but they promise us better still next winter. I haven't enough coal, but it's impossible to get any more. The Boches are getting all the butter they can and shipping it to Germany.

We know that in a French prisoners' camp at Meaux, on our own soil, they are suffering from hunger and that there have been riots and disciplinary measures. That means the whipping-post for how many of our men? It's forbidden to send any food to them. How much longer can this go on?

Plain Prisoners

The airplanes have been flying overhead unceasingly since the Germans came. There are military convoys going in all directions, but we don't know where. There is not a newspaper. Two papers are published in Paris, and edited by the Boches, Le Matin and Paris Soir. Nobody buys them. Luckily the English radio is there. We are prisoners. The isolation is terrible. Brittany is full of Boche soldiers, preparing the invasion of England, and drinking champagne with any who are willing.

The cable companies evacuated their offices when the Government left Paris on Monday, June 10th, and since then we have not been able to cable, or to telegraph within the country, or to telephone, and the mail is only just beginning to function regularly but with many delays and few outside connections.

• • •

My son P., is in the naval hospital at Toulon with a slight fever. He's well cared for, and fed with a great variety of vegetables, he tells me. As for my son A., he wrote to me on July 15 from the department of Cantal (in unoccupied territory) where they were transferred from the camp at Surgeres in the department of Deux-Sevres where he has been prisoner for a month with all his group. They went in cattle-cars via La Rochelle, Perigueux and Figeac. But he hasn't had any word from us for a month, and P. has had no news at all. I suppose the Boches hold up the mail which goes from the north to the south.

News is beginning to come in from free France. Free? with such a Government! But here we are plain prisoners. May England deliver us. England who is now fighting alone. What a disgrace for our country. It is all so sad. We do not want to be German, we prefer dying. We want to be French and free. I hope England will be victorious and I am proud of the Frenchmen who are there, in England, getting ready to fight with General de Gaulle.

Keep on writing to us even if you don't get any answers. We are having beautiful weather here, but we are so sad that we don't enjoy it.

A Frank Cleric

(Winnipeg Free Press)

A courageous priest in Saskatchewan, Father James Branch, of Gravelbourg, deserves mention in these trying days. There was a time when Father Branch believed that European war was no business of his or his people. This doctrine he preached. Addressing the Boy Scout association in Regina not long ago he made public retraction of those views. He said this:

"As an editor and a leader of youth, I remember distinctly taking a few cracks at armament expenditure, saying they were a wanton loss of money and material . . .

"We were all wrong and we should have stood behind every military program of our country, to a man. I was wrong also last year when I minimized the importance of machine gun contracts, of uniformed soldiers, of naval units. I was wrong also when I feared that because our democratic institutions did not spend as much on youth as totalitarian states, our young men would not be as enthusiastic to join a Canadian army. Our boys have responded with a spirit that will bolster the indomitable spirit of England . . . Hitler will need the devil's help when our boys really get going so splendidly in the air. More power to our brave and loyal Canadian youth! . . ."

This Catholic priest is doing a great service in making such statements. They help to clarify the thinking of many people who hesitate to believe that they once were wrong. The open admission of past error is the purge which liberates the mind for clearer thinking in the future, and consolidates the nation for the tests that lie before it.

General Debate Slated for House

London, Sept. 17—(CP Cable)—A general debate on the war, especially the effect of German air raids on London, probably will be held by the House of Commons at its next meeting, informed sources said Monday.

London members were said to be anxious to discuss problems of the city's hardest hit areas.

Henceforth, it has been made known, there will be no advance announcement of the hour or even the day of Parliament's meetings. This secrecy is imposed for security reasons.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

Home Circumstances or Surroundings Can Cause or Increase Symptoms

During my student days I accompanied a "demonstrator" to a home in a lane of a large city. How that expectant mother was to be properly looked after amid such poor surroundings was more than I could understand. However, by the help of a "visiting" nurse, much can be done these days, but much more must be done.

Connected with most hospitals now are trained social workers who visit the homes of mothers and fathers sick in hospitals and try to help the family in various ways. They report to the patient just how things are going along at home so that many a sick patient has not the worry about home to further reduce her strength. These social workers are trained in the handling of a home, managing or helping to direct the family budget.

More and more physicians are learning that while hospitals and specialists mean much in the saving of life, they cannot take the place of the family physician who not only knows the individual members of the home but knows the home itself with all the circumstances in and about it. It is very gratifying therefore to learn that Johns Hopkins Medical School is sending its senior students into the homes of its dispensary patients in Baltimore, and treatment is given in the home instead of in the dispensary.

"It has been found that sixty-five percent (two in every three) of these patients have adverse social conditions as a background of their illness, and that thirty-five percent have emotional conditions mainly responsible for their disease."

In commenting upon the above, Dr. M. A. Austin, Anderson, Indiana, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, states that scientific treatment can be of little avail without a full knowledge of the patient and his surroundings.

As more than half of the patients who consult a physician have no organic ailment, it can readily be seen that if the physician can learn more of the patient's history by questioning or by visiting the patient's home, he has a real opportunity of getting satisfactory results from his treatment.

TO CANADA

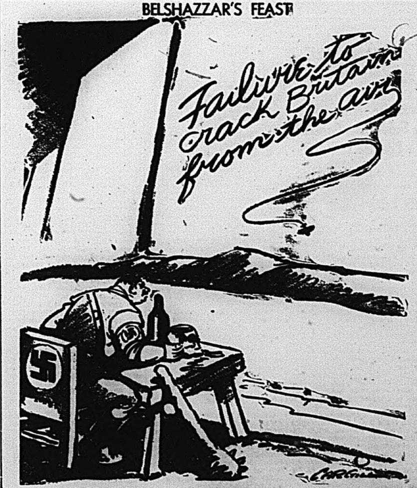
There isn't a fort on the border,
No barbed wire man-traps entwine,
Its thousands of miles are lighted with smiles—
We don't need a Maginot Line!

We're glad when our neighbors have prospered;
We rejoice when they're happy and gay . . .
We don't covet their soil or the fruit of their toil,
For friends aren't built that way.

But just let some foreign invader
Attempt to storm Canada's shore,
And over that line to our neighbor's defense
America's fighters will pour!

By Nick Kenny, Radio Editor of The New York Mirror, Reproduced with permission.

BELSHAZZAR'S FEAST



Failure to crack Britain from the air

ROTARIANS HEAR HISTORY OF HUDSON BAY CO.

John Henley, Director of Personnel at Winnipeg, Speaker at Luncheon

FURS SENIOR BRANCH

An informative insight into the origin, struggle for existence and the progress of the Hudson's Bay Company, oldest commercial organization in Canada, was given Belleville Rotarians at the weekly luncheon on Monday by Mr. John Henley, company director of personnel of Winnipeg.

The important part played by the company in the development of Canada through its vast territorial holdings granted by Royal Charter in 1668, "a story of epic struggle and strife" was graphically portrayed by the speaker. The blackest period in the history of the company occurred from 1784-1821 when bitter rivalry between the Northwest Company and the Hudson Bay often resulted in bloody strife.

Fur Trade the senior branch of the five company divisions now operating is strangely enough still in a period of development, Mr. Henley declared. Posts today extend from the St. Lawrence to the Yukon southerly to Winnipeg and northward to the northern tip of Baffin Land. Eastern posts, he said, engage largely in the fish trade, Ungava in white fox furs, Ontario and Quebec in colored furs; Winnipeg, pulpwood and wild rice; The Western Arctic, white fox furs and the MacKenzie, Delta, muskrats. 150,000 skins were harvested there this year. All posts are administered by district offices.

300,000 Acres of Preserves

Various means of securing furs include trading posts, city buying offices and experimental fur farms. The company owns 300,000 acres of muskrat preserves. The gradual depletion of the beaver in the northern districts not only resulted in difficult sustenance problems for the natives, but in the company installing 30,000 acres of beaver preserve.

Shipments of furs to Great Britain were stopped this year for the first time since the inception of the company 271 years ago, Mr. Henley pointed out. Furs are now being sold through offices in New York.

Declaring that the Hudson Bay Company has the largest transportation system in the North, he pointed out that this consists of two airplanes, 23 steam and motor vessels, including the famous "Nascopic", 1,000 canoes, freight barges, and hundreds of dog teams in the Arctic regions. Posts in this part of the north usually carry supplies sufficient for two years in case accidents or other circumstances prevent supplies getting in from the "outside".

Two-way Radios in Posts

Communications have kept pace with other modern scientific improvements. Two-way radios are maintained in each of the 85 posts. Staffs are highly trained and are selected for their adaptability to life in the north. Special courses are given youths between the ages of 18-23 where they are taught radio, dietitics, book-keeping, and other subjects necessary to a successful post-manager. Radio receiving sets are furnished free as are library books. The company distributed 120,000 vitamin tablets to its posts last year to make up for deficiencies in northern diets. Married men are given a special educational allowance to permit them to send their children to school outside where they can receive the necessary education.

The speaker was introduced by Rotarian Jack Deacon and thanks of the club by Rotarian Howard Clarke. Special guests were a quartette of Trenton Rotarians, and a past district governor of the Lion's Club.

President Percy McGuire extended a welcome to Rotarians Judge C. A. Cameron who regaled the clubmen with numerous stories of camp-life in Petawawa, Fred Douglas, and McLean Haig, members of the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) recently returned from a two weeks camp-training period. Leo Riggs was back at his familiar place at the piano, and "Sandy" Burrows led the club songsters.

PLEADS GUILTY TO THEFT OF $107

Toronto, Sept. 16 —(CP)—Vivian Johnson, 22, of Toronto, pleaded guilty today to theft of $107 from the proceeds of a tag day here Saturday for the benefit of orphans. She was remanded to Sept. 23 for sentence.

Police said the woman had been one of the taggers and later had assisted in counting the proceeds.

Mrs. George Farley, president of the True Blue Orange Lodge at nearby Richmond Hill, told police she suspected the young woman and followed her from the Orange headquarters here to a hospital. There she was found in an emergency ward bed with the money under her pillow.

The husband of the accused appeared in court and asked for leniency, explaining he had not been working steadily. "She's not a bad girl and must have done it on the spur of the moment."

HASTINGS AND PRINCE EDWARD REGIMENT, N.P.A.M., TRAIN FOR SERVICE AT PETAWAWA CAMP

GUARD DETAIL DRAWS PRAISE OF GENERAL STAFF OFFICER

Men of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment, N.P.A.M. who are among the thousands in training at Petawawa military camp, have turned out one of the smartest guard units on the grounds, officers were told by Capt. E. Schmidlin of the general staff. The regiment is a typical cross section of Canadian life, with members from the farming areas of Hastings and Prince Edward counties and the industrial centres of Belleville, Trenton and Picton. Members of the guard are shown on duty.

NOT BRAID AND GOLD, BUT HANDY WHEN COLD—THIS UNIFORM

It may not agree with the experts who say it's healthier to sleep in light airy garments, but the chap LEFT, steps out of his tent for a moment to show "what the well-dressed officer wears to bed." Hardly a military secret, he displays his costume of balaclava, heavy flannel pyjamas, heavy dressing gown and wool socks. Training is under the direction of the officers shown RIGHT, Col. P. H. Gardner, LEFT, is Petawawa's commandant, and Lieut.-Col. B. C. Donnan, Crown Attorney at Belleville, RIGHT is in charge of the Hastings and Prince Edward unit.

"CRAZY" WITNESS TELLS OF N.Y. STRANGLE PARTY

Abe "Kid Twist" Reles, Alleged Vice President of Murder-for-Profit Ring, Admits Killing Eleven Men

KILLED BY CONTACT

New York, Sept. 17.—(CP)—Abe (Kid Twist) Reles, tattletale of Brooklyn's Murder, Inc., sat nonchalantly in the witness chair in King's County Court yesterday and recited for an amazed jury the names of 11 men he killed.

Alleged vice-president of the murder-for-profit ring and chief prosecution witness in the murder trial of Harry (Pittsburgh Phil) Strauss and Martin (Buggsy) Goldstein, Reles last April confessed to seven "contract" killings of underworld characters. Today he added new "jobs" to the list.

One of the slain men, stabbed with an ice pick and roped end to end into a ball until he was strangled, was Irving (Puggy) Feinstein, small-time bookie. Reles said the men who helped him kill Feinstein were Strauss and Goldstein, now on trial for the murder.

Reles has been indicted for the murder of Alex (Red) Albert but he denied having a hand in this affair. He dealt at length with the slaying of Feinstein. He testified that Feinstein was killed Sept. 4, 1939, on a "contract job" ordered by Albert (the boss) Anastasia, waterfront mobster, on behalf of one Vincent Mangano who had been "crossed" by Feistein.

Reles said Feinstein was kidnapped on a sidewalk after "the boss" had okayed a "street snatch" with the admonition to "make it clean". The victim was taken to Reles' house by Goldstein, the witness continued, and with the aid of Strauss was strangled and stabbed with an ice pick. The body was taken to a vacant lot, drenched with gasoline and set afire.

Met in Crap Game

"It was a job we did for Albert Anastasio," explained Reles, leaning forward confidentially to the jury. "Albert was our boss—the big guy in the gang. I met Strauss in a crap game in a lot behind a fence. He told me he was over to Albert's house for supper and Albert gave him a contract to wipe out a guy named Puggy.

"I asked him 'for what?' and he said Albert—our boss—told him Puggy double-crossed Vince. Vince is Vincent Mangano."

Reles said his wife and Goldstein's wife were told to "go to a movie" while the murder was performed. He added that his mother-in-law was in the house during the killing but that "she had gone to bed." He added: "I woke the old lady up and asked her where we kept the rope and the ice pick. Then we turned the radio on to kill the noise and Strauss tried to 'mug' Feinstein."

With gestures, Reles explained that "mugging" a victim meant choking him by placing his head between the "mugger's" forearm and chest and exerting pressure on his neck.

"This guy Puggy kept on fighting and kicking, so I turned the radio on louder and got the rope," Reles went on. "I gave Strauss one end of the rope and we put it under Puggy's head while Goldstein held the other end. Then we looped it twice 'round his neck, pulled on it until he was shaped like a ball and then tied both ends."

Witness Names Victims

Asked how many persons he had killed, Reles answered: "I committed 10 murders. But not alone. I participated in 10 murders." Ordered to name his victims, he recounted 11. "I participated in the George Rudnick one and Irving Shapiro," Reles related. "Then there was 'Jake the Painter', 'Rocco', 'Joey Silvers', 'Pug' Shulman, 'Greenblatt', 'Whitey' Friedman, Jack Paley and Feinstein. There was another.... I can't remember his name...... Oh, yes, it was Monk Bosco."

Last spring, in testimony which resulted in murder convictions against Harry (Happy) Malone and Frank (the Dasher) Abbandando, Reles confessed killing Feinstein, Rudnick, Shapiro, Moe Greenblatt, Rocco Morganti and Israel (Jake the Painter) Goldberg.

Queensboro

Queensboro—Mr. and Mrs. J. McClintock, Eldorado, and Mrs. Wilf Keen, Remington were Tuesday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. C. McMurray.

Dr. Embury, of Ottawa, spent a few days during the past week with Mr. John A. Moore.

Mrs. Edmund Groves, Madoc, spent Wednesday with Mrs. Delbert Fleming.

Mr. Leslie Herbertson spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Herbertson, Foxboro.

Mrs. J. Alexander Sr., met with a painful accident on Friday morning when she fell on the pavement fracturing her hip. She was taken to Belleville General Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Dan Holmes, of Pineview, spent a week end with her father Mr. John Groves.

Mrs. R. Bonny, Madoc, was a Tuesday guest of Mrs. James Moore.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson and Ruth, spent last Sunday with friends in Foxboro.

Mr. John Groves is spending some time with his daughter, Mrs. Robert Eaton near Stirling.

Mrs. Dan Bird returned to her home in Toronto on Saturday after spending the week with relatives here.

Miss Mollie James spent Saturday with friends in Belleville.

Mr. Mack Delyea returned to his home on Saturday after spending two weeks in Toronto and Sudbury.

Mrs. Frank Barry spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mrs. Harry Tokley, Madoc, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Tokley.

Miss Marion Love was the guest of Miss Helen Tumelty at Hazzard's on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander Jr., and Mr. John Alexander Sr., visited Mrs. Alexander in Belleville General Hospital on Sunday.

Pte. Ed. Lapalm spent the week end with relatives here.

Rev. E. D. Snelgrove had charge of the morning and evening services on the Thomasburg charge on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. A. S. Doggett, Thomasburg, were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thos Adams at Harts on Sunday. Mr. Doggett conducted the morning anniversary services at Harts United Church and also took part in the rally service at Hazzard's United Church on Sunday afternoon.

Pte. Roy Anderson spent the week end with his parents at Pineview.

Mrs. N. Willman and Elizabeth returned to Cordova on Sunday after spending two weeks with Mrs. Ralph Franklin.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Franklin, Willie and Betty spent Sunday with relatives at Deloro.

Mrs. V. McMurray and Barbara of Gilmour, were Saturday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. McMurray.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sager, Queensboro on September 15th, a son.

MORE LIGHT IN YOUR LIFE

HYDRO LONG-LIFE LAMPS

AT YOUR HYDRO SHOP

Hydro Shop

277 Front St. Phone 284

SUICIDE SQUAD MAY BE HONORED

London, Sept. 17 (CP Cable)—The Daily Mail said today that Lt. Robert Davies, Canadian-born member of the Royal Engineers and his bomb disposal squad may be honored for risking their lives to save St. Paul's from destruction.

Lt. Davies, native of St. Catharines, Ont., and his squad extricated a 1,100-pound German time bomb from the precincts of the Cathedral Sunday and detonated it harmlessly in a marsh.

The morning paper said: "The War Office, it was officially learned in London, is considering how to recognize their achievements in some way."

Names and addresses of the men have been placed in St. Paul's visiting book and Dean W. R. Matthews, who returned to the Deanery yesterday, has written the War Office asking that the men be given his special thanks.

Dean Matthews said that "the whole nation owes them a debt of gratitude."

BELLEVILLE'S DULLEST YOUTH BEATS OTHER BOYS FOR JOB

Everyone thought him the untidiest, most slovenly boy in town. The more he was rebuffed, the duller he seemed to become.

Soon he had to find a job and it seemed so hopeless. His mother pressed his pants, made sure he'd washed behind his ears and combed his hair—but still he just didn't seem to shine. Then she had an inspiration. The reason he didn't shine was because his shoes were dirty. Two minutes with Nugget Shoe Polish made such a difference that his whole personality seemed to radiate in response—and he won the job. Nugget is the most popular shoe polish in Canada because of its outstanding polishing and preserving qualities.—Advt.

Marmora

Marmora — Five members of the Sodality of Mary, who are leaving on Monday to enter Hotel Dieu Hospital, Kingston, as nurses-in-training, were presented with a prayer book and rosary each by the members of the Sodality at a social gathering which was held in the Separate School on Friday evening. The young ladies are Theresa Murphy, Marjorie Stephens, Joan O'Connor, Theresa Shannon and Maurice Moloney. After the expression of good wishes for their future welfare a social period was enjoyed followed with the serving of a delicious lunch.

Mrs. James McGrath and brother, Joseph Gauthier, who spent the summer at Tipperary Hotel are visiting their parents in Timmins.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Brady are spending the week with friends in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Free of Frankford, visited Mr. Frank Rogers on Wednesday.

Mrs. Clifford Spry of Madoc, called on friends here on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Brynes and family returned home on Thursday after spending the summer at their cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mr. Neil O'Keefe, of Campbellford, visited relatives here Thursday.

Mr. James Wilson, of Campbellford, visited friends here Thursday.

Moffatt — Kilpatrick

A quiet wedding took place at St. Andrew's Parsonage on Wednesday morning, September 11th., when Ethel Madge Kilpatrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kilpatrick, was united in marriage to Wilbert Moffatt, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Moffatt, of Marmora township. Rev. Dr. W. P. Fletcher officiated.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Hargett and Mr. and Mrs. K. Keller and J. H. Murray of Cleveland, Ohio, were guests at the Royal Hotel, Thursday.

Mrs. S. Bright and Mrs. L. Bright of Toronto, spent Friday evening in the village.

Mrs. William Regan has been engaged as teacher for Beaver Creek School and commenced her duties on Monday.

Miss Georgina Jenkins, of Odessa, was the guest of Dr. and Mrs. W. P. Fletcher over the week-end.

Mr. George Wellman quietly celebrated his 81st. birthday on Thursday. This veteran villager, formerly proprietor of the old St. James Hotel, Marmora, and also of the Bellview Hotel at what is now known as Bonarlaw, and in more recent years as a cattle buyer, is one of the best known residents of the village. Despite his age, he is still able to do a good day's work and his interest in the Marmora Agricultural Society and Conservatism remains as keen as ever it was. His many friends hope he may celebrate many more birthdays.

Burr's

Burr's — Mr. Will Morton threshed on Saturday and Monday afternoons and on Tuesday and Mr. Ewart Harnes on Wednesday.

Mrs. Embury Adams, Rednersville is spending a few days with Mrs. Cyrus Fulford.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Hubbs and children, Mountain View, spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Carter spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Hicks, Gilead.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry, Mr. and Mrs. Eric Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Humphrey entertained friends from West Lake and Picton on Sunday.

Mr. Clayton Carter visited his brother, Will Carter, Carrying Place on Sunday.

Miss Irene Fox called on Mrs. Cyrus Fulford on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Moon moved home from their camp at West Lake on Thursday. Mr. Gene Hubbs and Mr. Percy Lough moved them home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ewart Harnes Miss Irene Fox and Mr. Howard Fox were at Belleville on Thursday.

Mrs. Frank Burkitt entertained Burr's Ladies' Aid on Thursday afternoon. There was an attendance of twenty members and four visitors. The president, Mrs. Gene Hubbs opened the meeting with a hymn, followed by the Lord's Prayer in unison. Psalm 104 was the Scripture reading, read alternatively. Secretary read minutes of the last meeting and treasurer gave her report. There was $43.42 in the treasury. The theme song was sung, and the roll call was answered by a verse with the word, "Remembrance". Mrs. Val Squire kindly invited the Aid to meet at her home for the next meeting, on Wednesday instead of Thursday. A hymn was then sung.

Moved by Mrs. Cook, seconded by Mrs. Ross Burr that $30 be paid on the minister's salary. Mrs. Brooks gave a reading, "Next Door Neighbor". Mrs. Cook read, "What Folks Think About." Mrs. Allan Carter read, "The Hired Girl."

Rev. Parsons then arrived and was asked by the president for a few remarks. He led a discussion on when the Anniversary Services would be held. It was decided to hold them on September 29th, morning and evening and to have another minister and another choir. He then proposed a fowl supper for the next night, but was informed it had been voted down. He then proposed a pie social which carried. Mr. Parsons to furnish the program. A donation to the Missionary and Maintenance Fund was paid.

Those responsible for the program for the next meeting are: Mrs. Sam Clarke, Miss Zelda Carter and Mrs. Eric Edwards, and those to furnish lunch are Mrs. McHenry, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Eric Edwards. The Soldiers' Prayer was repeated and the National Anthem closed the meeting. A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mesdames Harnes, Osterhout, Fox and Brason.

Miss Irene Fox and Mrs. Val Squire attended the Red Cross meeting at Crofton on Tuesday afternoon.

A number from here attended the War Emergency Committee sewing meeting at the L.O.L. Hall, Allisonville, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mrs. George Fox is ill.

Mr. Sam Clarke had a bee on Friday drawing hay from North Lakeside.

Messrs. J. Moon and Gene Hubbs were at Hillier on Friday afternoon.

Quite a number from here attended a shower in the L.O.L. Hall, Allisonville, for Mr. and Mrs. Warner McPaul. An address was read by Mr. Kenneth Wood, to which Warner and Phyllis both replied. The presents, which were numerous and beautiful were opened and admired, after which dancing was enjoyed. All wished Warner and his bride a long and happy life.

Mr. Clarence Mallory, real estate agent, has informed the public that "Sunnyside Farm," lately acquired by the Commissioner of Agricultural Loans, has been purchased by Mr. Harold W. Hall, Brampton, who will take possession this fall.

Latta

Mrs. Erle Denyes, Mrs. Wilbert Elliott, Mrs. Harry McCreary, Miss Annie Hamilton, Mrs. Arthur Hall, Miss A. Gillespie, Mrs. Harry Harrison, Mrs. Fred Prindle and Mrs. McKenzie attended the W.M.S. convention in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Miller, of Napanee, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James McCreary.

Mrs. Mills, Plainfield, has moved up to spend the Winter with her niece, Mrs. Arthur Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. George Collins spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Emmerson.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry McCreary and Garth spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hall, Belleville.

Mrs. Shaw, Foxboro, spent a few holidays with her daughter, Mrs. Fred Prindle.

Mrs. Norman Hall, Sr., Barbara, and Mrs. Fred Hall spent Wednesday afternoon with the latter's daughter, Mrs. Lewis Morton, of Thomasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Gowe and children, Beverly and Wayne spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Gowe.

Miss Carrie Goodfellow spent a few holidays with her grandmother, Mrs. Goodfellow, Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Carleton and Harold spent Monday with Mr. Christie Carleton and Miss E. Carleton.

Miss Olive Hall returned home on Saturday after spending week's holidays with her cousins in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Dawson and daughter called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Carleton spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Wright, Foxboro, and attended Mr. Clarke's funeral in the afternoon.

Mrs. Kenneth Hall and children, Maxine and Shirley; Mrs. Shane; Mrs. Walter Hall; Mrs. Stanley Hazzard and John Allan spent Tuesday with Mrs. Wilbert Elliott.

The W. I. was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Walter Hall. There was a nice attendance.

Practice was held in the church Wednesday evening for Mrs. Harry McCreary's and Mrs. G. McKenzie's Sunday School classes for Rally Service on Sunday evening.

Deepest sympathy is extended from this community to Mrs. Wallace Simmons in her recent loss of her brother, the late Mr. James Brownson, also to his son, Byron, and other relatives.

Deepest sympathy is extended to Mrs. John Rollins and Mrs. Jas. McCreary in the loss of their brother in British Columbia.

Eldorado

Eldorado — Mrs. Bert Simpson spent the week-end out of town.

Mr. and Mrs. John McCaw, Miss Alice Harris and Mr. W. C. Best of Belleville, visited friends here on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin of Clydesdale, and Miss Fairheller of Steenburg, were week-end guests of Pastor and Mrs. Holly.

Mrs. Fred Blondin and Miss Joan of Peterboro, are spending a few days with Mrs. Findlay Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. William Parks and family were visitors in Bannockburn last week.

Mr. James E. Trotter of Toledo, was in town during the last week-end.

Mrs. Findlay Harris and Mrs. G. Donley spent one day last week at Peterboro and other points.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blakely and Lillian, also Mr. and Mrs. Jack Empey, Joan, Sheila and Mona attended the Newton—Blakely wedding at Lindsay recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Shrigley and daughter of Toronto, also Mr. Arthur Searle were guests at home of Mr. and Mrs. Beryl Carman last week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O'Rourke of Queensboro spent Sunday last with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Bateman.

Mrs. J. Pigden has returned to Belleville after spending the past few weeks with Mrs. H. G. Empey.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald spent Thursday and Friday at the home of Mrs. George Palmer of Union.

Mrs. Kenneth Holmes, also Mrs. (Dr.) Nickle, spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Empey, Bob and Don were callers on Mr. and Mrs. John Curtis of Hart's last Sunday.

Miss Annie Holmes was the dinner hour guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. Holmes of Crookston, on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McAdam and boys of Marysville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Holland and the tea hour guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wright on Sunday last.

Mrs. Albert Empey, Mrs. Hugh Empey and Mrs. Everett Carman attended the open meeting of Trinity W.M.S. at Madoc on Friday.

Mrs. John Fitzgerald was the dinner hour guest of Mr. and Mrs. John Blakely of Union on Friday.

Miss Joan Holmes spent Saturday at the home of her grandfather, Mr. William Holmes.

The Eldorado United Church held their Anniversary services on Sunday with Rev. S. R. Delve of Ivanhoe as the guest speaker of the day. The choir furnished special music for both services. The church was well decorated for the occasion with ferns and potted plants. Both services were well attended.

The parsonage board met at the home of William Holmes on Friday evening. Those in attendance were Messrs. George Harris, Oscar Taylor of Cooper; Alfred Parnell of Eldorado, and Albert Empey of Union.

The Bannockburn-Eldorado Women's Institute held their September meeting at the home of Mrs. James Bailey on Tuesday evening. There was a large number of the ladies in attendance.

Mrs. Jack Empey attended the Women's Institute leadership school at Marmora last week.

Rev. and Mrs. George Crabbe spent Saturday in Belleville.

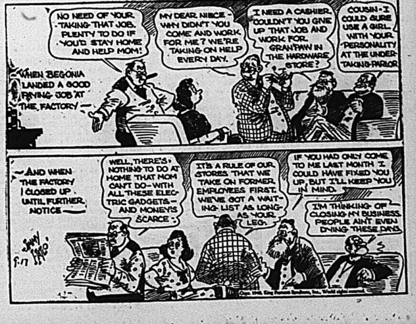
Mrs. Earl Armstrong of Madoc, spent a few days last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Arkel.

In a recent letter received by Mr. W. Holmes from Mr. Albert Harvey, who has spent the past year in Durban, Manitoba, he states very fine crops this season, wheat running from 45 to 50 bushels to the acre. They will have over 11,000 bushels of wheat and barley, with oats and flax not threshed yet. They are only allowed to ship five bushels to the acre, so it is a big job to store the rest in bins. Mr. and Mrs. Harvey intend to leave for the British Columbia coast on the 21st. of this month, where they will spend the winter.

Mr. Ed. Sager spent the week-end at the home of his sister, Mrs. Herb Ruckstuhl of Stoney Settlement.

Time to Start
COD LIVER OIL
41 16 oz. 79c
also
MEAD'S, SQUIBB'S, AYERST'S, HALIBUT OIL CAPSULES
50 Capsules 69c
100 Capsules $1.19
NEO CHEMICAL FOOD
$1.15 and $2.45
ALPHAMETTES
100 .... $3.50
Ask Our Advice About Vitamins
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo



WHEN BEGONIA LANDED A GOOD PAYING JOB AT THE FACTORY—
NO NEED OF YOUR TAKING THAT JOB. PLENTY TO DO IF YOU'D STAY HOME AND HELP MOM!
MY DEAR NIECE—WHY DIDN'T YOU COME AND WORK FOR ME? WE'RE TAKING ON HELP EVERY DAY.
I NEED A CASHIER. COULDN'T YOU GIVE UP THAT JOB AND WORK FOR GRAN'PAW IN THE HARDWARE STORE?
COUSIN—I COULD SURE USE A GIRL WITH YOUR PERSONALITY AT THE UNDERTAKING PARLOR
—AND WHEN THE FACTORY CLOSED UP UNTIL FURTHER NOTICE—
WELL, THERE'S NOTHING TO DO AT HOME THAT MOM CAN'T DO—WITH ALL THESE ELECTRIC GADGETS—AND MONEY'S SCARCE—
IT'S A RULE OF OUR STORES THAT WE TAKE ON FORMER EMPLOYEES FIRST. WE'VE GOT A WAITING LIST AS LONG AS YOUR LEG.
IF YOU HAD ONLY COME TO ME LAST MONTH I COULD HAVE FIXED YOU UP, BUT I'LL KEEP YOU IN MIND.
I'M THINKING OF CLOSING MY BUSINESS. PEOPLE AIN'T EVEN DYING THESE DAYS
JIMMY HATLO 9-17

PERSONALS

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT

PAUL—MAHON—On Tuesday, September 17th., at 74 N. Front St., Miss Emmilen Edith Elizabeth Mahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Mahon, Purdy Street, was united in marriage to Clarence Edward Paul, son of Mr. Kenneth Paul, and the late Mrs. Paul, Frankford. The Rev. C. V. Freeman officiated.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. May, 2nd of Sidney, announce the engagement of their twin daughter, Irma Bernice to William Ronald Jones, 3rd Sidney, son of Mr. A. I. Jones and the late Mrs. Jones of Swansea Wales. The marriage will take place early in October.

Miss May Sherade of Montreal, is spending a few days with Mrs. J. A. Vandervoort, Rossmore.

Mr. William Hutchinson of Toronto, a former Belleville resident, was in the city yesterday.

Mrs. Reg. Mills and family of Barrie, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Mills of Shannonville.

Mrs. Lyle Nicholson of Kingston, is visiting Mrs. J. A. Vandervoort, Rossmore.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Armstrong of Niagara Falls, are spending a week visiting relatives and friends in Belleville, Trenton, Frankford and Glen Miller.

Miss Patricia Alexander, Bleecker Avenue left on Monday, for Kingston, where she will enter the school of nursing at Hotel Dieu.

Misses Mary and Margaret Nolan, Napanee, are visiting at Rossmore, with Mrs. J. A. Vandervoort.

Bdr. Harry Gibson, Petawawa, spent the week-end in Belleville with relatives.

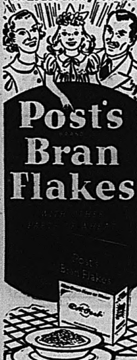
Miss Orpha Watt, nurse-in-training at the Kingston General Hospital, was the guest of her brother, Mr. Kenneth Watt and Mrs. Watt, N. Front Street, on Monday.

A very delightful children's concert and sale of candy was held at 66 Everett Street, Saturday afternoon. Those taking part were—Misses Joan Hiles, Mary Pepper, Jean Watson, Betty Moore and Beverly McVeigh. Proceeds which amounted to $3.93 to be donated to the Red Cross.

A most enjoyable birthday party was held on Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fralick, West Bridge street, in honour of their daughters, Misses Olive and Jeannette Fralick. Numerous gifts were received from their many friends. After a delicious lunch, games and dancing were indulged in until a late hour.

Mrs. W. Wardaugh, Miss Audrey Gariepy were joint hostesses at the latter's home, 304 Albert Street, last evening when they entertained at a delightfully arranged shower in honour of Miss Evelyn Simpson of Kingston, bride-elect of this week. The bride-to-be was presented with a lovely set of dishes and other useful gifts for which she gratefully thanked her friends. Euchre was played during the evening, the prize being won by Mrs. A. Cooper, Mrs. W. Schringer and Mrs. G. Wilkins. Later dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

A Wonderful Help Towards Family Fitness



HELP keep your family free from irregularity, due to lack of bulk in the diet by serving Post's Bran Flakes regularly. They provide natural bulk to keep food wastes moving promptly. Delicious to eat, too. Get Post's Bran Flakes at your grocer's today. 8370

FUR· COATS "POLARIZED" $4.50

The next time your coat needs cleaning have it "Polarized" at Woodley's. This is not an ordinary cleaning process, but is one that is used by a great many of the better furriers. Both fur and lining is cleaned and this furrier's method of cleaning your coat positively will not harm the fur.

HAVE YOUR COAT POLARIZED AND SEE THE DIFFERENCE.

WOODLEY FURRIERS

273 FRONT STREET

Inspiring Address Heard by B. Y. P. U.

The Young People of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church commenced the season's activities Monday evening when the senior and intermediate organizations met at a combined opening banquet in the church parlors.

The spiritual note was stressed throughout and a very impressive graduating ceremony was conducted by the new president, Mr. W. Hales, when two young ladies, Miss Jean Fox and Miss Marjorie Hales were promoted from the intermediate to the senior B.Y.P.U. The young ladies had served well on the intermediate organization, stated Mr. Hales and much would be expected of them as they took their place in the senior group.

A challenging and inspiring address was given by Mr. J. Smith, student pastor at Sidney Baptist Church. A sincere and eloquent young man, Mr. Smith had a message that sank deep into the hearts of his listeners. Speaking on "The Days That Lie Ahead", Mr. Smith said that "The next few years might well be the most trying that young people have had to face in world history and on their shoulders rested the responsibility of building a better world.

"To succeed in this task," stated Mr. Smith, "we must follow the example of the master-builder, our Lord Jesus Christ. The pattern He left with us is the only means of bringing about the Kingdom of God on this earth."

Miss Katherine Hogle, who is leaving shortly to attend McMaster University, the Baptist seat of learning in Hamilton, was presented with a gift that expressed the good wishes of the B.Y.P.U. who though sorry to lose a valuable executive, were glad that she was going to that spendid school.

Miss Anna Hogle recited Pauline Johnstone's poem, "Canadian Born" and also sang two fine solos, "Whistle in the Thistle" and "Bells of St. Mary's." Miss Katherine Hogle accompanied at the piano. Rev. C. T. Olmstead gave the evening prayer and the benediction was pronounced by Mr. Smith.

Red Cross Notes

For the following donations of money and hospital supplies the Red Cross is most grateful.

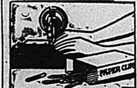
Bay of Quinte Country Club, Bethany Red Cross Auxiliary, Red Cross of Holloway, Mrs. M. Watter's Group, Mrs. F. MacCown, Wesley United Church Red Cross Unit, Foxboro United Church Red Cross Unit, Mrs. S. Lennox and others, Mrs. A. E. Randle and others, Mrs. Lloyd Watson—children's donation, Trent Road Players, Miss April Coats, Miss Caroline Rutherford and cast; Miss M. Wray, Church picnic; St. Andrew's Red Cross Auxiliary; Rawdon Red Cross Society; Herkimer School, Thurlow Township; Avondale Red Cross Auxiliary; St. Paul's Anglican Church W.A. Roslin, Deloro Red Cross workers, Wallbridge W.I. Red Cross Aux., Tabernacle Church Red Cross Group 3, Girl Guides (Miss Roberts' Company), Bridge St. Church Red Cross Unit, Bell Telephone Girls' Red Cross Aux., R. L. Elliott, Chicago, W. H. Finkle, Mrs. R. C. Boulter.

Donations of Knitted Supplies—Miss Corby, Jewish Women's Auxiliary, Miss Collier, Victoria Avenue Baptist Church, St. George's Guild. Wallbridge Women's Inst., Deloro Red Cross Workers, Holloway Red Cross Aux., Roslin Red Cross, Foxboro Red Cross.

The Belleville Branch of the Red Cross reports the following shipment of supplies to Toronto for the month of August.

Hospital Supplies:—72 pairs pyjamas, 24 Handkerchiefs, 13 chest protectors, 8 amputation socks, 24 pillow cases, 12 convalescent shirts.

Knitted Supplies—330 pairs socks, 42 scarves, 25 sweaters, 4 helmet caps, 6 pairs rifle mitts.



Use paper clips instead of pins when stitching a hem in heavy cloth. Clips hold the cloth firmly, and save the effort of trying to force pins through heavy fabrics.

WEDDINGS

McFAUL—WILLMAN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinds of Madoc Township on Thursday, September 12, when Thelma Jean Willman, daughter of Mrs. F. Hinds and the late Joe Willman, was united in marriage to Mr. Alex McFaul, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rob McFaul.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Jas. Willman. The Rev. R. J. Robertson of the Standard Church, Madoc, performed the ceremony at twelve noon in the midst of about thirty-five guests. The bride looked charming in a floor length baby blue embroidered organdie with a wreath of orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of gladioli and fern.

Miss June Walker of Bancroft, a cousin of the bride, acted as bridesmaid and was gowned in floor length pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of fall flowers.

Mr. Chas. McFaul, brother of the groom, acted as best man.

During the signing of the register Mrs. A. E. Walker of Bancroft, sang "I Love You Truly".

The home was tastefully decorated in pale blue and white. After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner, the tables being decorated with fall flowers with the bride's cake as centre.

The bride's mother was gowned in navy blue crepe and the groom's mother wore a figured crepe.

After a motor trip to points east, the bride and groom will reside at Havelock.

KERR—MARTIN

St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, was the scene of a quiet but lovely Autumn wedding on Monday, September sixteenth, at three o'clock, when Ruth Eleanor Martin, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Martin, Stirling, Ontario, became the bride of Mr. Hugh Archibald Kerr of Hamilton, Ontario, son of Mr. A. M. Kerr, Toronto. Rev. Alexander Marshall Laverty, B.A., B.D., of St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, officiated. Mr. G. L. Clute presided at the organ throughout the service playing wedding music from Lohengrin and Mendelssohn and during the signing of the register accompanied a full choir in the singing of "O Well is Thee and Happy Shalt Thou Be" with the solo portion being sung by Wm. Reynolds.

Settings of shell pink gladioli, baby breath and fern formed the foundation of the floral decorations as the bridal party took its place at the altar. The bride given in marriage by her father, was charming in a navy crepe wool jacket frock trimmed with silver fox and matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias. She was attended by Mrs. Cecil Baker of Stirling, wearing a grey wool jacket frock with hat and shoes of port wine shade and floral corsage of purple orchids. Mr. Thomas Kerr, Toronto, brother of the groom acted as groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Ivan H. Martin, brother of the bride, Stirling and Mr. George Wright, Hamilton, Ontario.

Directly after the ceremony a quiet reception was held at "The White House", Brighton, Ontario, to which relatives and close friends were invited. Here floral decorations of gladioli, asters, baby's breath and fern were centred about a handsome circular wedding cake placed before the bride at the table of honour. Guests were received by the mother of the bride, charmingly gowned in a frock of frost blue wool with gloves to match and wearing a brown hat and corsage of yellow orchids, assisted by Mrs. A. M. Kerr, who wore a gown of royal blue triple sheer crepe, black hat and orchids.

Out of town guests present included Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kerr, Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mr. Robert Kerr of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Vandervoort, Mrs. T. McLaren, all of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. George Wright and Miss Trixie Carpenter, of Hamilton, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Clancy, Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. R. I. Clancy, Toronto.

Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Kerr left on a wedding trip to Quebec and other eastern cities and upon their return will reside in Hamilton, Ontario. For travelling the bride selected a navy blue wool ensemble with accessories to match.

KEELER—ALYEA

On Monday, September 16th., the marriage took place at eleven-thirty in the morning of Audra Genevieve Alyea, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. Alyea, Carrying Place and Charles Alvin Keeler, Hamilton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Keeler of Grafton, Ont. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. Boomhour, on the lawn at the home of the bride's parents against a background of tall evergreens and gladioli.

The bride wore a becoming gown of Lovely Lady material in muted blue shade with corsage of gardenias.

The couple were unattended.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served to twenty guests. The bride's table was lovely with a handmade lace cloth.

Mr. and Mrs. Keeler left on a wedding trip to the Kawartha Lakes, the bride travelling in ashes of roses fine travel wool with navy accessories.

The bride and groom will take up residence at Hamilton, where Mr. Keeler will complete his course in theology at McMaster University.

"LADY BEATRICE"
Youthful
Large Head Sizes
$5.95

If you are one of the large group of women who wear a large headsize, and have found it difficult to get a hat we suggest you see our "Lady Beatrice" handmade models—fine fur felt with soft flattering trimmings of velvet. Black and soft Fall shades. A "Lady Beatrice" model will make you look years younger.

EXCLUSIVELY AT

WOODLEY'S

273 FRONT STREET

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Shall She Buy the Tickets?

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Will you please tell me if it is correct to pay for the tickets, when inviting a boy friend to a moonlight sail? This is a regular excursion and dance.

We've been told that it is incorrect to buy tickets for any affair except school proms and dances, when you do the asking. Please print the answer as soon as possible, as the dance takes place soon. We will go with another couple.

A Constant Reader

Unless the "sail" is intended for some charity or cause in which you are interested, it would be a little unusual for a girl to buy excursion tickets and invite a man. However, some young ladies have been known to buy the tickets first and then say casually: "I have a couple of tickets for a sail, would you care to go?"

Regain Health, Then Marry

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I've known a certain boy for five years and he wants me to marry him after I get my divorce. I have a baby girl two months old. He loves her dearly, and knows that I do not love him, although I am very fond of him.

I have been supported by my parents most of my married life, living at home, as I have not been able to work on account of poor health. I'm 18 years old.

Do you think I should marry this boy and let him make a good home for my baby and me. Everyone tells me to do it. I know I could never love another man, as I've had enough of love. This boy realizes what I've been through and said he thinks he can make me happy. Please answer me in the paper.

Pennie

You tell me that you are only 18 years old and not in very good health. Don't you think it would be more prudent if you wait a little while before you make a second marriage? It must be very gratifying to know this young man cares so much for you and your baby. At the same time, a second marriage would have a greater chance of being successful if your health were better and your baby of an age when she would not demand so much of your time.

Lost Interest

Dear Miss Fairfax:

We were such devoted friends for a long time, and all of a sudden he stopped coming. When we meet anywhere, he acts as if he doesn't know me any more, and passes me on the street with only the slightest nod. I have pondered over it, but can't think of a single thing I did or might have said to offend him. I don't drink, smoke or pet. Do you suppose that is the reason he's acting so distant? I don't care for any of these things.

Peg

Too great an interest in a young man is almost as fatal as being sarcastic or domineering. It's hard to earn enough money to maintain a home and wife nowadays, and a good many young men feel that it isn't fair to waste a girl's time as long as they will be unable to marry for years to come.

Judging from letters I receive from young men, a great many of them do not care for the drinking and petting kind, and they ask what has happened to all "the decent girls."

Undesirable Suitor

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My daughter is very much in love with a very undesirable young man. She is of legal age, and so she has the law on her side, but if she marries this man, if would mean great unhappiness for her and would only reflect on the entire family. I prefer not to go into details.

I am ready to do anything to break up this affair, and wonder if sending a girl away would help her to forget him, or is it true that absence makes the heart grow fonder? Is it wise to go to any length in this matter, as I am willing to borrow money to be able to send her on a long trip.

Father

It would depend entirely on where the girl went, and how much diversion she found. If you were to send her somewhere with nothing but a lovely landscape to look at all day, she'd probably find herself more in love than ever.

If, however, she would go to an interesting and amusing place where she will meet attractive people, dance, motor and have a thoroughly good time, perhaps the attraction of the "undesirable" is likely to diminish.

If you can arrange to send her where she'll make new acquaintances, it would be a good idea to persuade her to go. But please don't send her to a place where she'll have nothing to do but think of the absent one.

Can't Be Too Fussy With Beauty Props

By HELEN FOLLETT

ONE can't be too fussy or too fastidious about one's beauty props, all the little doodads that are used to make a woman presentable and a gladsome sight for the eyes. Bacteria lurk upon the surface of even the cleanest skin, waiting to get a wedge in. That's why soap and water should be used freely once or twice a day.

The skin on the body is in better condition than the cutaneous surface on the face because it is protected by clothing. The complexion, exposed to strong sunlight, cutting winds and atmospheric dust, requires careful attention if it is to keep its good coloring, have a satin smooth surface.

A soiled powder pad is a menace, grinding dust in the pores, producing blackheads in which germs and germesses burrow to create pustules. Soiled washcloths are abominations; there should be a clean one every day. Strong soaps raise the dickens with sensitive skins. Powder should be kept in a closed box, fluffed on lightly.

"The complexion, exposed to strong sunlight, cutting winds and atmospheric dust, requires careful attention."

Combs and brushes must be washed once a week. Tooth brushes should be put away in the bathroom cabinet to be kept free of dust. A heavy bath brush should be an item in every girl's beauty equipment so the scouring of the body will be thoroughly done.

Watch your step. Step lightly. Move as if you felt gay and radiant. How we feel depends to a great extent upon how we act and how we look.

Surprising how many different ways women have of getting where they are going. Some toddle, some take long, manly strides, some hip swing, some waddle, some prance. Perhaps these girls don't know that to locomote beautifully one should carry the body tall, keep the chest lifted, step with a spring, let the arms fall easily and naturally, point toes straight ahead.

There's not enough interest in physical education. Too bad. A well formed body that moved gracefully is as valuable a beauty asset as an attractive face.

"MIDDLE-AGE" WOMEN [38-52 yrs. old]

HEED THIS ADVICE! Are you getting moody, cranky and NERVOUS? Do you fear hot flashes, weakening dizzy spells? THEN LISTEN:

These symptoms often result from female functional disorders. So start today and take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For over 60 years Pinkham's Compound has helped thousands of grateful women during difficult days. Pinkham's has helped calm unstrung nerves and lessen distress due to annoying female functional "irregularities."

Made in Canada. WORTH TRYING! Any drugstore.

Money Values Self-Taught In Childhood

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

EDUCATION OF THE child in the care and use of money is strictly a home problem. This problem can't be avoided. It comes as the child grows.

Begin when the tot has a cent or nickel to spend. Give him the cent or nickel at regular intervals, say on a certain day each week. So far as reasonably possible let him use this money as he likes. If you succeed in prevailing on the child to save the nickel of this week till he gets the nickel of next week in order to buy some cherished thing costing a dime he has made remarkable progress. He has learned to give up something now for a greater pleasure later—a basic trait of character.

If this child should be able to keep the nickel to the third week his victory would still be more glorious. Also he would have demonstrated that he could be entrusted safely each week with more than a nickel.

Building Responsibility

Very, very gradually extend the amount he regularly will receive each week to include a few necessities. But be sure not to extend this responsibility too fast. As soon as necessities like school supplies, car fare, Sunday School money, and the like are covered in the allowance let a certain amount, say nickel or dime, also be included which he can spend practically as he pleases. Some suggestions about its use might be wise, but coercion, except where he spends for positively harmful things, would be bad.

At the age of six, seven, eight, nine or later, depending on how far he has cultivated responsibility, have him keep careful account of his necessary expenditures at school and elsewhere.

From the record of his necessary expenditures for a week he and his parents should make up a definite budget itemizing each group of necessities. Then this total amount plus the small definite "free" item should make up his regular weekly allowance to be received on a regular day. If some unexpected legitimate need should rise during this or later weeks not accounted for in the budget his parents would supply it, of course. The child should know that he may be free to discuss the allowance with his parents at any time and that they would willingly revise it upward as the need of doing so becomes obvious.

As the child begins this extensive plan of allowance he should, on receiving it, place the necessary amounts in separate envelopes labelled "car fare," "lunch," and so on.

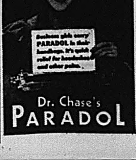
The Stars Say

For Wednesday, September 18

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

EXCELLENT progress and gratification in any number of vocations or avocations may be found among this day's planetary prospects. It will be a very lively and ambitious day, with hard work, application and good judgment brought to bear on a variety of objects—business, artistic, musical or literary, while many creative talents are under fine impetus. The social, domestic and sentimental satisfactions are also quickened; but be not carried away by impetuosity or moved by petty bickerings. Create, be original.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent promise for using a variety of talents in a highly creative and gratifying manner. In art, music, literature, in spiritual aspiration or more sordid inventive ambition, there is much planetary promise for development. The emotions and sentiments play their part in unfolding talents and in bringing pleasure. Business also thrives, but in all directions be not subject to impetuosity or strife.



Business girls carry PARADOL in their handbags. It's quick relief for headaches and other pains.

Dr. Chase's PARADOL

Lovely Brenda Marshall is the romantic interest in "The Sea Hawk," romantic adventure story featuring Errol Flynn, now on the Belle screen.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

CONSTIPATION IN CHILDREN

A good many letters come in, asking me what we do for the Dionne Quintuplets when they are constipated. In my replies I always emphasize that what we are doing for the Quintuplets mightn't be the best treatment for some other children. I suggest that the child be taken to a doctor who can prescribe a corrective diet for the child if it needs one.

I am always suspicious of reported cases of constipation and remedies suggested for it. In the majority of cases, I believe the constipation is imagined and the remedies for the supposed condition do more harm than good.

When you take your child to your physician, part of his diagnosis will be an examination of the kind of movement that is passed. We always used to keep a close watch on the bowel movements of the Quins. This helped us regulate their diets so we haven't had any trouble with constipation since.

We found that fruit juices and cooked fruits are valuable in keeping bowels healthy and working properly. If the child's bowels show a tendency to tighten up a bit, then give a little more fruit juice.

Another food we found beneficial for the bowels was apple sauce. When the children were very young, we were afraid to give apple sauce as there was some danger that it might cause irritation to the tender intestines. After they were a few months old, we gave it to them regularly. Coarse cereals such as rolled oats also aided in keeping the bowels normal.

But I know from long experience that even more important than diet is the institution of regular habits. If you can succeed as well with your child as we have with the Quints in establishing these habits, your fears of constipation won't have any foundation. It is important to start this training at a very early age, for by the time the child is four or five months old, he can and should be having bowel movements at regular times of the day.

In starting the training of an infant, place it on a small vessel at regular intervals after its morning and afternoon meals. Its back should rest against the mother or nurse, for support. It may be necessary to begin the habit by introducing a small piece of soap, the size of the tip of a lead pencil, into the bowel after moistening it with water. After a few weeks, in most cases, the baby will have a movement as soon as it is placed on the vessel.

At times, bowel movements can be encouraged by massage. This is done by rubbing the hand over the abdomen in the region of the large bowel, from bottom to top on the right side, then across and down the left side.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Wait for Cue from Bereaved Before Expressing Condolences

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What do you say when you wish to express your sympathy to someone who has had a death in the family? 2. If you wish to go to the home to view the body of the deceased, is it proper to walk into the house without ringing the doorbell? That is, if there is no one at the door to attend to visitors?

R.

1. If you meet the bereaved friend on the street or in any other public place, it is kinder not to mention the friend's loss or sorrow unless the friend mentions it first and thereby gives you the privilege of mentioning it. In our greeting and in our warm-hearted handshake, we can express our sympathy and understanding. Then if the friend mentions the loss, we can say, "You have been so much in my thoughts Mary dear, and you have my deepest sympathy."

The point is that we should give the privilege of first mentioning the loss to the person most concerned. We must remember that to some it is agony to mention a loss or sorrow so near the heart, while others find relief in their friends' words of understanding and sympathy.

If, by your question you mean what should we say when we go to see a friend, much of what I have said above applies also to this visit to the home. Again a warm-hearted handshake and an understanding manner as we say, "Please know Mary, dear, what deep sympathy I have for you. I do wish that there were something that you would let me do for you. Is there?" The friend's reply gives you the cue as to whether she wishes to talk with you about the loss, or prefers to speak of it as little as possible.

2. We should not, especially under these circumstances, walk into the house of mourning without ringing the bell or without knocking on the door. If the bell has been silenced. Unless, of course, you have been told that you may do so, or unless there is a sign over the bell giving this permission.

The Divorcee's Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Is it proper for a divorcee to have a formal announcement of her engagement? She has a child about three years of age.

S.

The engagement of a divorcee should be announced as quietly as possible. That is, she and her fiance tell the news to their relatives and close friends and write notes to those who live too far away to be told by word of mouth.

It's HIS MOVE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I met a very nice young man at a summer resort during the past week-end. When he was leaving he said that he would get in touch with me in the city. Would it be improper for me to send him a greeting card before I hear from him?

H.

I suggest that you wait for this young man to make the first move to continue this friendship. It's better for you not to appear anxious.

An Invitation to Reception

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

Some time ago a friend of mine received a wedding invitation but cannot remember the exact wording. She does remember, however, that in the lower left corner of the invitation was the address of the girl's parents, with the words: "Reception directly after the ceremony at (address)". Was it proper for her to go just to the church ceremony or also to go to the girl's home for the reception?

S.

The words in the lower left corner of the invitation and the address meant an invitation to the reception at the home of the bride's parents and it was proper for your friend to go to the reception as well as to the church ceremony.

Stirling and District

Oldest Church in Sidney Twp. Celebrates 111th Anniversary

Special Services Held on Sunday to Honor the Event

TWO FINE ANTHEMS

Stirling, Sept. 17 (Special)—Recognized by many people as the oldest church in Sidney Township, Sidney Baptist Church marked the 111th anniversary of its founding on Sunday, Sept. 15th. Mr. G. B. Smith of McMaster University, Hamilton, Ontario, who during the summer has been in charge of the work as student supply minister, conducted the two special services. The church was well filled and many excellent comments were passed on the manner in which the service was conducted. The church was decorated with flowers of every kind. A full choir led in inspirational hymn singing and also rendered two fine anthems with solo and duet work taken by Miss A. Horton and Mr. Frederick. Other music included a vocal duet by Mr. Smith and Arthur Duncan with the latter also offering solos at both morning and evening worship.

At both services Mr. Smith delivered stirring messages basing his thoughts on the subject "The Church Today." "Past history regardless of scope can be of little value without a patriotic urge for future achievement," he declared, as he urged all church members of every creed and denomination to be "steadfast unmovable" in these difficult days."

Only One Older in Baptist Association

According to church leaders there is only one church in the entire Baptist Association older than Sidney Baptist Church. Established on its present site, high on the famous Oak Hills, in the year 1829, its first membership roll numbered eighteen, seven men and eleven women. Names of the original members included Wright, Faulkner, Sine, Sarles, Guffin and Turner. The first pastor was Rev. Isaac Reid and the early ministers stipend was about $250.00 a year with some provisions.

Facts disclosed in the historic records of the church reveal startling information. In one portion it records the appointment of a J. W. Turner as caretaker, whose duty it should be keep the church clean, look after all repairs, build fires and provide all fuel and the coal oil. All this for a yearly salary of five dollars.

The first building was a frame structure and the present building of red brick construction is believed to be about sixty-five years old. A small but energetic group of people form the present congregation and for the efforts in any enterprise for the furtherance of the work of the church has become famous throughout the district. Miss Dorothy Reid, present organist presided at the organ throughout the special services and the work of the minister, Mr. G. P. Smith throughout the past summer has done much to revive interest in the church's activity especially among the younger members.

Impressive Harvest Festival Services

On Sunday September 15th. St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, and the sister parish of Trinity Anglican Church, Frankford, combined their efforts to make the annual harvest festival services most interesting and helpful to the large congregations that worshipped in both churches. The combined choirs, making a total of thirty-six voices, led in the congregational singing and offered special choral numbers during the Offertory. Flowers aristically arranged beautified both churches. At Stirling a memorial floral decoration was placed in the church by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright as a tribute to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bateman.

The impressive services were conducted by the Rector, Rev. C. L. Harding, who selected as his text the 14th verse of the 65th Psalm. "In the time of harvest all nature gives evidence of God's goodness. Grains of the fields, fruit of the tree and vine all these are of His great creative power," and at harvest the glow of ripening color seems to offer forth a prayer of thanksgiving. Humanity would do well to remember that men also are the product of God's great work." There should flow from the sons of men a continual song of praise and thanksgiving, declared Mr. Harding in his fine message.

Their Home Destroyed

Notice the querulous expression on the face of this youngster as his mother carries him across the road after their house was damaged by bombs. An air-raid warden assists them. The child seems to be saying to himself: "What's going on around here."

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Binning of Waterloo and Miss Hilda White of Frankville, Ont., are spending a few days visiting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. L. Harding.

Mr. Arthur Duncan, Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. A. Cranston and Mrs. Faulkner of Belleville were Sunday guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Reid, Halloway and attended the Anniversary Services at Sidney Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fick, Leonia, N.J., are spending a few days visiting at the home of Mrs. Fick's mother, Mrs. Wm. Drewry.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Clarke of Peterboro spent a few days last week visiting the home of the former's mother.

Sergt. E. Dainard has returned to his duties at Camp Borden after enjoying a week's leave of absence with his family in Stirling.

Stirling's contingent in the Non-Permanent Militia returned home Sunday after fourteen days' training in camp at Petawawa, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. V. Campbell of Toronto were recent guests at the home of Mrs. Campbell's mother, Mrs. Jennie Donohue.

Mrs. Wm. Drewry Honoured by Family on 80th Birthday

On Sunday September 15th Mrs. Wm. Drewry well-known Stirling resident was the recipient of many cards, messages of greetings, gifts and personal expressions of goodwill from friends and neighbors. The day was her birthday and she had reached her eightieth year. Mr. Fred Eigie (her son-in-law) also shared birthday honors with her. Adding interest to the pleasant and eventful day at which several of her sons and daughters travelled from distant points to attend was the christening of her granddaughter, Audrey Mae, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Eigie. The christening services were conducted by Rev. A. M. Laverty of St. Paul's United Church. Luncheon was served at the conclusion of the impressive ceremony. A message of good wishes and congratulations was received by Mrs. Drewry during the day from her youngest son Gordon who was unable to be present.

Still enjoying good health Mrs. Drewry is one of the village's most popular citizens and deeply expressed her gratitude to the many friends who so kindly remembered the occasion, for the many messages and flowers and gifts received during the day.

Among those present were Mrs. G. T. Garney of Buryea, Sask., Mr. and Mrs. Wm Fick, Leonia N.J. Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Drewry and Lorraine, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Drewry and Carmen of Stoney Creek, Ont., Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Drewry and Donald, Mr. and Mrs. D. Rodgers, Rawdon, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Elliott and Mrs. Preston of Stirling.

Showers For Stirling Bridal Couples

Leading Events of the Week

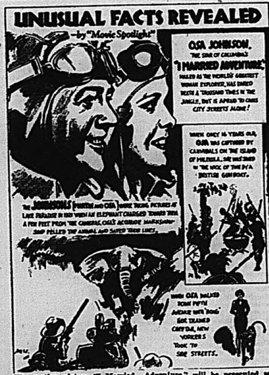
Previous to the Kerr-Martin nuptials, which took place on Monday, Sept. 16th. at St. Paul's United Church, Stirling, Miss Martin was honoured at several social functions given by close friends of the district. Two outstanding events in this respect that will always remain a pleasant memory to the honoured guest are the lovely "pantry shelf shower" given by a group of her most intimate friends, when Mrs. Cecil Baker entertained in her honour last week. The afternoon was one of unusual interest to all those present and the bride elect was presented with a large array of lovely gifts, that included every delicacy desired in such a shower. The bride elect expressed her deep appreciation to her many friends and also to the hostess. A dainty luncheon was served at the climax of the happy event.

Also in the same week Miss Jean McNabb and Miss Harriett Smythe entertained in her honour at "The Log Cabin," beautiful summer home of Mrs. E. M. McNabb at Oak Lake. Here also were gathered friends of Miss Martin from school and childhood. Every detail of happy occasion was carefully planned by those directly responsible and a shower of miscellaneous character included many useful and lovely gifts for which Miss Martin suitably expressed her gratitude. Luncheon was served in the late afternoon that was both dainty and delicious and climaxed a social event thoroughly enjoyed by all. Further gifts were received at the Martin home from relatives and friends in all parts of the province including silverware, glass and crystalware, linen and many other gifts, that will be among her most prized possession in the days to come.

St. John's Church Honours Bridal Couples

On Monday evening a large number of members of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling, gathered in the Memorial Hall for a social evening at which three recently married bridal couples of the church were honoured. The first part of the evening was spent at playing euchre and bridge. At the conclusion of play the gathering was called to order by Rev. C. L. Harding, Rector and the purpose of its being made known. The gifts presented to each of the couples were handsome silver combination plates each bearing an engraved card of greeting and good wishes from the members of St. John's Anglican Church, Stirling. The guests of honour included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong (nee Elsie Ashby), Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Mitchell (nee Neta Cranston), Mr and Mrs. Bruce Bell (nee Edna Stillman).

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, the Stirling branch of the Ontario Women's Institute also honoured the first two ladies mentioned at the new home of Mrs. Gilbert Mitchell. A novel means of expressing the good wishes of all present was given expression in briefly prepared readings from each member of the organization. Mrs. Henry Cooke, President was in charge of the program and an address was read as the ladies were presented with electric irons.



UNUSUAL FACTS REVEALED
—by "Movie Spotlight"
OSA JOHNSON, THE STAR OF COLUMBIA'S "I MARRIED ADVENTURE," HAILED AS THE WORLD'S GREATEST WOMAN EXPLORER, HAS DARED DEATH A THOUSAND TIMES IN THE JUNGLE, BUT IS AFRAID TO CROSS CITY STREETS ALONE!
WHEN ONLY 16 YEARS OLD, OSA WAS CAPTURED BY CANNIBALS ON THE ISLAND OF MALEKULA. SHE WAS SAVED IN THE NICK OF TIME BY A BRITISH GUNBOAT.
THE JOHNSONS (MARTIN AND OSA) WERE TAKING PICTURES AT LAKE PARADISE IN 1921 WHEN AN ELEPHANT CHARGED TOWARD THEM. A FEW FEET FROM THE CAMERAS, OSA'S ACCURATE MARKSMANSHIP FELLED THE ANIMAL AND SAVED THEIR LIVES.
WHEN OSA WALKED DOWN FIFTH AVENUE WITH 'BONG' HER TRAINED CHEETAH, NEW YORKERS TOOK TO SIDE STREETS.

The motion picture "I Married Adventure," will be presented soon at the McCarthy Theatre.

54,547 Tons British, Allied and Neutral Shipping Destroyed In Week September 9

—London, Sept. 17—(CP)—The Admiralty reported today that 54,547 tons of British, allied and neutral merchant shipping were destroyed by Germany in the week ending Sept. 9. This figure is slightly above the average—53,900 a week— for the previous 52 weeks of the war.

The Admiralty said that "the Germans claimed to have sunk a total of 188,500 tons" during this same period.

It said losses consisted of 16 British ships totalling 28,800 tons; four "Allied" ships totalling 18,499 tons and two neutral ships totalling 7,948 tons.

British losses listed do not include any tonnage which may have been sunk by air attacks Sept. 7, 8 and 9, it was stated, because the full details of such attacks are not yet available.

Allan's Mills

Allan's Mills — The home of Mr. and Mrs. Morley Barlow was the scene of a pleasant event on Monday evening when over a hundred friends and neighbors met and tendered the newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. W. McFaul (nee Phyllis Barlow) a miscellaneous shower. Canon W. G. Swayne acted as chairman. A program of community singing, solos by Mr. J. F. Baker, Miss Walt, and Mr. Doug Barnum, was enjoyed. Miss Iva Brown read the address to which the bride and groom graciously replied.

The bride and groom received many beautiful and costly presents which show the high esteem in which they are held. After a dainty lunch was served the happy couple were tendered a rousing charivari.

Miss Megan Kew is convalescing at the home of Mrs. D. Wellman.

Miss Margaret Barlow left for Montreal after attending the McFaul—Barlow wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Rutherford attended Norwood Fair.

Mrs. Fred McKeown and Mrs. J. S. McKeown attended the quilting at the home of Mrs. W. V. Allan on Wednesday morning.

Several from here attended Marmora Fair. Mr. Roy Brown received several prizes on cheese exhibited.

Mrs. J. S. McKeown, Mrs. Oddie and Mrs. Barnum and Mrs. A. Watson visited Mrs. W. J. Barlow on Wednesday.

Mr. Ralph Wellman and Misses Betty and Megan Kew motored to Toronto for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McKeown and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. McKeown spent Thursday in Peterboro.

Mrs. A. H. Reid visited Mrs. A. Burkitt.

Mrs. W. S. Stiles is visiting Mrs. Elmer Cotton of Harold.

Madoc Junction

Madoc Junction—Mr. and Mrs. H. Kelly and baby of Warkworth, were week-end guests at Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow's.

Quite a number from this community attended the C.N.E. in Toronto.

Miss Anna Sharpe of Rawdon, spent Sunday with Miss Marion McMullen.

Mrs. Pidgeon and Misses Pearla and Dorothy Pidgeon of Stirling, spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Eggleton.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Waterfall visited friends at West Huntingdon on Sunday.

Mr. Woodward's sister and little daughter of Lindsay, are spending this week with Mr. and Mrs. Ross Woodward.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Stapley have moved into their new home.

Mrs. Fred Haight of Belleville, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. Raymond Chambers.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Harlow entertained friends from Peterboro on Sunday.

Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A.

On Thursday evening, September 12th., the regular meeting of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley. After the opening hymn, Mr. Kenneth Stewart led in prayer. The Scripture lesson, 13th. chapter of 1st. Corinthians, was read responsively with Mrs. Russell Stapley as leader. The roll call was answered by seven members and five visitors. A number paid dues to the Flower Fund secretary, Mrs. Sam Danford.

A special collection was also taken to purchase flannelette for the Missionary bale. A poem, "Faith" was read by Mrs. Kenneth Stapley. A solo was sung by Miss Marion McMullen, "Our Father Planned it All." Mrs. W. Harlow gave a reading, "The Great Physician" and Mrs. Bruce Stapley read a poem, "The Country Church."

Mr. Kenneth Stewart gave an interesting address which was very much appreciated. Meeting closed with Mizpah benediction.

The hostess then served dainty refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Eggleton Mission Band

The September meeting of the Eggleton Mission Band was held on Friday evening, September 13th. at the home of Mrs. R. Woodward.

Meeting opened with the theme song, "Everybody Ought to Love Jesus," and prayer by Mrs. Woodward. Minutes and Roll Call were given by Marcella Stapley. Collection 47c. Mrs. Woodward gave a reading, "Inez Goes to School", and Mrs. C. Bridges read the story on the Mission Band page. The remainder of the program was impromptu with several children taking part in songs or recitations.

The meeting closed with all repeating the Mizpah Benediction. The hostess then served cocoa and cake.

On Sunday morning, Sept. 15th., the Rally Day Service was observed by the Eggleton Sunday School. The service of worship was conducted by the superintendent, Mr. Oliver Stapley, and the Scripture lesson was read responsively, with Assistant Superintendent Mr. John Cooke, as leader. Special hymns were sung, one by the Intermediate girls and boys' classes, "Victory with Christ Our Lord" and another by the primary class, "Working for Jesus."

A reading, "Serving Jesus With Gladness" was given by Mrs. C. Fitchett. Mr. C. H. David of Stirling, was guest speaker and he gave a splendid address on church work and also brought a number of encouraging thoughts for Sunday school workers. Mrs. Raymond Chambers in a few well chosen words, voiced the appreciation and thanks of the Sunday School for Mr. David's assistance on the program. Master Grant Stapley and Master John Walton took up the offering and after the dedication, the secretary, Miss Marion McMullen, called the roll. Mr. Stapley closed the service with prayer.

EASIER WASHDAYS!

SUNLIGHT

"It's all PURE Soap"

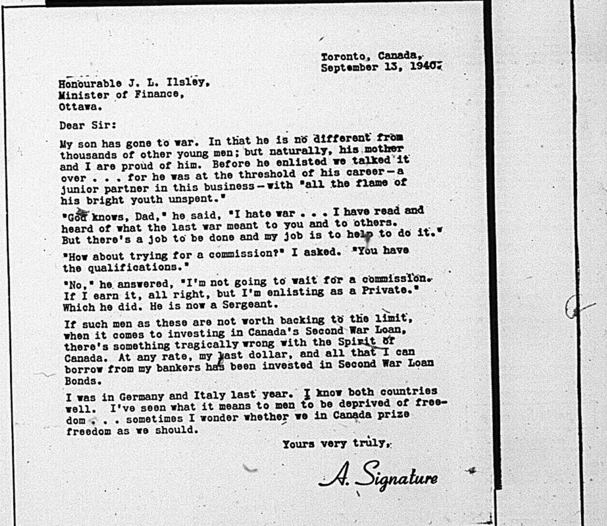
HOW TO GET ORIGINAL ROGERS SILVERPLATE AT LESS THAN ½ USUAL PRICE!

Send 5 Sunlight Soap carton ends printed with the star and 60¢ to Sunlight, Dept. C-1-12, Hamilton, Ont., for 6 Original Rogers teaspoons in charming "Allure" pattern. Also how to get matching knives, forks, etc.

FULL 6¼ SIZE

The following letter was received by the Minister of Finance. Permission to publish it has been granted providing the writer's name be withheld.

"My son has gone to war..."



Toronto, Canada,
September 13, 1940.

Honourable J. L. Ilsley,
Minister of Finance,
Ottawa.

Dear Sir:

My son has gone to war. In that he is no different from thousands of other young men; but naturally, his mother and I are proud of him. Before he enlisted we talked it over . . . for he was at the threshold of his career—a junior partner in this business—with "all the flame of his bright youth unspent."

"God knows, Dad," he said, "I hate war . . . I have read and heard of what the last war meant to you and to others. But there's a job to be done and my job is to help to do it."

"How about trying for a commission?" I asked. "You have the qualifications."

"No," he answered, "I'm not going to wait for a commission. If I earn it, all right, but I'm enlisting as a Private." Which he did. He is now a Sergeant.

If such men as these are not worth backing to the limit, when it comes to investing in Canada's Second War Loan, there's something tragically wrong with the Spirit of Canada. At any rate, my last dollar, and all that I can borrow from my bankers has been invested in Second War Loan Bonds.

I was in Germany and Italy last year. I know both countries well. I've seen what it means to men to be deprived of freedom . . . sometimes I wonder whether we in Canada prize freedom as we should.

Yours very truly,

A. Signature

What else need be said to those who are able—and who should—but who have not yet done their duty and bought Canada's Second War Loan Bonds?

Detroit Tigers Gain Half-game By Defeating Senators While Cleveland Divides Twin Bill

Pennant Not Likely to be Decided Until Last Game of Season

YANKEES CRACK

Detroit and Cleveland Open Three-Game Series on Friday

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The scrambled American League pennant struggle may go to the last day of the season before it's settled so today's best advice for bewildered baseball fans is to save their shouting until the shooting is over.

Cleveland divided a doubleheader with Philadelphia Athletics yesterday, winning the first 8-3 and losing the second 3-2. This was good enough to hold the lead, but Detroit Tigers gnawed the margin down to half-a-game by routing Washington Senators 9-2.

Cleveland and Detroit still have six games to play against each other. They will meet in one three-game series starting Friday and another on the last three days of the season.

They might easily stand each other off and let some pursuer sneak in and in any event there is little chance of any club clinching the pennant until their final series.

N. Y. Yankees Crack

The only club that has cracked so far is New York Yankees, who were shattered 16-4 by St. Louis Browns yesterday. This was the sixth loss in seven games for the champs and the largest score against them this year. Rookie Johnny Lucadello hit two home runs and a single with the bases loaded and three other Brownies hit homers.

Chicago White Sox's 6-2 defeat by Boston was their first loss in nine games and could be charged jointly to the five-hit pitching of Jack Wilson and the five errors made by Chicago.

Cleveland continued to look like champions in its first game with the A's, scoring seven runs in the third inning. Mel Harder set down the first 20 men in order and coasted home on six hits. But in the nightcap Johnny Babich stopped the Tribe with the same number.

Cincinnati Nearly In

Cincinnati Reds almost sewed the final stitches in another National League pennant by beating Brooklyn 4-3 in 10 innings to drop the Dodgers 10 games behind the pace. After tying the score in the ninth the Reds loaded the bases in the 10th and scored on a long fly.

The game ended in a near riot as a fan attacked Umpire George Magerkurth for reversing another umpire's decision in the 10th and giving Cincinnati its chance at victory.

Pittsburgh Pirates whipped New York Giants 7-6 in a home run battle, getting three circuit blows to two that Mel Ott hit for the terrible Terrymen, who ran their losing streak to eight games.

St. Louis Cardinals preserved a slim hold on third place by dividing two games with the Phillies 5-2 and 7-1.

Amsterdam Rugmakers Annex Championship

Gloversville, N.Y., Sept. 17—(CP)—Amsterdam Rugmakers annexed the Canadian-American League championship here Monday, setting back Gloversville Glovers 6-1 in the deciding game of a best-of-five series.

The largest crowd ever to watch a Canadian-American League game, 4,247 fans, watched the Rugmakers take the series three games to two.

Amsterdam 031 101 000—6 10 0
Gloversville 000 000 100—1 1 2

Shea and Diehl; Reynolds, Wace and Dick.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz)
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

New York, Sept. 17—(AP)—Dick Chapman, the National Amateur winner, tossed his caddie a $200 tip . . . Auburn and Alabama Universities do not meet at football because of an ancient feud, but that doesn't keep Coaches Jack Meagher and Frank Thomas from going scouting together . . .Nomination for a red hot baseball town: Johnstown, Pa., which drew 78,000 customers in 55 home games in winning the Penn State Association bunting. Any time a team draws more than the population of its home town, that's something . . . The Brooklyn papers are gleefully asking if the Giants are still in the League. No answer yet.

It seems to us that Melvin Ott,
Who slammed two balls outside the lot,
Was very, very, very hot
For one the experts said was shot.

Names-is-Names.

You spell that Catholic U. halfback's name Saint'Ambrogio . . . Not even the kid can explain that apostrophe (which has been there all his life) unless some ancient printer decided he needed a breathing spell. . . . Anyway, it's time Brother Mike O'Bradovich, the Minnesota halfback, was heard from . . . .What's that "O' " doing out there in front, Butch?

SPRAGUE, HERMAN OUT TO PRACTICE WITH OTTAWA

Brilliant Wingmen Come Out of Retirement to Help Club Officials

RIDERS ARE STRONG

Herman is Great Place-Kicker, While Sprague Looks After Plunging Duties

By ANDRE CARISSE
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Ottawa, Sept. 17 (CP)—As far as is known, Jimmy McCaffrey and Ross Trimble have never attempted to sell anyone Brooklyn Bridge but Dave Sprague and Charles B. Herman probably would be ready to bet the Ottawa Football Club officials could do it if they wished.

"The old man of the big four" as Herman calls himself, has been talked out of retirement once more—its the third time in three years—and "Galloping Dave" also has been persuaded to return and bolster the big four champions for the sake of "good old Ottawa."

Both were out at Rough Riders' practice last night and the subtle Trimble and persuasive McCaffrey could take a bow for bringing those two stalwarts back into the fold.

It was evident that the formidable Ottawa wing line of the past would be weakened this season, perhaps beyond repair, by the loss of the big fellows, coupled with the retirement of Colin Ross and George Sprague, both middles.

So Trimble as coach, and McCaffrey as manager and vice-president got together, decided they couldn't do without the placement-kicking Herman and line-smasher Sprague.

Forgotten Man

A blocking lineman who never carries the ball usually is the forgotten man of football but not so Herman, whose big toe is one of the team's good scoring weapons. He probably is the most consistent placement kicker in the country.

At 34, Tiny feels he should have retired for good three years ago when Trimble and McCaffrey for the first time talked him right back into his football togs. In 1936 Tiny accounted for 14 points to rank fifth in the Big Four.

He led the league the following season with 23 points and in 1938 was fifth with 20 points. Most of his scoring was done with his uncanny ability at putting the ball through the uprights.

Sprague, who now represents Elmdale Ward as alderman in Ottawa City Council, was definitely out until a week ago. He spent the last week reconsidering. Trimble and McCaffrey convinced him, it seems.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

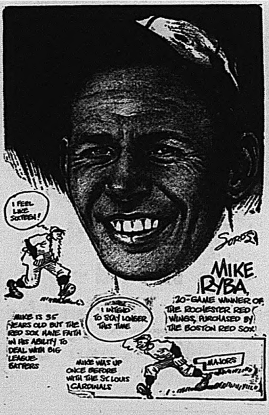
Buck Newsom, Tigers—Scored 19th victory of year with five-hit pitching against Senators.

Johnny Lucadello, Browns—Hit two home runs and singled with bases loaded to lead assault on Yankees.

Jack Wilson, Red Sox—Halted White Sox's victory parade with five-hit hurling.

Ray Mack, Indians—Hit homer with bases loaded against Athletics.

Mike McCormick, Reds—Singled two runs home in third inning and doubled to set up winning rally against Dodgers in 10th.



I FEEL LIKE SIXTEEN!
SOROS
MIKE RYBA,
20-GAME WINNER OF THE ROCHESTER RED WINGS, PURCHASED BY THE BOSTON RED SOX!
I INTEND TO STAY LONGER THIS TIME
MIKE IS 35 YEARS OLD BUT THE RED SOX HAVE FAITH IN HIS ABILITY TO DEAL WITH BIG LEAGUE BATTERS
MIKE WAS UP ONCE BEFORE WITH THE ST. LOUIS CARDINALS MAJORS

Radically Improved
VALET AutoStrop RAZOR
Saves You Money on Quicker, Easier Shaves
1 Streamline Runner Guard: smooths and tightens skin—whisks away stubble with ease!
2 Unequalled Economy: Five seconds stropping renews blade for quick, slick shaves.
3 No Smart or Burn: Self-sharpening Valet Razor brings you new blade comfort—daily.
79¢
THE RAZOR THAT SHARPENS ITSELF
NEW STREAMLINE RUNNER-GUARD!
EASY-OPENING BLADE CLIP!
FIVE SECONDS' STROPPING GIVES "NEW BLADE" COMFORT AND SAVES YOU PLENTY ON BLADES

Boyce Jones, all-Dixie conference star of the Mississippi college, turned out for scrimmage practise in this outfit. Hey! You forgot your war club, my lad!

League Leaders

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Batting — Lombardi, Cincinnati, .319.

Runs—Werber, Cincinnati, and Mize, St. Louis, 102.

Runs batted in—Mize, St. Louis, 121.

Hits—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 175.

Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 41.

Triples—Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.

Home Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 41.

Stolen bases—Moore, St. Louis, and Frey, Cincinnati, 17.

Pitching—Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 15-2.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Batting—DiMaggio, New York, .349.

Runs—Williams, Boston, 121.

Runs batted in—Greenberg, Detroit, 133.

Hits—Cramer, Boston, 190.

Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 48.

Triples—McCosky, Detroit, 19.

Home Runs—Greenberg, Detroit, and Foxx, Boston, 35.

Stolen Bases—Case, Washington, 29.

Pitching—Newsom, Detroit, 19-4.

'SPEEDY' MASON EASILY DEFEATED BY GEO. PAVISH

Referee Faux Calls Off Bout After Mason Suffers Severe Cut in Lip

LARGE ATTENDANCE

Tom George Wrestles to Draw in Semi-Final With Valdez Winning Preliminary

George Pavish, the villainous wrestler who first saw the light of day in sunny Greece, remained undefeated in local wrestling circles when he employed some rather unorthodox practices in order to defeat "Speedy" Mason, the former Yankee professional football player in the Hume Arena ring last night.

Not satisfied with having whacked Mason for an initial fall in the first round, Pavish returned to the ring to literally beat Mason into submission and force Referee Cliff Faux to abandon further hostilities as he stopped the fight to save Mason from further harm, as the latter was bleeding profusely from the mouth and nose as the direct result of a pugnacious attack at the hands of the rough-house Pavish.

After having pinned Mason with a press, following a merry-go-round swing, in exactly 15 minutes following their entrance into the ring for the main attraction, Pavish strutted out of the squared circle one up and two to go. In the ensuing melee, Mason retaliated in the early stages, but the more powerful Pavish reverted to unorthodox practices and clipped Mason a dandy on the side of the face with his elbow. It was as good an exhibition of "elbowing" as one could wish for and the blood spurted freely from Mason's mouth and nose as the result.

Covered With Blood

Floundering about the centre of the ring covered with blood and perspiration Mason was an easy target for the wily Pavish, but Referee Faux was for having no further murderous attacks and called off hostilities declaring Pavish the winner as Mason was bleeding quite freely and helpless. It was disclosed later in the dressing room, that when hit by Pavish's elbow, Mason's upper lip had been badly cut necessitating several stitches to close the wound. Otherwise it was quiet and serene at the Hume Arena last night, but for a few moments following the main scrap the irritated patrons swarmed the ring and dressing room threatening Pavish with the possible loss of life or limb, but no outward attacks resulted and Pavish sauntered out of the rink once more a winner.

In the semi-final bout Tom George, another son of sunny Greece, grappled 45 minutes to a draw with Dick Bishop, former British Empire amateur champion wrestler. Growling, not unlike a disgruntled politician and making faces that all but uprooted the ring posts, the pudgy Greek withstood an onslaught at the hands of Bishop, who was the aggressor and the peoples' choice for a possible third term in a Belleville ring, as Referee Faux declared hostilities all even following 45 minutes of action.

In the preliminary scrap the peoples' choice of the night, Pedro Valdez, the lithe Mexican smoothie, won over Sam Karikostra, still another Greek and no restaurant in sight, with the employment of a flying body scissors. Valdez was the aggressor and well deserved a popular win. Professional wrestling will resume at the Hume Arena next Monday night.

Junior Lacrosse Team Arrives in Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Sept. 17—(CP)— A picked team of 14 Ontario junior lacrosse players arrived here today for the opener of their two-game series with an all-star Winnipeg team in the semi-finals of the Dominion junior lacrosse championship.

The first game is billed for the Olympic rink tonight and the second for Thursday night. Total goals will decide the team to advance against an unnamed west coast team for the title and the Lord Minto trophy. En route west the winning team will play two exhibition games at Moose Jaw before meeting the British Columbia team early next week.

JENKINS DEFEATS BOB MONTGOMERY

Winner Tagged for Count of Nine but Gains Unanimous Decision

Philadelphia, Sept. 17.—(AP)—Slugging Lew Jenkins, boss of the 135-pounders, proved he can take one on the chin but he had to turn boxer to beat Philadelphia's Bob Montgomery.

The slender Texan who belted out eight lightweights in a row, including Lou Ambers, in his drive to the title, weathered a nine-count knockdown last night to decision the Pennsylvania negro in 10 rounds.

Montgomery weighed 137 so that Jenkins' crown was not at stake. Lew hit an even 135. The decision was unanimous.

For Jenkins it was a crucial fight—the first since Henry Armstrong kayoed him in New York. He went in against a boy who pitches a snappy right hand.

It was the right that caught up with Lew. In the third round Montgomery snapped out of his crouch and tagged the Texan flush on the chin. Jenkins dropped near a neutral corner and took a count of nine. The rest of the round he spent keeping in the clear.

Jenkins stepped off to a clear-cut lead, circling the negro and scoring often to the head and with the exception of the third, had a margin in every round until the sixth. Montgomery took command then and piled up points until the 10th when Lew staged a fast finish.

Winnipeg Bombers Play Like Champions

Winnipeg Blue Bombers, holders of the Canadian football crown last night played like real champions to upset the powerful Calgary Bronks 22-11. The plunging and passing strength of the Bombers smothered Bronks who suffered their first defeat of the Western Interprovincial Football schedule.

Bronks now have two wins and a loss in their three games played. Winnipeg, with four games completed, have two losses and two victories. Regina Roughriders have recorded one victory and two losses.

Bombers' veteran halfback, Art Stevenson, led the winners' attacks with two touchdowns while Andy Bieber, also on the half-line, got one. Wayne Sheley, making his first full game appearance this season, collected the other major score.

Hal Harrison, fleet Calgary outside, raced 90 yards for one of the Bronk's touches. Jimmy Gilkes, halfback, was the other major scorer for the Bronks.

A NEW HIT FOR BASEBALL

Major Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the CBC, and J. I. Stampleman, President of the Gillette Safety Razor Company of Canada, confer after signing the contract for broadcasting the 1940 World Series over the CBC's coast to coast network in Canada. Gillette is sponsoring the series in this country.

BROOKLYN FANS ATTACK UMPIRE AFTER THE GAME

Calls Runner Safe on Try for Double Play When Asked for Ruling by Stewart

Brooklyn, Sept. 17 (AP)—The hours, somebody once said, can't be beat. But umpiring the Major Leagues still has its little hazards.

The man in blue who knows most about this today is George Magerkurth who was attacked by an irate Dodger fan yesterday after Cincinnati Reds had nosed out Brooklyn 4-3 in 10 innings and just about clinched their second straight National League pennant.

Magerkurth is the biggest umpire in the big leagues, six feet three inches tall and weighing more than 200 pounds. So "Maje" never has hesitated to call his shots as he saw 'em, even in Brooklyn.

In the critical 10th inning yesterday the Reds got runners on first and second with one out. Then Frank McCormick hit a grounder to shortstop Johnny Hudson, who threw to second baseman Pete Coscarart trying for a double play.

The decision at second was in the jurisdiction of umpire Bill Stewart, who called Ival Goodman out and turned to see the action at first base. There wasn't any because Coscarart dropped the ball.

Manager Bill McKechnie and the Reds raised a loud wail over Goodman's being called out at second and Stewart, who hadn't seen the ball dropped, asked Magerkurth to rule on the play.

Magerkurth declared the runner safe and when the Dodgers set up a storm of protest, delaying the game, Magerkurth thumbed Manager Leo Durocher off the field. On the next play catcher Bill Baker of the Reds sent a liner to left field scoring the winning run and the game ended a few minutes later.

Fans swarmed on the diamond bound for the exits, but one of the spectators, small but mighty, waylaid Magerkurth. He knocked the big arbiter to the ground and kept right on punching until the other ushers pulled him off.

Other fights broke out but police bustled Magerkruth's assailant off the field and peace was retored.

BEST PITCHERS TO START TONIGHT

Since pitching always figures to be the deciding factor in a short baseball series, four International League managers plan to lead with their aces tonight in the opening games of the Governors' Cup playoffs.

At Rochester Manager Tony Kaufmann of the champion Red Wings has named Herschel Lyons to go against Baltimore Orioles, who will oppose him with Floyd Stromme. Johnny Neun of Newark and Bert Niehoff of Jersey City have not been so definite in announcing their pitching choices for the opening game of the second vs. third-place series at Newark. But it's probable that the Bears' Norman Branch will oppose Frank Pearce, with Steve Peek and Bill Harris as second choices.

Neither city where the best-of-seven first-round series open is looking for a big crowd, due mainly to forecasts of chilly weather. Only about 7,000 fans are expected for each game. The second games also will be played at Rochester and Newark and the next three at Baltimore and Jersey City. If more are required, the teams will return to their starting points.

Step Out This Fall In Style
Everything For The Young Collegian!
CHOOSE FROM SMART STYLES AND QUALITY MERCHANDISE.
QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM Between the Lines

with Ken J. Colling

Champions of all they surveyed in the realm of softball were the honors bestowed upon the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) Battalion softball team during their sojourn at the N.P.A.M. training camp period at Petawawa. As a matter of fact the local battalion nine met and defeated all comers in the Petawawa N.P.A.M. camp softball league and returned home camp champions. Managed by Lieut. J. N. Yanover, former Picton baseball mentor, the Belleville boys only lost one game during the entire two weeks, they were at Petawawa. Once the Stormont, Dundas and Glengary Highlanders beat the Argyll boys 3 to 2, but that was after the local soldier-softballers had won 12 to 2. In the final game for the camp title the Argyll nine had to rally in the ninth to beat the S.D.G. Highlanders 7 to 6, after the boys had disposed of the Brockville Rifles team and one other unit. The Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment softballers would have no part of a softball tilt with the local lads, however.

Lieut.-Col. A. B. Gribble and his officers were quite proud of the accomplishments of the Argyll softball nine in winning the Petawawa N.P.A.M. softball championship, but we can't say we blame the H. and P. E. boys for shying clear of the city slickers of the Argylls. For pitchers Lieut. Yanover had Connie Harris of Corbys A.C. and Ding Luffman of Point Anne. Alfie Rowbotham (Oilers) and Alex Simpson (Corbys) were catching. Lionel Blaker came out of retirement to play first, and there were Jimmie Barriage, "Wimpy" Reynolds, Johnnie Romsky, Jack Moon and a couple of other local ball-hawks lined up with the Argylls, all of which went to make up a pretty strong softball nine. It wasn't all fun, however. "Wimpy" Reynolds fractured his ankle sliding into a base, Jimmie Barriage sustained a finger injury that kept him out of the final game with the Stormont, Dundas and Glengary Highlanders and Connie Harris had to do some classy relief hurling in the final game to win the camp title.

All-in-all the Argyll Light Infantry boys were quite chesty about the prowess of their softball team and tossed challenges about the camp with abandon, but there weren't too many takers as Skipper Yanover and his contemporaries laid down a heavy verbal barrage of propaganda regarding the strength and ability of their "mushballers". Captain C. A. Cameron donated a trophy for inter-company softball within the ranks of the Argyll Light Infantry and this cup was won by Lieut. Yanover's "B" Company, but this is simple to fanthom as Lieut. Yanover's previous knowledge of the pastime prompted him to have Connie Harris and his battery-mate with Corbys A.C., Alex Simpson, both in "B" Company. So it is not surprising that "B" company walked off with the Captain Cameron trophy after all. Out in Peterborough the boys in the 4th Battery N.P.A.M.) are camp champions and perhaps a home and home series could be arranged between these two titlists, Argylls and 4th Battery, to be played some Saturday afternoon in the near future.

Just while we're talking on the subject of softball, what about resuming the City League finals for the Bank of Commerce trophy? Now that the boys have returned from N.P.A.M. training camp and have completed their training, there is no reason why the Shell "Oilers" and Point Anne "Cementmen" should not resume their series. Bubby Gaulin's Ox Point nine won the initial game of this series on Aug. 22nd, last beating John Bawden and company 3 to 2 in as tidy a softball struggle as has been seen locally this season. That was the game Bawden pitched a three-hitter and lost, the reason being that Ding Luffman hurled a two-hitter and bested Bawden and the "Oilers" with a masterful mound effort. Here's something for Prexy Edgecombe, Secretary Harry Knott and "Down - the - Hill" Harry Rollins to work on in their spare time. Otherwise there is no sport on the calendar, except the South Hastings baseball team's effort in the O.B.A. playdowns.

It begins to look as though they'll have to bring in The Angel or some other top-flight grappler of the first school to beat George Pavish, the villainous Greek, who still remains undefeated in a local wrestling ring. Pavish has appeared three times in Belleville and twice he has won. The other time he wrestled to a draw with Dick Bishop. Last night Pavish gave Speedy Mason, a lad who is accustomed to physical punishment on the football fields of the U.S.A., a sound beating, leaving Mason bleeding profusely at the mouth. Actually Pavish's illegal attack upon Mason with the employment of his elbows and fists was uncalled for, but, as he remarked after the fight—"I'm in there to win", the fans did see plenty of action. Last night's all-round performance was much superior to that of the previous week and the attendance was on the increase, which proves the public will turn out providing good shows are provided.

SPORT SPICE—With compulsory military service enacted in the U.S.A. it is expected there will be a boom in college sports south of the border.... Jimmy Dykes' Chicago White Sox are making a strong bid for the American League flag, but the Cleveland Indians have the inside track, simply because the Yankees can't or are not playing consistent ball .... It begins to look as though the American League race will not be decided until the Tigers and Indians meet in a three-game series the last week of the current schedule, but in the meantime the Pale Hose are in their punching.... When Chicago dropped yesterday's 6-2 decision to the Red Sox, it was the first time in nine games the Windy City nine had lost and they're playing the most consistent ball in the junior loop today .....No doubt Joe McCarthy and his men will be glad to shake the dust of St. Louis off their feet tonight.

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

New York—Aldo Spoldi, 138 3-4, Italy, outpointed Joey Silva, 134, Los Angeles (8).

Philadelphia—Lew Jenkins, 135, Sweetwater, Tex., lightweight champion, outpointed Bob Montgomery, 137, Philadelphia (10).

Pittsburgh—Saverio Turiello, 154, New York, outpointed Ossie Harris, 155, Pittsburgh (10).

Des Moines, Ia.—Lee Savold, 190, Des Moines, knocked out Andy Miller, 188, Sioux City, Ia. (1).

Chicago—Chico Romo, 140, Los Angeles, outpointed Johnny Pleasant, 136, Chicago (8).

Stamford, Conn.— Chico Hernandez, 136 1-4, San Antonio, Tex., outpointed Curley St. Angelo, 127 1-2, New York (8).

New Haven, Conn.—Julie Kogon, 136, New Haven, outpointed Paul Junior, 138, Lewiston, Me. (10).

Baltimore—Mike Belloise, 130, New York, outpointed Spider Armstrong, 130 1-2, Toronto (10).

San Francisco—Fred Apostoli, 163 1-2, San Francisco outpointed Bobby Pacho 157, Los Angeles (10).

MAKE IT A HABIT TO READ THE WANT-ADS DAILY

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER WANT AD RATES

Minimum Charge for the first twenty words, per Insertion 30c
Two Insertions 60c
Three Insertions 75c
Over Twenty Word, 1½c per word per insertion.
Box number .... extra 10c
Copy accepted until 12.30 noon on day of publication.
Telephone 99.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS
REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL
17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1132. "THE HEALTH INSTITUTE" 231 William St. Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils. Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 288 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 900. Lady attendant.

H. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists. Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1154W

LEGAL

S. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 256½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2500. S27-ly

We don't like to blow our own horns—but

We can solve your debt problem better than anyone else in town. Our personal loans fit every need — and are low cost strictly confidential, easily acquired.

QUINTE FINANCE and SECURITIES LIMITED
168 Front St. Phone 163
BELLEVILLE

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
THE SEA HAWK
Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall
2.50 — 7.08 — 9.25

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
ISLE OF DESTINY
June Lang — Wallace Ford
3.10 — 8.00 — 10.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
TROUBLE IN MOROCCO
Jack Holt, Mae Clarke, G. Henry Gordon
7.00 — 9.30
MANHATTAN HEARTBEAT
Robt. Sterling, Joan Davis
Virginia Gilmore
8.00 — 10.30

WANTED

TO RENT, WHEEL CHAIR, FOR one month. Phone 2011 between 5 and 6. S17-3t

HOUSEKEEPER'S POSITION BY young reliable woman, child 4. Write Box S, Ontario Intelligencer. S17-3t

COUPLE TO SHARE HOUSE with elderly lady. Apply 254 Coleman St. S17-1t

500 LBS. ALUMINUM SCRAP, engine block. Belleville Foundries Ltd. S17-3t

WOMAN OR GIRL FOR HOUSEwork mornings. Apply 24 Pine St. Phone 1493. S17-1t

TO RENT WITH OPTION OF buying, 5 - 10 acre lot, with house outside city. Write Box G, Ontario Intelligencer. S17-3t

IMMEDIATELY, MAID OR housekeeper. References required. 2 children, 1 adult. Phone 85w. S17-3t

SINGLE LADY DESIRES A heated apartment on the east hill, consisting of kitchenette, bedroom and sitting room, or sitting room bedroom, and private bath room. 'Phone particulars to 497. S16-4t

WARM ROOM IN MODERN home by young man at business. State garage facilities if any and rate to Box 7, Ontario Intelligencer. S16-2t

LARGE HEATED VACANT ROOM —housekeeping privileges, rent reasonable by school girl. P.O Box 239. S16-2t

TWO OR THREE ROOM UNfurnished or partly furnished apartment. Young couple. Immediate possession. State location and price. Jack Sproule, Shannonville. S16-2t

APPLICATIONS WILL BE REceived until October 1st, 1940, for the position of Chief Librarian at Corby Public Library, Belleville, duties to begin on December 1st. Applicants will state qualifications, experience and salary expected. Living quarters heated, are provided on the premises. Address applications to H. J. Clarke, B.A., Secretary, 255 Foster Ave., Belleville. S14-3t

EXPERIENCED STENOGRAPHer, must be good typist and able to transcribe shorthand accurately. Write Box F, Ontario Intelligencer. S14-3t

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

MEN WANTED

EVERY DAY CARRIES ITS OWN expenses. To cover these you need a steady income. With a Familex Agency, you pocket cash profits every day and at any time you are free to give up and return your unsold goods for credit. For FREE details and catalogue: FAMILEX, 570 St. Clement, Montreal. A13-20-27 S3-10-17

Marmora

Marmora.—Mrs. Sam Agnew and Miss Jean Sopha of Peterborough spent the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sopha.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Matthews of Deloro are spending the week with relatives in Toronto.

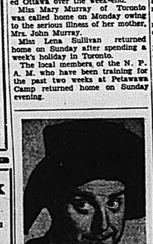
Mr. and Mrs. George Mantle, Jr., spent the week-end with relatives in Toronto.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. French visited Ottawa over the week-end.

Miss Mary Murray of Toronto was called home on Monday owing to the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. John Murray.

Miss Lena Sullivan returned home on Sunday after spending a week's holiday in Toronto.

The local members of the N. P. A. M. who have been training for the past two weeks at Petawawa Camp returned home on Sunday evening.



Smiley Burnette appearing in the new Republic supreme production "Carolina Moon," with Gene Autry coming next to the Capitol. On the same program the added feature "SOS-Tidal Wave," stars Ralph Byrd, George Barbier, Kay Sutton and Frank Jenks.

AN INEXPENSIVE WANT-AD., IN TOMORROW'S ISSUE WILL BRING YOU RESULTS.

THERE'S PULLING POWER GALORE AT YOUR SERVICE FOR A FEW PENNIES.

PHONE YOUR AD NOW TO 99

TO LET

NICELY FURNISHED SUMMER cottage, with stove for heating, near the Country Club, for remainder of September and October. Phone 2062W. S17-1t

FURNISHED OR PARTLY FURNished 4 room heated apartment. Adults preferred. Apply 58 Cedar St. S17-3t

DESIRABLE, HEATED APARTment, living room, kitchenette, private bath, two bedrooms, front entrance, garage. Available Oct. 1st. Apply 179 Charles Street. S17-19-21

ATTRACTIVE APARTMENT, heated, insulated, four rooms and sunroom. Separate bath and entrance. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine. S17-6t

LARGE BED SITTING ROOM and kitchen, furnished; heat, light and water, ground floor, private entrance, near Front St., on bus line. Use of phone. Phone 1414J for appointment. S14-3t

HOUSE, 32 HILLSIDE, ALL CONveniences, hot water heating, wired for electric range, garage. Possession October 1. Apply Dr. Duprau, 267½ Front St. or on premises. S14-4t

FURNISHED BED SITTING room, kitchenette, newly decorated, every convenience. R.A.F. Officer and wife preferred. Phone 869W. S14-3t

HEATED APARTMENT, — 270 Church Street, just north of Victoria Avenue, large living room, modern kitchen, electric stove and refrigerator supplied, two large bedrooms, bath, hardwood floors throughout, newly decorated, house insulated and heated with hot water (oil burner), very desirable place of residence. Private front entrance and large verandah. Garage. Inspection by appointment. Exclusive agent, Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators), 166 Front St. Phone 99. House phone 687. A31-tf

NOTICE

Will the lady who was assisted by a soldier in getting her baggage off C.N.R. train at 4.05 a.m. Standard time, Saturday, Sept. 14, kindly get in touch with Mr. Duff's office. Phone 665. S17-1t

Shannonville

Shannonville — Mr. and Mrs. E. Juby and Mrs. Bertha Juby were recent Sunday guests of friends in Stirling.

Pte. Kenneth Liddle spent a recent week end with his grandfather Mr. Henry Liddle and his aunt Miss Ina Liddle.

The Empire World day of prayer was observed by the Rev. Sterling at the United Church on Sunday morning, Sept. 7.

Rev. George Williams B.A., Toronto conducted the service Sunday evening in the United Church.

Mr. S. E. Robertson, Floyd and Madeline were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr and Mrs. W. R. Robertson, 2nd. Line

Miss Kathryn Mills was a Sunday dinner hour guest of Miss Ruth Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stevens and Miss Dorothy Stevens of Oshawa, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Fuller.

Pte. Fred Smith, Welland Regiment, Bowmanville, spent Sunday at his home.

Mr. Ross Fuller, Oshawa, spent the week end at his home.

Pte. Kenneth Liddle spent a recent Sunday guest of Mr. S. E. Robertson and family Chisholm's Mills.

The many friends of Mrs. Charley Howard, Milltown, are glad to hear of her recovery after her recent illness.

Mrs. B. Parsons, Belleville, has returned home after spending a few days guest of her mother Mrs. Kathleen Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Robertson and family attended the shower on Thursday evening at the hall at Roslin in honor of Mr and Mrs. Vernon Kilpatrick (nee Ruby Robertson) of Deloro.

Mr. Walter Brown, Port Credit, school teacher, at Sheiler's school, is boarding at Mr. and Mrs. Walter Morden's.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Stratton were host and hostess to the W.A. to a dinner and quilting on Thursday. Forty enjoyed the delicious pot luck dinner The quilts were made for the comfort of our soldiers.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS.

IN THE ESTATE OF George Sylvanus Bonter, deceased.

All persons having claims against the estate of George Sylvanus Bonter, late of the Township of Ameliasburg, in the County of Prince Edward, Farmer, deceased, who died on or about the 11th. day of July, 1940, are hereby notified to send in to the undersigned solicitors to the Personal Representative of the said deceased, on or before the 19th. day of October, 1940, full particulars of their claims. Immediately after the said date the said solicitors to the Personal Representative will distribute the assets of the said deceased having regard only to claims of which they shall then have notice to the exclusion of all others, and they will not be liable to any person of whose claim they shall not then have notice for the assets so distributed or any part thereof.

DATED at Belleville, this 10th. day of September, 1940.

Porter, Payne and Arnott,
219 Front Street,
Belleville, Ontario.
Solicitors for the Personal Representative
S10-17-24

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS.

IN THE ESTATE OF John Martin McCreery, deceased.

All persons having claims against the estate of John Martin McCreery, late of the City of Belleville, in the County of Hastings, Gentleman, deceased, who died on or about the 26th. day of August, 1940, are hereby notified to send in to the undersigned, the solicitors for the personal representative of the said deceased, on or before the 19th. day of October, 1940, full particulars of their claims. Immediately after the said date the said Personal Representative will distribute the assets of the said deceased having regard only to claims of which it shall then have notice to the exclusion of all others, and it will not be liable to any person of whose claim it shall not then have notice for the assets so distributed or any part thereof.

DATED at Belleville this 9th. day of September, 1940.

Porter, Payne and Arnott,
219 Front Street,
Belleville, Ontario.
Solicitors for the Personal Representative
S10-17-24

PERSONAL

MEN OF 30, 40, 50! VIM, PEP, VIGOR subnormal? Try Ostrex tablets. Contain tonics, stimulants, oyster elements, aids to normal pep. If not delighted with results first package, maker refunds low price. Call, write Dolan the Druggist, in Belleville and all other good drug stores. S3-T.W.T-tf

TENDERS FOR TRUCK CITY OF BELLEVILLE

Tenders will be received addressed to the undersigned until 5 o'clock P.M., Thursday, September 26th., 1940, for a ½-ton pick-up truck less trade in allowance of present ½-ton truck. For specifications apply to Engineer's Department.

The lowest or any tender not necessarily accepted.

H. D. BATEMAN
S17-19-21 Comptroller.

Johnstown

Johnstown—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Loney of Frankford, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lohnes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Curtis called on Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Curtis on Sunday evening.

The Y.P.P.C. will meet on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brooks.

Members of Johnstown Ladies' Aid spent a very enjoyable afternoon on Thursday last, guests of Frankford W.A.

Mrs. J. A. Stickle and children took tea on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Stickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Foster, Bernard and Ernest, of Frankford, took tea on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stickle.

Mr. Roy Harry had the misfortune to break his wrist while cranking his tractor.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Stickle called on the latter's mother, Mrs. Wm. McMullen, Sidney Crossing, who is seriously ill.

A few from this vicinity attended the Liberal Association wiener roast on Thursday evening which was held at the home of N. Rosebush, Glen Ross.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White spent Sunday at Picton, visiting relatives.

Mrs. Archie Steenburg of St. Ola, is visiting at the home of Mr. D. Carr.

FOR SALE

BEDROOM SUITE, USED, BED, Vanity, Dresser, Springs, new mattress, $34.50. Easy terms. Lipson's Furniture House. S17-1t

PIANO, UPRIGHT, USED, IN EXcellent condition, $44.50. Easy terms. Lipson's Furniture House. S17-1t

BEDROOM SUITE, USED, LARGE size bow-end bed, large dresser, Springs and Mattress, $29.50. Easy terms. Lipson's Furniture House. S17-1t

PRAM (BABY CARRIAGE), used, good condition, $10. Lipson's Furniture House. S17-1t

QUEBEC HEATER AND STOVE pipes. Good condition, bargain for cash. 116 S. George St. S17-tf

SMALL COOK STOVE, COAL OR wood, with warming closet and water front, good condition. Phone 1968J, 51 Canniflon Road. S16-3t

ONE UPRIGHT PIANO, AND ONE large bookcase, both in first class condition. For particulars phone 497. S16-3t

McCLARY CIRCULATOR HEATer, Gilbert and Barker oil burner, both in good condition. Apply 210 MacDonald Ave. S16-3t

USED CAR PARTS, 600x20 TIRES, 30x3½, also 19 inch, Star Motor, Ford A Coach, body good condition. Pigden's Garage, opposite Crystal Hotel. S16-3t

100 LEGHORN PULLETS, FIVE months' old, from Bray's blood tested stock. Floyd Thrasher, Holloway. S16-3t

REGISTERED COCKER SPANiel Pups. Roydon James, Consecon, Ont. S14-3t

FARM FOR SALE OR RENT —200 acre farm, Lot 16, Con. 7, Rawdon, 2 miles off highway, 10 acres orchard. Bert Thompkins, Harold, Ont., Phone Stirling 712 S14-3t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating, etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

BEACH STOVE, (DEBUTANTE), practically new, reservoir, enamel front and back, warming closet, six holes, wood or coal. J. P. Ketcheson, Holloway. S11-6t

HOUSE, 35 OLIVE STREET, 7 rooms and unfinished attic. All conveniences. Apply Mrs. Mary Bryan, 336 Bleecker St., Toronto, Ont. A15-1m

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

NOS. 33 AND 35 HOLLOWAY ST. Double brick house in good state of repair. Each residence has large living room, dining room, kitchen, gas, four bed rooms and bath, good basement, hardwood floors downstairs, hot air heating, double garage, good lot, comfortable bright houses, low price for quick sale. Could be made into excellent apartments. As an investment this is worth investigating. Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators) exclusive agents, 166 Front St. Phone 99, House Phone 687. A23-tf

4 HILLSIDE STREET, WELL built brick house, three bed rooms bath, living room, dining room and kitchen. Good basement and hot air furnace, nice grounds. Reasonable price for quick sale. Exclusive agents, Geo. N. Gorman 166 Front Street, Phone 99. House Phone 687. S4-tf

THURLOW TOWNSHIP

The Board of Health for the Township of Thurlow have decided to make available to the children, both of school age and pre-school age, the inoculation against typhoid and para-typhoid. This will be in the same manner as for diphtheria, smallpox, etc. in the schools. It will be free and not compulsory, and no child will be inoculated without consent of the parents who are respectfully asked to indicate in writing to the teacher of their school section their wishes in the matter, and each teacher is asked to co-operate. Inoculations to start September 23rd, 1940.

E. W. BROWN,
Sec. of Thurlow Twp. Board of Health.
S17-3t

Used Electric Refrigerators

1 NORGE, in first class condition, recently reconditioned . $89

1 8-cubic foot FRIGIDAIRE, porcelain inside and out, double doors, cost $330. (new) thoroughly reconditioned . $185

1 6.2 FRIGIDAIRE (entirely new unit) $139

LOW DOWN PAYMENT. OR TRADE-IN EASY TERMS.

Walker Hardware
COMPANY LIMITED
248 - 250 FRONT ST.
S17-3t

FOR SALE

Business Property
118 Front St.

just north of the former fire hall, near Dundas Street. Concrete building. 2 floors. Offers will be considered for the purchase of this building, which is to be sold this month.

THIS IS WORTH INVESTIGATING.

Exclusive Agents
BELLEVILLE LOCATORS
GEO. N. GORMAN, Prop.
166 Front St. Phone 99
Opp. City Hall House Phone 687
S13-tf

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240
Res. 2112M
1A Bridge St. W
Belleville
S5-tf

PROTECT
Your Property Through the BAY OF QUINTE FIRE INSURANCE CO.
LOW RATES—HIGH SERVICE
See us before you renew.
C. W. BURR
219 Front St., Belleville
Phone 964W

AUCTION SALE

On Friday, Sept. 20, at 1.30 p.m. at Holland's Storage, Pinnacle St., sideboard, bed, springs and mattress, Quebec heater, annex for electric stove, electric washing machine, dresser and stand, iron bed, springs and mattress, rocking chairs, etc. Terms cash.

NORMAN MONTGOMERY,
Phone 1170. Auctioneer.
S17-19

Dorothy Lee and Frank Jenks in Republic's "SOS-Tidal Wave!" coming next to the Capitol. Starring in the picture are Ralph Byrd and George Barbier. The added attraction on the same program is "Carolina Moon," starring Gene Autry.

AT THE BELLE

"The Sea Hawk"

All of romance, adventure and thrills are packed into one great screen saga, "The Sea Hawk," the feature attraction now at the Belle. Erroll Flynn heads the cast of thousands, and featured with him are Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson and Alan Hale.

Rife with dramatic incidents revolving about England's famous sea hawks, who sailed the seven seas in their pirate galleons, their sails full-bellied in the wind, "The Sea Hawk" is a tale of the Old World in the sixteenth century.

The film concerns itself with the intrigues of Spain's King Philip and his henchmen directed against the court and possessions of England's good Queen Bess, played by Flora Robson, Flynn is seen as Geoffrey Thorpe, daring captain of a buccaneer ship engaged in piratical pursuits against England's enemies. With his lusty crew of privateers, he attacks home-bound Spanish galleons loaded with rich booty and robs them to swell England's dwindling coffers. In his capacity of a sort of "Robin Hood of the seas" he has the unofficial but wholehearted approval of his Queen.

On one of these plundering expeditions, he takes prisoner one of Philip's emissaries to England, a haughty Spanish nobleman, portrayed by Claude Rains. With the Spanish ambassador is his lovely niece, Maria, played by Brenda Marshall. She despises Thorpe as a pirate thief until he makes amends by returning her jewel casket to her, and explaining that on the Spanish ship were hundreds of Englishmen who had been taken prisoners and impressed as galley slaves. Thus begins a romance which blossoms into true love despite the barriers that strive to separate them.

Lavishly produced, "The Sea Hawk" richly recreates the colorful days of Elizabeth's reign, the awe-inspiring clash of mighty galleons, cutlasses ringing in battles for gold, for beautiful ladies, for supremacy of the Spanish Main. Michael Curtiz, Hollywood's ace action director, has kept it moving at a speedy pace, with emphasis on stirring adventure from the moment of its unfolding on the screen to the final scene.

Pluto the Pup in "Bone Trouble" is the title of the latest Walt Disney color cartoon presented on the same program.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Isle of Destiny"

Thrilling new color reproduction in photography is revealed through the Cosmo-color process by "Isle of Destiny," the Fine Arts Picture distributed by RKO Radio and showing now at the McCarthy Theatre with William Gargan, Wallace Ford and June Lang featured.

Cosmocolor, the production reveals, does not make the demands of other color processes. For instance, the same amount of light is not necessary, nor do the actors need to apply so much makeup. In fact, the women players do not need as much makeup for Cosmocolor as they normally use for the street.

Louis Saintly, makeup expert for "Isle of Destiny," said, "In applying the makeup for the color test on June Lang I found that Miss Lang, whose natural coloring make her an outstanding model, needed but one fourth of the amount of makeup used by the average young lady for street wear.

"The fact that a light grease base plus a dusting of powder was sufficent was a difficult matter to sell the studio executives until actual film tests had been made.

"There is a great saving in time and material in the use of Cosmocolor, and the effect is marvelous, since it reveals the absolute natural colorings."

In "Isle of Destiny" June Lang plays the role of a society aviatrix who gets entangled in the dangerous plot of a crafty gun running chief while on a round-the-world flight. William Gargan and Wallace Ford play rough-and-ready Marine pilots in search of adventure—and the same girl. Elmer Clifton directed "Isle of Destiny."

Leon Errol Comedy

(Rubber-Legs) Leon Errol, in his new hilarious comedy, "Truth Aches", a Walt Disney Technicolor cartoon, "The Practical Pig" and Fox News—crammed with sensational international scenes, including bombing raids on Berlin and other German cities, precede the feature presentation "Isle of Destiny" now at the McCarthy Theatre.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Manhattan Heartbeat"

Two youngsters meet, fall in love and get married on practically nothing a week in "Manhattan Heartbeat," new 20th Century-Fox film which is now playing at the Capitol Theatre. Their tender, human story, typical of that of thousands of other young couples has been made into a grand picture.

Robert Sterling is the boy who tries to listen to his head and Virginia Gilmore is the girl who makes him listen to his heart. How they find the answer to their problem is dramatic entertainment at its best. These two newcomers give excellent performances which promise great things to come.

Joan Davis provides the film's lighter touches with her madcap antics. Also featured in the strong supporting cast are Edmund MacDonald, Don Beddoe and Paul Harvey. David Burton directed and Sol. M. Wurtzel was executive producer.

"Trouble In Morocco"

The added feature "Trouble In Morocco" is a drama that keeps you in suspense from start to finish. Packed with action, thrills and adventure you will enjoy this added attraction starring Jack Holt, Mae Clarke and C. Henry Gordon. Paul Hurst supplies the laughs and the Band of Carl Hoff completes a very enjoyable two feature show.

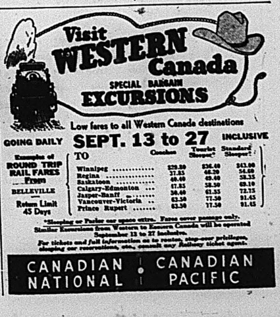
Bancroft

Bancroft—An afternoon tea was given by the Girls' of St. John's Church at the rectory. Thursday afternoon in honour of Miss Betty Haryett, who is leaving shortly for Picton hospital where she is going in training.

Margaret Ann, one year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Leveck passed away Thursday at Stirling hospital. Interment was made Saturday morning in the Roman Catholic cemetery at Maynooth.

The congregation of St. John's Church, Bancroft, met at the home of the Misses Mullet on Friday evening and honoured Miss Marjorie Stratton with a miscellaneous shower. The evening was spent games and contests and a dainty lunch was later served.

"A" Company of the Hastings-Prince Edward Regiment under command of Major Babcock who have spent the past two weeks at the Military training camp at Petawawa returned home by motor convoy Sunday afternoon. The camp under canvas was quite a change for many of the boys but they accepted conditions and discipline with a very keen interest. The time passed very quickly as the routine of training was so varied that the boys' interest was always on edge. Friday at camp was the most splendid showing of the troops as there were sixteen regiments participating in a massed brigade inspection controlled by microphone and amplification. Many bands were present leading each regiment as it passed in review before the Major General. Camp broke up at noon on Sunday. When the motor convoy reached the outskirts of Bancroft village the boys disembarked forming into their respective platoons and marched in column of route through the main thoroughfare to the orderly room at the Community Hall for dismissal. It was a pleasant home coming for the boys as they were eager to return even though they enjoyed the camp activity. Bancroft citizens turned out in large numbers to welcome the boys home.



Visit WESTERN Canada
SPECIAL BARGAIN EXCURSIONS
Low fares to all Western Canada destinations
GOING DAILY SEPT. 13 to 27 INCLUSIVE

Examples of ROUND TRIP RAIL FARES From BELLEVILLE — Return Limit 45 Days

TO	Coaches	Tourist Sleeper*	Standard Sleeper*
Winnipeg	$29.80	$36.40	$43.00
Regina	37.85	46.20	54.60
Saskatoon	40.40	49.40	58.35
Calgary-Edmonton	47.85	58.50	69.10
Jasper-Banff	50.40	61.55	72.75
Vancouver-Victoria	63.50	77.50	91.45
Prince Rupert	63.50	77.50	91.45

*Sleeping or Parlor car space extra. Fares cover passage only.

Similar Excursions from Western to Eastern Canada will be operated September 13 to 27 inclusive.

For tickets and full information as to routes, stop-over privileges, sleeping car reservations, etc., consult any Railway ticket agent.

CANADIAN NATIONAL • CANADIAN PACIFIC

"Flying Blind"

by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER TWENTY

"Tex can't be serious," said Hugh. "He packed his clothes and left the apartment."

"Then you must have had a quarrel."

"I swear we didn't."

Hugh tried to persuade Judith to eat something but she refused.

"Now the point is I must have some legal advice. If he wants a divorce, a divorce he shall have."

"You're being hasty. This will blow over!"

Judith looked at Hugh. "Do you believe that? How could I ever forget this?"

Judith finally convinced Hugh that Tex had been quite serious about the whole thing. And so he said, "I'll send you a friend of mine. I'll go telephone him now."

Hugh was gone five minutes. He found his lawyer friend in, told him not to advise anything drastic. When he came back to the table he felt better. Attorney Richards had reassured him. "I'm an expert at calming down irate wives, Hugh. Don't worry."

Hugh patted Judith's hand as it lay on the table. "Now you go and talk to him and you'll feel better. I'm going to take you to dinner. You'll be OK and Tex will come to his senses."

That is the way things stood when Judith left Hugh. As he said good-bye, he squeezed her hand. "You know how I feel about you, Judith. You're tops with me. Any time you decide to change husbands, I'm waiting."

Underneath the levity of his voice, there was a serious note.

Richards' law office was in a building near 54th street on Fifth avenue. She walked and the air made her feel better. The lawyer talked with Judith for some time.

"There's only one thing I can advise if you wish to push the thing through in a hurry. That's Reno. But it costs money." He continued: "You could get a divorce in Michigan in about three months if your residence were established, but I'm afraid the court would rule New Jersey as your home. Reno takes about forty-two days. Have you money enough?"

"I think so."

"But you better wait a few days before you decide anything. Then I'll write a friend of mine out there and he can look after you."

The lawyer found Judith hard to handle. She was horribly hurt and shaken. No use talking to her in that frame of mind. He refused to take any money for his advice.

"You're Lanning's friend. That makes it all right with me."

Judith went on back to the apartment. She had to think about packing. Mechanically she went on about her preparations. The telephone rang and she rushed to it with a desperate hope it might be Tex.

It was Roy Trendel looking for Tex. Judith had known Roy for a long time. He was factory pilot for the Mercury ships which Tex flew.

"Where's the big shot?" Roy asked.

"He's supposed to be at the airport," Judith answered.

"Well, he isn't, for that's where I am. Ferrying a ship back to the coast tonight. I'd like to see him before I leave. Ellen is with me."

Ellen was Roy's most recent romantic interest.

There was more conversation. Judith answered mechanically. Then she got an idea: "When are you leaving?"

"About five. I'm waiting for a wire from the coast before I start."

"Could I go with you?"

"Sure, if you want to. It's against the rules but I'm a long way from home."

"Then I'll be there at five." Judith had made up her mind.

"What route are you taking?"

"Denver, I think. Where are you going?"

"The coast." Judith could not bring herself to tell him her destination. She could fly back to Reno from Los Angeles, or take a train. It wasn't far. How queer it was she was going to see the west now! For a divorce—which she detested!

"You're welcome to come if you want to. Better ask Tex. He might not want you flying in this new crate on a trial trip."

Judith went back to her packing. She filled a small trunk, left it to be sent on later. Then she packed an airplane suit case. She had enough time. There were some small bills to be paid. Milk man, the laundry. She left the money for them with the caretaker.

Tex could do what he wanted with the apartment. She never wanted to see anything in it again!

At a quarter to five, Judith arrived at Newark airport in a taxi. The porter knew her.

"For Mr. Trendel's ship," she said. He headed for a large red airplane which was already on the line. In the waiting room she found Ellen Stark, Roy's fiancee.

"I'm glad you're going. It's a long trip."

Judith was so nervous that Ellen asked, "What's wrong, Judith?"

"Nothing."

"Roy's with some of the big shots. They're arguing about carburetors. What's a carburetor, Judith?" Ellen yawned. "I hate all this airplane talk. I've heard nothing else for twenty-four hours, right through floor shows, dinners, and everything. How's Tex?"

"Fine."

Roy joined the girls in a few minutes.

"There's a guy from the pictures goin' with us, and a big shot from some foreign government. Can't pronounce his name so don't expect me to introduce you, kids. Where's your bag, Judith? In the ship? Good. Wait till I check on weather."

But it was some time before they got off. As the girls waited by the ship, Dudley came up.

"I heard you were here. You're going with Roy?"

"Yes."

He watched her face. "Anything wrong?"

She did not answer.

"I wish you wouldn't go."

"Anything wrong with the weather?"

"It's overcast to Cleveland. Clear at Chicago."

"Then it's all right."

"Maybe, but this is an experimental ship. A new carburetor. Not approved yet."

Trendel interrupted: "He's corny, Judith, old fashioned! Here I'm trying to sell him on a new ship with a carburetor which will save 'im thousands a year, and he won't listen."

"We've got trouble with ice licked now, Roy. I'm afraid to take a chance on a new carburetor."

"You're slippin', Dudley!" Trendel laughed. "You're gettin' old. You always used to be first to try anything new. And these are the last word. You watch our smoke!"

Ellen moaned impatiently. It was cold by the ship. With the night, dampness came. Dudley observed:

"We've got ice licked, Roy. We can't take chances. Not with carburetors. We've got too much at stake."

Before they got off, there was a telephone call for Roy from the coast. The two girls went back inside the hangar with Dudley to get warm. He tried to talk to Judith.

"Tell me what this is all about?"

"I can't, except I'm going away." Judith's eyes looked frozen. Her lips were blue.

Lee Holt came up as they waited. Hey, Judith, where's the Old Man? I've been hunting him all day."

Judith was non-committal, and Dudley answered for her.

"She's flying west with Roy."

Lee, frankly puzzled ,tried to get an explanation, but just then Roy came back.

"We're off. Get going, girls!"

Judith waved good-bye to Lee, went along to the ship.

Dudley followed. He protested, "Judith! "But she would not talk to him. She and Ellen got in, and soon were joined by the movie actor, who turned out to be Reginald Ware, a featured player, and the dapper little foreigner who shivered with cold. Ellen curled up in a seat across the aisle from Judith, under a steamer rug.

Not until Roy had taxied the big ship down the field and turned for the take-off did Judith realize that Dudley had remained in the ship. She turned questioningly, as he sat down beside her.

"I couldn't let you go like this. I'll ride as far as Cleveland. I want to talk to you——"

His words were drowned out as Roy gunned the big motors and they were off into the night.

Roy was climbing the ship fast, motors perking beautifully. Soon Dudley slipped his arm through Judith's, drew her toward him as he said in her ear: "Now tell me what this is all about."

Tearful, Judith could not answer him. Her head fell back against the cushioned seat. She had had little sleep for days.. Dudley let her sleep for a time.

Outside a thick night fog sealed the big ship. No longer did wisps of mist lick at the windows. They were opaque—a solid mass—the kind you could cut with a knife. Nasty weather! But clear ahead in Cleveland, perhaps. . . . Dudley would fly on to Chicago if necessary, he had decided.

Suddenly Judith shivered in her sleep. Dudley got up, went back to the steward's cupboard, took some blankets. The altimeter read 8,000 feet; they were still climbing Dudley knew from the sound of the motors. He gave one blanket to Ware, one to the diplomat-type foreigner. Then he wrapped Judith carefully in one of the largest rugs, threw one over her knees, and settled back.

Dudley had seen Tex Aimes that day. Tex had seemed just as usual, was enthusiastic about his vacation. Never a word about what had happened on the coast. Dudley knew, of course. Gossip had come back. He tried to put any thought of himself out of his mind, but deep in his heart, he felt that HE could make her happy.

But that would never do. The Aimes couple just had to stick it out. Judith loved Tex. No doubt about that. Dudley stirred restlessly. "I'm a fool to hope at all."

"A big fool!" he added as he looked at Judith's white face. But he did hope. He couldn't help it. For the first time he admitted to himself he had gone completely off the deep end about Judith. And he hated himself because he had. . . .

(To be continued)

Drink
Coca-Cola
Delicious and Refreshing

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

TUESDAY, SEPT. 17

7.45—War and the Weather; News—CBL, CBO
8.00—Court of Missing Heirs—WABC, WGR
8.30 — "Information Please" — WJZ, WHAM
8.30—First Nighter—WABC, CFRB WHAM, WJZ.
8.30—Musical Rendezvous—CBO
9.00—We, the People—WABC
9.00— Battle of the Sexes, Frank Crumit and Julia Sanderson. —WEAF, WGY.
9.30—Meredith Willson musical revue.—WEAF CBL.
10.00—Tommy Dorsey's Orchestra, —WEAF, WHAM
10.00—Composers Series—CBL
10.15—Public Affairs.—WABC.
10.30—Uncle Walter's Dog House.—WEAF, WGY.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18

7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time.—WEAF.
8.00—Hollywood Playhouse; drama, Gale Page and Jim Ameche. — WEAF, WBEN, WGY.
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.00—Quiz Kids—WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Dr. Christian, sketch. — WABC, WJR.
9.00—The Question Box. — CBO, CBL.
9.30—Concert Orch.—WABC
9.30—Serenade for Strings—CBL
10.00—Kay Kyser's program. — WEAF, WGY.
10.00—They Shall Not Pass—CBL
10.30—Address by Pres. Roosevelt—WABC, WJZ, CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBO, CBL
12.00—Bobby Byrnes' Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200

UNITED STATES STATIONS

KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

RADIO PROGRAMS

TUESDAY

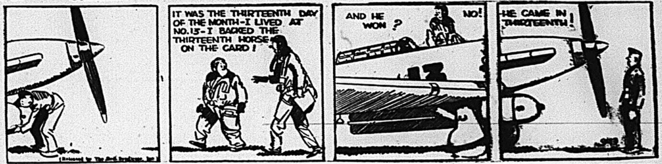
2.00—Light of the World, sketch—WEAF, WHAM
7.00—Fred Waring's Orchestra. — WEAF, WGY
7.15—John B. Kennedy, news — WEAF, WGY
8.00—Roy Shield's Revue — WJZ, CBL
8.00—Johnny Presents Ray Bloch's Orch.—WEAF
8.30—Musical Treasure Chest; Horace Heidt's Orchestra — WEAF, WGY
9.00—Musical Americana —WJZ, WHAM
9.30—So You Think You Know Music—WABC, WJR
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orchestra — WABC, WJR
10.30—BBC Newsreel—CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBL

WEDNESDAY

4.00—Club Matinee—WJZ, CBL.
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news commentator—WJZ, CBL
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.30—Plantation Party — WEAF, WGY
8.30 Manhattan at Midnight — WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Musical Varieties—CBL
9.00—The Hour of Smiles—WEAF
9.00—Summer show, Frances Langford, vocalist, Kenny Baker, tenor—WABC, WJR
9.30—Serenade for Strings—CBL, CBO
10.00—Kay Kyser Prgm. — WEAF, WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orchestra; Ray Eberle and Marion Hutton, vocalists—WABC, WGR
10.30—BBC News Reel—CBL
12.00—Bobby. Byrnes Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

POP — Consistent

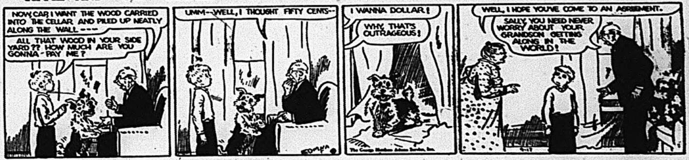
By J. Millar Watt



IT WAS THE THIRTEENTH DAY OF THE MONTH-I LIVED AT NO.13-I BACKED THE THIRTEENTH HORSE ON THE CARD!
AND HE WON ?
NO!
HE CAME IN THIRTEENTH!
(Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

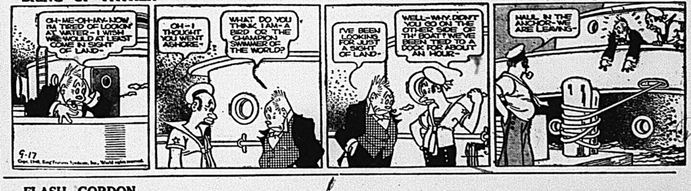
By Edwina



NOW, CAP, I WANT THE WOOD CARRIED INTO THE CELLAR AND PILED UP NEATLY ALONG THE WALL---
ALL THAT WOOD IN YOUR SIDE YARD?? HOW MUCH ARE YOU GONNA-PAY ME?
UMM--WELL, I THOUGHT FIFTY CENTS--
I WANNA DOLLAR!
WHY, THAT'S OUTRAGEOUS!
WELL, I HOPE YOU'VE COME TO AN AGREEMENT.
SALLY, YOU NEED NEVER WORRY ABOUT YOUR GRANDSON GETTING ALONG IN THE WORLD!
EDWINA
9-17

BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



OH-ME-OH-MY-NOW I'M TIRED OF LOOKIN' AT WATER-I WISH WE WOULD AT LEAST COME IN SIGHT OF LAND-
OH-I THOUGHT YOU WENT ASHORE-
WHAT DO YOU THINK I AM-A BIRD OR THE CHAMPION SWIMMER OF THE WORLD?
I'VE BEEN LOOKING FOR JUST A SIGHT OF LAND-
WELL-WHY DIDN'T YOU GO ON THE OTHER SIDE OF TH' BOAT? WE'VE BEEN TIED TO A DOCK FOR ABOUT AN HOUR-HAUL IN THE ANCHOR-WE ARE LEAVING-
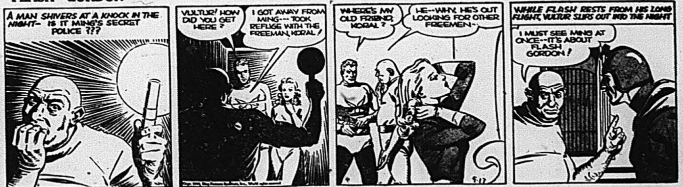
9-17

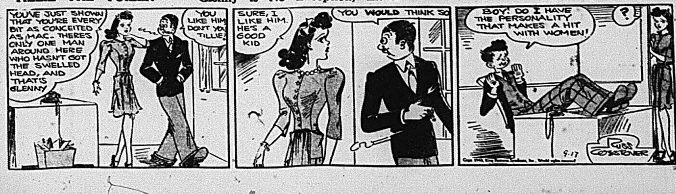
FLASH GORDON



A MAN SHIVERS AT A KNOCK IN THE NIGHT- IS IT MING'S SECRET POLICE ???
VULTUR! HOW DID YOU GET HERE?
I GOT AWAY FROM MING--- TOOK REFUGE WITH THE FREEMAN, KORAL!
WHERE'S MY OLD FRIEND, KORAL?
HE--WHY, HE'S OUT LOOKING FOR OTHER FREEMEN--
WHILE FLASH RESTS FROM HIS LONG FLIGHT, VULTUR SLIPS OUT INTO THE NIGHT
I MUST SEE MING AT ONCE--IT'S ABOUT FLASH GORDON!
9-17

TILLIE THE TOILER — Glenny is No Exception, Either

By Russ Westover



YOU'VE JUST SHOWN THAT YOU'RE EVERY BIT AS CONCEITED AS MAC- THERE'S ONLY ONE MAN AROUND HERE WHO HASN'T GOT THE SWELLED HEAD, AND THAT'S GLENNY
YOU LIKE HIM DON'T YOU TILLIE?
SURE, I LIKE HIM. HE'S A GOOD KID
YOU WOULD THINK SO
BOY! DO I HAVE THE PERSONALITY THAT MAKES A HIT WITH WOMEN!
?
RUSS WESTOVER
9-17

Two Shoppers in One Act

CHARACTERS IN THE PLAY:

Mrs. Black, who has $35. to spend on a new spring suit.
Mrs. White, who also has $35 to spend on a new spring suit.

ACT 1, SCENE 1—

Mrs. Black enters store, "just looking for a suit . . . any suit. Tries three or four departments. Tries on fifteen or sixteen suits. No luck . . . "had nothing special in mind." Leaves store baffled and exhausted . . . and empty handed.

ACT 1, SCENE 2—

Mrs. White enters store. Consults newspaper clipping in handbag. Steps promptly into elevator for third floor. Tries on suit she saw advertised. Likes it as much as she thought she would. Buys it, and leaves store, radiant with success and satisfaction.

● ●

This play has a MORAL. Consult these columns for YOUR best buys! They will save you much time . . . countless steps . . . and a WHOLE LOT OF MONEY.

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 1.45 p.m.

MINES

Ajax	11 1-2
Aldermac	16 3-4
Anglo Hur	165
Aunor	165
Bankfield	9 1-2
Beattie	82
Broulan	66
Bidgood	11
Big Missouri	4 3-4
Bralorne	985
Buffalo Ank	355
Calgary and Ed.	143
Central Pat.	182
Chesterville	90
Coast Copper	67
Coniaurum	128
Dome	22 1-4
Eldorado	35
East Mal	310
Falconbridge	263
Gillies L.	4 1-8
Gunnar	36
Hardrock	85
Home Oil	190
Hollinger	11 7-8
Howey	26
Hudson Bay	27
Kerr Add.	259
Kirk Lake	96
Lapa Cad	6 1-4
Lake Shore	30
Leitch	51
Little L L	220
Macassa	335
McIntyre	46
McLeod	227
McKenzie	95
Mining Corp.	75
Moneta	62
Nipissing	90
O'Brien	83
Okalta	75
Omega	16
Paymaster	24 1-2
Pamour	104
Perron	153
Pend Oreille	150
Pickle Crow	270
Pioneer	210
Powell	78
Premier	93
Preston E.D.	196
Reno	14
Royalite	21
San Antonio	192
Sherritt G.	70
Siscoe	58
Sladen M.	43
Sud. Basin	113
Sullivan	56
Steep Rock	150
Sylvanite	233
T. Hughes	310
Tex. Can. Oil	110
Toburn	125
Ventures	240
W. Amulet	340
Wr. Hargreaves	625

TORONTO

Bell Telephone	154
B.A. Oil	19⅝
Brewing Corp.	125
Braz. Traction	5¼
Can. Bud Brewery	4¼
Canada Cement	4⅝
Can. Dredge	14
Can. Ind. Alcohol	190
C.P.R.	5¼
Can. Malting	33
Can. Vinegar	6½
Canada Car	8¾
Cockshutt Plow	5½
Cons. Bakeries	14¼
Con. Smelting	38½
Dominion Foundries	23½
Dominion Stores	4½
Dist. Seagrams	25
Fanny Farmer	26
Ford A.	17
Gypsum	3¼
Imperial Oil	11¾
Int. Nickel	37½
Inter. Pet.	16¾
Imperial Tobacco	14½
Loblaw	25½
Massey Harris	3⅝
Montreal Power	29¼
McColl Frontenac	5¾
Power Corp.	7¼
Price Bros.	72½
Steel of Canada	71
Shawinigan	17¾
Walker's	39
Walker's pfd.	19
C.P.A.	4½

NEW YORK

American T. and T.	162 3-4
Anaconda	21 5-8
Bethlehem Steel	77 3-8
Chrysler	76
General Electric	33 1-2
General Motors	47 3-4
Inter. Telephone	2 3-4
North American	19
Montgomery Ward	39 3-4
Phillips Pet.	36 1-2
Radio	4 3-4
Standard Oil of N.J.	39 1-4
Standard Brands	6 1-4
U. S. Steel	55 1-2
United Aircraft	40 1-2
Vanadium	31 1-2
Westinghouse	106

WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 17 (AP)—Steels today paced the Stock Market on another modest advance.

The list, slightly higher at the start, later faltered. Further buying then came in and, with a little pickup in volume, gains ranged from fractions to around a point near the fourth hour.

Stocks with forward inclinations included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, Great Northern, Packard, Boering, United Aircraft, Anaconda, Kennecott and Westinghouse.

Dome Mines and International, Canadian issues, advanced slightly while Canadian Pacific rested unchanged.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 17 (CP)—After a dull and lifeless start, activity and prices both picked up a bit during the later morning and early afternoon session on the Toronto Exchange today. No definite trend was apparent in the first hour, but the noon indices were all ahead slightly while volume at one o'clock was 67,000 shares, 20,000 ahead of yesterday's turnover at the same time.

Most interest was shown in MacLeod which gained 7 cents to 2.27. Other improved golds were Preston, up 8, and Hard Rock, up 5. In base metals Pend Oreille was ahead 5 and Steep Rock up 2. Western oils were ahead .05 in the index, chiefly on account of a 2-cent rise in Home.

International Petroleum was fairly active out continued on the soft side, dropping 3-8 to 16 1-2. Fractionally ahead were Fanny Farmer, Ford, Bell Telephone, Canada Car and C.P.R.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS

Wholesale to retail:

A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.26
Grade "C"	.19

BUTTER

Butter, No. 1	.23-.23 1-4
Butter, No. 2	.21-.22 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.23
Churning Cream, No. 2	.20

POULTRY

(Dressed)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12

(Live Poultry)

Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

Predicts Increase In Export Storage Eggs to Britain

Toronto, Sept. 17.—In reporting 8,500 cases of eggs inspected for export to Great Britain during August, the Dominion Department of Agriculture says that while the export movement of eggs at the present time is on a very small scale, compared with earlier in the season, it is still of sufficient volume to relieve the domestic market of stocks which otherwise might be burdensome.

Shipments during recent weeks have consisted of Grade B eggs out of current receipts, but last week there was a start on a shipment of Grade B out of storage. This movement probably will grow considerably in the next few weeks, the department states. Reports from a number of sections of the country indicate that fowl are being kept on farms for laying purposes rather than being marketed at current prices.

The local egg market remained steady as demand absorbed light supplies. Government inspected shipments of graded eggs sold at one cent per dozen premium.

Small offerings, the result of the seasonal decline in fresh receipts, cleared readily at firmer prices on the butter market here Monday. Ontario No. 1 creamery solids sold at 23 1-4 cents per pound.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, Sept. 17. — Produce market prices here as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 24 1-2c; first grade solids, jobbing price 24c

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 34 1-2c to 35c; A-medium, 33c to 33 1-2c; A-pullets, 27 1-2c to 28 1-2c; B, 24 1-2 to 25c; C, 16c to 16 1-2c. Receipts, 475 cases.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 17—(CP) — Liveweight were down 25 cents at Brantford and dressedweight down 20 cents at Hull, while prices were unchanged at London and Stratford in bacon-hog markets reporting early today.

Liveweights: Brantford $8.50.

Dressedweight: Hull $11.40; Brantford $11.50, plus transportation; London $11.50 plus transportation; Stratford $11.50 plus transportation.

Chatham later reported prices unchanged there at $8.25 liveweight and $11.00 dressedweight.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Sept. 17 (CP). — Cattle trade was very dull up to mid-session on the livestock market here today. A few butcher cows, fed calves and stockers sold at steady prices. There were no other sales of killers. Veal calves were firm. Lambs and sheep were steady. No price was established for hogs. The cattle holdover from Monday was 3,500 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Marketing Service were: Cattle 500, calves 520, hogs 1,100, sheep and lambs 680.

Butcher cows sold at $4-$5.50. Fed calves sold at $8.50-$10.50. Stockers sold at $5-$7.50.

Veal calves sold at $11-$11.50 for choice with a few up to $11.75 and common selling downward to $6.50.

Lambs sold at $9-$9.50 for good ewes and wethers with bucks at $8-$8.50.

Sheep sold at $2.50-$6.

Hogs closed previously at $9 off-trucks for bacons and $12 dressed-weight.

Montreal, Sept. 17—(CP)—Cattle were at a standstill and other classes of livestock held steady on Montreal markets today, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Receipts: Cattle 428; calves 357; sheep and lambs 101; and hogs 1,243.

A few good butcher cows made $5.50 with medium kinds from $4.50-$5 and canners and cutters from $2.50-$3.50. Common bulls brought $3.25-$4.25, mostly $3.50-$4.

Veal calves ranged from $7-$10.50 with a few tops at $11. Grass calves made the bulk of the offerings at $4-$5.

Good ewes and wethers sold for $6.50, bucks and culls were cut $1 and $2 per hundredweight respectively. Sheep were $3-$5 with an odd yearling up to $6.

Bacon hogs, fed and watered, made $9.25 and up to $9.50 off trucks, while hogs sold on rail grade brought $12.35 hot weight. Selects drew $1 premium with the regular cuts on off grades. Sows went for $5.50-$6, and tops sold at $6.50.

HEAVY BLOWS

(Continued from Page One)

The prime minister's statement, his first to the House of Commons in nearly two weeks, ranged from a capitulation of air raid casualties at home to a terse announcement that "sharp fighting" is taking place between the armored vehicles of British forces in western Egypt and those of the Italian invader.

Await Air Results With Confidence.

Disclosing that 2,000 persons had been killed and about 8,000 wounded in the first half of September in air raids on Britain, Mr. Churchill said this bombardment was carried out with the "silly" idea that it would force the British government to make peace. He added:

"We can await the decision of this prolonged air battle with sober and increasing confidence."

That, he said, was because the Royal Air Force has done serious damage to the German invasion preparations on the other side of the English Channel and because British strength is developing steadily by air, land and sea.

"We are only now beginning to get the increased flow of production from the great programs started at the outbreak of war," he said.

Mr. Churchill disclosed that two British platoons which were holding the Egyptian-Libyan border town of Salum have been withdrawn.

The speaker took the chair in the House at 2:45 p.m. (9:45 a.m. EDT). Eight minutes later air raid sirens sounded over London.

Chamberlain Cheered.

Neville Chamberlain, Lord President of the Council, was cheered as he took his seat on the government bench for the first time since his recent operation. He smiled in acknowledgment.

The Chamber of Commons was drastically changed for today's session. The stained glass windows on both sides had been removed and plain glass substituted. Glass sheeting which covers concealed roof lighting also had been removed.

An outburst of cheering greeted Mr. Churchill when he entered the House.

State of Vigilance Maintained

"All our preparations," Mr. Churchill said, "must be maintained in a state of vigilance."

Turning to the battle of Britain the Prime Minister declared Britain can "await the decision of this prolonged air battle with sober and increasing confidence", because "serious injury" has been done to the German barges and British strength is developing "steadily by land, by sea and, above all, by air."

He called Sunday's air battles "the most brilliant and fruitful" of any fought on a large scale up to that date by fighters of Royal Air Force.

The British defences shot down 185 German planes—130 of them bombers—that day alone and British losses were 25 fighting planes.

In the first half of September, about 2,000 civilians were killed and about 8,000 wounded by the German air bombings, Mr. Churchill disclosed.

Heavy Damage Inflicted on Foe

Of Britain's growing might, Mr. Churchill said it is "very agreeable to see the increases are maintained in spite of the enemy's efforts."

Present actions impose "a very heavy strain" on all concerned, he warned, but "we must not undertake the damage inflicted upon the enemy."

"Very heavy and prolonged nightly bombing" of Nazi ship concentrations and "all the focal points of the assembly of Nazi troops also is taxing Germany," he said.

The Prime Minister said he had made the most searching inquiries on the figures of the record German losses for last Sunday and was satisfied they were not in any way exaggerated.

Terrorization German Aim

Four-fifths of Britain's air raid casualties have occurred in London, he said. The attacks were concentrated on the capital in the hope "of terrorizing its citizens into submission."

This, he said, had been done with the silly idea that the people would be thrown into confusion and put pressure on the government to make peace.

Deliberate Attacks on Palace

Deliberate attacks on Buckingham Palace and upon "our beloved King and Queen," are also intended to have an unsettling effect upon public opinion, Mr. Churchill declared.

This was being done he said, apart from their general barbarity in which many hospitals, churches and public monuments have been damaged.

Damage to War-Making Capacity Small

Damage to "our war making capacity has been surprisingly small," Mr. Churchill said. "We are now only beginning to get the increased flow of production from the great programs started at the outbreak of the war."

Neither Germany nor Britain, he said, has "employed more than a portion of its forces", but there are good reasons to believe grievous inroads are being made on Germany's superiority of numbers and that Britain can await the decision of the prolonged air battles with sober and increasing confidence.

A.R.P. Organization Effective

The Air Raid Precautions organization has proven itself fully and the fire brigades are conspicuous, Mr. Churchill said in commenting on civilian services during the bombings.

The strain of preserving the health and well being of this enormour community and much else has cast a burden upon the machinery of government which calls for ceaseless exercise of all the authorities concerned, he said.

Foresees Much More Intensive Air Fights

"We must expect that very much more intensive examples of air fights will be experienced in the future," the Prime Minister went on, warning everyone to "carry on his work and see that output and the public services do not suffer."

He said he was glad to report that this heavy and intricate task is being efficiently and successfully discharged and "our whole system of life and labor is being adapted to conditions hitherto unknown to modern society."

New Air Raid Warnings Planned

Mr. Churchill said he had hoped to have some new rules about air raid warnings but the intensification of air attacks had made it difficult to draw precise conclusions and he thought it wise to allow the process of local adaptation to take its course for the moment.

Broadly speaking, he announced, the plan will be to use the siren, "which has been cut in half," as an alert and not as an alarm to "have a system of highly trained 'Jim Crowe' or lookout men who will give the alarm when danger is expected at any point."

RED CROSS DRIVE OPENS SEPT. 23

Ontario Will Attempt to Raise One-Half of the $5,000,000 Set

Ontario will attempt to raise one half of the not-less-than $5,000,000 objective of the Canadian Red Cross Society in its national campaign to be launched on September 23rd., it was decided at a meeting yesterday of the executive committee in Toronto, attended by branch representatives from all over the province.

"In the last campaign, Ontario subscribed $2,500,000 of the $5,000,000 raised by the whole of Canada", Col. John A. Cooper, president, said, "and we are confident that we can do our share again. Eighty per cent., of our money has been spent on actual war work, and 15 per cent, on peace time services, outpost hospitals, home nursing, and so on".

Of the $2,400,000 objective set for Ontario, Toronto will be expected to raise at least $1,000,000.

"Emergency calls, such as the provision of 10,000 parcels of food for British prisoners of war and of seven convalescent hospitals in Canada, have come to Red Cross during the past few weeks", Col. Cooper told the delegates, "and we cannot tell what other calls will be made on us from day to day. Red Cross must be prepared. That is why it is the duty of every one of us to do all we can to more than realize our objective in the coming campaign".

6th Tyendinaga

6th Tyendinaga—Rally Day Service was held at Mt. Pleasant Sunday afternoon, the programme was followed, Mrs. McKenzie taking the story "Serving Jesus with Gladness" and Mr. McKenzie gave a very helpful address. Both minister and superintendent were pleased to see so many out.

Miss Margaret Moult, Reg. N., has returned home after nursing Mrs. McCullough who has been seriously ill with pneumonia.

Mr. Albert Finkle has returned to Stirling, after spending several weeks with his niece Mrs. J. P. Treverton.

Miss Bernice Bradshaw, 3rd Line spent last week with her sister, Mrs. Lorne McKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Shaw and Douglas of Carmel, spent Wednesday evening at Mr. C. Goodman's.

GLOWING FIRES SEEN NIGHTLY

Glowing flames of a roaring bonfire have been lighting the Belleville Beaches the past few nights where crowds of young and old have been enjoying Autumn nights. The fires are supplied by the Beaches Association and are part of their program in catering to the public of the city. The fires will be lighted nightly as long as weather permits and officials of the Association extend a cordial welcome to the public to avail themselves of the opportunity to enjoy wiener and corn-roasts. Fuel is supplied by the management, while dancing facilities are free.

CAUGHT HIDING

(Continued from Page One)

Rathburn called Constable Bert Goddard at Central Police Station immediately after the shooting.

"Send a squad car right away," he said. "I've just shot a burglar."

Teddy, a 10-months old field spaniel, sounded the alarm that awakened Rathburn.

"I was going to have him destroyed because he has a skin disease, but I'm certainly going to have him fixed up now," Rathburn said later.

Ran To Get Gun

"I came downstairs to find the dog barking at the cellar door. I opened the door and followed him down the cellar. He went directly to the rear window and picked up a scent. When he followed it to the coal bin I ran back upstairs to get my gun."

The man was standing at the top of the cellar stairs when he returned.

"He flew at me," Rathbun said. "He struck me in the eye. My glasses did not break, but he drove the glass edge into my cheek bone.

"I said 'stop or I'll drill you.' He kept coming at me so there wasn't anything else I could do.

"He ran toward the back of the shop and I shot the first one wide and the second one low. Then ne turned around and started towards the front door. I struck him twice with the gun, but he rushed right past me."

Rathbun fired a third shot as the man tried to open the front door. "Then the man jumped up in to the bay window and tried to kick out the plate glass. This time I shot right at him. After that I don't remember what happened. I don't know where the fifth shot went."

MAY NOT CALL

(Continued from Page One)

first four years of the program, taking one training period every twelve months.

It is the intention to hold eight thirty-day camps in each twelve months starting next month, in thirty-nine camps accommodating a total of about 30,000 men. This means training of 240,000 men a year and, said Mr. Gardiner, men now in the 24-year-old class would probably take only one period of training and then make way in the following twelve months for the new crop of 21-year-olds.

Mr. Gardiner said it was estimated there were ample single men or childless widowers of the ages 21 to 24 inclusive, described in the call proclaimed last Saturday to provide for the entire program for the first twelve-month period.

National registration a month ago revealed a total of about 290,000 single men and childless widowers not now in the army, in the age classes of 21 to 24.

Start Again at 21

When the first twelve-month training period is concluded the call-up for the next year will again start from the 21-year class, now the 20-year class which registration showed to be 90,000.

The following year, that is, two years from now, the present 19-year-old class will be 21. This class was shown by the registration to be 96,000 in round figures.

The department assumes, Mr. Gardiner said, that even with the likelihood that a large percentage of the men called for training will choose to enlist in the active service force, there will always be enough in the four classes now on call to fill the training camps.

Revised figures obtained today showed a total of 989,739 single men or childless widowers between the ages of 19 and 45 not now in the army. This is very close to the original estimate made by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

FLEET AIR ARM

(Continued from Page One)

A few minutes suffice for a squadron to be raised by lifts to the flight deck, have their engines warmed up, and take the air. I saw eight aircraft land, have their wings folded, and be lowered into the hangar in an incredibly short time.

I was allowed to participate in the flying. Having discarded "Shirley Temple", the airman's name for a small lifebelt always carried, and donned "Mae West", a stouter lifebelt, I climbed into a machine affectionately styled "string bag" owing to the large number of wires visible.

Each Machine Named

I shouldered a parachute harness and was attached by a "monkey strap" to the floor of the cockpit. The monkey tail replaces the old safety belt, and is swivelled to one's rear.

Each machine bears a pet name. I took off in "Batty," accompanied by "Wimpy" and "Stinker." My pilot was known as the snotties' nurse, because he watches over the snotties (midshipmen) on board.

We rose to 5,000 feet in search of Italian submarines, but as they were so coy, we dropped calcium bombs at imaginary submarines and then proceeded to wipe them out, dive-bombing to 500 feet and then soaring in sharp left and right bankings to avoid equally imaginary enemy fire.

The return to the flight deck, which from the air appears as narrow as a piece of tape, is always a thrill, but the pilots are so skilled that each day sees an uninterrupted sequence of happy landings.

"Wimpy" however, slightly damaged her under-carriage. Immediately, "Jumbo" a five-ton crane on pneumatic tires, rose by the lift, and carried "Wimpy" to the lift and repair shop.

The intricate routine of precise and complicated jobs goes on night and day, the adage of the navy still obtaining in principle: "On six days shalt thou labor and do all thou art able, on the seventh shalt thou holystone the deck and scrub the cale."

BRITISH INFLICT

(Continued from Page One)

While the main Italian force appeared to be consolidating its position around the border port of Salum, captured Saturday night, strong motorized units have pushed on past Buqbuq, an oasis a mile and a half from the Mediterranean consisting of a well, a few palm trees and several mud huts.

Buqbuq, on the road to Alexandria, was abandoned weeks ago by its Egyptian inhabitants.

Egypt Depending on British

The Egyptian government, which still has not declared war on Italy, is rushing anti-aircraft preparations but apparently is counting on the British to halt the advance long before Italians get anywhere near the fertile Nile valley in which almost all of Egypt's population is concentrated.

A British communique last night said Royal Air Force bombing planes swooped down on large motor transports heading the Italian advance near Buqbuq, sending the vehicles up in flames which could be seen 40 miles away. Tank trucks carrying gasoline were said to be special targets.

The communique declared Italian planes supporting the desert push ran into stiff opposition. R. A. F. fighters shot down six Italian bombers and three others were listed as probably destroyed. One British plane failed to return from the engagement.

To the south, continued skirmishing was reported among patrols along the farflung northern border of Kenya colony. British forces inflicted severe losses and retarded Italian forces trying to move southward in the direction of Nairobi, Kenya capital.

Battle in Desert Sand Storms

Rome, Sept. 17—(AP)—Columns of Italian and British motorised troops battled today in sandstorms of the Egyptian desert, the Italian High Command reported, with the Fascists making Sidi Barrani, 54 miles inside Egypt, their objective.

Sand from the Sahara blew across the hot battlefield near the Mediterranean shore.

(Cairo dispatches said that temperatures of 110 and 120 degrees prevailed and that scant water supplies tormented the soldiers.)

"Sharp fighting took place yesterday in the Sidi Barrani region between our advanced troops and an English armored formation," said the Italian communique. "The battle is continuing in the midst of clouds of sand blown up by hot Sahara winds."

Italians Drive at Sidi Barrani

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani was attempting to move his army of natives and blackshirts into Sidi Barrani, which is noted chiefly for its dozen ancient Roman wells with their good water.

From the Libyan border there is only a dirt road along the coast to Sidi Barrani. From there there is an asphalt highway for 100 miles to-Matruh, chief British base in the desert frontier lands.

There is a military airport at Sidi Barrani, which the Italian commander hopes to seize.

V. C. FOR MEN

(Continued from Page One)

Authorities explained that the V.C. is awarded for conspicuous gallantry "in the presence of the enemy" and it remains to be seen whether their deed qualifies in this connection. The News Chronicle said, however, that "if their action is not gallantry at its most conspicuous, then there is no such quality as bravery".

"For each of them a V.C. would not be too great a reward," the paper added. "We hope that they will receive it."

Tablet Suggested.

The paper suggested a tablet at St. Paul's bearing such words as these: "Here five brave men gladly risked their lives for three days that this great sanctuary might endure."

The Times called the removal the "outstanding deed of heroism so far recorded in the capital" and said that their exploits had been seldom surpassed even in the great traditions of the corps of Royal Engineers.

The sketch said the story of the bomb removal will go down in history "as one of the shining episodes of the war".

The Manchester Guardian declared that "because St. Paul's holds so great a place in our imaginations and our history, the men who saved it enter into its great tradition. One day their names should be commemorated on its walls."

Lieut. Davies' wife told a reporter that "during the last few weeks he has done a lot of things which have not been mentioned but which have been almost as praiseworthy as the St. Paul's job."

Lieut. Davies was last home on leave ten days ago but in the early hours of the morning, when London was being bombed, he was roused from his sleep and ordered to return immediately.

Daily Telegrams To Wife.

Since the bombing of the metropolis started he has been sending his wife daily telegrams. The last one was sent while he was dealing with the bomb at St. Paul's. It read: "Working hard, very busy, love, dad."

"I had no idea what he was doing until I heard it on the wireless yesterday and recognized his name," his wife said.

"I immediately sent a telegram congratulating him."

Lieut. Davies' hobby is reading thrillers. When he last left home he took a stock of Edgar Wallace books with him.

MARITIMES BEAR BRUNT OF STORM

Coastal Shipping Pounded and Small Vessels Are Grounded as Storm Races Up From Bahamas

Halifax, Sept. 17—(CP)—A tropic-born gale rushed off to the northeast of the Maritimes today, leaving a wake littered with destruction in a wide swath running from the south shore of Nova Scotia through New Brunswick.

Damage running into hundreds of thousands of dollars was caused by the furious gale that raged over the three provinces last night, after swirling up the Atlantic seaboard from the Bahamas. Prince Edward Island escaped the full brunt of the wind, but the other two provinces suffered heavily.

Coastal shipping was pounded and several small vessels sunk or grounded. Ashore, communication and power services were disrupted in many areas; crops were levelled, with Annapolis Valley orchardists hard hit; hundreds of trees were felled, and much damage of a minor nature scattered through dozens of communities.

A few persons were injured, but none seriously.

The wind roared over Nova Scotia and New Brunswick at an average rate of 40 miles an hour, but it frequently reached 60. Meteorologists here said a maximum of 70 was reported from Moncton, N.B.

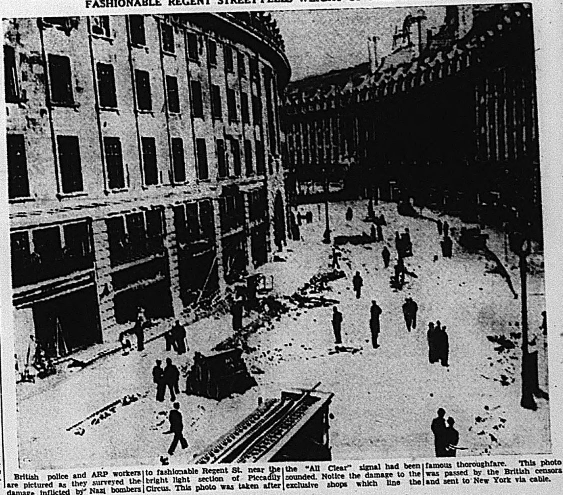
The gale, one of the hardest to hit the maritimes in years, concentrated its greatest damage in the Annapolis Valley. First, hasty surveys indicated to fruit-growers the probable loss of around 300,000 barrels of apples.

Exceptionally high tides prevailed all along the seaboard. In Halifax and other Nova Scotia harbors, the seas flooded over the wharves.

Severely Burned in Fire

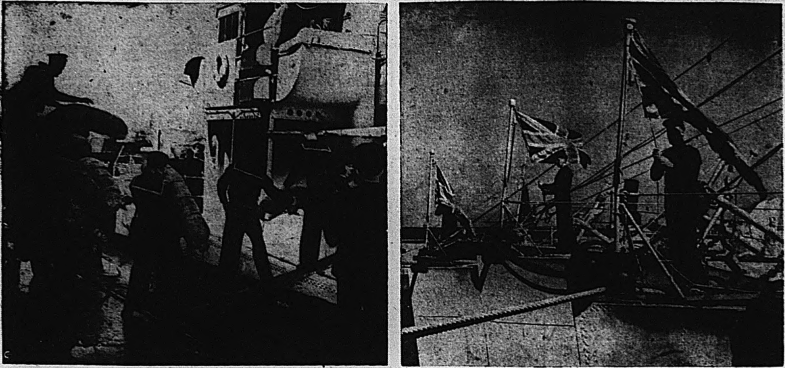
Athens, Ont., Sept. 17 —(CP)— Walter Davis, bachelor of Green Bush a son of Henry Davis, a farmer near that village, 12 miles or so from Brockville, was severely burned about the head and chest on Monday as he was attempting to rescue his team of horses from his burning barn.

FASHIONABLE REGENT STREET FEELS WEIGHT OF NAZI BOMBS



British police and ARP workers are pictured as they surveyed the damage inflicted by Nazi bombers to fashionable Regent St. near the bright light section of Piccadilly Circus. This photo was taken after the "All Clear" signal had been sounded. Notice the damage to the exclusive shops which line the famous thoroughfare. This photo was passed by the British censors and sent to New York via cable.

WITH DECKS CLEARED FOR ACTION U.S. DESTROYERS TAKEN OVER BY BRITISH



History was made at an eastern Canadian port as sailors of the British navy, LEFT, loaded their kit aboard the newly acquired United States destroyers, preparatory to turning their gray steel noses toward the open sea, bound for the fight for liberty with decks cleared for action. The replacing of the Stars and Stripes with the Union Jack on the bows of the destroyers, RIGHT, marked the completion of a fresh chapter of the Anglo-American co-operation in the defence of democracy.

HIS MAJESTY CARRIES ON

Indiscriminately bombing London, including the House of Lords, Downing St. and Buckingham Palace, in a desperate attempt to force the royal family and the government to flee the capital, Hitler's latest act of terrorism has failed miserably in its objective. With the bombing of the royal residence Their Majesties have been drawn even closer to their subjects. Shortly after the bombing of the palace, the King and Queen were once again busily engaged in consoling and encouraging other victims of German barbarism. His Majesty is shown chatting with a workman during a recent visit to an aircraft factory.

BERLIN HEARS ROAR OF BRITISH BOMBERS AND FEELS CRASH OF BRITISH BOMBS

Repeatedly assured by Dr. Goebbels' propaganda that Berlin could never be bombed, residents of the German capital received a rude awakening when British bombers roared over the capital and dropped tons of high explosive bombs on the heart of the city. Damage was so great that a number of streets had to be roped off and evacuated. The famous Reichstag building, ARROW, was among the buildings damaged by the avenging British bombs. The famous Brandenburg Gate and Potsdam station were among other points to feel the weight of British bombs.

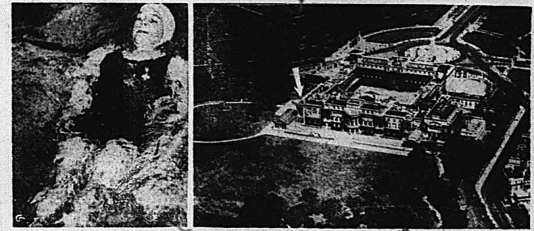
POWER PLANT COMPLETELY DEMOLISHED BY TWO BLASTS

Here are the skeletonized remains of the Hercules Powder Co. plant in which it is feared 50 persons were killed and more than 200 injured when it was rocked by two explosions at Kenvil, N.J., 30 miles northwest of the New York metropolitan area. Military and civil authorities have launched an investigation of the explosion. It was learned that several members of the German-American Bund had recently been discharged by the Hercules Co., which had just received a large contract from the United States government.

A GIFT FROM AMERICA TO EMBATTLED BRITAIN

British Consul Godfrey Haggard is shown, LEFT, with Mrs. Oso Johnson, widow of the famed big game hunter, and William V. C. Ruxton, president of the ambulance corps, standing in front of the line-up of 35 ambulances that will shortly be shipped from New York to England. The ambulances are a gift from America to embattled Britain.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE DAMAGED BY NAZI DELAYED ACTION BOMB



A number of rooms used by the King and Queen were damaged, the swimming pool used by the Princesses was wrecked and all the windows on the north side of Buckingham Palace were shattered when a delayed action bomb, dropped by Nazi air raiders, exploded in the palace grounds close to the royal building, as indicated by arrow. The royal family was absent when the bomb exploded and there were no casualties amongst the palace staff. The swimming pool where Princess Elizabeth, LEFT, and Princess Margaret Rose used to swim every morning was reported completely wrecked by the force of the explosion.

VETERAN AMERICAN PILOTS FLOCK TO JOIN R.C.A.F.

Hundreds of veteran United States pilots are flocking to join the Royal Canadian Air Force. Typical of these airmen are these three pilots, LEFT, who exchanged lucrative positions in their own country for the air force blue uniform of the R.C.A.F. Most of them with experience in army, navy and commercial flying, a long line of eager recruits from south of the border are shown, RIGHT, at Manning Pool in Toronto, through which they will pass for additional training as instructors under the commonwealth air training plan.

ARISTOCRATS OF THE PROLETARIAT WATCH PHYSICAL CULTURE PARADE

The camera is not often so favored as when it caught this gathering of the mighty ones of the Soviet Union in one bunch as they reviewed the all-union physical culture parade in Moscow recently. LEFT to RIGHT are Commissar A. Badayev; Mikhail Kalinin, president of the U.S.S.R.; Klementi Voroshilov, former commissar for war and chief of the Red Army; Dictator Joseph Stalin, Foreign Commisar Molotov; Commissioner L. Kaganovich, A. Andreyev; G. Malenkov, S. Timoshenko.

Probabilities

Lower Lake region: Light to moderate variable winds; fair and warm. Thursday: Moderate southerly winds; partly cloudy and warm, followed by scattered thundershowers.

The Ontario Intelligencer

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1940

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	75	48.8
Year ago	64	39

Weather: Clear.

* *

TERRIFIC ASSAULT ON LONDON TURNED BACK

"Large Scale" Raids on German Shipping Concentrations Carried Out

Italian Invaders Move Toward Major Battle

2 New Internment Camps to Replace One in N. W. Ont.

Defence Minister Also Announces Arsenals Transferred to Munitions Dept.

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (CP).—Two new internment camps will be built to replace one in northwestern Ontario from which escapes have been made, Defence Minister Ralston announced today.

The minister told a press conference that recommendations for precautions against escape and means of identification of prisoners had been made by a special board under Col. P. A. Piuze, officer commanding the Canadian Provost Corps. These recommendations had been accepted and were being implemented and staffs at camps will be increased.

A prisoner who escaped yesterday from a jail near Toronto and was later captured near Burlington, had been out with a working party and simply slipped away, the minister said. The camp there was manned by a guard, "better than which I have never seen".

One Still At Large.

Up to date escapes from internment camps numbered eight. Six were recaptured. One man got across the United States border and one is still at large, presumably in northwestern Ontario where the camp is located.

Capt. H. A. Dyde, special assistant to the minister, replied to a press conference question concerning some mail for internees which now is held in the base post office for shipping back to England.

Mr. Dyde said this mail was addressed to persons who had never come to Canada. Some of them were lost when the Andorra Star which was bringing internees to the Dom-

(Continued on Page Eleven)

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 18 (CP).—Showers have occurred in the Lake Superior region, while in other parts of Ontario it has been fair and warm. The weather has been fair and warm over the Prairie Provinces.

Lake Superior—Moderate easterly winds; partly cloudy today and Thursday with scattered showers and not much change in temperature.

Manitoba—Fair and warm. Thursday, mostly fair and warm; scattered thundershowers.

Saskatchewan—Partly cloudy tonight and Thursday with a few scattered showers; somewhat cooler on Thursday.

Alberta—Partly cloudy and cooler tonight and Thursday with scattered showers.

	8 a.m.	High	Low
Victoria	51	56	50
Calgary	41	74	41
Edmonton	42	74	40
Winnipeg	53	78	52
Sault Ste. Marie .	57	69	54
Toronto	54	76	52
Ottawa	54	76	51
Quebec	58	72	52
Halifax	57	59	54
Detroit	57	71	52
New York	64	77	61
Miami	76	88	75
Los Angeles		81	11

Why The Weather?

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Auroras! These immensely spectacular displays are frequently seen at this time of the year. They are commonly from 60 to 100 miles high, but they have been observed 600 miles high. They assume several forms, such as arcs, bands, rays, curtains, and diffused glows, all in various colors; some are steady while others are changeable. Auroras have no effect on the weather. It is believed that they are an electrical phenomenon due to alpha and beta rays shot out from the sun through the tenuous air at those great heights. This belief is supported by the fact that they are accompanied by magnetic storms.

Airforce Damages Ports in Belgium

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers attacked Ostend and Zeebrugge on the German-held Belgian coast yesterday afternoon, scoring direct hits on harbor installations at Ostend, the Air Ministry announced today.

WILLKIE CLAIMS U.S. GOV'T ON SPENDING ORGY

Republican Nominee Linked National Defence With Economic Improvement

HITS THIRD TERM

Albuquerque, N. M., Sept. 18 — (AP)—Wendell L. Willkie, moving his Presidential campaign into the deep southwest, linked national defence today with economic improvement as the two principal problems confronting the United States.

"Rehabilitation of our domestic economy is the front line trench of any defence program," the Republican Presidential nominee told reporters last night.

He had discussed the same subjects earlier in the evening before an audience estimated by Mayor Clyde Tingley at 21,000, one of the largest crowds ever to attend a political rally in New Mexico.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Parish Bell-Ringers Will Sound Alarm If Germans Attempt To Land by Parachutes

London, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Parish bell-ringers will sound the alarm if German troops attempt to land in this country by parachute.

Military authorities suggested that soldiers should be responsible for ringing the bells but, said the Secretary of the Archbishop of Canterbury, "it was pointed out to them that bell-ringing is a very difficult and complicated matter. Soldiers would be likely to be swung off their feet and injured".

If the Germans do try paratroops, church bell warnings will be rung only in the area where they come down. There will not be a general alarm.

The order to rink the bells will be given by the military incumbents of as many parishes as are affected, and only when the military are satisfied that the parachutists are invaders and not men baling out from damaged planes.

BRITISH HARASS RATHER THAN HALT ITALIAN COLUMNS

Where British Will Make a Stand Remains Military Secret

WILL CHOOSE FIELD

Farthest Point of Italian Advance Into Egypt is Believed to be 80 Miles

Cairo, Sept. 18 (AP)—Heavy and successful bombing of Italian troops at Sidi Barrani, Egypt, was announced today in a British headquarters communique.

The Italian invaders who advanced along the Mediterranean coastline of Egypt's western desert, the communique said, are engaged in consolidating their position.

Where the British would make a stand remained a military secret. British operations thus far, it was said, have been designed to harass rather than halt the two motorized Italian columns leading the eastward drive.

Despite sandstorms and temperatures ranging up to 120, the Italians in four days have advanced from the Libyan border to positions beyond Sidi Barrani, 60 miles inside Egypt, reaching the start of an asphalt road leading 350 miles to the Suez Canal.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Soviet-Danish Trade Treaty Will be Signed

Moscow, Sept. 18 (AP).—Signing of a Russian-Danish trade treaty, subject of weeks of negotiations, is expected soon.

Danish Minister of Public Works Larsen, who arrived with his staff by plane yesterday called this morning at the foreign trade commissariat.

Denmark (now occupied by Germany) is understood to have offered export of ship machinery in exchange for grain and oil products from Russia.

The Soviet Union concluded trade agreements recently with Sweden, Hungary and Finland and also renewed the annual accord with the United States.

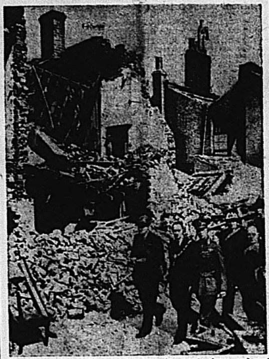
Bomb Falls on Lawn Of Westminster Abbey

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—A bomb fell on the lawn of Westminster Abbey, historic English cathedral which lies across from the Houses of Parliament, during a recent air raid and blasted out a small crater but caused no damage to the abbey.

CAR AND GAS STOLEN

Waukegan, Ill., (AP)—When Angelos Paras came to police headquarters to report that the gasoline had been siphoned from the tank of his parked car, the officers telephoned a garage to send him a supply. Soon Paras was back. While he was reporting the gasoline theft, he said, someone had stolen the car.

KING BRAVES TIME-BOMBS



Here is one reason Germany has found it impossible to break British morale. King George (third from left) is setting the people a courageous example, touring bombed areas to spread cheer and confidence despite danger of deadly time-bomb explosions. His own home, Buckingham Palace, has been bombed repeatedly.

TIDES HIGHEST BUT NO HUNS RIDE IN ON THEM

Postponement of German Invasion Plan Explained Due to Constant R.A.F. Bombardment of Barges

HIGH TIDE FACTOR

(By J. F. Sanderson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, Sept. 18 (CP Cable) — High tides, the highest of the year, surged around Britain's coasts today—but Hitler's flat-bottomed barges did not come riding in with them.

The tides today were at their peak along the east coast facing Hitler's invasion armada across the channel in French, Belgian, Netherlands and German ports and estuaries. It was the super-tide of the year and the sea will take at least a week in dropping to the normal level.

What is Hitler's Plan?

Whether Hitler intended launching his invasion attempt to coincide with this high water tide and full moon may never be known, but for weeks some military observers here have pointed to this danger period. A particularly high tide would be advantageous to the German attempt because it would give the barges another foot or two of seaway along the beaches and shorelines where destroyers could not follow them.

The likeliest explanation for the postponement of the German plans is constant air bombardment of the invasion fleet by planes of the Royal Air Force.

For days reports have been circulating that dead German soldiers have been seen in the channel and along the French coast. This is taken as evidence of destruction by the British bombardment because it is authoritatively denied that there has been any invasion attempt so far.

GIVEN WEEK'S REMAND

Kitchener, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—Lambro Gakeff obtained a week's adjournment when he appeared in Police Court today to face a charge of breach of the Defence of Canada regulations, in order to obtain counsel.

Reputedly a member of the Jehovah's Witnesses sect the accused was hailed to court after three of his children allegedly refused to salute the flag and to sing "God Save the King," in a Kitchener school.

The Queen Donates Furniture

London (CP)—The Queen ordered several suites of furniture from Windsor Castle sent to bomb-damaged homes in London's east end today.

GENERAL COUNCIL REJECTS MOTION TOCLOSECOLLEGES

Refers Motion to Board of Christian Education for Consideration

FAMILY LIFE UPHELD

Winnipeg, Sept. 18—(CP)— A proposal to close some of the United Church theological colleges was rejected last night by the ninth general council of the United Church in session here.

The proposal came from a sessional committee but the council referred it without instruction to the Board of Christian Education for careful consideration. The Board's recommendation on the matter will be presented at the next general council meeting.

Elmer Davis of Kingston, Ont., said that it was unfair to refer the matter to the Board of Christian Education. He urged that the question be decided by the council now. Other commissioners, however, opposed this view.

Rev. D. S. Dix of Saskatoon declared "if we close any of our colleges, it would be a mark that we have failed."

(Continued on Page Eleven)

French Morocco Still Loyal to Petain

Casablanca, French Morocco, Sept. 18 (CP) —Several persons were arrested by French Morocco police today for "anti-National activities," including distribution of leaflets urging French colonies to follow Gen. Charles De Gaulle, leader of Frenchmen still fighting Germany and Italy.

Authorities ordered prosecution of all persons who attempt to sow dissention "at a time when the union of France and her empire are considered necessary to their preservation."

Admiralty List

London, Sept. 18.—(CP Cable— The Admiralty today issued a list of casualties arising "from various hazards of war unconnected with any particular ship or operation". The list contains 804 names.

Included are 22 officers killed, 36 missing and presumed killed, and nine who died of wounds or injuries. The missing officers include Acting Commander E. L. Woodhall of the Destroyer Eclipse, who was awarded the Distinguished Service Order in December for successful actions against submarines.

GERMANY LOSES 1867 PLANES SINCE AUGUST 8

Nazis Lose 4,000 Men to 621 British Planes and Less Than 600 Men

NO RETALIATION

German Plane Production Reported Cut 30 Per Cent by British Bombings

London, Sept. 18—(CP)— The Royal Air Force has lost 621 planes of all kinds and fewer than 600 men since Aug. 8. Sir Archibald Sinclair, Air Secretary, said today, while in the same period the Germans have lost 1,867 planes and 4,000 men.

British fliers in the Near East have shot down 56 Italian planes with a loss of 15 to themselves, the Minister added.

Sir Archibald said that the decrease in German plane production as a result of British bombings had been placed as high as 30 per cent and that loss of sleep affected the morale of German workers.

He said that while Nazi planes bombed London and killed civilians, retaliatory attacks by the R. A. F. would be a "betrayal of our responsibility for the defence of London and this country" because it would divert Britain's fliers from military objectives.

R.A.F. Men, Machines Better

Germany, he conceded, is superior in number of machines and in the shorter distances her men must fly, but Britain is confident of "beating the enemy because our machines are much better and our men are much better."

He disclosed that assembly of pieces of a bomb which blew a crater in a Kent airdrome showed the bomb had "probably been taken from one of our dumps in France."

VON RIBBENTROP LEAVES FOR ROME TO DISCUSS WAR

Visit Planned Before Visit to Berlin of Spanish Envoy Announced

WILL MEET CIANO

Berlin, Sept. 18—(AP)— Spain and Egypt, and probably Great Britain and the United States, appeared today to be the subjects which Foreign Minister Ribbentrop will discuss with Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Ciano when they meet in Rome.

Ribbentrop left Berlin today for the Italian capital, where he is due tomorrow afternoon.

Official circles were more than usually reticent about the visit.

May Be Secret Treaty

Spain's geographical position and her natural resources are such

(Continued on Page Twelve)

Vitamin K May be Possible Preventive in Treatment of Cancer

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Philadelphia, Sept. 18—(AP)— A new attack on cancer, trying vitamin K as a possible preventive, was announced to the bicentennial conference of the University of Pennsylvania here today.

K is the recently discovered vitamin which aids blood to clot. Alfalfa is rich in K. But an inexhaustible new source has been supplied by chemists who synthesized K in five forms.

The cancer prevention experiments are starting at Harvard University and were described by Dr. Louis F. Fieser, Professor of Chemistry.

The K will be tried on a common form of skin cancer caused by tarry substances.

In animals it is only necessary to rub some of the tarry "hydrocarbon" on the skin and lethal cancers develop. The vitamin will be injected to see whether its presence will prevent these cancers.

The experiment is exactly like a prize fight. K is the "second" at the ringside, and the real cancer fighter is prothrombin, the clotting substance in blood. K stimulates human and animal bodies to make prothrombin.

Experiments have shown also that bile acid and hormones, which humans possess in abundance, are able to break down into some of the tar chemicals which are most potent in causing cancer.

When these cancer chemicals were fed to rabbits, the animals' bodies changed them into harmless compounds. Whether this protector of the rabbits was prothrombin, or something still unknown, the Harvard experiments promise important information.

A startling new fact, reported by Dr. Fieser is that when the cancer-producing "hydrocarbons" contain no nitrogen they cause cancer at the site of application; but that when nitrogen is added, cancers appear remote from the site.

"Certain Targets" In Germany Hit Says Air Ministry

Nazi Raiders Subject London to Seven Quick Daylight Raids After Nightlong Attack

London, Sept. 18—(CP)—Royal Air Force fighter pilots and ground gunners meeting German aircraft in a battle east of London today turned back the full power of one of the greatest assaults thus far pointed at the capital.

The Press Association said the attackers were beaten off in a terrific engagement over the Thames estuary while Londoners sought shelter in the fifth alarm of the day.

In all, up to 6 p.m. (1 p.m. E.D.T.) there had been seven daylight air raid alarms in this capital, a new high.

Three formations of twin-engined bombers flying at 15,000 feet and escorted by swarms of Messerschmitts—about 300 planes in all—crossed England's first line of defence, the channel cliffs, and drove toward London.

The sky at the channel coast seemed to observers to be full of planes. Exhaust from the high-flying motors traced an eerie, eccentric pattern across the sky.

200 Nazi Planes Counted

At one time those observers counted 200 separate wisps of exhaust vapor.

The massed raiders roared toward the Thames Estuary and London, anti-aircraft shell explosions flowering their way. When they were well inland the British fliers made battle contact.

The rattle of machine guns and aerial cannon echoed from high in the clouds and the formations broke up into a countless series of dogfights.

Britain, aware that 11 consecutive nights and days of such aerial assaults might be a prelude to attempted land invasion, announced new smashes at potential jump-off points on the continent ashore.

About the time the British and Germans were tangled in the battle of the Thames estuary the Air Ministry announced that the R. A. F.'s medium bombers yesterday afternoon scored direct hits on harbor installations at Ostend and ships at Zeebrugge, both Belgian ports.

One raider attacked four barges off the continental coast and hit two of them, the communique said, while others bombed a convoy off The Hague, The Netherlands, and a new airdrome at Ymuiden, The Netherlands.

In today's big thrust at London, following a record night attack, Germany's bombers were vastly outnumbered by their escort of sharp-nosed Messerschmitts. The exact number of bombers was undetermined, but observers said the fighter escort was probably the largest ever sent to protect such a small number.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

30 Minefields Plantedby RAF

German-Occupied Harbors From Norway to Bay of Biscay Strewn With Mines

London, Sept 18 —(CP)— Royal Air Force pilots have planted more than 30 separate minefields in German-occupied harbors and territorial waters from the Norwegian coast to the Bay of Biscay, the Air Ministry announced today. The sowing began in May.

"It is known that thousands of tons of enemy shipping have been destroyed in them," the Ministry said.

"Some of the mines have been laid within a stone's throw of the quayside in some enemy harbors and the enemy has not been able to prevent their being laid at will, even in strictly preserved and heavily defended waters."

BRITAIN TESTS NEW METHOD TO DOWN NAZIS

System Has Already Proved Successful in Defending Small Vital Areas

DEVICE EASILY MADE

By J. F. SANDERSON

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 18 (CP Cable)— Britain is experimenting with a new method of bringing down German aircraft which already has proved successful in defending small vital areas. It is understood that it has not yet been used in the London barrage.

For security reasons the nature of the device cannot be disclosed but it is not a gun or a ray and has nothing to do with balloons.

If it can be developed it will add great strength to the general defences of the country. One of its advantages is that it is comparatively cheap and easy to manufacture. Another is that it does not require a large force of men to operate because of its simple principles.

21ST BATTALION TO HOLD ANNUAL REUNION SEPT. 28

—Toronto, Sept. 18 —(CP)— The 21st Battalion of the Canadian Expeditionary Force will hold its 22nd annual reunion here Sept. 28, it was announced today. Members from all parts of Canada and many parts of the United States are expected to attend.

From Ontario, many members of the battalion clubs will attend from Kingston, Cornwall, Ottawa, Peterborough, Belleville, Hamilton, St. Thomas and Windsor

Coming Events

REMEMBER THE 25th. ANNIVERSARY of the St. Julien Chapter, I.O.D.E. Tea and Home Cooking Sale at the home of Mrs. Blake Ives, 14 Mt. Pleasant Road, Wednesday, Oct. 2nd. S18-1t

BINGO. THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS will open their regular weekly Bingo, Thursday, Sept. 19, 8.30, introducing something new in Bingo. Admission 25c for 25 games. Voucher prizes, door prize. Thursday evening's entire proceeds will be used to furnish smokes for all Belleville boys overseas. Come and assist a worthy cause. Everybody welcome. S18-2t

THE MONTHLY MEETING OF The Red Shield War Auxiliary of the Salvation Army will take place at the Citadel on Thursday, Sept. 19 at 2.30 o'clock. All ladies interested in the Red Shield are invited. S18-1t

Say 'Invasion Prospects Dwindle; Nazi Raids' Purpose Unachieved

By DREW MIDDLETON
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

London, Sept. 18 (AP).—Military attaches and correspondents who experienced the blizzards of bombs which fell on Warsaw, Barcelona and Madrid expressed belief today that London already has taken more punishment than any other city, even Rotterdam, in the past eleven days of intensive German air attacks.

Despite these attacks, however, the consensus of these experienced observers is that the German luftwaffe has failed to achieve the raids' two main purposes and that the prospects of invasion are diminished because of this failure.

The two prime objectives, they gave as:

1. Disorganization of London's communications so that supplies and reinforcements could not be sent to the areas where invasion is planned, and

2. Demoralization of the civilian population.

They added that the British government must adopt swifter and more effective methods for housing, feeding and clothing refugees bombed out of their homes if civilian morale is to be maintained at the present level.

Comparing other bombed cities with London, one British correspondent known as "the world's most bombed man" said:

"Rotterdam caught a packet, but it was all in one section. If you could fit London's bombed areas into a section of similar size, the ruin and damage would be far greater than Rotterdam's."

NCF

Build STRONG BONES and SOUND TEETH

"NEO-CHEMICAL" FOOD
VITAMIN AND MINERAL TONIC

24 DAY SIZE $1.15
72 DAY SIZE $2.45
ECONOMY SIZE (144 DAYS' SUPPLY) $4.45

Capsules for adults' $1.25 • $2.25 • $5.00

McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
Phone 135

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

AIRPLANE LANDS AT PICTON STATION

The Picton Air Gunnery and Bombing School was officially opened on Monday afternoon when one of the Trenton R.C.A.F. planes made a perfect landing on the recently paved north and south runway. This was the first plane to land at the Picton school, the ground work of which is rapidly nearing completion.

Construction of the runways, on account of the width of construction involved, has the equivalent of approximately 14 miles of ordinary highway pavement. Work was started two months ago and to build the equivalent of 14 miles of pavement in this time is a record which much exceeds the ordinary speed of such construction.

CHIMNEY SWIFT CAUGHT IN HOUSE

Miss Lena Ward of Demorestville recently caught a chimney swift which came down the chimney at Mr. Alex Anderson's home. On one leg was a metal band, carrying the inscription F6:89. On the other side was "Notify Biological Survey, Washington, D.C."

FEW DUCKS SHOT ON OPENING DAY IN NORTHERN AREAS

The opening of the official duck-hunting season north of Highway number seven, brought grand weather, numerous sportsmen, lots of noise, but few ducks, according to local nimrods returning from that section of the district. Birds appeared to be more numerous in the evening than in the daytime. the best "shoots" were encountered at Pigeon Lake in spite of the fact that a number of hunting novices were in attendance who shot down everything that had wings, including sparrows.

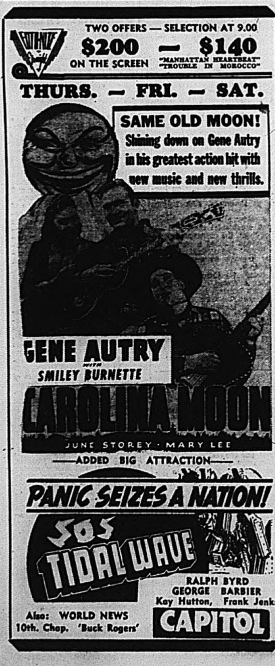
26 YEARS IN BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY
and
PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

LEONA RIGGS
RESUMES CLASSES
in
PIANO, VOICE, THEORY.
Telephone 50
S16-18-20

FOR SALE
TWO USED FORDSON TRACTORS
Good Working Order.
1 TRACTOR PLOUGH — TWO WORK HORSES.
Apply
TRUDEAU
MOTOR SALES
125 Front St. BELLEVILLE

PLACE SEWER FOR NEW PLANT

Department of Public Works employees are digging deeply below the surface of East Bridge Street near the Government Liquor Control Board store where excavations are being made for the installation of a sewer which will serve the new Spencer Frigid Lockers plant on McAnnany Street. The plant is expected to open sometime in November.



TWO OFFERS — SELECTION AT 9.00
$200 ON THE SCREEN — $140 "MANHATTAN HEARTBEAT" "TROUBLE IN MOROCCO"
THURS. — FRI. — SAT.
SAME OLD MOON! Shining down on Gene Autry in his greatest action hit with new music and new thrills.
GENE AUTRY with SMILEY BURNETTE
CAROLINA MOON
JUNE STOREY · MARY LEE
—ADDED BIG ATTRACTION—
PANIC SEIZES A NATION!
SOS TIDAL WAVE
RALPH BYRD
GEORGE BARBIER
Kay Hutton, Frank Jenks
Also: WORLD NEWS
10th. Chap. 'Buck Rogers'
CAPITOL

Tag Day for the Blind
BELLEVILLE
Saturday Next
HELP THE BLIND TO HELP THEMSELVES.
Support the Canadian National Institute for the Blind.
S16-18-20

JAMIE CLARK TO PIPE FOR S. & G. REGIMENT

"Wee Jamie" Clark, well-known Scottish piper of this city left for Kingston today where he will take up piping duties with the Stormont and Glengarry Highlanders. The seventy-four-year old Scotsman, won instant popularity with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment last year and the gay pibrochs of his skirling pipes did much to encourage recruiting for that unit. Possessed of splendid physical stamina, the popular piper "played" his regiment on many a lengthy route march and claimed he was as "fresh as the proverbial daisy" at the end of the long parades.

FARMERS DELAY SOWING FALL GRAIN

Many farmers of the Hastings and Prince Edward district have delayed sowing their fall wheat and rye on account of the continued dry weather it is reported. The recent rain was not sufficient to insure a good start of fall grain, it is claimed, and more is needed at present both for fall seeding and for pasture.

If moisture doesn't come soon the acreage sown to fall grains this year may be decreased although there is still time for sufficient growth before the freeze-up, as of late years September 20th has been considered the deadline for sowing fall grain.

OBITUARY

JAMES McGRATH
(Formerly of Belleville)

James McGrath, a former resident of Belleville, and who resided on Bleecker Avenue for several years died in Erinsville, Ontario, on Tuesday last. During his residence here he was a member of St. Michael's Church and highly respected. Old friends here will regret to learn of his death.

The funeral will take place at Erinsville on Thursday.

MRS. MARY L. GRABER

Mrs. Mary L. Graber, widow of George A. Graber, Chicago, Ill., passed away suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, 351 Bleecker Ave., Belleville, on Tuesday evening September 17th.

The late Mrs. Graber was born in Bowmanville 72 years ago, being the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Keyes. For a number of years she resided in Chicago, Ill., and Atlanta, Ga., and for the past several years has resided with her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, in this city.

Surviving her are two daughters, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, Belleville, Mrs. Agnes Brown, Chicago, and one son, Mr. George A. Graber of Chicago; also three sisters, Mrs. Ed. Weekes, Ottawa; Mrs. A. W. Brewster, Detroit; Mrs. O. Wood, Winnipeg, and one brother, J. W. Keyes of Detroit.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Maynooth Funeral Director Fined

Patrick Flynn, Maynooth funeral director, was fined $10.00 and costs in County Police Court held at Bancroft yesterday after he had been convicted of the burial of a body, without having first obtained a burial permit, which is contrary to the Vital Statistics Act. The court was held by Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook.

Flynn, who operates an undertaking business in Maynooth, recently conducted a funeral and burial before obtaining the proper certificates. "And not only that, I am given to understand by the police, that no death certificate was issued in this case either. If the country is to keep its vital statistics correct all of these happenings have to be recorded to the government through the medium of permits or certificates, which are returned to the government for official registration and records," explained Crown Attorney S. G. Robertson of this city.

Several minor cases of infractions of the L.C.A. were disposed of during the proceedings.

Second Flotilla Of U. S. Destroyers Comes to Canada

An East Coast Canadian Port, Sept. 18—(CP)—A second flotilla of "over-age" United States destroyers, part of the 50 such warcraft being turned over to Britain in return for permission to establish United States naval and air bases in British possessions in the western hemisphere, arrived here today.

They will be taken over immediately by the Royal Navy.

United States navy officers here said the destroyers had not left port until the gale which swept the Atlantic two days ago had passed over and that their passage was "relatively quiet."

Major Alderman Given Post at Sussex, N. B.

Will Have Charge of Red Shield Hut and Salvation Army Recreational Centre

WILL BE MISSED HERE

Tendering his application to assist in the war work of the Salvation Army, Major T. H. Alderman, who has been in charge of the Salvation Army in Belleville for the past four years, today received instructions his application had been accepted and he will leave next month to take up his new duties at Sussex, N.B., where a large Red Shield Hut, canteen and Salvation Army recreational centre for Canadian troops has been opened.

Major Alderman will conduct his farewell service in the Belleville Salvation Army citadel on Sept. 29th and report at Sussex, N.B., to take charge of that post on Oct. 4th. In leaving Belleville, Major Alderman takes with him the good wishes of citizens from all walks of city life here. In his four years of service to church and mankind in Belleville, Major Alderman has made many friends, all of whom have come to respect and honor him. With his wife and family Major Alderman came to Belleville in January 1937, coming here from the Danforth Station Salvation Army post in Toronto.

Erects New Citadel

It was during his term here that a new Salvation Army citadel was erected on Pinnacle Street and much of the effort put into the new building was attributed solely to Major Alderman and his untiring civic pride and daily labors. The new Salvation Army citadel is not only a credit to the community, but reflects the high esteem in which he and the Salvation Army are held by all.

Several months ago Major Alderman tendered his application to the general headquarters of the Salvation Army in Canada seeking to assist that organization in its time-honored work among His Majesty's troops either here or overseas. It was not until this week that his application was accepted and a post secured for him.

Mr. Alderman took a marked interest in the underprivileged children of Belleville, being a frequent visitor to our city police courts and also the county jail. Police officials, as well as court officials, hold him in high esteem and on numerous occasions wayward juvenile delinquents have been given into the custody in hopes that his understanding and benevolence might assist these youths through the Salvation Army. Numerous incidents of charity performed freely by Major Alderman are known by police and city officials, acts that have proven the uplifting of more than one person who was in despair.

It was with these acts of a fine man that Belleville bids farewell and Godspeed to Major Alderman in his new field of endeavour among His Majesty's forces through the facilities of the Salvation Army.

First Notices For 21-Year-Olds Received in Mail

First notices were received through the mails this morning by the 21-year-old men of this district, single or childless widowers, calling upon them to go to a physician and be examined as to their fitness to undergo a period of military training in the Non-Permanent Active Militia.

This was in accordance with the proclamation issued at Ottawa over the week-end, when the first age-groups subject to military training were notified that, if found medically fit, they would have to serve in a military way for 30 days.

It is pointed out that those receiving notices are entitled to go to any physician they wish for the medical examination. There will be no charge, the Government taking care of the doctor's bill. The doctor will send his report to the district military office.

The men notified are allowed three days in which to get examined. They then await the call to the camps which will probably come at the end of this month, or the beginning of next, the training likely to start around October 9.

AGREEMENT REACHEL

London, Sept. 18 (CP).—The Press Association reported today that an agreement has been reached between the British and Spanish governments concerning the amount of oil imported into Spain.

Britain's blocade to prevent war supplies from reaching Germany and Italy has interfered with Spain's overseas oil supplies.

DEATH ACCIDENT JURY'S VERDICT

Inquiry Into the Death of James Brownson, Shows Man Walked Directly Into Path of Car

Accidental death was the verdict rendered by the coroner's jury at the adjourned inquest looking into the death of the late James Brownson, 69-year-old Corbyville farmer, who died in the Belleville General Hospital last Thursday as the result of injuries sustained, when struck by a motor car at what is commonly known as Honeywell's Corners, north of Corbyville, early on Sept. 8th last. The adjourned inquest was heard before Chief Coroner Dr. J. J. Robertson with Crown Attorney S. G. Robertson conducting the investigation at the Court House.

Provincial Constable J. Burton, who investigated the fatal accident, stated the night was dark but clear. "From my investigations I am satisfied the late Mr. Brownson became confused and stepped out from behind a parked car and directly in front of the vehicle to strike him," stated Constable Burton.

Driver of Car Testifies

Earl Woodcock, Tweed, and driver of the motor car which struck the deceased, was the principal witness called last night. After stating he was driving his motor car about 35 to 40 miles per hour as he approached Honeywell's Corners enroute home, Mr. Woodcock added he saw two 'forms or shadows' behind a parked car. "One form continued out into the road and I swerved my car sharply to the left to avoid striking it, but the right front of my car struck the man. I stopped as soon as possible and returned to the scene," stated Mr. Woodcock. His wife, brother Osborne and the latter's wife all substantiated the witnesses' testimony.

Tells of Accident

John Goodfellow, a neighbor of the deceased, who had driven the late Mr. Brownson and his 11-year-old son Byron, home from Belleville shortly after midnight on Sept. 7th, stated he let the deceased and his son out of his parked car near the intersection of Highway No. 37 at Honeywell's Corners. "They went around behind my car and the next thing I knew a car drove past carrying Mr. Brownson on the front," testified Mr. Goodfellow.

Byron Brownson, son of the deceased, who was in company with his father at the time of the accident said,—"I saw the car coming and stopped. I was afraid to shout to Dad because he might get confused. I thought he would get across the road, but he didn't," stated the witness. The verdict of accidental death followed.

The coroner's jury impanelled by Sergeant Arthur Booth consisted of George O. Tice, foreman, Reg. Arnott, K. J. Colling, Fred Wiggins and Merle Wright.

SAVED CATHEDRAL

The credit for saving historic St. Paul's cathedral, which was threatened by 1,100 pound Nazi time bomb, has been given to Lieut. Robert Davies of the Royal Engineers. Lieut. Davies led the "suicide squad" which dug up the bomb and personally drove the truck in which the bomb was rushed outside the city to be detonated. He is a one-time resident of Merritton, Ont.

NEW U.S. SPEAKER

Majority Leader Sam Rayburn, of Texas, was named new Speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives just before state funeral services were conducted in Washington for Speaker William B. Bankhead, of Alabama.

AIR-CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
Daily 2.30: 7.10: 9.10
Next MON., TUE. WED. Sept. 23 - 24 25
...INTO THE TEEMING, MYSTERIOUS JUNGLE!
Thrill to the exciting story of this lovely woman's fabulously exciting life!
OSA JOHNSON'S I Married Adventure
NOW PLAYING
Tonight Only
WALLACE FORD, JUNE LANG
in
"ISLE OF DESTINY"
LEON ERROL COMEDY
COLOR CARTOON—FOX NEWS
7.10 — Last Show — 9.10 p.m.

Police Blotter

Considerable damage resulted to the right side of a Rawson city bus yesterday after the vehicle was in collision with a parked truck, inside the Front Street bus stand.

According to P.C. Taylor's report, E. W. Rickett, local trucker, had parked his truck near the west side of Front Street bus stand on Front Street. The city bus driven by Harold Spencer, 24 East Moira Street approached from the north where it was not possible to see all of the parked truck. In pulling into the bus stand the side of the bus was damaged when it scraped the parked truck.

Robert Vaughan, 38 Dunbar Street, reported the theft of his bicycle yesterday afternoon. The bike was stolen from Queen Mary School ground premises during school hours, young Vaughan reported.

Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., issued warnings to local motorists, who have been reported speeding motor vehicles on local streets, especially during the noon hour periods. "Complaints have been received in my office regarding local motorists driving with reckless abandon upon our city streets going to and from work at noon. This practice must cease before some serious damage or loss of life results", warned His Worship recently.

While in the Front Street line of traffic last evening, an automobile driven by Charles Young of Picton, collided with the rear of another motor car, driven by Miss Jean Stobie of Belleville. Miss Stobie halted her vehicle to permit right angle traffic procedure, while Young, who was following, could not stop in time to avoid striking Miss Stobie's car in the rear. Only minor property damage resulted.

INCEMORE CREW AWAITS CALM

15 Members Make Way to Shore, 30 Remain on Board Ship

Port Menier, Anticosti Island, Que., Sept. 18—(CP)— Rescued members of the British freighter Incemore, aground off bleak Anticosti Island in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, awaited today a lull in the storm that forced 30 of the crew to remain aboard the stricken ship.

Fifteen crew members made their way to shore yesterday through choppy seas on a line struck up a few hours after the 4,098-ton vessel reported she was in distress. The 30 others were unable to abandon ship when an easterly gale whipped up heavy seas.

The Incemore lay broadside to the shore at the foot of precipitous cliffs on the sparsely-populated island last night. The Captain and all the officers were among the men remaining on the ship, which rescued members said was taking water and in a precarious position.

The Incemore, a 360-foot freighter registered at Liverpool, sent a terse distress call yesterday reporting she was aground with reefs in close proximity. The message was picked up by Mackay radio at Thomaston, Me.

Crew members succeeded in getting a line ashore late in the afternoon after hours of battling the choppy seas. They were assisted by a lighthouse-keeper.

Given Jail Sentence For Imitating Sirens

Rochester, Kent, Sept. 18 (CP).—Edward Holloway, 18, was sentenced to fourteen days in jail as "the leader of a gang of hooligans who hung about the streets during air raids and made noises like sirens and whistling bombs".

U.S. FLIERS FORM 'EAGLE SQUADRON'

Directed by Col. C. Sweeney and Will Assist Great Britain in War

London, Sept. 18 (CP).—Air Minister Archibald Sinclair announced today that Col. Charles Sweeney, United States veteran of the first great war Lafayette Escadrille, was organizing an "Eagle Squadron" which will be composed of American fliers who volunteer to fight for Britain.

The squadron, the minister told a luncheon gathering, will be similar to the Lafayette Escadrille which Sweeney helped to organize during the last war when numerous Americans went to the aid of the allies before the United States participated in the conflict.

President to Clear Way for Operation Of Conscription Bill

Washington, Sept. 18 —(AP)—Action to clear the way for operation of the nationwide United States conscription program commanded first attention today as President Roosevelt returned to the capital and congress made ready to resume sessions.

Before the United States can launch the great peacetime undertaking which begins with the registration of 16,500,000 men on Oct. 16, three essential preliminaries required disposition:

1. President Roosevelt must promulgate the regulations governing the administration of the draft machinery, enrollment, classification and selection of trainees, their induction into service and kindred matters.

2. The director of the selective service system must be appointed by Mr. Roosevelt and confirmed by the Senate as provided in the conscription law.

3. Congress must take action on the pending $2,000,000,000 special defence appropriation request, which is to defray the expenses of registration and conscription.

President Roosevelt was expected to order into effect, possibly tomorrow, the first two of six volumes of regulations already prepared to cover all phases of the draft program. The first two sections define the nature and administrative procedure of the national and state organizations which will handle the Oct. 16 registration, and also set forth the rules for enrollment.

THESE HARD SCHOOLDAYS

London — (CP) — The London County Council is attempting to enforce compulsory attendance in all districts whose schools have suitable air-raid protection shelters.

THESE GUNS GO

London — (CP) — Ancient British and French guns on Tower Hill, outside the Tower of London, are to be broken up for munitions. They are over 100 years old and many are from old wooden ships.

MUSICIANS PROTEST

London — (CP) — The London branch of the Musicians' Union has protested against the dismissal of violinist Charles Kahn who was discharged by the B. B. C. "in the interests of security."

AIR-CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
7.10 and 9.10 p.m.
LAST TIMES TONIGHT
WALLACE FORD, JUNE LANG
in
"Isle of Destiny"
(Produced all in Color)
EXTRA!
LEON ERROL COMEDY
Walt Disney Color Cartoon.
Latest Fox News Events
THURS. - FRI. - SAT'Y.
Daily .... 2.30: 7.00: 9.10 p.m.
FAY WRAY, CHARLES LANG
in
"WILDCAT BUS"
2nd. FEATURE
CHARLES STARRETT
in
"Riders of Black River"
Chapter Three
"TERRY AND THE PIRATES"

WRECKED HOME

Clean-up demolition squad men are shown removing furniture from a London home which is now a shattered shell after being struck by a Nazi bomb.

CANAL NAVY NOW

Birmingham, England — (CP) — Five firms whose employees form a Home Guard unit have purchased a small motor launch as a "warship" patrolling the canal system against Nazi chutists.

Starting TOMORROW — Two Movies
Unsung But Really Great Entertainment!
HERE'S ADVENTURE and ROMANCE in the Depths of the Virgin Jungle!
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, Jr.
MADELEINE CARROLL in
"SAFARI"
A Paramount Picture with
Tullio Carminati - Muriel Angelus
Lynne Overman - Billy Gilbert
What Strange Fate Awaits Them on—SAFARI
Plus BAFFLING MYSTERY, ROMANCE, GENUINE THRILLS!
The GREATEST MAN-HUNT IN CRIME HISTORY!
Edgar Wallace's
THE Mysterious MR. REEDER
with
WILL FYFFE
Extra: Pete Smith Specialty, 'Domineering Male'
BELLE
HOME OF FINE PICTURES
Daily 2.30: 7.10. Last Show 8.30
Closing TONIGHT
HERE'S A REAL SHOW
"THE SEA HAWK"
7.00 — Two Shows — 9.10
SAVE TIME & MONEY Thriftickets NOW ON SALE!

Trenton and District

Camp Life With H. & P. E. Regt. Is Described

Trenton, Sept. 18.—The Hastings & Prince Edward Regiment Second Battalion have returned to the district, proud of their record during their two weeks' stay at Camp Petawawa. Six hundred and fifty men from all parts of the two counties did their best to uphold the record of the First Battalion, now serving with the C.A.S.F. overseas.

The battalion is under the command of Lt. Col. B. C. Donnan, E.D., with Major Angus Mowat, Second-in-Command; Captain George White, M.P., is Adjutant, and Col. T. C. Beddell and Captain E. Nickle as the Medical Officers.

From the first minute the regiment was in camp until they marched away to the train, the men of the regiment were all striving to do their best. On a number of occasions the Commanding Officers would comment on the willingness of the men to undergo the stiff training syllabus, without even a murmur.

Awakened Early

The resounding boom of a cannon and the blaring noise of the band, as it paraded past the tents at six o'clock in the morning prevented anyone who might wish to linger, from sleeping. Physical training at 6.15 for the officers and 6.30 for the men started the regiment off each morning. Breakfast at seven and on the parade ground by eight, kept the men moving quickly. Without exception, the regiment was on the march by eight o'clock; the various companies going to their training centres.

After two hours' training the regiment would return to the camp for the noon meal with an hour rest period. The afternoon was spent with the companies taking instructions on gas, rifles, fieldcraft and many other military movements.

The soldiers were back in the lines by 4.30 in the afternoon with the remainder of the day to engage in sports or to do as they pleased. The junior officers would attend lectures given by members of the Camp Headquarters Staff.

Night Marches a Feature

One of the features of the camp was the night march, when the regiment left camp about eight o'clock at night and marched over a four-mile route to return shortly after midnight. All precautionary measures were taken by the Officer Commanding with platoons from Madoc, acting as guides and advance guards. The regiment was ambushed about a mile from camp in a heavy woods by men and officers of Camp Headquarters, who were using blank cartridges but the ambush was unsuccessful as the advance guard came upon the men and they were easily captured before they could make good their escape. A second ambush proved to be more successful, in a second woods and technically a number of casualties would have been inflicted by the ambushing party before they were captured. However the men enjoyed the march and the excitement of not knowing when they would be greeted by flashing cartridges. Upon their return to camp they were given hot soup before retiring.

Trained to Protect Selves

The troops were trained to protect themselves against bombing planes. For three days planes from the landing field, swooped down on the troops, whether they were on the march or in the training areas dropping bags of flour. A number of direct hits were scored before the men were trained sufficiently to take to cover immediately upon the warning whistle.

Various units of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment seem to be allergic to statues of Indians. The First Battalion started the fade when some of the soldiers carried with them to England a cast iron statue of an Indian last December. A reserve unit borrowed a second Indian statue from a tourist camp near Belleville but they returned it at the owner's request.

Made Own Statue

And now the Second Battalion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment have a statue of an Indian princess, but this time the soldiers made their own and did not bother to borrow someone else's statue. Volunteers from the Headquarters Company worked on Miss Petawawa before the unit went into camp, hewed the statue out of a huge cedar log found north of Trenton. The statue was practically complete with the exception of the legs before camp and accompanied the boys from Trenton. The finishing touches were completed by an expert woodcarver at Petawawa.

During the camp, Princess Petawawa stood before the Orderly Room tent and was the pride of the regiment. Soldiers of the regiment saluted her every time they passed. The Orderly Officer was detailed each day to make sure that the Princess was placed in the Quartermaster Stores every night and brought out every morning.

Statue Viewed by Many

Hundreds of soldiers from other regiments inspected the Princess and even officers from Camp Headquarters made a special trip to the Hastings and Prince Edward lines to have a look at the statue. On one occasion a number of officers of the Lanark and Renfrew Regiment tried to confiscate the statue but the guards soon convinced them that they shouldn't.

Repelled in their attempt to carry away Princess Petawawa the officers walked off with a small doll that had been placed in the arm of the statue by one of the soldiers two days previous.

The First Battalion lost their statue when they withdrew from France. The "Little Chief" had accompanied the troops on every move the regiment had made and so when the troops went to France, the Chief went along. On the withdrawal, it was necessary to leave the statue in France, and is probably now one of the German spoils of the war.

Dies Recommends Stricter Regulation Of Aliens in U.S.

Dallas, Sept. 18—(AP)—Congressman Martin Dies recommends stricter regulation of aliens in the United States, declaring "the test is not how many people they have. It is whether they have enough people in the right places."

Dies, chairman of the House of Representatives committee investigating unamerican activities, spoke at a Constitution Day rally last night.

"In this country are 10 Labor nions controlled by Communists who are in a position to wreck our whole defence program," he said.

"The time has come when it is not only our right but our duty to say to men and women who have come to enjoy our liberties and our institutions: Be loyal, or we'll revoke your citizenship and send you back where you belong."

He said Earl Browder, head of the United States Communist party, had testified that the party had nearly 2,000,000 members in the United States.

The German American bund has 100,000 members in 100 locals, all located in industrial areas vital to national defence, Dies declared, and he said 100,000 American-Italians attend Fascist meetings.

"We figure that certain organizations connected with a foreign government have a total membership of 6,000,000, Dies added. "A lot of people ask: 'What can 6,000,000 do in a nation of 140,000,000?' Yet, in the spring of the revolution in Russia, 60,000 paid members of the Communist party were able to control 160,000,000 people. Hitler at no time had the support of more than 40 per cent of the German people, but he destroyed their democracy."

TO SOUND THEIR OWN

Somewhere in England — (CP)—Because of muddles in the sounding of official air-raid sirens, neighbors in a Midland town have formed "vigilance squads" to give their own warning.

WAS TROUBLE ENOUGH

Birmingham, England — (CP) — A man was fined 45 shillings (about $10) for being drunk and disorderly in an air-raid shelter while a raid was in progress.

CONSCRIPT FOR MUNITIONS

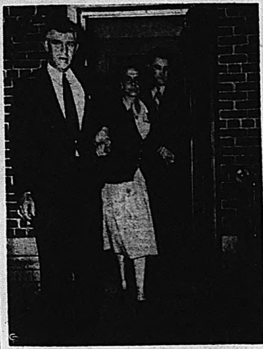
Bombay — (CP) — Ten thousand and more men are to be employed in munitions work in India under an order introducing compulsory national service for skilled and semi-skilled technicians.

New Shoes deserve NUGGET
All others NEED it
NUGGET
SHOE POLISH
THE FINEST LEATHER PRESERVATIVE
BLACK, BLUE and ALL SHADES OF BROWN
810

DEFENCE MINISTER VISITS SHILO CAMP

Visiting Shilo Training Camp in Manitoba, Defence Minister Ralston is shown as he pinned a Canadian Efficiency Medal on the tunic of C.S.M. Dunkerley of the South Saskatchewan Regiment.

HELD FOR MURDER OF BEST FRIEND



Miss Mary E. B. Jones, wealthy spinster of Hastings-on-Hudson, N.Y., is pictured here as she was taken into custody in connection with the murder of her best friend and companion, Miss Washington Booth, 50-year-old New York attorney. Miss Booth was beaten to death with a kitchen stool in the $30,000 mansion in which both spinsters had lived for the past 10 years. Miss Jones was removed to a psychopathic hospital.

ESCAPED GERMAN PRISONER CAPTURED

Chief Constable Smith of Burlington, Ont., recaptured Alexander Berchardt Siegle, interned German civilian sent here from England, who escaped from an internment camp west of Toronto. Chief Constable Smith and his prisoner are shown, above.

Services are over in this suburban London church wrecked by a German bomb. For this, the Nazis pay a heavy price in men and bombers.

Work of Red Cross Society For Past Year Reviewed on Eve Of New Campaign for Funds

5,659 Hospital Supplies, 3,163 Surgical Dressing, 5,852 Knitted Articles Besides Blankets to Value of $600 and 888 Refugee Garments Have Been Supplied From This District

$8,000 OBJECTIVE SET FOR BELLEVILLE

The magnificent work of the Canadian Red Cross Society done in the first year of the war, and the urgent need for financial support to carry on its humanitarian efforts was graphically outlined to the Belleville branch's Advisory Committee by its president, Mr. I. G. Kefkey, at a special meeting held Tuesday night.

The groundwork for the local campaign which starts here on September 23rd. was also laid. Mr. H. J. Clarke was appointed Campaign Chairman; Morley Duff, Campaign Organizer, and J. W. Imlah, Campaign Treasurer. The objective of the Dominion Campaign is five millions of dollars, Mr. Hefkey stated. That of Belleville is $8,000.

$10,800 Spent

Disbursements of the $10,800.00 raised in the initial campaign of the local society last year. Four thousand dollars was sent to the Society headquarters for overseas work; $5,350 was used for the purchase of materials from which thousands of articles were made, and sent to headquarters; $900 for peacetime activities; $150.00 for sundry expenses and the balance $1,000 is now on hand in the bank. These figures do not include amounts raised by auxiliary groups.

The task ahead of the Canadian Red Cross is infinitely greater than it was a year ago, Mr. Hefkey pointed out. It has assumed the job of providing 10,000 parcels of goods per week for British and Canadian prisoners of war in Germany. The cost of this work alone is estimated at one million dollars per year. Several repatriated prisoners of the last war declared they owed their lives to this humanitarian work. Comparisons of the meagre parcels, now beginning to arrive in Canada from Germany for Nazi prisoners, and those sent to British and Canadian war prisoners was drawn.

In Germany, President Hefkey said a member of the International Red Cross goes from prison camp to prison camp making sure that parcels are delivered. In Canada a Swiss citizen does the same duty.

Generous Supplies to British Prisoners of War

From Germany come parcels containing a few dry Nuremburg cakes and hard sweets; mending kits and three meagre pieces of soap, considered to be a supply for shaving, toilet and laundry for three months. To British and Canadian prisoners go 1 box of cheese, 1 package chocolate, tins of salmon, dried milk, chicken, vegetables, tomato juice, bacon, soap, ginger biscuits, tea, figs, lemonade powder salt and other things.

Clothing parcels containing a vest, shirt, mittens, pyjamas, pants, socks, scarf, jersey, boots or blanket, Balaclava cap, and handkerchiefs, are sent every two months. Canadian money goes to provide these necessities for British and Canadian prisoners of war and no others, it was pointed out.

Mr. Hefkey paid tribute to the women workers of the city and district. "I do not know of any branch in Ontario or even in Canada that has carried on more magnificently than has our local group of women workers," he said. "They have been untiring in their work, and it is amazing the quantities of articles they have manufactured and forwarded to Red Cross Headquarters." He paid special tribute to Mrs. Stuart Lazier, one of the vice-presidents of the local branch whose work in organizing and maintaining the work of the society was one of the highlights of the past year's activities.

Mrs. W. C. Mikel, has been appointed convener of a committee to co-operate with the Children's Aid Society to care for children who may come to Canada from Britain.

Huge Amount of Work Done

Outlining the past year's work of the Canadian Society, Mr. Hefkey declared it had sent overseas 5,000,000 articles of hospital use and comfort for Canadian soldiers; built, equipped and turned over to the Canadian government a 600-bed hospital in England at a cost of $750,000.00; spent two millions for materials made into finished goods; gave $200,000 cash, and $100,000 to British Red Cross, and replenished supplies lost in the Flanders evacuation; gave $100,000 to the British Navy League, and $100,000 to the French Red Cross earlier in the war; sent $50,000 in food to Canadian prisoners; aided refugees in the invasions of Finland, Poland and the Low Countries; established hostess for Allied soldiers in England and Canada; carried on Red Cross "peace-time" activities, and met every call for war and disaster relief.

Mrs. Lazier's report follows:

In September, 1939, a few days before Canada declared war, the Ontario Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society called an emergency meeting of this executive committee and asked the branches to be ready for service. This call was eagerly answered by the women of Belleville and the surrounding districts with the result that there are now 47 organizations all acting as auxiliaries to this Red Cross branch. Twenty of these societies are from the country about Belleville and are composed of the most splendid type of women, anxious to do all they can to assist the great cause of the Red Cross. The remaining 27 are composed of the different churches, service clubs, lodges, political and private groups of the city all co-operating and doing a wonderful work. The Red Cross workroom under the efficient leadership of Mrs. C. A. Cameron and Mrs. A. H. Ketcheson have met regularly at the Y.M.C.A. Here, too, under Red Cross supervision the Women's Canadian Club executive carry on that most important phase of soldiers' work—the knitted articles. Mrs. Argue, president and her assistant, Mrs. Porter with the other members of the executive have worked most faithfully with amazing results. The Nurses' Alumnae of Belleville have undertaken the surgical dressings and bandages, not only the making and packing but the purchase of materials.

During the year ending Aug. 31, 1940, 5659 hospital supplies have been made; 3163 surgical dressings and bandages; 5852 knitted articles, of which 4080 of this number are socks and these have all been inspected, numbered as to size, packed ready for shipping. Refugee garments to the number of 888 which includes many very fine quilts were made and shipped. Blankets valued over $600.00 were also donated by many and shipped to headquarters. Just here, it is very good news that these blankets did not fall into the hands of the enemy and that they are now being used to keep warm the poor Londoners who have suffered so terribly.

On request from Headquarters, the hospital at our own air station received in July two cartons of supplies which were badly needed. Also the Midland Regiment received knitted supplies last November from this branch.

Expresses Appreciation

The convener of the Women's War Work Committee wishes to thank the many women who have made this report possible, to name even a few would take much time but the names of Mrs. C. A. Cameron, Mrs. Argue, Mrs. Porter should be mentioned; the Y.M.C.A. for their airy quarters and their co-operation and service; Judge Cameron for shipping the many cartons; the Belleville merchants for their great assistance in every way; the Belle Shirt Company and the Deacon Company for cutting out garments; Mrs. Grant and Miss Rogers for cutting out, and many others.

This report would not be complete without mention of the work of the different organizations outside of Belleville in making jam for the hospitals in England. The Red Cross Society supplied the containers, 1 dozen in each case with instructions from the Department of Agriculture and the Women's Institute Headquarters; 30 cases have been taken by these Societies which means some 1440 pounds of jam will have been sent to Red Cross Headquarters.

At our own Fair, a Red Cross booth was arranged under the capable management of Mrs. Cameron and Mrs. Argue with their many assistants. This was an effort to show the people our work and to assist them as far as possible with any questions.

With a remark of deepest appreciation of the President and complete executive for their assistance and spirit of understanding, the convener closes this rather lengthy report.

Respectfully submitted,
FLORENCE W. LAZIER,
Convener.

HELP! HELP! SHOUTED PARROT

London, Sept. 18 (CP).—Hearing agonized cries of "help, help!" firemen battered their way through the wall of a wrecked house while German bombers circled overhead. They rescued . . . a baldheaded, profane parrot.

DRUNK ON HEAP OF GLASS

London, Sept. 18 (CP). — John Pryor, 56, was fined two shillings sixpence (about 50 cents) for being found drunk in a heap of glass near the spot where a high explosive bomb burst.

HOW TO COMBAT Rheumatic Pains

Rheumatic pains are often caused by uric acid in the blood. This blood impurity should be extracted by the kidneys. If kidneys fail, and excess uric acid remains, it irritates the muscles and joints causing excruciating pains. Treat rheumatic pains by keeping your kidneys in good condition. Take regularly Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite kidney remedy. 109

Dodd's Kidney Pills

R & G USED CARS WITH A DOUBLE GUARANTEE

2-DAY MONEY BACK GUARANTEE

30-DAY 50-50 WARRANTY AGAINST MECHANICAL DEFECTS

USED CARS & TRUCKS R&G ALL MAKES

Treat yourself to a better used car. Our special R & G bargains are renewed and guaranteed for service. A wide selection of makes and models—if you act quickly. See them today.

1939 PONTIAC CHIEFTAIN COACH.
1938 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
1938 DODGE CUSTOM SEDAN.
1937 CHEV. MASTER DELUXE COACH.
1937 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
1937 CHEV. MASTER DELUXE COACH—trunk.
1937 CHEV. MASTER DELUXE SEDAN.
1936 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
1935 CHEV. DELUXE SEDAN.
1934 PLYMOUTH DELUXE SEDAN.
1932 ESSEX SEDAN.
1931 CHEV. DELUXE COUPE.
1931 FORD SPORT COUPE.
1931 CHEV. DELUXE SEDAN.
1931 CHEV. DELUXE COACH.

TRUCKS

1938 DODGE LIGHT DELIVERY.
1937 FORD LIGHT DELIVERY.
1936 FORD LIGHT DELIVERY.
1931 FORD LIGHT DELIVERY.
1930 FORD LIGHT DELIVERY.
1930 CHEV. LIGHT DELIVERY.
1936 FORD PANEL DELIVERY.
1935 CHEV. 1-TON PANEL.
1933 DODGE SEDAN DELIVERY.
1931 CHEV. PANEL DELIVERY.
1928 CHEV. PANEL DELIVERY.
1936 FORD LONG WHEEL BASE, STAKE BODY TRUCK.
1936 FORD LONG WHEEL BASE CHASSIS and CAB
1935 INTERNATIONAL LONG WHEEL BASE, STAKE BODY TRUCK.
1934 CHEV. LONG WHEEL BASE, STAKE BODY, DUAL WHEELS.
1931 G.M.C. DUMP BODY.

Trudeau Motor Sales
Belleville — Picton — Stirling — Tweed

Catching up on Popeye—Little Londoners have no complaint at air raid alarms in school hours so long as they can take the funnies underground with them.

WILL BUILD NEW CRUISER

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Greek colony in Egypt, numbering about 8,000, has started a campaign for funds to construct a new cruiser to replace the Helle, Greek warship recently torpedoed by an unidentified submarine.

IN SANCTUARY?

Canterbury, England — (CP) — The Archbishop of Canterbury wrote in his Diocesan Gazette that if an air-raid warning is sounded during a church service the congregation should be invited either to leave or to remain.

THE
ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street, Belleville.

ATTACKS INTENTIONAL

Churches, Buckingham Palace, the homes of the people in the East End of London have been subject of attack by the Hun aviators.

That these attacks are intentional and not by mischance seems apparent because of the repetition of the incidents.

Yet in these attacks Hitler is throwing away his strength. His henchmen in the air try to destroy the church, the home and the palace, three of the foundation stones of British national life, but even with that demonstration of savagery the enemy cannot succeed.

Why then are his hirelings and Goering's attacking these places? The consensus of opinion is that it is an effort to upset the morale of the people and cause them to participate in such scenes as were witnessed on the continent when Germany ran over the borders of Holland, Belgium and France in the frantic exodus of people thronging highways and blocking and interfering with all transportation facilities. That was precious meat for the Hun who used the throngs of refugees as shields for himself or as targets for his murderous guns. The Hun would like the same to happen in Britain, but the British have steeled themselves and do not act that way. They have been wise to prepare defences, air raid shelters and the citizens can live in the world's greatest city whether the Hun flies overhead or not. They have the calmness of resolution and do not give way to Hitler's machine-made terrors. Hitler delights in terrors for mankind but he cannot affect the resolute British people in that way.

So Hitler may try to destroy the institutions of British life, but the British people are a living institution, the real fact behind their institutions, and if buildings are damaged, great as the loss to the wealth of the nation, Britain still exists for Britain is the people.

MR. CHURCHILL IS CONFIDENT

Prime Minister Churchill is confident of British defences to turn back the Huns. He declares that there has been dealt a very heavy blow at the invasion forces on the French side of the Channel. He declares that there is now seen the evidence of Britain's increasing might, and of the new strength given by the production of the big programs which are beginning to become effective. He declares that the R.A.F. blows at German military targets have taxed Germany and that damage to British war-making capacity has been small. The Prime Minister warns that preparations must be maintained in a state of vigilance.

Mr. Churchill can tell the people so much that is cheering, he can advise them and they take his advice because it is so wise, he can cover the whole theatre of the war in its variety of phases. He encourages the British people and he never discourages even when warning them of likely events to come which will test their mettle as he did months ago when he forecast the Nazi air bombardment of Britain. His words served to strengthen, not to alarm.

Mr. Churchill has been called to the greatest of tasks and fortunately he is a man of so great an intellectual, moral and emotional stature that he can direct events in a democratic way as he and the world of humanity would have them.

His speeches are preeminently sane and wise. They are so different from those of the neurotic Hitler who screams and shrieks his speeches to lift a mob of unthinking Nazis off their feet. Mr. Churchill appeals to the common sense and to facts. He is master of himself and in that he is strong.

In Tuesday's utterances of Mr. Churchill the world can see how the course which Britain is following will work out to victory.

NAZISM SEEN IN ITS TRUE SINISTER ASPECT

The sinister aspect of Hitlerism and dictatorship is seen in the figures quoted on Tuesday by Prime Minister Churchill showing that in the first fortnight of September two thousand men, women and children were killed and eight thousand wounded in Nazi raids over Britain, while in the same period of time these attacks killed or injured only 250 men of the British fighting services. Four fifths of these casualties occurred in London.

The reason is evident—a sheer love of wantonness to cause destruction and death in the hope that British men, women and children would "crack" under the terror and Britain be forced to ask for peace.

But that destruction and killing only strengthens the hearts of the democratic people to see this through to the end.

Hitler's airmen could not have sought military objectives with any care, otherwise there would not have been such a toll of civilian dead and injured.

This statement tells a story and points a moral which should shame the German people for ages that their government and their airmen deliberately struck at the unarmed in order to weaken the armed forces.

This is devilish practice. It is murder and will bring its retribution to the Nazis.

The British people will endure. The sacrifices they have made and the sacrifices which have been made for them by the stout and staunch hearts whom Nazi airmen have blasted out of life make that certain.

The judgment of the court of humanity dooms a government and its representatives who justify so horrible a demonstration of barbarism as the Nazis have given.

OFF THE RECORD

By ED REED

"No, no, Dear, not a divorce—you 've spoiled me for other women."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 18th., 1920.

Messrs. Edward Naylor and Robert Foy of this city have returned home after spending a vacation at Weslemkoon Lake.

In a tug-of-war competition at the Napanee Fair the team representing the Belleville branch of the G. W. V. A. carried off the cup which will be retained for one year and if the team wins again next year the cup will become the property of the G. W. V. A. here. The following composed the Belleville team: Messrs. William Pye, Charles Thompson, Joe Connolly, W. Peoples, C. Murphy, Pat. Boland, M. Weir, G. Tilley and W. McKenna. The coach for the Belleville team was Acting Secretary L. G. Madden of the local branch of the G. W. V. A. The trophy won is on exhibition in the show window of Ed P. Dickens' store.

Many citizens are in attendance to day at the "World's Fair" at Shannonville.

30 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 18th., 1910.

Mr. A. P. Allen spent yesterday in Cobourg.

The Rev. Dr. Bishop, pastor of Bridge Street Methodist Church, will return from his vacation to morrow.

Mr. J. W. Johnson, M. P. P., went to Toronto to day.

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. O'Flynn have returned from Vancouver, B. C., where they attended the conference of the Methodist Church. While away they also visited several other large centres and met many former Belleville residents.

Mr. J. H. Corrigan of New York City is visiting friends in town.

Miss Green, superintendent of the Belleville General Hospital, has returned to the city, after a trip abroad.

Mr. H. H. Ketcheson has returned after a trip to the Old Country.

Mr. John Elliott, manager of the Standard Bank, has returned home from the Old Country.

40 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 18th., 1900.

AUTOMOBILE IN TOWN. About one o'clock to day the first automobile ever seen on Belleville streets made its appearance. It stopped here to have some repairs made and to permit the driver and his companion to get their dinner. The machine is the property of a Company and is enroute from the Toronto Exhibition to the Ottawa Exhibition. The driver expects to reach Ottawa by three o'clock to morrow afternoon. The machine is the product of a Cleveland company and its owners claim for it a speed on level ground of 28 miles per hour. Much interest was manifested here in the movements and mechanism of the machine.

Mr. John Hicks has returned to the city from Ottawa.

Mr. H. L. Ridings of Utica, N. Y., is the guest of Mr. H. C. Hunt, Avondale.

50 YEARS AGO

SEPT. 18th., 1890.

The well known sailing yacht Atalanta which was partly destroyed by fire at Charlotte, N. Y., some time ago, has not as yet been taken to Brighton as reported. On Monday last Belleville people inspected the yacht and it was learned that the boat is not as seriously damaged as at first was thought to be the case. The hull appears to be perfectly good. The cabin was burned and also a portion of the sails and mast. What is to be done with her has not yet been decided.

Fuller's Boot and Shoe Store will remove shortly to another location on Front Street.

Mrs. Holden of Detroit, Mich., is visiting relatives here.

The sidewalk in front of Mr. John McKeown's boot and shoe store on Front Street, is in a dangerous condition. This should be attended to at once.

What's the Answer

BY THE ACE CAMERAMAN

(Distributed by the King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

1.—According to Government figures, a healthful diet calls for the consumption yearly of —— pounds of vegetables and fruits, exclusive of potatoes. Fill the blank with one of the following figures: 250, 410, 680, 770.

2.—News dispatches from France describe an edict which bans professionalism in all sports except one. Which one?

3.—Figures released by FBI show that persons (a) 19, (b) 26, (c) 30, (d) 45 years of age continue to lead the field in numbers arrested. Pick the age in question.

4.—Why are the world's spiritualist mediums trying to get a message consisting of "some laughable childish idiosyncrasy"

5.—How many destroyers would you guess the U.S. has in commission? 180? 238? 440?

6.—The largest corporation in the world is the American Telephone and Telegraph Co. Who is the president?

7.—The crown princess of what country is now a refugee in the U.S.?

Answers

1.—680 pounds.

2.—Cycling.

3.—19 years.

4.—It was one of five secret tests left in sealed envelopes by the late Sir Oliver Lodge to prove he communicated with the living after he died.

5.—238, as of Aug. 29. More are being commissioned each week.

6.—Walter M. Gifford.

7.—Crown Princess Martha of Norway.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

James W. Barton, M.D.

A New Treatment for Meniere's Disease — Dizziness, Nausea, Vomiting.

Some weeks ago I wrote about the treatment of Meniere's disease—dizziness, ringing in the ears, nausea, and vomiting—by the use of a diet low in salt. That something lacking in the diet affects certain "surface" tissues and prevents the organ—ear, throat, liver or other—from doing its work properly is now admitted by research workers.

In suggesting the use of nicotinic acid and thiamin chloride in the treatment of Meniere's disease, Drs. Harold E. Harris and Paul M. Moore, Jr., in Medical Clinics of North America, outline their understanding of what is meant by Meniere's syndrome, Meniere's disease, and Meniere's symptom complex as it is variously called. The symptoms or characteristics are

1.—Sudden attacks of dizziness in which the dizziness is of the turning variety rather than up and down.

2.—Deafness, more marked in one ear, and gradually growing worse.

3.—Tinnitus—ringing or noises—more marked in the ear with the greatest loss of hearing.

4.—Nausea and vomiting usually present, depending upon the severity of the attack.

5.—The attacks come at irregular intervals and gradually increase in number and severity.

6.—Aside from ear noises and deafness, the patient is perfectly well between attacks.

What is the cause of Meniere's disease? There is apparently no one cause: infection, anaemia, kidney, stomach or liver disease, ear conditions, allergy or sensitiveness to foods may be causes, but in the great majority of cases the cause is unknown.

Drs. Harris and Moore found that these patients were almost all vegetarians, or ate a lot of starch and very little meat. The absence By the use of nicotinic acid and thiamin chloride given by mouth, the patient is usually free of attacks at the end of three months.

In addition to this drug treatment, plenty of proteins— meat, fish, eggs—and a high vitamin diet are used. The patient is asked to eat 1-2 to 3-4 pound of rare, red, ground meat per day, also 1-2 pound of liver three times per week, wheat germ and raw vegetables and raw fruit daily. The balance of the diet is left to the desire or taste of the patient.

This treatment may not help all cases but it is worthy of a trial.

LEFT OUTSIDE

London Times.

Rear-Admiral E. B. C. Dickson, in a broadcast war commentary, related an incident when the navigator of a submarine scaled the periscope to obtain a better view of something on the horizon. Suddenly an aircraft came out of the sky; there—could be no delay, and the submarine "crash dived". The captain soon realized that they were one short inside, so the submarine was brought carefully to the surface. Still clinging to the periscope was a most indignant officer who wanted to know what all the fuss was about, because the aircraft was friendly.

Sedan and Bordeaux

By HENRY BERNSTEIN

(In New York Herald Tribune)

Hitler's schedule required that France be conquered in the month of June, 1940.

It required that our ports, our airdromes, our fortifications and our arsenals, our means of communication be turned over to him.

It required that our munitions, our armaments, our stocks, our supplies be utilized by him immediately.

It required not only that our war fleet be disarmed but that it be held so that our ships would become his ships when he wanted them.

It required that German prisoners be released while ours remained captive, and it required, above all, that Goering get back the 500 aviators whose planes we had shot down.

It required that our colonial empire, in spite of contrary stipulations, fall at an early date into the hands of the victor.

It required that the country itself be reduced to helplessness by partition and by occupation.

It required that the French Government should not leave France.

In the eyes of the German high command these conditions were those for the defeat of England which must take place before winter.

Hitler accomplished these immeasurable advantages in the space of forty-four days by means of two victories.

The first was military. That was won on May 13, the day of the Battle of Sedan, where the army of Corap was smashed.

The second was political. Germany this time unseen, won on June 16 the Battle of Bordeaux.

Three consecutive meetings of the Reynaud Cabinet took place at the Prefecture: one on Saturday night, the two others the following day, on that fatal Sunday, June 16.

On Saturday the Government resolved to continue the war to the end. (That night a staunch patriot, Mandel, Minister of the Interior, said to me: "It sounds all right, but watch Reynaud!")

• • •

Twenty-four hours later the Ministers, by thirteen votes to ten, decided to ask for Hitler's terms, and the Cabinet resigned.

From this moment the total defeat of France was accomplished. The new Government was no longer in a position to bargain with the enemy and was forced to accept the conditions of a merciless armistice. Once more that mysterious machine for turning out German victories had functioned. A propaganda film shows Hitler receiving the news with a contemptuous laugh.

Who was the man directly responsible for this tragic about-face?

Paul Reynaud.

The Council, as usual, was divided into three groups: the vacillating, the partisans of war to the end, the partisans of an immediate cessation of hostilities.

The latter considered that the game was up and that any attempt to prolong the fight would lead only to revolution and destroy the social structure of France.

Reynaud played a subtle hand. He bored from the inside.

Ten Ministers (Rightists and Leftists), among them of War, of the Marine, of Air, of Armament, of the Interior, of the Colonies, a Minister of State, held out for resistance. Reynaud spoke in their name. If he had acted, instead of talking, the whole matter could have been settled in a moment. He had the support of the competent members of the Government; he was master of the situation.

But he had been secretly won over to the peace which he had sworn never to accept, and for two days, while the country waited breathlessly, and in spite of the drive of the enemy, he encountered these interminable debates, the shame and scorn of the last moments.

On Sunday night he called a final meeting which decided the question under suspicious conditions as contrary to custom, he allowed the Under Secretaries of State to vote.

Nor can one overlook the fact that three members of the Cabinet, personal friends of Reynaud, whom he had hand-picked outside Parliament voted against their President—that is, for the suspension of hostilities.

Aside from all this, it is not generally known that on June 22, six days later, the Comte de Saint-Quentin, French Ambassador in Washington, received from our Minister of Foreign Affairs a telegram informing him that he was being transferred and asking him to get the consent of the State Department to his successor, Mr. Paul Reynaud!

• • •

What led Paul Reynaud, champion in France of the English alliance, to agree to represent in the most important French diplomatic post the Petain government, whose politics were the contrary of his own? Mystery to round out the story, six hours late M. de Saint-Quentin received a second telegram cancelling the first.

It is without pain that I denounce the role played by Paul Reynaud. Although passionately in favor of armed intervention in March, 1936, when we might easily have driven out the German troops which had penetrated the Rhineland, by 1938 I was opposed to any political action which would lead us to a declaration of war. I did not question Germany's might and I had been informed of our own lack of preparedness. I foresaw the heroic resistance of the Poles, whose country was directly threatened; I felt there was no unanimity among the French, a great number of whom failed to recognize the necessity of war.

But once the sword had been drawn I saw no safety except in two-fisted action, and I put all my faith in Paul Reynaud, whom I believed to be the ablest and most resolute man available. His own words, almost to the last, confirmed my opinion of his character. I admired him; I looked upon him as the French Winston Churchill.

In the horrible days at Tours and Bordeaux I saw that familiar face drop its mask of the great patriot and of the man of courage. To Reynaud I owe the bitterest disappointment of my life.

Paul Reynaud has just been arrested and imprisoned. According to news dispatches, he is accused of not having ended the war after the Battle of Flanders.

That seems unlikely. As a matter of fact, Marshal Petain and the principal members of his present Cabinet were a part of the Reynaud Cabinet to the very end, and, as we have seen, they thought of sending the former Premier to Washington. Since then, however, the partners have clashed and Reynaud now is in danger of death.

From an authoritative source we are told that he will be taken before a war council and that he may be shot after a trial behind closed doors. Thus this brilliant orator would be deprived of any means of presenting publicly his defence and, perhaps, of exposing some of his enemies.

It is because of events which occurred abroad several days after his resignation, that Reynaud will be prosecuted. These very serious events appear, at first sight, to involve him, but it has not been proved that he knew of them and it is quite possible that he was betrayed by assistants whom he trusted.

• • •

Not only these disgraceful intrigues, but many of those which affected the French war policies during the last months, are linked to a woman's plot which history will call "The tragedy of Paul Reynaud and of Helene de Portes." I can say that I know it only too well and that I witnessed its unravelling with despair.

An increasing number of Frenchmen believe that Bordeaux was not the inevitable result of Sedan, and that at Bordeaux salvation was still possible.

If the French Government, facing the accusation of cowardice, had, on June 17, moved to London or to North Africa;

If our African leaders, Nogues, Mittelhauser, Peyrouton, had received the order to stand firm, which they anxiously awaited;

If the French fleet had immediately joined the British fleet, as it was pledged to do;

If the French aviators and planes had flown to England;

If a part of the large intact contingent of the French Army, along with the German aviators imprisoned in France, had been shipped to Morocco and to Algeria—

In a word, if Paul Reynaud had remained faithful to honor—that is, faithful to Great Britain, to whom he had bound his country by a sacred pledge—the course of the war would have been changed. To begin with the Allies would have retained complete mastery over the Mediterranean and the attack against England would have been retarded and perhaps made impossible. What a godsend for France!

Has the defeat at Bordeaux affected the destiny of France for decades, perhaps for centuries, or will its penance be less overwhelming?

On my way to America, I crossed England and saw my friends once more. I did not hear a word of bitterness or of reproach, and on every face I read absolute resolution.

We rest our hope for recovery and victory on a people whose generosity is admirable and whose courage is sublime.

Might of the Anglo-Saxon Democracies

(United Correspondents)

(D-16)

As the war-aims of Nazi Germany become more and more clear, the struggle which is impending assumes the proportions of a conflict which is likely to shake the foundations of the world as we know it; a conflict above all between the Anglo-Saxon democratic peoples living in an ordered humanitarian Society, whether in the Old World or the New, and the highly-organized, despotic, utterly ruthless, anti-Christian Nazi regime.

This war is more than a fight between rival powers, it is a clash between two incompatible ideologies. Hitler's bid for world domination is now manifest to all. The worship of the State and the deification of its ruler is one of the oldest 'religions' in the world, and makes its evil eruption at intervals down the centuries. To achieve world domination, it is inevitable that, sooner or later, the Nazis should have to come to grips with the Anglo-Saxon race in a life-and-death struggle. The stage is now being set for this titanic conflict, but the British people are determined to withstand the assault of an adversary grounded in wickedness and corruption, and to defend their freedom by every means in their power.

This island-race, which sailed over the seas to found a new world on the American Continent long ago, took with it its love of freedom, justice and peace. The Pilgrim Fathers left Europe because they cared more for freedom of conscience than for comfort and ease. They went to found a brave new world and they were followed by other men, no less adventurous and courageous than themselves, whose watchword was freedom. Ninety million Anglo-Saxons and Celts in the U. S. A. to-day have not forgotten their birthright of freedom. Fifty million Britons in the British Isles will fight to the last ditch to defend their native land from invasion, as their fathers before them were ready to do when the Spanish Armada was sighted at Plymouth or when Napoleon's vast army lay at Boulogne. Twenty million Britons in the self-governing Dominions overseas hold their heritage so dear that they have sent large expeditionary armies to aid the Mother-country in her hour of need.

Arrayed against these 160 millions of free democratic peoples of Anglo-Saxon and Celtic races are 80 million Germans — 68.4 millions in the Old Reich and 11.6 millions incorporated since 1938. (Whether the Italians are an asset or a liability to the German Reich we do not propose to discuss.)

But this figure of 80 millions against 160 millions is only half the story. In the U. S. A. there are a further 47 million people (other than Anglo-Saxons and Celts) and in the British Empire no less than 430 million who are ready to help to the utmost of their power in providing man-power, food, raw materials and munitions for the prosecution of the war against the Nazis. Already in the British Isles, a military force larger than has ever been assembled here before includes units from the self-governing Dominions, while the coasts are guarded by her Fleet and Air Force, daily re-inforced with pilots from Canada.

What then of the German "protection" of 76 millions of enslaved peoples? These are already feeling the rod of the task master, but the economic life of the conquered countries is so much bound up with their overseas trade that, owing to the lack of raw materials from overseas, prosperity dies at the touch of the invader.

We have then the spectacle on the one hand of the two great democracies which guard the freedom of the seas and of their nationals, ready to fight to the last to defend that freedom. Confronting them on the other is a closed ring of states subject to Germany, who, for her own purposes, imposed her will by force on all peoples she can subdue, her nationals numbering 80 millions, her "slaves" 76 millions.

The Destruction Of the Books

By V. C. CLINTON BADDELEY

(United Correspondents)

C-16

When the Germans attacked Belgium the famous library at Louvain was destroyed with a loss of 950,000 books valued at millions of pounds. This is the second time that the library has been destroyed. It was wrecked as an act of terrorism in 1914; it has been wrecked again in 1940 as an act of barbarity. For do not suppose that the destruction of the library was accidental. In the battle of civilization the books are in the forefront of the battle.

From the earliest beginnings of the Nazi movement books and their writers have been subjected to relentless persecution. All reactionaries are afraid of books. They are apt to record unpleasant truths, apt to deny false evidence.

Many years ago the libraries of Germany were purged of unwelcome evidence, and the books collected and burned in the public squares. New evidence was then forged by willing propagandists to fill the shelves which had been emptied, and now there are few people in Germany who honestly know what the truth is. If they were told their left hand was their right they would believe it, just as they apparently believe the absurd statement that they have large stocks of food and of petrol.

In the long run it is impossible to destroy truth; but the important thing to realise is that the enemies of truth are not thinking of the long run. They want to take the world by assault. If they can do that it won't matter to them whether the truth is known or not; the truth in chains is not a serious enemy. But the truth in freedom is another matter. It was essential that the Germans should destroy the evidence in their own country, and it is even more important for them to destroy the evidence in other countries. They know very well that no form of Gangsterdom can bear the light of day. Expose a photographic negative to the sun and it curls up. Expose the German and Italian Gangsters in New York to the light of Mr. Dewey and they curl up too. Expose the German and Italian Gangsters in Europe to the true light of Evidence and they will curl up — and that is why it is essential to them to destroy the authentic and to manufacture the false.

Berlin has not often had an occasion to laugh in these last years. One of the last occasions was shortly after the Reichstag fire. At that time, whenever workmen were employed on visible public work a notice used to be displayed saying that the men were in work "thanks to the Fuehrer". One of these notices was tactlessly put up beside the men who were engaged in removing the debris of the Reichstag: and then even the German people laughed so much that the notice had to be hastily removed.

Great strides since then have been made in the manufacture of evidence, and the German wireless has already announced that it was the British who destroyed the library at Louvain. It is hardly necessary to observe that a man does not willingly destroy his own allies. The books in the library at Louvain stood in the forefront of the battle, and fell in the cause of civilization.

Rat Goes A Fishing

Wolves, bears, fur seals and many other animals are familiar to the public as enemies which prey heavily on the fish stocks of Canada. But how many persons have ever placed the common rat in the category of a fish destroyer? Recent evidence received by the Dominion department of fisheries from one of its officials in Nova Scotia presents a strong case against the rat as a fish enemy. This official in checking up on his supply of year-old speckled trout maintained in the Cobequid Hatchery at Antigonish recently was both surprised and puzzled when he found no fewer than 217 of the young fish missing from the circular pond where the fish had been kept during the winter pending planting operations in the Fish Culture re-stocking programs. No clues were found as to the disappearance of the missing fish and for a time the matter was a profound mystery to hatchery employees.

With the coming of warmer weather and removal of the brush used for insulation around the intake pipes leading to the pond, came a solution of the disappearing trout and a strong case against Mr. Rat. As the brush was being removed a large rat ran out from under it, and subsequent examination revealed the animal's nest with two piles of freshly killed speckled trout beside it. The rat had captured the young fish and killed them, then removed them carefully to its nest apparently as a food supply. The trout were from three to four and one-half inches long, and it is assumed the rat must have lain in wait for the young trout near the shallower parts of the pond, pouncing on the schools of small fish as they ventured near the shore. — Brandon Sun.

Drake's Drum

That history repeats itself is a truism which is finding some curious illustrations in the situation in the present war as compared with previous wars in which Great Britain was in peril. In an exhibition in England of collections of pamphlets of the Napoleonic era is a broadside of 1803, when Napoleon was threatening invasion, entitled "An Address to All-Ranks of People" urging them to arise against an upstart tyrant who had struck terror into almost all the Powers of Europe:

"It galls his haughty soul that this land alone should dare to stand in the way, and impede the progress of his mad and intemperate projects. He therefore swears vengeance against it, and vows that he will bury all its high and invaluable privileges, the grand achievement of the heroes of past ages and of the present day, in the waves of the ocean that surrounds it."

How precisely this applies to Hitler and his ideas!

And as another parallel let us go back to the Elizabethan era, when Philip of Spain was threatening what he would do to the little island, and launched his armada—to have it shattered by the guns of Sir Francis Drake and his fellow-sea-captains.

And let us recall the requiem of Drake, who died afterwards on his ship in Nombre Dios Bay, as sung by Henry Newbolt—and in line 7, second verse, read "Huns" instead of "Dons", and it will do:

DRAKE'S DRUM

Drake he's in his hammock an' a thousand miles away,
(Capten, art tha sleepin' there below?).
Slung atween the round shot in Nombre Dios Bay,
An' dreamin' arl the time o' Plymouth Hoe.
Yarnder lumes the Island, yarnder lie the ships,
Wi' sailor-lads a-dancin' heel-an'-toe,
An' the shore-lights flashin', and the night-tide dashin',
He sees et arl so plainly as he saw et long ago.

Drake he was a Devon man, an' ruled the Devon seas,
(Capten, art tha sleepin' there below?).
Rovin' tho' his death fell, he went wi' heart at ease,
An' dreamin' arl the time o' Plymouth Hoe.
"Take my drum to England, hang et by the shore,
Strike et when your powder's runnin' low;
If the Dons sight Devon, I'll quit the port o' Heaven,
An' drum them up the channel as we drummed them long ago."

Drake he's in his hammock till the great Armadas come,
(Capten, art tha sleepin' there below?).
Slung atween the round shot, listenin' for the drum,
An' dreamin' arl the time o' Plymouth Hoe.
Call him on the deep sea, call him up the Sound,
Call him when ye sail to meet the foe;
Where the old trade's plyin' and the old flag flyin'
They shall find him ware an' wakin', as they found him long ago!

—Ottawa Journal.

'TWAS BIG FELLOW

Mossel Bay, South Africa—(CP)—Angler Henry Gerber landed a 10-foot "Jumping Jack" shark weighing more than 400 pounds by handline. It was the largest of its kind caught here.

BRITISH TANKS HELD THEIR OWN

Demonstrated Superiority in Battle of Flanders Says Tank Commander

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(CP)—British tanks demonstrated their superiority in the battle of Flanders even though that campaign ended in a debacle, Brig. D. H. Pratt, D.S.O., M.C., then Commander of the 1st (British) Army Tank Brigade, said here Tuesday.

Brig. Pratt, now a member of the British purchasing mission in New York, is in Ottawa conferring with Col. F. F. Worthington, Commander of the 1st Canadian Tank Brigade now being organized.

In no action did a German tank or gun prove capable of withstanding British equipment, he said. Though few in number, the Tanks were able to stand German anti-tank gun fire. Enemy "flivvers" did not appear on the scene until dusk, and then they were easily dispersed in fighting which took place in the semi-darkness.

Even Nazi bombers were unable to do much damage to British mobile equipment, even though little air support was received from the Royal Air force, which was busy elsewhere. The Allied weakness was in numbers.

Kiwanians Tell Of Improvements In Their Business

A novel departure from the usual after-dinner speaker featured the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis Club held at the Bay of Quinte Country Club today, when speakers called upon by Program Chairman James Barclay, told members in a few concise words of the principal improvements in their business that have taken place during the past ten years.

Cliff Baragar told the clubmen of the introduction and success of rayon in the manufacture of tires, with Dr. Reg. Anderson regaling members with a resume of the latest scientific drug treatments, blood transfusions, etc.

Kiwanian C. L. Jewell told of the importance of the small personal loans and of their benefit to the borrowing public, and Ernie Finkle outlined the rapid progress of electric signs and lighting, especially the fluorescent type.

Benefits of the Price Control Board with regard to general merchandising were outlined by Kiwanian Jack McIntosh, with Leo Riggs explaining the difference in the methods of marketing automobiles in the present day and that of years ago.

Harold Seldon stating that Dr. Anderson had more or less stole his verbal thunder regaled the clubmen with a humorous story, and Kiwanian Len Fozard told his fellow clubmen that high speeds and modern automobiles were responsible for a marked increase in his business.

A feature of the meeting was the introduction of Charles Pomfrett, a new member and successor to the former secretary of the club, George H. Griffin. Kiwanian Pomfrett will be installed at a later date, the club was informed by Past President Dr. R. A. Flynn. Several members of the club volunteered to act as canvassers in the forthcoming drive of the Canadian Red Cross Society.

FOR EVERY CAR...
PATHFINDER
● It's a new Goodyear for 1940! A long-wearing, big service tire that sells at a rock-bottom price. See! Compare! Buy! We have your size!
IT'S THE BIGGEST VALUE EVER OFFERED
EASY TERMS
PAY AS LOW AS
Pay only a little down . . . spread the balance over many weeks! 57¢ PER WEEK
CLIFF BARAGAR
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
Dundas & Pinnacle, Belleville
SUNOCO SERVICE STATION
Main Street — Picton
TIRE SHOP
62 King Street — Trenton

YOURS...FREE!
Manicure Set
Articles for all the family—Free for coupons that come with COMFORT Soap! To get Free 1940 Gift Catalogue, illustrating this and 134 other wonderful gifts, write: Comfort Soap, Dept. N-3-12, Montreal.
COMFORT SOAP COMFORT
FOR QUICK, RICH SUDS!

Tribune Outlines The Many Ways Britain Can Win

New York, Sept. 18.—(CP)—The New York Herald Tribune outlined today many ways in which "Britain can win" and concluded that "the best and simplest proof of it is the tremendous effort which Herr Hitler has massed for her early destruction.

"Britain can win," the newspaper reiterated in a lengthy editorial and declared: "The possible combinations—of battle, blockade, hunger, revolt—are endless; and where the decisive factor is now the relatively few men in machines rather than the many on foot, Britain, with all her Empire and a large part of American Industry behind her, wields a far more formidable power than either her size or numbers suggests".

Outlining "a hundred roads to victory", the Herald Tribune listed a Hitler-conquered continent "long over-strained, now partly wrecked and seriously disorganized;" British sources; the growing Royal Air force; blockade and Italy, "unquestionably the weak link in the Nazi defences".

Municipal Guards Placed on Plant

Bridgeport, Conn., Sept. 17—(AP)—A special municipal police guard was thrown about the plant of the Remington Arms Company Inc., here today after Brooklyn, N.Y. authorities received an anonymous tip that at least one building would be blown up.

Despite the precautions taken by Bridgeport police, James H. Chasmar, works manager, said he placed "little or no credence" in the report that the company's protection service numbering 68 guards would not be increased as a result.

The company is engaged in the manufacture of .30 calibre armor piercing and tracer cartridges for the United States government and has large ammunition orders from the British government.

Chasmar said that during the First Great War many similar threats were received but that none of them materialized. The plant buildings cover several blocks in the downtown section and there are many powder dumps situated nearby.

Little Benny's Note Book

I was taking a walk with pop for his health and some lady started to get in a buss with a suitcase and a man quick kissed her goodby, and I said, G, pop, look at his face.

Meaning 2 big lipstick marks alongside of his mouth, and pop said, By gollies that lady must be a poor shot.

Maybe it was the way he aimed himself, pop, I said, and pop said, Anyway, the poor fellow will proberly go around like that all day, leaving a broad wake of snickers and wise cracks behind him, and nobody will have the courage to tell him what's wrong. Even his best friends will consider the question too delicate to interfere with, and the result will be that the poor devil will go through the whole day a living unconscious laughing stock, pop said.

Well then jimminy, pop, why dont you tell him, if you know it will be such a good deed? I said, and pop said, By jukiter I will, and if there were more people like me in the world there would be less people like some other people.

And the man was still standing there, watching the buss go out of site, being a square man with his chin and his eyebrows sticking out, and pop went over to him saying, Excuse me while I do you a little favor, old top, you've got 2 dandy dabs of rouge on your face that tell their own story.

Here it is, the grand prize, one doller, the man said. And he took a doller out of his pockit and handed it to pop, pop saying, Stick it back again, old man, I assure you theres not a mercenary bone in my body, and the man said Listen, you, those things on my face are berthmarks, and I've always said I'd give a doller bill to the thousandth goof who told me they were lipstick smudges, and you're the thousandth goof.

I lost, pop said.

And he quick walked away with the doller, saying, Benny, if we meet a man with his pants falling down, dont expect me to tell him.

Only we didn't meet any.

LOOKING ALOFT IN "MARE NOSTRUM"

An anti-aircraft crew aboard a British warship in the Mediterranean, which the Italians call "Mare Nostrum," keeps a sharp lookout aloft for Il Duce's bombers. British sailors have scoured the sea for signs of the Italian fleet, but only the bombers come over to cause them some "annoyance."

Training for the Blind

Prior to the founding of The Canadian National Institute for the Blind in 1918 it was impossible for an adult blind person to secure training of any kind in Canada. There were schools in which sightless children were educated but these were not for adults. The result was that persons losing their sight in middle life found it very difficult, and often impossible, to adjust themselves to their new condition.

With the coming of the Institute, however, this was soon changed. The need for some system whereby the adult blind could receive training was immediately recognized. The need was met and home teaching is now one of the Institute's most important services to sightless adults.

In Ontario at present there are approximately thirty-five hundred blind persons registered with the Institute. The majority of these are adults and many of them wish to have instruction in braille reading and writing, in typewriting and in handicrafts such as basketry, leather work, knitting, sewing, etc. Twenty-five years ago they could not have secured such instruction; today they can have it in their homes.

The Institute maintains, in Ontario, a staff of about twelve Home Teachers. These teachers are blind girls themselves who have been specially trained for their work. They go into the homes of the blind and bring hope and encouragement to those whom they teach. They show their pupils how to use their hands where they formerly used their eyes, how to make their four remaining senses take the place of five and how to overcome their handicap and make successes of their lives.

This work takes the Home Teachers into all parts of the province. Wherever their services are required, they go. Their work takes them into large cities, small villages, or to isolated farms and into the mining districts of northern Ontario. No blind person, requiring this service, is denied it.

The Institute's home teaching service is given absolutely free to the blind. It is naturally a costly service but it is an essential one. It opens the way for the blind to use many other Institute services. For example, when a blind person has received instruction in braille and is able to read he may borrow books from the Institute's library in Toronto. In this library there are more than twenty thousand volumes in embossed types. The books are loaned to the blind absolutely free of charge and the Canadian government accepts them in the mail without charge. When a sightless person has received instruction in basketry, leather work or knitting he may purchase materials such as reed, leather, and wool from the Institute at cost.

In Belleville, Trenton and rural Hastings County there are at present about ninety-two blind persons registered with the Institute. All these persons are eligible for any Institute service which they may require. The majority are receiving services of one kind or another. Some have had home teaching.

The Institute's work in this district is carried on by its Hastings County Advisory Board which is this week holding its annual campaign to raise funds in support of services to the blind and prevention of blindness. The Institute is not a government agency. It depends upon the generosity of the public for the greater part of its funds. Our letters of appeal are in the mail; our tag day is on Saturday next. We urge the citizens of Belleville and Hastings County to give this humanitarian work their support.

Norwegian Believes Hitler Plans An Attack on Iceland as Next Move

Winnipeg, Sept. 18—(CP)—Carl J. Hambro, President of the Norwegian parliament, said in an interview Tuesday that he believed Hitler planned an attack on North America as his next step, rather than an attempted invasion of the British Isles. The North American attack would be preceded by an invasion of Iceland.

Mr. Hambro said that building of lake airports in Northern Norway, seizure of thousands of Norwegian ships and the many meteorological expeditions made to Greenland and Iceland by Germans in recent years had convinced him Iceland was the next intended victim of the Nazis.

"From Iceland they could command all northern shipping," he added.

"It would not be too difficult to slip through the British blockade in the north of Norway because the seas are so vast," he said. "Those meteorological expeditions of the Nazis were to supply necessary weather data for flying."

"It is a lie that Norway was captured through the work of the fifth column. That was German propaganda successfully used on American journalists to frighten other countries. If German losses in other countries were in the same relation as they were in Norway the war would have been ended and the Nazis wiped out. Our shore batteries were not silent when the enemy fleet sailed in—the Naxis lost 70,000 tons of shipping under our guns and 25,000 men."

June Storey and Gene Autry in a scene from Republic's new musical Supreme Production, "Carolina Moon," coming next to the Capitol. On the same program the sensational attraction "SOS-Tidal Wave."

HITLER WILL TRY AN INVASION NEWSMEN STATE

One Convinced it Will be Tried Soon and Will Not Succeed

OTHER LESS POSITIVE

London, Sept. 18—(CP)—Hitler will try an invasion of Great Britain, in the opinion of two American newspapermen, Mallory Browne, editorial manager of the Christian Science Monitor, and Raymond Daniell, chief London correspondent of the New York Times, who discussed the war situation in a broadcast to North America Tuesday.

Mr. Browne was convinced the attempt would be made "fairly soon" and that it would not succeed. Mr. Daniell was less positive. He agreed Hitler was likely to try it but was "making no predictions" about the result.

As the two men, President and Vice-President of the Association of American Correspondents in London, debated the chances of victory for either side they found themselves "swapping sides," although, generally speaking, Mr. Daniell took a more pessimistic view. His hope, he said, was that the American people would not rely on someone else stopping the Nazis as the British relied on the French, that they would make their own preparations.

Questioned Nerves of People

He questioned if the nerves of any people could stand up to the present bombings night after night.

"These British can take a lot of beating," said Mr. Browne. "They certainly have shown in the last 10 days that they can take it.... and don't forget that the Germans are getting it, too, and getting it where it hurts."

British determination to resist, he thought, was not so much due to their having learned to hate as to "a rediscovery a rekindling of a really burning feeling for democracy."

He thought Hitler would have to produce something soon because the German dictator was committed to end the war this year. To do that he would have to conquer Britain, which he could only accomplish by invasion.

Invasion Only Way For Victory

While Mr. Daniell agreed a quick German victory could only come from invasion, he thought it possible the Germans might keep on pasting Great Britain with bombs for some time and might have greater reserves of planes and gasoline than the British thought.

Mr. Browne suggested his colleague was over-estimating the power of the German Air Force and underestimating the Royal Air Force, which was getting stronger. He could not see the British Navy and Air Force permitting the Germans to settle down to "a nice, long quiet blockade" of Britain.

Unless the Royal Air Force could stop the Germans short of British shores, however, Mr. Browne foresaw a terrific problem confronting the British. If the Germans were once able to establish a bridgehead and move men, supplies and tanks across for two or three days he feared the situation would be desperate.

British Soldiers Better

Both men thought the fighting qualities of the British soldiers might be more suited to the kind of war which would be fought in such circumstances than the qualities of the German soldier. The latter functioned best when he worked according to a plan. The former were better at improvisation under difficult and perplexing conditions.

Moreover they thought British equipment was sure to be new and up-to-date because the British were so slow in getting their supplies.

With stormy weather coming, Mr. Browne thought German soldiers would land in bad shape for fighting unless one of Hitler's secret weapons was "a new cure for seasickness."

On the other hand Mr. Daniell suggested bad weather was likely to act both ways. While it would make transportation of a German force across the sea more difficult, it would make it harder for the British to know what the Germans were up to and perhaps provide a chance for a surprise attack.

GEN. CATROUX JOINS DE GAULLE

London,—(CP)—Gen. Georges Catroux, former Governor General of French Indo-China who has joined the French forces of Gen. Charles de Gaulle still fighting with Britain, has arrived in London, the Ministry of Information disclosed today.

(Gen. Catroux was removed by the Vichy Government, which named Admiral Jean Decoux as the new Governor General of the French East Asian Colony.)

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—
And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go
The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.
A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of calomel but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25¢.

He Muttered and Mumbled As He Toyed With the Cold Radiator
It clanked. It moaned and groaned. A few drops of water trickled dejectedly from the valve. But of heat, not a sign. And that floor was awfully, awfully cold.
His wife stayed in bed trying to get what little comfort she could from the covers. Her persistent nagging at him didn't help. He decided to get some coal — quick!
He called us and we rushed a truck to him. But—look at the trouble he could have saved by buying his coal early in the season.
GET your Winter Coal supply now—today! Call us for prompt delivery. 40 different kinds of coal.
PHONE US FOR LIME
HARRY SMITH
152 Pinnacle Street
PHONE
2071

ITALIAN PRISONERS OF WAR IN NEAR EAST

Italian soldiers captured during skirmishes in Libya are shown lined up for kit inspection in their desert camp. General Romolo la Trucci was captured with this batch.

RUSH AIR-RAID SHELTERS

Alexandria, Egypt (AP)—Martial law was tightened in Alexandria today and authorities rushed scores of new air raid shelters toward completion although Italian forces invading Egypt were reported somewhat more than 250 miles from this British Mediterranean naval base. Many homes, night clubs, theatres and banks were sandbagged to a height of 10 feet or more in anticipation of increased air bombardment.

Too Much Drinking Says Cleric

London (CP)—Rev. J. N. Norton, speaking at the Chester and Warrington Methodist Synod, suggested today that German bombers were "sparing breweries" in Britain because "if drinking continues at the present rate we will lose the war." The Synod urged that bars be closed throughout the country at 9 p.m. as an emergency measure."

Ban Lifted on Hitler's Paper

Berne, Switzerland (AP)—Adolf Hitler's newspaper, the Volkischer Beobachter, which was banned from Switzerland several months ago, may soon reappear on Swiss newstands, it was learned today. The German paper originally was barred in retaliation for exclusion of several important Swiss papers from Germany. Berne sources said they understood that Swiss authorities had consented to its readmission without any corresponding concession on the part of Germany.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR TORONTO

Toronto (CP)—The Toronto Industrial Commission announced last night that plans had been completed for immediate construction of a Canadian factory for Small Electric Motors Limited of Beckenham, England, in the Toronto district. Lines to be produced were not announced. The factory will provide employment for 70 persons.

Your Name Engraved Free on
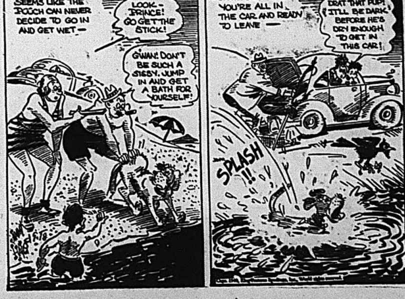
FOUNTAIN PENS and PENCILS
Purchased at a Dollar or Higher
Call and See a Sample of the work.
It beautifies your pen and a Safeguard against loss.
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138
RUSH FREE DELIVERY.

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo



SEEMS LIKE THE POOCH CAN NEVER DECIDE TO GO IN AND GET WET—
LOOK—PRINCE! GO GET THE STICK!
G'WAN! DON'T BE SUCH A SISSY. JUMP IN AND GET A BATH FOR YOURSELF!
—UNTIL JUST WHEN YOU'RE ALL IN THE CAR AND READY TO LEAVE — DRAT THAT PUP! IT'LL BE DARK BEFORE HE'S DRY ENOUGH TO GET IN THIS CAR!
SPLASH!!

PERSONALS

MARRIAGE ANNOUNCEMENT

GOUGH—FITZGIBBON — On Saturday, September 7, at the parsonage of Rev. D. T. McClintock, Emma June, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Fitzgibbon, Lewis Street, was united in marriage to Leland Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gough, Foxboro.

Mrs. Herbert Hulme of Vancouver, B.C., is spending some time in Belleville, and is in residence with Miss Forman, 120 Victoria Avenue.

Mr. Leo Riggs arrived in the city this week after spending the past few weeks in Manitoulin Island.

Gunner Howard Kelleher of Petawawa Military Camp, spent the week end in Belleville with his wife and son, 10 Rickett Street.

Tea hostesses at the Bay of Quinte Country Club this afternoon were Mrs. William Knowles, Mrs. W. P. Allore and Mrs. A. C. Reynolds.

WEDDINGS

HARP—TWIGG

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon, September 14, at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. Reid and Mr. Reid, Dundas Street, Trenton, Ontario, when Miss Louise Twigg was united in marriage to Mr. Marvon Harp, Kingston. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Makin, pastor of the Pentecostal Assembly at Trenton.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, Mr. Twigg, wore a pretty floor length gown of all white satin and net with accessories to match, and a long white bridal veil, which fell in graceful folds. She carried an arm bouquet of Bridal roses tied with white satin ribbon. The bride was attended by her sister as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of robin's egg blue silk and carrying a bouquet of matching flowers. Mr. Elwin Harp of Belleville, a brother of the groom was the best man.

After the ceremony a dainty buffet lunch was served after which the happy couple left for Kingston and a trip through the Thousand Islands. They will reside in Kingston. Mrs. Harp, Kingston, mother of the groom, wore a gown of navy blue, with white and matching accessories, and Mrs. Twigg, mother of the bride, was also effectively gowned in navy and white with matching accessories.

JAMES—PARK

A reception at the Highland Golf Club, London, Ontario, followed the ceremony at Metropolitan United Church, in which Miss Mary Stewart Park, daughter of Mrs. A. King Hodgins and the late James Park of London, was married to Pilot Officer Clarence Archibald James, R.C.A.F., Trenton, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. James of London.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Park, and wore a gown of white slipper satin with flowing train and finger-tip veil arranged with a halo of seed pearls. She carried a fan bouquet of white gladioli and gardenias. Miss Helen Waring, her cousin, was her attendant, and wore a period gown of rose taffeta with Juliet cap to match and carried a bouquet of Joanna Hill roses and blue delphiniums. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harold Vernon.

The church was decorated with gladioli and the wedding music was played by Mr. T. C. Chattoe. Mr. Kirk MacDonald was groomsman, and the ushers were Mr. D. Park Jamieson, cousin of the bride, and Mr. Matt Brown, cousin of the bridegroom. At the wedding reception the toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. D. Park Jamieson. Receiving were Mrs. A. King Hodgins, mother of the bride, gowned in fuchsia chiffon with matching hat and corsage of white gardenias; Mrs. E. C. James, mother of the bridegroom, wore a gown of heavenly blue chiffon with matching hat and corsage of Better Time roses.

The couple left on an extended motor trip and will live in Trenton. For travelling the bride wore a sheer black wool ensemble with Persian lamb trimming, accessories to match and corsage of white gardenias.

London — (CP) — The millionth gift received by the Central Hospital Supply Service was a blanket from an organization in Peru, South America.

ECONOMICAL
A little H.P. adds a lot of APPETIZING FLAVOR
H.P. SAUCE

For BETTER desserts
DURHAM Corn Starch

Permanent Wave Specials
$2.50 WAVE for $2.00
$3.50 WAVE for $2.50
$5.00 WAVE for $3.50
$7.50 WAVE for $5.00
END PERMANENTS .... $1.50 up
FINGER WAVE, MARCEL and MANICURE (each) 35c
E. LEEMAN
Phone 202 4 Doors South B-E-L-L-E Theatre

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Duties of Parents of Newly Engaged Young Man Told

When a girl and a young man have become engaged, and he has told his parents of his engagement, his fiancee looks forward to their visit (or letter) telling her of their delight and welcoming her into their family. When this doesn't materialize, naturally a shadow is thrown across her happiness.

The rule of etiquette is that the parents of the engaged young man should, within 24 hours after their son has told them that he has been accepted by The Girl and her family, call on their son's fiancee and her parents. If they live too far away to make this call, they should make this welcoming "visit" by letter, and at once. If illness or any other circumstance makes it impossible for both the mother and father to make this conventional call, the other should go alone.

This is the rule. But while most girls know that this is the rule, or sense that there must be some such rule, unfortunately many parents of young men seem to have no idea that such a required formality exists.

Naturally the girl is humiliated at the omission of this call. She and her parents wonder . . . does the silence mean that the fiance's parents don't know what is expected of them? . . . or that they don't approve of their son's choice? . . . or that they just aren't naturally inclined toward the ways of friendliness and hospitality?

What can be done about this social impasse?

When it becomes completely apparent that this social bow is not to be made by the parents of the fiance, I suggest that the girl's parents make a social move to start things moving in the right direction.

The girl's mother, as the hostess of the household, may properly write a note to the young man's mother, reading somewhat like this:

Dear Mrs. Allen,

Won't you and your husband and Bob come in to have a cup of tea with us next Sunday at four o'clock? If this day isn't convenient, please do tell us when it would be possible for you to come, for we want so much to know Bob's mother and father, and to welcome you to our home.

Sincerely,
Elizabeth Field Wendell

The mother's reply to this gracious invitation will be an index of her attitude toward the engagement.

COURTESY TIP

When, in a restaurant, a waiter passes a serving-dish to you, don't, in refusing, say an abrupt "No." A courteous "No, thank you" is the thing to say.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Unjustifiable Jealousy

Dear Miss Fairfax:

When my boy friend and I spend an evening together at home everything goes along all right. But if we go out anywhere he acts like a madman. At a dance he'll demand who I'm looking at; and if anyone dances with me he'll watch me all the time and accuse me of things which couldn't possibly happen.

And the last straw was one night when, while bus-riding, he accused me of flirting with almost every man passenger. I was so disgusted with him that I bid him goodbye at the door and told him that I was through, that he didn't even know enough to give me credit for good breeding. Can you imagine a girl in my class being so common that she'd flirt when out with another man?

Ever since that night he's been trying to make up. Don't you think he's slightly crazy?

Janetta

It's a question whether jealousy such as you describe isn't a form of mania. But no one can deny that it's very unpleasant. Very often it does drive its victims to violence, and invariably puts them beyond the pale of normal friendship.

Whether you make up or not depends on his ability to reform. I shouldn't think you'd get much companionship out of such a friendship.

Known Each Other Since Childhood

Dear Miss Fairfax:

I'm going to graduate from high school next year, and have been palling around with a certain girl since I was old enough to walk. In fact, our parents knew each other before they were married. We play tennis, go swimming together, to dances, roller skating, ice-skating, and almost anything you can think of that two people can play together.

For the past six months we've been going "steady" to the exclusion of all others, and our parents approve very much of this friendship. But what's worrying me is, am I doing right to take up so much of her time? Perhaps I ought to let her go out with other boys too, so she can be sure I'm the one for her. What do you think of this?

C.B.

If you read my column regularly you will know I approve thoroughly of boys and girls being good pals. It gets them through the "awkward age" and helps to overcome the shyness and self-consciousness that makes so many young people miserable until they get adjusted in life.

If I advise you not to fall in love, I suppose it would be like telling water not to run down hill. But I sincerely hope you are not going to fall in love and get behind in your school work. The important thing just now is for you both to get through your school work creditably.

Lack of Friends Upsets Her

Dear Miss Fairfax:

Sometimes I am quite bashful, morbidly sensitive, and not a very good talker. I can't seem to get any farther than a general friendship with anyone. Some folks have called me pretty, so I'm sure I'm not bad looking. But I lack the pep and personality which a girl must have to be popular with boys or girls.

I'd like to be able to take the initiative and start the conversation when I'm in company. I'm 17 and in high school. And on top of all this, my mother fusses continually about my not having friends. She wants me to be popular and can't understand why I'm not, and can't see how hard I try. All this makes me perfectly

Miserable

My dear child, there are few brilliant conversationalists at 17, and if they did exist we would be apt to fly from them, as we do from most infant prodigies. The technique of living is like that of playing the piano or violin — you've got to be patient and learn the rules and not expect to be brilliant before you know the notes.

Your mother wants you to be popular. Good! Then get her to help you. Have a number of small parties, to which you can invite small groups of girls and boys. If you like, I'll send you one of my folders about old-fashioned parties. A three-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope will bring it to you. There are several good ideas in this.

But please don't expect to have the world at your feet at 17. It's just not possible.

HONOR BRAVE PILOT

Ealing, England — (CP) — A memorial service was held for Flying Officer Dennis Grice who sacrificed his life by crashing into the sea rather than let his plane fall on a town during an air battle.

MAY SAVE OLD GUNS

London — (CP) — British guns used in wars of the 19th century on all continents, removed from Woolwich Common here by the Ministry of Supply, will not be used for scrap "until last possible moment."

Madeleine Carroll is talking to her "right number," Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., who is co-starred with her in the romantic adventure story, "Safari," next at the Belle with Edgar Wallace's "The Mysterious Mr. Reeder," featuring Will Fyffe.

Taking the Sharp Out of Needle-Point Elbows

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHEN a girl's elbows are sharp enough to cut bread with, she ought to do something about them. Slenderness is heavenly, scrawniness isn't anything to sing about. No need of being that way if the physical condition is normal. Reedy little slimpies are always on the go; a fat cell can't catch them. They live on lettuce and pickles which do not put adipose padding upon the ribs or elsewhere.

Thin arms can be developed into rounded ones by faithfulness to a daily workout. The best means of wooing good lines is to use a pair of Indian clubs. They can be bought at any shop where sporting goods are sold and it is no trick to learn to swing them. An excellent means also of developing the bust and breasts. Ten minutes night and morning and no skipping either.

Arms need special attention this season of the year. Scour them well with warm water, soap and a heavy brush to scale off summer discolorations. Palm on cocoanut oil or lanoline; doesn't matter which. Work from the wrists to the finger ends, from the wrists to the shoulder. Get after the elbow in vigorous fashion, cupping it in an oiled palm, twisting it about.

Eruptions on the upper portion

"Thin arms can be developed into rounded ones by faithfulness to a daily workout."

Sweat glands are active there, so are sebaceous glands.
of the back are a common trouble.

Twice daily there should be a soapy cleansing, but not with a brush if pustules are present. Lay on steaming hot compresses after the washing, dry gently, apply borated talcum.

St. Julien Chapter Supports Appeal for Gifts of Blankets

Local Chapter Will Celebrate 25th Anniversary of Its Institution

Correspondence to the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. from Provincial Headquarters has contained the following appeals:

An appeal for all I.O.D.E. Chapters in Ontario for blankets for the little guests of Canada detained at the Oddfellows' Home in Toronto, for medical examination before going to their future homes, was read at the meeting of the St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. here Monday evening and a sum of money was voted to buy some blankets; however donations of money or blankets would be gratefully welcomed by the Chapter. Knowing the generosity of the citizens of Belleville and vicinity in former appeals the Chapter feels this request will not go unheeded. Those desiring to contribute to this worthy cause please telephone Mrs. E. J. Neate, Regent of St. Julien Chapter I.O.D.E. 1475M or the Secretary Mrs. R. A. Backus, 1699.

The need for clothing in England also becomes very acute with thousands of families left destitute from the bombing raids. Only new clothing can be sent of course.

This month marks the St. Julien Chapter's 25th Anniversary and to celebrate this event Mrs. Blake Ives, 14 Mt. Pleasant Road, has kindly donated her spacious and beautiful home for a tea and home-cooking sale as advertised elsewhere in this issue of The Ontario Intelligencer.

BOTTLE NEED NOT BOTHER BABY

IF IT DOES Mrs. Robert E. Brandon, of Markham, Ontario, has this message for you: "As so often happens to bottle-fed babies, stomach trouble and constipation were so troublesome we despaired of ever raising our first baby. A neighbour recommended Baby's Own Tablets and they proved so satisfactory we have never been without them for over thirteen years, with the result we have five extra sturdy children. So far they have missed all the so-called children's diseases and four of the five were bottle fed."

And Mrs. M. Butchart, of Toronto, says this: "Baby's Own Tablets are excellent for bottle-fed babies as they assist in digesting foods which cause indigestion."

Baby's Own Tablets are equally effective in diarrhoea, simple croup, colic, colds, simple fever and teething troubles. Sweet-tasting, easy to take, safe. Analyst's certificate in every box.

Never be without Baby's Own Tablets—sickness so often strikes in the night. 25 cents. Your money back if you are not satisfied.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson whose life story of adventure has been made into one of the most thrilling of motion pictures, "I Married Adventure," will open soon at the McCarthy Theatre.

Huffs Island

Huff's Island—The community was shocked on Tuesday at the tragic death of two young aviators whose plane crashed in the marsh north of the island.

Messrs. J. Hatfield, D. Hatfield and T. Nightingale attended the F. S. Anderson sale Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Fairman Sr., returned to the Island on Thursday after spending some time with her daughter Mrs. F. Jeffrey and Mr. Jeffrey, Melrose.

Mr. Burton Richards, Toronto, a brother of Mrs. Fairman Sr., Miss A. Richards and Mr. McCall, Wooler, spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. R. Fairman and family.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Ward and Mrs. W. Wallbridge, Stirling, were Sunday afternoon callers at Mr. S. Black's.

Miss Macfarlane, Miss Windsor and Mr. Smith, Belleville, were supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. Black on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Kinnear spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. Wallbridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Mac Wallbridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mackenzie and Ian, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wallbridge.

Mrs. Kilpatrick and small son, Toronto, spent some days with Mr. and Mrs. F. Motley and on Sunday Mrs. Motley, Kenneth, Wilfred and Sylvia motored to Toronto. Mrs. Kilpatrick returning home with them.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Hatfield, Misses Frances and Marion Wallbridge, Messrs. R. Wallbridge and Wm. Nightingale, were among those who were supper guests of Miss B. Jones, Belleville, on Sunday.

THEY SAY WE'RE SUPER-LUSCIOUS, MR. WHEAT!
SHOWS WHAT A DIFFERENCE TWO GRAINS MAKE MR. BARLEY!
YEP-GRAPE-NUTS ARE MADE FROM TWO GRAINS INSTEAD OF ONLY ONE!
NO WONDER GRAPE-NUTS TASTE TWICE AS GOOD!
● Grape-Nuts' delicious flavour is utterly distinctive because Grape-Nuts are made of two grains—wheat and malted barley—and by a special process. Every tempting serving brings you a goodly supply of energy-giving, body-building nourishment. Grocers are featuring Grape-Nuts at the lowest price in history! Order some today.
Grape-Nuts

Sandman Cure for Jitters

By Garry Cleveland Myers, Ph.D.

IN MY EARNEST appeals to make this column useful to my readers, nothing heartens me so much as the letters I receive which give evidence that something I wrote in personal answer to a letter from a reader, actually worked.

From a mother whose husband is a public school administrator with considerable responsibility, has come the following:

"My Dear Dr. Myers: Perhaps you will recall that I wrote you in the late summer of 1939, asking your help on some problems. I have meant to write you long before and thank you for your assistance. I wanted to be sure that your suggestions were actually working, and now, after almost six months, I can enthusiastically say they are!

"My children are a girl, who will be six in June, and a boy, who will be two in May. They have both profited by your sound and practical advice to me, and I shall ever be grateful. I felt almost at the end of my rope when I wrote you, but everything has worked out in very fine shape.

The Matter of Sleep

"I was reading your article in last night's paper about the restless nervous child whose parents say 'requires less sleep than most children.' Both of my children are the nervous type, but thanks to you and your suggestions, they have excellent sleeping habits now, and have lost the peevishness that had accompanied their nervous energy before. The younger sleeps from twelve to thirteen hours at night, with a two hour nap in the daytime, and the older sleeps about eleven and a half or twelve hours at night. And the fact that they are both in bed by seven, leaving a quiet house and a peaceful evening, has had a decided effect on the serenity of their mother. I shall always be thankful to you for your help at a time when I was in need of such sound advice.

"P.S.—Your suggestion that the older child be granted privileges not given the younger has worked out very well. She has assumed her responsibilities and felt she has earned her privileges. It's a grand scheme!"

Advice Easy to Give

Obviously this letter is more of a compliment to the mother who wrote it than to me. Advice is relatively easy to give, even good advice. To carry it out and get desired results is what takes effort and will power. I know for I am a parent myself. Therefore, whether it's my advice in this column, or special advice I send you in reply to your letters, which you try to follow but fail, please don't be too hard on yourself; and maybe you will also not be very hard on me.

You may have a chart of desirable hours of sleep at various ages by writing me at 235 E. 45th St., New York City, enclosing a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Solving Parent Problems

Q.—Should "finders be keepers?"

A.—No. When your little child brings home a toy he says he has found, accept his statement that he found it, but tell him "We must try to find the owner." Let him see you put up a sign in front of the house, about it. Then if no one comes to claim it in due time, send the toy to a child welfare organization. If it is money he finds, have him put it in a fund for relief, church or missions. Under no conditions should he use what he has found—not if you want this child to acquire good attitudes toward the possessions of others.

Q.—What is a good way to prevent stubbornness from developing in the child from three to six?

A.—Except for routines, avoid commanding the child, therefore, avoid punishing him to make him do things. Limit punishments to keeping him from doing a few forbidden things. Trust to requests, patience and your genius at winning his cooperation.

Q.—My four-year-old boy throws sticks and stones at cars and persons passing on the street.

A.—Be on hand to see that this lad gets an immediate effectual spanking for each offense, without exception. Don't talk; act.

STOP GREY HAIR
Use the absolutely pure, trust-worthy tint that enjoys 40 years' reputation. Non-sticky, permanent and washable. One liquid . . . 6 natural shades. See medical certificate enclosed.
Trial Size 35c.—Other Sizes 65c, $1.25, $1.75
At all Drug and Department Stores
SHADEINE

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

NIGHT TERRORS

Some time ago I devoted a column to terrors or nightmares — the things that awaken your child screaming and crying for you in the night, and discussed the physical causes of such a condition, such as physical exhaustion and faulty digestion. These causes are fairly obvious and easy to diagnose.

Much more difficult to diagnose are the cases in which the disturbance is caused by psychological unbalance. It may be that school problems grow too much for the child. He can't master the problems in arithmetic: multiplication or division is too much for him. He broods and worries over the troubles he has as a result to such an extent that it affects him when he is asleep. Sometimes a child doesn't get along well with his playmates and has unhappy experiences when he tries to mingle with them on the school yard. Almost anything that creates tension and anxiety in the child may upset him to such an extent that it affects his sleep.

A very common cause of nightmares in children is a feeling of insecurity brought on by trouble in the home. I'll never forget one case I attended, that of a little girl who suffered from nightmares. Night after night, she would wake up screaming and calling for her mother. The child seemed normal and healthy in every way. I changed her diet, prescribed more rest, but still she slept badly. One day I came to the house to find both the child and her mother in tears. When I enquired I found that the mother and father had had a family row, and he had left the house in a rage. Further enquiry indicated that these fights were fairly common. So, I got the mother and father together, and warned them what they were doing to the little girl. Both worshipped her, and the quarrels ceased. In a very short time the child was sleeping as peacefully as any child you ever saw.

The child's feeling of instability in the home may come from other causes. For instance, I have known mothers who punished a child for wrongdoing by telling him that she didn't love him any more. I can't criticize such a method of punishment too severely. A sensitive child who is told such things will be terribly upset emotionally and psychologically by them.

I think most of us are prone to forget that children need reassuring at all times. They need to be told again and again of our love for them, that we are proud of them. They need to have their self confidence built up in many ways, for only when they have a happy outlook on life will they develop that emotional stability that does away with those obscure and dangerous inner tensions.

HAWES' Canada's Favorite FLOOR WAX

UNDERSTANDING PARROT

London — (CP) — As a German plane was flying overhead, people sheltering in a restaurant here heard the restaurant's pet parrot screech: "Hullo, blast you!"

IN CASE OF AIR-RAIDS

London — (CP) — An order issued by the Admiralty requires that every merchant ship while in port shall have on board a sufficient number of men to man fire-fighting apparatus.

Southeast Coast, England—(CP)—Gunner Patrick Curran, 21, was blown to pieces when he trod on a land mine despite the warning of a comrade.

Nervous Restless Girls!
Cranky? Restless? Can't sleep? Tire easily? Because of female functional "disorders" causing monthly distress? Then try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Pinkham's Compound is well known for helping relieve such weak, rundown, nervous conditions. Made in Canada. WORTH TRYING! Any druggist.

CONVICT KING COMMITTED ON MURDER CHARGE

Inspector Albert R. Ward Testifies Man Told Story of Offence

CONSTABLE SHOT

Hamilton, Sept. 18—(CP)— His face twitching spasmodically but otherwise showing no signs of emotion, George Henry King stood in court here today and silently heard Magistrate H. A. Burbidge charge him with the murder, on or about Feb. 8, 1938 of High County Constable Donald C. Shervill. Shervill was shot and mortally wounded as he was patrolling along a line of cottages at Orchard Beach where he had been stationed as a result of a series of break-ins.

King did not plead for such a charge must be tried by a jury. Following the presentation of the preliminary evidence, King was committed for trial.

Interest in the case centred about certain statements allegedly made by King as he was serving a two-year sentence for forgery in Kingston Penitentiary, and reference to this fact was made by Inspector Albert R. Ward, of the Toronto Criminal Investigation Bureau, the first witness for the Crown.

Interviewed by Police

"Following alleged statements made by the accused while he was in the penitentiary, I went up to interview him in October," said the inspector. "I managed to obtain permission to see the prisoner on Oct. 26 and interviewed him in the Warden's office. The statement was to the effect that he, with another man, had been at Orchard Beach on the night in question with the object of prowling among the cottages. While they he collided with a man in the dark—he did not know who it was—and when that man asked him what he was doing, he shot him without further ado.

"He then left the scene and by various means he and his companion got on a freight train and went to Paris Junction. The gun was said to have been thrown away in a field near the junction. When they left the train they went on foot to Galt and on the way picked up a female. The trio arrived in Galt and spent the night of Feb. 9 in the Galt police station. His name is on the entry book."

BROADCAST SAVES ENGLISH WRITER

J. B. Priestly Planned to Retire Early but Answers Call to BBC Studio—His Hotel Bombed in Absence

London, Sept. 18—(CP)—Because J. B. Priestly, noted English novelist, good-naturedly agreed to an 11th hour request to broadcast for the British Broadcasting Corporation, he was not in his hotel room when it was demolished by a German bomb Monday night.

"I might not have been killed but I would have been sharing my bedroom with tons of debris," Priestly said last night in commenting on the fortuitous circumstance which kept him in a broadcasting studio when a wing of a west-end hotel was being destroyed.

It was Monday night and Priestly had just moved into a large hotel prepared to remain there for several weeks. He was in his room that evening when he received an urgent message asking him to deliver a talk over the B.B.C. network on the spirit of London people.

He had intended to retire early, the novelist said, and was not too pleased, but he obliged the broadcasting company. At the studio he heard one wing of the west end hotel had been destroyed. In the morning he returned to discover that it was his hotel and the wing he occupied had been demolished.

Priestly ruefully wondered if he would ever again see his "beautiful shirts" and more particularly, his "well-worked-in-and much-loved" smoking pipes.

R.C.M.P. Arrest Three On Conspiracy Charges

Montreal, Sept. 18—(CP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police announced today three men had been arrested and another five were being sought on charges arising from a $300,000 conspiracy which involved the illegal importation into Canada from the United States of Dominion of Canada bearer bonds.

Police said one of the men, Rolf Pichon of Toronto, was arrested in Toronto. The others, Ernest Stanley Dallman and A. W. Glover, of Montreal, were detained here.

An official said the charges involved violation of the Foreign Exchange Board regulations.

The official said arrest of five more men was expected shortly.

Rats Catch It In Chicago

Chicago, Sept. 18 —(AP)—An army of 2,000 city workers set out today through Chicago's streets, alleys and backyards bent on killing rats of every size, age and pedigree. Oscar E. Hewitt, Commissioner of Public Works, sounded the tocsin for the extermination campaign. He said it was expected to be the most thorough "kill rats" drive in the city's history.

CANADIAN TROOPS TAKE UP POSITIONS IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Transported silently and efficiently by destroyers of the Royal Canadian Navy, Canadian troops are pictured, LEFT, as they walked down the gang-plank to take up positions in historic Newfoundland. Destroyers, bearing other Canadian troops, were not able to get as close to shore and the troops and their equipment had to be landed from small boats. Carrying their weapons with them, these soldiers, RIGHT, are shown as their boat passed away from the side of the destroyer.

DRY CANTEENS URGED IN CAMPS

Dr. A. J. Irwin Says Canada Now to Train Civilian Army of Young Men of 21 to 24

Toronto, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Dr. A. J. Irwin, secretary of the Canadian Temperance Federation, said today a request has been sent to the Federal Government asking whether new compulsory military training camps to be set up across Canada will be "wet" or "dry".

He said men aged 21 to 24 will be mainly affected by the compulsory training orders. For that reason the camps should not have "wet canteens".

"Hitherto we have been training a professional army. Now we propose to train a civilian army and the effect of drinking among young men of this age group would be far greater".

Dr. Irwin said Premier Mitchell Hepburn's recent statement that there will be no change in Ontario Liquor laws will have no effect on the efforts of the Canadian Temperance Federation to have the sale of liquor curtailed during the war.

He said continued sale of liquor has had "considerable to do with the fact that Canada's Second War Loan is going slowly in its latter stage".

Howe and Hagerman, Local Plumbing Firm, Given Contract

Ottawa, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Munitions Minister Howe announced today that work will start immediately on 13 construction contracts in connection with the British Commonwealth Air Training plan. The contracts total more than $500,000.

The contracts, approximate cost, approximate completion dates and contractors employed, include the following:

Heating System Link Trainer Bldg., Trenton, Ont., $1,900, November, Howe and Hagerman, Belleville, Ont.

N. 5 Service Flying Training School, Brantford, Ont., $65,000, Supply and Installation Steam Heating, Nov. 11, W. J. Walsh, Hamilton, Ont.

Canada Committed to Defend U. S. in New Defence Pact Says Washington Correspondent

Toronto, Sept. 18 (CP)—The Canadian-American agreement study joint defence measures will commit the United States to co-operate in the defence of Canada but it will also "commit Canada to defend the United States," John MacCormac Ottawa-born Washington correspondent of the New York Times, told a luncheon audience today.

Speaking before the Canadian Club, he raised the possibility of the United States being at war with Japan. The U.S. now would have bases available in Canada not only for the defence of Canada, but for attack on any fleet which should threaten the United States.

"Therefore, it would seem in certain contingencies Canada would automatically become a participant in any American war and the choice of neutrality would not be open to her."

While he admitted this question might seem academic at the moment, he reminded that "no war lasts forever and no peace last forever.

"Would Canada's obligation (to a United States at war) also commit the rest of the British Empire? Well, Great Britain it seems is pretty well committed by the leasing of her own air and naval bases. I should not be at all surprised next year to see a defence understanding between the United States and Australia and New Zealand...

"If all this happens, you will agree with me, the Anglo-Saxon race will have gone far towards retying the knot that was severed by the American revolution. How far it goes, in my opinion, will depend to a large extent on Canada."

Dirty Huns Kill Tiny Baby And Five Women Who Take Shelter in Basement of Home

By W. T. YARBROUGH

Associated Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 18—(AP)—"It is feared that casualties may be heavier than in recent nights," said the calm, prosaic official communique.

Not so calm, I saw rescue workers bring the still forms of a baby and five women from the basement of a flaming, bomb-shattered home in northeastern London—on an ambulance ride to gather up the dead and injured from the moonlight raid.

Then I watched a woman ambulance driver pump faint signs of life into two of the woman victims, while bombs still thundered around us and anti-aircraft guns boomed in answer.

Several hours earlier, as we waited at an ambulance station for the night's first call, a bomb demolished an open air school building just 100 yards away.

A telephoned call of a street address sent an ambulance to a three-storey building, already in flames. One ambulance which reached the scene first was just leaving.

"Two—badly hurt," a policeman said. "One of those oil bombs."

Two men with a pick and spade dug frantically at the foundation hacking through solid concrete.

"There's five down there," one of the workers said.

Then somewhere below a man's voice said over and over:

"All dead. All dead."

The man came up the basement steps holding the body of a baby about six months old. The child's plump legs dangled limply.

Other men in blue uniforms were coming up from the basement. One of them, "six altogether—not five. There's five adults and one child."

One by one, five women were brought up and stretched on blankets. Some bystanders turned away.

The woman ambulance driver and a fireman worked over the victims, trying artificial respiration. When doctors arrived they found the baby and two women dead, but detected life in the others and sent them away in the ambulance.

The woman driver told us:

"That's one bomb. We've had worse. We've had absolute hell."

In the grey dawn we had tea and waited for an all clear signal. As it sounded, swelling to a din, the woman driver said simply:

"There's always hope with the dawn."

GIANT BOMBER DOWNED NEAR VICTORIA STATION

London firemen cool down the wreckage of a Dornier bomber which crashed in flames amidst the ruins of a building near the Victoria railway station. The downing of the Nazi ship was witnessed by thousands of persons who, despite the air-raid alarms, strolled the streets in holiday mood to watch the R.A.F. and anti-aircraft defences rout repeated attacks upon the city. The British bagged 185 German planes in this raid. This photo, passed by the British censor, was cabled to New York.

MRS. C. H. SEAMAN TORONTO, KILLED

Husband and Other Passenger in Car Seriously Injured When Vehicle Hit by Train

Toronto, Sept. 18 —(CP)— Mrs. C. H. Seaman of Toronto was killed and her husband and a friend, Miss Emily Hardman Tobin of Fergus, Ont., were seriously injured in a level crossing crash today at nearby Agincourt. Their automobile collided with a train.

Mr. Seaman and Miss Tobin were taken to hospital.

All three passengers were thrown from the wrecked machine, the dead woman a distance of 40 feet against a guard rail.

Their car was travelling east when struck by the locomotive of a north-bound Canadian National Railways train.

W. J. White saw the crash. He said:

"The man, who was driving, apparently had no idea the train was coming. The car didn't slow down a bit. They must have been on a trip, because there were grips and suitcases scattered all over the place."

White said there was no wig-wag and no gate to guard the track at that point.

3 TURNED OVER ON THEFT CHARGE

Will Face Charges in Fort Erie of Robbing Liquor Store Obtaining $2,200

Windsor, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—Three men, wanted on charges of burglary as a result of the $2,200 robbery of the Fort Erie liquor store during Labor Day week-end, were ordered turned over to Fort Erie police by Crown Attorney James S. Allan today.

Magistrate D. M. Brodie said that local assault charges against the trio, William Bradt, 27, Harold Drynan, 25, and Lawrence Burns, 21, would be held in abeyance until disposition of the Fort Erie case.

The Crown Attorney also said that one or two of the men may face charges by the Foreign Exchange Control Board.

Bradt and Drynan were arrested by Detective Sergeant James Yokum and Detective Carl Foster early this month on a charge of assaulting Alvin Renaud. Burns gave himself up at headquarters on Sept. 3rd. The three allegedly beat Renaud over the head with a revolver and a billy.

Warrants from Fort Erie police were issued last week, and a fourth man is being sought. Sergeant David Duncan of the Ontario Provincial Police, will make arrangements for their return to Fort Erie.

SMALL WHITE PUPPY NOW IN DOG POUND

With pathetic eyes upturned a small wee white puppy was found wandering at large on Foster Ave. this morning. The puppy, not over two months old, was given into the custody of Thomas Thorne, city dog pound custodian. The cute little fellow is white with a black spot on its head. "Just an ideal pet for children," remarked Mr. Thorne today as he reported possession of the canine.

BODY FOUND IN RIVER

Dunnville, Ont., Sept. 18—(CP)—The body of Daniel McCollum, well-known resident here, was found floating in the Grand River early today by Roy Ross. Mr. McCollum was last seen alive late last night. He was about 50 years old and had been in poor health for some time.

Surviving are two sisters, H. E. Brooks, Niagara Falls, and Mrs. J. Carr, who lives near Dunville.

FAMOUS CAVALRY UNITS', NAMES ARE PERPETUATED

Strathcona Horse and Royal Canadian Dragoons Are Established in Armored Corps

Ottawa, Sept. 18—In order to perpetuate the names of two famous Canadian cavalry regiments, Lord Strathcona's Horse and the Royal Canadian Dragoons, these units are being detached from the 1st Canadian Cavalry Regiments and established as battalions in the Canadian armored corps now being built up with a tank brigade as a start, Col. Ralston said today.

One will be an armored car battalion and the other a motorcycle battalion. They will probably be replaced in the 1st Canadian Cavalry Regiment by cavalry units of the non-permanent active militia not yet mobilized.

39 Centres to be Ready

Col. Ralston said he had been assured by every department and branch concerned that the 39 training centres for men called up under the National Resources Mobilization Act would be ready for the start of training on Oct. 9.

"I don't think there has ever been more careful preparation for the training of any body of men than there has been for the opening of these centres," he said.

The Minister added the officers commanding and adjutants of all camps had been called to Connaught ranges, near Ottawa for a two-day conference and the entire staffs of all camps had been assembled at central points in the various military districts for courses to prepare them as instructors and administrators.

Sergeant Cooks Get Course

The Sergeant cooks are getting a five weeks' course so that poor cooking will not lead to complaints about food.

A question about military training in Canadian universities was referred by Col. Ralston to his assistants who said all universities had not yet decided whether they would require their students to take training but a number of the larger universities had decided to provide 110 hours instruction in the academic year which, with a summer camp of two weeks, is the equivalent of the 30 days' training provided in militia training centres.

Hydro Officials Anxiously Await Word From Ottawa

Toronto, Sept. 18 (CP)—Ontario Hydro officials are anxiously awaiting a pronouncement from Ottawa as to negotiations between Canada and the United States on development of power on the St. Lawrence to meet war demands. Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in Ottawa he would have a statement on the issue shortly, following President Roosevelt's announcement that negotiations are proceeding.

Premier Hepburn intimated the Hydro is in touch with the situation and that no conflict exists between Queen's Park and Ottawa as to the negotiations. Interests in Ontario, he felt would be adequately protected.

Hydro, officials said, is chiefly concerned with obtaining a greater diversion at Niagara Falls which will provide immediate additional energy.

Legion Appeals To Public for Old Magazines

Ottawa, Sept. 18—An appeal for magazines for distribution among Canadian forces at home and overseas is being made by the Canadian Legion War Services.

Legion supervisors in all military camps throughout the Dominion as well as those in Great Britain, report a dearth of this type of reading matter. They point out that national magazines of all kinds, especially those well illustrated, are greatly enjoyed by the men after their long hours of intensive training. Troops in England are particularly interested in Canadian periodicals because it helps them to keep in touch with their home attachments.

All possible assistance from the public is urged by the Legion which announces that magazines may be turned over to any Legion branch for packing and shipment to C.L.W.S. headquarters at Ottawa. Magazines not more than two months' old are preferred. French language periodicals will also be appreciated for distribution to French-Canadian troops at home or abroad.

'Much Damage' Done To Nazi Shipping, Military Stores

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—Shipping and military stores concentrated in many German-held ports along the north coast of Europe suffered "much damage" last night as the result of heavy, repeated British bombing attacks, the Air Ministry announced tonight.

Cherbourg, formerly France's great trans-Atlantic port was heavily attacked, a communique said, and two supply ships were sunk and many fires started in the harbor.

German heavy gun emplacements aet Cap Gris Nez, opposite Dover, also were bombed.

Premier King Sends Appreciation To Heroic Engineer

'Your Fellow Canadians Are Extremely Proud' Says Message Referring to Saving of St. Paul's

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (CP)—A message of appreciation was today sent by Prime Minister Mackenzie King to Lieut. Robert Davies, Canadian-born leader of the Royal Engineers squad which removed a time bomb threatening destruction of St. Paul's cathedral in London.

The Prime Minister's cable follows:

"Your fellow Canadians are exceedingly proud of your courageous leadership and of the brave men whose daring and fearless action in saving St. Paul's cathedral has spared London an appalling disaster."

Lieut. Davies, a native of St. Catharines, Ont., personally led his "suicide squad" in the task of removing a huge German time bomb buried in the Dean's yard at St. Paul's.

MUST MOBILIZE BRAIN POWER FOR CIVILIZATION

Lord Athlone Says Neither English Nor French Can Afford to Dispense With Products of Each Other's Genius

TASK AFTER VICTORY

Quebec, Sept. 18—(CP)— In the common problem of protecting their liberties, "neither the English nor the French can afford to dispense with the products of each other's genius," the Governor-General, the Earl of Athlone, said today in an address before the Canadian Club here.

"We must pool our intellectual resources and, make no mistake about it, this war is not going to be won by any reliance on abstract qualities alone," the Earl said.

"Courage and determination and enthusiasm and faith we must have, but we must also have intellect so that our moral and material forces are not squandered and abused.

Mobilize Brain Power

"We must mobilize our brain power in defence of civilization as an integrated whole, and, as we have so often done in the past and are doing now, we must show that we are able to rise superior to pretty racial jealousies which are not merely unworthy of a great people but contain the ingredients of our ultimate ruin."

It now had become a commonplace, said the Governor-General, that provision of her material resources may be Canada's greatest contribution to the cause of victory.

Task After Victory

"But we must not forget that when victory is won we shall then have to set about making a just and enduring peace, and I should not be surprised if that proved to be the more difficult task," he said.

"Of one thing I am, however, certain. It will demand the utmost that the intellectual genius of the French and English stock can produce.

"However necessary may be the contribution of Canada to the defeat of her enemies, her part in the post-war settlement will be of even greater importance, for she will be called upon to supply the experience of two great races living in close juxtaposition and displaying those qualities of the spirit on which alone the future of civilization can have any sure foundation."

RESEARCH PLANT TO BE OPENED

Will Manufacture Optical Glass and Precision Instruments and Will be Operated by Canadian Government

Ottawa, Sept. 18.— (CP)—Construction work begins at once on the new plant of Research Enterprises Limited, a wholly government-owned company recently organized to manufacture optical glass and precision instruments, Munitions Minister Howe announced today. The plant will be the first of its kind in Canada.

The plant will be located in Toronto. Lt.-Col. W. E. Phillips, President of Duplate Safety Glass Limited, is president of the new company, and the General Manager is G. W. Sweny, managing director of Neon Products of Western Canada, Limited.

Other directors are: A. S. Ainsworth, vice-president of John Inglis Company, Toronto; Col. O. M. Biggar, K.C., Ottawa lawyer and chairman of the Canadian Section of the Joint Canadian-American Defence Board; G. H. Rainville, president of Quebec Gold Mining Corporation, Montreal; W. E. Ross general manager of Canadian General Electric Company, Toronto, and Professor E. P. Burton, Toronto.

ROMANCE RAPID. MANY QUARRELS SAYS WITNESS

Produces 11-Point List of Restrictions to Which She Says Fiance Agreed

WENT FOR DRIVE

Peterborough, Ont., Sept. 18 —(CP)— Nineteen-year-old Audrey Clayton of Peterborough told a Supreme Court Judge and Jury here today the story of her romance with Raymond L. Martin as the latter faced trial on an attempted murder charge. The Crown alleges he tried to drown Miss Clayton by driving his car into a Hydro power canal at nearby Lakefield.

Miss Clayton testified she and Martin began to discuss marriage a few days after their first meeting in September 1939. By January they had become engaged and the engagement ended last April 28, the day before the alleged murder attempt.

The romance had been rapid but there had been many quarrels, Miss Clayton told the court. She produced an 11-point list of restrictions to which she said Martin had assented. Included in the agreement had been promises by Martin that he would take no one but his fiancee for drives in his car, would let no one but a laundry do his laundry, go "straight to his room" on arriving home, and buy no presents for other persons.

The pretty Crown witness said a series of quarrels had reached their peak at noon, Saturday, April 27, when Martin, who lived next door, asked her, "what other bum did you come home with?"

Engagements Rings Returned

In the course of that quarrel engagement rings had been returned and Miss Clayton said Martin had bent the one she had been wearing out of shape. That afternoon Martin had taken the girl and her mother for a drive and at midnight had proposed taking her for another drive but her mother had forbidden the outing.

Miss Clayton said she had gone driving with Martin the next afternoon and Martin made "improper advances". She testified that she told him she would get a taxi to go home and he agreed to take her home.

She swore that Martin asked her "several times" to put up the window in the door on her side of the car but she had refused because "I wanted to put my head out the window to avoid the quarreling Martin had started".

She said she noticed the inside handle of her door was missing and that Martin had an inflated inner tube resting against the rear of his seat.

As they were driving past Lakefield Martin drove into the canal, Miss Clayton told the court. She crawled through the window of the door on her side and swam ashore.

She said Martin got out of his side of the car, and, grasping the inflated tube, made his way to a nearby boom.

Other witnesses said the brakes on Martin's care were in working condition.

The trial is continuing.

Justice Refuses To Admit Statement Of the Accused

Sarnia, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—Justice W. D. Roach refused to admit a statement said to have been made to police by the accused, as the murder trial of Stephen Kiyoshk entered its third day at Lambton Assizes today.

Kiyoshk is charged in connection with the death of Jerry Blackbird, at Walpole Island Indian Reservation, Aug. 18th.

Provincial Police Constable A. P. Grant was recalled to the stand and at the request of W. B. Common, K.C., special prosecutor, the jury retired while a statement purportedly made to police was heard by Justice Roach. The statement was taken by Constable Grant and other officers. The former said the customary warning was given.

His Lordship, however, refused to admit the statement, saying there was too much doubt as to the understanding Kiyoshk had of the seriousness of the warning and its implications.

When the jury returned Provincial Constable R. J. Whiting told the Court that shortly after his arrival at Walpole he arrested Kiyoshk.

He said also he brought back several whiskey bottles to Sarnia. In the main his evidence was corroborative of that of Constable Grant.

Third witness of the day Eleanor Blackbird, who found the body of the deceased, said she crossed the River St. Clair daily to her work at San Souci, Mich. On Sunday morning, Aug. 18th, she saw the body of her cousin, Jerry, in the water and notified Constable Walter Wright.

EIGHTH AIR RAID TODAY

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—The eighth air raid warning since dawn in the London area was sounded at 7.54 p.m. (2.54 p.m. E.D.T.) today, about the hour the Germans have been starting their dusk-to-dawn raids.

GIVEN TEN YEARS

Kingston, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP).—Stafford Hawley of Wilkinson, Ont., was sentenced to ten years in Kingston Penitentiary today for a serious offence against a 10-year-old girl.

Schoolboy Rowe Gets Credit For Fifteenth Victory But Develops Shoulder Trouble

Detroit Tigers Move Back Into Lead of American Loop by Half-Game

INDIANS DEFEATED

Last Place Philadelphia Athletics Score 4-3 Win Over Cleveland

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

The daily bulletins on the American League's feverish pennant fight are about as informative as those that hospitals give out in patients—such as "condition unchanged" or "resting comfortably."

Nobody in the world right now knows which of the American League patients are going to live and which are going to die.

Detroit Tigers triumphed again yesterday and exchanged places at the top of the league with Cleveland Indians, who lost. New York Yankees ended a losing streak to move up 3 1-2 games from first place and Chicago White Sox were idle.

The victories of the Tigers and Yanks were somewhat marred, because Schoolboy Rowe, while getting credit for his 15th victory, developed shoulder trouble and retired before Detroit finished a 6-3 triumph over Washington Senators. Joe Dimaggio of the Yankees hurt his game leg again as the world champions walloped St. Louis Browns 9-0.

Without the Schoolboy, Detroit is due to find a lot of difficulty on the pennant trail. Catcher Bill Sullivan also split a finger on his throwing hand yesterday, but expects to be ready for call when needed.

Dimaggio acquired a charley horse and dropped out in the second inning at St. Louis after driving in three runs.

Cleveland's only casualty was its 4-3 loss to the last-place Philadelphia Athletics. Bill Beckman kept them checked on nine hits and the A's squeezed through with the same number off four Indian hurlers.

Detroit was outhit 7-6 and held scoreless after the third inning, but a four-run sendoff in the first was all the Tigers ever needed, and Rudy York's 29th homer with one on was surplus. The Yanks made 10 hits and benefitted from four St. Louis errors while Atley Donald kept six safeties scattered.

In the National League Cincinnati Reds came within a single game of clinching their second straight pennant. With Whitey Moore pitching five-hit ball they edged out the Phillies 2-1 to take an 11-game lead over Brooklyn Dodgers, who were shut out by St. Louis Cardinals and have only 11 contests left to play. Max Lanier handcuffed the Dodgers, allowing only five hits.

Chicago Cubs put on a six-run uprising in the eighth inning and beat New York 9-8. Boston Bees defeated Pittsburgh 10-5.

COLONELS ARE ON TOP

Columbus, O., Sept. 18 (AP) — Louisville Colonels, 1939 "Little World Series" champions, defeated Columbus Red Birds 5-4 last night in the first game of the Governors' Cup playoff between American Association second and fourth place clubs.

The winning run, scored in the eighth to break a 4-4 deadlock, came when Freddie Singtion tallied as Bob Repass threw wild to first.

HAVE YOU HEARD ABOUT MINORA?

Minora BLADES
MADE IN CANADA

FITS ALL DOUBLE-EDGE RAZORS

MINORA BLADES SAVE YOU MONEY ON FAST GOOD-LOOKING SHAVES!

GUARANTEED TO PLEASE OR YOUR MONEY BACK

4 FOR 10¢

BASEBALL'S Results & Standings

RESULTS eo' ONE

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.L.
Detroit	82	60	.577	—
Cleveland	82	61	.573	½
New York	78	63	.533	3½
Chicago	78	65	.545	4½
Boston	75	67	.528	7
St. Louis	61	83	.424	21½
Washington	60	82	.423	21½
Philadelphia	52	87	.374	29

Tuesday Results

New York 9; St. Louis 0
Detroit 6; Washington 3
Philadelphia 4; Cleveland 3
Chicago at Boston—Played previously.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	Pct.	G.B.L.
Cincinnati	92	47	.662	—
Brooklyn	83	60	.580	11
St. Louis	74	65	.532	18
Pittsburgh	73	67	.521	19½
Chicago	69	73	.486	24½
New York	66	74	.471	26½
Boston	60	82	.423	34
Philadelphia	46	95	.326	47½

Tuesday Results

Chicago 9; New York 8
Boston 10; Pittsburgh 5
St. Louis 5; Brooklyn 0
Cincinnati 2; Philadelphia 1

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE
Governer's Cup Series
SERIES "A"
Tuesday Results

Rochester 2; Baltimore 0
Rochester leads series, 1-0.

SERIES "B"

Newark 7; Jersey City 4.
Newark leads series 1-0.

AMERICAN ASSOCIATION PLAYOFFS:

Louisville 5; Columbus 4.
Minneapolis 5; Kansas City 2.

SOLDIER TEAM WINS

Cardinal, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP)—The Princess Louise Dragoon Guards of Ottawa defeated Cardinal 14-7 last night in the first game of a best-of-five eastern Ontario baseball association senior playdown. Second game will be played here today.

P.L.D.G.	222 020 015—14	12	5
Cardinal	014 010 010— 7	13	6

Driscoll and Macll; Dean, Bennett and Cameron.

It took the speedray's 1-100,000 of a second photographic speed to catch this sparkling bit of action during the Steve Belloise-Ceferino Garcia middleweight main event at Madison Square Garden. The camera caught exactly Garcia's pain-wrinkled face and rubbery knees as Belloise lands a terrific left. See how Garcia's face is battered after the up-and-coming Steve pummelled him practically at will during the entire bout. Garcia, former holder of the New York half of the 160-pound crown, hardly landed more than 10 blows all through. By whacking out a 10-round decision Belloise earned a bout with champion Ken Overlin.

ROCHESTER WINGS AND BEARS WIN

Rochester Defeats Orioles 2-0, While Newark Takes Jersey City 7-4

(By The Associated Press)

Rochester Red Wings and Newark Bears, finalists in last year's Governors' Cup Series, are on their way to another battle to determine the International League's representative in the Little World Series.

Both clubs were victorious last night in the opening games of the preliminary series with the third and fourth place clubs. The champion Red Wings nosed out Baltimore's Orioles, 2-0, and Bears took the measure of Jersey City Giants, 7-4. The second games of the four of seven series will be played at Rochester and Newark tonight.

Outhit 7 to 4, Wings made good use of their blows to score both runs in the first inning and then backed up Herschel Lyons' fine pitching with flawless work afield.

The eight hits which Bears collected off Bill Harris included four home runs, one by Pitcher Peek, who received credit for his 14th straight win. Tommy Holmes, Bud Metheney and Tommy Padden accounted for the other three. Harris lasted seven innings before giving way to a pinch hitter.

Briggs Might Claim Credit for Making Deal of the Year

Detroit, Sept. 18—(AP)— For a man who was supposed to know all about the automobile business and practically nothing about baseball, owner Walter O. Briggs, of the Detroit Tigers, is doing better than all right.

If he felt the urge, Briggs might claim credit for making the deal of the year.

Principals in the transaction were George Coffman, a pitcher who never developed to expectations in Detroit, and Billy Sullivan, a baseball jack of all trades, who wasn't helping the St. Louis Browns to any great extent. No cash was involved in the deal.

Coffman, who won two and lost one for Detroit in 1939, has scored two victories against two defeats this year. Sullivan, who caught and played in the outfield for St. Louis last season, is batting .311, 22 points over his percentage of last season and the same margin over his lifetime batting average in the major leagues.

In addition to sharing the catching duties of the Tigers with George (Birdie) Tebbetts and pinch-hitting, Sullivan did a heroic job of filling in at third base for the Tigers when Pinky Higgins was out during the last crucial series against Cleveland. Detroit won all three games.

MINNEAPOLIS GETS JUMP

Kansas City, Sept. 18—(AP) — Minneapolis got a jump on Kansas City Blues by winning the first game of the playoffs 5-2 last night behind the steady pitching of Wally Tauscher, who received brilliant support, which included three double plays to nip as many Kansas City rallies.

The Millers jumped into an early lead but the Blues tied the score in their half on three hits. Minneapolis then went back into the lead and it remained as Tauscher settled down to hold Kansas City to four hits from the first inning to the finish.

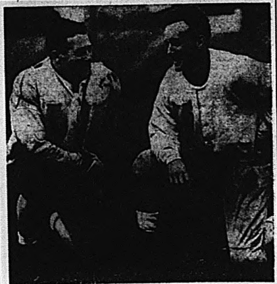
"It's rightly named"

Available in packages, pocket pouches and ½ lb. tins.

CUT COARSE FOR THE PIPE
•
CUT FINE FOR ROLLING YOUR OWN

We were arguing about names, and I said the truest trade-name ever adopted is "Old Chum" because that's exactly what it has been to me for years. It's helped me through times of trouble and added to my pleasure in days of ease. Give me a pipe of Old Chum—any place or any time—and I'm in good company. The older I grow, the more sure I am that there is no other tobacco just like Old Chum. Try it for yourself.

Chum up with OLD CHUM THE TOBACCO OF QUALITY



Two former stars of the Canadian gridiron who are making a comeback with Lew Hayman's Argos are Butch Allison, LEFT, and Bobby Coulter, RIGHT. Allison was star end for Toronto Varsity three years ago, while Coulter starred on the Argo backfield and before that with Varsity.

Ontario Junior Lacrosse All-Stars Beat Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Sept. 18—(CP)—Ontario junior lacrosse all-stars will carry a nine-goal lead into the deciding game of their total-goal series with Manitoba all-stars for a berth in the Dominion finals. They handed the Manitobans a 19-10 defeat here last night.

The winners will travel to British Columbia to meet the coast champions for the Dominion crown and the Minto Cup, won last year by Orillia Baby Terriers.

The Ontario team, picked from teams in Orillia, Mimico, St. Catharines and Brampton, displayed superior passing and finish around the net.

Jack Gair's six goals made him top scorer for the Ontario team while Pat Smith was next high for the visitors with three. Andy Milhar led Manitoba marksmen with three goals.

League Leaders

(By The Associated Press)

National

Batting. — Lombardi, Cincinnati, .319.
Runs—Werber, Cincinnati, 103.
Runs Batted in—Mize, St. Louis, 121.
Hits— F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 177.
Doubles—F. McCormick, Cincinnati, 42.
Triples—Vaughan, Pittsburgh, 14.
Home Runs—Mize, St. Louis, 41.
Stolen Bases — Frey, Cincinnati, 18.
Pitching—Fitzsimmons, Brooklyn, 15-2.

American

Batting — Radcliff, St. Louis, .3499; DiMaggio, New York, .3498.
Runs—Williams, Boston 121.
Runs Batted in—Greenberg, Detroit, 133.
Hits—Cramer, Boston, and Radcliff, St. Louis, 190.
Doubles—Greenberg, Detroit, 48.
Triples—McCosky, Detroit, 19.
Home Runs — Foxx, Boston, and Greenberg, Detroit, 35.
Stolen Bases—Case, Washington, 29.
Pitching— Rowe, Detroit, 15-3.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)— Los Angeles will be Joe Louis' next stop for a title defence. Mike Jacobs expects to announce a November opponent any day now....Ed Barrow won't answer the Dodger challenge for a city series until the Yanks are definitely counted out of the American League chase.... Dick Chapman, the amateur golf champ, may have to turn pro if they sock him for that $50,000 a year alimony his wife is asking.

Philly fans are very high on Danny Litwhiler, the young outfielder who until yesterday had hit safely in 21 consecutive games .... Another report that Babe Ruth had dropped dead playing golf swept the city yesterday and had newspaper offices checking feverishly...Larry MacPhail, the Dodger boss, has gone moose hunting in northern Canada .... Maurice (The Angel) Tillett is going after some of those rich pickings in the south.

It is with mingled grief and pain McCarthy sings this sad refrain, "I guess 'I'll Never Smile Again'."

Reds more confident.

The Reds are out to make a better showing in this year's series... In announcing that reservations for tickets will be accepted, the front office says: "Games 1, 2 and 6 are scheduled for Cincinnati."

Fights Last Night

(By The Associated Press)

New York: Bill McDowell, 151, Dallas, outpointed Irish Eddie Dunne, 150 1-2, New York (8); Maxie Berger, 144 1-4, Montreal, outpointed Vic Dellicurti, 148, New York (8); Lenny Mancini, 137 1-2, Brooklyn, outpointed Everett Rightmire, 133 3-4, Sioux City, Ia. (8).

White Plains, N.Y.: Tony Ferrara, 146, Mount Vernon, N.Y., outpointed Bobby McIntyre, 143, Detroit (8).

Union City, N.J.: Jack Sharkey Jr. 135 1-2, Union City, outpointed Frankie Conn, 134, Lyndhurst, N.J. (8).

Wilkesbarre, Pa.: Ira Hughes, 169, Pittsburgh, and Jackie Munley, 170, Old Forge, Pa., drew (8).

HAMILTON TIGERS TEAM TO BEAT IN BIG FOUR

Art Massucci, Former Sarnia Coach, Has Wealth of Material to Pick From

HEDGEWICK JOINS

Many Sarnia Players and a Few U. S. College Stars Are in Lineup

(By The Canadian Press)

Hamilton rugby railbirds feel satisfied the Tigers will field a standout team in the Interprovincial Rugby Union this season and a glance at the personnel and practices confirms that confidence.

In the best razzle-dazzle fashion of Coach Art Massucci, formerly of Sarnia Imperials, the Tigers are running through complicated plays and spectacular backfield shifts and adding strength as they progress. Before the season opens they may have at least six outstanding players from the Sarnia and the University of Western Ontario champions of last season.

Mike Hedgewick, a speed merchant and a star with Imperials the last seven years, joined Tigers last night.

Massucci, under whose guidance the Imps perennially captured the Ontario Rugby Football Union senior title, came to Hamilton this year when the Sarnia club decided to disband for the duration of the war. Other former Imps who may follow him are Trip Trepanier and Puss Pudruzny. Reg. De Renigisi, former Sarnia backfielder, joined Tigers several days ago.

Western Stars to Join

Other likely Tigers are Joe Krol and Harry Szumlinski, standouts with University of Western Ontario Mustangs, Intercollegiate champs, last fall. Krol, a product of Windsor High Schools, was the backbone of the Mustang backfield, while Szumlinski was the team's ace quarterback. Both he and Krol are undecided as to whether they will return to College.

Coach Ross Trimble said at Ottawa that he is satisfied with his Rough Riders after a stiff drill in preparation for an exhibition game there Saturday with Toronto Balmy Beach. Among those taking part in the practice were the three "tanks" of the Interprovincial champions, Bunny Wadsworth, Tiny Herman and Dave Sprague.

The stock of Montreal's Interprovincial entry rose when several classy gridmen donned uniforms for the first time. Included in the lot were Johnny Ferraro, triple-threat backfielder who played last year with Montreal Westmounts; Alex Fleming and Ed and Herb Burton.

The new entry in the O.R.F.U. senior series, Camp Borden military team, had 40 players out to practice yesterday under Lieut. Alex Hayes, team coach and former Sarnia backfielder. Eddie Thompson, backfield star with Balmy Beach last year, has joined the Royal Canadian Air Force and may play for Camp Borden.

BERGER DEFEATS VIC DELLICURTI

Canadian Welterweight Champion Will be Given Bout in Gardens

New York, Sept. 18 (CP)—Maxie Berger, the Canadian welterweight title contender, at last is going to fight in Madison Square Garden.

The 23-year-old Montrealer earned his chance last night at the Bronx Coliseum where before 8,500 fans he whipped Vic Dellicurti, Italian "strong man" from New York's East Side, in the feature eight-rounder.

Several open dates at the Garden have been offered to Canada's junior welterweight champion and today his manager, Tommy Dio and matchmaker Nat Rogers will confer over the selection of an opponent who may be Fritzie Zivic of Pittsburgh.

Coming in at 144 1-4 pounds, the heaviest of his six-year professional career, Maxie made it 23 consecutive bouts without a defeat by using Dellicurti as a punching bag after the third round.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

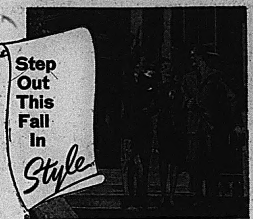
Hank Lieber and Gabby Hartnett, Cubs—Former hit three-run homer and latter doubled with bases loaded in six-run rally that beat Giants.

Atley Donald, Yankees—Stopped Browns with six-hit hurling.

Rudy York, Tigers—Hit 29th home run with one on to help whip Senators.

Bill Beckman and Dee Miles, made spectacular fielding play in seventh inning to cooperate in victory over Indians.

Max Lanier and Pepper Martin, Cardinals—Former pitched five-hit ball and latter drove in three runs to shutout Dodgers.



Step Out This Fall In Style

Everything For The Young Collegian!

CHOOSE FROM SMART STYLES AND QUALITY MERCHANDISE.

QUICK & ROBERTSON
CLOTHIERS OF QUALITY

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with Ken J. Colling

In past years, National League partisans have contended their entry went into the World's Series tired from a gruelling finish in the flag race, but with the American League now staging a red-hot battle down the stretch, reversing the usual order in the majors, supporters of the senior loop will have to find a new explanation if their favorites lose in the 1940 fall classic, observes Bob Bohne of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

"Judging by the way the two major league races stand today, it appears that the boys who whoop it up for the National League must scour around for a new alibi should the American leaguers shellack our loop champs in the World's Series this fall," writes Bohne.

"The alibi to which we refer, and which will be useless this year is that the old favorite that pictures the National League champs as a dog-tired outfit—weary from the hair-raising battles of its own loop—matched against a rested American League champ that has coasted to the title.

"During the last four World's Series the Yanks have pinned back the ears of the Reds, the Cubs and the Giants. Each year the Yanks breezed to the title in their own league, winning by anywhere from nine and one-half to 19 1-2 games. Last year, the Reds staggered home four and one-half games ahead of the Cards. In 1938 the Cubs nosed out the Pirates by two games; in 1937, the Giants won out by three games over the Cubs, and in 1936, the Giants won out by five games in a battle with the Cubs and Cards.

"In other words, the National League winners had to battle right down to the final week to get into the series and the Yanks had nothing to do during the last month, except sit back and conserve their energy for the impending series. But this year, the shoe is on the other foot. The Reds are out in front by a comfortable margin. Everyone but Brooklyn is just about mathematically out of it. Something like having a horse turn in the stretch with nothing to do but worry about the boy falling off or the horse breaking a leg."

Although American League partisans seem to give Detroit and Cleveland the edge, Boston, Chicago and New York are still very much in the thick of the pennant race and no matter which one of these five clubs win the league busting, they will have little time to contemplate on the series, much less conserve energy for it. This year the world series opens in Cincinnati on Oct. 2nd, which is exactly one month before the N.H.L. puck-chasing business gets under way for a new season.

Do you remember when Sir Malcolm Campbell, piloting his motorboat "Bluebird" on Lake Hallwyl, Switzerland, a year ago broke his own world speed record, which stood at 129.50 miles per hour. His new record was set at 131.41 miles per hour.

Al Barlick, new member of the National League umpiring staff, resembles Dolly Stark in appearance and action on the field...He comes from the Int. loop and at the age of 23 is one of the youngest arbiters to make the Big Time in a generation...The irony of it is that young Barlick takes the place of Bill Klem, patriarch of Ford Frick's staff, who is believed to have a broken bone in a leg.

Footballers at the Belleville Collegiate had fond hopes of obtaining Jimmie Follwell as a co-coach along with Eddie Schrieder this fall, but their aspirations were dashed upon the rocks of despair this week. Jimmie has enrolled at the University of Toronto and turned out for football practice with the Toronto Argonauts Monday night. Jimmie spent the summer here, but leaves for school next week. Incidentally Eddie Schrieder did a real job coaching the Collegiate gridders last season and it is to be hoped the boys can induce him to return and take over their grid reins once again. Although Ross Clare was slated to attend Queen's University this fall, there is an outside chance "R.C." might take a post graduate course at the local seat of secondary learning and thus be available for the district senior Interscholastic football campaign. "Junior" McBride and Sharpe will be two losses, Coach Schrieder may have to replace, but generally speaking the "tri-color" pig-skin chasers did not lose too many of last year's stars.

We engaged in a little fanning bee with Tom George, the Greek grappler, who was in the semi-final bout with Dick Bishop on Monday night. It seems Tom wrestled here some years ago and we had clean forgotten him. (He didn't carry a corporation that resembles a beer barrel then). However, Tom wrestled Freddie Meyers and Dr. Ralph Wilson during the heyday of Howard Cantonwine ('member Hangman Howard and his chesty act), Mike Romano, Sandor Szabo, Mayes McLain and other top-notoners who appeared in Belleville wrestling shows 'way back when. At that this week's grappling show was much superior to the opening card and if the sport continues to improve, the promoters need not worry about the crowd not increasing.

There doesn't seem to be much sense for Bill Calladine (former Peterboro star puckster) to journey all the way to Winnipeg entertaining hopes of making the New York Rangers' roster this fall. Yesterday Manager Lester Patrick, of the Gothamites, made it known that the same fifteen players, who won the Stanley Cup for him last spring, will open the season as the Rangers' No. 1 outfit, so what chance has a youngster battling his way up the ladder? However, they need fodder for the Rangers' farm, the Philadelphia Ramblers of the International League. Did you know that the nicknames of all the New York Ranger system commences with the letter "R". There is of course the Rangers, Philadelphia "Ramblers"; New York "Rovers" and the Edmonton "Roamers" (juniors).

Sport Chips — Well, see where the Tigers are back leading the American League today as Schoolboy Rowe chalked up his 15th win of the season.... Detroit's win proved costly, however, as Rowe retired with a sore shoulder and catcher Billy Sullivan split a finger....The Yankees snapped out of a losing streak to beat the Browns, while the Indians fell before the lowly A's when a win would have been much more acceptable to the Cleveland "cry-babies".... The Yankee-White Sox series which opens today, will bear close observation .... There's a mad scramble for football players in Western Ontario, but it begins to look as though the Hamilton Tigers, headed by Art Massucci, former Sarnia coach, is the team to beat in the Eastern Canada rounds, Ottawa not excepted .... Joe Krol, former teammate of Wally Hilton at Western University, has joined the Tigers as did Mike Hedgewick, former Sarnia ace....Wonder what Red Wilson sports editor of the Sarnia Observer is doing for copy these days.

THE MORE YOU TELL, THE QUICKER YOU SELL

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER WANT AD RATES

Minimum Charge for the first twenty words, per insertion 30c
Two Insertions 60c
Three Insertions 75c
Over Twenty Word, 1½c per word per insertion.
Box number .... extra 10c
Copy accepted until 12.30 noon on day of publication.
Telephone 99.

AUTO FINANCE

AUTO LOANS
REFINANCING

On terms and at rates which you will find suitable to your requirements. Your car is a quick and gilt-edge asset for borrowing. Only the owner signs. Deal with confidence with the largest company of its kind in Canada.

D. H. MARSHALL
17 Bridge St. E. Phone 1073
Representing
CAMPBELL AUTO FINANCE
Windsor, Hamilton, Toronto, Ottawa

Business Directory

MINERAL BATHS

MINERAL BATHS AND MASSAGE The finest treatment for Neuritis, Arthritis, Sciatica, Lumbago, Rheumatism, Colds, etc. Separate parlors for Ladies and Gentlemen. Graduate Nurse. Registered Masseur. Phone 1132. "THE HEALTH INSTITUTE" 231 William St. Belleville.

CHIROPRACTOR

E. A. WYATT, Ph.C., Chiropractor and Drugless Therapist Mineral Fume Baths with oil and alcohol rub; coagulation of tonsils. Radioclast examination, manipulative surgery and suction treatment for sinus conditions. 382 Coleman St., Belleville. Phone 900. Lady attendant.

H. R. and VERA B. PITCHER, Sp.C. Chiropractors, and Drugless Therapists. Adjustments, Radioclast Diagnosis and Treatment. Ultra-Violet and Infra-Red Radiations. Coagulation of Tonsils and Electrical Treatments. 42½ Bridge St., East, Belleville, Ont. Phone 1274.

INSURANCE

The thought of Fire loses half its Terrors when you're protected with our Fire Insurance.

SANDY BURROWS
and
HOWARD FROST
LIFE and FIRE INSURANCE
249½ Front St. Phone 492

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance. Fire, Automobile, Accident and Plate Glass
278 Front St. Phone 1154W

LEGAL

S. GORDON ROBERTSON, BARRISTER, Solicitor, Notary Public, Suite No. 1, 256½ Front St., Belleville, over Quick and Robertson's. Telephone 2500. S27-1y

HERE'S HOW YOU CAN JUGGLE YOUR BUDGET

Figure out how much money you owe. Then, get a low cost QUINTE personal loan to cover the whole amount. You'll find it's easy to repay in small monthly installments.

QUINTE FINANCE
and
SECURITIES LIMITED
168 Front St. Phone 168
BELLEVILLE

Screen Clock

BELLE THEATRE TIMES
THE SEA HAWK
Errol Flynn, Brenda Marshall
2.50 — 7.08 — 9.25

McCARTHY THEATRE TIMES
ISLE OF DESTINY
June Lang — Wallace Ford
3.10 — 8.00 — 10.00

CAPITOL THEATRE TIMES
TROUBLE IN MOROCCO
Jack Holt, Mae Clarke,
G. Henry Gordon
7.00 — 9.30
MANHATTAN HEARTBEAT
Robt. Sterling, Joan Davis
Virginia Gilmore
8.00 — 10.30

WANTED

WANTED, USED TYPEWRITERS, for cash or trade-in at 183 Front St. S18,21,25,28O2,5,9,12,16

PUBLISHER OF GOOD HOUSEkeeping Magazine has an ideal opportunity for subscription sales representative for Belleville district. Write Frank C. Sheridan, 299 Broadway, Suite 1612, New York City, U.S.A. S18-1t

McCASKEY FILE SYSTEM FOR charge accounts. Apply Black's Meat Market. Phone 1761. S18-1t

3 OR 4 ROOM HEATED APARTment, private bath, electric stove, by young couple. Phone 2488J. S18-1t

HOUSEKEEPING POSITION BY young woman, 29, with boy 5. Experienced, excellent references. Phone 68r15. S18-2t

EXPERIENCED SERVICE STAtion attendant. Apply Box 'B', Ontario Intelligencer. S18-2t

EXPERIENCED AUTOMOBILE mechanic. Apply Box "C", Ontario Intelligencer. S18-2t

BY COUPLE, HEATED 4 - 5 roomed apartment or house, by October 1st. or later. Write Box 6 Ontario Intelligencer. S18-3t

CHEF, EXPERIENCED, ALSO short order work. Canadian. Apply 188 Front St. S18-1t

BOARDERS IN PRIVATE HOME, bright, cheery room, all conveniences. Phone 1835J. 28 Cedar St. S18-2t

NURSING POSITION BY GRADuate nurse, any case. Reasonable rates. Phone 827W. S18-3t

MARRIED COUPLE, PREFERably without children for club, accommodating staff of industrial plant. Ordinarily comprised of 15 to 20 members. Located in Central Ontario village. Excellent position for right parties. Apply stating references and experience to Box R, Ontario Intelligencer. S13-16-18

TO RENT, WHEEL CHAIR, FOR one month. Phone 2011 between 5 and 6. S17-3t

HOUSEKEEPER'S POSITION BY young reliable woman, child 4. Write Box S, Ontario Intelligencer. S17-3t

500 LBS. ALUMINUM SCRAP, engine block. Belleville Foundries Ltd. S17-3t

TO RENT WITH OPTION OF buying, 5 - 10 acre lot, with house outside city. Write Box G, Ontario Intelligencer. S17-3t

IMMEDIATELY, MAID OR housekeeper. References required. 2 children, 1 adult. Phone 85w. S17-3t

SINGLE LADY DESIRES A heated apartment on the east hill, consisting of kitchenette, bedroom and sitting room, or sitting room bedroom, and private bath room. 'Phone particulars to 497. S16-4t

FRESH COWS AND SPRINGERS. Phone 615 or write C. E. Scott, Belleville. J20-tf

A STEADY JOB! MAKE REAL money selling guaranteed quality trees and plants. Excellent samples. Full or part time. Cash payments every week. Luke Brothers, Nurseries, Montreal.

MALE AND FEMALE HELP WANTED

NOW IS THE TIME TO QUALIFY for a government job as Clerk, Postman, Customs Clerk, Steno., etc. Four Dominion-wide exams held since war began. Free booklet. M. C. C. Schools Ltd., Toronto 10. Oldest in Canada. No Agents. S14-WStf

WHAT IS FARMER? HE'S SPECIALIST

In California He May Sell Frogs, Alligators, Worms, and All Sorts of Animals

Los Angeles, Sept. 18—(AP) — When you call a man a farmer in California you have to be referring to a special kind of specialist.

A standard straw-chewing, sod-busting agrarian in California isn't a farmer, he's a "ranger." A farmer is—well, for instance:

C. W. Mikel is a frog farmer. He has about 100,000 frogs, which he sells to schools.

F. E. Earnest is an alligator farmer. His 2,000 alligators, ranging in age up to 500-years, he says, are potential women's shoes and purses.

Lion farming is the business of Charles Gay. He keeps 200 of them on exhibition, sells to zoos, rents to the movies.

R. B. Bilkowsky is a worm farmer. He furnishes fishermen with bait and orchardists with worms to aerate their soil.

Motion picture studios provide markets for a skunk farm, a snake farm, and a wild animal farm which raises everything from ocelots to elephants. The state operates an Arabian horse farm. There senal administration form part of There is even a humming bird farm.

THE PROOF OF THE PUDDING IS IN THE EATING —

AND THE PROOF OF WANT-AD RESULTS.
IS IN USING THEM.

THEY'LL DO THEIR PART
IF YOU DO YOURS.
PHONE YOUR AD NOW TO 99

TO LET

HEATED APARTMENT. APPLY 227 Front St. S18-2t

GOOD WORK SHOP IN VERY prominent location. Fruit Machinery Co. Ltd., 368 Front St. Phone 60. S18-tf

LARGE FURNISHED AND HEATed apartment, one mile west of Belleville on Trent Road. Clayton Tucker, Trent Road. S18-21-24

ATTRACTIVE APARTMENT, heated, insulated, four rooms and sunroom. Separate bath and entrance. Adults only. Apply 75 Catherine. S17-6t

HOUSE, 32 HILLSIDE, ALL CONveniences, hot water heating, wired for electric range, garage. Possession October 1. Apply Dr. Duprau, 267½ Front St. or on premises. S16-4t

THURLOW TOWNSHIP

The Board of Health for the Township of Thurlow have decided to make available to the children, both of school age and pre-school age, the inoculation against typhoid and para-typhoid. This will be in the same manner as for diphtheria, smallpox, etc. in the schools. It will be free and not compulsory, and no child will be inoculated without consent of the parents who are respectfully asked to indicate in writing to the teacher of their school section their wishes in the matter, and each teacher is asked to co-operate. Inoculations to start September 23rd, 1940.

E. W. BROWN,
Sec. of Thurlow Twp. Board of Health.
S17-3t

LITTLE DAMAGE TO FOOD SUPPLIES

London, Sept. 18 (CP)— Lord Woolton, Minister of Food, declared today that the damage done by German air raids to Britain's food supply "is at most one day's consumption of a particular commodity." Recent raids, he said, "obviously have been directed at our food supplies."

GOOD REASON FOR COMPLAINT

Irvine, Ky., Sept. 18 (AP)—Deputy Sheriff Willie Winkler reported the arrest of Hugh Richardson, about 33, who went to church. The Rev. P. P. Tuttle's complaint: That Richardson placed his dog on the pulpit while services were going on and dared anyone in the congregation to touch it.

CALLING ALL ROCHESTERS

Rochester, England — (CP) — The Mayor of this town has cabled 15 other cities and towns named Rochester for co-operating in buying a Hurricane fighter for the Royal Air Force.

BIRTHS

MORROW — At Belleville General Hospital on Monday, Sept. 16, 1940, to Mr. and Mrs. Howard G. Morrow, Frankford (nee Eva Brown), a son, Douglas Gordon. S18-1t

DEATHS

GRABER — In Belleville at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. T. Nunn, 351 Bleecker Ave., on Tuesday evening, Sept. 17, 1940, Mrs. Mary Louise Graber, widow of George A. Graber, Chicago, Ill., age 72 years. Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, 27 Campbell Street, from where the funeral will take place on Thursday afternoon, Sept. 19th. Service in the chapel at 3 o'clock.

Interment Belleville cemetery.
(Bowmanville paper please copy) S18-1t

PERSONAL

MEN OF 30, 40, 50! VIM, PEP, VIGOR subnormal? Try Ostrex tablets. Contain tonics, stimulants, oyster elements, aids to normal pep. If not delighted with results first package, maker refunds low price. Call, write Dolan the Druggist, in Belleville and all other good drug stores. S3-T.W.T.-tf

LOST

POCKET BOOK CONTAINING sum of money. Reward if returned to this office. S18-1t

SPANISH EMBASSY DAMAGED

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—The Spanish Embassy in London was slightly damaged by an incendiary bomb in a recent raid, it was made known today.

A bomb fell on the roof and burned or broke through into the upper storey, where the flames were extinguished before they gained headway. No one was injured.

THREE MEMBERS INTERNED

London, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Royal Air Force headquarters at Gibraltar reported today that three members of the crew of a British patrol plane, missing four days, had been interned in "neutral territory". The captain and second pilot were still "missing".

FOR CONVALESCENTS

Manchester — (CP) — The Red Cross and St. John War Organizations plan to establish another 10,000 beds for convalescent purposes in private homes.

ROMANCE RUMORED FOR GOLF CHAMP

A driving power behind Dick Chapman as he bested W. B. McCullough to annex the U.S. national amateur golf crown was Mrs. Eloise Shaeffer, of Philadelphia, with whom he is pictured. It is rumored that the weddings bells will soon peal for Dick and Mrs. Shaeffer.

FOR SALE

CAR RADIO, CHEAP FOR CASH. Phone 1091M. S18-2t

75 COLONIES OF BEES AND ALL equipment. For particulars write H. G. Moon, Godfrey, Ont. S18-1t

PERCHERON GELDING, RISING 4, blocky built, and well broken. Clarence Vermilyea, R. 3, Belleville, phone 445r2. S18-3t

'33 FRONTENAC SEDAN, $150. Cash. Apply 329½ Front St., Apt. 12. S18-1t

'35 CHEV. COACH, EXCEPTIONally good; '31 Ford Deluxe Sedan, new motor; '30 Ford Coupe, A1. All reasonably priced. Hughes' Imperial Station. S18-2t

GAS STOVE, PORCELAIN FINish, excellent condition, $15., large office desk, $5; kitchen cabinet, $5. Phone 176. S18-3t

GIRLS' AND BOYS' CLOTHING, used. Girls' clothing size 14-16. Pigeons, Baby Walker, Phone 2068J. S18-1t

SHOE SHINE STAND, 4 SEATS. Write Box X, Ontario Intelligencer. S18-3t

QUEBEC RANGE, WITH HOT water front, coal or wood. Antique sofa, violin. Phone 596W. 71 Alexander St. S18-2t

OFFICE FILE, PICTURES, frames, coal and wood stove. Apply 55 Baldwin St. S18-3t

QUEBEC HEATER AND STOVE pipes. Good condition, bargain for cash. 116 S. George St. S17-tf

ONE UPRIGHT PIANO, AND ONE large bookcase, both in first class condition. For particulars phone 497. S16-3t

McCLARY CIRCULATOR HEATer, Gilbert and Barker oil burner, both in good condition. Apply 210 MacDonald Ave. S16-3t

USED CAR PARTS, 600x20 TIRES, 30x3½, also 19 inch, Star Motor, Ford A Coach, body good condition. Pigden's Garage, opposite Crystal Hotel. S16-3t

100 LEGHORN PULLETS, FIVE months' old, from Bray's blood tested stock. Floyd Thrasher, Holloway. S16-3t

SECOND HAND LUMBER, STEAM heating ,etc., suitable for garage or greenhouse. Apply Capitol Theatre, Trenton. S12-6t

QUANTITY OF HARDWOOD AND softwood. For particulars write H. C. Lloyd, Bannockburn, or phone 1222, Belleville. S12-6t

INVEST IN REAL ESTATE, MANY persons are doing so. We should be glad to show you some excellent buys. Belleville Locators, Geo. N. Gorman, Prop., 166 Front St., opposite City Hall. J30-tf

NOS. 33 AND 35 HOLLOWAY ST. Double brick house in good state of repair. Each residence has large living room, dining room, kitchen, gas, four bed rooms and bath, good basement, hardwood floors downstairs, hot air heating, double garage, good lot, comfortable bright houses, low price for quick sale. Could be made into excellent apartments. As an investment this is worth investigating. Geo. N. Gorman (Belleville Locators) exclusive agents, 166 Front St. Phone 99. House Phone 687. A23-tf

4 HILLSIDE STREET, WELL built brick house, three bed rooms bath, living room, dining room and kitchen. Good basement and hot air furnace, nice grounds. Reasonable price for quick sale. Exclusive agents, Geo. N. Gorman 166 Front Street, Phone 99. House Phone 687. S4-tf

SAYS LANGSDORFF PRAISED BRITISH

Capt. Dove Reports Graf Spee Captain Admired Courage of British

Halifax, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Captain Hans Langsdorff of the Graf Spee paid tribute to the British Cruisers Ajax, Achilles and Exeter before he committed suicide, Captain P. G. G. Dove of the Africa Shell, a tanker sunk by the German pocket battleship, told reporters here last night.

Capt. Dove quoted Langsdorff as saying: "They came at me like destroyers and fired 12 torpedo tubes at me. Why, they even used my own smoke screen to attack me. I cannot understand you English . . . I cannot understand it. When you fight great men like that you cannot feel any enmity—you only want to shake hands with them. ."

Until the British cruisers caught up with him, Captain Langsdorff believed he was safe. "Only the great battleships of you English and French can hurt me," he told Capt. Dove. "I am safe for I have speed and 11-inch guns".

Capt. Dove was captured when the Africa Shell went down off the African coast. The crew escaped ashore.

BANK AT TEL AVIV ROBBED

Jerusalem, (CP)—Several masked gunmen robbed the Tel Aviv branch of the Anglo-Palestine Bank of 5,000 pounds (about $22,000) today.

Used Electric Refrigerators

1 NORGE, in first class condition, recently reconditioned . $89

1 8-cubic foot FRIGIDAIRE, porcelain inside and out, double doors, cost $550. (new) thoroughly reconditioned . $185

1 6.2 FRIGIDAIRE (entirely new unit) $139

LOW DOWN PAYMENT. OR TRADE-IN EASY TERMS.

Walker Hardware
COMPANY LIMITED
248 - 250 FRONT ST.
S17-3t

Dr. R. R. Clendinning
Veterinarian
Phone:
Office 240
Res. 2112M
1A Bridge St. W
Belleville
S5-tf

FOR SALE
1940 FORD DELUXE SEDAN.
DEMONSTRATOR
Driven only Small Mileage.
SPECIAL PRICE.
See This Car at
TRUDEAU
MOTOR SALES

TRAGIC STORY OF SEA RELATED

Captain and Members of Crew Killed by Crash of Mainsail in Gulf of Mexico

Galveston, Tex., Sept. 18 (AP)— A graphic story of tragedy at sea was told today by eight members of the fishing schooner William Hayes of Pensacola, Fla., which drifted helplessly in the Gulf of Mexico eight days after the Captain and a crew member were killed by a crash of the mailsail.

With rations nearly exhausted, the crew managed with a makeshift said to reach a point within two miles of the Galveston harbor and was towed into port by a coast guard boat.

Captain William Swim, 59, Pensacola, and Paul Hern, 31, Washington, D.C., a crew member, were killed Sept. 9 when, without warning, the mainsail toppled and crushed them.

Engineer Jack Barnett narrowly escaped the same fate.

"We were standing at the rail in the evening after the day's fishing when I suddenly heard a loud cracking sound," Barnett related. "I ducked, and as I did blood splattered in my face from Hern's forehead. I saw an awful look in his eyes as he looked up to see what was happening. The mast struck him square between the eyes."

WANTED BETTER MEALS

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—A new coal stove—to replace an electric stove made useless because the ship's anti-mine girdle used too much current—settled a Chinese labor dispute aboard a British freighter. Joseph Ku, of the Chinese Consul's staff, said the 30 Chinese crewmen had been placated by the promise of a new cooker—and improved meals. They had tried to jump ship.

Errol Flynn featured in the romantic thrill drama, "The Sea Hawk," now at the Belle.

AT THE CAPITOL

"Carolina Moon"

This week is "Gene Autry" week at the Capitol Theatre. "Carolina Moon," Republic's latest musical western starring the popular cowboy idol, opens there next, and presents, along with Autry, the inimitable Smiley Burnette, June Storey, Mary Lee and an outstanding supporting cast.

Gene and Frog, according to the story, are a couple of buckaroos who are taking a whirl at the rodeo circuit to pick up enough money to set themselves up on a ranch. They encounter Miss Caroline Stanhope, a southern damsel in distress, who with her father, Colonel Stanhope, has come to town to enter her thoroughbred horse, Betsy, in the rodeo, hoping to raise enough money to clear the mortgage on the Stanhope manse back in Carolina.

The old Colonel, taken in by a couple of city slickers, loses over a thousand dollars in various wagers and begs to turn over Betsy, the thoroughbred, in lieu of cash. The slickers refuse, and Gene steps in and offers to pay Colonel Stanhope a thousand dollars cash for Betsy—his entire rodeo winnings—so that the Colonel may settle his debt. The Colonel agrees, and promptly drowns his sorrow in drink.

Caroline, finding her father in a drunken condition, packs him into the car, shoves Betsy into the trailer and heads back for Carolina. She thinks that Gene is in league with the slickers and she is determined to thwart what she considers a scheme to cheat her father out of his horse. Gene, on the other hand, is equally determined to thwart what he considers a scheme on the part of the Stanhopes to cheat him out of his thousand dollars, and he and Frog go down to Carolina to recover either their thousand dollars or the horse they bought with it. The complications that ensue from this mixup provide the meat for the plot of the photoplay.

"SOS — Tidal Wave"

A glimpse into the future is afforded by "SOS — Tidal Wave," the added attraction. In "SOS — Tidal Wave," Ralph Byrd is seen as a television news reporter who uses this medium of the airways to smash a corrupt political ring. Kay Sutton is co-starred with Byrd in this Republic action drama, and prominent in the supporting cast are such popular veterans of the screen as George Barbier, Frank Jenks, Dorothy Lee, and Marc Lawrence.

The Universal News and 10th. chapter of the thrilling serial "Buck Rogers" closes the bill.

AT THE BELLE

A skillfully contrived story, expertly directed and brilliantly enacted by a splendid cast, makes "Safari", the Paramount drama which stars Douglas Fairbanks, Jr. and Madeleine Carroll, and which opens next at the Belle Theatre, an outstanding screen effort. Having for its principal locale a West African jungle, it offers a deft combination of romance, adventure and comedy.

The story has to do with a safari planned by a wealthy Baron, Tullio Carminati, who arrives on his yacht in M'Pola, with Madeleine Carroll and Muriel Angelus as his guests. Madeleine is determined to marry Carminati and welcomes the opportunity to arouse his jealousy by becoming deeply interested in Fairbanks, a big game hunter Carminati has hired to lead the expedition.

Strong-willed and independent Fairbanks immediately antagonizes Carminati, and refuses to accompany the hunt until Madeleine persuades him. Flying over the area the safari will travel, Fairbanks and Madeleine are forced to remain alone all night in the jungle, arousing Caminati's insane rage. Learning that Carminati has been carelessly responsible for the death of one of the native boys, Fairbanks denounces him as a murderer.

On a lion hunt Carminati intentionally wounds a lion and suggests that Fairbanks make the kill single-handed. Fairbanks emerges with a torn arm, disbands the camp, and returns to M'-Pola after angrily tongue-lashing both Madeleine and Carminati. He plans flying to Europe and the war. In a series of tensely dramatic scenes, the picture is brought to an unexpected but wholly believable conclusion.

Featured in the picture, besides Carminati and Muriel Angelus are Lynne Overman and Billy Gilbert.

Edgar Wallace Story

One of the most interesting film characterizations in recent months is that of Will Fyffe as "The Mysterious Mr. Reeder" in the movie of that title announced as the companion feature. Fyffe plays the role of a gentle, middle-aged man whose astute deductions have won him fame as a detective. However, Mr. Reeder, as he is depicted in the film is an easy-going type, 'til his best friend is murdered. Then, he swears vengeance and goes into the very hiding place of the criminals to track down the slayer.

"The Mysterious Mr. Reeder" is based on the Edgar Wallace story, and Kay Walsh and George Curzon are featured in the film.

"The Domineering Male" is the title of the latest Pete Smith specialty to be exhibited on the same program.

"The Sea Hawk"

All of romance, adventure and thrills are packed into one great screen saga "Th Sea Hawk" closing a successful engagement at the Belle. Errol Flynn heads the cast, and featured with him are Brenda Marshall, Claude Rains, Donald Crisp, Flora Robson and Alan Hale.

A new and funny Walt Disney Pluto the Pup cartoon "Bone Trouble" precedes the feature "The Sea Hawk".

"British Will Hold"

On his 80th birthday, Gerenal John J. Pershing, commander-in-chief of the American expeditionary force in the world war, broadcast from Washington, D.C., and predicts the British will "hold out" against the German legions whom his strategy helped rout in 1918. On his lapel is the Distinguished Service Cross presented to him by President Roosevelt earlier in the day.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Riders of Black River"

A cyclone of thrills from Texas! A whirlwind of songs from the range! Blasting outlaws and wrecking hearts, the Ace of the West at his fightin'est best!

Charles Starrett, popular outdoor action star, returns to the McCarthy Theatre next in Columbia's "Riders of Black River." A streamlined Western drama in which Starrett is seen as a Texas Ranger who returns to his home to find his brother murdered by rustlers, "Riders of Black River" is said to be one of the most thrilling ever brought to the screen by the two-fisted star.

Included in the large cast are Iris Meredith, who plays the feminine lead opposite Starrett, Bob Nolan and his singing Sons of the Pioneers, Dick Curtis, Eddie Cobb, Francis Sayles, Forrest Taylor, Ethan Allen, Stanley Brown and Olin Francis.

"Wildcat Bus"

For a thrill-a-mile story of thrills, action and romance, the new RKO Radio action film "Wildcat Bus" featuring Fay Wray, Charles Lang and Paul Guilfoyle, which will be presented at the McCarthy, in addition to Charles Starrett in "Riders of Black River," from advance reports, patrons are going to see some of the most exciting scenes ever caught by a movie-camera for "Wildcat Bus" is an expose of the methods so-called wildcat organizations use in competing with the licensed bus lines of the country and smash-ups and planned accidents by this gang, which is brought out clearly in this action-packed story, is said to make one of the biggest thrillers so far brought to the silver sheet. Chapter three of "Terry and the Pirates" weekly serial presentation will also be presented with the above two features.

New Playing

"Isle of Destiny" featuring Wallace Ford, William Gargan and June Lang, an action-packed adventure drama of the South Seas, photographed entirely in color, is now showing at the McCarthy plus a new Leon Errol comedy-riot, "Truth Aches," latest Fox News events and a Walt Disney technicolor cartoon "The Practical Pig."

Wallace Ford, featured with June Lang and William Gargan in "Isle of Destiny," action-loaded drama of the South Seas, now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

"Flying Blind" by VERA BROWN

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Roy seemed to have reached a ceiling. They were flying level now at 12,000 feet, the motors no longer roaring so loud. . . .

Afterward, Dudley realized he must have slept for some time. He sat up suddenly, his heart beating faster. The dim-lit cabin was quiet. The roar of the motors held their world. Was it his imagination that the ship seemed different?

No, they'd just hit a bump. The nervous foreigner turned in his seat, looked back at Dudley, smiled at him while consulting his watch. They'd be somewhere over Pennsylvania ,not far from Cleveland. Roy was a swell pilot!

Dudley would have liked to awaken Judith for he felt a deep necessity to talk with her. But she seemed to be in such a drugged sleep, that he hesitated.

Idly watching the altimeter, Dudley suddenly realized they were losing altitude. He suddenly sensed something was wrong. The motors seemed to be laboring. He leaned forward in his seat to listen to each beat. He tried to convince himself that he was mistaken. But he still had that tremor of alarm. Finally he could stand it no longer.

Dudley got up quietly, went forward to the door of the cockpit, tappd on it twice.

Jenks, the co-pilot, opened the door, curtly declaring: "Can't talk! Look after them back there." His voice was crisp. Then he went back to the radio while Dudley listened. Jenks' voice droned on:

"With full throttle and 34-inch boost, we're losing altitude at 300 feet a minute."

Roy's voice cracked: "Find out about weather."

Dudley, his hand clenching the door post, leaned forward to hear Jenks repeat: "Morency, ceiling zero, visibility, zero. Dense fog. Moderate freezing winds ,temperature 32, dew point 32."

"Blast it!" Roy's voice was sharp. "Get some more!"

Jenks continued after a moment's interruption: "Livingstone, overcast, 200 feet. Visibility, one-eighth; heavy, freezing rains."

Dudley shut the door abruptly and turned around. Ellen was sitting up.

"Anything wrong?" Her voice was shrill above the motors.

"Nothing serious. Just remain quiet." Dudley's voice was of a calm command.

Judith, awake now, stared up at Dudley's face. She knew that tension so well ,the fine lines around the eyes. She'd seen it on Tex's face after a bad trip. Then there was something wrong!

She threw off the steamer rug which enveloped her. Dudley came back, leaned over her: "I think we're in for it. Go sit with Ellen. Keep your safety belts fastened. I'll manage the men. Watch her."

He gave Judith's hand a squeeze and turned away. Judith obeyed him quickly.

By the time she sat down beside Ellen across the aisle, the girl was becoming hysterical. She fought to get past Judith's arresting arms.

"Roy, Roy!" she screamed.

"Ellen, stop it!" Judith held on to her. "He can't come to you!"

The excited foreigner was standing, but Dudley got him back into his seat after some argument. Judith, however, was having more difficulty with Ellen. Her cries for Roy filled the cabin.

Ware had not spoken, but he leaned forward watching Dudley anxiously. Dudley came back to him with, "Stay where you are. Fasten the safety belt. Do whatever I say."

Ware nodded, and Dudley breathed a sigh of relief. He knew they'd have their hands full with Ellen and the foreign gentleman.

Dudley went quickly back to his own seat, checked the emergency exit beside it.

Ellen screamed. Judith tried to reassure her, for she knew Dudley had broken the covering of the handle to the emergency door.

Up front, Roy, cold perspiration on his forehead, was fighting a losing battle with the laboring ship.

They'd been icing up for 30 minutes, although he had climbed and climbed. But it was no use. Just a matter of time, now. The worst had happened: Ice is the carburetors! They couldn't pull the heavily laden ship any more.

Softly Roy ground his teeth as he thought of the factory engineers—they'd sworn the carburetors were ice proof. They'd shown him in black and white how no ice could form; they'd displayed all kinds of charts. Looked swell on paper!

Well, it was curtains now! Jenks continued to get weather reports. Roy, listening, could imagine the Pennsylvania country below them, rugged and wild. He knew almost every foot of it. But what chance did he have in this fog? At 5,000 it might be stuffed with mountain tops. It MIGHT. . . .

"Get me more weather—" Jenks worked frantically. Thank God the radio continued to function!

Back in the cabin, Dudley turned up some of the lights. The rays fell on Ellen's terrified face, on the foreigner's frightened eyes. Judith turned her face away so she would not see. Not more than 9,000 feet now. To Judith the altimeter seemed to leer at them. The motors were getting rougher, losing altitude more rapidly all the time.

"Five minutes," Durley estimated

They couldn't stay up much longer, not with the way things were. The cabin which had been so snug and safe, was filled with a terror so stark it hurt. The foreigner gasped. He refused to stay quiet. Suddenly he jumped up, began beating on the door to the cockpit. Dudley pushed him roughlyl back into his seat. He subsided, his hands over his face, and his shoulders shook.

Judith felt sorry for the man, and she sought Dudley's eyes. He smiled at her. Her gallant answering smile almost broke Dudley down.

But there was Ellen. She was trying to crawl over Judith's lap again.

Suddenly Judith slapped Ellen hard on the face: "You stay here and keep that belt fastened!"

Ellen was so surprised, she subsided into a shivering weeping lump. Judith fastened her belt with cold fingers. Maybe things were better like this. It was a way out anyway. It wouldn't be long now.

Dudley stayed beside the foreigner, called to Ware: "Remember your belt!"

The movie actor's voice was firm as he called, "Sure! Thanks"

Now they were 7,000 feet. Judith watched the altimeter, then peered out the blank window beside her into nothingness.

"Ware," called Dudley above the roar of the struggling motors, "break that glass you'll find beside you. When we hit—open the door and get out—quick!"

He did not add—"If you can."

Judith heard the breaking glass, knew that Ware had obeyed. Dudley had opened the emergency exit next to the Frenchman.

Ellen was moaning and praying in the same breath. It was awful. She was like a defenceless animal cowering there beside Judith, and clinging to her until Judith's arm hurt.

The seconds seemed like years, there in the fog-locked sky. It was like a curtain, holding them, keeping them, until suddenly it would reveal—the end.

Cruel, that waiting! Judith's courage did not fail her. She felt a sudden bitter exultation.

Forward in the cockpit, the two pilots were making a last-minute fight. Altitude was only 6,000 feet now. Roy's voice seemed quite matter of fact: "I figure we hit a four."

The co-pilot didn't comment. . . . Reports from the ground were heart breaking. Not a hole anywhere!

Newark's dispatcher was frantic, doing the best he could. There, in the warmth and light of his comfortable office, he was helpless to aid the plane, staggering on through the night to its doom.

The co-pilot checked Roy's safety belt, then his own. Roy, eyes glued to the instruments, prayed for an opening, but the fog held deep.

Back in the cabin, Judith was holding Ellen's arms to force her to stay in her seat.

"Judith, are you all right?" Dudley's voice brought warmth to the girl's heart.

"We're all right, Michael."

Ellen's voice rose to a shriek: "I won't die, Judith! I can't!

They were voiceless now . . . the desperate silence of waiting—worse than Ellen's cries. Then she began again and her tones made Judith shiver.

"Judith, I haven't lived a good life!"

"Ellen, please. What does it matter? Who has?"

Ellen began to mumble a frantic prayer: "Our Father—" But her lips were trembling so she could not get the words out.

"If I'm going, I'm going with Roy!" She fought with Judith like a wild cat. Ellen was larger than Judith, but desperation gave Judith strength. She braced herself against her belt.

"Sit still!" No time for soft words. She pinched Ellen's arms unmercifully and warned her.

"When we hit and your belt's not fastened, you'll be killed. Now will you sit still?"

"Then we are going to smash up!" Ellen's voice was a wail.

"Yes!" Judith was desperate. Anything but this. Just to get it over. Let it come quick! Quick!

Not one excited word from Ware. He has real courage, Judith thought. Poor fellow! Maybe he had a wife out on the coast waiting for him. And children. A future. . . .

Five thousand feet. Judith knew the country well enough to know that the end was not far off. Smack into a mountain side? Her heart failed her for an instant, a sob broke from her tightly-closed lips.

"Poor mother and dad." Then she drew Ellen to her, tried to comfort her. She could hear the foreigner in prayer, she thought. Well, mother and dad might never have to know about her and Tex.

Four thousand feet. Judith shut her eyes, waiting, waiting. She did not care. But this waiting!

"I'll never have a house and garden now." Poor Tex! Her bitterness was gone. Everybody had a right to happiness if they could find it. "Odd what you think of at a time like this!"

"Judith, hold my hand!"

"Yes, Ellen."

"Will it be long?"

"Not long."

"Must we die, Judith?" Ellen was pitiful in her desperation.

"Trust Roy. He'll do his best."

But that was the wrong thing to say. Roy's name sent Ellen into a frenzy, as Judith kept pleading: "Stop it! When we hit, try to brace yourself and protect your face."

"I can't! I can't."

Then suddenly Judith saw Dudley beside her. He bent over her for an instant. His lips were on hers.

"I love you, Judith. I had to tell you."

Then he was gone.

"If only I'd married Roy last summer," Ellen was moaning. Judith held tight to Ellen's hands. She could see Michael struggling with the foreigner again. She wondered if she had just imagined what he had said, but his kiss still lingered on her lips.

Dudley, staring out the window, thought for one instant that the character of the fog had changed. "Must be a reflection," he decided.

But it was not just a reflection. Pilot Roy, up front, clutched the wheel.

"Tree top!" Co-pilot Jenks' voice warned.

Roy braced himself. For a moment the fog was strings of white. Ahead Roy could see a valley . . . trees, rugged rocks.

But it was not a mountain top! He'd take it straight on the nose, wheels up. Let her mush in, and trust to God!

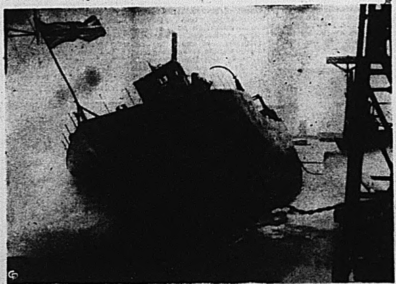
In the cabin Dudley saw a tree. Leaves brushed the cabin window.

"This is it!"

His voice loomed so loud they all sat stunned. For as Dudley spoke the motors quit. Roy had cut the switches. For an instant there was the whistle of winds. Then a blinding crash. A terrible silence.

(To be continued)

SUB-CHASER LAUNCHED AT GEORGIAN BAY PORT



This sleek sub-chaser, newest addition to Canada's navy, was pictured as it hit the water in a broadside launching at a Georgian Bay port. Not waiting to be christened in the customary fashion, the corvette snapped a heavy check-chain holding its bow and plowed into the water. The traditional bottle of champagne was smashed across its bows as it rode the launching waves in the slip.

Little Benny's Note Book

It was raining pretty hard but not actually poring, and I was looking at it out ma's window and she was sewing on her electric sewing machine, and I said, Can I go out, ma?

Just asking on acount of hoping ma might say yes absent mindeo but not really expecting her to.

Wich she didn't, saying Of all the silly questions, that takes the final cake!

Well why does it, ma, why is it? I bet I can ask you sillier questions than that, I said, and she said, If anybody can, you can, I'll grant you that much.

Being a sourcastic compliment, and I said, Well can I go out, ma, you haven't told me yet.

I'll tell you in one word, you absolutely may not, ma said.

Being 4 words and I said, Well jimminy ma, why not?

Just give me one good reason why you should? ma said.

Me not being able to think of any, and I said, Well you give me one good reason why I shouldn't ma, and I bet I can prove you're wrong.

I could give you a dozen reasons and the first and foremost is, it's teeming rain, ma said, and I said, Well gosh, ma, I mean holey smokes, suppose the war keeps going a few more years or suppose it starts again after a rest and I have to get in it. G wizzickers, ma, if that happens I'll have to get used to all kinds of weather whether I feel like it or not, so I better get used to a little rain right now while I feel like it, so that proves your reason is wrong, ma. Have you got any other reason? I said.

Would a good slap strike you as a sufficient reason? ma said.

Being a lady's question with no good answer to it, so I called up a couple of the fellows on the telephone and talked to them about things in generel nothing in particular.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, September 19

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A SPLENDID day for keen, quick and astute thinking, with correspondingly quick and decisive action, is read from the lunar and mutual aspects. These favor creative urges and inspirational spurs to be up and doing in a large, audacious and perhaps spectacular manner. Invention, adventure, romance as well, are indicated.

Those whose birthday it is may be prepared for a year of major importance and promise, with things coming quick and fast and producing reactions and results penetrating far into the future, shaping its destiny. The creative, inventive and aspirational as well as emotional faculties are quickened in sharp relief, perhaps with spectacular and bold incisiveness.

A child born on this day may be exceedingly versatile and talented—probably an inventive genius, or a romantic poet, dramatist, perhaps filled with new thoughts and ideals and brave creative urges.

OUTSTANDING RADIO PROGRAMS

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 18

7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure Time.—WEAF.
8.00—Hollywood Playhouse; drama, Gale Page and Jim Ameche. —WEAF, WBEN, WGY.
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.00—Quiz Kids—WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Dr. Christian, sketch. — WABC, WJR.
9.00—The Question Box. — CBO, CBL.
9.30—Concert Orch.—WABC
9.30—Serenade for Strings—CBL
10.00—Kay Kyser's program. — WEAF, WGY.
10.00—They Shall Not Pass—CBL
10.30—Address by Pres. Roosevelt—WABC, WJZ, CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks—CBO, CBL
12.00—Bobby Byrnes' Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

THURSDAY, SEPT. 19

12.00—Kate Smith Speaks.—WABC—WJZ, CBO, CBL.
7.00—London Calling— CBL
7.30—Vox Pop; Parks and Wally—WABC, WGR.
8.00—Good News of 1941: Fanny Brice, Mary Martin, Dick Powell—WEAF, WGY
8.00—English News Letter — CBL, CBO
8.00—Canadian Holiday — WJZ WHAM
9.00—Singing and Swinging—WJZ
9.30—Concert in Miniature—WJZ
10.00—Rudy— Vallee program. —WEAF, WGY
10.15—Pennant Contenders—WOR
11.30—BBC Newsreel—CBL
12.00—Duke Ellington's Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

RADIO DIRECTORY

CANADIAN STATIONS

CBL—Toronto	840
CBO—Ottawa	880
CBW—Windsor	600
CBY—Toronto	1420
CFCF—Montreal	600
CFRB—Toronto	690
CFRC—Kingston	1510
CHML—Hamilton	1010
CKCL—Toronto	580
CKOC—Hamilton	1120
CKTB—St. Catharines	1200

UNITED STATES STATIONS

KDKA—Pittsburg	980
WABC—New York	860
WBBM—Chicago	770
WBEN—Buffalo	900
WEAF—New York	660
WENR—Chicago	870
WGR—Buffalo	550
WGY—Schenectady	790
WHAM—Rochester	1150
WJR—Detroit	750

RADIO PROGRAMS

WEDNESDAY

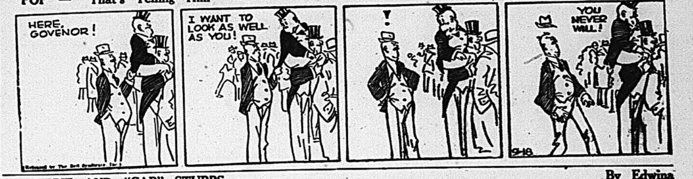
4.00—Club Matinee—WJZ, CBL.
6.45—Lowell Thomas, news commentator—WJZ, CBL
8.00—Uncle Jim's Question Bee — WABC, WGR.
8.30—Plantation Party — WEAF, WGY
8.30 Manhattan at Midnight — WJZ, WHAM
8.30—Musical Varieties—CBL
9.00—The Hour of Smiles—WEAF
9.00—Summer show, Frances Langford, vocalist, Kenny Baker, tenor—WABC, WJR
9.30—Serenade for Strings—CBL, CBO
10.00—Kay Kyser Prgm. — WEAF, WJZ, WHAM
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orchestra; Ray Eberle and Marion Hutton, vocalists—WABC, WGR
10.30—BBC News Reel—CBL
12.00—Bobby Byrnes Orch.—WJZ, WHAM

THURSDAY

4.00—Club Matinee; news.—WJZ, CBL
7.00—Fred Waring in Pleasure time—WEAF, WGY
8.00—Ask-It-Basket with Jim McWilliams—WABC, WGR
8.15—In Chicago Tonight—CBL
8.30—Strange as it seems—WABC, WGR
8.30—The Aldrich Family—WEAF.
8.30—Pot O' Gold—WJZ, WHAM
9.00—Major Bowes' — WABC, CFRB
9.00—Music Hall—Bob Burns,M.C. and comedian; Music Maids; Ken Carpenter announcer—WEAF, CBL
10.00—Glenn Miller's Orch.—WABC, WJR
10.00—Summer Symphony—CBL
11.15—Britain Speaks.—CBL, CBO.
11.30—Ina Ray Hutton's Orch. — WJZ

POP — That's Telling Him

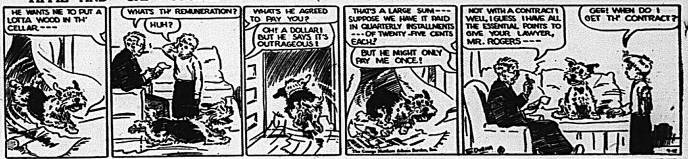
By J. Millar Watt



HERE, GOVENOR!
I WANT TO LOOK AS WELL AS YOU!
!
YOU NEVER WILL!
9-18
Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

TIPPIE AND "CAP" STUBBS —

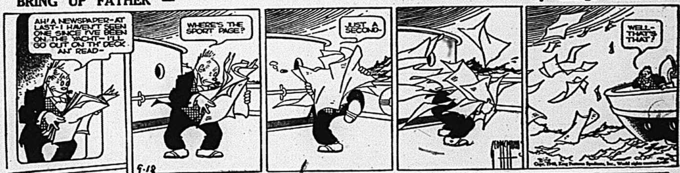
By Edwina



HE WANTS ME TO PUT A LOTTA WOOD IN TH' CELLAR---
WHAT'S TH' REMUNERATION?
HUH?
WHAT'S HE AGREED TO PAY YOU?
OH! A DOLLAR! BUT HE SAYS IT'S OUTRAGEOUS!
THAT'S A LARGE SUM--- SUPPOSE WE HAVE IT PAID IN QUARTERLY INSTALLMENTS ---OF TWENTY-FIVE CENTS EACH?
BUT HE MIGHT ONLY PAY ME ONCE!
NOT WITH A CONTRACT! WELL, I GUESS I HAVE ALL THE ESSENTIAL POINTS TO GIVE YOUR LAWYER, MR. ROGERS---
GEE! WHEN DO I GET TH' CONTRACT?
EDWINA
9-18

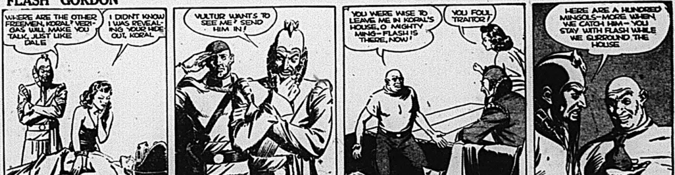
BRING UP FATHER —

By George McManus



AH! A NEWSPAPER-AT LAST-I HAVEN'T SEEN ONE SINCE I'VE BEEN ON THE YACHT-I'LL GO OUT ON TH' DECK AN' READ-
WHERE'S THE SPORT PAGE?
JUST A SECOND-
WELL-THAT'S THAT?
9-18

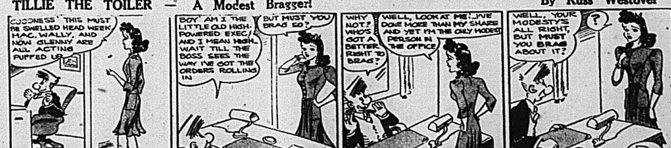
FLASH GORDON



WHERE ARE THE OTHER FREEMEN, KORAL? VERIGAS WILL MAKE YOU TALK, JUST LIKE DALE
I DIDN'T KNOW I WAS REVEALING YOUR HIDE OUT, KORAL
VULTUR WANTS TO SEE ME? SEND HIM IN!
YOU WERE WISE TO LEAVE ME IN KORAL'S HOUSE, O MIGHTY MING-FLASH IS THERE, NOW!
YOU FOUL TRAITOR!
HERE ARE A HUNDRED MINGOLS-MORE WHEN WE CATCH HIM-YOU STAY WITH FLASH WHILE WE SURROUND THE HOUSE
9-18

TILLIE THE TOILER — A Modest Bragger!

By Russ Westover



GOODNESS! THIS MUST BE SWELLED HEAD WEEK. MAC, WALLY, AND NOW GLENNY ARE ALL ACTING PUFFED UP
BOY! AM I THE LITTLE OLD HIGH-POWERED EXEC! AND I MEAN HIGH. WAIT TILL THE BOSS SEES THE WAY I'VE GOT THE ORDERS ROLLING IN BUT MUST YOU BRAG SO?
WHY NOT? WHO'S GOT A BETTER RIGHT TO BRAG?
WELL, LOOK AT ME! I'VE DONE MORE THAN MY SHARE AND YET I'M THE ONLY MODEST PERSON IN THE OFFICE
WELL, YOUR MODESTY'S ALL RIGHT, BUT MUST YOU BRAG ABOUT IT?
?
RUSS WESTOVER
9-18

STOCK MARKETS

QUOTATIONS FURNISHED BY BIGGAR AND CRAWFORD.
John J. Sheridan, Branch Manager.

Quotations at 2.00 p.m.

MINES

Ajax 11
Aldermac 17
Anglo Hur. 167
Aunor 167
Bankfield 9 1-2
Beattie 83
Bidgood 11
Big Missouri 4 1-2
Bralorne 975
Broulan 65 1-4
Buffalo Ank 360
Calgary and Ed. 145
Central Pat 186
Chesterville 90
Coast Copper 67
Coniaurum 129
Dome 22 1-2
Eldorado 34 1-4
East Mal. 315
Falconbridge 268
Gillies L 4 1-4
Gunnar 37
Hardrock 87
Home Oil 190
Hollinger 12
Howey 25 3-4
Hudson Bay 26
Kerr Add 255
Kirk Lake 97
Lapa Cad 6 1-2
Lake Shore 21
Leitch 52
Little L L 215
Macassa 335
McIntyre 45 1-2
McLeod 233
McKenzie 96
Mining Corp. 75
Moneta 60
Nipissing 90
O'Brien 87
Okalta 90
Omega 17
Paymaster 24 1-4
Pamour 110
Perron 157
Pend Oreille 153
Pickle Crow 270
Pioneer 210
Powell 82
Premier 93
Preston E.D. 195
Reno 13
Royalite 22
San Antonio 189
Sherritt G. 70
Siscoe 58
Sladen M. 43 1-4
Sud. Basin 113
Sullivan 57
Steep Rock 153
Sylvanite 237
T. Hughes 312
Tex. Can. Oil 112
Toburn 115
Ventures 240
W. Amulet 342
Wr. Hargreaves 630

TORONTO.

Bell Telephone 154¾.
British American Oil 19¾.
Brewing Corporation 127.
Brazilian Traction 5¼.
Canada Bud Brewery 4½.
Canada Cement 5¼.
Canada Dredge 13.
Can. Industrial Alcohol 185.
C.P.R. 5½.
Canada Malting 34¾.
Canada Vinegar 6¼.
Canada Car 8½.
Cockshutt Plow 5½.
Cons. Bakeries 14.
Con. Smelting 37½.
Dominion Foundries 24½.
Dominion Stores 4¼.
Distillers Seagrams 24¼.
Fanny Farmer 25¼.
Ford "A" 16¾.
Gypsum 4¼.
Imperial Oil 11¾.
International Nickel 37½.
Inter Petroleum 16¾.
Imperial Tobacco 14.
Loblaw 25¼.
Massey Harris 3¾.
Montreal Power 29½.
McColl Frontenac 5¾.
Power Corporation 7½.
Price Bros. 13¼.
Steel of Canada 72½.
Shawinigan 18.
Walkers 38¾.
Walkers Preferred 19½.
C.P.A. 4¾.

NEW YORK.

American T. and T. 163.
Anaconda 21¾.
Bethlehem Steel 78¾.
Chrysler 77.
General Electric 34.
General Motors 48¼
Inter Telephone 2¾.
North American 19¼.
Montgomery Ward 40.
Phillips Petroleum 36¼.
Radio 4¾.
Standard Oil of N.J. 34¾.
Standard Brands 6¾.
U.S. Steel 55¾.
United Aircraft 40¾.
Vanadium 31½.
Westinghouse 101½.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, Sept. 18 (CP).—After a fairly active start business became dull on the stock market during the early part of the afternoon sales at one o'clock were only 53,000 shares.

Golds, base metals and western oils were higher in the indices with industrials holding around yesterday's index level as prices churned in narrow range in the dwindling market.

Pend Oreille and Steep Rock gave some impetus to base metals, holding gains of 7 and 3 cents respectively. Gold features were MacLeod Cockshutt which was up 3 at 1.30. Hard Rock, up 2 and Preston which dropped 4 to 1.91. East Malartic held a 5-cent gain.

Industrials were little changed when prices were mixed in fractional range. Western oils were firmer.

WALL STREET

New York, Sept. 18—(AP)—Stocks today held the levels gained in three previous rises but traders generally stood aside, awaiting war news.

Prices varied only by fractions either way toward the fourth hour. An early advance was stopped by profit-taking and thereafter, gains and losses kept close to the balancing point.

Ahead at one time or another were Douglas, Sperry, Air Reduction, Allied Chemical, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville, Eastman and Harvester. On the hesitant side appeared Youngstown, Dupont, American Can, Anaconda, Kennecott and Standard Oil of N. J.

McIntyre, in the Canadian section, advanced one point and Lake Shore Mines a fraction. International Nickel was easy.

Produce Markets

Toronto—Wholesale prices (Ontario Department of Agriculture) today were:

EGGS
Wholesale to retail:
A-large	.36
A-medium	.35
A-pullets	.30
Grade "B"	.27
Grade "C"	.20
BUTTER
Butter, No. 1	.23-.23 1-4
Butter, No. 2	.21-.22 1-4
Churning Cream, No. 1	.23 1-2
Churning Cream, No. 2	.21½-.22½
POULTRY
(Dressed)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.20—.22
Chickens, Grade "A"—
Over 5 lbs.	.21
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.19—.20
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.17
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.15—.16
4 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 lbs.	.12
(Live Poultry)
Broilers 1 1-2 to 2 1-2 lbs.	.15
Chickens—
Over 5 lbs.	.15
4 1-2 to 5 lbs.	.14
3 to 4 1-2 lbs.	.12
Fowl—
Over 5 lbs.	.12
4 to 5 lbs.	.11
3 to 4 lbs.	.10

Cheese Production Shows Increase Of 18,000,000 lbs.

Toronto, Sept. 18—Persistent demand for continued light offerings of top grades again caused holders to raise butter prices of Toronto open produce market. Eggs also advanced when buying improved.

With available supplies still light, sellers did not offer first-grade butter freely on yesterday's market. Buying, which was in cover current needs, was good, and as a result offerings of No. 1 Ontario creamery solids at 23 1-4 cents per pound were absorbed in morning trading. Buyers were forced to pay 23 1-2 cents for the product in later dealings, with supplies none too plentiful even at this level. Undergrades, however, continued difficult to move.

The quicker pace pushed prices higher in both sections of trading on the egg market. Demand was particularly good for Government inspected shipments of graded eggs, which sold at a one cent per dozen premium. The three top grades rose one cent in the graded division, while all grades firmed a similar amount in the retail section.

Export business is the mainstay of the domestic wholesale cheese market. Local prices have not budged from their nominal range of 13 7-8 cents to 14 cents per pound for current make. Canada is still supplying the United Kingdom with large quantities of her cheese. The Dominion Department of Agriculture reported 49,768 boxes cleared from the Port of Montreal last week. Total shipments since the first of May amounted to 687,878 boxes, against 476,176 boxes in the same period of 1939, representing an increase of 211,702 boxes, or in the neighborhood of 18,000,000 pounds.

Montreal Produce

Montreal, Sept. 18 (CP)—Produce market prices here as reported by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, follow:

Butter: First grade creamery prints, jobbing price, 24 1-2c; first grade solids, jobbing price, 24c.

Eggs: Graded shipments in used free cases, selling price, A-large, 34 1-2c to 35c; A-medium, 32 1-2c to 33c; A-pullets, 27 1-2c to 28 1-2c; B, 25c to 26c; C, 16c to 16 1-2c. Receipts: 1,001 cases.

Hog Quotations

Toronto, Sept. 18 (CP)—Dressedweight were up 10 cents at Peterborough and down 10 cents at Hull in bacon-hog markets reporting today. Other markets were unchanged.

Liveweight: Brantford $8.50; Chatham $8.25.

Dressedweight: Chatham $11; Brantford $11.50, plus transportation; Hull $11.30; London $11.50 plus transportation; Peterborough $11.50, plus transportation; Stratford $11.50, plus transportation.

U.S. EMBASSY ENDANGERED

London, Sept. 18 (CP)—A time bomb fell in the neighborhood of the United States Embassy last night. It still was unexploded after daybreak today, the Embassy staff reported.

All persons in the building took refuge on the first floor during the night. One member of the staff said: "We certainly had a hell of a night—they were popping all around us."

FOUR KILLED — "D.A." BOMB

Somewhere in England—(CP) — Four men were killed and four injured when a German delayed action bomb exploded when they were excavating in a field.

"CERTAIN"

(Continued from Page One)

Swift-rising British interceptor planes joined the battle from below as the Hurricanes and Spitfires attacked from above. Shell bursts from booming "archies" studded the scene of tumult.

An early report on the results of the quarter-hour melee said that ten German planes were shot down.

Toll Taken at Coastline

A toll of raiders was taken at the coastline before the massed formations reached the Thames. One correspondent said two Messerschmitts toppled out of control there and another was seen to splash into the sea.

A strong westerly wind blew in the Straits of Dover today and the sun shone through breaks in dense low clouds. A slight mist over the sea veiled the French coastline. Yesterday a gale churned the channel and British airmen reported it had scattered the concentration of barges and other vessels gathered along the channel coast for the German attempt to invade Britain, compelling the ships to take shelter in less open waters.

The authorities minimized any effect bombardment might have had on Britain's food supply. Lord Woolton, Minister of Food, said that damage from German raids represents "at most one day's consumption of a particular commodity."

Officials Cast Doubt

Officials also cast doubt on German hints that German big berthas, from French coast emplacements, had dropped shells on London.

"Nothing is known in London of shells from an enemy long range gun having fallen on the capital," said the Press Association.

Cap Gris Nez, closest to London of any point on the channel coast, is about 75 miles away, the distance from which German cannon shelled Paris in the first Great War.

The Thames estuary battle was the high point of a one-hour, 43-minute period of alarm ending at 2:26 p.m. (9:26 a.m. EDT).

It came upon the heels of four other daylight alarms and a record night-long attack in which many sections of London were battered and three big west end stores were hit.

The government said it feared casualties from the night assault "may be heavier than in recent nights" as Nazi bombers battered sections of the city.

Direct hits were scored on the stores of D. H. Evans and Co., general drapers; John Lewis and Co., noted for its silks, and Bourne Hollingsworth, women's and children's wear, all in Oxford Street of London's fashionable mayfair.

A bomb also has fallen on the lawn of historic Westminster Abbey, across from the Houses of Parliament, and blasted out a crater, it was disclosed.

"Large scale" raids on German shipping concentrations, barges and communications along the German-held channel coast and on "certain targets" in Germany was announced by the Air Ministry, as the Royal Air Force massed its weight against Hitler's invasion preparations, once more acute with the blowing out of yesterday's channel gale.

The fifth daylight air raid alarm of the day, sounded in London at 12:43 p.m., (6:43 a.m. EDT), was accompanied by a stiff air battle just east of London. The circling, diving planes could be seen by rooftop watchers.

Weather Clears Over Channel

Weather cleared over the English Channel and large numbers of German planes took advantage of the calmer skies to raid the southeast coast in wide formations of three and four planes each. R.A.F. fighters rose to meet the attackers and aerial fighting ensued.

Heavy damage was inflicted on one of the London stores by fire and the bomb explosion.

A time bomb fell near the United States Embassy, but did not explode.

Sunshine replaced mist and rain over the Straits of Dover as a gale which held Hitler's invasion fleet in continental ports blew itself out. A fresh breeze kept the Channel seas rough, however, and weatherwise fishermen forecast more heavy winds before long.

Bombers Driven Off

The first German planes which appeared over London by daylight apparently sought to survey damage left by the night raiders, but were driven away by British fighters and anti-aircraft guns.

During succeeding alarms Londoners heard renewed gunfire and the drone of planes overhead.

The first four morning daylight raids totalled 98 minutes.

It was disclosed that the famous Lambeth Walk market place had been struck three times in a recent raid. Two bombs fell in a narrow street behind the shopping centre and the third hit a shop in the market place.

Londoners last night were kept in their shelters for nine hours and 54 minutes until the all clear signal at 6 a.m. (2 a.m. EDT). The longest previous raids lasted nine hours and 40 minutes Sept. 8-9.

Choppy Seas Assist Britain

Renewal of daylight raids marked the start of the fourth month of almost daily air attacks on Britain which official reports indicate have caused almost 13,000 civilian casualties, including at least 3,333 deaths. The heaviest toll came in the first 15 days of September during which, Prime Minister Churchill announced yesterday, 2,000 civilians were killed and 8,000 injured.

For the weary metropolis there was cheering news, however, from the Straits of Dover where terrific winds and choppy seas confined Hitler's invasion fleet to ports and, together with continued R.A.F. bombings, scattered German barges.

Fight in 100-Mile Gale

The gale abated slightly after midnight but sailors said small boats couldn't risk a crossing of the straits in such seas.

The Air Ministry news service reported that British fighters engaged more than 200 German Messerschmitts and Heinkels "in a 100-mile an hour gale over Kent, Sussex, Surrey and the Thames estuary" late yesterday.

The Germans scattered hurriedly and fled for safety.

Winds of such velocity are rare over England. When encountered, they may be found at varying altitudes but never at the ground level. Bumps and pockets caused by such winds make manoeuvring of planes extremely difficult.

Speed Assists Aircraft

The difficulty decreases, however, with increase in the speed of the aircraft, so that the advantage in such cases lies with the fast fighter which tends to skip through the disturbances while the heavy laden bomber wallows through.

At least 12 German planes were shot down during the night and three British planes were lost, the Air Ministry announced.

Nazi raiders gliding silently over London targets in a new tactic designed to surprise anti-aircraft batteries, showered both incendiary and high explosive bombs on the West End, which had been hit in yesterday afternoon's raids.

Both types of bombs also fell in East and southeast London. Scores of houses were reported demolished, and in Central London several large stores were damaged.

Department Stores Hit

Two department stores suffered severe damage. At one, the furniture department was hit directly. Casualties were reported at the other, where several hundred persons crowded into a shelter at the rear of the establishment. Burglar alarms were set shrilling and wax dummies sprawled in the debris.

Casualties also were reported when a bomb dropped near a hotel, blasting a huge crater in a roadway.

Numerous small fires, started by "Molotoff Breadbaskets", or incendiary bombs, were extinguished quickly by firemen and householders.

Planes Fly Very High

Other parts of England felt the blows of aerial raiders but the government said the damage on the whole was slight.

Several persons, including a child, were killed in northwest coastal towns, and slight damage was reported at industrial premises in the Glasgow area of Scotland.

The sound of gunfire and heavy explosions resumed by daylight where it left off during the night.

Strong anti-aircraft fire was heard in Central London but most of the planes were too high to be seen. Rooftop observers saw one raider flying across the city with anti-aircraft shells bursting around it.

Balanced on Crater

One bomb smashed obliquely into the cellar of a house in Northwest London, leaving the house balanced precariously over the crater.

A number of persons injured during the bombings were taken into a movie theatre for emergency treatment.

Despite the air raid warnings many persons remained in the streets, watching the sky duels between raiders and defenders, thus taking chances with bombs and spent anti-aircraft shell fragments.

Eight firemen were killed in the night raid on a Southeast London district, five of them when a bomb fell between two trucks en route to a blaze.

Anti-aircraft guns along the Thames Estuary raised a heavy barrage against raiders flying in from the east this morning. The raiders disappeared in a southeasterly direction, with British fighters in chase.

BRITISH HARASS

(Continued from Page One)

The farthest point in the Italian advance line is believed to be 80 miles within Egypt.

As the Italians press eastward, the British command is in the position of being able to choose the field for what may be the one decisive battles of the campaign.

The next objective presumably is Matruh, 100 miles further along the coastal road and site of a British air base.

Location Not Menacing

Between Sidi Barrani and Alexandria lie 250 miles of rough going for an invader, and the British command—while conceding that the Italians have moved swiftly and efficiently so far—does not regard their present position as menacing.

British tank units have retired before the Italian sweep after inflicting heavy casualties, British headquarters announced, with relatively few losses among the defenders.

Harassing operations have included charges by tank patrols, artillery fire and aerial bombardment.

One apparent reason why British forces are biding their time before joining in a decisive battle is the expectation that the Italians' supply difficulties will increase as they move further from their bases through a desert which offers no food and little water.

Water supply presents the invaders' greatest problem, although 12 old Roman wells at Sidi Barrani will permit the Italians to replenish their supplies. They apparently are using a great number of enormous tank trucks and also are resorting to apparatus for distillation of sea water.

Exposed to Attacks From Sea

Since the Italians are hugging the shoreline rather than trying to push through the more difficult inland desert country with its mountains and depressions, they may be compelled to expose themselves to attacks from the sea, it was said.

The British eastern Mediterranean fleet, based at Alexandria, has been blockading the coast to prevent Italy from supplying her African possessions, and naval units have attacked coastal points of Libya.

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, the Italian commander, is reported to have more than 260,000 available men, many of them still massed in Libya. Three Italian divisions of about 45,000 men are reported encamped at Salum, first coastal point seized in the invasion.

Rome Claims Wells Salted, Dynamited

Rome, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Stefani, Italian News and Propaganda Agency, said today that when the Italians entered Sidi Barrani in Egypt yesterday they found the 12 ancient Roman wells of the town salted and dynamited.

The Italians had counted upon the wells to relieve their water supply problem in their western desert advance.

Answering "British broadcasts" suggesting that Italian bombers might attack Cairo, Stefani said that "responsible circles" explain that Cairo is an unfortified city and a "place sacred to the Moslems".

"When our planes bombed oil depots at Suez", it claimed, "they rigorously avoided damage to Egyptians dwellings".

WILLKIE CLAIMS

(Continued from Page One)

Standing beneath floodlights in Tingley Park, Willkie said:

"Never in the history of the world was there such a great liquid supply of capital as is represented by the savings of the people of this country. Likewise there never was such a requirement in American industry for development and expansion, and never before did we have so many unemployed.

"Now if we can bring that great flood of liquid capital into our productive enterprises to fill the requirements for their expansion, there will disappear from the relief rolls those 9,000,000 men now unemployed."

Speaks on Defence

Turning to defence, Willkie continued:

"Defence today consists of mechanized things, all of which are made by production. The reason Germany is stronger than England—if she is and pray God she is not— is that she was producing.

"If you elect me President of the United States, I shall bring to the government the ablest production men in America, and I will create of them an independent agency to deal with the defence problem ably and adequately."

Willkie devoted part of his address to criticism of President Roosevelt's third term effort.

"If you re-elect this administration," he said, "I predict you will have four more years of depression."

He declared that the Roosevelt administration "has been on the most drunken orgy of spending that ever occurred in the history of the world," and said:

"What a piker was Louis XIV. And the Rajahas of Persia, with their diamonds, didn't spend pennies compared to these boys."

GENERAL COUNCIL

(Continued from Page One)

"I deplore the unsettling effect this discussion will have in our colleges," commented Rev. George Pidgeon of Toronto. "Let us give our college staff some feeling of security."

More Than Finances to Consider

G. W. Mason, K.C., of Toronto said no person "could justify on an economic basis that our eight colleges remain open, but there is something more than the financial aspect to be considered."

"For instance," he added, "one of our colleges has a $287,000 endowment which would be lost if this college were to be closed."

The subject of conscientious objectors came before the council when the sessional committee of the Board of Evangelism and Social Service recommended that Canada adopt the British laws and procedure in this regard. After some discussion the resolution was referred back to the committee for re-drafting.

The committee's report also warned that family life in Canada showed marks of impairment and threat of disintegration. It referred to the breaking up of families and expressed the belief that the Christian family was vital to Christian civilization.

2 NEW

(Continued from Page One)

inion when she was sunk by enemy action.

Mr. Dyde said there were difficulties in identification of internees. Three men at one camp had the same names and were all "Herr Doktors", he said.

No Serious Interruption by Raids in U. K.

Ottawa, Sept. 18—(CP)—Military and manufacturing activities in the United Kingdom are going ahead despite the efforts of German bombers, according to information reaching Defence Minister Ralston.

At a press conference today attended by some 12 members of the parliamentary press gallery the Minister was asked if he had any information of the effect of the present German air raids.

"From all the information I have obtained, in official despatches and otherwise," he said, "I can say there has been no evidence of any serious interruption in either military or production activities."

Rumor is Unfounded

The Minister was also asked about an earlier rumor to the effect that a ship carrying troops of the 2nd Canadian Division was sunk.

"There is absolutely nothing in it," he declared.

Just returned from an inspection tour of military establishments in Western Canada, Col. Ralston said he had visited 35,000 troops and was impressed with the type of men he found in all ranks of both the Canadian Active Service Force and the Non-Permanent Active Militia.

Sometime next week he hopes to visit Camp Borden and Niagara camp in Ontario. As he has already visited the establishments in the West, in Eastern Ontario, Quebec and Maritime Provinces an inspection of the two camps in Central Ontario would round out a nation-wide personal survey of all military training establishments.

Col. Ralston also announced that administration of the government arsenals, one in Ontario and one in Quebec will be transferred from the National Defence Department to the Department of Munitions and Supply Oct. 1.

Two Internment Camps to Replace One

Other information from the Defence Minister was that two new internment camps will be built in Northwestern Ontario to replace one from which internees have made escapes and that a few more than 200 of the 250 tanks recently purchased in the United States would be available for training of the Canadian tank brigade now being organized. The rest will be used for spare parts.

The changes being made in are numbers of mink and fox farms adjustments in the ordnance department of the recommendation of Philip Chester of Winnipeg, recently-appointed Master-General of the Ordnance.

Better Co-ordination

As the munitions department is already purchasing large quantities of ammunition from private companies Col. Ralston said the general supply program could be co-ordinated better if it controlled the government establishments.

Prior to this decision the department of munitions and supply was made responsible for a rifle factory now being erected by the government.

No change will be made in the technical officers in charge of the establishments. They will be loaned by the defence department to munitions and supply. Col. Ralston said he could not speak too highly of the work of Col. A. Theriault, superintendent of arsenal production who will continue to be the chief executive officer.

Capt. Jolley in Charge

Capt. M. P. Jolley, who supervised the construction of and the start of production in the privately-owned Bren gun factory, has been placed in charge of the rifle factory, Col. Ralston stated.

While the executive and technical control of the establishments would not change the Minister said it was possible the munitions and supply department would set up for the establishments boards of directors, composed of business men, as had been done by that department in the case of government-owned plants established since the start of the war.

Some changes are also being made in the directorates and the staffs of directorates in the ordnance branch, the Minister said.

Mobility in Training

The 3rd Division will probably be concentrated in the Atlantic army command by Nov. 15, the Minister said. The units of the division have not yet been concentrated in the Maritime area and divisional artillery is now going through its firing practice at Petawawa Camp.

"We are thinking of mobility in all our training," he said. "That seems to be the need of this war and in training the 3rd Division down east we are going to emphasize that."

Speaking of the troops overseas Col. Ralston said consideration was being given to the setting up of a separate command for certain troops now under Canadian military headquarters in London. It is understood these troops are chiefly reinforcements for the 1st and 2nd Divisions and ancillary troops.

RUSSIA TESTS DEFENCES

Moscow (AP)—Soviet Russia, still on the war sidelines, is sharpening her air raid defences. Searchlights were used in an anti-aircraft rehearsal in Moscow last night and small squads of civilians wearing gas masks marched in passive defence exercises.

WAR DAMAGE LOWERS THE FIELD CROPS

Lille, France, (Delayed)— (via Berlin)—(AP) — Preliminary surveys of Northern France by French authorities disclose a large reduction in agricultural reserves because of war damage and requirements of the German occupation. French sources predicted this areas would suffer considerably this winter from lack of food, and all cities and villages have created committees to supervise rationing and distribution of supplies.

ESCAPING THERE, TOO

London — (CP) — Wing Commander Basil Embry, first Royal Air Force officer to win two bars to his DSO, has escaped from a German prison camp and returned to England.

OFFENDING CYCLISTS

Croydon, England — (CP)—Three cyclists who had left their bicycles unattended returned to find that the police had deflated their tires because they might have aided invading parachutists.

The War Today

By GUY RHOADES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Royal Air Force fighter planes today drove away the German Luftwaffe's most vigorous assault of the war on the Thames estuary district while the Air Ministry disclosed British bombers had dealt further punishment to German held channel ports and inland military objectives.

Rooftop watchers saw the white exhaust streaks of British interceptors as they tore into the German formations, breaking them up and engaging in the wildest series of dogfights yet witnessed. Finally, after London had been warned five times by air raid sirens, the Germans high tailed for home, leaving an undetermined number of dead warbirds lying on British soil or in British waters.

Periodically throughout the engagement archies spat shells into the sky to keep the enemy at respectable altitudes.

On the south coast fogs lifted, the wind dropped and blue skies appeared, but the channel waters, whipped to fury by yesterday's gale, still heaved and thundered against the cliffs and watchers felt Hitler would attempt no invasion today, at least.

There was some disappointment that the foul weather of yesterday should have cleared so soon, but wind-tanned old salts looking seaward sniffed the air and said the storm would be back before long.

Chance For Success Wanes

Meanwhile observers in London, including some who witnessed the destruction of Warsaw and other continental cities through which the Blitzkrieg was rolled, said the chances of a successful German push against the British Isles waned with each succeeding day. For one thing, they said, London had taken furious punishment for eleven days, but still functioned with morale unshaken.

Despite a hurricane aloft that blew as hard as 100 miles an hour both sides yesterday and last night conducted raids. The R.A.F. slashed at Ostend, Zeebrugge and other points while above Britain the Spitfires and Hurricanes rode down upon the Dorniers, Heinkels and Jaguars.

The Germans across the water, presumably, are seeking to round up their self-propelled barges and small invasion craft scattered by R.A.F. bombing and the force of yesterday's storm. There were reports that drifting barges were loose in the Channel in large numbers.

On the mid-eastern front the Italians got a foretaste of what is likely to befall them repeatedly if they continue to push into the Libyan Desert toward Alexandria. The Italian News Agency Stefani reported that when the Italian imitation of the German Panzer divisions rolled into Barrani in the desert they found 12 Roman wells from which they hoped to replenish water supplies dynamited and salted by the withdrawing British reguard.

Italians Suffer Heavily.

In addition the Italians suffered heavily from British artillery which blasted at their light tanks and from assaults by the desert squadrons of the R.A.F. which dive-bombed and machine-gunned their supply lines, setting fire to their gasoline tank trucks and bursting the tank trucks carrying their precious supplies of water.

In a dry land the Italians sweltered in temperatures as high as 120 degrees Fahrenheit or shivered in the bitter cold of the desert night, while British forces, smaller in numbers but veterans of the desert held the country with the wells.

The British plan appeared to be to let the Italians advance to a point where their supply lines became wobbly and then halt them with a counter-attack.

Choice of the battle-ground lay with the British high command.

Loose Barrage Balloons Disrupt Swedish Services, Says Stockholm

Stockholm, Sept. 18 (CP)—Twenty-four British barrage balloons driven by the wind disrupted Swedish railway and electric power service last night and damaged homes in Denmark.

Balloons were seen this morning in the district north of Stockholm on the East Swedish Coast.

The Swedish Air Corps and anti-aircraft guns and home guard units were used to shoot the balloons down.

Presumably yesterday's gale along the English Channel had loosed great numbers of the bags.

Many electric trains in Sweden were delayed as a result of damage by the trailing cables, and the wire dropping over the tracks made the use of steam engines dangerous.

The Central Swedish radio station's antennae at Motala was smashed, stopping the morning broadcast. Executives of a power station at Trolhattan announced that a great part of Sweden was without light last night. Emergency crews were working to restore service.

Stockholm's central power station was stopped this morning, and Stockholm-bound trains from the North were delayed.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Sept. 18.—(CP)—Cattle trade was very slow up to mid-session on the Livestock Market today with prices about steady at the week's decline. Hogs, veal calves, lambs and sheep were steady. The holdover from Tuesday was 2,100 head of cattle.

Receipts reported by the Dominion marketing service were: Cattle 300, calves 360, hogs 1,020, sheep and lambs 460.

Prices in the cattle section were—A few butcher steers and heifers $6.50 to $8; butcher cows $4 to $5.50; a few bulls $4.25 to $5.50; stockers slow $5 to $7.

Veal calves sold at $11 to $11.50 for choice with common selling downward to $6.50.

Lambs sold at $9 to $9.50 for good ewes and wethers and $8 to $8.50 for bucks.

The small supply of sheep sold at $3 to $5.50.

Hogs sold at $9 off-trucks for bacons and $12 dressedweight.

Montreal, Sept. 18 (CP)—Trading on cattle was slow as hogs were easier and sheep and calves steady on Montreal Livestock Markets today, the Dominion Agriculture Department reported.

Receipts: Cattle 271; calves 46; sheep and lambs 119, and hogs 159.

No prices were quoted on cattle as sales were at a standstill.

Veal calves ranged from $7 for common light kinds to $10.50 for good ones. Drinkers made $5.50-$7 and grassers $4.50-$5.

Good ewes and wethers brought $8.50, buck lambs $7.60 and culls $6.50. Sheep sold from $3-$5.

The few hogs offered for sale at $9.25-$9.35 off trucks, with $1 premium on selects and the regular cuts on off grades. Hogs sold on rail grade brought $12.35 hot weight. Sows were $5.50-$6.

BRITISH OFFICIALS AT CHUNGKING

Chungking, (CP)— Two British officials connected with Hong Kong's air defences arrived here by airplane today to inspect this provisional Chinese capital's dugout system and study Chinese air raid precaution measures.

HOMES COMMANDEERED

London, (CP)—Homes in London's fashionable West End are being commandeered for families left homeless in severely bombed areas, billeting officers announced today. One officer said accommodations for "many hundreds" of homeless already had been found. Refugees are sent first to temporary "rest billets"—such as schools and theatres—and then transferred to new homes, most of which thus far have been within the London area.

"Fighting Parson" Congratulated on Story in Magazine

Leicester, England, Sept. 18 (CP)—Congratulatory messages from many parts of England have reached Rev. C. W. Whipp, Leicester's "fighting parson", since he wrote in his church magazine that he hopes the Royal Air Force will smash Germany "to smithereens."

The Vicar of St. Augustine's said he had received only one protest against his outspoken comments on Germany and Nazidom. It came from a man who asked him why he was not following the gospel of "love thine enemy."

"Hearty congratulations," said a telegram from Sheffield. "Hundreds of thousands in England think like you do." Another from Taunton read: "All praise. Grand lead. What our country needs. You are a real credit to the church."

Orders should be given to wipe out the Germans "and to this end I would concentrate all our science towards discovering a new and far more terrific explosive," Mr. Whipp wrote in the magazine. "There should be no R.A.F. pilot returning home because he cannot find a military object for his bombs.

"These German devils (that is the only word one can use) come over our cities and turn their machine guns on women and children. Well, all I hope is that the R.A.F. will grow stronger and stronger and go over and smash Germany to smithereens.

"A minister of the gospel, perhaps, ought not to indulge in sentiments like these. I go further, and say quite frankly that if I could I would wipe Germany off the map. They are an evil race and have been a curse in Europe for centuries."

SAYS U.S. SHOULD SUPPLY BRITAIN WITH MANY WEAPONS

New York, Sept. 18 —(CP)—Governor Herbert H. Lehman, contending that a British defeat would involve the United States in war, urged Tuesday that the United States supply Britain with all weapons which can be spared without weakening American defences. He said Britain "is carrying on a wonderfully courageous fight, not only in behalf of her own safety but in defence of democracy wherever liberty-loving people live."

$177,000 FOR RELIEF

Melbourne (CP-Reuters)— Prime Minister R. G. Menzies announced today that the Australian war cabinet has decided to give £50,000 ($177,000) for the relief of British victims of air raids.

CANADIANS WIN A NIGHT BATTLE WITH HURRICANE

Army Trucks Placed in Circle Provide Windbreak From the Storm

O.C. PRAISES MEN

By FRANCES STEVENS

Somewhere in Iceland, Sept. 18—(CP)—After winning a night battle with a subarctic hurricane, the men of a Canadian Highland unit stationed here are becoming so hardened they are ready to tackle the enemy anywhere anytime.

In the dead of night a wind of tremendous velocity destroyed five marquees and 20 bell tents and blew the roof off the kitchen into the sea. Col. G. H. Rogers rallied his men and proceeded to defend the camp against the hurricane the way the pioneers used their covered-wagons to meet Indian attacks. Army trucks placed in a circle proved a windbreak which saved the rest of the camp.

In the reorganized camp now the tents are protected by stout embankments of sod and stones, as well as timber wind-breaks.

Here's a sample of how these Canadian Highlanders are toughening up: On a recent march up a precarious mountain road, the motorcycles had to buck a heavy gale under conditions which tested them to the utmost.

After the motorcyclists had proved themselves to the hilt, Brigadier Page, heading the expedition, suggested that the boys load their motorcycles into trucks to complete the journey, to give them a needed rest. The boys begged to be allowed to continue on their machines. It was good training, they said.

"You can't beat men like that," said Brig. Page. "There you have just one of several reasons why these Highlanders are winning high rating on this weather-buffeted island. Their capacity to adapt themselves quickly to any conditions will be part of the history of this Icelandic campaign."

KING EDWARD'S BEER

London — (CP) — Beer bottled by King Edward VII in 1902 was sold recently for the Red Cross fund.

60,000 TONS SAVING

London — (CP) — Saving of 60,000 tons of steel a year will be made by the manufacture of black bolts and nuts to a new war emergency standard.

IF IT'S ABOUT YOUR EYES . . . SEE McFEE

Rome Communique

Rome, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Wednesday's Italian communique:

"In North Africa Italians and Libyan troops, which in this action have fully confirmed their high war valor and absolute fidelity to Italy, in pursuing their victorious advance have occupied Sidi Barrani, 100 kilometres in an air line from the Cirenaican Border, and are proceeding with the organization of new bases and supply lines.

"The enemy's tenacious resistance, supported by armed formations, has been crushed everywhere.

(British strategy is based on harassing tactics as the Italians extend their lines of communication. The main British forces have not yet made contact with the enemy.)

"Our air force repeatedly intervened with bombing and machine-gun actions. Five enemy planes of the Gloucester type fell in flames. Another probably was shot down. Four of our planes failed to return to their base.

"The enemy made night raids on Bengazi and Derna (Libyan ports) sinking a pontoon and torpedo boat in the harbor at Bengazi and causing several fires which were quickly controlled. At Derna light damage was caused to a steamer and one enemy plane probably was shot down.

"At Malta one of our Picchiatelli (little dive bomber) formations, escorted by pursuit planes, bombed Micabba airport, causing fires and considerable damage and destroying at least three planes on the ground.

"Enemy pursuit planes, after having sought to escape combat with our escorting planes, attacked the Picchiatellis, which counter-attacked decisively, shooting down two enemy planes. Two of our planes failed to return.

(British sources said the Italians made two raids on Malta. In the first three Italian aircraft were shot down; in the second Italians were driven off before reaching their targets).

In East Africa our air force bombed Bomba, in lower Sudan, damaging a small fort and setting fire to an encampment.

"During a scouting expedition over Aden, one of our planes, attacked by English pursuit planes, seriously damaged an enemy plane and then returned unharmed to its base.

"An enemy plane was destroyed on the ground by one of our planes at Saraf Said, northwest and Gallabat.

"Enemy air raids on Asab, Massaua, Harmil and Asmara caused no damage. One person was injured and light damage was caused to a hotel at Diredawa. One enemy plane was probably shot down by naval anti-aircraft defence.

"An enemy plane of the Blenheim type, headed for Malta, landed by mistake on Pantelleria airport and was captured intact with a crew of two officers and one non-commissioned officer.

(There was no report from British sources on any of the above claims).

"Survivors from an English steamer of 5,800 tons sunk by one of our submarines operating in the Atlantic have been landed at Lisbon."

VON RIBBENTROP

(Continued from Page One)

that she is regarded here as a desirable axis partner.

From a Nazi source it was learned that the Rome conference may result in a secret treaty defining Spain's position in regard to axis. There may be a public pronouncement also.

The Ribbentrop visit is likely also to be concerned with two what extent, if any, Germany is to assist in Italy's attempt conquest of Egypt.

Nazi sources indicated that the exchange of 50 United States destroyers for air and naval bases on British possessions in the Atlantic will be another subject discussed.

"It is the traditional Axis policy to keep each other posted on all plans and moves," informed German sources said. They added that under the present conditions "new problems are likely to arise every three weeks or so," indicating that more frequent contacts may be found necessary.

The last meeting of the German and Italian Foreign Ministers was in Vienna last month. They met then to dictate the settlement of the Rumanian and Hungarian dispute over Transylvania.

Usually informed persons said Von Ribbentrop's trip to Rome was planned four days ago—in other words, before the arrival in Berlin of Spain's minister of the interior, Ramon Serrano Suner, for conferences with Adolf Hitler.

Informed sources commented, however, that Germany's foreign minister no doubt would act quickly to inform Mussolini and Count Ciano of the results of the discussions with the Spanish minister.

The nature of any understandings reached between the Axis and Spain was not revealed.

For General Survey

Rome, Sept. 18 (AP)—German Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop's trip to Rome is for a general survey of the war situation with Premier Mussolini, authoritative circles said today.

Various questions which have arisen since the last contact of Adolf Hitler and Il Duce are expected to be discussed.

Italians said these questions included Axis relations with Egypt in view of the Italian invasion of that country; reported unofficial Italian claims on Greece for territory in behalf of Albania; the situation in Rumania, which has been taken under Axis protection, and Spain's position in the war, along with her claims on British-held Gibraltar.

Publishing Enterprises Of United Church To be Investigated

Winnipeg, Sept. 18—(CP)—Ninth general council of the United Church of Canada in session here endorsed a motion last night to set up a commission to make "expert and impartial appraisal" of the publishing enterprises of the church.

Rev. A. Lloyd Smith of Montreal who introduced the motion, said that he had "grave misgivings" whether the United Church should be in the publishing business at all. His motion expressed confidence in the administration, the book steward and the editors, but he said that it was time for a thorough survey when $1,500,000 worth of business showed only a small profit.

Rev. C. H. Dickinson, book steward, said that the publishing house would welcome a commission's investigation. He expressed the view that the publishing committee was made up of able men who had given their best to the church but he added "sometimes a housecleaning is good."

Elmer Davis of Kingston, Ont. said that the United Church publishing house was one of the few publishing houses in Canada to show a profit. He declared that the publishing house provided many free services to the church.

Patients had been removed when a German bomber dived on this children's hospital in central London last week. Such indiscriminate attacks on churches, schools, museums and public buildings, designed to inspire terror, have served only to rouse a healthy anger in London's stout-hearted millions.

Maybe this is "random," the London suburb which Berlin claimed was a target for week-end bombers. Certainly the bomb which struck this block of flats in a purely residential section was dropped without regard for military advantage. But Londoners forgot the damage in glee at the R.A.F.'s whopping victory Sept. 15.

YOU SHOP WITH Confidence AT THE MODERNIZED C.D.S.

EATON'S STOVES and RANGES Are "Warm" Favourites!

with hundreds of our customers—for they know that when they buy an EATON stove or range they are getting good dollar for dollar value for the money they invest. Our stove experts are constantly improving the design and workings of these stoves so that you may be assured of the maximum efficiency with as low fuel consumption as it is possible. If thinking about purchasing a new range, heater or stove, see what the C.D.S. has to offer, in a stove to suit your particular requirements. Ask about their features — compare the prices!

The "Master Climax"

A RANGE THAT BURNS EITHER COAL OR WOOD.

As sketched at left, a good sized range, constructed of smooth rolled steel—main top smoothly polished, with six 9-inch lids in cover. Firebox built for coal and medium size wood. Fitted with Duplex roller grates. Oven of good size, about 20" x 20" x 13", complete with shelf and with thermometer in door. Reservoir of heavy copper, capacity about 5 Imperial gallons. Gleaming white enamel panels on warming closet, oven doors and firebox doors. Other parts trimmed with shiny nickel plate. Priced 68.00

WATERFRONT, extra 5.00

Ask about Budget Plan Terms on this Range

The "Viceroy" Range

A SUPERIOR QUALITY RANGE IN IVORY ENAMEL FINISH.

Smart modern lines distinguish this fine looking range, and it's a picture with its smooth ivory enamel finish, with a neat black trim. Note its qualifications: Has smooth polished steel top—with six 8-inch covers; Oven about 18½" x 11½" x 18" deep, insulated and with enamel finish. Grates are Duplex type of heavy cast iron. Copper reservoir is enclosed and is featured with faucet for drawing off the water. Burns coal and medium sized wood. The price 89.50

ASK ABOUT BUDGET PLAN TERMS ON THIS RANGE.

Eaton's Quebec Ranges

FOUR SIZES—THREE ILLUSTRATED

Efficient heaters of the quick heating type, noted for their low fuel consumption. In four sizes to meet your particular needs. Check them below:

LARGE SIZE—with four grates, firepot 13" inside diameter. Height about 39 inches from floor. Each ... 13.95

MEDIUM SIZE—Three grate style, firepot 11" inside diameter, height about 35 inches. Each 10.45

UTILITY SIZE—3 grate style, firepot about 9 inches inside diameter, height about 34 inches. Each 9.15

SMALL SIZE—with two grates, firepot about 7 inches inside diameter, about 27 inches high. Each 7.55

The "Scout" Stove

POPULAR FOR SMALL HOMES AND APARTMENTS

The very thing for the small home or apartment—as illustrated above—of sheet steel construction with cast iron top. Ivory enameled panels in doors and backguard. Oven about 20" x14"x 11½", with shelf and thermometer. Firebox is cast iron lined, and fitted with Duplex grates, for using wood or coal. Fitted with 4 gallon galvanized reservoir. At 28.85

WATER FRONT, extra 5.00

The "Acme"

OUR QUEBEC RANGE WITH OVEN

This popular style stove is noted for its quick heating; is an efficient little baker and burns a minimum of fuel. Combining heater and a cook stove it meets the demands of many customers who require just such a stove. Of smooth rolled steel construction, with smooth polished steel top, with six covers (one sectional)—11 inch firepot, about 16 inches deep. Finished with white enamel panel on backguard and oven door. Other parts in nickel plate. Priced at 27.75

WATER FRONT, extra 5.00

Galvanized Reservoir, extra 4.00

Ask About Budget Plan Terms on this Stove.

The "Marlboro"

A FITTING COMPLEMENT TO THE MODERN KITCHEN

Here is a stove that is a beauty to look at—modern to the last detail—and just as efficient in operation, too! Completely enameled front, and sides in white with black trim. Oven is insulated and enameled. Reservoir of heavy copper with 5 Imperial gallon capacity. Complete with high shelf and time clock. Warming closet located under oven. Burns either coal or wood. Priced 98.50

MAY BE PURCHASED ON BUDGET PLAN TERMS IF DESIRED.

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES

Probabilities

Light to moderate winds; partly cloudy with scattered showers. Friday, moderate southwest winds; mostly fair and warm.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Temperatures

	Max.	Min.
Today	70.3	52.8
One Year Ago	70.5	39.8

Weather:—Cloudy.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1940

**

RAF LAUNCHES HEAVY ASSAULT ON FRENCH COAST

London Undergoes Most Intensive Nightlong Raid of War

Largest Italian Airdrome in N. Africa Destroyed

British Warships Bombard Northern Flank of Italians

New Entrenchments At Sidi Barrani and Artillery Chief Targets

London, Sept. 19 (CP)—British warships in the Mediterranean bombarded the northern flank of the Italian advance from Libya and attacked enemy concentrations at Sidi Barrani Tuesday night, the Admiralty announced today

Planes of the fleet air arm bombed Bengasi on the coast of Libya Monday, setting a merchant ship on fire and "probably" sinking a destroyer and damaging several other ships, the Admiralty also announced.

Royal Navy In Action.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 19 (AP).—The Mediterranean fleet of the Royal Navy has moved into action against the Italian forces driving along the coast into Egypt with a bombardment of the Italians' newly-won positions at Sidi Barrani, sixty miles inside Egypt, it was announced officially today.

New entrenchments at Sidi Barrani and heavy artillery moving along the coast by truck were the chief targets, said Egypt's premier, Hassan Sabry Pasha.

Dodecanese Islands Attacked.

The Royal Air Force announced it had successfully attacked Italian bases in the Dodecanese Islands yesterday. Fires were started at Maritza, Rhodes, and fire followed several explosions at Calato.

The communique also reported that raids were made on the Italians in northern Africa. Aircraft were set afire at Berna and buildings hit

(Continued on Page Eleven)

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Sept. 19 —(CP)—Synopsis: The weather has continued warm over Ontario with light showers in most districts. Light to moderate showers have occurred in some sections of Manitoba and Saskatchewan where it has been unusually warm. It has been fair and a little cooler in Alberta.

Lake Superior: Moderate southeast to southwest winds, becoming variable on Friday; mostly cloudy today and Friday with scattered showers and not much change in temperature.

Manitoba: Partly cloudy and somewhat cooler with scattered showers. Friday—Fair and comparatively cool.

Saskatchewan: Fair and cooler today and Friday.

Alberta: Fair today and Friday; a little warmer on Friday.

Victoria	50	60	48
Calgary	39	60	39
Edmonton	30	63	30
Winnipeg	66	84	65
Sault Ste. Marie	61	75	60
Toronto	60	76	59
Ottawa	59	85	56
Quebec	60	75	59
St. John	48	73	48
Halifax	55	68	48
Detroit	62	75	58
New York	64	82	62
Miami	76	84	74
Los Angeles	64	77	63

Why The Weather?

Ozone! This colorless gas is a peculiar form of oxygen and is known commonly by its characteristic odor. Indeed, the word "ozone" is from the Greek meaning "I smell". It varies decidedly in amount throughout the day, and year, but the amounts are always small, only about one part in a million. An oxygen molecule is composed of two oxygen atoms, while the ozone molecule has three. One of these it readily gives up, making it an active oxidizing agent, hence its value also as a sanitary agent decomposing organic matter. There is doubt as to its supposed bracing effect on the human system. It is formed in nature by the action of the ultraviolet light and by lightning.

PILET-GOLAZ IS CRITICIZED

Independent Party Members of Swiss National Council Say His Resignation 'Inevitable'

Berne, Sept. 19 (AP)—Independent party members on Switzerland's National Council said today the resignation of President Marcel Pilet-Golaz, sternly rebuked for granting an audience to leaders of the totalitarian Swiss Nationalist Movement, was "inevitable."

"Thus, the confidence of the people and the army would at once be re-established," they asserted, and belligerents "would be obliged to recognize the absolute will and absolute determination of our country to maintain its neutrality."

The President was criticized sharply in a statement issued yesterday on behalf of the four leading parties—representing 136 of 191 seats—in the National Council, the Lower House of the Federal Legislature, for the audience he gave the Nationalists last week.

A communique issued by the Nationalists after the interview described it as the "first step toward political appeasement in Switzerland," but circles close to the President said he saw the party leaders merely to gain information concerning their objectives.

R. C. M. P. Discover Miniature Distillery In Toronto House

Toronto, Sept. 19—(CP)— A squad of Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers found a miniature distillery, complete with still, shipping department and office, when they raided a downtown house last night. They arrested Frank Schaffer on a charge of breach of the Excise Act. About 180 quarts of spirits, neatly packaged and ready for delivery, were seized.

Police found that the loyer portion of the house had been used for business purposes, while the upper floor was rented to several persons as living quarters. Searching the place, the officers found a sales ledger containing a list of hundreds of transactions.

When R.C.M.P. officers appeared in court today to give evidence, they had an adding machine strip nearly four feet long on which was listed the figures found in the book. The still seized, police said, was small but complete.

Germany Airman Figuratively Fell into Lap of Montreal Major

By EDWIN JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Somewhere in England, Sept. 19—(CP—Cable)—A German airman who bailed out from his disabled fighter figuratively fell into the lap of Maj. O. Ibbotson of Montreal while he was on road reconnaissance in southeastern England.

The Major, accompanied by Maj. F. S. Molson and Pte. M. S. Blythe, members of the same Quebec regiment, administered first aid to the wounded Nazi and then sent him under guard to the nearest hospital. It was the first enemy captive for the Canadian 2nd Division.

The incident occurred during a torrid dogfight that was waged directly above the heads of the Montrealers.

"We heard the rattle of machine guns and the whine of a diving plane high above the clouds," Maj. Ibbotson said. "Suddenly the German machine began falling from the skies like a flaming meteor."

The Canadians saw a parachutist floating down towards them and stopped their car. The German landed a few feet from them and slumped among the weeds as if dead. British bullets had ripped away part of his jaw and riddled his arms and legs, but he was able to nod his head and mumble "tanks" after the Canadians dressed his wounds.

As the party motored away another Nazi airman whose parachute had failed to open plummeted to his death in a nearby field.

Several German aviators brought down in the sector manned by the Canadian 1st Division have been brought in for interrogation at divisional headquarters.

A casualty clearing station from Alberta found a wounded airman who had landed a few yards from the hospital camp. Taken into the operating room, he was treated by the staff of the Edmonton unit. Shortly before the German parachuted down, a salvo of four bombs exploded in a field about 100 yards from a hospital crowded with patients. There were no casualties.

PRISON WARDEN OPENS DORMITORY WITHOUT BARS

Conveniences of Every-Day Life Given to a Selected 100-Odd Convicts

CAN BE TOUGH

Dormitory Set Up for Men Who, but for Lack of Job, Could be Paroled or Are Eligible to Go Before Parole Board

Stillwater, Minn., Sept. 19 (AP)—Big Leo Utecht, the Minnesota prison warden with a ready smile that says "Beware," sets out again today to prove that the way he was brought up to handle convicts wasn't the right one.

On the 1,000-acre prison farm, adjoining the Penitentiary of nearly 1,400 men, Utecht opens a dormitory without bars and many of the conveniences of every-day life for a selected 100-odd convicts.

No sentry-patrolled walls surround the new $65,000 building. In it prisoners may play table tennis, billiards or listen to the radio after their day's work. They may talk at meal times and at bed-time they retire to dormitory quarters instead of cells. They may shave with safety razors every day. Only one guard stands by in daytime—two at night. Eventually Utecht will have 250 men there.

Utecht was raised in prison life on the theory that to get along with the prisoners you had to be tough. He simply doesn't believe it. Awhile ago he put radio earphones in every cell. The dormitory life is his newest theory in remaking broken men. He still can be hard when the need arises but mostly Utecht believes in rehabilitating men by making them feel like living again.

The dormitory was set up for men who, except for lack of a job, could be paroled or men about eligible to go before the Parole Board.

MODERATE GALE BLOWS IN CHANNEL

Extremely Heavy Seas Running and Would Hamper Invasion

Dover, England, Sept. 19.— (CP) —A moderate gale blew in the English Channel today, and extremely heavy seas were running, making remote the possibility of a German attempt at a sea-borne invasion.

Morning southwesterly winds increased to gale proportions by noon, and there were indications of rain before nightfall.

Visibility had decreased to about five miles.

Bombardment of invasion ports by the Royal Air Force continued throughout the night.

Night is Cacaphony Of Varied Notes States Canadian Press Writer

By HAROLD FAIR
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, Sept. 19—(CP Cable) —London grimly mopped up today after the war's fiercest raid on the capital while the press clamored for an improved shelter policy and against what it called a trade sabotage—stopping work when the sirens scream.

Londoners travelling to work through damaged streets on buses which in some cases were forced to make a wide detour from the ordinary route noted the demands from The Daily Express and The Daily Mail for deep bomb-proof shelters that would be dry, warm and sanitary during the winter. There were suggestions also for evacuating the aged and the infirm.

Chief Victims Occupants of Small Houses

Damage was done in many London districts by high explosive bombs but the chief victims were the occupants of small houses around central London and the southern suburbs. It is feared that casualties were heavy.

While the Luftwaffe was proceeding with its indiscriminate bombing of the heart of the Empire, one Merseyside district suffered the war's most savage attack which lasted several hours, causing a number of casualties, including some fatalities. More than 100 high explosive bombs as well as many of the incendiary type fell causing

(Continued On Page Thirteen)

AMAZING UNITY OF ALL CLASSES SEEN IN BRITAIN

Sir Evelyn Wrench Glad Phrase "If We Win," Never Heard in England

ARMY GREAT LEAVENER

Toronto, Sept. 19—(CP)—"I am glad to say that in England we never hear the phrase 'if we win,'" said Sir Evelyn Wrench, founder of the Overseas League and the English-speaking Union of the British Empire, in an address prepared for delivery today to a local service club (Empire Club).

"We know that we will fight on through the dark moments till dawn breaks on the horizon," he said. "The Old Country is carrying on with grim determination, steadfastness and purpose and great courage, as those of us who know her and love her felt sure she would, from our King and Queen down to the humblest citizen."

One of the most difficult things about the war so far had been living in a constant state of anticipation of unpleasant happenings. "That of course was part of Hitler's technique, but he failed to rattle us in the war of nerves." He added: "Well-informed correspondents in the various European capitals kept continuously warning us of the dire happenings in store for us on such and such a date. "Wolf, wolf" was cried so often that many Londoners thought that mass bombing over London would never come."

Military Army Great Leavener

Sir Evelyn said that no picture of Britain at the present time would be complete without the

(Continued on Page Three)

48 NAZI PLANES DOWNED IN DAY

One of the Planes Destroyed by Anti-Aircraft Fire

London, Sept. 19 (CP).—The Air Ministry reported today that 48 German planes were destroyed in yesterday's air battles over England.

One of the planes was destroyed by anti-aircraft fire, the Air Ministry announced.

British losses for the day were reduced to 12 fighter planes, when two fighter planes previously listed as missing reported home safely.

Pilots of nine of destroyed British craft are safe, the Ministry said.

Times of Raids Not to be Published

London, Sept. 19 (CP)—British censorship was tightened unexpectedly today to prevent publication or cabling of times of London air raid alarms. The restriction applies to the start of alarms and the finish.

Censors said publication of the times of raids was considered prejudicial to security. The same reason often has been given for the prohibition against cabling or publication of specific locations and military objectives hit by bombs.

ACCUSED STATES FIANCEE STEERED CAR INTO CANAL

Raymond Martin, Charged With Attempted Murder, on Witness Stand

ENGAGEMENT BROKEN

Peterborough, Ont., Sept. 19 (CP)—A tragedy in which five persons were drowned at nearby Lakefield when their automobile plunged into a Hydro-power canal was recalled today when the Crown cross-examined Raymond L. Martin, 26 charged with the attempted murder of his pretty, 19-year old former fiancee, Audrey Clayton.

Martin is alleged to have driven his car deliberately into the canal at the spot where the previous tragedy occurred in an atempt to drown Miss Clayton. This was April 28 and the earlier accident occurred May 24, 1939.

"When your car went into the canal at almost the same place you knew of the other occurrence?" asked Crown Attorney V. J. McElderry.

"I did know of it, but I never gave it any thought."

Case Ready For Jury

Martin's case will go to the jury after addresses by counsel and the Judge's charge, defence evidence having been completed.

He admitted he had lost his job as a stationary engineer about a month before the alleged crime. He had been out of funds, the engagement ring he gave the girl was not

(Continued on Page Eleven)

Fuzzless Peach Has Been Grown

Blacksburg, Va., Sept. 19—(AP)—The peach is getting a shave. The "barber" is Dr. Fred W. Hofmann, director of horticultural research at the Virginia agricultural experiment station, who announced today development of a fuzzless peach. The new peach is not only as smooth and waxy as a plum, but also as large as standard varieties and just as delicious.

Collect Two Tons Tea in Campaign At Queen's Park

Toronto, Sept. 19—(CP)— The Queen's Park War Service Guild's "Ton of Tea" drive for the benefit of bombed and homeless Londoners, netted nearly two tons as the 2 1-2-day campaign ended Wednesday.

The tea, dropped in collection boxes scattered throughout the parliament buildings, will be distributed by the Guild through the Lord Mayor's fund.

Mother Ignorant of Son's Death

Los Angeles (AP)—Mrs. Nicholas Colombo still doesn't know of the death six years ago of her son, Russ, a radio and movie crooner, but she was informed that her daughter Anna, 40, died Tuesday. Mrs. Colombo, a partially blind semi-invalid, has not been told of Russ' death Sept. 2, 1934, because her family physicians feared the shock might hasten her death. She believes he is receiving plaudits on a world tour. A friend writes her a weekly letter, signed "Russ."

AIR CADET CORPS TO BE FORMED SAYS MR. POWER

Organized Along Lines of Cadet Corps in the School

GOVERNED BY LEAGUE

Number of Ground Wireless Operators, Trained in Canada, Now Overseas

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—(CP)—Canada is establishing an Air Cadet Corps, Air Minister Power said at a Press Conference today.

The Minister said pressure from various sources resulted in his department deciding to organize a corps along the same lines as the army cadet corps in the schools.

The organization will be sponsored by a voluntary civilian organization to be known as the Air Cadet League of Canada.

Maj. Power said also that the Royal Canadian Air Force will set up its own medical corps, which will probably will be largely composed of army medical men already working for the Air Force.

The Air Minister informed some 15 reporters grouped about his desk in the Jackson Building that a considerable number of ground wireless operators, trained in the Montreal Wireless School under the British Commonwealth Air Training plan, have arrived overseas.

They went overseas at the request of the Royal Air Force, he added, and more will go from time to time.

107 Americans Join

Maj. Power also said the 107 Americans had joined the R.C.A.F. in the last two months either as pilots, instructors or air crew men and altogether the R.C.A.F. has 150 United States pilots enlisted.

The new medical corps will be known as the Royal Canadian Air Medical Corps and will have its own nursing and orderly service.

The Minister said the Air Force had been getting the best kind of service from the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corps but R.C.A.F. problems are different from those of the army.

"We feel that our problims are so specialized, problems of air pressure and the heart, that we would do better to have our own medical corps", he said

No additional expense will be involved in the organization of the new corps, he said, though some adjustments will have to be made with respect to the pay of officers transferring since there are variations between air force and army pay.

Along Lines of Navy League

The civilian organization back of the proposed Air Cadet Corps will, the Minister said, be somewhat along the lines of the Navy League.

He called it an Air Cadet League and said its object would be to interest boys of 15 and 16 years in the R.C.A.F. The Air Ministry will lend what support it can by way of lecturers and instructors.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

'Invasion Ports', Notably Le Havre Heavily Bombed

Dover Correspondents Report Channel too Rough for Invasion Attempt

London, Sept. 19 —(CP)— German bombers in great numbers blasted at battered London and its suburbs from dusk last night to dawn today in the most intensive nightlong raid of the war, bringing the greatest aerial siege of history to a new peak.

Striking singly and in waves in a continuous hammering, Nazi raiders loosed tremendous loads of TNT and a new type of explosive fire bomb, causing heavy damage, although the number of casualties was well below the record night of slaughter and injury.

A government bulletin tentatively estimated 90 persons were killed and 350 severely injured in the city. This compared with 306 killed and 1,937 injured the night of Sept. 7.

From nightfall Tuesday until today's dawn, Londoners had been under alarm fully two-thirds of the time, and military attaches agreed that the air bombardment now has exceeded any ever directed against a city from Madrid to Rotterdam.

(Continued on Page Eleven)

RED-HOT SLAG CAUSES BLAST

More Than Usual Quantity Dumped Into Lake Erie Cause of Explosion

Port Colborne, Ont., Sept. 19.—(CP)—An explosion, caused by red-hot slag dumped into Lake Erie, shook this port early today, awakening resident for several miles around. The blast shattered two windows of the Maple Leaf Milling Company elevator and ripped up 25 feet of footing under a donkey-engine track.

The slag ladle toppled into the lake and the donkey engine was derailed, but no person was hurt. The slag was dumped at the Canadian Furnace Company's plant in the customary way, but Superintendent D. J. Higgon said operations were not affected. Higgon said the slag always explodes when it hits the cold water, but this blast was more violent because the slag contained more iron than usual.

TO EXPAND JEWISH EFFORTS

Toronto, Sept. 19 (CP).—A conference to coordinate and expand Jewish efforts on behalf of the Empire at war has been called by the Canadian Jewish Congress for Sunday. Chief speaker will be Rabbi Stephen S. Wise of New York, president of the American Jewish Congress.

Courtyard of British Museum Damaged in Recent Raids

London, Sept. 19 (CP)—German bombs damaged the courtyard of the British museum and other West End London buildings holding art or historic treasures, it was disclosed today, but the treasures either had been removed at the start of the war or were protected against injury.

The Press Association said the Inner Temple (law courts) library and the public record office also were damaged in the raids.

The courtyard of the Wallace collection and the stores of Messrs. Peter Robinson also were described as "affected".

The British Museum normally contains such treasures as the Rosetta Stone, which is the key to Egyptian hieroglipyhics; the Codex Alexandrianus of the Greek Bible, Queen Mary's Psalter of the 14th Century, the renowned Elgin Marbles from the Parthenon at Athens and probably the largest collection of printed books in the world.

(Most of the irreplaceable exhibits were removed at the beginning of the war and the museum itself remained closed for six months while work progressed to protect the specimens not removed.)

The Wallace collection, in Manchester Square in the heart of the fashionable West End, has been described as possibly the most important single collection of art in London.

Formed mainly by the fourth Marquis of Hertford (1800-1870), the collection embraces more than 750 paintings, water colors and drawings, notably of the French and Dutch schools; a collection of the 18th Century French furniture; Sevres porcelain, arms and armour.

70,000 Books Flung in Heap

A bomb dug a big hole by the side of the library clock tower in the inner temple and law books — among a collection of 70,000 — were flung over the floor in heaps.

The damage to the public record office in Chancery Lane was described as neglibible. A bomb struck the corner of the turret on the east side of the southern wing and smashed the top of the turret and part of the office directly under it. This part of the building, erected in 1900, is used for administrative purposes.

Lord Beaverbrook Expresses Confidence In Personal Letter

New York, Sept. 19—(CP)— W. Orten Tewson, who writes a column on United States affairs for British newspapers, made public Wednesday a letter he received from Lord Beaverbrook, Minister of Aircraft Production in the British government. The letter, dated Aug. 17, read:

"Dear Tewson:

"I am so pleased to have your letter.

"It is most encouraging to know that in the opinion of Americans we are now thought to have some chance of victory after all.

"I can assure you that the confidence of our people here is immense. The battle is raging at this moment with the utmost violence. We are taking some knocks, but we are inflicting severe punishment on the enemy.

"And all his efforts to break the spirit of the race have utterly failed. Not only have they failed, they have stiffened the resolution of our people, and steeled them to suffer and endure.

"Whatever may befall, no man of the British breed will have cause to hang his head. Yours sincerely,

"Beaverbrook."

11th Casualty List of R.C.A.F.

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (CP)—Two deaths, one in Canada and one overseas, were listed today in the 11th casualty list of the Royal Canadian Air Force, bringing the total dead and missing since the outbreak of war to 24.

FO Ross Smither of London, Ont., was killed in a flying battle overseas, the list showed, while AC. Gerald Gabriel Murphy of Winnipeg, was killed in a flying accident in Canada.

Slightly injured in a flying battle overseas were two flying officers, and in flying accidents in Canada three men were slightly injured, the list showed.

Following is the latest list of casualties with regimental number and next of kin (no dates reported):

Dead (Overseas)

FO. Ross Smither, C-1594, Frank Smither (father), 26 Rathgar St., London, Ont.

Canada

AC. Gerald Gabriel Murphy, R-59792, Mrs. Lowry Murphy (wife), Winnipeg.

Coming Events

TAG DAY FOR THE BLIND, Saturday, Sept. 21. Help the Blind to help themselves by supporting the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. S17-19

THE REGULAR MONTHLY meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday, Sept. 20th at 3 o'clock. S19-1t

BINGO. THE KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS will open their regular weekly Bingo, Thursday, Sept. 19, 8.30, introducing something new in Bingo. Admission 25c for 25 games. Voucher prizes, door prize. Thursday evening's entire proceeds will be used to furnish smokes for all Belleville boys overseas. Come and assist a worthy cause. Everybody welcome. S18-2t

A RARE MUSICAL TREAT, MORGAN Thomas and his band, eleven artists (Canada's Glenn Miller), featuring Eddie Darby, vocalist. On the stage in person at McCarthy Theatre and for dancing at the Hume Arena Gardens, Wednesday, September twenty-fifth. Reserve the date. S19-1t

TABERNACLE UNITED CHURCH Rally, Friday, Sept. 20. Supper 6.30. 25c. Speaker, Rev. C. D McLellan, B.D. S19-1t

CITY AND DISTRICT NEWS

PRODUCE PRICES REMAIN UNCHANGED

Produce prices remained for the most part unchanged on the Belleville market on Thursday morning with pears showing a slight decline to 50c per basket, while cucumbers and cauliflower showed an increase in price. Gherkins sold at 25c per quart box with larger varieties at corresponding prices. Cauliflower was scarce, selling at 40c and downward, according to size.

Peaches sold at Tuesday's prices, with the exception of seconds for which vendors were asking 40c per basket. No. 1's and selects were 45c and 50c per basket. Plums were 30c per basket with large British plums at 60c and Blue Damsons at 30c. Grapes were 45c per basket.

Apples sold at $1.00 per bushel or at 30c the peck. Wealthies and St. Lawrence were 25c per six-quart basket. Tomatoes held steady at 75c the bushel. Potatoes were 25c per peck and 85c per bushel.

Lake trout sold at 30c per pound.

NIGHT AIR FORCES SMOKE TO PAVEMENT

A heavy air which forced smoke to the ground like a dense fog led to the belief that a fire had originated in the Hanna Bakery last night just prior to the midnight hour. A hurry-up call to the fire department, however, revealed only smoke and no fire.

In closing up for the night bakery employees had stoked the oven and the heavy night air had forced the dense columns of smoke to the pavement, leading to the belief that the building was afire.

LARGE FAMILY SETS OUT ON ROAD LOOKING FOR WORK

Headed along the long trail to nowhere, a north Hastings family left their home yesterday with nine children and the remainder of their household effects packed in a small trailer. "The family is not all here" the father said to Employment Superintendent W. D. Ross, when applying for a job, "I left two more at home."

According to the man's story, fire had almost demolished their small home in the north. He had decided to pack his remaining belongings and the family in their only mode of transportation, and seek a living elsewhere.

TWO FINE SUMS STILL UNCLAIMED

The lure of $200.00 and $140.00 failed to attract Messrs. Fred Aylea, Carrying Place, and James Nobles, Trenton respectively to this city last night, and as a result they are or will be that much poorer.

For their names were selected by the Capitol theatre audience at its "Fotonite" performance as being eligible to sell their photographs to the management for amounts mentioned. But their absence did not qualify them, and another fortunate couple will be given an opportunity next week.

A movie quiz, with "Professor" Tommy Mascaro doing the querying, and four youths attempting to answer, preceded the selection of the names.

U. S. CONSULATE IN KINGSTON TO CLOSE SEPT. 25TH

Opened for the convenience of Canadian tourists, the United States Consulate in Kingston will close on Wednesday, September 25th at 4.30 p.m., Consul N. B. Chipman announced yesterday. The consulate will likely reopen on July 1st, 1941 and remain open till Labor Day.

While the consulate is closed, Canadians and British subjects domiciled in Canada, who desire to visit the United States for no longer than 29 days, may secure "border crossing" cards from any American immigration officer. Passports and letters of identification must be secured before the cards can be issued. Photographs are not necessary, it is pointed out.

FRACTURES WRIST IN FALL FROM HORSE

Robert Kimmett, youthful farmer of Roblin, Ont., was admitted to Belleville General Hospital late yesterday suffering with a fractured wrist, the result of an accident at the Mohawk Fair, near Deseronto.

Kimmett was riding his horse in the farmers' running race when the animal shied at a bicycle, and dashed through the crowd. Kimmett was hurled into a fence and injured. He was taken to hospital where he was treated by Dr. G. S. Cronk.

It Pays to Shop at The Rexall Store.

REXALL
Dyspepsia Tablets
Quickly Relieve the Pains of Indigestion
50c per tin
PROMPT DELIVERY ON ALL ORDERS.
McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE
PHONE 135

35 YEARS IN BUSINESS
CAMPBELL AUTO BODY and PAINT SHOP
BODY and FENDER REPAIRS
327 Coleman St. Phone 777

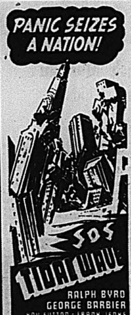
FURS RELINED REPAIRED RE-STYLED
R. A. BACKUS
EXPERT FURRIER
32 Bridge St., W. Belleville, Ont.

HOT WATER BOTTLES—
REAL VALUES IN GUARANTEED BOTTLES
as low as 49c.
Every type of Rubber Sundry Always in Our Stock.
GEORGE PAULEY
DRUGGIST Phone 105

TONIGHT, FRI. and SAT.
Complete Shows at 7 - 9 p.m.
TREAT THE WHOLE FAMILY TO OUR GRAND DOUBLE FEATURE TREAT SHOW!

THE RANGELAND MELODY KING!
Gene Autry ... in a new, thrill-laden musical action hit!
CAROLINA MOON
with
GENE AUTRY
SMILEY BURNETTE
and
JUNE STOREY MARY LEE
JIMMIE LEWIS and his TEXAS COWBOYS
FRANK McDONALD DIRECTOR

Added: NEWS EVENTS.
10th. Chap. "BUCK ROGERS"
MATINEE SAT. 2.30



CAPITOL

SPECIAL BATTERIES
FULLY GUARANTEED
13 PLATE $4.98
(1 Year)
15 PLATE $6.98
(18 months)
17 PLATE $8.98
(18 months)
and Your Old Battery
Provincial Tire COMPANY
3 DUNDAS ST. EAST
819-3t

REDUCED HONEY CROP IS NOTED

Honey crops throughout this district have been materially reduced by adverse weather conditions according to apiarists in the Belleville area. This condition is general all through Ontario and Quebec, it is reported.

The explanation of the reduced honey crop is interesting because it brings to the fore a subject that few people really understand:—Bees and their habits. The light honey crop, which is the first to come each year, was a disappointment this year. The bees gather about 50 per cent. of this crop during late June and this year the last two weeks in June were too wet for the bees to work and the yield was not great. The fall crop was also below average because the buckwheat, from whence it comes, was damaged by frost.

Although the quantity of honey this year will certainly be much less than usual, the quality will not be affected it is claimed.

MELON CROP POOREST IN MANY YEARS

"The poorest melon year in all his 48 years of melon-growing experience was the claim of Mr. N. Sine, veteran farmer of the sixth concession of Sidney, as he commented on the present season's melon crop, while attending Belleville market on Thursday morning.

"Ordinarily," said Mr. Sine, "with the acreage which I have planted to melons I would be able to fill this truck every market day for three or four weeks. This year if I took every melon in the patch I doubt if the truck would be full." For some reason there is only one, or at the most, two melons on each vine this year, where usually there is a half dozen or more, claimed Mr. Sine.

In commenting on melon-growing experiences, Mr. Sine laughingly stated that 48 years ago when he first brought melons to the Belleville market the people did not know what they were and would not buy them. "That year I sold great large melons for five cents each in order to get rid of them," said Mr. Sine.

POLICE RECOVER STOLEN BICYCLE

Of the two bicycles reported stolen during the past two days, one was recovered quite promptly by police Wednesday. Allan Burns, of 12 Highland Ave., parked his bike in the vicinity of the Belle theatre. Upon his return the bike was gone, but later recovered at the south end of Front Street. Otherwise in local police circles activities were serene. Detective Fred Isard returned 2 bicycle licences to their respective owners today after the identification plates had been found on city streets. A lone transient slumbered without disturbance at the police station last night.

Work on Hydro Line In Vicinity of Moira Is Begun This Week

With a camp established at Moira, engineers and keymen of the Ontario Hydro Commission started operations this week on the Hastings County section of the new hydro power line that is being constructed between Beauharnois and Toronto.

Construction operations have been started at both terminals of the new line and working crews will meet at some point in Central Ontario. The nearest camp to Moira is situated at Campbellford and crews will meet at a point between that town and Moira.

Outside of keymen, engineers and special labor, construction gangs are being drawn from the territory through which the line passes. A large number of men have already been hired by engineers to work in this county. These, of course, will be "laid off" as the work progresses into other sections of the province.

Dog Saves Farmer From Death When Attacked by Bull

The timely intervention of a neighbor's dog which leaped to attack a savage bull when it suddenly turned and gored him, saved Geo. Daverne, Adolphustown from more serious injury on Tuesday evening. As it was Daverne, was badly lacerated by the sharp horns of the animal, one wound necessitating seventeen stitches to close it. The injured man was treated by Dr. A. Duffett, Napanee physician.

Daverne was leading the bull from the barn, when it suddenly turned and launched a savage attack. He was hurled to the ground with the infuriated animal goring him when Albert Steers, a neighbor, arrived with his dog. The dog immediately leaped to attack the bull and succeeded in diverting its attention from the prostrate Daverne.

Alderman McLean Haig Leaves On Saturday to Join R.C.A.F.

'Mac' Will be Greatly Missed by Host of Friends and Associates in the City

A SPLENDID CITIZEN

A. McLean Haig, prominent Belleville business man, municipal, and civic servant, who will report to the Trenton base of the R.C.A.F. on Saturday.

He is a personable young man, possessed of an impelling personality, that immediately draws one to him, and a likable disposition that has won for him a host of friends in the city and district. Since his arrival in Belleville in 1935 he has attained an enviable position in business, municipal, civic, social and service club circles, and has held the esteem and respect of all with whom his variable activities have thrown him in contact. On Saturday of this week, he will temporarily abandon close contact with his civilian environment, and don the famous blue-grey of the Royal Canadian Air Force.

"Mac", as he is familiarly known to his intimate friends, first saw the light of day in Kingston, Ont., thirty-seven years ago. The son of the late Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Haig, he received his early education in Campbellford, after the family moved to the Northumberland county town. Later he graduated in Arts from Queens University. He studied law at Osgoode Hall in 1927, graduating from that institution after being briefed to a Toronto law firm.

The lure of finance attracted him and he entered this business in Toronto, remaining there until 1931. Then the "Fourth Estate" called him and he accepted a position as secretary-treasurer of the Regina Leader-Post. He stayed in the western city until 1935 when he came to Belleville and bought the insurance of S. J. Fisher and Son.

Since coming to Belleville "Mac" has established himself a firm favorite in many phases of city life. An alert mind, keen business acumen, the ability to express himself in informative detail, and the welfare of his adopted city and fellow human beings always an uppermost thought, brought him to the forefront in many public activities.

Elected Alderman in '38

Entering municipal life in 1938 as a city alderman, his latent abilities soon marked him as an outstanding representative, and his city council colleagues honored him with the chairmanship of city finance, a position he has maintained until the present day.

"Mac" is a past president of the Belleville Rotary Club, the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, and is a member of the United Church. Earlier this year he enlisted as a private in the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank) Regiment. He trained for some time and later received a commission as a second-lieutenant, proceeding with his regiment to Petawawa for the regulation two weeks' camp training. He received the call to the Royal Canadian Air Force this week.

A brother, Jack McLean Haig, former business associate, joined the First Battalion of the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment and is now a sergeant with his regiment "somewhere in England." He has been recommended for his commission.

Fall Sale
Window Shades
Slight imperfections, not noticeable, 36" x 70"; complete with fixtures. White, Cream and Green.
CLOTH OPAQUE SHADES, reg. 85c for 69c
HEAVY OIL SHADES, reg. $1.35 for 59c
DUPLEX OIL SHADES, green with white or cream, 37 inches wide. Reg. $1.50 for $1.25
PAPER REFILLS 15c
CURTAINS—A complete stock, newest Fall styles and patterns in Silk and Cotton Nets.
DRAPES—Rayon Silk Damask, Monk's Cloth, Homespun Shadow Cloth, etc. DRAPES MADE TO ORDER.
BLOWN COTTON FELT MATTRESSES, heavy floral ticking. All sizes $3.98
FLANNELETTE BLANKETS, 70 x 90 .... each 89c
SUNWORTHY WALLPAPERS. Fall clearance sale Specials.
THOMPSON'S
296 FRONT STREET PHONE 295

THEY ARE HERE
A CARLOAD OF THOSE DELICIOUS
ELBERTA PEACHES
DIRECT FROM NIAGARA.
These Peaches have been purchased by us to sell at a very low price.
PHONE 676
FOR FAST, FREE DELIVERY.
EMPIRE FRUIT MARKET

HIGH HEELS BLAMED

Kansas City (AP)—High heeled shoes caused Mrs. Dorothy Crowley's downfall. A district court jury denied her damages in a $15,000 suit against the city. She contended a sidewalk defect caused her to fall but the jury ruled it was her high heels.

PREVIEW PERFORMANCE
AFTER SUN. MIDNITE
MONDAY — TUESDAY
(2—DAYS ONLY—2)
Return engagement of two of the greatest pictures ever made. Positively the last showing in Belleville.
NOEL COWARD'S
CAVALCADE
Clive Brook, Diana Wynyard
—ALSO—
"WINGS of the MORNING"
in Glorious Technicolor.
ANNABELLA, HENRY FONDA, JOHN McCORMACK
(famous Irish tenor)
CAPITOL

NEW YORK TIMES SUPPORTS WILLKIE

First Time Paper Has Supported Republican Nominee Since 1908

New York, Sept. 19.—(CP)—The New York Times, which supported Franklin D. Roosevelt for President in 1932 and 1936, came out against a third term today in an editorial supporting Wendell L. Willkie.

The Times, an Independent-Democratic newspaper, has not supported a republican presidential candidate since 1908. Observing that it was making its choice in "one of the greatest crises of this nation's history", the paper said it chose Willkie "primarily for these reasons":—

"Because we believe he is better equipped than Mr. Roosevelt to provide this country with an adequate defence; because we believe he is a practical Liberal who understands the need of increased production; because we believe that the fiscal policies of Mr. Roosevelt have failed disastrously; because we believe that at a time when the traditional safeguards of democracy are falling everywhere it is particularly important to honor and preserve the American tradition against vesting the enormous powers of the presidency in the hands of any man for three consecutive terms of office".

HOOVER PREDICTS BRITAIN WILL WIN

Warns United States to be Prepared in Economic Ideas as Well as in Arms

Philadelphia, Sept. 19 (AP).—Mobilization of "our industrial efficiency" is the primary defence of the United States, says former president Herbert Hoover, because "in the situation today we must have preparedness in economic ideas as well as in arms if we are to defend" the nation.

He warned an economic symposium at the University of Pennsylvania's bicentennial celebration last night that if the United States enters the war "we would inevitably become a totalitarian dictatorship" and added that:

"Any hope of maintaining free economy in the world would be gone for a generation."

Hoover predicted that Britain would be successful in "its heroic defence" but declared that after any peace "certain large areas will continue under totalitarian dictatorship for some time to come."

Speech "Non Partisan".

In his address which he termed non-partisan "despite the intellectual climate of a national campaign" the former president foresaw peace bringing devaluation, inflation or debt repudiation and predicted a "famine in large areas" if the conflict continues for another year."

The Americas must be prepared to trade with Europe when peace comes, he said, adding that:

"The idea of the free states combining against the totalitarian nations in trade is nonsense. The world has to live. Moreover the interests of the free states are too divergent to consummate such combinations."

Hoover asked "more support to applied science research" to increase national efficiency and said:

"We must apply every labor-saving device. We must remove every sort of restriction by both capital and labor which impedes or penalizes the use of better methods and better machines.

"We must maintain free competition so that lower costs will be passed on to the consumer at lower prices.

"And we must have constructive tax systems and removal of unnecessary governmental restrictions which lessen or destroy the initiative of men."

Brewers, Hotel Assoc. Buy Plane

Winnipeg (CP)—Manitoba Brewers and the Manitoba Hotel Association today announced they will make a joint contribution of $25,000 to the Canadian or British government with the suggestion that it be used to buy a Hurricane fighting plane. The donation will be made annually for the duration of the war and one year after.

AIR-CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
Daily 2.30: 7.10: 9.10
Next MON., TUE. WED. | Sept. 23 - 24 25

...INTO THE TEEMING, MYSTERIOUS JUNGLE!
Thrill to the exciting story of this lovely woman's fabulously exciting life!
OSA JOHNSON'S
I Married Adventure

AIR-CONDITIONED
McCARTHY
THE SHOW PLACE OF BELLEVILLE
Daily .... 2.30: 7.00: 9.10 p.m.
TONIGHT (THURSDAY)
Friday & Saturday
THRILLS—WITH THE THROTTLE WIDE OPEN—
COLLISIONS ON CONTRACT—
SMASH-UPS ON SCHEDULE .. THE FASTEST THING ON WHEELS .. AND ON THE SCREEN ... AS A SHOW-OFF COMES THROUGH AT THE SHOW-DOWN!

WILDCAT BUS
FAY WRAY
CHARLES LANG
PAUL GUILFOYLE

COMPANION FEATURE:
Texas Ranger Action Hit of the Old West!

CHARLES STARRETT
Riders of BLACK RIVER

Also CHAPTER THREE
"TERRY and the PIRATES"

OBITUARY

ALICE FOSHAY
(Trenton)

The death occurred in the Belleville General Hospital early this Thursday morning of Alice Foshay, the three-months-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Foshay, 152 Bay Street, Trenton.

EDWARD (TED) MACKIE
(Formerly of Belleville)

Edward (Ted) Mackie, who was born in Belleville, and resided here for some time, died suddenly as the result of a heart seizure in Toledo, Ohio, on Monday, Sept. 2nd. Old friends in Belleville will regret to learn of his death. For some years he resided in Cobourg and vicinity and was well esteemed.

Surviving him are his wife; two brothers, Mr. Mervin Mackie and Mr. Walter Mackie, both of Cobourg; three sisters, Mrs. H. W. Pulfer, Mrs. Parker Phillips both of Detroit, and Mrs. C. W. Peek of New York City.

Interment was made at Waterloo, Indiana.

JOHN L. P. DUNCAN
(Thurlow Township)

John Leslie Patterson Duncan passed away suddenly at his residence in the 1st concession of Thurlow Township on Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 18th.

The late Mr. Duncan, who was in his 74th year, was born at Dutton, Ontario, being a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Duncan. For some years he resided in Vancouver, B.C., and for the past five years he made his home in Thurlow Township and was well esteemed. In religion he was a member of the Church of England and associated with Christ Church Parish.

Surviving him are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Clara Moore; one daughter, Mrs. James Milligan, Vancouver, B.C., and one son, Mr. Aleck Duncan, Thurlow Township.

Resting at the Belleville Burial Company Funeral Home, Campbell Street. The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

LYCERGUS McMILEN

Marmora.—A well-known resident of Marmora Township, passed away on Wednesday morning at his home in the Vansickle Settlement in the person of Lycergus (Tug) McMilen. Deceased who was seventy-one years of age was the son of the late Samuel McMilen and Elizabeth Cole. In his earlier years he shantied in the Sudbury district as well as in the Marmora district. For the greater part of his life however, he was a carpenter. He was of a friendly disposition and after a day's work was fond of reading and was a great student of the Bible. The news of his death will come as a great shock to a large number of friends. He was married to Sarah, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Nobes and the late Thomas Nobes.

Besides his widow, he is survived by three children, Carl, Ruby and Emerald, at home. The funeral will leave his late residence at 1.30 p.m. on Friday for service at Cordova Free Methodist Church with Rev. C. Skelding officiating.

Interment will take place in Marmora Protestant Cemetery.

POLICE BELIEVE BABY KIDNAPPED

Parents Directed to Child in Cornfield by Airplane Pilot

Connellsville, Pa., Sept. 19—(AP)—While a youthful farming couple rejoiced today—on the 13th wedding anniversary—over the safe return of their "baby" son after his strange disappearance four days ago, State police gravely decided it was a case of abduction and set out to find the kidnapper.

Sergeant Harry C. Johnson said he believed two-year old Ronald Rambaugh had been "placed" in a cornfield where an airplane pilot spotted him yesterday. In movie-thriller fashion, the pilot flew two miles to the Rambaugh homestead, yelled to the boy's father and others, and guided them quickly to the scene, thus ending an ever-widening search in which several dozen police and hundreds of volunteers had participated.

The first thing the youngster said as his joyful father, Ralph Rambaugh, 34, grabbed him and hugged him was:

"Daddy, look at the scratches on my leg". Then, "I'm hungry . . . I want milk . . . milk".

Hurried to a hospital, little Ronald was given milk, ordered to stay on a liquid diet, and put to bed.

The police theory of abduction began when hospital authorities reported the boy showed no signs of fatigue or other ill effects expected if he had wandered through woods and fields coatless since vanishing from his home Sunday afternoon.

Johnson said the boy's light jumper suit was "not soiled much or torn", and a new pair of white shoes he wore for the first time Sunday did not show the "wear and tear" of an outdoor tramp.

The sergeant said he believed someone had "snatched" the child, then, frightened by the hue and cry aroused, had left him in a "safe place" —the cornfield—where he would soon be found.

T-O-N-I-G-H-T
ROMANCE! ACTION! ADVENTURE!

TWO GREAT STARS in the most exciting jungle picture ever filmed!
DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR.
MADELEINE CARROLL
"SAFARI"
A Paramount Picture with
TULLIO CARMINATI
MURIEL ANGELUS
LYNNE OVERMAN
BILLY GILBERT

A SWELL 2nd. FEATURE

EDGAR WALLACE'S
THE Mysterious MR. REEDER
WILL FYFFE

Pete Smith Specialty
BELLE
HOME OF FINE PICTURES
Daily 2.30: 7.10. Last Show 8.30

ADMIRAL URGES MOSQUITO BOATS BE GIVEN BRITAIN

Would Forestall Any Menace U-Boats of Germany Would be in Atlantic

OTHER ADVOCATES

